Included in the list of commentators are a number of Americans whose words on questions of an international character always are sure of a respectful hearing. Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, chairman of the senate committee on foreign relations, who was one of the members of the American delegation to the Washington arms limitation conference of 1921, has expressed approval of the Legion's campaign in principle. He wrote that he favored limitations in aircraft similar to those made in naval strength, provided that the agreement for limitation is international.

Newton D. Baker, former secretary of war, believes that the conference should be held at once because "the limitation of air armaments is the most important and vital possible limitation." However, he adds the thought that international protection must be afforded to the security of certain nations which, because of their inferior man-power, have been forced to rely upon their superior ingenuity in developing and producing the most modern and scientific agencies of war.

That the Legion's suggestion would have the support of the farm bloc is indicated in the enthusiastic letter received from Senator Arthur Capper of Kansas who has written that it has won his hearty indorsement. "It seems to me that an international conference would be very helpful toward bringing about an agreement which would end competition between nations for supremacy in the air—a policy which unquestionably is not only useless but a menace to the peace of the world," his letter reads. "You are correct when you say that now is the time to consider this matter. Delay will undoubtedly complicate the situation and make it more difficult to remove the menace."

Legion leaders have expressed gratification that President Coolidge favors the aims of the proposed conference, but disagree with his belief that the time is not ripe for convening the gathering and that this government should set an example by refraining from engaging in competitive building of aircraft.

"Our stand should be to find out for certain whether nations are ready to discuss limitation of air armament, and if they are not, begin immediately to strengthen our air forces, which are now not those of a first class power," Lemuel Bolles, Legion national adjutant, has stated. "The worst thing that could happen to the country today would be a move to disregard preparedness in the face of the European contest and for the Legion to permit such an interpretation to grow from its suggestion of limitation would be to repudiate our four-year record for preparedness."

The Legion's campaign has aroused much public comment and has been the subject of editorials in newspapers all over the country. It has become one of the leading measures in that organization's campaign for the advancement of world peace.

The Very First Kiss.

She was so innocent, Jack had taken her riding in his car and just as he kissed her a tire blew out.

"Oh, Jack," she murmured, "How lucky we didn't stay at home! Father is such a light sleeper."—American Legion Weekly.

Mysterious Indeed.

"Seen any mysterious strangers around here lately?" casually asked the detective from the city.

"Waal," answered Uncle Eben, "there was a feller over to town with the circus last week what took a pair of rabbits out o' my whiskers."—American Legion Weekly.

WHO'S WHO—and WHEREFORE

Royal Gossip That Interests America

The Windsors of London are much in the public eye—King George and Queen Mary; the prince of Wales—beg pardon, Lord Renfrew—enjoying a vacation on his Canadian ranch; the duke of York, with his bride, understudying for Wales; Princess Mary, busy with the care of her young son.

And now comes Prince George, youngest son, just twenty-one, is setting the Londoners to talking. The gossips have it that he's going to be married. One set says his engagement is shortly to be announced to Lady Alexandra Curzon, youngest of the three daughters of the British foreign secretary.

The other set says that a marriage is being arranged between Prince George and Miss Grace Vanderbilt, daughter of General and Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt of New York. The Vanderbilts, who took Brook House in Park Lane for the season, are remaining in England indefinitely. Grace has been welcomed to the royal circle. And she is a great heiress, as well as a pretty and clever girl. She and the prince have been much together.

Lady Alexandra's mother, Lord Curzon's first wife, was Mary Victoria Leiter, daughter of Levy Z. Leiter. He was one of the early "merchant princes" of Chicago and a partner of Marshall Field in the days when the firm was Field, Leiter & Co. Lady Alexandra is a niece of Joseph Leiter, whose disastrous attempt to corner wheat will never be forgotten in the Windy city.

U. S. Navy Gives Quick Aid to Japan

He who gives quickly gives best. Rear Admiral E. A. Anderson, commander in chief of the United States fleet in Asiatic waters, was one of the first to function effectively after the earthquake. The first direct message from Yokohama came from him to the United States Navy department; it reported the arrival of his flagship, the Huron, and gave information as to casualties. One of his first acts was to requisition supplies from Shanghai, ordering the first obtainable shipping board carrier to proceed at once to Yokohama. Provisions and medical supplies were carried early to Yokohama by American navy destroyers and delivered to the Japanese Red Cross. The supplies ordered from Shanghai included:

Nonperishable provisions—beans, flour, rice, tea, sugar, salt and water.

Medical and surgical supplies—Cotton, gauze, bandages, invalid foods, blankets, etc. Miscellaneous stores—Mosquito and fly bars, bedding, mats, tents, picks, shovels, tools, lumber, hardware, coffins.

Admiral Anderson was born in 1860 in North Carolina and is a graduate of the United States Naval academy. He wears the D. S. M. and Congressional Medal of Honor. He has been rear admiral since 1918.

Walton of Oklahoma Much in Limeligh

Gov. John C. Walton of Oklahoma is much in the limelight these days. It was only a short time ago that he put Tulsa county under martial law. He announced a campaign to rid Oklahoma of mob violence and to bring to justice the persons responsible for the floggings that have been numerous. At first he named no names. Later it developed that the fight was between the state and the Ku Klux Klan. Still later Governor Walton put the whole state under martial law.

Then Representative Howard requested the United States War Department to investigate the use of Oklahoma National Guard units in the enforcement of Gov. Walton's proclamation. Whereupon Secretary Weeks had declared that a "declaration by a governor of a state of martial law, or that an insurrection against the government of the state exists, is a matter in which the War department cannot intervene." Governor Walton also attracted attention when he moved his legal residence to Muskogee and announced his candidacy for the United States senate.

Mrs. Vanderbilt Thrills Over Sarazen

Popular indeed is the turf these days; 1928 is probably the record year in American racing and now society women of wealth are entering the sport of kings. Mrs. Payne Whitney (Greentree stable) has developed a highly successful stable. Mrs. Raymond Baker, formerly Mrs. Alfred Gwynn Vanderbilt; Mrs. Marshall Field; Mrs. H. Carnegie Phipps, and Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt II are the latest to join the ranks of owners.

Mrs. Vanderbilt (portrait herewith), who was Miss Virginia Fair, races under the name of the Fair stable. Her silks, which she personally selected, are black, salmon cross front and back, salmon sleeves and cap. She has two royally bred and expensive yearlings in her barn, and is in the market for both flat and cross-country racers.

It was Mrs. Vanderbilt who at Saratoga paid Col. Phil Chinn $80,000 for the unbeaten Sarazen, a two-year-old chestnut and gelding by Hightime-Rush Box, by Box. And at the fall Belmont park meeting Mrs. Vanderbilt had all kinds of thrills when her colors appeared for the first time in public on Sarazen. She was one of the first in the paddock before the race—with a pocketful of sugar. During the race she sat in her box in the Turf and Field club. She had Sande up—nothing is too good for Sarazen. Sarazen jumped out in front, staid there to the wire, ran the five and one-half furlongs in 1:05 and won as a 1-3 favorite should, with his proud owner making her way excitedly to the paddock to receive congratulations.

Convrtable Notes--

—OF—

IOWA FALLS ELECTRIC COMPANY

Are particularly attractive to INVESTORS, as they bear 7% INTEREST, and can be had in Maturities, of 1—2—3—4—or—5 years.

The Notes are Convertible into the Company's Capital Stock on any interest date before Maturity at a premium of 2% for the notes.

This Conversion privilege is of real value as the Capital Stock is now paying 7% Dividends, and the business of the Company is growing rapidly.

By investing in these NOTES the Investor can arrange the period of the investment to suit his convenience, and by watching the progress of the Company over a period of time will be able to consider the advisability of using his privilege to convert to the Stock.

For full nformation please address our Offices at: IOWA FALLS, GARNER or BELMOND, or write the SECURITIES DEPARTMENT, IOWA FALLS ELECTRIC CO., at 215 S. 2nd Street, Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

Thank You--

I wish to announce to my many old customers and friends that I have sold my Garage Business, equipment and stock of goods to Mr. Aaron Greimann, of the Greimann Motor Company, who now have possession.

I also want to express my appreciation for the liberal patronage extended to me while I have been in the garage business in Klemme. I appreciated it very much.

In selling out this business I want to get all business straightened up at once, and so I ask all those who are indebted to me to please call and settle up just as soon as possible as I want to close my books.

Yours truly,

Ben J. Coobs

The Successful Men of today--

Really successful men—men who have never worked all their lives for the sake of becoming wealthy and yet are "well fixed," are invariably thrifty.

A definite financial program is a great help to any man or woman trying to save money. A plan of saving must be based on a knowledge of what constitutes true economy.

One of the first steps on the road to success is the starting of a Savings Account and adding to it regularly.

If we can help call on us.

We pay 5 per cent on time deposits.

State Savings Bank

Klemme Iowa

News of Klemme and Vicinity

Potato Bread—Ask Kluck's. ad

Tom Roths has purchased the dray line formerly run by Louie Knoke.

The best bread is Potato Bread, sold by G. W. Kluckhohn & Sons. tf

Buy your Electric Light Bulbs of Jacobs & Son. adv

FOR SALE—My house and three lots. J. W. Waterman. tf

FOR SALE—House and four lots. Mrs. Phil Behringer. 2p

W. C. Zeisemer, of Garner, was a business caller in Klemme yesterday afternoon.

The more you eat the MORE you want—Potato Bread—sold at G. W. Kluckhohn & Sons. adv

Pyramid Cement is for sale at the Northern Lumber Co. adv

If interested in Pyramid Cement call at the Northern Lumber Co. adv

It's good, it's different—one slice calls for more—Potato Bread, sold by G. W. Kluckhohn & Sons. adv

Mrs. Harry Buss, of Goodell, was visiting Klemme relatives and friends last Thursday afternoon.

All who owe us come in and settle the account by cash or bankable note. Klemme Co-Operative Grain Company. tf.

Learn Shorthand. Good position for all graduates. The Hamilton University, Mason City, Iowa. adv

The Hamilton University at Mason City is fully accredited. Send for a beautiful catalog. adv

FOR SALE—A Deering No. 3 Cornhusker in good shape. Will sell or trade for some young sows. Phne r Mail C. M. Babcck, Kanawha, Iowa.

Charles Gibbs came down from Big Lake, Minnesota, Monday for a visit with his mother and other relatives and friends here.

Fishing has been good at the Lake the past few days and local sports are bringing in some fine catches.

J. N. Day is having his house repainted. The rainy weather of the past few days slowed up the job.

Esther Wenz went to Ocheydan, Iowa for an over Sunday visit, returning Tuesday morning.

Mr. John Petersen, of Sycamore, Illinois, came last Friday for a few days visit at the Joe Johnson home.

Mrs. Dick Swalve returned Monday from Ackley, Iowa, where she was visiting with her folks.

Mrs. Schrosnider, of Hampton, has been visiting at the Wm. Messelheiser place this past week and looking after her farm.

Miss Gertrude Ely came from Belmond Saturday and remained until Sunday visiting at the home of her sister, Mrs. W. F. Missman.

Miss Myrtle Schoenwetter, of Garner, who teaches in the Goodell high school, was a Klemme visitor Saturday.

This vicinity was visited by a heavy down pour of rain Sunday. It began raining in the forenoon and rain fell heavily until evening.

Miss Laura Brooks and mother Mrs. J. W. Brooks are moving to Belmond to live this winter. They have a home at Belmond.

Mr. and Mrs. John Jorgenson and son, and Mrs. J. Jorgenson, of Garner, were visiting at the R. A. Jorgenson home Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Peters drove up from Goodell Saturday on business. Mr. Peters is superintendent of the Goodell Schools this year.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Heginger from Goodell, and Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Heginger from Kanawha, were in this city on business last Friday.

All Hamilton Graduates get good positions. More than 80 per cent are placed in Mason City. Send for catalog. The Hamilton University, Mason City, Iowa. adv

J. W. Waterman sold his post office building to Mrs. Gibbs, the new postmistress. The deal was closed Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Chris Gram, who left for California in their car a few weeks ago are on their way back to Klemme and are expected almost any day.

Mrs. E. J. Thompson, of Waterloo, came Saturday for a visit with her many old Klemme friends and also to look after her hotel property here.

Having sold my building I have moved my watch repairing bench to the Quandt Restaurant where I will do your clock and watch repairing. Bring them in. J. W. Waterman. 1

Found—A purse containing money. Owner may have same by calling at Times Office and giving a correct description of purse and amount of money. adv2

Albert Lange, Rastus Hammon, Alec Hammon, Matt Love and Ed. Quintus drove to Waterloo last week Tuesday to take in the Dairy Cattle Congress. They said it was a wonderful show.

Miss Mildred Smith and Miss Mabel Stearnes have accepted positions with the Belmond Sugar Co. and will leave tomorrow for Belmond to begin work in the sugar plant.

Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Keraus returned from Clear Lake Monday where they had been for several days repainting and fixing up their summer cottages.

Fred Schlicting has done a lot of remodeling on his residence in the northwest part of town and it now has the appearance of a new house. He is having it painted and plastered this week.

We have a letter from Adolf Schlichting stating that he has moved to a farm near Meservey and asking that we mention that his address is now Meservey, instead of Goodell, as formerly.

KLEMME MARKETS

(Subject To Change)
Thursday, Oct. 4

WHEAT	.85—1.00
CORN (old)	.78
CORN (new)	.55—.60
OATS	.34—.35
BARLEY	.50—.55
RYE	.55
HOGS	7.00—7.25
PACKERS	6.00—6.50
HAY	16.00
BUTTERFAT	.49
BUTTER (cramery)	.48
EGGS	.30
HEAVY HENS	.15
LIGHT HENS	.12
HEAVY SPRINGS	.15
LEGHORNS	.12
COCKS	.06
DUCKS	.10
GEESE	.08

We want poultry--

Honest Weights and Highest Prices--at

Henry Lau Sons

Give Us Your Orders For--

Storm Sash and Storm Doors

Now--as we do not carry them in stock.

Farmer's Lumber Co.

The Yard of Quality And Service

Yankee Doodle Special "Can't Rip"

We have a great big window full of all kinds of

HUSKING MITTENS

And GLOVES

We have them in all sizes and several different styles.

Try the YANKEE DOODLE Special—once used you will never use any other kind.

We carry a full line of huskers supplies such as mittens, gloves, hooks, pegs, wrist bands, thumb stalls, etc.

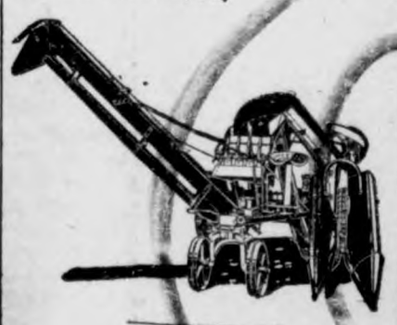
Jacobs & Son

"THE WINCHESTER STORE"

STILLE'S IMPLEMENT NEWS

VOLUME 1. Thursday, October 4, 1923. NUMBER 49.

It is just time to gte a picker yet if you do so at once. Maybe by this time you have decided that bushel pickers are scarce and asking too much; if so, we'll be glad to rush a picker out for you.



Say! The next cream check, or when you haul that next load of oats, can't you remember Stille with a little payment on that old account? Your account isn't big but a couple hundred like it makes it a big one. Your credit is good enough but we can't pay our accounts with it. The next time you're in town try and remember it, "And much obliged!"

Pat. "How would you like to be up there with that aeroplane.?"

Mike. "Begorra, I'd hate to be up there without it."—Trade Journal.

Cold weather's coming on. Motors are hard to crank; better come in and let us drain the old dirty oil out of the crank case of your car and refill it with En-ar-co Light. It is a light oil with a fine cold test, bu it isn't compounded to give a good cold test as so many so called "winter" or "zero" oils are. It has a good cold test an yet retains that quality which shows a good heat and flash test. Quite often you cover your motor, in cold weather so as to cause it to boil; if it boils the motor is just as hot as i can get in July. And any oil that is not guaranteed for summer use will not give satisfaction in your motor in the winter when your car is warmed up, or boiling, that is sure.

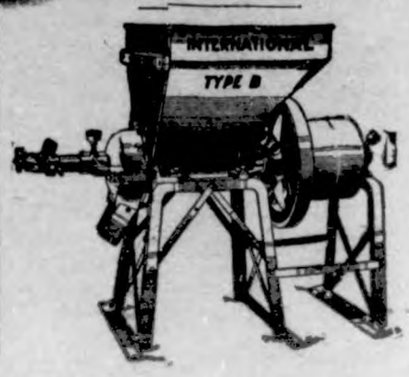
We don't charge for crank case service; it's free. All you pay for is the oil that we put in. Get your 5 or 10 gallon can filled with En-ar-co Light Motor Oil.

Our En-ar-co Gear Compound is guaranteed not to channel in the gear housing of your car down to 40 degrees below zero. Better have your transmission and rear gear housing filled this fall so you'll be sure the gears are running in grease this winter.

We have a few left of Hog Waterers and many the hogs—the water is free; let's get together.

We have a number of gasoline drums out yet from last winter. Will those who have them please return them?

Come in and see us about your CORN SHELLER needs NOW!!!



THE KLEMME TIMES

wenty-eighth Year—Number 5. Klemme, Iowa, Thursday Afternoon, October 11, 1923 $1.50 In Advance—$2.00 Outside of County

OINGS OF THE WEEK AT THE KLEMME SCHOOLS

K WEEK TESTS COME THIS WEEK

ents Busy Reviewing for First Exams of Year

All the students of our High hool are busy studying and review for the six weeks examinations, ich come the latter part of this k.

All the classes are reviewing in all r studies and should be able to a very good examination this od.

As a whole the school has went pretty smoothly. the first six ks and the students have been gressing rapidly. If the whole r is as sucessful as these first ks have been, we can feel sure t it will be very successful.

Examinations will cover two days rsday and Friday and each stud- will have t two period examination re are no exemptions from these s, but every student who receives verage of 90 per cent in their ies and a standing grade deport- t will be excused from the sem- r exams. Here's hoping every gets through O. K.!

Enertainment was Good

The entertainment given by the lic Speaking class was very good was enjoyed by all that were ent. The first play was a short given by Glen Busch and Dol- Koerner by the name of the awback." It was a farce and h enjoyed by all. "Neighbors", the chief attraction however, furnished a great deal of fun for crowd.

The orchestra was very good, con- ring the fact that it was gotten such short notice, and had had ew practices.

On the whole the night was a suc- and the Public Speaking class about $35.00 clear of all expen- which will be expended on stage ings for our auditorium.

New Editors Next Week

This is the last week that the ool notes will be written by the sent editorial staff. When we took position it was understood it uld last only for the first six ks period and no longer. We do know what plans have been de for the school notes from now but it is rumored that the Eng- hand and make it real interesting. We have not been able to expend time on the school notes that we uld have liked to put on them our various other duties keep us y. Perhaps the new editors will able to give you better notes and hope you will enjoy them.

EDITOR IN CHIEF.

BASEBALL

Coach Tregilgus has been busy ing to get the Baseball team in ape again after the terrible beat- they received at the hands of ystal Lake.

The team may play the Thornton gh School this coming Friday. A me has not been contracted for as t, though. Next Friday the K. H. plays Crystal Lake again, at Klem . Come out and give the boys little encouragement and show m even if they do meet with hard h occassionally.

BASKET BALL

The girls Basket Ball squad met, h Miss Stacey, Monday. The meet was behind closed doors, and, erefore, we did not get to learn t happened. However, the Girls e taking their physical examina- ns under the local doctors and are tting ready to play.

Two basket balls have been or- ed, one for the boy's team and e for the girls' team. These balls very good ones and are guaran- d to last one season.

Freshman Notes

The Freshman English class are taking up the study of Benjamin Franklin.

The General Science class made an experiment last week on the de- composition of water. By the use of an electric current passed through the water in tubes; the water is de- composed into hydrogen and oxygen, of which water is composed. We found that the volume of hydrogen is twice that of oxygen.

GRADE ROOMS

Intermediate Room

Raymond Gettman has been drop- ped from the fourth grade.

Primary Room

The Primary room has been hav- ing a rather hard time in getting a teacher. As is pretty well known, Miss Buchan is unable to take her usual place. Mrs. Lester Stille taught last Thursday and Friday. Monday, Miss Anne Grieve taught and now Mrs. Harvey Sweigard of Garner is in charge of the room.

A NATURAL WONDER

Terril Tribune:— According to a recent investigation and survey by the National Geographic society, Okoboji Lake has been found to be one of the natural wonders of the world. It was found to be one of three blue water lakes in the world. In other words there are only two other lakes in the world like West Okoboji. One ofthese is said to be in Canada and the other in Switzer- land. As we understand it, a blue water lake is a clear body of water The water is very cdear and crystal- like, enabling one to see at a great depth into the lake. Those who have often visited this lake are all agreed that it is exceptionally clear and beautiful. Blue water bodies never gather scum on the surface as other waters do, according to auth- orities on the subject.

The people of northwest Iowa can well be proud of the fact that they have within their own boundary, is a body of water that has attracted nation wide attenion. We need not go o a forgeign country to see one of the wonders of nature. Each sea- son the are literally thousands that visit West Okboji and the others of the group of lakes, but few perhaps have realized the real importance of thislake. Hereafter,as Okoboji will be studied and enjoyed with a great deal more interest. We are in debted to the National Geographic Society for this scientific informat- ion.

METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH

A. W. Gauger, Pastor

We appreciate the increased at- tendance both Sunday morning and evening. However, we have room for more and extend a most cordial invitation to all that have no other church home to come and worship with us. "Come thou with us and we will do thee good."

Our Sunday school has been re- organized and is in position to do ef- fective work as we are sure it will, for everyone seems to enter upon the work with a will. We liked very much the fine spirit manifested in Monday evenings S. S. Board meeting. It presages good. So let everyone be out to our united Sun- day school next Sunday.

Morning worship at 10:00 o'clock.

Evening worship at 7:30 o'clock.

Epworth League at 7:00 o'clock.

Prayer meeting on Thursday ev- ening at 7:30 o'clock.

New S. S. Officers

Superintendent	P. M. Griesemer
Assistant Supt.	Tom Nelson
Secretary	A. D. Gimer
Assistant Secy.	Mrs. C. Bredbenner
Treasurer	Minnie Lenz
Libraians.	C. Elder, F. Gibbs
Pianist	Mildred Johnson
Assistant	Florence Behringer
Cradle Roll Supt.	Emma Sampson
Assistant	Mrs. Elder
Home Department	Mrs. Bailey
Assistant	Mr. Griewe

Note—We want every officer and assistants, and all teachers of the Sunday school to be present for this Sunday. without fail.—Supt.

INCENSE FROM CORN COBS

Process Developed at College Shows It Can Be Done

Iowa corn cobs will be used in the manufacture of incense to pro- duce desirable odors heretofore ob- tainable from an expensive process only, if the process recently devel- oped by the chemica engineering department of Iowa State College is given a commercial application, ac cording to O. R. Sweeny, chief of chemical engineering at Ames.

"When burned," cobs give no od- or at all but when cinamon oil of sandal wood and heliotrope are add- ed, they form a likely substitute for incense," says Mr. Sweeny. The pro duct can be made at a considerably lower cost than incense.

Corn cobs also bid fair to replace punk, famed as an aid in exploding firecrackers, and other materials used in pyrotechnics. Cobs, proper- ly ground with water, can be mold- ed in to various shapes. When dried this material forms a substitute for punk.

Still another use that has been found for Iowa cobs is that of utiliz- ing them as a component part of an insect eradicator, according to Mr. Sweeny. The chemical engin- eering department is constantly at work developing new processes and conducting research in chemical sub jects.

NOTICE OF APPOINTMENT OF EXECUTOR

Notice is Hereby Given, That the undersigned has been duly appoint- ed and qualified as Executor of the Estate of August Trampel late of Hancock County, State of Iowa, de- ceased. All persons indebted to the estate are requested to make im- mediate payment; and those having claims against the same will present them, duly authenticated, to the un- dersigned, for allowance.

Dated Klemme, Ia., Sept. 18th, A. D. 1923.

PETER TRAMPEL

(OCt.-11-18-25) Executor.

HOW TO WRAP APPLES

Plain Wrapping Paper Said to Serve the Purpose Best

Late fall and winter apples can be held in cellars or in earth storages until midwinter, according to the de partment of horticulture at Iowa State College. But for home use where only a barrel or two will be on hand the best method to use is wrapping. When this method is em ployed the apples should go direct from the tree into storage.

Plain wrapping paper is the best to use as newspaper or catalogue pa- per may produce an unpleasant taste due to the absorption of ink by the apple. By wrapping the fruit, all rot which may occur is confined to a single unit. Also wrapping will keep the fruit fresh, preventingg withering to a large extent.

Contrary to the idea held by man- y, freezing does not increase keep- ing quality of apples. If the freeze is hard and if the apples thaw out rapidly the next day, much damage may occur. If allowed to freeze more than once the fruit will be dis- tinctly harmed. Even in cold stor- age apples can not beheld for long periods. When thawed they break down,many of them being unfit for food.

Club girls from five different counties exhibited livestock this year at the state fair.

Approximaely 3. 5 tons of hay to the acre was producer by soybeans at Iowa State College this summer. This hay is said to be equal or sup- erior to alfalfa value.

Movable hog houses, properly built and used are successful. Bul- letin No. 152, from the experiment station at Ames, tells how to make them.

Scientists have found a petrified man who sat with his feet elevated for thousands of years. Probably a primitive job holder.

September Report of the Cow esting Association

The 264 cows on test this month produced 38,656 pounds of 4.4⅞ milk and 6,212 pounds of butterfat The average cost of producing 1 lb. of butterfat was 13 cents. The aver- age net profit of 276 cows on test during August was $7.10. The aver age profit of the 107 cows in the high ten last month was $9.83.

The high herd and high cow are owned by Virgil A. Cook of Goodell. Mr. Cook's 7 holstiens produced an average of 1,226.5 pounds of milk and 42.6 of butterfat. "Granny" the high cow came back strong this month with 2259pounds of 3.5 ⅞ milk and 79 pounds of butterfat. Granny is receiving dailynearly 1 pound of balanced ration concen- trate mixture of corn, oats,bran and oilmeal to 3pounds of milk. For roughage she received in addition to clover pasture, green corn and green soy bean hay. The addtion of soy beans alone raised her output of milk nearly 10 pounds per day. Since May first, Granny has produc- ed 11,092 pounds of milk and 385. 5 pounds of butter fat and banked a net profit of $113.64.

The following are the ten high herds for the month:

Owner	Breed	No. Cows	Av. M.	Av B.
V. Cook,	Hol.	7	1226.5	42.6
B. Goll,	Hl. & Shr.	7	718.5	26.3
A. Martin	Hol.	5	718.4	26.3
J. Sampson,	Gn.	12	556	24.
Haberkamp,	Hl.	17	685.7	24.1
D. Abel, H. & Sh.		10	601.7	24.1
F. Christie,	Grn.	10	523	24
E. Beier,	Holst.	7	675.7	23.9
E. Houge,	Holst	12	635	23.7
B. Katter,	Holst.	3	622	23.7

The following is a comparion of one of the high ten herds and one of the ten lowest herds.

Both herds contain about the same number of cows and the cows freshened practically the same time. What little difference there is it is in favor of the low herd.

The high herd received in addi- tion to blue grass pasture a balanc- ed ration of ground barley. ground oats, bran and oilmeal. This herd produced a total of 3592 pounds of milk and 131.6 pounds of butterfat at a total cost of $19.60. Total net profit was $40.94. The cost of pro- ducing 1 pound of butterfat was 14 cents.

The low herd received in addition to blue grass pasture one bundle of corn fodder (with the corn on) per cow each day. They produced 1750 pounds of milk and 85 pounds of butterfat at a total cost of $21.70. Total net profit $17.40. The cost of producing 1 pound of butterfat was 24 cents.

We see by this that it pays to feed good cows, but does it pay to feed poor ones? Answered next month.

One member has come to the con- clusion that a man can just as well milk for profit as well as just for exercise. He is selling his "cows" and buying Holsteins.

One cow died of T. B. this month.

Three head of high grade Hol- steins were added to two herds this month.

Two purebred Holstein bull calves from cows now on test were sold for good prices.

—Roe L.Payne, Tester.

SCOUTS APPRECIATED REV. GEDYE

Two weeks ago last Sunday was Reverend Geye's last sermon in Klemme. On that evening the local Boy Scout Troop all attended the services conducted by him as a mean of showing their gratitude to him as their scoutmaster. After the ser- vices, the boys presented him with a fine fountain pen, on which were engraved the words "BoyScouts, of Klemme." as a remembrance of them. Reverend Gedye will prob- ably always treasure this small gift as he, as well as the local troop have had many good times during his stay in Klemme.

Reverend Gedye was scoutmaster here for nearly two years and during that time was drawn into very close relation with the fellows. We hope that he only enjoyed being with them as the boys enjoyed being with him.

HUNDREDS WATCH FIERY CROSS HERE SATURDAY NIGHT

NEW DRESS AND COLOR FOR U. S. PAPER MONEY

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Uncle Sam is to have some brand new paper mon- ey. The Postoffice department has just finished giving him a new set of postage stamps. Now the Treas- ury department announces work is being done at the Bureau of Ingrav- ing and Printing on new designs for United States notes, silver certifi- cates and Federal Reserve notes up to denominations of $100. Even- tually the principle of the new de- signs will be extended to all other paper money.

Two purposes are being served in issuing the "new styles" of currency

The first, of course, is to make counterfeiting still more difficult. The other purpose to be served is to aid banks in sorting various classes of currency.

The new currency will have backs of uniform design for each denom- ination. They are of a conventional character, consisting largely of scroll wrok without pictures. and wil be printed green.

The faces of the notes will carry portraits having a denomination significance. The $1 notes of each class— silver certificates, United States notes and Federal Reserve notes—will have the portrait of Washington, the $5 bill will carry the picture of Lincoln. $20 bils that of Cleveland, the $50 bills that of Grant, and $100 bills that of Frank- lin. The overprinting of the seal and the numbers of the silver certi- ficates will be blue, on the United States notes green and on the Feder- al Reserve notes red.

The motive in making the portrait on each class of bills the same for the same denominaton is in order that the public may thereby become familiar with the denominational value of the portrait so that a raised note may be more easily detected.

ARE SOWING ALFALFA

Crop Will Grow If Land Is In Condition

Iowa farmers are showing more in trest in sowing alalfa this fall than they ever have displayed before, ac- cording to Harry, soils extension man for Iowa State College.

Farmers have come to realize that they can grow alfalfa and groy if well if their soil is in the right con- dition. To be suitable for alfalfa seeding, soil should be treated with limestone. if acid, should be innocu- lated and in many cases should have an application of manure. In Wap- ello county, where some 500 acres of land has been seeded to alfalfa this fall, it is said that probably not more than 100 acres of the crop ex- isted in the county before.

In a number of counties from six to ten farmers are going together and buying a carload of limestone for the test purposes in a small way. If eight men go together in buying a car, each man gets his lot much cheaper than if he had purchased it independently and at the same time gets sufficient lime to treat three to five acres of alfalfa land. Emme Gardner, county agent for Monroe County reports several in- stances of this kind and says the farmers are finding it very satisfac- toy.

A FEW EXCEPTIONS

Young man don't swear. There is no occasion for it outside of a printing office where it is useful when the paper is behind time. It also comes in handy in proof read- ing and is "indespensible" when the ink works bad and the press begins to "buck." It is sometimes brought into use when the foreman's mad; and it has been known to entirely remove the tired feeling of the ed- itor when he looks over the paper after it has been printed. Outside the printing office it is a foolish hab- it.

When a man sows his wild oats a drouth never comes along and kills the crop.

EXPLOSION OF AERIAL BOMBS ATTRACT ATTENTION

Klan Literature and Letter to Mayor Left By Klansmen

ROBERTS TO SPEAK FRIDAY

There was a lot of excitement in Klemme Saturday night when two loud reports were heard in the vi- cinity of the depot and a blazing, fiery cross sprang into view on the hill west of town at about eight- thirty o'clock.

The bombs used seemed to be the kind fired at July Fourth celebra- tions and went off with a loud report hundreds of feet in the air, lighting up the whole town. The bombs ex- ploded a few minutes apart. After the first bomb was fired the burn- ing cross, emblem of the Ku Klux Klan, was plainly visible. A large crowd, numbering hundreds gather- ed to view the cross from a distance while the braver ones went up to the cross where Klan literature was found in abundance. A letter was also found at the cross and was ad- dressed to the Mayor of Klemme. The Times Office received a copy of the letter in the mail Monday and which we will produce. The letter promises aid to the Mayor in enforc- ing the laws, and is as follows:

Klemme, Iowa, Oct. 6th, 1923.

To the Honorable Mayor of Klemme, Iowa.

Greetings;

You being the Constituted Authori- ty, and the Honorable Mayor of Klemme, Iowa, we pledge to you. our unqualified support and assis- tance, in the conduct of your office, and will aid and assist you in the proper performance of your duties and the maintaining of Law and Order, as defined by our local laws, State Laws, and the Laws by which these United States are governed.

Klemme Klansmen and Han- cock County Klansmen.

From the above letter and th demonstration Saturday night we would gather that there is undoubt- edly a Ku Klux Klan organization in Klemme at this time.

Roberts To Speak Here

Klemme was also literally plast- ered with dodgers announcing that Rev. Tom Roberts would speak in Klemme tomorrow night (Friday, October 12th) at which time he will deliver a lecture on the principals and ideals of the Klan and will also dwell on the recent disturbance in Oklahoma. Rev. Roberts spoke at Kanawha several weeks ago and all those who attended said it was a wonderful talk and well worth list- ening to. That night Kanawha had the largest crowd in town they have ever had and it was estimated that several thousand people heard Rev. Robert's talk.

No doubt Rev. Roberts will draw an immense crowd here as the Ku Klux Klan is a much discussed topic and people want to know more about it.

GIVE HENS PLENTY MILK

Sour Milk Takes Place of Tankage Mash Ration.

Sour milk or buttermilk should be fed to laying hens whenever it is available. Three gallons of sour milk or buttermilk will take the place of tankage in the dry mash for each 100 hens, according to the ex- tension service poultry specialists at Iowa State College.

Plenty of fresh, clean water is needed to produce the best results from any ration. Gravel or crushed stone is necessary for use as grit, while oyster shell supplies the lay- ing hens with the material needed to form egg shells. The average hen is said to eat about three pounds of oyster shells a year.

Egg producers who wish further information concerning winter rat- ions and winter care of the laying flock may secure it by writing to the extension service, Iowa State College, Ames, Iowa.

LLOYD GEORGE IS EGG TARGET

Irish Republican Outbreak Mars Rousing Welcome at New York.

HAS NO MISSION, HE SAYS

Gang of Disturbers Carry Banners Blaming the Former Prime Minister of England for "Ireland's Woes" —Clash With Police.

New York.—David Lloyd George, former prime minister of Great Britain, veteran of seventeen years of strenuous activity in the labyrinth of Old World politics, came to America and found in a whole heartedly enthusiastic welcome tendered him by New York a series of humanly potent thrills.

So delighted was the little Welshman who had guided the British ship of state through the tumultuous years from 1916 to 1922 that his demeanor was more often that of an interested schoolboy and of a deeply touched human being than that of a blase statesman.

The former premier first saw American soil from the deck of the Mauretania early Friday morning. His passage from the great ocean liner in the police boat Macom to the Battery and thence by motor to the city hall and through the streets of the metropolic was almost a triumphal procession, marred by street disturbances precipitated by Irish Republican sympathizers.

To Canada and to the United States Mr. Lloyd George declared he brought as Britain's war-time premier a message of heartfelt thanks for their services in the great war.

He came, he said, with no political status, and no official credentials, but as a private subject of the crown to express to Canada his personal thanks for the volunteer aid she unstintingly had offered the British empire in her time of need.

To the United States, he explained, he brought thanks for the army that had come like the sword of Excalibur in the Arthurian legend from out the waters of the Atlantic when the horizon of the allied powers was blackened with despair.

Coming as a climax to a day of extraordinary welcome to Lloyd George on his first visit to this country, a gang of disturbers who had marred the receptions by carrying banners blaming the former prime minister for "Ireland's woes," threw eggs at the visitor and his party as they left a theater after attending a musical revue.

Police had clashed several times during the day with representatives of the Association for Recognition of the Irish Republic, arresting several women and dispersing the turbulent groups along the line of march.

At night the same band of men and women was waiting outside the theater, and bystanders were spattered by the eggs before the police routed the group and escorted the British statesman and his wife and daughter to their automobile.

Higher Wheat Duty Opposed by President Coolidge

Washington. — President Coolidge will not recommend an increase in the duty on wheat in an effort to boost the price of that farm product. After careful consideration of the proposition and conference with Thomas O. Marvin, head of the U. S. tariff commission, he doubts that he has a legal right to raise the duty if he thought it wise to do so.

Germany Is Credited With $2,050,000,000 Payments

Paris.—The reparation commission issued a set of revised figures, as of June 30, showing Germany to be credited with reparation payments totaling 8,213,670,000 gold marks ($2,050,000,000, of which 1,900,000,000 were in cash, 3,250,000,000 in merchandise and the remainder in shipping, cables and credits for the Sarre Valley mines and ceded territories.

Europe Is Gaining, Says J. Ogden Armour, the Packer

New York.—Europe has passed the economic crisis and is on the way back to economic stability, J. Ogden Armour declared upon arriving from the continent aboard the Mauretania. Mr. Armour has been abroad on a pleasure trip of four months in France and England.

Sixty Killed at Kiev In Synagogue Panic

Moscow.—Sixty persons were killed and 100 injured in a stampede in a Kiev synagogue Thursday night. The panic started when the lights suddenly were estinguished and cries of fire raised.

Bad Elephant Is Executed.

Los Angeles, Cal.—"Charlie," the prize elephant of the Universal studios here, faced a "firing squad" of one at dawn Friday, and paid with his life for his vicious temper. He was said to be 189 years old.

Twenty-Pound Mushroom Found.

Prairie du Chien, Wis.—What is believed to be the largest mushroom in the history of this section was discovered by John Martin in dense timber. Its weight reached twenty and one-half pounds.

MRS. LENA LAKE FORREST

Mrs. Lena Lake Forrest, honorary chairman of the National League of Business and Professional Women, and a leader in the insurance business of Detroit.

NEW GERMAN CABINET

Old One Falls Before Onslaught of Nationalists.

Stresemann to End Eight-Hour Day and Fix Prices—Popular Government Imperiled by Growing Sentiment Against Lawmakers.

Berlin.—The German cabinet resigned at 11:30 o'clock Wednesday night. Chancellor Stresemann immediately went to the home of President Ebert, who accepted the resignations and directed Herr Stresemann to form a new cabinet.

The chancellor has formed a small cabinet similar to a directorate and its policies will include the seizure of economic values, the control of prices, increased production and the giving up of the eight-hour law. It is asserted that the Bavarian dictatorship is not a subject of controversy.

The giving up of the eight-hour law will be a serious blow to the Socialists, who fear a political and military dictatorship similar to that in Bavaria and the loss of all the Socialist and labor union concessions won since the downfall of the monarchy.

Despite the intervention of President Ebert, the Socialists refused to budge on their demands. They flatly rejected requests to accept a discontinuance of the eight-hour day and they would not give up their stand that no workman shall be discharged by his employer without the matter being arbitrated. It was reported that Herr Ebert, although himself a Socialist, was willing to give up the last of the Socialist demands rather than see the abolition of parliamentary government.

Ambassadors Harvey and Child to Quit Posts

Washington.—Ambassadors Harvey and Child will soon resign, the State department announced. Mr. Harvey will quit his post at London about the first of the year. Mr. Child, after arriving in the United States within the next few weeks, will not return to Rome. State department officials said that the ambassadors had not been asked to resign and that they were quitting for wholly personal reasons.

California Man Kills Stranger in Effort to Get Insurance

Eureka, Cal.—Alex. A. Kels, wealthy butcher, until recently believed to have been foully murdered on his ranch near Lodi, Cal., confessed to Sheriff W. F. Rlecks of Stockton that he hired a stranger from an employment agency Sept. 12, killed him, burned the body and arranged for it to be identified as Kels' so that the supposed widow of Kels could collect insurance approximating $100,000.

Many Persons Die in Gale Along the French Coast

Paris.—North to northwesterly gales, at times developing into a hurricane, have been raging during the past thirty-six hours, causing the loss of many lives and strewing the French shores on the English channel and Atlantic seaboard with wreckage.

Illinois Gins First Bale of Cotton at Cairo

Cairo, Ill.—What was said to be the first bale of cotton ginned in Illinois was ginned here Wednesday amid ceremonies attended by city officials and southern Illinois agriculturists. The cotton was grown near Villa Ridge.

More Men for Postal Service.

Washington.—A deficiency appropriation bill to provide for 3,200 additional clerks, 3,000 carriers and 500 laborers for the Post Office department will be presented at the coming session of congress.

Would Cut Allied Debt.

Paris.—Cancellation or an important reduction in inter-allied debts is the only means of reducing the claims on Germany, Premier Mussolini stated in an interview published in the Echo de Paris Friday.

LABOR LEADER ATTACKS REDS

British Mine Chief Warns A. F. of L. Convention Against Bolshevism.

GOMPERS' CAUSE IS ADVANCED

Englishman Tells Delegates Western Civilization Must Be on Guard Against Communism Born in Asiatic Mind of Russia.

Portland, Ore.—Bringing a warning of special significance to the American labor movement, Frank Hodges, secretary of the British Miners' federation, gave the forty-third annual convention of the American Federation of Labor the most dramatic denunciation of Communism and Bolshevism ever heard in a labor assembly in the country.

Mr. Hodges, who is a guest in the United States of the United Mine Workers of America, declared that western civilization must be on guard against the insidious oriental doctrine of autocracy and slavery or rot and crumble by the "boring from within" poison of a doctrine born in "the Asiatic mind of Russia."

"We must save the freedom of our souls," Mr. Hodges declared, as the convention rose to its feet and cheered, while the handful of Wm. Z. Foster's revolutionary followers sat sullen in their seats.

The speech of the secretary of the British miners' union is regarded as of utmost importance, as it comes on the eve of a contest with the Red element of this country as represented by the Foster elements, who have succeeded in getting representation in the convention. President Samuel Gompers appeared highly pleased with the scorching remarks of Mr. Hodges and vigorously applauded his denunciations.

"In Europe, as here," said Mr. Hodges, "the old idea of parliamentary democracy, and democracy generally, is being challenged; it is being challenged by an entirely new theory of government; it is being challenged by the castiron theories developed in Moscow. These theories are established with the purpose of showing to the world that democracy as popularly understood is played out; that liberty and fraternity are figments of the imagination. If you believe that you are on the wrong track. What is required for the emancipation of the working man is something like the British in this regard. He hates, despises and rejects dictatorship of any character or description."

Five Die When Street Car Hurls Auto Twenty Feet

Mount Clemens, Mich.—Five men were instantly killed when their automobile was struck by a Detroit United railway car four miles south of here. Their automobile was knocked twenty feet. Three of the dead are A. Shiffman, S. Levine and A. Baker.

Coolidge to Insist War Debts Be Paid to U. S.

Washington. — President Coolidge is unalterably opposed to the cancellation of the debts owed America by the European countries, it was said at the White House. The President feels that the United States should be liberal in the settlements it makes, as in the handling of the loan to Great Britain.

Bombard Felons at Bay in Kentucky Prison; Guard Killed

Eddyville, Ky.—Three convict murderers were cornered in the dining room of the Eddyville state penitentiary plant here after they had killed one guard and wounded three others in a desperate attempt to shoot their way to liberty. Twenty picked men of the National Guard bombarded the room.

Cash Corn Goes to Dollar First Time in Three Years

Chicago.—Cash corn sold over the dollar mark on the board of trade Wednesday, an advance of five cents and at the best level since October, 1920. Compared with last year corn spot is 30 cents higher. This year's crop is estimated at 3,000,000,000 bushels.

Turkish Republic to Be Proclaimed Soon, Report

Constantinople.—The culmination of a movement begun in 1876 is near and with the promulgation of the new constitution Turkey will be proclaimed a republic, it was learned here. There will be but one house in the legislative branch of the government, the national assembly.

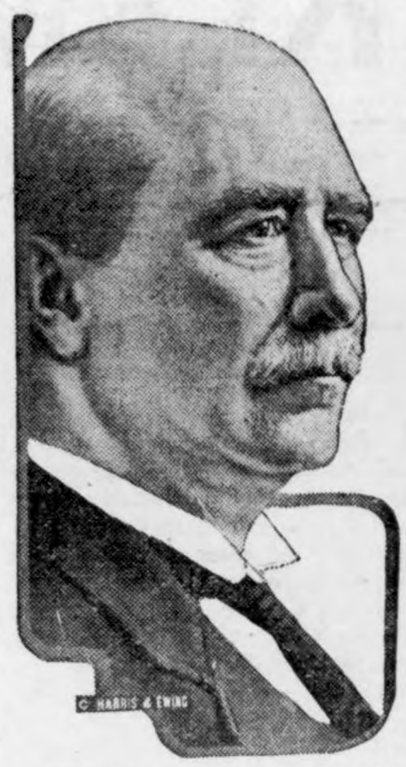
Hearse Has Phonograph.

New York.—A $20,000 hearse, decorated with thirty-five wooden angels and equipped with chimes, a talking machine and amplifier to carry the music to the graveside, appeared on the lower East side.

Oklahoma Solons to Meet.

Oklahoma City, Okla.—The Oklahoma legislature will meet again on October 17. A call was issued by William D. McBee, member from Stevens county, after he had been petitioned by a majority of members to do so.

W. F. MASSEY



New portrait of W. F. Massey, prime minister of New Zealand, who has been visiting in Washington.

U. S. MARKET REPORT

Weekly Marketgram by Bureau of Agricultural Economics.

Washington.—For the week ending Oct. 3.—LIVE STOCK—Chicago prices: Hogs, top, $8.30; bulk of sales, $7.30@8.10; medium and good beef steers, $8.00@11.65; butcher cows and heifers, $3.40@10.80; feeder steers, $4.10@8.50; light and medium weight veal calves, $8.00@12.25; fat lambs, $11.75@13.25; yearlings, $8.50@11.00; feeding lambs, $12.00@13.40; fat ewes, $3.75@6.75.

FRUITS AND VEGETABLES—Long Island Green Mountain potatoes, $2.35@2.50 bulk per 100 lbs.; Maine sacked and bulk Irish cobblers, $1.05@1.20 f. o. b; Maine Green Mountains, $1.05@1.25 f. o. b.; northern round whites, $1.00@1.15 in Chicago, 90c@$1.00 f. o. b.; North Dakota and Minnesota Red River Ohios, 90c. New York cabbage, domestic round type, $18.00@20.00 f. o. b. New York peaches, Elbertas, $1.75@2.25 per bu. leading markets, $1.60@1.65 f. o. b.; Utah and Idaho Elbertas, $1.75@2.00. Eastern onions, yellow varieties, $3.00@3.25 f. o. b.; midwestern stock, $3.00@3.40 consuming centers, $3.25 f. o. b. Eastern apples, Grimes and Delicious, $4.50@5.00 per bbl. leading cities; Michigan Jonathans, $5.25@5.75 per bbl. in Chicago.

GRAIN—Chicago cash market: No. 2 red winter wheat, $1.07; No. 2 hard winter wheat, $1.09; No. 2 mixed corn, 91c; No. 2 yellow corn, 91c; No. 3 white oats, 42c. Average farm price: No. 2 mixed corn in central Iowa, 80c.

DAIRY PRODUCTS—Butter, 92 score, 44c Chicago. Cheese prices at Wisconsin primary markets: Double daisies, 25¾c; cheddars, 26c; longhorns, 26½c; square prints, 27½c; young Americas, 26½c.

General Wood's Foes Are Victors in Filipino Vote

Manila.—Complete returns from Tuesday's election from all but a few scattered precincts in the outlying provinces showed that Ramon Fernandez, coalitionist candidate for the insular senate to succeed Pedro Guevara, who resigned to become Philippine commissioner at Washington, was elected by a comfortable majority. Fernandez' election is a victory for the advocates of independence and the anti-Wood forces.

Monarchists in Fight to Control the German Army

Berlin.—Monarchist agitators in the midst of Germany's tense civil strife have invaded Berlin itself. For the last twenty-four hours they have been trying to stir up insurrection in the ranks of the regular army, swinging the republican military force in the capital to the monarchist side, and thus securing victory through a sudden coup at the republic's very heart. Thus far their efforts appear to have been unavailing.

Miners Buried Nine Days Rescued Alive and Well

London.—Eight men entombed by the inrush of water in the Falkirk pit ten days before were rescued alive Thursday. The men were in good condition, although the only food they had was one slice of bread. Sixty-three men were in the pit when the disaster occurred on September 25. Twenty-one were rescued the same day, and about thirty were still to be accounted for. It is now hoped that more men will be found alive.

Axes Save Ohio Man as Asphalt Bath Becomes Block

Canton, Ohio.—After chopping with axes for more than two hours, workmen succeeded in rescuing P. P. Hassan, thirty-six, from a block of asphalt where he had been embedded all night. Only his head, right arm and shoulder were visible. Hassan fell over a small embankment into a pool of warm asphalt while walking near an asphalt plant. He became exhausted trying to free himself and lay down. Then the asphalt hardened.

National Forest Funds.

Washington.—A total of $1,321,422 has been remitted by the Department of Agriculture to 28 states as their one-quarter share in the receipts for the fiscal year 1923 from national forest resources.

Many Tourists in Colorado.

Denver, Colo.—Four and one-half million tourists visited Colorado this season and spent an average of $10 each, or a total of $45,000,000, according to estimates announced by the Denver Tourist bureau.

SACRIFICES KIN FOR ANOTHER MAN

Wife Admits Lack of Mother Love After Being Married 14 Years.

DIVORCE TO HUSBAND

Los Angeles, Cal.—A strange story of a mother who confessed that she lacked "mother love," and who admitted that another had come into her life to replace the father of her children, was told in Judge Hardy's court recently, when Clinton A. Pedrick was granted a divorce from Louise M. Pedrick.

The Pedricks had been married 14 years. There are three children. Under the direction of his attorney, Leon Yanwich, the husband told a rather remarkable story.

Seemed Devoid of Motherhood.

"She was absolutely untrustworthy," he said, in describing his wife. "I never knew when I came home at night whether I would find her there or not. She seemed devoid of motherhood. She would leave the children apparently without a thought. So I had to keep a maid all the time for the protection of the kiddies.

"Time and again I remonstrated with her, but it was useless. At last she went away, and I haven't seen her since."

The wife's side of the story was told in a letter which she had written her husband. In this missive she did not seek to evade her responsibility. She accepted it, but she had added: "If you had not treated me as a child, but more as a woman, it might have been different."

Told a Rather Remarkable Story.

Wife Admits Other Man.

In part, the letter read:

"Dear—There is no use beating around the bush any longer. I am leaving for good. There isn't enough mother love in me to give up my life. It is foolish of me to make any more promises I can't keep.

"You know in the last seven years there has always been a third party. I have made promises before, you know. Some have lasted two weeks, and some two years. So what is the use of going into it again? It only means a bigger battle each time.

"I don't think there is any love on either side any more. You won't need to worry. If you want a divorce, go ahead; I will not oppose it. I don't wany anything that belongs to you. I would like the privilege of seeing the children once in a while, in case I am near enough. But if you feel that I should not, it will be all right.

"There is no use blaming any one else for this. It has been coming for some time. I am simply dissatisfied. There is no need to blame this other one, for if it had not been him there would have been some one else. He was encouraged by me.

"There is something missing between us. It is more of the feeling I would have for a father rather than to a husband. It has always been that way. You have treated me like you would treat the children, not as though I was a woman. So just let's quit friends."

Flies Betrayed Booze Runner.

Fremont, O.—When flies swarmed around an automobile parked near here, Deputy Sheriff Sterner became suspicious. He investigated and found 12 cases of beer. Samuel R. Cook, forty-three years old, who was changing a tire, was arrested.

Child Smothered by Bales of Hay.

Fond du Lac, Mich.—Buried beneath two bales of hay weighing 200 pounds, five-year-old David Kenny of Fond du Lac was smothered to death. The child was playing in a barn when the bales of hay toppled on him.

Farmer Hatches Goose Eggs.

London.—The excuse that he could not be in court because he was hatching goose eggs sent officers to the home of a farmer near here. They found the farmer lying on a pile of straw under which were the eggs.

.. Hawkeye .. State News

Interesting Items Gathered From all Parts of Iowa

Iowa and Illinois sell 50 per cent more corn than the total export of all the countries in the world.

E. H. Mallory prohibits swearing or loud talking in front of his stock feeding on his 640-acre farm near Hampton.

Expert Macey of the Ames extension service says the best poultry he has seen in Iowa is in the southeastern corner of the state.

One of the unique exhibits at the dairy congress at Waterloo was a Brahama bull from a Texas herd of 500 Brahama cattle from India.

Premier awards at the American poultry congress, Waterloo, held in connection with the dairy cattle congress, all went to Iowa fanciers.

The presbytery recently in session at Fort Dodge appealed for a change in the laws governing quarantine. It would have church gatherings exempted.

Failures are few in Iowa, and it is seldom that depositors lose money in banks which, for one reason or another, are compelled to liquidate their affairs.

Humboldt will be hostess April 1, 1924, to the state declamatory association at which time the best contestants picked by elimination will be present.

The truth is the rural school and travelable roads have more to do with the future of the Iowa farm than a whole lot of other things we are talking about.

According to present indications there will be a big attendance at the annual convention of the Iowa State Teachers Association to be held at Des Moines November 1st, 2nd and 3rd.

Simultaneous revival meetings will be held in all the city churches of Oskaloosa beginning October 21st instead of each church holding separate meetings that prolong the sessions.

Miss Elizabeth Reynolds, Red Cross field representative from northern Iowa was in Des Moines in conference with the Red Cross officials in regard to more nurses in the northern district.

Iowa had 5.15 inches of rainfall in September, which was 1.66 inches more than the average September rainfall for the last forty-six years according to records of the United States weather bureau.

The Northwest Iowa conference of the Methodist Episcopal church voted to insure its 160 minister for $5,000 each, half to go to the minister's family and the other half to the conference in case of death.

A historical film, written in Mustine by Irving B. Richman, noted as a historian and author will be seen on the screen within the next few days, entitled, "The Chronicle of America."

The state treasurers office collected $90,063.16 in September in inheritance taxes making a total of $814.79 collected in the first nine months of the year. At the present rate the total for the year will be well over $1,000,000. Taxes were paid on 180 estates in September.

Prohibition Commissioner Haynes has decided that cider isn't liable under the Volstead law—that is cider in the farm cellars is not. Elsewhere when it begins to get riotous and enthusiastic as cider will when nature is left to take its course its possessor stands a chance of trouble.

Between 400 and 500 person attended the Upper Iowa conference of the Methodist church, which convened in Marion, October 3rd, continuing through the following Sunday. It was the fourth time that Marion has entertained the conference—it having been host in 1857, 188 3and 1

The date for seeding wheat in southwestern Iowa has not yet been determined, according to the reports received at the Pape county farm bureau office. Much will depend on the weather conditions for the week of October 24th to 30th. If the weather remains warm the chances are that a large majority of the flies will emerge from the flax seed stage and lay their eggs.

We are figuring a great deal these days on how to stimulate interest on the farm. We may talk all we please and we may legislate all we please but so long as the Iowa farm is left in the mud, just so long the boys who come along and inherit enough money to live where they choose will be going to California or somewhere else. A prosperous people will not live permanently where they are stuck in the mur. And the land owners of Iowa are bound to be prosperous enough to be able to choose where they will live.

A crowd estimated at between 6,000 and 7,000 attended Ogden's first barbecue, sponsored by Ogden merchants. Of meat there was 1,200 pounds of beef and 500 pounds of weiners. More than 4,000 people were fed in two hours' time.

Iowa clubwomen will oppose any attempt to drain the Winneshiek bottoms, on the upper Mississippi. Resolutions pledging their co-operation to other organizations fighting the project were passed at a meeting of the state board of the Iowa Federation of Women's Clubs recently.

BY STORMIZING

your cylinders and installing oversize pistons and rings will more than restore the original power.

PAVEY'S STORMIZING SHOP
Automotive Machinist

Specializing Cylinder Stormizing
Klemme, Ia.

How Money Grows

Two dollars saved every week, or even one dollar a week, soon becomes a sum that you're glad to call your own.

Small, steady, savings, helped by compound interest, quickly grow.

Call and ask us to show you the exact figures. You'll be surprised to see how quickly small savings add up.

A bank account of your own gives you confidence and wins the respect of your fellow men. And when the right opportunity comes, ready money of your own is a big stepping stone to success.

We will be glad to talk it over with you and to lay out a saivngs plan, if you wish.

First National Bank

"The Bank for Everybody'.'

AVERY TOWNSHIP NEWS

The Marshall families were callers at Mason City Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Elie Ross were callers at the home of Wm. Bell Sunday.

Dr. D. P. Anderson and Walter Johnson were Sunday visitors at the home of Wm. Bell.

Mr. George Griggs shelled corn Saturday, Wm. Bell doing the shelling.

Mr. Fred Bachman is putting a real shine on his barn by giving it a new coat of paint.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Bell and son, Kenneth, spent the week end at Lime Springs, Iowa, returning home Sunday.

Several from this community attended the rehearsal that was conducted by Miss Thorman at the Klemme High School Thursday night.

Dr. D. P. Anderson, of Klemme, and his mother from Kansas, were guests at the Wm. Bell home Sunday, it being Mr. Bell's 54th birthday.

SPEAKING OF REVENGE

"Dar ain't a great deal of satisfaction in revenges," said Uucle Eben. 'Smashin' a mosquito in a heap o' work an' de job don' look much afer 'tis finished."

TYPEWRITER RIBBONS
All Makes

Typewriter Ribbons for sale at the Times Office all of the Standard makes. Ribbons 75 cents each.

DENTIST
J. L. Hesselhuus, D. D. S.
Office Hours 8-12 1-5:30
Office Opposite State Savings Bank; In Schaffer Bldg.
Evening Work By Appointment Only
Klemme, Ia. Phone 81

KICKIN' THE DORG AROUND

The only way to reduce the cost of living is to make your neighbor quit cutting such a slurge for you to pattern after.

Howdy friends! We wonder why people continue to put up "No smoking", signs. Hardly anybody seems to believe in them.

He tried to cross the street at an angle. At the funeral the choir sang 'He Got the Jay-Walkin, Blues.

Life is just one coal parley after another.

One third party movement that is gaining in favor is the protection of the party of the third part in the war between labor and capital.

If music is the language of the soul, jazz is the profanity.

They tell you to laugh and grow fat, but if you take their advice you get laughed at.

Track records are broken daily by young smart Alecs running into debt

There are a lot of people who would rather be miserable rich than happy poor.

After a man has tried to lead a calf he has more patience with human beings.

The road hog in one who passes you and kicks dirt in your face after you have passed 17 others and kicked duct in their faces.

The good luck of the other fellow is what you would have called brain work if it had happened to you.

Nobody is indispensible.

The thing statesmen need to learn is that government was made for man, not man for government.

At fifty an hour
He gave her a hug,
Not far from the spot
Two graves have been dug.

There is always a way out. In a pinch you can give the automobile to the repair man instead of paying the bill.

NOTICE OF APPOINTMENT OF EXECUTORS

Notice is Hereby Given, That the undersigned has been duly appointed and qualified as Executor of the Estate of HERMAN LUDEKE late of Hancock County, State of Iowa, deceased. All persons indebted to the estate are requested to make immediate payment; and those having claims against the same will present them, duly authenticated, to the undersigned, for allowance.

Dated Sept. 29, A. D. 1923.

HENRY A LUDEEK gumpion1vf
Henry A. Ludeke, Elmer Ludeke,
(Oct. 4-11-18.) Executors.

Typewriter ribbons at the Times Print Shop. Black, and Red and Black for all standard machines, at 75c. There is no better ribbon than the Remington. tfc

KLEMME DRAYLINE
Phone 2106
A share of your patronage is solicited. All work promptly and carefully done.
Steam coal quick
LLOYD LAMPE

Golden State Limited
Rock Island
only 3 nights en route
To California
Los Angeles
San Diego
Santa Barbara
Through tourist sleepers Tuesdays and Thursdays from Twin Cities and Des Moines. First car Nov. 6. Standard sleepers every day in the year.
Consult Rock Island Ticket Agent or address
C. C. Gardner, G. A. P. D.
Rock Island Lines
600 Royal Union Life Bldg., Des Moines, Iowa
Rock Island Lines

RALPH LUDEKE-S
POLAND CHINA and CHESTER WHITE
HOG SALE
40 Head of Boars and Gilts
SATURDAY, OCTOBER 20th KLEMME, IOWA

News of Goodell And Vicinty

Mr. and Mrs. Ness were Belmond callers Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Matson were Belmond callers Saturday.

John Griggs and daugher, Maude, spent the week end at Ventura.

Mrs. George Zellie of Goodell was a Mason City caller last Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Tony Bollar were visiting friends at Clair last Sunday.

Levie Tokeman of Belmond was a Goodell caller Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Bauchman and family were visiting at the Glenn Avery home Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. George Avery of Belmond were visiting relatives at Goodell Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Sherwood attended the Fair in Iowa Falls last Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Johnson are enjoying a visit from their two daughters. Mrs. Morestad and Mrs. Osman, of Minnesota.

Miss Celia Finn of Belmond was visiting her aunt, Eliza Cashman, Thursday, and in the afternoon they drove out in the country to visit Miss Mary Sullivan's school.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Sherwood and family, and Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Cook and family took Sunday dinner at the home of the latter's parents, at Burchinal.

Clara Johnson and Mae Griggs, who are attending school at Cedar Falls, spent the week end at home. Fernon Griggs and Dale Chase took them to Iowa Falls Sunday afternoon, where they took the train for Cedar Falls.

Misses Hill and Orr drove to Cedar Falls Friday night to visit over Sunday at Miss Orr's home. They were accompanied home Sunday by a lady from Cedar Falls who will substitute for Miss Bernice Butts, who will soon go to Rochester to enter Mayo's hospital.

One look at the little God with the bow and arrows and one begins to understand why he does most of his running around in June.

Eat Here--

This is the right place to go when you are in town and want a good hot cup of coffee and a nice warm lunch. Farmers will find that this is a good place to eat when in town trading.

We aim to serve only the best of everything and you will enjoy a meal here.

Always a full line of fresh Cigars and Tobacco of all kinds. We sell all the favorite brands of Cigarettes. They are fresh!

Try our Candy, Ice Cream and Soft Drinks.

The Elite Cafe

LuVerne Smith, Prop.

SMOKED MEAT SALE!

J. P. Larsen & Sons

Thurs., Fri., Sat., Oct. 11, 12, 13

This is not the first time we have told you of the quality of our meats---it has always been our aim to handle only the BEST that can be had.

We believe all of our customers are familiar with ARMOUR'S STAR, the "Ham that Am." This is the choicest of all Hams, carefully selected from the finest young porkers, carefully cured by the latest methods, and smoked over smoldering hickory fires to produce a ham of rich flavor, yet so mild that it is not necessary to parboil the ham before frying.

STAR BACON, like STAR HAM, is the first selection of lean, smooth bacon, carefuily cured so as to be the first choice of particular palates.

SHIELD BRAND Hams, Bacon and Picnics are next in quality to the famous STAR. Good quality Cured Meats of fine flavor.

We have purchased a TON of these HAMS and BACON at SPECIAL Price Concessions and are going to put them on our Bargain Counter for—

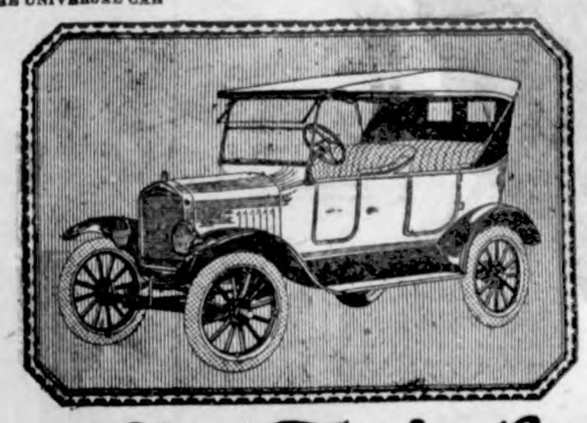
THREE DAYS--Thursday, Friday, Saturday--

At the following prices—

STAR HAMS (Skinned) the "Ham that Am" per lb.	28c
STAR BACON (Light and lean) First Quality, per lb.	33c
SHIELD HAMS (Skinned) Good Quality, per lb.	20c
SMOKED PICNICS Best Quality, per lb.	14c
MEDIUM BACON, Shield Brand, per lb.	25c
BACON NUGGETTS, Sugar Cured, per lb.	18c

Lay in a good supply NOW on these money-saving WHOLESALE prices.

Ford
THE UNIVERSAL CAR



New Touring Car

Looking at the new touring car from the side, you are at once favorably impressed with the effect of longer, more graceful lines secured by enlarging the cowl and raising the radiator

Slanting windshield and one-man top lend material aid in giving the entire car a lower, more stylish appearance.

An apron connecting the radiator with the fender skirts is also a decided improvement.

A comfort feature much appreciated by owners, is the additional leg room provided by the enlargement of the cowl.

Allow us to show you the entire line of new Ford cars now on display in our show room.

These cars can be obtained through the Ford Weekly Purchase Plan.

Griemann Motor Co.

Ford
CARS · TRUCKS · TRACTORS

Local Items

Read Ludeke's Poland China & Chester White Hog Sale ad.

E. C. Ford, of Iowa Falls was a business caller in this city yesterday.

Mrs. J. W. Brooks was visiting at the Joe Stearnes home in the country a few days this week.

Mrs. Hubbard and daughter and Mrs. Heginger were up from Goodell Tuesday.

Mrs. R. A. McConn and Miss Mildred Johnson drove to Clear Lake Monday evening for a visit with friends.

Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Humphrey and Mrs. Wm. Carrol, of Clear Lake were visiting with Mrs. R. A. McConn Tuesday.

Fred Arnold and Howard Wiles, who are attending school at Ames, spent Sunday with home folks. Mr. C. W. Wiles drove down after them Saturday.

Mrs. E. J. Thompson, of Waterloo has been in Klemme the past week on business. She owns the Klemme Hotel and was seeking a buyer for the property. She left for her home Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Musfelt, Mrs. Hattie Lanahan and daughter, Laura, and Mrs. E. J. Thompson drove to Clarion Sunday for a visit with relatives. Mrs. Thompson left for her home at Waterloo after a short visit at Clarion.

Harvey Stille returned from California Saturday. He went out a couple of weeks ago intending to work there but he said theliving conditions were too high there and that Iowa was the best place.

The Methodist Ladies Aid Society are having their meeting this afternoon in the basement of the First Naional Bank. They will serve a supper to members of their family after the meeting.

Ben Greimann wins the prize for big apples. They are about the size of small pumpkins. Tuesday he had couple of them in our office. They are the Wolf River variety and the two apples weighed 2 pounds and 3 ounces. Some fruit we say.

Aaron Greimann, proprietor of the Griemann Motor Company, and Ed. Jacobs went to Des Moines Monday noon to attend a Ford Dealers Convention at the Savory Hotel. They also drove back a couple of new "flivvers."

Walt Bloom left today for his his home at Los Angeles, California, where he will hibernate for the winter. Walt has been here for a two month's visit and busines trip. He manages to get back to Iowa almost every fall.

NOTICE—To call your attention! Come and sell your hogs on the Klemme Market at the North Elevator. Call at the Lau Office here. Hogs are bought six days a week, and top prices are paid always. Telephone Office No. 16, House No. 2905. A. C. LAU & SON, WALTER LAU, —Buyers—

Harvey, 2 months old son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Neuhring died at the home seven miles west of town Sunday evening at 7:30, of blood poisoning. Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon from the Reformed church, and interment was made in the Klemme Cemetery. Mr. and Mrs. Neuhring have the sympathy of the community in their sorrow.

NOTICE TO CATTLE BUYERS

I have two car loads of good steers for sale. One car load light steers weight about 800 lbs., and one car load heavy steers weighing about 1,000 lbs. per head. If anyone wants to buy cattle to put on feed then call at once. A. C. LAU. 2tc

Charles Gibbs returned to his home at Big Lake, Minnesota, Sunday, after a visit of about a week with Klemme relatives. Charles is in the sheep raising industry and has a large herd of the wooly tribe. When asked if wolves bothered very much he replied they did not, but once in awhile a pack of dogs would start in killing sheep and they were worse than wolves. A few well directed buck-shot soon dispersed the dogs from further attacks.

Mr. and Mrs. Chris Gram returned in their car from their trip to California and other western states, last Friday. They enjoyed the trip very much but said California was not all rosy by any means and they preferred Iowa. They nearly had their car burn up when it caught afire no day and was noticed by a passing tourist car and they were warned. Lucky that they happened to be driving alongside of an irrigation canal and with the help of the other tourists were able to put the fire out without a great deal of damage to the car, other than badly scorching the paint on one side.

Al Emerson and Ye Editor have been hearing some big fish stories the past week and so Friday evening we decided to investigate for ourselves so drove over to the Lake to try our luck. The stories were all well founded and we brought home two pike, two pickerel, two silver bass and twenty-bull heads. The only reason we did not catch more was on account of the cold. It was so cold that our teeth chattered like a tin lizzy so much we couldn't hold the lines in the water and the fish got tired jumping after the bait. Ask Al if this isn't the truth. Anyway ye have never been caught in a lie by any other fisherman. Oh yes, we also caught some sunfish by moonlight in the dark, and some perch that were perching on that lone oak tree by the sandbar where it is muddy.

WHO IS THE BEST CORN HUSKER?

Corn Shucking Contest Designed To Find out Who Can Make Ears Fly the Fastest.

Before Christmas, some corn husking Iowan is going to be able to tell a remarkable story about himself to his grandchildren. That man will have won the state corn husking contest and, aside from having won $100 will have been procaimed the best corn husker in Jowa.

Wallaces' Farmer, assisted by the extension service of Iowa State College and the local farm bureaus, is putting on the contest. A total of $200 in prizes is being offered by Walaces' Farmer for the winners of the final contest which will be held near Des Moines, late in November. The extension service at Iowa State College has just mailed out complete information about the contest to township farm bureau president and to caunty agents. A number of townships and counties intend to hold local husking contests in the form of farm bureau picnics on Saturday afternoons during the last two week of October and the first week in November.

Contestants making unusually good records in the ocal contests together wih huskers who, working independently, have made high records on a nine hour basis, and have signed statements tothat effect, are leigible to the final contest. In this meet each husker will to provided wth a driver and will be required to husk for one hour and twenty minutes. Officials will see to it that and even nubbins are husked and that nothing except ears unsuitable for feed are left in the field.

DON'T QUIT

When things go, wrong, as they sometimes will,
When the road you're trudging seems all up hill,
When the funds are low and the debts are high
And you want to smile, but you have to sigh,
When care is pressing you down a bit,
Rest, if you must, but don't quit.

Life is queer with its twists and turns,
As everyone of us sometimes learns,
And many a failure turns about
When he might have won had he stuck out;
Don't give up, though the pace seem slow
You may suceed with another blow.

Often the goal is nearer than
It seems to a faint and falteing man
Often the struggle has given up
When he might have capued a victor's cup,
And he learned too late when the night slipped down,
How close he was to the golden crown.

Success is failure turned inside out-
The silver tints of the clouds of doubt
An dyou never can tell how close you are,
It may be near when it seems afar;
So stick to the fight when you're hardest hit—
It's when things seem wors that you must'nt quit.

—Selected

Smithson: "The Universal language now spoken in twenty-three different tongues, has been accepted and has registered its astounding growth since April 7, 1917—or thereabouts. It is known as "hopping anguish," leaping disaster," "Spotted comels," freckled ivory," or "rolling bankruptcy." It comes in sets, and if presented jointly to utter strangers, will have ... acquained in fifteen ... will be fighting like old ... ——"

Mrs. S.: "Man what ... ing about?"

Smithson: "I'm ... the great American ... that wharf ping-ponk ... ed in Alabam', and has ... to all parts of the world.

MILES
Per Gallon

One of the standards of performance of any motor car is its mileage per gallon of gasoline used. While high mileage boosts the motor, much depends upon the quality of the gasoline.

RED CROWN GASOLINE

is a mileage raiser. It comes from our pumps clean, full measured and full of pep. Try it and see the difference.

Drive up and fill 'er up!

Lewis' Service Station

Henry Lewis, Prop.

"Ball Band" Rubber Goods--

I have sold BALL BAND Rubbers, Overshoes, Boots, etc., for years and have never had a single complaint on any pair I have sold.

All other Rubber Companys admit there is no better made than BALL BAND. So why buy a cheap, inferior grade—Buy BALL BAND and you buy the best.

A full line of Boots, Rubbers, etc., in all styles on hand.

Frank Gruetzmach

Reliable Repairing--

When your car needs a complete overhaulng—or even if its only a small job of adjusting some part, bring it to us. Our shop is well equipped with the right kind of tools to turn out a good reparjob—large or small, it will receive careful attention.

Farmers! Bring us your repairing. Now is a good time to look over your machinery and have it repaired—this will save you time in the sprng.

Our Blacksmith Shop is up-to-date in every respect and we know we can please you and give you prompt service.

Try us once and you'll be convinced.

TIRES and TUBES
AUTO ACCESSORIES

Etchen Bros.

(Successors to F. H. Ridder)

GARAGE REPAIRING BLACKSMITH SH

GEORGE ZINN, M. D.
Physician and Surgeon
Office opposite from Hotel Klemme
Phone No. 19
Eyes Examined Glasses Fitted

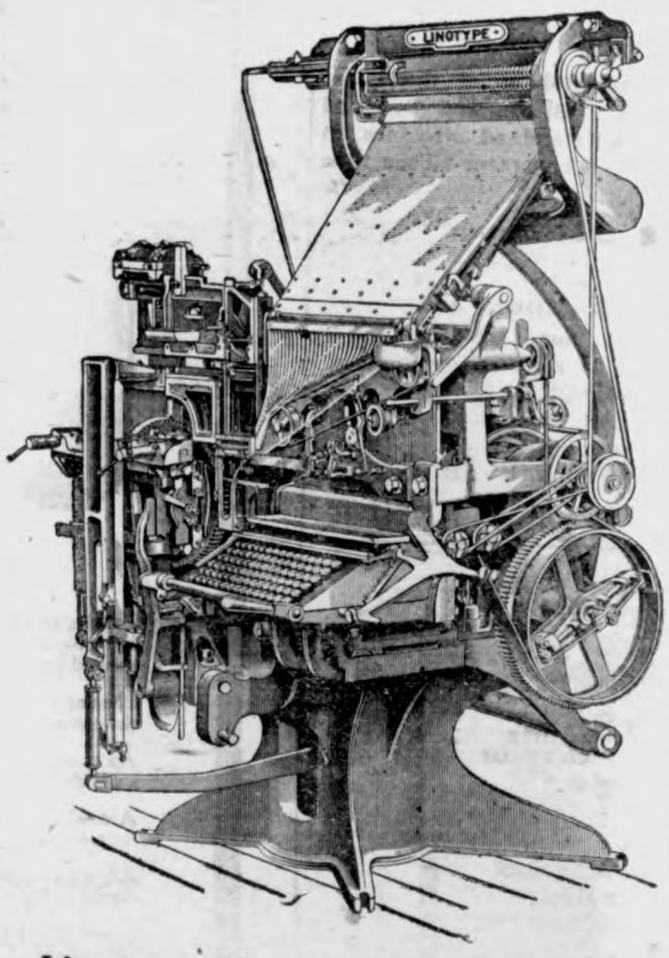
Five Years General Practice.

Dr. D. . Anderson
Graduate Veter... ian
Office at Kahrs' Drug Store Phone 40
Klemme ... a

We Are Equipped To Give You Quick Service On Sale Bills

Ask About Our FREE Cut Service

Modern Methods



Linotype--New type for every job

TIMES PRINT SHOP
Quality Printing For Particular People

Announcement--

IOWA FALLS ELECTRIC COMPANY announces the p... chase of the Electric System and Property of the EMM... COUNTY LIGHT & POWER COMPANY, serving the co... munities of ARMSTRONG, RINGSTED, DOLLIVE... WALLINGFORD, GRUVER, and HALVA.

The transfer of this Company to IOWA FALLS ... LECTRIC COMPANY being effective as of October 1... 1923.

Through the purchase of the EMMET COUNT... LIGHT & POWER CO., we have added six more commun... ties to the growing list of towns served, and is indicative ... the progressive polcy of our Company.

Mr. Altwood, who successfully and effciently built ... the EMMET CO. LIGHT CO., will continue in the Manag... ment of the new Division, and we look for continued growt... in this and other Divisons.

Respectfully,

Iowa Falls Electric Co...

By H. F. KELLOGG, Manager...

CAPTAIN SAZARAC

by
Charles Tenney Jackson

Illustrations by
Irwin Myers

Copyright by The Bobbs-Merrill Company.

"HE MEANT ME!"

SYNOPSIS—Under the name of Captain Sazarac," and disguised, Jean Lafitte, former freebooter of Barataria, proscribed, returns to the city of New Orleans. He is recognized by two of his old companions, Alderman Dominique You and Beluche. At the gaming table Sazarac has won much money from Colonel Carr, Britishh officer. John Jarvis, the city's most bohemian of the arts and letters, an old-time friend of Lafitte, tells of a woman's face and smile. As his last wager, Carr puts up a woman, presumably a lady. Custom compels Sazarac to accept the stake. He wins. His old associates and Count Raoul de Almonaster accost him as Lafitte. A project of the youthful adventurers of New Orleans is the rescue of Napoleon Bonaparte from St. Helena, and a ship, the Seraphine, has been made ready. From De Almonaster Sazarac learns that the girl he "won" at the card table is white, of high estate, and that the matter has been made a byword in the city's resorts. Sazarac finds Mademoiselle Lestron, a fellow passenger on a river steamer a few days before, and with whom he had fallen in love, the girl and in chivalry foregoes his revenge against Carr. Jarvis admires Mademoiselle Lestron. He is a witness of the meeting and picks up a camellia which the girl had thrown, unnoticed, to Sazarac.

CHAPTER III—Continued.

—4—

"Upon word, fellow, you had the effrontery to show up, then?"

Something in the cold eyes of the dark man stung through to his drunken brain. "I will not fight you, sir. Is that what you are thinking? Of course not—of course not, Captain Sazarac! I—of His Majesty's Service—and you—not a gentleman in the world could vouch for you!"

"Colonel Carr," put in the girl coldly, "will you cease?" She moved nearer: "The gentleman but begs to depart. The house will be aroused, the servants are gabbling now."

"You will excuse him, sir." Madame Lestron turned to the stranger; and even in her disarray, he saw that she was not only beautiful, but hollow-eyed and wan, torn by ceaseless anxiety: "He does not know of what he speaks."

"He can speak that, Madame, that would put all Louisiana in an uproar. Waldhorne, the consul, will open his eyes when—when—"

With a sudden furious movement Colonel Carr closed his mouth. He thrust her off violently. "Cease this, madame! I am not a child, or fool! Already about this crack-brained city the clouds are gathering! From the Maine country the Spaniards—"

"Be still!" She checked him with blazing fury. In the moonlight her face held the glitter of a tigress. But the officer's drunken madness became uncontrollable.

"To your rooms, you women! Both of you! As for this man—" he turned again, staring abruptly at the tall cloaked figure; for the time, he had forgotten him: "Bah! He is here because—"

"We know," put in the elder woman coldly, "he has ruined you at cards—everything. The consul has informed you of this humiliation beyond words." Carr was laughing evilly again. "Oh, well! The pot-house gallants know it all. Oh, ho!—there were wagers that Captain Sazarac would not even dare lift his face again at the gaming-houses. He would find pretexts, he would invent reasons—indeed it was a shabby trick to put upon—even a packet gambler!"

There was a silence. Madame Carr was staring at the stranger.

"What is this, sir? I heard some ugly story of the cardrooms—Madame Trehan would not explain, but there was comment, upon the promenade, today. Sir, as my husband but now puts, laughing, will you enlighten us?"

Monsieur Sazarac stood with folded arms. The girl in white was watching him doubtfully. Suddenly she came nearer. There was almost pleading in her softness.

"Tell me. There was some cruel insult put upon you, sir?"

The stranger would not answer. Carr laughed hoarsely, lurching against the rail.

"The jest is this, ladies! Upon the packet trip, this man was all eyes for one of you. Chagrined that I would not introduce him, he was bent upon breaking me at cards. He had the luck of a cold devil even to the last throw at Maspero's. Eh, well, it was but a jest! The town chuckles over it. I wagered him—against his winnings of the packet, a bond girl of her household. He took it greedily—ha-ha!"

"Sir, we traveled with no servant save the public help," the wife put in.

"That is true." Carr straightened up with drunken gravity. "But he took the wager. He thought, evilly enough, there was a wench of San Domingo—fair as one of you. He was imbecile enough to yearn for her glances!"

"Your word, sir, if you recall?" said Sazarac gravely.

"A jest! Who would deem it but a cardroom jest!"

The stranger turned as if to escape from an unpleasing situation. But the elder woman suddenly came between them. "But what is this curious thing they whisper of along the promenade? I caught a laugh, a pitying look!"

She swept scornfully upon her husband. "Did you, then, cheat at the cards?"

Carr roared his mirth: "No—on my honor! There was no need!"

"The affair is done," murmured the stranger. "Your pardon, Madame!"

But as he made to pass, Carr must gibe once more at him. "Your wager, sir? The prize you claim—which was it?"

The silence grew acute. The two women stared unbelievingly; the younger turned widening eyes upon the silent stranger.

"He told you—that?"

"Nothing, Mademoiselle. Allow me to depart!"

"He meant me! A girl of San Domingo! Bandied my name in the cardrooms—"

"You were not mentioned, Mademoiselle. I never knew your name before. You will allow me to go, Mademoiselle Lestron. It is enough—"

"It is not enough! You do not know all, sir!" She turned swiftly to the drunken colonel and struck him sharply in the face. "You dared this! You infamous coward! I—a slave of San Domingo—"

Carr stood in an abject sobering. "Louise, this is folly!"

"I shall speak! Whom could you mean?"

"Eh? A jest! I said, a jest—not meant for anyone's ears but his and mine! He had the impudence to come here—to claim—something—" Carr settled back on the rail uncertainly.

"Something?" Miss Lestron turned icily to Sazarac. "Sir, and what?"

"I do not know. I had no thought save to seek Colonel Carr and demand satisfaction. The affair could have been arranged at the Oaks with no breath of the quarrel's point. One of us should die . . . the other's lips sealed in honor. Was that not enough, Mademoiselle, for your protection?"

She Swept Scornfully Upon Her Husband—"Did You, Then, Cheat at the Cards?"

Sazarac, the river gamester, saw a curious light in her eyes. Gratefulness, scorn, or the brief interest in this idea of protecting her, he could not say which, for she turned at once to the other man. Her voice flowed on steadily but mounting to a peak of implacable contempt.

"On the turn of a card, sir? You played high—very high . . . an empire, perhaps, risked in a Chartres gambling house!"

"Will you be still?" blustered Carr, staggering forth. "A jest—I said a jest on him! Your name was not in it! I said a slave girl. Bah—I will go to Langhorne and borrow a wench to pay my debt, if that is the issue!"

"You had best both be still," warned the older woman, frightened now. "Louise, come—this is no matter for a cardroom brawl. Sazarac—if he is vouched for as a gentleman in this city, must challenge. I suppose—ah, God! He will challenge—" And, passing them with high head but tear-dimmed eyes, Madame Carr went to her chambers.

"Bah," muttered Carr with sudden drunken sleepiness. "Go home, Sazarac! You, to your rooms, Louise! My head aches with all this ranting! It was a jest. On Sazarac, because of his taking my last farthing—on Louise, because of her airs. Enough, it's done. Sazarac can challenge and be d—d. He can send a second—if he knows a gentleman in the city, which is improbable—when I am sober. My affair is in Langhorne's hands. Now, to bed!"

He staggered along the gallery. But suddenly, with a shrug, a bow—a face serene in the moonlight—Captain Sazarac addressed him.

"Sir, I am minded to recall my words. Now, I shall claim my wager!"

"I say—to bed—" mumbled Carr thickly. He reeled at his door, waved a palsied finger at them and crashed against the furniture within.

Miss Lestron stood at the balustrade of the winding staircase as the stranger was descending. A step below he turned:

"I claim my wager. Let them have a care who put a jest upon me in this town! The sea is near . . . and it is wide. Wide, Mademoiselle, and deep; and far—very far, is the way to its secret places."

"I do not understand." She was watching him intently. He had gone to the next turn of the staircase. The moonlight struck the silver of his sword hilt. She leaned forth, and her eyes struck fire from his own when he glanced up. "Far?" she whispered: "And it may be beautiful!"

He watched her lips. The perfume of the jasmined wall seemed to rise from the court and engage her; she seemed afloat in a purple sea formed by the shadows. A face, a form luminous in the mists of his dark years of remembrance. The soul of his youth was stirring . . . he had dared all, lost all, on decisions quick, hot, pregnant as this, in days long put behind.

"I love you," he said quietly. "You will remember that."

She heard his boot on the stones of the court. He was passing the pomegranate clump when he thought something flashed near him in the moonlight.

A white thing, a light thing—a feather, a petal in the air. But he saw no more, nor heard a sound from above. He went to the untenanted street, wondering if she had waited until his footsteps died away. He wondered why he had spoken; and then he laughed. Sazarac, the packet gamester . . . Jean Lafitte, last of the sea-adventurers—ghost of a vanished time, back to tread the streets where his life was not worth the flicker of a moonbeam in the jasmine screen below her window.

After he had gone, something did stir. A man crawled out from the shadows across the area, went to the gardened center of the court and searched under the fig and pomegranate leaves. Presently he muttered and straightened up, a white blossom in his hand.

"Eh?" he said. "A camellia . . . it has been in her hair. She was to wear it to the opera, and Carr's orgy tonight prevented. I would have seen her pass . . . she would have thought me a red-eyed beggar standing by the areaway, but I would have seen her pass."

John Jarvis stared up at the silent balcony. Then he, too, went his way.

"The Cafe la Veau Qui Tete—" he grumbled. "I shall put on my old waistcoat again to get drunk in. Sazarac! D—n this Sazarac! A flower from her hair, and the fool did not see it! A flower for Sazarac!"

At the Cafe la Veau he entered by the garden gate and went to sit among the huge wine tuns under the tiled shed. "Three measures of liquor and I could paint a white camellia against her hair," he mused; "but the taproom and I together could not paint love in her eye—for me."

After that he sought a bench and slept. Presently in came another and by the same stealthy passageway. A huge seaman, this, with broad hairy chest, and tattooed arms. He examined the sleeping painter, took off his coat and spread it above him. "He must be kept drunken and asleep," muttered Johanness. "The fool would shout it through the town—the Captain Jean returned, and meeting us old ghosts up from the islands! Enter, Old Slit-Nose! None here save John, the taproom avocat. A howl from him and he draws my knife point! Sit quiet and await. Our host gave me the keys and is abed . . . he prefers not to know what he should not know, like any wise man!"

"Jean, whom I painted at the famous isle! Jean!"

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

Try This Formula for Feet.

Not alone upon the choice of shoes does the comfort of the feet depend. Even perfectly healthy, normal feet need particular daily care. With such care even tender feet become normal. After shopping or walking and at the close of the day, it is an excellent thing to bathe the feet in cold water, Julia W. Wolfe writes in the Health Builder. If you cannot endure the shock of cold water at first, begin with tepid water and add the cold water gradually. When it is convenient, the faucet—cold water—should be allowed to play upon the feet. The reaction of the cold water aids circulation and gives tone to the arteries. Use no soap in the tonic foot bath; free alkali, which might be present in the soap, tends to blister the feet. With this treatment continued daily, one's feet soon grow healthy and foot troubles are a thing of the past.

Fats and oils in the diet are two and one-fourth times more effective than either proteins or carbohydrates as sources of energy.

STILL AIDING WAR HEROES

Mrs. Alice P. Bristol, Through Legion Auxiliary, Continues Efforts in Behalf of Ex-Service Men.

Mrs. Alice P. Bristol, chairman of the committee for co-operation with other agencies from the American Legion Auxiliary, is continuing a record of service work begun at the first call to arms in 1917. Mrs. Bristol, along with a number of other brave workers of Stratford, Conn., "carried on" the home work while the men of that city, many of their own blood, were at the front in the fight. By dint of this service, Mrs. Bristol, through the American Legion Auxiliary is still aiding the cause of those who did their part for their country.

As a recognition of the splendid war work of the women of Stratford, the selectmen formed an organization which they termed the "Minute Women of Stratford," and at the close of the war, awarded each one of the workers a handsomely engraved certificate attesting this service. The work consisted of home relief, sale of Liberty bonds and war saving stamps, and the countless other duties which the good women of America were called on to perform for the men in uniform.

Since the armistice, Mrs. Bristol has headed local unit work, and has been instrumental in many important moves for relief of the ex-service man. It was through her suggestion, it is said, that the men of Connecticut in hospitals in other states received a cash gift for Christmas. But her work as national committeewoman of the American Legion Auxiliary is another important post which has been intrusted to her.

Mrs. Alice P. Bristol.

To Mrs. Bristol was given the chairmanship of a committee seeking close co-operation with other well-known women's organizations of the country. This committee aims to establish relationship between all bodies working for civic betterment, relief of former service men, and countless other duties with which the womanhood of America has become associated.

One of the first steps of this committee was to effect liaison between the American Legion Auxiliary and the General Federation of Women's Clubs. An application for membership in the federation, through President Kate Waller Barrett was accepted, and the auxiliary assumed an immediate participation in the councils of federated club work. The Legion's Auxiliary is also a participant in the National Council of Women, composed of nearly fifty organizations. This council includes such organizations as the American Association of University Women, International Sunshine society, Ladies of the Maccabees, National Council of Jewish Women, National Congress of Mothers and Parent-Teachers' associations, National Federation of Music Clubs, National Florence Crittenton mission, National Kindergarten association, Needlework Guild of America, Women's Christian Temperance union, Y. W. C. A., and others.

During the convention of the auxiliary in San Francisco, the committee plans a "Co-operation Night" at which representatives of practically every body holding membership in the council will be asked to be present to hear further plans for service as outlined by the Legion's Auxiliary. It is expected that a definite program of co-operation will be an outgrowth of the meeting. Auxiliary officials believe that because the membership of the organization approximates that of most other women's bodies in the country, no constructive program, looking to progress along the lines indicated for their work, can be successful unless joined by their organization.

Texas Will Have Exhibit.

Not only will the traditional "old gray mare" from Texas be there, but a long-horned Texas steer will be taken by the Lone Star state Legionnaires to the national convention of the American Legion at San Francisco. Plans for special stunts on the way to and at the convention were made recently by John C. Townes, Texas department commander.

Campaign Lies.

"I hear as how the opposin' candidate fer mayor is tellin' around that you're in favor of law and order," remarked Two-Gun Gene of Holster, Ariz.

"He better be careful," retorted the present incumbent, "or I'll sue him fer criminal libel."—The American Legion Weekly.

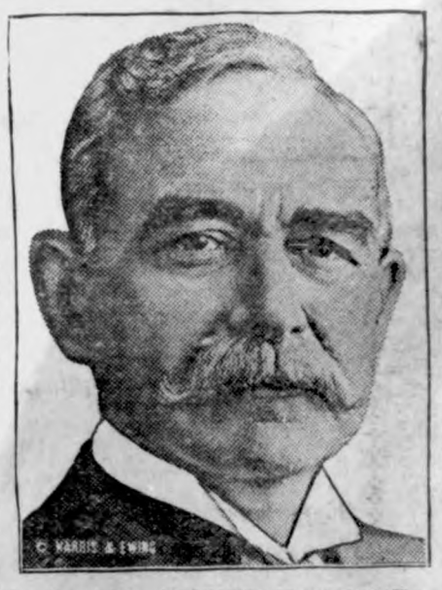
Prominent People

McCoy Heads American Relief in Japan

Brig. Gen. Frank R. McCoy has been made director general of American relief work in Japan. He is forty-nine years old and unmarried and has seen lots of service of many kinds in many places. He was graduated from the military academy in 1897 and from the war college in 1908 and has been a brigadier general, N. A., since Aug. 16, 1918. He has seen service on the western frontier, in Cuba, in the Philippines and in France. He has been aide to Gen. Leonard Wood in Cuba and the Philippines, to Theodore Roosevelt and to Taft. He was military attache in Mexico in 1917; on the general staff, A. E. F., 1917-18; brigadier general commanding the Sixty-third infantry brigade, August-November, 1918; director of the army transportation service and director general of transportation, A. E. F., 1918-19. He was chief of staff, American military mission to Armenia, 1919, and of a special mission to the Philippines, 1919. He was awarded the D. S. M.

Nevertheless, he probably never had a more exciting moment than just at dawn in a Mandanao jungle in 1905 when he "got" Datto Ali—last and greatest of the fighting Moro chiefs. The famous Datto Ali was a pure-bred Arab and he and his men kept the Americans hopping all through 1903 and 1904. McCoy was then a captain and General Wood's aide, with work at headquarters. McCoy volunteered to get "dead or alive" the chief who had killed at least 300 Americans, marched with fifty men fifty miles through the jungle and got Datto Ali—dead.

Gaylord M. Saltzgaber, New G. A. R. Head



Here is a new portrait of Gaylord M. Saltzgaber, Van Wert, Ohio, unanimously elected commander in chief of the National Grand Army of the Republic at the Milwaukee convention. Opposing Commander Saltzgaber were Frank A. Walsh of Milwaukee and Dr. L. F. Arensburg of Uniontown, Pa., both of whom withdrew.

Mr. Walsh was elected senior vice commander in chief and G. T. Leech of Baltimore was chosen junior vice commander in chief, neither having opposition. Charles L. Shurgur of Auburn, N. Y., was elected chaplain in chief and Dr. Charles Burrill of Kansas City was named to succeed Dr. George T. Harding of Marion, Ohio, father of the late president, as surgeon in chief.

Sam S. Horn of Easton, Pa., was elected commander in chief of the National Sons of Veterans. Other officers elected are: Randall W. Buff of Tacoma, Wash., senior vice commander in chief; W. C. Kronmeyer of Hoboken, N. J., junior vice commander in chief; Charles R. Hale of Hartford, Conn.; Felix A. Kremer, Detroit, and P. F. Yingling of Cincinnati were elected members of the council.

Loomis Scofield, commodore commanding the National Association of Naval Veterans, was re-elected for the sixth term, as were all other officers.

Lynn, Architect of National Capitol

David Lynn has been appointed architect of the national capitol at Washington, succeeding the late Elliott Woods. As everybody knows George Washington was the moving spirit in the erection of the building—in its present form one of the most satisfying structures on earth—and laid its corner stone in 1793. Lynn therefore is the latest of a long line of capitol architects.

The original plans of the building were drawn by William Thornton, an English physician and amateur draftsman, then resident in Philadelphia. The first two supervising architects were Stephen Hallet, a Frenchman, and James Hoban, an Irishman.

The next in succession was Benjamin Henry Latrobe, an Englishman appointed for the work in 1803 by Thomas Jefferson, who was in charge of construction when the infant capitol was burned by an English raiding party in August, 1814. Latrobe also took charge of the rebuilding. His successor, American-born, was the celebrated Charles Bulfinch of Boston, in 1818.

In 1851 the construction of the marble north and south wings to house the senate and house of representatives was undertaken, following plans drawn by T. U. Walter of Philadelphia, who was appointed architect. His assistant, Edward Clark, later made architect, designed the system of terraces.

Mr. Lynn, for twenty-three years, has been employed in the office of the architect and for the last ten years has been civil engineer of the capitol. He was born in Maryland and lives at Hyattsville.

J. B. Payne, Head of American Red Cross

John Barton Payne is much in the limelight these days as head of the American Red Cross and ex officio in charge of its tremendous Japanese relief activities. And it was only recently that Judge Payne served, with Charles B. Warren, negotiating the settlement under which diplomatic relations with Mexico have been resumed. Judge Payne is a veteran Chicago lawyer and jurist. He has means and leisure and seems to thrive on public service. He was secretary of the interior before taking up Red Cross work.

Judge Payne says there will henceforth be protection against all kinds of trickery for Americans who take their money into Mexico for investment. But he also says:

"Remember that the government of Mexico is like a man astride a bucking broncho. There will be a period during which the United States must be especially kind and patient towards the southern republic. As a matter of fact, it is not a nation, but a collection of Indian tribes, numbering in all 15,000,000. This fact accounts for the constant revolutionary activity. President Obregon has striven to arouse a nationalistic sense, and he is slowly succeeding.

"Mexico is now developing, for the first time in her history, a middle class, which is gradually acquiring a little property and is turning to farming. It is this middle class that will prove the ultimate salvation of the nation."

Announcement

I wish to announce to the people in this vicinity that I have purchased of Henry Lemke, Jr., his truck and equipment for handling STANDARD OIL CO. PRODUCTS.

I will appreciate your business and will deliver Gasoline, Kerosene or Oil to you in large or small quantities.

J. J. Poort
STANDARD OIL CO. AGENT
Phone Standard Oil Co. Klemme, Iowa

Blankets--
For Winter---

You will soon need some nice warm Blankets for Winter.

Why not come in and get your supply of Blankets while we have a nice assortment on hand?

Our Blankets are the NASHUA WOOL NAP in Plaids and Plain Gray and Tan in the sizes as follows—

66x80 68x80 72x80 72x84

We also have a nice assortment in the SINGLE BLANKETS——better than quilts and are easy to wash. Once you use them you will never go back to the old style quilt —and priced at about what it would cost you to buy material t omake quilts.

We invite you to compare our price and quality as our overhead expense allows us to make the very best price. WHY PAY MORE?

G. W. Kluckhon & Sons

Let Us Be Your Friend
In Need--

Perhaps you, like others, often wish for a friend who could give you good sound advice on financial matters.

Most men make money easily. Their chief difficulty lies in retanng t. They make unfortunate investments because they have neither time nor experience nor the facilities to properly safeguard the ventures.

If there s any need for information—ask us. Our officers are especially fitted by their intimate contact with busness conditions and ther knowledge of securities to help in the safe investment of surplus funds.

ACertificate Of Time Deposit will start you on the road to success.

We pay 5 per cent on time deposits.

State Savings Bank
Klemme Iowa

News of Klemme and Vicinity

Mrs. Wm. Lau, of Garner, was visiting Klemme relatives Saturday.

W. C. Keraus and family spent Sunday at Clear Lake.

Paul Stille and family visited at Dows Sunday.

Harvey Sweigard, of Garner, was a business caller here Tuesday.

R. W. Elder, of Mason City, spent Sunday with his family here.

Tuesday the Belmond Sugar Co. began loading beets at the local beet dump.

Mr. and Mrs. M. O. Barr drove to Spirit Lake to spend Sunday at the Orville Burgess home.

Frank Carpenter is enjoying a visit from his daughter from Mason City.

H. G. Miller attended the Grain Dealers Convention in Des Moines last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Burke from Belmond, were shopping in this city Thursday afternoon.

Fred Shipley and W. H. Trafford, Belmonders, were business callers in Klemme one day last week.

R. A. Jorgenson and family drove to Forest City Sunday afternoon for a visit with friends.

R. E. Quintus, the plumber, drove over from Garner Saturday to look after busines matters here.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Maitland, Jr., were at Belmond Saturday for a visit with relatives and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross Farmer, of Clarion, were visiting Klemme relatives Saturday.

Miss Marie Jennison, of Belmond, was visiting with Mrs. Henry Maitland, Jr., Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Parker, of Clear Lake, were calling on Mr. and Mrs. R. A. McConn Friday.

Mrs. R. W. Elder and daughter, Reva, were visiting Mr. Elder at Mason City Saturday.

R. A. Jorgenson and family drove to Mason City Saturday on matters of business.

..All who owe us come in and settle the account by cash or bankable note. Klemme Co-Operative Grain Company. tf.

Mr. R. A. McConn, manager of the dry good department in the Wellemeyer store, went to Minneapolis on business Monday.

Chris Gram is again working at the Greimann Motor Co. He has been on a vacation since the middle of August.

Mr. Henry Holm, of St. Paul, has been visiting at the Lew Lewis home the past two weeks. He is Lew's brother-in-law.

Mr. and Mrs. A. D. White and daughter, Mamie, and Mrs. Ed. Hughes, of Goodell, were Klemme visitors Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Grimm and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Grattidge from Clear Lake were visiting with Klemme friends last Wednesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Stearnes and son, Verle, went to Charles City last Saturday for an over Sunday visit with friends there.

Dr. and Mrs. J. L. Hesselhuus and Mrs. Tom Hake and daughter, Maurine, drove to Mason City Saturday evening.

Paul and Carl Merkle, of Des Moines, came Saturady for an over Sunday visit at the Peter Merkle home east of Klemme.

Mrs. Earnest Lewis went to Grundy Center, Iowa, last Thursday and remained until Saturday visiting at the home of her parents.

James Elder and wife, of Madison, Wisconsin, were visiting relatives and friends in this vicinty and Mason Cty the past week.

Harold Gruetzmacher and wife drove over from Britt Saturday for a short visit at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gruetzmacher.

Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Schuldt and daughter, Genieve, returned Friday afternoon from St. Louis, where they had been visiting relatives for two or three weeks.

Found—A purse containing money. Owner may have same by calling at Times Office and giving a correct description of purse and amount of money. adv2

Mr. and Mrs. Oris Lundy are the parents of a fine baby girl who they named Bernadine Elaine. Mrs. Lundy was formerly Nono Lawhorn of near Klemme.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Johnson of Remington, Indiana, came Thursday for a couple of days visit at the U. G. Smid home. They drove through in their car.

Mr. Tom Hake and family were at Belmond Sunday to attend the reunion of the Hake tribe at the home of Mrs. D. E. Lobdell. There were thirty-four people at the re-union.

Richard Bamman and family were Mason City visitors Sunday.

The A. G. Koerner and Charlie Luick families spent Sunday at the Lake.

Monday, October 15, there will be new classes organized. That is the time for you to get started. The Hamilton University, Mason City, Iowa. adv-1t

Mrs. Gibbs has remodeled her post office building and has partitioned off the office so that she will have living rooms in the back and the postoffice in front. It makes a nice and convenient arrangement.

Henry Lemke, who has been driving the Standard Oil Co. truck here for the past couple of years, sold out the business Thursday to Mr. J. J. Poort, of Joice, Iowa. Mr. Poort was in the business at Joice and is an experienced man. Mr. Poort has rented the Mrs. Gibbs property and will move his family here in a short time. We welcome this family to Klemme.

KLEMME MARKETS

(Subject To Change)

Thursday, October 11

WHEAT	$1.00
CORN (old)	.90—.92
CORN (new)	.60—.65
OATS	.34—.35
BARLEY	.50—.55
RYE	.50
HOGS	$ 6.00—7.25
HAY	15.00—20.00
BUTTERFAT	.49
BUTTER (Creamery)	.48
EGGS	.32
HEAVY HENS	.15
LIGHT HENS	.12
STAN. SPRINGS	.15
LEGHORNS	.12
DUCKS	.10
GEESE	.08

We want poultry--
Honest Weights and Highest Prices--at
Henry Lau Sons

Give Us Your Orders For--
Storm Sash and Storm Doors
Now--as we do not carry them in stock.
Farmer's Lumber Co.
The Yard of Quality And Service

The Champions Use 'em

We are selling Galena Glove & Mitten Co.'s Husking Mittens and Gloves again this year because we have found they are best. If you want the very best then buy "YANKEE DOODLE SPECIAL"—Can't Rip husking mitten—the kind that made such a big hit with the farmers last year. They cost a few cents more than some mittens but they are worth more than we ask for them.

HUSKERS' SUPPLIES

We have everything for the Corn Huskers—Hooks and Pegs in all styles, Thumb Stalls, Wrist Bands, Gloves and Mitten.

See Our Window Full Of Gloves and Mittens—

Jacobs & Son
"THE WINCHESTER STORE"

STILLE'S IMPLEMENT NEWS

VOLUME 1. Thursday, October 11, 1923 NUMBER

Well! We delivered that 10-20 McCormick-Deering Tractor the other day; and you ought to see it perform. If you want to know what they will do, ask those who have them, then come in and see us within the next few days if you are interested in an especially good proposition on a Tractor for spring or for this winter's grinding. They're the "pulen'est" things you ever saw!

Cheap skates do not cut any ice.

We started a new Corn Picker out for Alfred Josten last week and it worked fine. Alfred had some of the biggest corn we have seen this year, but it didn't seem to shock the picker's modesty any.

Hard Boiled, eh? Some eggs are cooked long enough but not soon enough!

If you are going to be in need of new machinery next spring you sure know it now. Protect yourself and us—put in your order now. We'll bill it at the lowest price.

Blondes may be sensible but all are light headed!

How The Habit Grows

Europe. "Another little war won't do us any harm."—T. J.

—Ain't

—It

—A

—Dandy?

See a free demonstration before you buy.

Summer can't jump into WINTER without a—

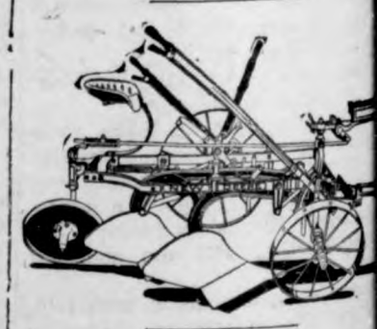
F

a

l

l .

We have now filled our supply tank with WHITE ROSE GASOLINE and if you want your car filled with a good cold weather gas come



Columbus didn't know where was going but was on his way.

THE KLEMME TIMES

enty-eighth Year—Number 6. Klemme, Iowa, Thursday Afternoon, October 18, 1923 $1.50 In Advance—$2.00 Outside of County

OINGS OF THE WEEK AT THE KLEMME SCHOOLS

or —Ruth Johnson
ors— Mable Schaeffer.
ors— Elvira Stille.
homores— Florence Behringer hman— Frank Gibbs.
chers— Blanche Hulse. and 8th Grades— Dora Swanson
5, 6, Grades— Jeanette Smid
3, Grades— Lenora Larson.
's Sports— Harl Gimer l's Sports— Beatrice Busch. eral News— Milo Patet, and Wayne Lemke.
Rural School news— Richard Ax, lph Larson, Alvina Buss, Stella k. Alma Richardson, Russel Bell, tin Barz, Helen Maitland.

SENIOR CLASS

he seniors have been taking lab- y work in Physics this past k. They have found this rather eresting.

The seniors have been having a iew in Algebra this past week, preparation for their six weeks t which was given Friday morn-

The Sophomores are writing the ol notes for the KLEMME TIM- for the rest of the period.

This week the English II class ts the study of IVANHOE. In class students are required to one good book outside of school semester.

GIRL'S SPORT NEWS

Monday afternoon a meeting of girls who were interested in bas- ballwas called. Rules and pro- s were discussed. The girls de- d they would take physical ex- inations. Miss Stacey will go h the girls to all ball games and as their chaperone.

Primary Room

The pupils in grade one cut and ored jack-o lanterns last week. The first grade are doing well h their phonics, and also have rned a number of new words.

Boy's Sport News

The second baseball game of the son was played with Thornton at rnton. Game was called 3 p. m. seventh inning was a tie. The half of the eighth inning Thorn- ran in a score. Thornton won king the ecore 5 to4.

Intermediate Room

Raymond Schuldt was absent from ool Thursday and Friday.

7th and 8th Grade News

Miss Rone is making it a point visit all the homes of thep upils in 7th and 8th grades.

The two Gettman boys are work- in the beet fields this week, and getting ready to move back to coln, Nebraska.

JOKES

aken from Examinaion papers). Japan was shaken by an earth- ke in the last paper."

s. —Explain why physiology is an important study.

— If doctors would not study siology, why there would be no s for anybody that would get k.

Faculty News

Miss Rone visited the Industrial ool for boys, at Eldora, Sunday.

Miss Scharlach went to Clear e Sunday, with the Walter Lau ily.

Six Weeks Tests Are Over

The first six weeks tests are over it seems that all are glad of it. y students are working hard at r sudies trying o be exempted m the semester examinations. e is hoping that they suceed in r work.

Neese Gives Talk on Fire Prevention.

Wednesday noon Mr. Neese gave excellent talk on fire prevention. He said that the loss by fire in one day was about as much as was earned in one day. An average of five schoolhouses and five churches burn down every day in the United State. He said that a safe way to start a fire was to put some cobs in a can partly filled with kerosene. Then instead cf pouring a lot of kerosene in the stove put in a cob that has been soaked in it, light it, put kindling on top, and you have a fire with out any explosion.

Jokes From Exam Papers

"He has a light complexion, long brown hair, wearing a sweater and a pair of pants weighing around 120 pounds and five feet in height."

"Algebra is that treat of mathematics that treats of general numbers and of the use of equations.

"Local waste is land that was here Transported waste is land that came some distance and settlde here.

Description of the Bad Lands; "It is only small rocks and is not fit for navigation or to irrigate."

RURAL SCHOOL NOTES

Avery No. 2

This schoo1 boasts of an enrollment of fifteen pupils.

The Albers children were absent Friday from school to go to the funeral.

Kenneth Bell and Harvey Nelson are starting another race this year for school honor.

Marvin Anderson has been absent from school several weeks.

Avery No. 3

Taalkayns Lau from Garner visited his cousins Roy and Wilbur Arnold, last Thursday. He brought along his foot ball and the school enjoyed playing foot ball that day.

District No. 1

All the pupils were perfect in attendance and ten of the pupils had perfect spelling lessons last week.

"Bobby" Howard was a visitor last Thursday.

J. R. Baggs was a visitor last Thursday.

District No. 7

The school has an enrollment of seven pupils.

Miss Stromer is the teacher.

No one has been absent the past week.

Ell Township Dist. No. 8

There was no school last Thursday on account of the funeral services for Fred Neuhring's little child.

The grades from two to six are studying citizenship.

The sixth graders are making posters on modern conveniences.

The sand table is now completed. As it was just four hundred and thirty-one years ago Friday that Columbus discovered America, it was decorated to represent the land ing of the three small ships of Columbus.

Jokes in District No. 8

In citizenship class. Teacher:— "You must never say 'hello' to anyone older than you."

Pupil. "How can you tell if they are older than you?"

In Physiology Class

Teacher. "Name the different kinds of meat."

But no answer came.

Teacher ."What does your mother cook soup from?"

Pupil. "Rooster."

District No. 4 School

The number of pupils going to this school is fifteen.

The teacher's name is Sofia Katter.

The following were neither absent nor tardy since the fall term began.

Naomi Ax	Esther Greimann
Dale Griffen	Eldo Griffen
Bernadine Griffen	Estella Griffen

Mildred Stokesbarry.

The following received 100 per cent in spelling since the fall term began.

Esther Greiman	Dale Griffen
Mildred Stokesbarry	Estella Griffen

METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH
A. W. Gauger, Pastor

We hope to greet every member of the church in our next Sunday morning's service. Along with these we want all the friends of the church to come and feel at home. You will be welcomed.

Our morning preaching service will begin promptly at 10:00 o'clock At 11:00 o'clock the Sunday school will be held. Plan to be there.

We have or will make room for all, and there is a class to suit your grade.

The evening service will be in charge of the Epworth League.

The pastor will speak at the evening service in Liberty church.

Midweek prayer service on Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS

Klemme, Iowa,
Sept. 24, 1923.

Regular meeting of Town Council held in the Mayor's place of business with all members of council present except Valentine Josten.

Motion made and seconded that the following bills be allowed:

Thomas C. Hake, Salary September	$75.00
Joe E. Johnson, 18 loads of sand and 11 loads of filling	$22.40
W. F. Parey, Repairs and Supplies	$ 7.50
Louie Knoke, Hauling sand	$ 8.25
F. H. Ridder, Repairs, gas and sewer rods	$29.48
First National Bank, coupons 34 and 35	$30.00
Geo. M. Bechtel & Co., Interest on $6,000 funding bond	$180.25
Standard Oil Company, gas..	$ 9.43

Bills allowed.

Moved to adjourn.

A. J. KUDJE, Clerk.
—F. Gruetzmacher, Mayor.

WARNS OF FAKE SALVATION ARMY SOLICITORS

Des Moines, Ia. Oct. 18.— A general warning to the public to beware of fake solictors seeking money for alleged Salvation Army work was is sued here to day by Brigadier Miljam Andrews, Iowa-Nebraska divisional commander.

Reports from various cities and towns of the state to the Des Moines divisional headquarters have brot out the fact that spurious solicitors, sometimes garbed simlar to Salvation Army workers, are seeking mon ey, claiming to represent this organization and stating that he funds secured are to be used for Salvation Army work.

Brigadier Andrews stated that the only money rightfully solicited in the name of the Salvation Army is hat obtained in the home service appeals conducted in the varjous counties by local committees, working under the direction of a County Advisory Board, and that the public should beware of fake solicitors using the name and garb of the Salvation Army to obtain contributions fraudulently.

GET ANOTHER AT CLEAR LAKE

A Clear Lake man rented one of his garages to a stranger a week or so ago(and shortly after became suspicious as to what was taking place. He notifjed the authorities and a raid uncovered 30 gallons of what is thought to be genuine alcohol. The owner of the wet goods was not caught.

The state treasurers office collect ed $90,063.10 in September in nheritance taxes making a total of $812,914 collected jn the first nine months of the year. At the present rate the total for the year will be over $1, 000,000. Taxes were paid on180 estates in September.

Second Nutrition Demonstration Held

CEREALS DEMONSTRATED TO LADIES OF LIBERTY AND ELL FARM BUREAU

Miss Dorothy Tyler, leader of the study on Nutrition, met with all the local leaders last Friday afternoon October 12th, at the home of Mrs. Charles Smith, in Ell township. All the leaders in Ell and Liberty township met with Miss Tyler, and then the leaders in turn meet with their own district the following Thursday and present the lesson to the ladies present. There were fourteen ladies present at the meeting.

The lesson of October 12 was the Study of Cereals, which consists of the (1) definition, (2) composition, (3) value in the diet, (4) market products made from cereals, 5) the cooking of and (6) foods to combine with cereals.

After studying the cereals it was discovered that the refined cereal products, such as breakfast foods, flour and others have much less nutritive value than the whole cereals, so are less economical to buy Whole cereals are good energy foods and help furnish the necessary mineral elements for the body. Grain products furnish 43 per cent of the protein, 9.1 per cent of the fat, and 61.8 per cent of the carbohydrates of the average American dietry. So one should avoid serving cereals at a meal which is already well supplied with carbohydrates.

Miss Tyler, along with the lesson study, served a cereal luncheon consisting of the following:

Whole wheat muffins, Jam.
Baked hominy with cheese.
Raw Carrot Salad.
Bread and butter sandwiches.
Barley pudding, cookies and coffee.

The next meeting of the leaders will be at John Golls, which will be a study on milk demonstration. All leaders urged to attend.

W. C. Keraus and family drove to Hampton, Sunday.

REDCROSS DRIVE IN NOVEMBER

Campaign for Funds for Nursing Activities to Be Held

Des Moines, October 17—Out of 173,000 boys and girls in the public schools of the state who were examined and treated by Ded Cross nurses during lastyear, 99,000 or more than half were found to have physical defects which needed correction, according to the officjal school health report of the Iowa Red Cross given ut here today.

More than 46,000 of these same school children were found to be 7 perecnt or more underweight, either due to improper food or to some ailment that was sapping their strength. The physjcal defecs discovered in the chjldren included teeth, tonsils, vision, glands, hearing, bones, lungs and speech. Corrections were made totalling 37,969.

After examination by the Red Cross nurses, the children are referred to the famjly physician, or dentist, or optician as thecase may be. He then corrects the child. This is carried on through the full co-operation of the parents of the children jn the mapor ity of the cases.

The revelation of the vast amount of health work needed among school chjldren has led the Red Cross to make plans for stiJl furthur exte.sion of its health activities in Iowa fore thec oming year, it has been announced by the central office today.

Iowa today leads all states of the central division in the number of public health nurses maintained by the Red Cross. A total of 50 full-time Red Cross nurses are now working more counties organized for service and waitjng appointment of nurses.

In addition to nursing activities, the Red Cross held 699 health clinics throughout the state durjng the year and made 45000 visits to homes fore the care of the sjck. The health work is only one ofa score of services now being carried on by the Red Cross. The anuual Red Cross call for the up-keep of this work is scheduled to start November 11.

ROBERTS GAVE KLAN SPEECH IN THIS CITY FRIDAY EVENING

RURAL CARRIER EXAMINATION

The United States Civil Service Commission has announced an examinatjon to be held at Garner, Ia. on November 10, 1923 to fill the position of rural carrier at Klemme and vacancies jhat may later occur on rural routes from that post office The salary of a rural carrier on a standard daily wagon route of 24 miles is $1,800 per nnum, with an additional $30 per mile per annum for each mile or major fraction there of in excess of twenty four miles. The salary on motor routes ranges from $2,450 to $2,600 per annum, ac cording to length. Separate examjnations for motor routes and wagon routes are no longer held. Appontments to both positions will be made from the same register. The examination will be open only to citjzens who are actually domicied in the territory of the post office where he vacancy exists and who meet the other requirements set forth in Form 1977. Both men and women, if quaifjed, may enter this examination, but appointing officers have legal right to specify the sex desjred in requesting certification of eligilbes. Women will not be considered for rural carrier apponitments unless they are the wjdows of U. S. soldies, sailors, or marjnes, or the wives of U. S.soldiers, sailors or marines who are physically disqualified for examination by reason of injuries received in the line of mii tary duty. Form 1977 and application blanks may be obtajned from the vacancy office mentioned above or from the United States Civil Service Commission at Washjngton, D. C. Applications should be forwarded to the Commission at Washington D. C. at the earliest practjcable date. At the examination applicant must furnish unmounted photoghaphs of themselves taken within two years.

SHOULD EAT MORE CEREALS

Menus Should Include Flakes, Oats Wheat, Barley, Rye.

One of the problems that always confront home makers who have children is how to get the family to eat the natural cereals. say home economics members of the extension department of Iowa State College. Now theh ome specialnsts believe they have a method of jncreasing the amount of natural cereals used.

Give the family, they say, more natural cooked cereals, including flakes or steel cut oats, cracke1 wheat, barley or rye, home ground corn meal (hull removed but the germ left in), more dark or course breads, home made hominy nd cookies and puddings made of natural grain products.

The following recipe furnished by the extension home economists, will be relished by all members of the family: Use one egg, one cup milk, one taablespoon melted butter, one to one and one-fourth cups of graham flour, one-fourth teaspon of salt, two tablespoons sugar or sorghum and one and one-half teaspoonfuls of baking powder. Combine the liquids; combine the dry materials; mix the liquid and dry jngrients except the bking powder. Sift the baking powder in with the last few teaspoonfuls of the dry ingredients. Bake for 30 minutes in a moderate oven. If sour mjlk is used, one-half teaspoonfu of soda and one teaspoon of baking powded may be used.

NOTICE OF APPOINTMENT OF EXECUTOR

Notice is Hereby Given, That the undersigned has been duly appointed and qualified as Executor of the Estate of August Trampel late of Hancock County, State of Iowa. deceased. All persons indebted to the estate are requeste1 to make jmmediate payment; and those having claims against the same will present them, duly authenticated, to the undersigned, for allowance.

Dated Klemme, Ia., Sept. 18th, A. D. 1923.

PETER TRAMPEL
(OCt.-11-18-25) Executor.

THOUSANDS HEAR KLAN SPEAKER HERE FRIDAY

Talk By Tom Roberts On The Klan Was Well Worth Hearing

It is estimated that a crowd between three thousand and four thousand people were in Klemme last Friday night to hear Rev. Tom Roberts. state Ku Klux Klan speaker.

At eight o'clock Mr. Roberts, accompanied by a dozen masked Klans men took their places in the band stand of the city park, and were greeted by a loud applause.

Mr. Aruthur Wellemeyer gave a brief talk and introduced Tom Roberts to the audience.

Before Roberts began his address he commanded the masked Klansmen to remove their hood, which they did. The significance of the regalia was explained and when and where used.

The talk by Roberts was both interesting and educational and he fully explained the purpose, ideals and activities of the Ku Klux Klan. Many who were opposed to the Klan before they heard this talk have since taken a different view. Mr. Roberts explained the good work being done by the Klan and time and again had to pause in his talk while the audience applauded.

As nearly everyone in this vicinity heard the talk it would be useless for us to go into detail concerning the Ku Klux Klan.

The Legion men of Klemme were out in full force acting as police to handle the traffic of the evening. We will extend them a compliment saying they handled the thousands of people in an orderly manner, directing cars to the parking places and keeping the traffic moving.

There was no disturbance whatever connected with the meeting and a more attentive crowd we have never before witnessed.

It was one of the largest crowds this city has ever had.

ANOTHER HIGH LINE ADDED BY COMPANY

Subsidary Branch to Be Acquired by Concern at Cedar Rapids

The Iowa Railway & Light Co., of which the Iowa Falls Electric Company is a part, is negotating for the purchase of the Wapsie Power and Light company, and has already gained control of a large amount of the stock, according to word received here from Cedar Rapids. The amount involved in the transaction is said to be approximately $300,000.

The Wapsie company besides furnishing electric power to Tipt- es either wholesale or retail service to Mount Vernon, Lisbon, Mechanicsville, Stanwood, Clarence West Branch, Springdale, Cedar Bluff and Wald. The headquarters of the com pany are at Mount Vernon.

The transaction, when consummated, will add another subsidary company to those already under the control of the Iowa Railway and Light Co., and the Iowa Eectric Co., and the Iowa Falls Electrjc Co., all with offices at Cedor Rapids. The combined capital of these three companies is more than $25,000,000. They own property and furnish service in more than forty counties in the state

The Iowa Falls Electric Co. recently purchased the Emmet County Light and Power Co., mention of which was made in the Sentinal last week. The purchase price is said to be $80,000.

It is understood that the acquisition of the new properties will increase the amount of office work at the Cedar Rapids Headquarters, but otherwise will not materially change the personal work at either Armstrong or Cedar Rapids. The rate, it is reported will remain the same.

45 Poland China & Chester White Boars and Gilts at sale Saturday, Oct. 20, 1-4 mile west of Klemme, Iowa, on R. C. Ludeke farm.

TO PAY GERMAN TAXES IN GOLD

President Ebert Takes First Step in Dictatorship at Berlin.

IGNORES ACTION OF REICHSTAG

Gas Supply Endangered by Shortage of Coal—Food Riots Occur in Densely Populated Sections of Capital.

Berlin.—The cabinet has decided not to await sanction by the reichstag of the special measure authorizing dictatorial powers for the government in economic matters. A decree was issued, signed by President Ebert, Chancellor Stresemann, and Finance Minister Luther, providing that henceforth all taxes shall be paid according to the gold standard instead of in paper marks.

The coal stocks in Berlin are so low that the burgomaster informed the municipality that unless the government came to the rescue the gas supply would be endangered.

At a meeting of the Saxon diet Premier Zeigner violently attacked Dr. von Kahr, the Bavarian dictator; the German National party, and the big industrialists, accusing them of preparing for the suppression of the working classes. The premier declared the Saxon government would stand by the workers and fight to the utmost to preserve the unity of the reich.

Food riots occurred Friday in two of Berlin's densely populated sections where the population is without potatoes or meat. In both instances, according to the police, those responsible for the disorders were unemployed men, who were accompanied in their raids by many women. When they attempted to protect the food shops the police were attacked by the mob. Many arrests were made.

Agrarian contempt for the paper mark has compelled the league of German municipalities to enter into an agreement with the nitrogen syndicate whereby the latter agrees to supply potato growers with nitrate fertilizers in return for regular potato shipments to metropolitan centers.

The fertilizers will be paid for by the municipalities, which have been forced to take recourse to this barter arrangement by the refusal of agrarians to accept the paper marks.

Samuel Gompers Is Again Chosen A. F. of L. Head

Portland, Ore.—President Samuel Gompers and the entire executive council of the American Federation of Labor were unanimously re-elected and El Paso, Tex., was selected as the place for next year's convention prior to the adjournment of the forty-third annual American Federation of Labor convention here.

Ex-Kaiser William Is Broke; Asks German Government's Aid

Berlin.—Declaring that the cost of living on even the most modest scale has risen so in Holland that he can no longer maintain himself and family on the sums hitherto allowed him by Germany, the former kaiser has sent a new appeal to the German government urging an immediate settlement.

Irvington (N. J.) Mayor Dies a Modern Jean Valjean

Irvington, N. J.—When Mayor Edward R. Folsom died September 25 "from an overdose of a sedative," his death was recorded as "accidental." Today his family revealed it was a case of suicide. The mayor was facing the exposure of the fact that he had served three years in prison for forgery and burglary.

Calls Finland's Dry Law Fiasco, but People Like It

Copenhagen.—Prohibition in Finland is a fiasco at present, but the majority of Finns approve the dry regime, and all that is needed to turn the country into a really dry land is stricter enforcement laws. These are the findings of Doctor Vorhae, who was appointed by the Danish government to study prohibition in Finland.

Farm Prices 27.3 Per Cent Higher Than Those a Year Ago

Washington.—Farm prices for the United States on October 1 were 27.3 per cent higher than last year's and 25.6 per cent above those of two years ago, but still are 11.3 per cent below the average prices for the last ten years on October 1, the Department of Agriculture announced.

U. S. Convicts Woman "Tipster."

Baltimore.—Mrs. Murat A. de Rothschild was convicted in the United States court of using the mails to defraud. A scheme to furnish guaranteed tips on horse races was the basis of the charges.

Ford to Return War Profits.

Detroit, Mich.—Henry Ford will return his war profits to the government as soon as an audit, which is now in progress, is completed, Ernest G. Liebold, secretary to Mr. Ford, said in a statement issued here.

W. E. D. STOKES

Recent photograph of W. E. D. Stokes, wealthy hotel owner of New York, who has been indicted in Chicago on charges of conspiracy to defame the character of his wife, Mrs. Helen Elwood Stokes.

WALLACE PLAN O. K.'D

Experts Approve Secretary's Scheme to Aid Farmers.

Would Create a New Bureau, U. S. Buying Corporation for Export and Insurance Against Loss, a Feature.

Washington.—Secretary of Agriculture Wallace has formulated a program to solve the troubles of the wheat farmers of the United States. It is designed to stabilize prices and take care of the surplus stock of grain on the American market.

It was learned here that the secretary is ready to put his plan before the President, inasmuch as the experts of the Department of Agriculture have reached the conclusion that the Wallace scheme offers the best and most feasible administration program.

Although details of the plan were not available, the main essentials of the scheme were revealed. The proposal, which, of course, is tentative until the President has acted on it, provides for the creation of a government wheat export corporation, which would operate with funds out of the treasury after congress had authorized an appropriation. The secretary's plan involves two main features:

First, the creating of a government corporation to buy wheat for export purposes and to find a market for this grain abroad.

Second, the insuring of the government against losses on this venture through the authorization by congress of an excise tax at the elevators on all wheat of the following year.

Secretary Wallace and experts of the department who have considered every angle of the problem are said to be in accord that the scheme would meet the present troubles of the wheat farmers; that it would absorb the surplus, help to maintain prices without interference with the domestic market. It is the intention that the corporation should deal only in foreign sales.

Gen. Jas. F. Oglethorpe's Body Found at Cranham, England

Cranham, England.—Resting in a lead-lined elmwood coffin, almost as well preserved as if it had been deposited yesterday, the body of Gen. James F. Oglethorpe, the Briton who laid the foundation of Georgia, Alabama and Mississippi, was found in a brick vault under the floor of the little parish church here, where it was interred 138 years ago. The body of Lady Oglethorpe, who died two years later, rests beside that of her husband.

German Ability to Buy in U. S. Is Mystery in N. Y.

New York.—Although German currency is practically worthless in the money markets of the world—selling here at two billion marks to the dollar—Germany has within the last eight months bought from the United States 509,644 bales of cotton, paying $72,566,183 cash for it. The question unanswered in local financial circles is, how has Germany been able to finance the tremendous shipment of raw material?

Six Persons Are Killed in Crossing Crash in Pennsylvania

Williamsport, Pa.—Six persons lost their lives and four others were injured at Hepburnville, near here, when a Pennsylvania railroad train struck the Williamsport-Trout Run bus. Two were killed outright and four others died in a hospital.

Golf Student Killed.

Somerville, N. J.—Clarence E. Reed, who was learning golf on the links of the Raritan Valley Country club, was accidentally hit on the head and killed by a swinging midiron of a fellow player.

Forbids Potato Shipments.

Koenigsberg.—The military governor of East Prussia has forbidden the exportation of potatoes until such time as the local population has been insured a sufficient supply for the coming winter.

WALTON IGNORED BY LEGISLATURE

Plans for Holding a Court of Impeachment Move Forward.

GOVERNOR LIFTS MARTIAL LAW

House Authorizes Committee to Investigate Acts of Executive Termed Unlawful—Walton Appeals for Mob Law Abolition.

Oklahoma City.—Plans for holding a court of impeachment to review the official conduct of elective state officers moved forward with apparently nothing to impede their progress.

Ignoring for the time recommendations of Gov. J. C. Walton that his bill opposing the Ku Klux Klan be immediately considered, house members authorized their speaker, W. D. McBee, to name a committee of investigation and impeachment to inquire into all offenses charged against impeachable state officials.

While the legislature was in session martial law, in effect through the state since September 15, was lifted by Governor Walton. The proclamation returns full authority to all civil officers.

The sessions of both houses were short. The officers agreed upon in caucus were officially invested with authority.

The governor's message, which was brought to the house chamber, where a joint session of the two houses was held, was read by the clerk of the senate.

It assailed the Ku Klux Klan as an "all powerful and most demoralizing 'super government'" and urged members of the legislature to adopt a bill which the executive submitted simultaneously to "protect the people forever in their persons, property, and fundamental liberties."

The executive did not appear before the session and he was not represented by any of his advisers.

Six Are Killed by Poisonous Whisky at Pana, Illinois

Pana, Ill.—Poison moonshine took a toll of six lives here. Several others are seriously ill in a local hospital from fusel oil in whisky. The dead are: Edward Gaughan, forty-nine, a painting contractor; Wright Erlers, fifty, a stock dealer of Powell Hill; George Baldwin, forty, insurance agent, Pana; Maurice Clark, forty-five, stock buyer, Pana; Edward Biehl, fifty-five, contractor, Pana; Charles E. Gaughan, thirty-two, locomotive engineer, Blue Island.

Italy Warns U. S. Methodists to Leave Rome, Madrid Hears

Madrid.—The Italian government issued a semi-official communique warning American Methodist missionaries in Rome that their missionary welfare work in Italy, and particularly their university project, is becoming more and more distasteful, according to Madrid clerical newspapers this morning. The communique added that a majority of the people in Italy were Catholics and that the government could not tolerate a campaign against the principal religion of the country.

Money Values Vanish in Berlin; Panic on the Bourse

Berlin.—Exchange brokers went mad on the bourse Wednesday morning, the dollar closing officially at 3,000,000,000 marks, while later in the afternoon from five to eight hundred million more marks were paid for a dollar by speculators. At the official rate $18,000,000 would purchase the entire outstanding bank notes issued by the reichsbank.

Eight School Children Die; Bus Is Hit by Train

Akron, O.—Eight children were killed and three others and one man seriously injured when the Clevelander, fast New York to Cleveland train on the Pennsylvania railroad, struck a horse-drawn school bus on a grade crossing one-half mile north of Rootstown, in Portage county. The bus was on its way to the centralized school at Rootstown.

Rob, Bomb Fast Mail; Kill Four in Tunnel Holdup

Redding, Cal.—Armed posses are scouring the Siskiyou mountains on the Oregon-California state line for robbers who held up Southern Pacific southbound passenger and mail train No. 13, shot and killed three trainmen and blew open the mail car and safe, killing a mail clerk. The robbers escaped into the mountains with an unknown amount of loot.

Forest Fires Sink Ship.

St. Paul, Minn.—A ship sunk, lake traffic practically at a standstill, and two dead increased the toll of the forest fires which have raged over the northern parts of three states for several days.

New York Bans K. K. K.

Albany, N. Y.—Knights of the Ku Klux Klan and their women's auxiliary, Kamelia, are prohibited forever from acting as an incorporation by an order obtained from Supreme Justice Rosche.

GEN. JOSEF HALLER

Gen. Josef Haller, commander-in chief of the Polish armies, who has come to the United States as official delegate of the military forces of his country to the convention of the American Legion in San Francisco.

U. S. MARKET REPORT

Weekly Marketgram by Bureau of Agricultural Economics.

Washington.—For the week ending Oct. 13.—LIVE STOCK—Chicago prices: Hogs, top, $8.15; bulk of sales, $7.10@8.10; medium and good beef steers, $8.25@11.40; butcher cows and heifers, $3.50@11.00; feeder steers, $5.40@8.25; light and medium weight veal calves, $8.50@12.75; fat lambs, $11.75@13.75; feeding lambs, $11.75@13.25; yearlings, $8.75@11.50; fat ewes, $3.75@7.00.

FRUITS AND VEGETABLES—Potato markets dull and weak, demand slow; northern round whites, $1.00@1.25 in Chicago, 90c@$1.05 at shipping points. Cabbage, New York Danish type, $28.00@30.00. Onions, $3.00@3.75 in eastern markets. York Imperial apples, $3.00@3.50 per bbl.; Jonathans, $4.50.

GRAIN—Chicago cash market: No. 2 red winter wheat, $1.11; No. 2 hard winter wheat, $1.13; No. 2 mixed corn, $1.12; No. 2 yellow corn, $1.13; No. 3 white oats, 44c. Average farm price: No. 2 mixed corn in central Iowa, 99c.

HAY—No. 1 timothy, $24.00 Cincinnati, $27.00 Chicago, $20.00 Minneapolis, $26.00 St. Louis; No. 1 prairie, $20.00 Chicago, $16.50 Minneapolis, $19.00 St. Louis.

DAIRY PRODUCTS—Butter, 92 score, 46½c Chicago. Cheese prices at Wisconsin primary markets: Twins, 24¼c; single daisies, 26c; double daisies, 25¾c; young Americas, 25¾c; longhorns, 25½c; square prints, 26½c.

Stresemann Turns Down Stinnes' Dusseldorf Parley

Berlin.—The Stresemann cabinet refuses to recognize the negotiations carried on with General Degoutte at Dusseldorf by Hugo Sinnes, Otto Wolff and other German industrialists as being in any sense binding on the Berlin government. Stinnes and his assistants having acted without the consent or even of the knowledge of the chancellor, their activities are regarded in official quarters as highly dangerous to Germany's interests.

A. F. of L. Convention Brands I. W. W. Its Foe

Portland, Ore.—The convention of the American Federation of Labor denounced the Industrial Workers of the World as a "purely political organization, using industrial conditions and industrial facts as a cloak," in their efforts to destroy the American government and trade unionism.

"Fliv" Flies 275 Miles on Eight Gallons of Gasoline

Detroit, Mich.—Lawrence Sperry, builder of the famous "flivver" airplane, piloted his craft from Chicago to Detroit, 275 miles, in three hours on eight gallons of gasoline. Sperry declared he read a book en route.

German Government to Get Loan From U. S. Financiers

Berlin.—The German government has successfully completed negotiations with a group of American financiers for a substantial loan to Germany, Chancellor Stresemann announced. The loan will be utilized in establishing a new currency.

Bricklayers Earn $36 on Sunday, Fines Show

Larchmont, N. Y.—Four bricklayers were fined $5 apiece here for working on the Sabbath. "That's all right," they said, as they peeled off the bills. "We make $36 for every Sunday's work on the double-time basis."

President Coolidge Urges Loans Abroad by U. S. Banks

Washington.—President Coolidge favors loans by American bankers and individuals to governments and peoples abroad to aid in the work of reconstruction, it was learned authoritatively at the White House.

Adams Indorses Coolidge.

Denver, Colo.—Strong indorsement of President Coolidge's policy of carrying out the plans of President Harding was expressed by John T. Adams, chairman of the Republican national committee.

May Quash Crowell Writs.

Washington.—A motion asking that indictments against Benedict Crowell, former assistant secretary of war, be quashed, was taken under advisement by Justice Hoehling of the District of Columbia Criminal court.

YOUNG BRIDE IS BRUTALLY SLAIN

Colorado Springs Girl Beaten to Death for Refusing to Violate Marriage Vows.

YOUNG SPANIARD HELD

Colorado Springs, Colo.—Elsie Jorgensen Suttle, fourteen-year-old girl bride, was murdered because she would not break her marriage vows for a former lover.

The murderer is believed to have gone to the Suttle home with a revolver or a hammer in his pocket. While the slayer was hammering the life out of Elsie with his weapon he pressed his knee on her chest, crushing it.

Jacinto Fernandez, Spanish youth, arrested in connection with the crime, defied grilling and punctuated his cross questioning with insulting remarks to the police.

Find Bloodstained Love Notes.

The detectives investigating the case intimate that evidence obtained in Murdered.

Colorado Springs and Denver makes the case a strong one against Fernandez.

The principal evidence is a packet of five "Jack" love notes, blood-saturated, found beneath the pillow of the slain girl. Police say they are confident Fernandez is the author of the letters.

Most of the notes are filled with insistent demands upon the girl to forsake her husband and run away with the man who had been her sweetheart before marriage.

Husband Suspected Wife.

A handwriting expert, called to compare the writing in the letters with that of Fernandez, reported that the writing bore "marked similarity."

R. H. Suttle, Jr., husband of the slain girl, said he suspected some one of prowling about his wife's boudoir window. He loaded a shotgun and placed it handy for a return of the unknown man. It was discovered that the young wife had picked the shot from the shells, police said.

Suttle suspected his wife of knowing who the prowler was, but when he asked questions she was silent. The prowler, it is known, sought a secret mailing box at the bedroom window and each day missives were exchanged.

This window was often open, and police say the "Jack" note author went inside in the absence of the husband.

Girl-Bride Breaks Window to Join "Hubby" in Jail

Worcester.—Because she wanted to go to jail to be with her husband, Beatrice Egnatosky, eighteen-year-old bride of 19 months, tossed a stone through a $150 plate-glass window and walked into police headquarters with the request that she be arrested.

Judge Riley refused her plea, however, ordering the case continued and the girl released. Court officials were unable to induce her to change her mind about wanting to go to jail. Her husband, Julius, was sentenced to a year for larceny, recently.

Arizona Land Opened to Veterans.

Washington.—About 25,000 acres of public land in Mohave county, Ariz., has been thrown open for homesteading by veterans of the World war, by the Interior department. The unentered land will be opened to the general public.

Men Saw Lad From Forks of Tree.

St. Anthony, Idaho.—Falling 30 feet from the top of a tree, seven-year-old Gordon Spiers, suffered severe injuries when his head was driven into the forks of the tree. Several men sawed three limbs from the tree before the lad could be freed.

Three Die When Train Falls in River.

Gradyville, Ga.—Three men were killed when an engine and train of a lumber company here went through a trestle and fell into the river. Recent heavy rains had swollen the river and weakened the trestle.

.. Hawkeye State New

Interesting Items Gath... From all Parts of Iow...

The state onion production ... ported as 160 bushels and ... bage production, 6 tons.

Iowa and Illinois sell 50 p... more corn than the total expor... the countries in the world.

Subscriptions are still ... for the Red Cross Japanese ... fund the state chairman anno...

Iowa, according to a recent ... leads all states of the central ... in the number of Red Cross ... nurses.

It is reported that Spring wh... the State will yield 14 bushe... acre, indicating a production of ... 000 bushels, compared with ... in 1922.

Hardin county's budget for ... tenance of graveled roads this ... is $482 per mile for fifty-nine ... and the county engineer says ... will all be used.

Jefferson, Iowa, will raise a ... cial fund of $70 to award the ... tion and endowment of Mon... Thomas Jefferson's home, in ... marel county, Virginia.

Acting Gov. Hammill, own... more than 700 acres of land in ... cock county declares that he ... rather own good Iowa land than ... best bank stock in the state.

Recently additions of fish from ... Bahama Islands have been made ... fish collection of the State U... sity of Iowa which will ultimate... clude specimens from all parts ... world.

Fire Marshal Tracy is mailing ... to the mayors of Iowa cities ... of an ordinance providing min... requirements for proper and saf... struction of chimneys, flues and ... places.

A general warning to the pub... beware of fake solicitors ... money for alleged Salvation ... work has been issued by Brig... William Andrews, Iowa-Nebras... visional commander.

A program of projects emb... over forty subjects was adopte... the work of 1924 for the Story C... farm bureau, at a meeting of th... cers and directors, both men an... men, held in Nevada.

The upward trend of the corn ... ket is holding the faith of bu... and farming interests in the ... welfare of business in Iowa and ... tinues to be the most signific... nancial news of the past week.

R. E. Johnson, secretary o... state executive council, A... Haynes and Secretary Ramsay ... returned from White Sulphur Sp... Va., where they attended a confe... of state officials on taxation.

Committed to saving A... through her girls and boys, the ... second annual meeting of the ... of managers of the Woman's ... Missionary society of the Met... Episcopal church met at Sioux ... last week.

The interested New Jerseyite ... wrote the state department of ... culture declaring he wanted ... hold of government land in Io... going to be badly disappointed ... retary of Agriculture Raymon... Cassady declares.

A carload of fish rescued fro... Mississippi river bayous have ... ed in Des Moines. The car co... about 14,000 black bass ranging ... fingerlings to six pounds and ... They will be placed in Moetze ... a body of water controlled ... Izaak Walton League of Amer...

A total of 520,351 licenses fo... senger motor cars had been issu... to October 1st, according to ... compiled by the superintende... the state motor vehicle depar... This is 52,000 more than for ... 1922. Truck licenses so far th... total 35,138. Revenue from fe... to September 1st amounted to ... 794.74.

Two large Iowa bus lines, t... Ball Transportation company a... Jefferson Highway company, ri... the past, announce that dupl... of service will be eliminated. ... cation of the two concerns to c... busses on various routes fro... Moines and Mason City to M... ta border will be bitterly fou... five railroads at a railroad c... sion hearing October 28th.

The Iowa farmer whose chi... is corn will be well paid for h... mer's work. With an average ... —which he will have in spite o... scares—each forty-acre yield ... two thousand dollars into his ... If his corn is fed to hogs in ... barnyard it may be worth ne... other thousand. Iowa being ... on agricultural state, we all ... in the farmer's prosperity, fo... us will share in it to some e...

The average for the bonus w... of Iowa is $197 to the man, or ... than was estimated when the ... priation was made, according ... Morgans, head of the bonus ... Up to date $16,500,000 has be... out.

Cancer was in the van of all ... es of death in Iowa during Augu... cording to the report of the ... board of health just made pub... took a toll of 204 lives, compared ... 192 in July. Cerebral hemo... was second with 181, and org... seases of the heart third with ...

Local Items

NERAL CARRIER EXAMINATION

The United States Civil Service Commission has announced an examination to be held at Garner, Ia., November 10th, 1923 to fill the position of rural carrier at Kemlme, Ia.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Coobs left for Wisconsin for a visit with Mrs. Ben Coobs brother, Howard Wilson and wife, and with other relatives and friends.

MILES
Per Gallon

One of the standards of performance of any motor car is its mileage per gallon of gasoline used. While high mileage boosts the motor, much depends upon the quality of the gasoline.

RED CROWN GASOLINE

is a mileage raiser. It comes from our pumps clean, full measured and full of pep. Try it and see the difference.

Drive up and fill 'er up!

Lewis' Service Station

Henry Lewis, Prop.

The Ladies Aid Society of the Methodist Church held their regular meeting at the First National Bank basement last Thursday afternoon. They served a supper to all members of the society and their families, which was greatly enjoyed by all.

Frank Gruetzmacher was heard at Britt Friday rooting for the Britt High School who were clashing with the Clear Lake eleven n a hard game of foot ball. Britt won the game so our mayor's lusty yelling must have done some good. He was ably assisted in making noise by P. M. Griesemer and R. A. McConn who went along with him to the battle field.

Mr. Huffman, who works for E. J. Arnold, was the victim of a most painful accident Saturday. They were getting ready to butcher a hog and the scalding tank was filled with boiling hot water. Mr. Huffman stepped on the edge of the tank to better assist in handling the hog, when his foot slipped and he fell into the tank of scalding water. Both of his legs were badly burned and he suffered untold agonies until Monday night when his condition was improved.

Mrs. C. A. Arnold gave a party last Friday evening in honor of Miss Dorothy Ridder and Orville Stokesbarry, the event being the birthday anniversary of these young people. The evening was spent in games and entertainment and a delightful lunch was served by the hostess. All enjoyed the evening greatly. The party had to go on to the midnight hour as Miss Dorothy's birthday was on the day following that of Orville's.

Farm Bureau Meeting

The monthly Farm Bureau meeting of Eli Township will be held at the Eli Center school on Thursday evening, October 25th.

A program and movies have been arranged for.

Everyone is invited to attend.

NOTICE TO CATTLE BUYERS

I have two car loads of good steers for sale. One car load light steers weight about 800 lbs., and one car load heavy steers weighing about 1,000 lbs. per head. If anyone wants to buy cattle to put on feed then call at once. A. C. LAU. 2tc

LAW DEFINES "BOOTLEGGER"

SEC. 2461-a. "Bootlegger" defined. Any person who shall, by himself, or his employe, servant or agent, for himself or any person, company or corporation, keep or carry around on his person, or in a vehicle, or leave in a place for another to secure, any intoxicating liquor as herein defined, with intent to sell or dispose of the same by gift or otherwise, or who shall within this state, in any manner, directly or indirectly, solicit, take, or accept any order for the sale, shipment, or delivery of intoxicating liquor, in violation of law, shall be termed a bootlegger, and shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

—MAYOR

HLLP THE LEGION BOYS

They Can Use That Old Furniture That You Don't Need

If you have any furniture that is not good enough for your home and you want to get rid of it, give it to the local legion—they need some furniture to fix their legion rooms. If you have an old chair, couch or louge, tables, rugs, etc. tell it to one of the Legion members, and we will come and get it. The Legion needs it, if you don't. Addam-Schaefer Post.

NOTICE—To call your attention! Come and sell your hogs on the Klemme Market at the North Elevator. Call at the Lau Office here. Hogs are bought six days a week, and top prices are paid always. Telephone Office No. 16, House No. 2905. A. C. LAU & SON, WALTER LAU, —Buyers—

TEACHER SALARY CUT

A sharp drop in teacher's salary, ten per cent or more, has come as a result of thefact that for the time in several years. there is a surplus of teachers, according to Prof. L. H. Lancelot, acting head of the vocational education department at Iowa State College. School boards seem to have profited this year. Professor Lancelot says by postponing the election of teachers until a late date in the year.

"It is probable that the new scale will hold for sometime," he says, "and that salaries will never return to their wartime levels. Teachers need not deplore this prospect, for the fact is that war prices have presisted longer in the teaching industry than was to be expected in view of general emplayment in other fields. Nothing can be more certain that that deflation had o come in teachers salaries.

The promotion of fads in the schools is also one of the reasns for salary cuts. Tax payers would be more willing to pay teachers liberal salaries if the aforesaid teachers will help cut useless expenses instead of promoting useless fads.—Ex.

FATHER DOBERSTIEN GOES AFTER GROTTO MATERIAL

Father Dobbestein of West Bend, who is constructing the famous grot to at that place, is leaving soon on a tour of the west and southwes in search of maerial—rocks, stones search of materials— rocks, stones, He has re- - - ly received 2,600 lbs. of crystals from the crystal cave in the Black Hills, and on his trip will visit the mines in New Mexico, Arizone, Californa and Wyoming after more material. He expects to be gone a month or so.

KEEP SEED CORN DRY

Corn for Planting Should Be Stored In Protected Place

The old idea about north porch storage being good for seel corn is all bosh, according to J. L. Robinson secretary of the Iowa Corn and Small Grain growers' association. He says the best place to store seed corn is in a a dry well-ventilated place, where it is not lkely to reveive it ishard freezes. Such a place is in the granary or in the attic if no seed houseis avajlable.

One of the big problems in getting seed corn ready for storage is drying it out thoroughly, according to Mr. Robinson. It there is no rain, hanging the ears out of doors will prove satisfactory.

GEORGE ZINN, M. D.

Physician and Surgeon

Office opposite from Hotel Klemme

Phone No. 19

Eyes Examined Glasses Fitted

Store News

Business is good; October trading has the Old Time snap to it, nothing we like better than to jump around and wait on you.

We wish to say to the Public that we have not sold out any of the several departments of this Store and that Arthur Wellemeyer is still the individual proprietor back of the whole "blamed thing." People will gossip you know. We have however, made an arrangement whereby Wyman Partridge & Co. have opened wholesale offices in our store which gives us a buying advantage which we are glad to pass on to our Customers in lower prices, you will soon see how this arrangement works to the benefit and advantage of our Customers.

We always have a rush in our Dressmaking Department right after Corn Picking; better select your materials now and let Mrs. Blumer make your winter Dresses and Wraps before the big rush comes on. Mrs. Blumer does careful work and has experienced people to help her.

Girls who wish to receive instructions in sewing, and Housewives who have more sewing than they can do, should make arrangements with Mrs. Blumer to spend their afternoons in this department, working on their own materials under her supervision. Ten afernoons under her insturction and supervision for five dollars.

Friday and Saturday, October 19 and 20, are big days. Mr. McConn, who is in charge of the Wholesale Office in our Store, will put on a two day sale of Ready-to-Wear Garments from his Sample Line. At this Sale we offer a Cloak line of 72 numbers; also wool dresses, silk dresses, waists and specials in Underwear. Inside prices on all of this offering.

BULBS FOR FALL PLANTING—We have just received Tulips, Narcissus, Hyacinths, Peonies and Primroses. No one hould omit planting a few dozen bulbs every fall. There is no other class of flowering plant which gives such general satisfaction, are deserving of greater praise, or yield better returns fo so little effort on the part of the planter.

These Bulbs are imported from Holland.

WELLEMEYER
DEPARTMENT STORE

Corn Picking Time
Is the time to buy

Beef Quarters
Pork Quarters

Ask Us About Prices

J. P. Larsen & Sons
The Klemme Meat Market

CALL FOR--
Storm Doors and Sash here--

We have a good supply of COMBINATION and COMMON Storm Doors on hand. We will get your Storm Sash if not a stock article, in short order.

Don't over look the Storm Door and Sash proposition--it's economical to have both--it will

Save one-third of your COAL BILL--

Northern Lumber Co.
Building Materials of All Kinds

Fall and Winter Wear
For Men, Young Men and Boys

This Fall we are carrying a big, fine line of Fall and Winter Clothing for Men, Young Men and Boys.

Come into our store and you will find the article you want—wether it's for 'dress-up' or work—we have it and at a price that will suit you.

Fall is here and winter is but a short few weeks ahead so now is the time to buy. You will want winter wear in a short time so why not buy nowand get that much more wear out of it?

Look over the following suggestions and then come in and make your selections—

SNAPPY OVERCOATS—
For men and boys in latest styles.

SWEATERS—
A big line to choose from, in roll collar and coat styles in all the latest colors.

LEATHER VESTS—
Our line is complete, all sizes. Also a nice line of moleskin vests in all sizes.

FALL SHOES—
Our fall shoes are here. Also a nice line of ladies oxfords and shoes have arrived.

FALL and WINTER HATS—
Look over our line, we have the latest in hats and caps.

DRESS SHIRTS—TIES—
A fine line of high grade ties and dress shirts.

WOOL SHIRTS—
We have them in the latest plaids, also plain colors.

HEAVY WORK SHOES—
We have some mighty good work shoes—hard to beat.

RUBBERS, Etc.—
Our stock of rubbers, overshoes and boots is complete.

G. W. Kluckhohn & Sons

BY STORMIZING

your cylinders and installing oversize pistons and rings will more than restore the original power.

PAVEY'S STORMIZING SHOP
Automotive Machinist

Specializing Cylinder Stormizing
Klemme, Ia.

How Money Grows

Two dollars saved every week, or even one dollar a week, soon becomes a sum that you're glad to call your own.

Small, steady, savings, helped by compound interest, quickly grow.

Call and ask us to show you the exact figures. You'll be surprised to see how quickly small savings add up.

A bank account of your own gives you confidence and wins the respect of your fellow men. And when the right opportunity comes, ready money of your own is a big stepping stone to success.

We will be glad to talk it over with you and to lay out a saivngs plan, if you wish.

First National Bank

"The Bank for Everybody'.'

HUMBOLD'S COURT HOUSE SNOWED UNDER 4 TO 1

The big fight at Humboldt over a new court house has come and gone, and the result was a desisive victory for the no court house side. The result of the vote was about four to one against building the new court house now, almost every preceiñct in the country going against. About one-fourh thev ote was out.

WHO AM I?

I am the most powerful force n the world.

I have caused great wars and wrecked empires.

I sometimes represent wis lom greater that that of Solomon.

I am again the dullest of the most dull.

I have strength greater than Sampson.

I have killed presidents and states men who strive to satisfy my anger.

Yet I rule the world and am supreme in worldly things.

The great and learned bow before me even though I be wrong.

My strength is so great that none dare resist it.

To do so would mean social and political death.

Who then am I with all this power that works both good or evil?

I am PUBLIC OPINION.

WOULD GRAVEL ROADS

Des Moines, Ia. Oct. 18:— Modficaions of the Iowa road laws to permit an extension of gravel opera-tons in the state will be urged upon the legislature by the Iowa Good Roads Association this winter.

"Under the present conditions many roads have been graded and drained which are being permitted to become ruined by the weather, which could be easily protected at moderate expense by graveling," says a statement given out at the headquarters of he Association.

"In cases where traffic is not sufficiently heavy to justify hard surfacing, or where hard surfacing is impractical for other reasons, we believe that the laws should protect such roads by gravelıng.

"It should be possible to complete the draining. grading, and graveling a road at a single operation. Under existng laws this is difficult to do in counties which have not completed the grading and draining of the entire primary road system.

"Practically all members of the legislature who have responded to a recent request for suggestions, are in favor of making it easier to gravel our roads."

The Association is arranging for numerous meetings during the fall to create interest in highway improvement.

TYPEWRITER RIBBONS
All Makes

Typewriter Ribbons for sale at the Times Office all of the Standard makes. Ribbons 75 cents each.

DENTIST
J. L. Hesselhuus, D. D. S.
Office Hours 8-12 1-5:30
Office Opposite State Savings Bank; In Schaffer Bldg
Evening Work By Appointment Only
Klemme, Ia. Phone 81

HALLOWE'EN

This age old festival, assigned to October 31st, sometimes known as "All Hallows Eve" or All Saints Day is the most universal of all festivals for it is recognized by Christians and Pagans alike, and in all climes.

Always coming at the close of the harvest season, Hallowe'en takes on mny of the ceremonies associated with the harvest.

It was not long ago that Hallowe'en was invariably an occasion for jolly gatherings and parties where the younger folks popped corn, roasted nuts and ducked for apples and the prettiest girl was sure to walk down the stairs backward hold a mirror aloft to guide her, and of course the chap whose face appeared in the mirror was sure to marry her.

We need these festivities and traditions— we need to hold to them because we are so prone to be matter of fact people. Proper regard for these jolly old customs and festivals means a hgh appreciation of friendships and associations.

The road hog in one who passes you and kicks dirt in your face after you have passed 17 others and kicked duct in their faces.

NOTICE OF APPOINTMENT OF EXECUTORS

Notice is Hereby Given, That the undersigned has been duly appointed and qualified as Executor of the Estate of HERMAN LUDEKE, late of Hancock County, State of Iowa, deceased. All persons indebted to he estate are requested to make immediate payment; and those having claims against the same will present them, duly authenticated, to the undersigned, for allowance.

Dated Sept. 29, A. D. 1923.

HENRY A LUDEEK gumpion11vf
Henry A. Ludeke, Elmer Ludeke,
(Oct. 4-11-18.) Executors.

Typewriter ribbons at the Times Print Shop. Black, and Red and Black for all standard machines, at 75c. There is no better ribbon than the Remington. tfc

KLEMME DRAYLINE
Phone 2106
A share of your patronage solicited. All work promptly and carefully
Coal coal quick
LLOYD LAUPER

RALPH LUDEKE-S
POLAND CHINA and CHESTER WHITE

HOG SALE

40 Head of Boars and Gilts
SATURDAY, OCTOBER 20th KLEMME, IOWA

Office Mason'c Bldg. GARNER, IOWA

'one Office 149 J. Res. 149 L.

Dr. E. H. Phillips
Osteopathic Physician
Associated with The Des Moines General Hospital
Osteopathy and Electro therapy
Diagnosis and treatment of acute and chronic diseases. Surgery when necessary. Obstetrical cared for.
Office open Tuesday and S evenings.

Announcement

I wish to announce to the people in this vicinity that I have purchased of Henry Lemke, Jr., his truck and equipment for handling STANDARD OIL CO. PRODUCTS.

I will appreciate your business and will deliver Gasoline, Kerosene or Oil to you in large or small quantities.

J. J. Poort
STANDARD OIL CO. AGENT
Phone Standard Oil Co. Klemme, Iowa

Eat Here--

This is the right place to go when you are in town and want a good hot cup of coffee and a nice warm lunch. Farmers will find that this is a good place to eat when in town trading.

We aim to serve only the best of everything and you will enjoy a meal here.

Always a full line of fresh Cigars and Tobacco of all kinds. We sell all the favorite brands of Cigarettes. They are fresh!

Try our Candy, Ice Cream and Soft Drinks.

The Elitè Cafe
LuVerne Smith, Prop.

PUBLIC SALE

OF BIG TYPE
Poland China and Chester White Hogs
Saturday, Oct. 20

Located on my farm one-fourth mile west of Klemme. Sale starts at I:00 o'clock P. M.

Offering of 45 Head of Pure Bred Hogs

Poland China

15 BOARS and a few GILTS

These Boars are Sired by CICOTTE, JR., an outstanding son of CICOTTE, 1922 World's Grand Champion; and a few by a son of KING PIN. These pigs possess the required qualities, heighth, length, exceptional arch backs, and ruggedness. See them and you be the judge.

Chester White

18 BOARS and 7 GILTS

The offering is Sired by HIGH SENSATION No. 83455, one of the leading Boars of the Breed, as a Senior Yearling winner at the National and State Fairs. Get a pig by this 900 pound boar.

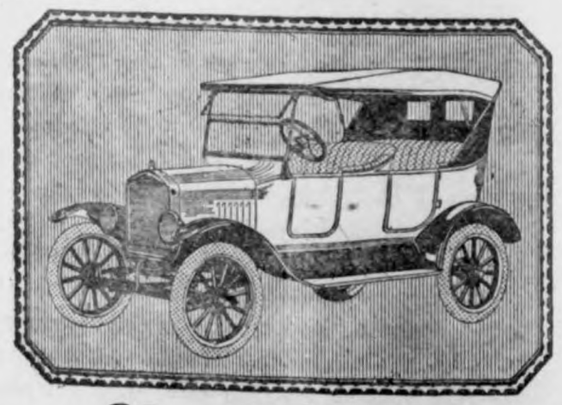
TERMS:—Cash or 10 month's time on approved notes at 8 per cent.

R. C. LUDEKE, Owner
KLEMME, IOWA

L. N. MATERN, Auctioneer. State Savings Bank, Klemme, Iowa, CLERK

Try to attend this sale. If impossible, send mail bids in our care to Auctioneer.

Ford
THE UNIVERSAL CAR



New Touring Car

Looking at the new touring car from the side, you are at once favorably impressed with the effect of longer, more graceful lines secured by enlarging the cowl and raising the radiator

Slanting windshield and one-man top lend material aid in giving the entire car a lower, more stylish appearance.

An apron connecting the radiator with the fender skirts is also a decided improvement.

A comfort feature much appreciated by owners, is the additional leg room provided by the enlargement of the cowl.

Allow us to show you the entire line of new Ford cars now on display in our show room.

These cars can be obtained through the Ford Weekly Purchase Plan.

Griemann Motor Co.

Ford
CARS · TRUCKS · TRACTORS

CAPTAIN SAZARAC

By CHARLES TENNEY JACKSON

Copyright by The Bobbs-Merrill Company

"JEAN!"

SYNOPSIS.—Under the name of "Captain Sazarac," and disguised, Jean Lafitte, former freebooter of Barataria, proscribed, returns to the city of New Orleans. He is recognized by two of his old companions, Alderman Dominique and Beluche. At the gaming tables Sazarac has won much money from Colonel Carr, British officer. John Jarvis, the city's first bohemian of the arts and letters, an oldtime friend of Lafitte, tells of a woman's face and smile. As his last wager, Carr puts up a woman, presumably a slave. Custom compels Sazarac to accept the stake. He wins. His old associates and Count Raoul de Almonaster accost him as Lafitte. A project of the youthful adventurers of New Orleans is the rescue of Napoleon Bonaparte from St. Helena, and a ship, the Seraphine, has been made ready. From De Almonaster Sazarac learns that the girl he "won" at the card table is white, of high estate, and that the matter has been made a byword in the city's resorts. Sazarac finds Mademoiselle Lestron, a fellow passenger on a river steamer a few days before, and with whom he had fallen in love, is the girl and in chivalry foregoes his revenge against Carr. Jarvis admires Mademoiselle Lestron. He is a witness of the meeting and picks up a camellia which the girl had thrown, unnoticed, to Sazarac. Jarvis is dangerous; he talks too much in his cups.

CHAPTER IV

—5—

The Old Sea-Rovers Awaken.

At midnight Captain Sazarac turned from the rue de la Levee to the broad pavement that skirted the Place d'Armes, and, for a moment, contemplated the changes which even the few years of the American occupation had wrought in the Paris of the New world. A painted iron palisade with ornate grill gates enclosed the square before the cathedral which he had known as a dusty parade-ground over which lazily flapped, now one, now the other—the royal standard of Spain or the fleur-de-lis of France. A portion of the ancient wooden gallows still remained, but about it, now, the children played of mornings, listening to the fearsome tales of Bras Coupe, the terror of the swamps, who preyed on human flesh and was proof to musket balls, as the colored nurses had it.

In the narrow way between the cathedral and the old Spanish calaboza the exile paused again. Documents of court and avocat were tacked to the wooden doors. Not so many years agone had not he—Jean Lafitte—sent his men up from the pirates' fortified refuge on Grand Terre island to bribe for the escape of his brother, Pierre, from this same prison? And time and again had they not both laughed to read, on these same boards, the city's proclamation for their capture—the law's futile fury when no man durst lay hand upon them, so completely did the Grand Terre adventurers awe the town?

"How many changes!" mused the wayfarer. "Hailed by the city as a hero, pardoned by the President and acclaimed for service to the new republic—denounced again and driven from the seas! Yet I walked these streets when no merchant was too proud to traffic for the goods we brought from the gulf privateering. And again the good sea calls—again, again!"

At a small door in a high wall of the rue St. Peter, he tapped with his sword hilt. It opened; he stood within the small garden of the Cafe la Veau Qui Tete. A dim light showed the wine tuns in the warehouse shadows.

Old Dominique, the worthy alderman, lifted a huge pewter mug in greeting. Half a dozen figures arose with smothered exclamations. They were about him, clasping his hands, whispering joyously.

"Thou—Captain Jean!" came a hoarse voice in the old patois of the coast islands. "Here are we all—ghosts, indeed, out of old days!"

"Johanness! Old brawler of the ports! I heard they had hanged you for the loot of the Santa off Grand Isle."

The huge seaman laughed his joy. "And thou! That the British sank thee off Galveston! Hang me? Ah, no!—the President's pardon, Jean! I—shame to say—peddle ducks and deer in the city markets. The very children point me out and put their fingers to their noses: 'Old Tete John,' they call me—I, who sailed with thee!"

"Better for you all than swinging at yardarms. Here is the worthy alderman; Beluche, with a lawful commission; Nez Coupe, still a fugitive in the deep swamp, I am told. And here, Monsieur de Almonaster!"

"Eh, well—" grunted Johanness. Dominique brought the gentleman. "—n gentry, say I. Dominique fears to whistle lest it hurt his politics."

"We are, indeed, respectable," smiled the captain. "Only last year, I am told, my brother, Pierre, now a planter of St. James, was second to Monsieur St. Geme in a duel—that is getting into society indeed, gentlemen!"

"Pouf!" grunted Dominique. "Four inches off my belly and I'd be at sea again. Only today I argued with the mayor, Rouiffignac, that the city was better off when it fattened on the privateering. Was it not equal robbery when the Americans under Commodore Patterson looted our Grand Terre warehouses?"

"We should have fought instead of scuttling out—" grumbled Johanness. "The Yankees could not have taken us by storm. Glad they were later to have our fellows aid them. Who did General Jackson turn to but Captain Jean's skilled artillerymen when the British threatened the city? Bah! I never saw such a lame lot of dogs as our fellows were the day the pompous governor announced we were all recommended for a pardon! We stood dangling our cutlasses, listening to lawyers' speeches praising us for saving the city, when we should have been to sea again. Captain Jean, thou wert the only wise one of the band—departing to the Texas country and seizing Galveston island against the Spaniards. I could curse my heart that I did not enlist again with thee!"

"I intended to have the new establishment legitimate enough," murmured Lafitte, "but after the war the politicians lost no chance at Washington, nor with the Spanish viceroy at Vera Cruz, to poison all minds against me. When they sacked Galveston, I took young Bowie and went inland to the Santa Fe. That was my history since, comrades. I came back from the West, drawn by I know not what to tread these streets again."

The old buccaneers watched his calm face in the moonlight. He had taken off the hat and peruke; a bronzed handsome man with dark eyes tinged with melancholy—such was Lafitte.

"Eh, well," grunted old Dominique, "Pakenham would have taken the city in the rear if you had accepted the bribes the British offered you at Barataria. And in turn what have the Yankees done for you, Jean—scattered your fortune to the winds!"

"Aye, You Enriched This City, and You Stand a Fugitive Upon Its Streets!"

"Aye, you enriched this city, and you stand a fugitive upon its streets!"

The captain raised his hand gravely: "I—am a citizen of the United States, gentlemen. Proscribed, just now, it is true—but—it might be I could serve again. There are curious things reported in the Mexicoes. Colonel Travis, I recall, and Crockett—and young Bowie were hot for me to join the Texans in a new republic. And in Kentucky—"

"Ah, but, my captain," growled old Johanness, "what hast thou to do with their miserable politics of the day? The sea for us! D—d be this gabble of the town! Look you, what it has made of Dominique!—sitting, twiddling his thumbs on his fat belly! And Beluche—taking off and putting on his gilt chapeau, ticklishly, as if fearing to get dust on his gewgaws!"

"Cease your spewing," growled the Cartagenian, "I sail with proper commissions, I would have you know, from Colombia."

"And be d—d with your papers!" roared the old man. "Admiral? There does not live one for me!—nor councilors, nor nobility—young sprigs of dandies coming to pat our hard salted fists!"

He glared about, his gaze lingering on Count de Almonaster.

"Old man," said Raoul quietly, "you had better keep your place."

"D—n!"

The old sea dog was starting up; Lafitte laughingly laid hands upon him.

"Sit down, old tar-ears! I shall beg pardon for you. I know—I know! Old days—old ways—it is hard to put things by." He put his hand affectionately on Johanness' shoulder. "Do you remember the time I sent you with the eight-oared barge to conduct Mr. Grymes back to the city—after the feasting, roaring week at Grand Terre?"

"Aye," interrupted Beluche, "the famous attorney who defended you and Pierre in the first indictment they issued against you for piracy!"

"And you sent word, captain, that if the lawyers wished their fee they must come fetch it from our fort at Grand Terre. The city wagered that Grymes would never return alive, but do you recall the week he ventured? The feasting, dancing, the drinking until the skies rocked, all in our guest's honor!"

"Aye, and me—" Johanness beat his hairy chest: "I, the bo'sun, it was, to whom Captain Jean intrusted the lawyer on the return. By the river we came, eight armed fellows pulling the barge and roaring chanties! At every plantation wharf we stopped, the advocate breaking bottles of the finest vintages o' Spain and shouting greetings. And on the deck, piled in the sun, forty thousand dollars in gold where all might see! Every gentleman's house from English Turn to the city gate must be routed out that Mr. Grymes could gamble against his hosts, so that, when our villains finally haled him into town, not a dollar did he have left of all his fee. E-oh!—even now they talk of it! Not in all Louisiana such princely hospitality as the famous attorney found in the house of Lafitte, the pirate!"

"Old man," smiled the leader, "I never liked that word!"

"I know. That is all I ever held against you, Jean! I recall the day you shot Gambio through the heart for boasting of a bit o' blood he let. You were ever a bit finicky for some o' our fo'cas'le scum, but I swear they loved you, Jean!"

The adventurer looked at the grim faces about the table. The silent Beluche, the complacent Dominique, the hairy bo'sun; and then the slender elegance of the Count de Almonaster. And to him he spoke gravely.

"You are hearing much, young sir. The city sleeping, and these old comrades creeping by stealth to greet me here."

"I've heard the old tales. I've dreamed—" he laughed slightly. "These are dull days. The gallants of the town at their ecarte, or projecting some gentleman's masquerade, or dancing attendance at the opera. They boast of making a little Paris of New Orleans; but who, Monsieur, wishes a little Paris after knowing the big one?"

"Your modesty, sir, is refreshing, after these town gallants who make one trip to the Oaks, receive a rapier tip in the arm, and the rest of their days deem themselves bravos who have the ladies in a flutter."

"I have been twice abroad," said Raoul. "I saw a bit of pistoling in the Indies during the blacks' revolt. And there, among a shipload of refugees, I met the affair that sobered me—made a man of the boy, Monsieur!"

"A woman," smiled Sazarac.

"A child. I fought for her in the flames of her father's house. When I lay wounded they sent her away, orphaned, in the ship captain's charge." He laughed: "That is all—a trifle of adventuring to Jean Lafitte!"

"Bah!" growled Johanness, putting back his long gray hair: "Women!" Then, seeing the figure on the bench that had snored the hour through, he forthwith kicked this hard couch from under it. An uncouth disheveled man struck the stones, rolled over and cursed them all.

"Jarvis!" growled the bo'sun. "He has seen more than you, Monsieur de Almonaster, and he has never handled a pistol in his life!"

"Jarvis?" Sazarac started back. "You did not tell me!"

"He is utterly drunk. We did not dare tell him in a public place because of his clattering tongue. Ho, Jarvis! At the drink again!"

The profligate staggered up, rubbing his eyes. "D—n! Old rumheads, mulling away of Barataria days! Of Jean again—" He broke off staring: "Do I dream—still in the liquor!"

"It is I, Jarvis. Come, clear your eyes!"

Jarvis reeled forth. "Jean, whom I painted at the famous isle! Jean!"

"Not so loud," grunted Dominique. "I hear the watchman whingwhanging down the street."

"Jean!" The two friends were greeting fondly. "Jean! I knew you lived. Jean of the Petral—my hand upon him!"

"And what have you done with your genius, lad?"

"I have learned to drink," retorted Jarvis, "drink and debt. Into jail and out again. Betimes I belabor Dominique for a dollar. He gives it with fatherly advice, and hales me to Pere Antoine for reformation. Between the alderman and the priest I am utterly lost."

"A pity," murmured De Almonaster. "The best families would befriend him, but he is oftener in the gutter than elsewhere."

"This week the sensation is choosing the crew to man the Napoleon ship."

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

EDUCATION WEEK IN SCHOOLS

American Legion Will Have Generous Aid in Conducting Program Beginning November 18.

The observance of American Education week, a movement sponsored last year by the American Legion, which received whole-hearted co-operation from school, church and civic authorities, has again been designated, and will begin Sunday, November 18. At the time set, Legion posts throughout the country will unite in an effort from which practically every school child in the United States may profit.

The slogan for the 1923 observance is, "Visit the Schools Today," and is aimed to enlist more interest in the institutions of learning on the part of the parents. Garland W. Powell, director of the National Americanism commission of the American Legion, has outlined a definite program for the movement, which is receiving indorsement of school authorities in every section of the country.

Each day of the week has been set aside for some particular consideration, according to the program offered by Mr. Powell. Beginning with Sunday, when pastors of all denominations will deliver sermons on the relationship of the church and the school, all phases and influences of school life will be touched. Monday, according to the program, is to be known as American Constitution day, when it is hoped that a concise idea of citizenship may be obtained by consideration of the instrument which made it possible. The observance of this day is especially calculated to reach parents of the students. Patriotic customs and methods will form the basis of the next day's observance. This is to include flag etiquette and similar practices of a patriotic nature which the Legion has played an important part in formulating. The fourth day is to be of particular significance to schools and to the teachers. It is to be known as "School and Teacher day," and topics of training of instructors, adequate pay for teachers and bettered facilities for schools. "End-Illiteracy day" is the title suggested for Thursday. Formulation of plans to bring about study of reading and writing for both children and adults will be the aim for this day. One of the most vital features of the entire school program will be considered on Friday, when community development and its relationship to schools of the nation will be topics. On Saturday efforts will be given over to outlining a program for education of American youth along physical lines. Adequate playground facilities and general physical education will be urged.

Garland W. Powell.

Through efforts of the Legion and school authorities, who co-operated in the movement last year, many thousands visited the schools daily. The response to the observance was general, and the more ambitious program of 1923 is expected to bring about even a wider recognition of the possibilities of the Legion's program.

Support of the National Education association, state school authorities, and other educational leaders promise to make the Legion's education week of nation-wide import and benefit.

POST WILL CONDUCT SCHOOL

West Palm Beach (Fla.) Organization Is Financing Kindergarten; Extend Program in 1924.

The American Legion is performing a distinct public service in West Palm Beach, Fla., where the local post is financing and standing sponsor for a kindergarten. Seventy-five children will attend the Legion's school during the winter months.

The kindergarten is under supervision of the city school authorities, but could not have been opened except for the participation of some outside agency to furnish necessary funds. Realizing the necessity for the early training of the little folk, the Legion has taken steps to supply the need, and has employed two teachers.

It is anticipated that a waiting list will be maintained in order to care for the demands of parents. If the term is successful, the Legion may extend its program in 1924.

Of Corsets True.

Mayme—Girls are not as staid as they used to be.

Corinne—No. They park them at the dances now.—American Legion Weekly.

WHO'S WHO—and WHEREFORE

Woman Heads Home Economics Bureau

Dr. Louise Stanley, formerly dean of home economics at the University of Missouri, has taken charge of the newly established bureau of home economics of the United States Department of Agriculture. Secretary H. C. Wallace selected her for the position.

Dr. Stanley had been at the University of Missouri since 1907, and had successively filled positions as instructor, assistant professor, associate professor and dean. The development of the department, it is said, was largely due to her efforts, and a year's leave of absence, spent in studying home economics methods throughout the South and in the Pacific coast states as a special agent for the board of vocational education, had given her extensive experience and a wide acquaintance.

In 1913 she was a delegate to the international conference of home economic teaching held at Ghent, Belgium.

Dr. Stanley was born in Nashville, Tenn., and reared on a farm. She is a graduate of the University of Nashville. She took an M. A. degree at Columbia in 1907, and in 1911 was awarded the Ph. D. degree at Yale.

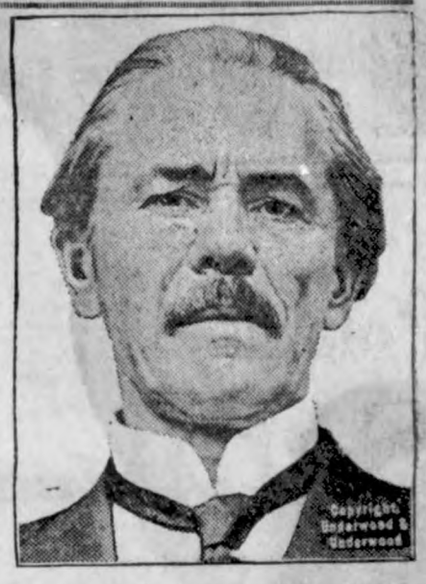
Evolution Ranks With Gravitation Law

Dr. Henry Fairfield Osborn, president of the American Museum of Natural History, is a noted paleontologist, but is also a man of many activities. He is the author of several books and the recipient of many decorations, including the Darwin Medal of the Royal Society of London. He has been active in the campaign to save the redwoods of California. And here is what he says of the doctrine that worries W. J. Bryan:

"Evolution takes its place with the gravitation law of Newton. It should be taught in our schools simply as nature speaks to us about it, and entirely separated from the opinions, materialistic or theistic, which have clustered about it. This simpe direct teaching of nature is full of moral and spiritual force, if we keep the element of human opinion out of it. The moral principle inherent in evolution is that nothing can be gained in this world without an effort; the ethical principle inherent in evolution is that the best only has the right to survive; the spiritual principle in evolution is the evidence of beauty, of order and of design in the daily myriad of miracles to which we owe our existence."

As to the redwoods, he says they are "unquestionably the finest trees nature has produced in the whole history of creation. They rank high among the natural wonders of the world."

This Man's Study Is His Fellow Man



Dr. Ales Hrdlicka of the United States National museum is now delivering a series of lectures on anthropology at the University of Prague. This noted anthropologist has had a busy summer. He attended the international congress of anthropologists at Rio de Janeiro as the delegate from the Smithsonian institution and the American Anthropological association. Later he headed a party of American scientists who studied prehistoric remains found in England, Isle of Jersey, France, Belgium and Germany.

Dr. Hrdlicka has recently studied the color of eyes, hair and skin among old American families in which there has been no admixture of foreign blood for three generations or more. The observations were made on nearly 2,000 individuals, male and female, from north and south, and of varying ages. Among the many conclusions reached, the following are perhaps of most interest: Two-thirds of the males and three-fourths of the females showed skin that may be classed as medium. In only 5 per thousand in males, but 52 per thousand in females, was the skin plainly lighter than medium. Only one among 16 males and one among 14 females has real blond hair. In approximately 1 per cent in males and but a little more in females, the hair was fully black. In 2 per hundred of males and 5 per hundred of females the hair is red or near red.

Col. Tarafa, Called "Stinnes of Cuba"

When the Tarafa bill passed the Cuban house of representatives by a vote of 89 to 9 and there was every indication that it would be passed by the senate everybody wanted to know, "Who is Tarafa?" For the bill approves the consolidation of all the railroads, closes privately-operated sugar ports and compels shipments in and out of the country to be made through 25 specified national ports.

Well, Col. Jose M. Tarafa, according to stories, is the Stinnes of Cuba, whose holdings are estimated from $25,000,000 to $40,000,000. He might almost be said to be a commuter between Havana and New York, so often does he visit his Gotham offices. He was a schoolboy in the United States in the early '80s. He got his title fighting against the Spaniards and was chief of staff under General Garcia. There is no question that he is a power in Cuban politics; it was he who got the recent budget bill passed in 24 hours. Yet it is said he despises politics and that his influence is economic. He has never held office. Of his policies he says:

"Public opinion is behind them. Labor unions, merchants, residents in the twenty-five ports of entry recognize that the future development of Cuba rests upon transportation. The sugar industry of Cuba is in the hands of the 180 individuals or corporations, most of whom have their own private ports of shipment and railroads. Consequently, the return to Cuba is in the shape of wages paid to labor. For a year I talked this matter over with those interested."

"Ball Band" Rubber Goods--

I have sold BALL BAND Rubbers, Overshoes, Boots, etc., for years and have never had a single complaint on any pair I have sold.

All other Rubber Companys admit there is no better made than BALL BAND. So why buy a cheap, inferior grade—Buy BALL BAND and you buy the best.

A full line of Boots, Rubbers, etc., in all styles on hand.

Frank Gruetzmacher

Reliable Repairing--

When your car needs a complete overhaulng—or even if its only a small job of adjusting some part, bring it to us. Our shop is well equipped with the right kind of tools to turn out a good reparjob—large or small, it will receive careful attention.

Farmers! Bring us your repairing. Now is a good time to look over your machinery and have it repaired—this will save you time in the sprng.

Our Blacksmith Shop is up-to-date in every respect and we know we can please you and give you prompt service.

Try us once and you'll be convinced.

TIRES and TUBES

AUTO ACCESSORIES

Etchen Bros.

(Successors to F. H. Ridder)

GARAGE REPAIRING BLACKSMITH SHOP

Five-Years General Practice.

Dr. D. . Anderson

Graduate Veter[illegible]an

Office at Kahrs' Drug Store Phone 4009

Klemme [illegible]a

Let Us Be Your Friend In Need--

Perhaps you, like others, often wish for a friend who could give you good sound advice on financial matters.

Most men make money easily. Their chief difficulty lies in retanng t. They make unfortunate investments because they have neither time nor experience nor the facilities to properly safeguard the ventures.

If there s any need for information—ask us. Our officers are especially fitted by their intimate contact with busness conditions and ther knowledge of securities to help in the safe investment of surplus funds.

ACertificate Of Time Deposit will start you on the road to success.

We pay 5 per cent on time deposits.

State Savings Bank

Klemme Iowa

News of Klemme and Vicinity

D. D. Ross was here from Garner on business yesterday morning.

FOR SALE—My house and three lots. J. W. Waterman. tf

Legion meeting October 23. All members should be present.

Rev. A. W. Gauger was a Ganrer visitor Monday.

Mrs. Frank Shaw, of Garner, was here on busines last Thursday.

LuVerne Smith and Al Davidson drove to Ringsted, Iowa, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lewis drove to Eldora, Sunday.

Paul Grange is enjoying a visit from his father, from Ruthven, Ia.

Court is in session at Garner this week.

W. F. Pavey was at Belmond on business yesterday.

Peter Peterson and wife of Goodell were Klemme visitors Tuesday.

Alley Williams, from Hartley, Ia., was visiting Klemme friends Tuesday.

For Sale—My 160 acre farm in Liberty twp. next 30 days at $165 per acre. John Terhufen. N2p

Walter Johnson, Ulrich Hippen, Henry Suckow and Al Emerson all drove to Iowa Falls Sunday.

Sunday was a beautiful autumn day and many took advantage of it for long drives.

Mr. and Mrs. R. A. McConn were visiting with Clear Lake friends last Sunday.

Miss Florence Trumbell, of Mason City, visited with Klemme relatives Sunday. a

Dr. and Mrs. C. A. Hefty, of New Glarus, Wisconsin, were visiting in Klemme several days the past week.

Mrs. Alvin Stokesbarry underwent an operation for appendicitis at a Mason City hospital Monday.

County Supt. J. R. Baggs was in town on business last Thursday and cast his critical eye on our school house with a satisfactory o. k.

Mrs. Beuford Meyer and son, of Hancock, Minnesota, are in the city for a visit at the Clarence Larsen home. The ladies are sisiters.

Mrs. M. O. Barr enjoyed a visit from her mother Sunday. She was accompanied by Mrs. Orville Burgess and baby of Spirit Lake.

Al Emerson and LuVerne Smith returned Friday afternoon from Des Moines where they had been on a business trip.

Mrs. H. Harberts and daughter, and Mrs. Brass, of Goodell, were in this city Saturday vistng and shopping.

Mesdames Jim Miller, Chadbourn and Mr. and Mrs. Runsie, of Clear Lake were visiting friends and also shopping here last Thursday.

Charlie Luick came over from Clear Lake Sunday for a viist with his family here. He was accompanied by Albert Luick.

J. Jorgenson came over from Garner Tuesday for several days visit with his son and family, R. A. Jorgenson.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Gram and two children of Salisburg, Iowa, came Saturday evening for a visit at the Chris Gram home.

An old time invitation dance was given at the Idle Hour last Thursday evening which was enjoyed by all.

Mrs. Fred Stockwell enjoyed a visit from her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Nihoof, of Belmond, who were here last Friday.

Mrs. J. W. Brooks and daughter, Laura, moved to Belmond Monday. They have resided here for several years now and have a host of friends who will miss them.

This community had another good rain Monday night. Walt Bloom got back to California just in time to escape some chilly weather.

Mrs. Fred Musfelt, and her granddaughter, Laura Lanahan, returned yesterday afternoon from Clarion, where they had visited with relatives for the past week or more.

The local sugar beet crop is being harvested and hauled to the Klemme beet dump. Mr. and Mrs. Tom Hake are in charge of the weighing, grading and dumping here for the Belmond Sugar Co.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Elder from Linden, Washington were here the later part of the week for a visit with relatives. They are an uncle and aunt of John Day, Ralph Elder and Mrs. Al White of this place.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Blank and children, and Mrs. Blank's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Larsen, of Minneapolis, were over Sunday visitors at the Tom Blank home, and with other Klemme relatives and many friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Kluckhohn and sons left Sunday evening by auto to Mason City and from there took the train for Illinois. Mrs. Kluckhohn received a telegram Sunday stating that her mother was in a serious condition; and so they at once left for Illinois.

Guaranteed Hemstitching and Picoting Attachment. Fits any sewing machine. Makes beauiful work. Literature and testimonials free. $2.50 prepaid or sent C. O. D. LaFlesh Hemstitching Co., Dept. 2, Sedalia, Mo. adv 1p

Quite a number of Odd Fellows from here and vicinity were at Garner Monday night to hear the Oriental Band from Mason City. There were also some doings after the concert at the Odd Fellows Hall. No doubt some poor candidate had to exercise the much talked of goat.

J. J. Poort and family have moved into Mrs. Gibbs' house on east Main. Mrs. Gibbs has moved into the post office building which she remodeled to make living quarters. Mr. Poort came from Joice and is the new Standard Oil Co. agent for this trerritory.

KLEMME MARKETS

(Subject To Change)

Thursday, October 18

WHEAT	$1.00
CORN (new)	.70
OATS	.35
BARLEY	.50—.55
RYE	.50
HOGS	6.00—7.25
HAY	15.00—20.00
BUTTERFAT	.49
BUTTER (Creamery)	.48
EGGS	.32
HEAVY HENS	.14
LIGHT HENS	.10
STANDARD SPRINGS	.14
LEGHORNS	.10
COCKS	.06
DUCKS	.11
GEESE	.08

We want poultry--

Honest Weights and Highest Prices--at

Henry Lau Sons

It Is Rumored--

That a fastidious young lady in this town kneeds bread with her gloves on. But that's nothing --we need bread with our shoes on; we need bread with our pants on, and if conditions don't improve we'll need bread without a doggone thing on. Won,t you please remit?

Klemme Co-Op. Grain Company

The Farmers' Elveator

You Can Heat It With A GLOBE Furnace

We Also Carry A Full Line Of HEATERS and RANGES

Jacobs & Son

"THE WINCHESTER STORE"

STILLE'S IMPLEMENT NEWS

VOLUME 1. Thursday, October 18, 1923 NUMBER

Yes, we have no corn pickers, but we can get corn shellers yet; and if you are going to need one this winter, now is the time to get it.

Five Quarts Old Oil+
One Quart Fresh Oil equals
Six Quarts Old Oil.

You can replenish your oil in the crank case of your car from time to time, but you always have Old Oil.

Try En-Ar-Co
Free Lubricating Service

When you come to town and do your trading drive your car in our shop. When you are through trading we will have the old oil drained out and the motor filled with fresh EN-AR-CO MOTOR OIL, and all we charge for is the lubricants used. The SERVICE is FREE. Try it and see how smoothly your motor will run. The manufacturer of your car says it will run better and last longer if you change the oil every 500 miles.

Did you ever stop to think how much feed is going to waste in the corn stalks left in your field? About 32% of the food value of a ripe corn field lies in the hard shell of the stalk. In other words when you pick corn you are only getting about one half to two thirds of the crop; the rest stays in the field.

We have a machine that will grind those stalks as fine as ground oats, and that way the cattle like them. It has a feeder on it like a silo filler, and a hopper on he other end. You can feed corn bundles in the feeder and a hopper on the other end. You same time, and it all comes out of the spout mixed and finely ground. And say! what finc, cheap feed it makes. Feed the stalks and sell the ears, that's economy. You know "The extra bushels are the profit bushels."

Lets quit hollering about the times and figure out a plan whereby we can prosper under existing conditions. Use a Stover fodder grinder.

WHITE ROSE GASOLINE is a tonic for tired motors, a stimulant for weary pistons, and a general blessing to both auto and autoist.

It is a mileage gormandizer. It eats up miles as though they were inches; and it makes milestones look like teeth on a comb.

You may think your business not so rushing, but think of pleasure.

It makes trucks laugh at l and drivers smile with happiness gives that consumptive old m the vigor of a recruit who has three months at a training c WHITE ROSE explodes with jo please you.

It saves making a crank ou yourself trying to start your car a cold morning.

Pure POWERFUL

THE KLEMME TIMES

Twenty-eighth Year—Number 7. Klemme, Iowa, Thursday Afternoon, October 25, 1923 $1.50 In Advance—$2.00 Outside of County

DOINGS OF THE WEEK AT THE KLEMME SCHOOLS

Those Who Contributed to the Basket Ball Fund

F. Arnold; C. G. Waterman; A. J. Kudje; Emma A. Gibbs; C A. Bachman; C. F. Busch; P. Grange; Marvin O. Barr; A. Greiman; M. C. Gram; Clark Bredbenner; Earnest Lewis; J A. Kener; J. B. Crawford; Paul Stille; Enarco Motor Oil; G. W. Kluckhohn & Sons; Henry Lau Sons; Wellemeyer Dep't tore; Northern Lumber Co.; Klemme Co-Operative Creamery Co.; Klemme Co-Operative Grain Co.; G. P. McCullough; State Savings Bank; J. N. Day; J. P. Larsen & Sons; Conrad Quandt; Luverne Smith; Henry Lewis;; E. S. D. Kahrs.

High School Party

There will be a high school party given in the gymnasum this week. Friday, October, 25. The Public Speaking class have charge of the entertainment and the domestic scie nce girls are to serve the refreshments.

GENERAL NEWS

Trying The Fire Escape

Last week Tuesday afternoon the High School and the grammar room practiced going down the fire escape Some looked sort of scared, as they had not gone down it before. It seems that all enjoyed the trip.

All the children received their report cards last week Tuesday morning. Judging by the expressions of their faces, many must have received a grade of ninety or above in their studies.

Parent Teachers Association

A meeting of the parents and teachers will be held at the school house next Monday evening Oct. 29 at eight o'clock. We hope to organize a parent teachers association. All teachers and parents are urged to come.

The school wishes to thank Mrs. Palmer and Mrs. Gibbs for the books they have donated. Mrs. Palmer gave us a set of Messages and Papers of the Presidents. Mrs. Gibbs donated three volumes of International short stories and several other books.

Last week Monday Mr Neese said that all those carrying five subjects would receive a slip of paper to take home for the parents to sign. This is to show that the parents do no objec o heir children carrying eextra studies.

Primary Room

The primary room is getting ready for Hallowe'en. They have had no visitors. Clarence Kluckhohn has been absent from school the last week on account of his grandmother's illness.

Intermediate Room

Leona and Orvis Poort entered the fifth grade Monday morning. They have moved with their parents from Joice, and are living in Mrs. Emma Gibb's house. Their father is in the oil business which he bought from Henry Lemke of this city.

SOPHOMORES

The Physical Geography Class is now studying about glaciers. The pupils are drawing maps of different countries and locating the glaciers on the maps.

The Agriculture class is studying about Plant foods. The class is going to test corn in the near future and also test soil.

Frank Gibbs was absent from school Monday to help his mother, Mrs. Gibbs, to move her furniture in to their new home.

Beatrice Busch was absent from school Tuesday, because of sickness.

The Sophomore class held a business meeting, Tuesday evening after school.

Faculty News

Miss Stacey and Mrs. Rone went to Dows Sunday Evening with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gruetzmacher to take Glenna part way back to Iowa Falls.

Miss Buchan came back Wednesday. She has had a busy week but we are surely glad to see her back.

The faculty entertained the school board at the board meeting held Tuesday night. Oyster soup was served.

GIRL'S SPORT NEWS

The gymnasium is now in use for basket ball. The girls had a practice game Tuesday during the noon hour. Tuesday is the gymnasium day for the High School girls. The girls need lots of practice.

The girls in the grades also have a day for playing in the gymnasium.

The following schedule for the gymnasium days is now being used.
Manday— High School Boys.
Tuesday— High School Girls.
Wednesday— 6, 7, 8, Grade Boys
Thursday— 6, 7, 8, Grade Girls
Friday— 4, 5, Grade Boys.

Boy's Sport News

A baseball game was held at Klemme, Friday, Oct. 19. Klemme vs. Crystal Lake. The game was very interesting. It was a tie in the fifth and sixth innings. At the end of the sixth it was too dark to finish. The tie game will be played out in the spring.

New basket balls have arrived. The boys are being coached by Tregilgus. A game will be held in the Klemme gymnasium, Nov. 9. Every one is invited to come.

Juniors and Seniors

The public speaking class gave the Assembly some very interesting speeches, Friday afternoon. These speeches dealt mainly with education as this week was observed as National Education Week. The following students took part:
Beatrice Busch; Leona Lau: Glen Busch; Adela Schroeder; Maurine Hake; Bertha Johnson; Clarence Elder; Bernice Tanner; Hilary Greimann; Marie Blank; Neota Ridder; Gertrude Johnson; and Dolores Koerner.

The domestic science girls have been serving breakfasts the past few days.

RURAL SCHOOL NOTES

Liberty Twp. Dist. No. 8

Miss Stromer has planned a Box Social to be held at her school Tuesday evening, October 30. They are going to give a play entitled, "Teacher, Kin I Go Home?" Everyone is invited.

The following have been neither absent nor tardy during the fall term:

Charles Velau — Mary Lange
Ray Lange — Kenneth Gast
Glenn Lange — Mildred Gast
Loran Gast

This school has an enrollment of fifteen pupils.

Kermit Stille has been absent from school the past week.

The fifth grade Geography class is studying "South America."

District No. 7

Kermit Schlei was absent from school Wednesday and Thursday.

The following were neither absent nor tardy since the fall term began:
Arlene Woods — Marie Stille

Burnette Haefner was absent from school Friday.

The pupils in grade one cut out Jack-o-lanterns last week.

The pupils in grade one completed their first primer last week.

Avery No. ?

Miss Wilkins was unable to attend her school Tuesday and Wednesday of last week on account of injuries sustained in an auto accident.

The seventh grade entertained the other grades by telling stories Friday afternoon.

(Continued on last page)

Dalea, the new legume, grew 3 feet high between harvesting time and plowing time at Iowa State College this summer.

NORTH IOWA LAND BEGINS TO MOVE AT GOOD HIGH PRICES

Fort Dodge Man Gathers Data On Prices Of Northwest Iowa Land

COMING BACK TO NORMAL

FORT DODGE, Oct. 24.—That farm land in northwest Iowa is selling at good figures, $200 or better, and even as high as $300, is shown by letters received by George A. Rich local loan man, from bankers in the different towns.

Mr. Rich addressed letters to bankers in several northwestern Iowa counties, asking for a report on actual cash farm transactions in their communities. The results are considered very gratifying, and indicate that prices are becoming normal.

From Eagle Grove, in Wright county, are reported cash transactions, at $225 and $275 for March 1, 1924, settlement. From Clarion, in the same county, sale of a 100-acre farm at $260 also was on a cash basis.

At Wesley, in Kossuth conuty, recent sale of eighty acres without improvements sold for $204 per acre, while from Manson, in Calhoun county William Janssen recently paid $300 per acre for a farm in Pocahontas county adjoining one he already owns. Another farm of eighty acres on a graveled road one mile west of Manson sold for $285. In Calhoun county also two more farms sold for $210 and $225 per acre and in Pocahontas county another sold at $250. From Laurens comes a report of the sale of still another pocahontas county farm with no improvements at $200 and another with good improvements at $226.

From Goldfield, Wright county is reported a cash sale of a farm near town at $275 per acre.

Vienna artist says Ameriacn girls are like dolls. Bet he hasn't tried Trials with red clover at Iowa State College show that the plants grown from seed imported from Italy and France winterkill more easily than those grown from native seed.

INDIAN SUMMER IS NOW BEING ENJOYED IN THIS VICINITY

Is Not A Definitely Fixed Season Of The Year

HAS HISTORIC TRADITION

When does Indian summer come is a question heard every fall in this vicinity and particularly ths autumn. A statement received in the official bulletin answers the question. It says: "Indian summer" is the name commonly applied in this country to a period of mild weather which according to popular belief, occurs more or less regularly every autumn following a spell of unseasonable cold weather, known as "squaw winter."

As a matter of fact, Indian summer is not a definitely fixed season in the calendar, but is extremely variable in both date and duration. In many years, moreover, it is an intermittent phenomenon. In other words, there may be several Indian summers in one autumn. Strictly speaking, Indian summer is not a season at all but merely a type of mild, calm, hazy weather likely to prevail at any time in the autumn or early winter. In his notes on the meteorological conditions at Concord, Mass., during the 10 years 1851-1860, Thoreau records the occurrence of Indian summer weather on dates all the way from September 27 to December 13, a range of 77 days.

In Europe, as well as America it is popularly believed that a renewal of mild weather occurs every autumn, and the dates of its supposed occurrence are more definitely fixed than in the case in this country, owing to the association of the period with the names of certain saints who have fixed dates assigned to them in the ecclesiastical calendar. It is thus known in different parts of Europe as "St. Martin's summer," "St. Luke's summer." "St. Michael's summer," etc., and tradition assigns the occurrence of the season to various dates accordingly.

Bryan says prohibition must stay. So now that is all settled.

Former Klemme Resident Killed In Mill Accident

W. J. Gates Crushed Between Huge Logs In Mill In Washington

WAS BROTHER OF F. GATES

(Everett Daily Herald, Oct. 5th, Everett, Washington.)

"W. J. Gates, 57, veteran Everett mill worker, of 1203 Colby avenue, incurred injuries from which he died in a few minutes at 1 o'clock Friday afternoon, when he was caught between two six-foot logs being handled by a "nigger" in the sawmill of the William Hulbert Mill Company's plant.

Gates is thought to have been standing too close to the carriage on which the log rode and to have been caught when the "nigger" turned the log. He was rushed to the Providence hospital in a Challacombe & Fickel ambulance, but died as he was placed in the hospital elevator. Post mortem examination indicated he died from internal injuries resulting from a crushed chest.

"Gates is survived by a widow, by two sons, Philip and Charles, and by a daughter, Anna, of Centralia. He was a member of the Knights of Columbus lodge here, and has lived in Everett for twenty years. The body is at the mortuary at Broadway and Wall, and funeral arrngements will be announced later."

The above copy of the Everett Daily Herald was received by Mr. Henry Griewe.

The deceased is a brother of Mr. Fred Gates, formerly of this vicinity. He is also an uncle of Mrs. Ben Ridder and Mrs. Ben Reimer, who reside near this city. Mr. Gates also has other Klemme relatives who will mourn his death.

Don't forget Hallowe'en. Steal your own catalog house and use it for coal.

NIECE OF KLEMME MAN IS PRAISED AS POPULAR MAGAZINE WRITER BY REGISTER

Miss Ruth Suckow Gaining A Reputation As Short Story Writer

WRITINGS ARE ORIGINAL

In the October "Smart Set" magazine appears a novelette contributed by Miss Ruth Suckow, of Forest City who is a daughter of Rev. W. J. Suckow of that place, and is a niece of Henry L. Suckow, of Klemme.

The story by Miss Suckow received the following praise from the editor of the Book page of the Des Moines Register:

"We enjoy her stories particularly because we feel that she is doing as little "mob thinking" as any writer we know. Every sentence—every word, in fact,—belongs to her very own experience,—no second-hand phrases for her! Read "A Part of the Institution," Iowans, particularly if you have attended a small middle-western college. And let us know what you think of it."

Miss Suckow is the author of several other interesting stories and novelettes that have appeared in a number of leading magazines.

BLOW FROM BASEBALL BAT PROVES FATAL TO IOWA BOY

CEDAR FALLS, Oct. 24.—Rodney Peterson, 9, died Monday evening as a result of being struck on the temple by a baseball bat when he stepped behind another lad in a game Sunday. The boy showed little effect of the blow during the afternoon but became violently ill early Sunday evening and little hope of recovery was entertained thereafter.

FARM BUREAU WILL STAGE CORN HUSKING CONTEST

STEER BUYER SHOULD KNOW

Study the Market and Know Exactly What You Want Before Going To Yards; Evvard Says.

To buy feeder steers to advantage requires good judgement as to value of the steers themselves and also as regards future in the finished product, says John M. Evvard, of the Iowa Experiment Station, who has been conducting steer feeding experiments for the past 13 years. The feeder who buys his steers well has them half sold.

Some of the essentials the buyer must consider include a study of the market before boarding the train; deciding on relative values of light as compared to heavy weights, thin as compared to finished stuff, so as to know about what to look for before starting. A decision on just the kind of steers to feed will eliminate some dickering and hunting. Sometimes common steers will make more money than good fancy selected ones Choose the kind that your best judgment tells you will feed out the best in your lots.

Then poor financing is "bad" business, Mr. Evvard says. Count your money and see that you have enough to carry the steers until market time. Buy as cheaply as possible and have faith in your own judgement as to values, not that of the seller. Select beefy futured steers that show markings of the favored breeds such as the Hereford, Shorthorn or the Angus.

Mr. Evvard says that in selecting steers look for straight, wide backs, the foundation for developing good loins, ribs and rumps. Buy the loose mellow kind, he says, not those that are pinched and drawn. Buy the blocky, beefy kind and go easy on the "dairy wedge" unless, of course they are purchasable low enough to justify the taking of a chance. Good boned cattle with yielding coats free from vermin and disease, cattle that are free from lameness and injuries are the profitable ones, usually.

A long step to success in the feeding game is to buy gentle steers, Mr. Evvard beleives. Go among the cattle and see if they kick and crowd. Look squarely into their eyes and if they act like they want to chase you over the fence, then buy at your own peril. And horns are out of place in the feed lot; get those that are hornless, or dehorning will cause shrink Finally, look to the price, the condition of the steers, their weight, and be a good trader, take your time, for there will be more on the market later.

CAMP FIRE GIRLS

Interesting Meeting Was Held At The Home Of Beatrice Busch

The Camp Fire Girls held their meeting at the home of Beatrice Busch last Thursday evening, Oct. 18.

Light refreshments were served by the hostess.

The next meeting of the Camp Fire Girls will be held at the home of Blanche Hulse on Thursday, Nov. 1st.

Ethel Wellemeyer, Neota Ridder and Florence Behringer received Honor Beads.

HOW TO MAKE FLOOR ....

Cinders, Paper and Cement All That Are Needed

Here's a way to make a dry and serviceable floor for that new poultry house. Use four inches of good grade cinders covered with two layers of tar paper and three inches of cement on top. The cinders should not give any trouble from disintegration or allow the floor to sag or break, for they are often used in a similar way.

A thoroly dry floor for the poultrp is esential to success, according to the department of agricultural engineering at Iowa State College, which offers this suggestion.

THE TWIN LAKE TOWNSHIP FARM BUREAU TO HOLD CORN HUSKING CONTEST NEXT WEEK

You Pickers With Speed Can Grab Off The Prizes Put Up Here

WHO WILL BE THE CHAMP?

(By Earl Ruka)

The last contest will be held November 3rd, at Alsvig Bros. Farm, 1 mile west of Goodell. The reason for this is that the business men of Goodell are showing such a splendid spirit of co-operation in offering about $25.00 worth of prizes to be given to the best huskers.

If enough contestants enter arrangements will be made to hold a contest October 27th in the northwest part of the township to make it more convenient for contestants.

Rules Of The Contest

Each contestant must furnish his own team and wagon, a standard double box is recommended, and bang boards to extend four feet above the box. A driver will be provided, and contestant will husk one row. At Alsvig Bros. Farm where contest is to be held the rows are 160 rods long.

Prizes and Ribbons Offered

Besides the prizes offered by the business men of Goodell, Twin Lake Farm Bureau is offering ribbons to the 1st, 2nd, 3rd and 4th places. Also arrangements are being made to raise money for a round trip ticket from Goodell to Des Moines to one contestant eligible for entering the Wallace's Farmer contest held near Des Moines late in November. The prize of $8.70 which alone to worth trying for.

The farmer where contest is held will pay the going price of husking to each contestant for corn which he husks.

Each contestant to husk for 1 hr. and 20 minutes.

Wallaces Farmer is offering $200 in prizes; $100 for 1st, $50.00 for 2nd, $25.00 for 3rd, $10.00 for the 3rd and $5.00 each to the next three contestants. The Editor of Wallaces Farmer will be glad to answer any inquiries about the state contest.

To Enter Contest

Anyone wishing to enter Twin Lake Farm Bureau Contest may do so by writing or seeing Earl Ruka, township director, or by seeing your school district co-operator before the dates given above.

Persons eligible for entering the contest are anyone who is a resident of Twin Lakes Township or anyone who has worked by day or month during the past farming season or who has husked corn two years previous to this year and whose intention is to husk this fall in Twin Lake township.

(Signed) EARL RUKA,
Township Farm Bureau Director.

PUBLISHING THE NEWS

The news published in any newspaper naturally does not please everybody. To produce a newspaper that would gratify the whims and desires of every individual would be a difficult job and would probably result in a newsless journal. Keeping incidents out of the paper or coloring them to suit the viewpoints of certain readers is unfair to the general run of patrons.

The newspapers do not make the news. They make events public after they have happened or chronicle those which are scheduled for the future. They are not responsible for court trials, arrests, bootleg raids, labor convenions, political activities and other happenngs in daily life. It is their duty to publish what has occured, colorless and free from editorial opinion.

Hog feed s wasted in overcoming both extreme cold and severe heat. Keep the swine comfortable.

GOVERNORS TO BACK DRY LAW

Resolution Adopted at West Baden Promising President Coolidge Co-operation.

FOLLOWS A STORMY SESSION

Parker of Louisiana Leaves Meeting and Blaine of Wisconsin Calls the Move Fanaticism and Base Hypocrisy.

West Baden, Ind.—A resolution pledging President Coolidge full co-operation in enforcing the prohibition laws was adopted by the governors' conference here, after a stormy debate, in the course of which Governor John M. Parker of Louisiana left the meeting.

Governor Sweet of Colorado placed the resolution before the meeting with a demand for a record roll call. Its adoption, however, was by a verbal vote.

When the conference met, Governor Sweet announced that the draft of the memorial on the prohibition question was completed and ready for the signature of governors.

Governor J. J. Blaine of Wisconsin immediately objected, declaring that "the round robin is an unfair evasion of our rule against resolutions."

"I am opposed to the Eighteenth amendment and the Volstead act and the people of Wisconsin know it," Governor Blaine declared, "but there is no criticism of enforcement of the laws in our state. If we are here to memorialize on the enforcement of laws we should neglect none. This fanaticism is base hypocrisy."

Governor Parker of Louisiana said he would resign from the conference if a single governor signed the memorial.

"The Ku Klux Klan is the greatest issue in America today," he declared. "That question demands the time and attention of this meeting rather than mere words on the Eighteenth amendment."

Governor Pat M. Neff of Texas took the opposite side.

"I have declared martial law twenty times in various parts of Texas to enforce the law and, if 47 governors refuse to sign this memorial, it will go to the national capital with the signature of the largest unit of this republic. President Coolidge has invited the governors to Washington to discuss prohibition enforcement and not the Klan, and we therefore should confine ourselves to the purpose of the meeting," the Texas governor declared.

Governor Parker interrupted Governor Neff by saying that the Klan is seeking to take charge of the Constitution, and Governor Blaine also arose to a point of order. With several governors clamoring for the floor, Governor Baxter finally restored order by vigorously pounding with the gavel.

Italians Win Battle in Tripoli; Four Hundred Rebels Killed

London.—Italian columns in Tripoli attacked a force of 1,500 rebels south of Mount Surata, says a dispatch from Rome. The rebels were dispersed, leaving 400 dead, a large number of wounded and considerable booty. The Italian casualties were ten dead and fifty wounded. Italian airplanes took part in the engagement, bombing rebel batteries.

Says 15,000 "Doctors" in U. S. Graduates of Diploma Ring

St. Louis, Mo.—The belief that approximately 15,000 physicians in the United States are practicing under bogus licenses obtained through the fraudulent issuance of high school and medical school diplomas by "rings" was expressed by William F. Sachs, former examiner for the Missouri school department, in a confession to Howard Sidener, circuit attorney.

Defiant Moros Fortify Hills in the Lanao District

Manila.—The uprising of the Moros in the Lanao district was more serious than first reported, according to advices received here, which state that almost 1,000 Moros sent a letter challenging the constabulary to a battle. The fanatics are led by Datu Santiago, who has fortified the Butig mountains near the Lanao-Colobato divide.

Senator Moses Says Volstead Act Is a Jackass Law

Washington. — A "jackass statute" was the verdict pronounced on the Volstead act by Senator Moses of New Hampshire, chairman of the Republican senatorial campaign committee, when he visited the White House after a swing through twelve states in the East and Middle West.

Four Die in Schooner Wreck.

Pensacola, Fla.—After having encountered two hurricanes and a storm, the American schooner Bluefields of Mobile went to pieces off Pensacola bar. Four men, including First Mate Malachi Ebanks, were drowned.

Four Men Burned to Death.

Farrell, Pa.—A crane operator was roasted to death in his steel cage and three other men were so badly burned that they died in a hospital, when a cable slipped and spilled seventy tons of molten steel.

JOHAN BOJER

Johan Bojer, famous Norwegian novelist, who is now lecturing in America.

ASKS U. S. TO HELP

Lloyd George Says "Join Us and We'll Fix War Debt."

Reparations Dispute Retards Europe's Recovery, the Little Welshman Tells an Audience of 12,000 at Chicago.

Chicago.—David Lloyd George told 12,000 Chicagoans—the greatest audience on his American tour—that German reparations are the most serious factor in Europe's disturbances and suggested America might aid as peacemaker by participating in an expert inquiry into Germany's ability to pay, as proposed by Secretary Hughes.

France's method of seeking to collect by invasion and occupation of the Ruhr, he said, means "revolution instead of reparations" and is "driving sixty millions of people into despair."

Great Britain, said the fighting Welshman, has taken its attitude of strong disapproval of France's violent methods of dunning because, instead of yielding reparations, it gives "nothing but trouble."

"I am profoundly concerned," he said, "about the future of Europe and of the world unless a greater spirit of moderation and restraint is introduced into the handling of this question."

Mr. Lloyd George argued that Secretary Hughes in his New Haven speech advanced the right way to deal with the German situation by setting up a commission to inquire into Germany's capacity, with an American expert among the members.

Germany Again Defies France; Dictator Ends Reparations

Berlin.—"We herewith definitely and finally discontinue any and all reparations payments to France, and are fully conscious of the consequences—that this measure, dictated to us by utmost extremity, probably will signify a break with France." This is the keynote of Chancellor Stresemann's foreign policy contained in a confidential statement to the German press conference.

N. Y. Central Pays Back $23,000,000 to U. S.

Washington.—One of the largest settlements the government has made with a railroad as a result of the period of wartime operation was completed with the New York Central and four subsidiary lines. The lines paid the government $23,000,000. The money largely represents capital expenditures by the government in the road's behalf.

Woman Bandit Holds Up Conductor for $60 Haul

Kewanee, Ill.—A woman bandit held up Fred Current, conductor on a Galesburg and Kewanee electric car, just as he was entering the yard. Brandishing a revolver, she took from him all his money, about $60, and fled in an automobile which drove up.

General Oglethorpe's Body to Rest in Its English Grave

London.—In deference to English sentiment, Dr. Thornwell Jacobs has decided to withdraw the request of Oglethorpe university that the body of General Oglethorpe, founder of Georgia, be transferred to the proposed shrine on the campus of the university in Atlanta.

Halt Funeral Cortege and Search Hearse for Liquor

Milford, Conn.—The stopping of the funeral cortege of James Fuller of Union Hill, N. J., while the police of Milford took the coffin from the hearse in search of contraband liquor angered the mourners and caused the widow to faint.

Ford Drys' Choice.

Los Angeles, Cal.—Henry Ford can have the nomination for president on the Prohibition ticket in 1924 if he wants it, Virgil G. Hinshaw, chairman of the Prohibition national committee, declared here.

Six Dead, Five Missing in Flood.

Oklahoma City, Okla.—With six persons known to be dead, several missing, and damage to property estimated in the millions, Oklahoma watched a recession in flood waters which have inundated many sections.

WOOD'S REGIME BACKED BY U. S.

Island Control Up to Governor, Not Legislature, Coolidge's Attitude.

SECRETARY LAUDS HIS SERVICE

No Misuse of Power Known at Washington, Head of War Department Cables to Governor General at Manila.

Washington.—Secretary Week's cablegram to Governor General Leonard Wood disclosed the Washington administration's attitude on the Philippine question and pledges its support to the governor general in the course he has taken. The cablegram reads as follows:

"After personal conference with the President and recognizing the necessity of bringing about co-operation between the branches of the Philippine government, executive, legislative and judicial, and maintaining the clear line of demarcation between them, which is essential to well-balanced government, it seems well to make the following authoritative statement of the views of the administration here.

"The personal sacrifice involved in your acceptance of your present office is proof of your desire to serve the Filipino people as you have served the United States. You are entitled to the support of the administration, and you have it.

"The controversy with the legislative leaders and certain executive officers is at bottom a legal one. The congress, after full consideration, vested authority of control and supervision over all departments and bureaus in the governor general, which makes these officials directly responsible to him and not to the legislature as in a parliamentary form of government.

"The powers of the governor general have not been exceeded nor misused by you in any instance of which the War department is advised. If the legislature has enacted legislation violative of the provisions of the organic law, such legislation is to that extent null and void, and in so far as it provides for encroachments on the authority of the governor general is in no way binding on that official.

"The legislature has in a number of instances delegated legislative power in violation of the principles of constitutional government. Silence of congress on such legislation does not effect a modification or amendment of the organic law.

"The veto power granted to the governor general is applicable to all legislation, whether it be local or otherwise."

Abraham Lincoln Was Man of World, Says Lloyd George

Springfield, Ill.—Citizens of Springfield who have seen scores of notables from abroad pay homage at the tomb of Lincoln, said that they had never seen a visitor so deeply impressed as David Lloyd George, and never had heard a nobler tribute than his. The former British prime minister was met by a huge crowd when his train arrived at Springfield. It was one of the biggest demonstrations ever accorded a visitor. In his speech at a banquet in his honor he was brief. "I have come here today with one purpose—to pay my humble and reverent tribute to the memory of one of the great men of the world," the former prime minister said. "He was one of those rare men whom you do not associate with any particular creed, party or even country. He belongs to the human race in every clime, land and age."

Masonic Official Resigns After Debate on Ku Klux

Washington.—Judge George Fleming Moore, past sovereign grand commander of the supreme council and inspector general of Scottish Rite Masons in Alabama, resigned from the supreme council after a discussion over the Ku Klux Klan. During the debate Mr. Moore was charged by members of the council with using his weekly publication, "The Fellowship Forum," issued here, for furthering the aims of the klan.

Post at St. James Declined by Former Governor Lowden

Washington. — Ex-Gov. Frank O. Lowden of Illinois declined an offer from President Calvin Coolidge to become ambassador to Great Britain. Since the resignation of George Harvey President Coolidge has in mind the selection of an outstanding western man to succeed him, no westerner having ever held the British diplomatic post since it was raised to ambassadorial rank.

Auto Crash Kills Woman, Baby.

Hammond, Ind.—Mrs. James Raines of East Chicago and her two-year-old son were instantly killed near Harrodsburg when their automobile, driven by her husband, ran off the road. Raines and four children were hurt.

Finland Buys Canadian Wheat.

Port Arthur, Ont.—Finland has entered the market for Canadian wheat as a result of the failure of its own crop. The first shipment of Canadian wheat to Finland is now en route from this port.

MRS. LOUISA K. THIERS

Mrs. Louisa K. Thiers of Milwaukee, Wis., who recently observed her one hundred and ninth birthday, is the oldest living member of the Daughters of the American Revolution. Her father, Seth Capron, was a corporal on the staff of General Washington.

U. S. MARKET REPORT

Weekly Marketgram by Bureau of Agricultural Economics.

Washington.—For the week ending Oct. 20.—LIVE STOCK—Chicago prices: Hogs, top, $7.75; bulk of sales, $6.80@7.60; medium and good beef steers, $8.00@11.40; butcher cows and heifers, $3.25@10.90; feeder steers, $4.35@8.00; light and medium weight veal calves, $8.25@12.50; fat lambs, $10.50@13.00; feeding lambs, $11.25@13.10; yearlings, $8.00@10.75; fat ewes, $3.75@6.50.

HAY—No. 1 timothy, $24.75 Cincinnati, $26.00 Chicago, $19.50 Minneapolis.

FRUITS AND VEGETABLES—Potato market weak in Chicago; demand slow; northern round whites, 10c to 15c lower, at 90c@$1.10 sacked and bulk per 100 lbs., 85@95c f. o. b. Onion markets generally dull, demand slow; midwestern stock steady, at $2.50@3.00 Chicago, $2.50@2.75 f. o. b. Cabbage markets about steady; demand slow; Danish type, $23.00@35.00 bulk per ton in city markets, $15.00@18.00 f. o. b. Eastern apples, demand slow to moderate, markets dull; York Imperials closed at $3.00@3.75 per bbl.; Baldwins at $4.00.

GRAIN—Chicago cash market: No. 2 red winter wheat, $1.08; No. 2 hard winter wheat, $1.09; No. 2 mixed corn, $1.10; No. 2 yellow corn, $1.12; No. 3 white oats, 43c. Average farm price: No. 2 mixed corn in central Iowa, 97c.

DAIRY PRODUCTS—Butter, 92 score, 47c Chicago. Cheese prices at Wisconsin primary markets: Single daisies, 24½c; double daisies, 24½c; young Americas, 24¾c; longhorns, 24½c; cheddars, 23¾c; twins, 23¾c; square prints, 26¼c.

Governor McCray Urges U. S. to Clear Up Dry Law Unit

West Baden, Ind.—Governor Warren T. McCray of Indiana, in an address of welcome to the opening session of the fifteenth annual conference of state governors here, declared that prohibition never can be strictly enforced until there is a thorough house cleaning in the personnel of the national dry forces and the federal prohibition unit is placed squarely under the direction and responsibility of the President of the United States.

Turkish Women Dance in Public for First Time

Constantinople.—The emancipation of Turkish women is complete. For the first time in history Turkish women danced freely in public Thursday evening. The occasion was a huge society affair given by the Turkish military commander here. Society women, who had already given up their harem veils, thrilled when word went out that women would not only be invited but would be permitted to dance.

Wild Ducks Mistake Wet Road for Lake; Dive; Hundred Dead

Champaign, Ill.—Presumably mistaking a wet concrete pavement for a body of water, more than one hundred wild ducks broke their necks after diving from a great height near here. They were found strewn along the roadside. The pavement was wet and lighted occasionally by the moon shining through the broken clouds.

Belgium Pays United States Government $475,000 Interest

Washington. — Belgium has paid $475,000 into the United States treasury as the regular semi-annual interest on notes given for the purchase of surplus stocks in Europe in 1919, it was officially announced here. The approximate total of the sales to Belgium was $28,000,000.

Legion Condemns Klan.

San Francisco.—The American Legion adopted a resolution condemning the Ku Klux Klan, submitted by the Michigan delegation to the fifth annual convention here. It was a compromise.

Senators Favor Waterways.

Joliet, Ill.—The senatorial committee investigating the deep-waterway project already is won over to the plan, Senator Medill McCormick declared in an address before the Joliet Association of Commerce.

JAIL DELIVERY FOILED BY DOG

Canine Attacks Prisoners When They Overpower Deputy Sheriff.

REWARDED WITH STEAK

Youngstown, O.—It has been truthfully stated that a dog is man's most faithful friend. Deputy Sheriff George Callahan of Mahoning county has reason to vouch for the truth of the statement.

Paul Lyden, a Republican, was elected to the office of sheriff in 1921, assuming office on January 1, 1922.

He is a great lover of the canine family, and when a friend presented him with a police dog puppy early in 1922 Paul immediately naturalized him by naming him after his Republican idol, Theodore Roosevelt, and soon "Teddy" was a real deputy sheriff, although not on the pay roll.

The dog was quickly taught to keep watch on prisoners; to make friends with no one other than company selected by the sheriff, said company, of course including the various deputies about the jail.

On the night of September 17, Deputy Sheriff George Callahan went into the jail to check his prisoners and see that they were locked up for the night. He had no sooner entered the cell block than he was set upon by seven colored prisoners, three of whom were awaiting trial for grave offenses. Fortunately he left the outside door open, something that he rarely had done previously. The prisoners grabbed him and attempted to take his keys and weapons from him. He put up a battle, but was rapidly getting the worst of the scrimmage against the heavy odds.

Dog Attacks Ringleader.

"Teddy" who was reclining on a rug in the sheriff's office had heard the sound of the scuffle. He ran into the cell room, and sizing up the situation,

Went Into Action.

went into action. He grabbed Floyd Barrett, charged with assault, and the ringleader of the mutiny, by the right forearm and dragged him off Callahan, and then returned to the fight and seized Clem Head, charged with murder, by the leg and pulled him to the ground. The other mutineers then became alarmed and fled to their cells.

"Teddy" then for the first time barked, as much as to say, "Come on, all of you," but the challenge was not accepted.

After seeing that his prisoners were secure for the night, Callahan patched up his bruises with articles in the sheriff's first-aid kit, called to "Teddy" to accompany him, and told Deputy Lamont Jacobs that he and "Teddy" were going for a walk.

"Teddy" refused to tell where the stroll took Callahan and himself, but there is a persistent rumor that it led to a restaurant a short distance from the county jail, and that the deputy bribed "Teddy" to remain his faithful friend. At least he was seen to pay for a T-bone steak, while he dined on coffee and.

When Sheriff Lyden returned from Columbus, where he had gone to commit a prisoner to the penitentiary, he rewarded his faithful canine with a brand new collar.

Battles Forty Officers; Afraid of Little Wife

Chicago.—It took 40 policemen to subdue Morrow Harding, when he was arrested for mental observation.

"Save me, judge," the man cried in terror when his slim little wife appeared in court.

Mrs. Harding was forced to leave the court room before her husband, who is six feet six inches tall, could be convinced he was safe.

Hazing Causes Youth's Suicide.

New Salem, Ind.—After being hazed by fellow high school students, Vernon A. Walke, sixteen years old, committed suicide. Brooding over the hazing caused the act, the boy's parents said. Police have begun an investigation.

.. Hawkeye .. State News

Interesting Items Gathered From all Parts of Iowa

The voters, 116 to 80, voted for the $35,000 bond issue for a municipal lighting plant at Wyoming.

Muscatine has been chosen as the location for the 1924 synod of the Iowa English Lutheran church.

Marshalltown is to become a big distributing point for Gunnison district, Colorado, Hereford cattle. The first sale of 1,500 head is to be held Thursday, Nov. 15.

Three persons were killed and 101 were injured in automobile accidents in Des Moines during September, according to the monthly report of Police Chief Hammond.

Iowa is one of the strongest states in the Camp Fire Girls' movement, in the opinion of the national field executive after a month's survey of Iowa towns and rural communities.

Clarion is now surely proud of its little city as the paving crew has just finished five miles of pavement, or sixty-nine blocks, of main and residence streets and several of its alleys.

Lencx College and the University of Dubuque will not be included in the pending campaign of Iowa Presbyterian Colleges for a $2,000,000 endowment fund, the Iowa synod has decided.

In the group of which Iowa is part, made up of Minnesota, Missouri, North Dakota, South Dakota, Nebraska, and Kansas, the average of home owners is 564 out of each 1,000 families, as against 581 for Iowa alone.

Township directors of the Polk county farm bureau are holding meetings of the co-operators in the annual membership campaign. The paid up membership according to the present record of the county agent, is 773.

Farmers should not pay more than five cents a bsuhel for having their corn husked except when corn is on the ground when six cents was allowed, according to a decision reached by the Benton county farm bureau board.

More than four thousand disciples of the hunt have been licensed in Polk County since July 1, to pursue their favorite game in season in the state of Iowa, according to figures obtained at the office of the county auditor.

Plans to throw the influence of Iowa's dry constituency numbering into the tens of thousands behind a movement to secure more strict prohibition enforcement legislation from congress at its next session are announced by the Superintendent of the Iowa Anti-Saloon league.

Nine hundred men and 150 women at the University of Iowa are working all or part of their way through school this year, according to the dean of men and the dean of women.

In twenty-five miles between Postville and Monona there are twenty-six railroad crossings.

Buyers from all over eastern Iowa attended the first cattle feeder auction held at Cedar Rapids by the Cattle Feeders Exchange. Despite muddy roads there was an estimated attendance of 500. The cattle went to five different counties. Two hundred twenty-five head of yearlings averaged $39.75 a head; 320 2-year olds averaged $52.75 a head, and 208 3-year olds averaged $61.55 each.

Possibly the first man in Marshall county to begin the corn husking season this year was W. R. Wallace, of Beaman, who began Wednesday, Oct. 10. He uses a husking machine and is said to follow the practice of turning in from 100 to 125 late spring pigs on the field sa he leaves it with his husker. The late pigs are said to be more diligent rustlers than those who have reached a maturer stage in life.

Boys and girls of Iowa are this month preparing thousands of Christmas boxes to be sent to boys and girls in warstricken and Asiatic countries through the Junior Red Cross. The Red Cross has announced that more than 100,000 Christmas boxes will be sent to children abroad this month. They will be intended chiefly for poor children in Albania, Montenegro, Belgium, Italy, France, Rumania, Austria, Poland and the near East.

Appointment of 30 inspectors to administer the county area plan of bovine tuberculosis eradication has been authorized by the committee on retrenchment and reform in Iowa, and the inspectors will work full time. Besides these, there are nine inspectors now under the department, working under the old state and federal agreement. Under the new plan, expenses and salaries are paid by the counties accepting the law after state and federal funds have been exhausted.

Work has been started out of Monroe for the completion of four miles of graveled road left unfinished from last year's contract. When completed people traveling the White Pole Route will have a graveled road across Jasper county.

"Art begins at home," has been adopted as the guiding spirit of the year's program of the art department of the Des Moines Women's club. Club members will be given adresses on art treasures in the city, both in public buildings and in private homes at early meetings.

DENTIST

J. L. Hesselhuus, D. D. S.

Office Hours 8-12 1-5:30

Office Opposite State Savings Bank; In Schaffer Bldg.

Evening Work By Appointment Only

Klemme, Ia. Phone 81

TYPEWRITER RIBBONS
All Makes

Typewriter Ribbons for sale at the Times Office all of the Standard makes. Ribbons 75 cents each.

BY STORMIZING

your cylinders and installing over-size pistons and rings will more than restore the original power.

PAVEY'S STORMIZING SHOP
Automotive Machinist

Specializing Cylinder Stormizing
Klemme, Ia.

How Money Grows

Two dollars saved every week, or even one dollar a week, soon becomes a sum that you're glad to call your own.

Small, steady, savings, helped by compound interest, quickly grow.

Call and ask us to show you the exact figures. You'll be surprised to see how quickly small savings add up.

A bank account of your own gives you confidence and wins the respect of your fellow men. And when the right opportunity comes, ready money of your own is a big stepping stone to success.

We will be glad to talk it over with you and to lay out a saivngs plan, if you wish.

First National Bank

"The Bank for Everybody'.'

METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH
A. W. Gauger, Pastor

Again we were greeted by an inspiring audience last Sunday. We appreciate this very much and are looking forward to a packed house next Sunday.

The church needs you and you need the church—so let us get together.

In the S. S. Board meeting of Tuesday evening the same fine spirit of harmony prevailed that was manifest in the former meeting. Teachers were appointed and assigned to the classes, and changes were made in the enrollment as required. Two new classes were created. One for the young married people and one for the young people that are not otherwise enrolled. We invite you all to come and help elect your teacher as well as to build these classes.

Morning service at 10:00 o'clock.
Evening Service at 7:30 o'clock.
Epworth League at 7:00 o'clock.
Prayer meeting on Thurs. evening.

A new set of song books of Hyms of Praise have been ordered, so all will be supplied.

NOTICE OF APPOINTMENT OF EXECUTOR

Notice is Hereby Given, That the undersigned has been duly appointed and qualified as Executor of the Estate of August Trampel late of Hancock County, State of Iowa, deceased. All persons indebted to the estate are requested to make immediate payment; and those having claims against the same will present them, duly authenticated, to the undersigned, for allowance.

Dated Klemme, Ia., Sept. 18th, A. D. 1923.

PETER TRAMPEL
(OCt.-11-18-25) Executor.

Typewriter ribbons at the Times Print Shop. Black, and Red and Black for all standard machines, at 75c. There is no better ribbon than the Remington. tfc

CHAMPION HUSKER OF IOWA WILL BE NAMED

DES MOINES, Oct. 24.—The corn husking championship honors for Iowa will be decided on the H. A. Wallace farm near here Nov. 20, it was announced yesterday. The contest will be held under the auspices of the extension department of Iowa State college.

Farm bureau officials throughout the state will conduct preliminary contests during the next few weeks to pick the best huskers from the various districts.

Rules of the state contest are that each contesant must drive his own team and unload by hand.

In Iowa, soybeans have more uses than any other legume.

KLEMME DRAYLINE
Phone 2105
A share of your patronage is solicited. All work attended to promptly and carefully.
Haul coal quick
LLOYD LAU, PR

"INTERNATIONAL BANKER" A MYTH

Otto H. Kahn Refutes Idea That Foreign Finance Activities Dull Allegiance to America.

BANKING REFLECTS BUSINESS

"International Farmer" and Other Business Men Who Sell to Foreign Markets Create Demand for International Financial Service.

The idea that bankers engaged in financing foreign trade and in handling foreign bond flotations are a particular cult of "international bankers" actuated by motives differing from those of other bankers was refuted recently by Otto H. Kahn of New York, in an address before the Rochester Chamber of Commerce.

"There is no such thing as an 'International Banker' in America, as the meaning of the term is generally understood," Mr. Kahn said. "He exists in the imagination of people all too numerous, but he does not exist in the flesh. You might just as well speak of the 'International Farmer' because the farmer sells a certain percentage of his crops to Europe, or of the 'International Manufacturer.'

"The banker maintains, and can maintain, international contact, and conduct international business, only to the extent that American industry, commerce and agriculture are international. True, the banker must take within his purview continuously the conditions of affairs and the current of things throughout the world, but so must the exporter and importer, and so must the farmer take into account the prices and tendencies of the world market in Liverpool.

Banking Mostly Home Business

"The American banker's market is the home market. His success is conditioned upon the capacity and willingness of the American investor to absorb the securities which he offers. His very existence depends upon the confidence and co-operation of the public and of his fellow-bankers—and any banker whose activities would justly create the impression that he was actuated by cosmopolitan rather than by American interests would very soon lose that confidence and following.

"The business which he does for his own account in, with, or for Europe, is inconsiderable as compared to the business he does in America. His principal functions in relation to Europe are to provide the requisite banking facilities for export and import and for travelers. That part of his functions which consists in financing loans of foreign governments or industries has hitherto been, with sporadic exceptions, of relatively inconsiderable proportions as compared to the vastness of the volume of his transactions in financing American industry, commerce and enterprise.

Necessity for Foreign Credits

"In saying this, I do not mean to imply that there is anything that calls for apology in the floating of foreign loans in America and in the loaning of American funds to Europe, provided such loans are considered sound as to security and are made for legitimate, constructive purposes. Indeed, such loans ought to, and I believe will, be made in increasing measure, when conditions in Europe will have become such as to warrant it.

"It is manifest that the promotion of our export trade, including, of course, the export of farm products, requires us, under the circumstances as they now are and are likely to remain for some time, to aid the purchasing power of other nations by extending to them financial facilities to a reasonable extent.

"It is the function of the banker to be instrumental in carrying out such transactions. In doing so, he is the means of serving a useful national purpose, just as he served a useful, indeed a highly important national purpose, in being the means of attracting and bringing European capital to America in former years when conditions were reversed and such capital was nothing less than vital to the development of this country and the realization of its opportunities."

Seattle sailor denies kissing a girl. Doesn't sound plausible. stuffing them with sawdust.

News from Washington. Think coal prices will go up. We made a mistake. That isn't news.

We hate to see pumpkins back again because hearing them pronounced correctly makes us mad.

BASKET SOCIAL.

There will be a basket social given in Dist. No. 8, Liberty Twp. on Tue. evening, Oct. 30. Ladies please bring baskets. Norma Stromer, Teacher, Herman Gast, Director 1p

AVERY TOWNSHIP

Gertrude Wilkins, who was hurt in an auto accident last week, is now able to teach school again.

Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Goll and family were Sunday visitors at the Carl Wille home.

Fred Bachman and family spent Sunday afternoon at the D. A. Marshall home.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cox and daughter, Verneille, of Lime Springs, Iowa, came last Wednesday for a few days visit around Klemme and vicinity. Miss Myrtle Bell who was visiting at the Frank Cox home returned to Klemme with them.

George Buseman and family, Henry Buseman and family, Robert Roths and wife, Tom Roths and wife and Rank Buss and family of Goodell, were Sunday visitors at the Frank Roths home south east of town.

Dwayne Trees, accompanied by his aunt, Miss Adna Church, went to Garner Friday night for a days visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bell and baby were visitors at the Wm. Bell home Sunday.

Silo meeting was held at the G. A. Goll home Monday night. A good crowd was present.

The "Ship Ahoy Club" of Avery Township will meet at the home of Belle and Doris Waddingham on Oct. 27. All members are urged to be prsent.

We Get Further On RED CROWN GASOLINE, And POLARINE LUBRICATING OILS

—Phone—

8505

J. J. POORT, Agent
Klemme, Iowa

STANDARD OIL CO.
Thank You.

Dairy Cattle Sale

AT STOCK YARDS

Monday, Oct. 29

AT BRITT, IOWA

90——HEAD HIGH GRADE JERSEY HEIFERS——90

—Coming 2 and 3 years old, all bred and some springers. A very choice lot of Jersey cattle. We invite the farmers to attend this sale and inspect and buy some of these good choice cows. They will be sold to the highest bidder.

W. H. Ward

Owner

Cols. J. A. Young & B. A. Reemstma, Auctioneers.

Does "Seventy-One Years of Service" Mean Nothing?

IF YOU owned a complicated business, and it had weathered the lean years and was just beginning to pay, would you take it out of the hands of trained management and ask an inexperienced person to run it? Would you?

Transportation is a complicated business, and you are a partner, a user, or both. It has weathered the lean years and is just beginning to pay its owners—the American people. And yet, there are a few radicals who would impair the service of this vital transportation system of America, throw it into disorder, and finally, Government Ownership.

Must American business pay this price? Shall practical experience or practical politics run the railroads?

The Rock Island for more than two generations, under able management, has made it possible to develop the Middle West. It has been a pioneer.

Does the skill and experience reflected in our slogan—"Seventy-One Years of Service"—mean nothing?

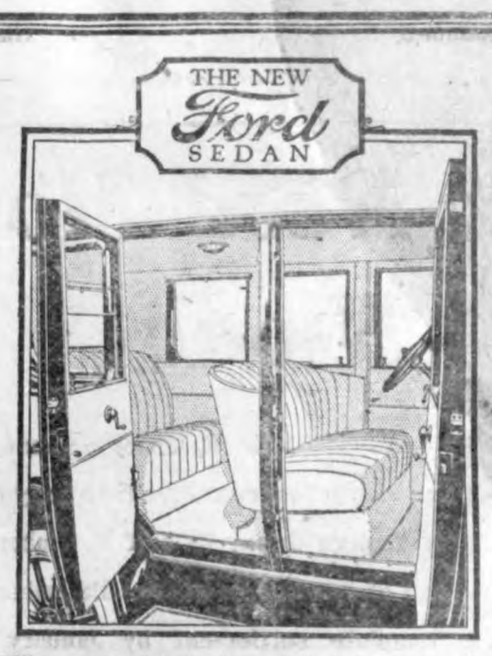
Our interests are mutual. Helpful suggestions are appreciated.

Rock Island

"Seventy-one Years of Service"

Rock Island Lines

J. E. Gorman,
President



THE motoring public has been emphatic in its approval of the new Ford Four-Door Sedan. In all parts of the country its stylish appearance and inviting interior have brought the car instantly into great demand.

Now, at its reduced price, it presents a more compelling value than ever. Although better looking, roomier, easier riding, it is listed at forty dollars less.

$685.00 f. o. b. Detroit

This good-looking, comfortable, and dependable Ford selling at this low price offers an agreeable solution to your closed car problems.

These cars can be obtained through the Ford Weekly Purchase Plan.

Griemann Motor Co.

Ford

CARS · TRUCKS · TRACTORS

Local Items

J. J. Poort and family drove to Joice, Iowa, Sunday to attend the Young People's League of the St. Ansgar Circuit who were having a special day. Mr. Poort took part in the program as musical director.

There will be a Halloween program and box social at the Steffen school, seven and one half miles west of Klemme, on Oct. 30, 1923, beginning at eight o'clock in the evening. Ladies please bring baskets. Teacher, Miss Geneva Schnebly

There are some big sugar beets grown in this vicinity as the samples left at the Wellemeyer Store by Mr. Leonard Sampson will show. One of the beets weighed 14 pounds and 6 ounces; the other was a bit smaller.

A baby girl was born to Mr. and Mrs. Fred Becker last Friday. This is their first child. Grandpa Val. Josten was stepping up around in the clouds and latest reports are he has not come down from his lofty perch.

NOTICE TO CATTLE BUYERS

I have two car loads of good steers for sale. One car load light steers weight about 800 lbs., and one car load heavy steers weighing about 1,000 lbs. per head. If anyone wants to buy cattle to put on feed then call at once. A. C. LAU. 2tc

Mrs. N. L. Palmer left last week Thursday for Iowa Falls where she spent the night with the M. O. Hocum family and the following day left for Topeka, Kansas, to spend a few days there visiting relatives before leaving for California where she will remain.

L. J. Kalvig and Thos. Berhow of Kanawha were transacting business in Klemme yesterday. Mr. Kalvig is at the head of the Crownpeg Checker Co. at Kanawha, who are now manufacturing a new kind of checker board and also a peg puzzle board.

When Mrs. J. W. Brooks was having her house hold goods moved to Belmond last week Monday, Oct. 15, on a truck, some wearing apparel was lost somewhere between town and Geo. Buseman's farm south of town. Finder please return to the Times Office or notify Mrs. J. W. Brooks at Belmond.

Saturday evening Ye Editor and family drove to Kanawha. The object being to visit the Crownpeg Checker Co. plant which is located there. They manufacture a very novel checker board and puzzle peg board board. It was quite interesting to go through the plant and hose iherested are welcome to visit i anytime, so we were informed.

NOTICE—To call your attention! Come and sell your hogs on the Klemme Market at the North Elevator. Call at the Lau Office here. Hogs are bought six days a week, and top prices are paid always. Telephone Office No. 16, House No. 2905. A. C. LAU & SON, WALTER LAU, —Buyers—

Dr. and Mrs. J. L. Hesselhuus drove to Algona Friday evening for a short visit with his aunt.

R. A. Jorgenson and family drove to Iowa Falls Sunday to spend the visiting the M. O. Hocum family.

John Jorgenson visited with his brother, R. A. JJorgenson Saturday. John and family who have lived at Garner the past six months went back to Witten, South Dakota today for the winter.

Ralph Elder came over form Mason City Sunday to spend the day with his family here.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Baker and family of Belmond spent Sunday at the R. W. Elder home.

Henry Luick and his mother came up from Belmond Sunday for a visit with Klemme relatives.

Joe Stearnes and family, and Mrs. Charlie Luick and son, Lee, were at Belmond Sunday for a visit with Mrs. J. W. Brooks and Mis Laura Brooks.

Clarence Kluckhohn and Henry Metzgar returned from Indiana Sunday. They were called there by the illness of Henry's and Mrs. Kluckhohn's mother. She is improving rapidly at the latest reports.

Mrs. Henry Metzgar came home from the Hampton hospital Sunday, where she recently underwent a serious operation. She is getting along fine.

CORN HUSKING PRICE FROM 5 TO 9 CENTS

SIOUX CITY, Oct. 24.—The corn huskers in this part of the state are being paid from 5 to 9 cents a bushel, with the farmers claforing for help. The government employment agency has calls for approximately 1,000 men and has been able to send out but a few each day.

MILES
Per Gallon

One of the standards of performance of any motor car is its mileage per gallon of gasoline used. While high mileage boosts the motor, much depends upon the quality of the gasoline.

RED CROWN GASOLINE

is a mileage raiser. It comes from our pumps clean, full measured and full of pep. Try it and see the difference.

Drive up and fill 'er up!

Lewis' Service Station

Henry Lewis, Prop.

THE CRYSTAL CAFE!

THE HOME OF GOOD EATS

CANDIES— —SOFT DRINKS— —CIGARS

MEALS and LUNCHES

Fresh Bread Always on Hand Buy It Here

Our motto is fair treatment and prompt service
We solicit your patronage. Come and see us.

CONRAD QUANDT, Proprietor

GEORGE ZINN, M. D.

Physician and Surgeon

Office opposite from Hotel Klemme

Phone No. 19

Eyes Examined Glasses Fitted

We Need Money
N-o-w

ALL WHO OWE US on account, and whose account has run more than sixty days, please arrange to pay us half November 1st, and half of remaining balance December 1st, and complete settlement by January 1st, 1924, as we do not want to carry same over into next year.

OUR CREDITORS have been lenient with us but we want to pay our debts in full if possible this year. Our reports to rating agencies are made as of record Jan. 1st, and if we carry too large accounts over our credit is not as good as if we can clean up once a year.

Farmer's Lumber Co.

The Yard of Quality And Service

News of Goodell And Vicinty

Mr. and Mrs. Lamer enjoyed a visit from their daughter, of Fort Dodge, Iowa.

Mrs. S. G. Fuller was in Belmond having dental work done Saturday.

Mrs. W. Wesenberg entertained the Ladies Aid in the basement of the U. B. Church Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Larner were entertained at the Lew Avery home.

A. C. Carpenter and daughter, Thora, entertained the choir of the U. B. Church Friday night.

The High School pupils and their teachers are planning a weiner roast in the Grove Tuesday evening.

Miss Avis Wilson and her girl friend, of Burt, have been visiting at the L. H. Wison home last week.

Jim Trumbell and family of Mason City were visiting relatives at Goodell Sunday.

Father Eardly, of Belmond, was a caller here Wednesday. He also visited at the M. J. Kearney home east of town.

Miss Myli, while visiting in Belmond, was bitten in thel eg by a dog.

Miss Agnes Fuller, who teaches west of Klemme, had a Hallowe'en program Friday afternoon.

Professor Houghton, who teaches northwest of town, is having two weeks of vacation.

The dance in the hall Friday night was well attended. All report a good time. There will be a Masquerade Hallowe'en Dance next Friday night, October 26. Come masked.

Mr. and Mrs. O'Krueg were Hampton callers Sunday to see Mrs. Chris Dieger, who is taking treatments in the Ltuheran Hospital.

Township Recod Books Available

A revised record book for township farm bureau secretaries has been printed. A copy may be secured thru the county farm bureau offices or direct from the secretary of the extension service, Ames. Iowa. The books are sold at cost, 15 cents each.

Corn Picking Time
Is the time to buy
Beef Quarters
Pork Quarters
Ask Us About Prices
J. P. Larsen & Sons
The Klemme Meat Market

CALL FOR--
Storm Doors and Sash here--

We have a good supply of COMBINATION and COMMON Storm Doors on hand. We will get your Storm Sash if not a stock article, in short order.

Don't over look the Storm Door and Sash proposition--it's economical to have both--it will

Save one-third of your COAL BILL--

Northern Lumber Co.
Building Materials of All Kinds

Fall and Winter Wear
For Men, Young Men and Boys

This Fall we are carrying a big, fine line of Fall and Winter Clothing for Men, Young Men and Boys.

Come into our store and you will find the article you want—wether it's for 'dress-up' or work—we have it and at a price that will suit you.

Fall is here and winter is but a short few weeks ahead so now is the time to buy. You will want winter wear in a short time so why not buy nowand get that much more wear out of it?

Look over the following suggestions and then come in and make your selections—

SNAPPY OVERCOATS—
For men and boys in latest styles.

SWEATERS—
A big line to choose from, in roll collar and coat styles in all the latest colors.

LEATHER VESTS—
Our line is complete, all sizes. Also a nice line of moleskin vests in all sizes.

FALL SHOES—
Our fall shoes are here. Also a nice line of ladies oxfords and shoes have arrived.

FALL and WINTER HATS—
Look over our line, we have the latest in hats and caps.

DRESS SHIRTS—TIES—
A fine line of high grade ties and dress shirts.

WOOL SHIRTS—
We have them in the latest plaids, also plain colors.

HEAVY WORK SHOES—
We have some mighty good work shoes—hard to beat.

RUBBERS, Etc.—
Our stock of rubbers, overshoes and boots is complete.

G. W. Kluckhohn & Sons

CAPTAIN SAZARAC

By Charles Tenney Jackson

Copyright by The Bobbs-Merrill Company

"THE PLOT NAPOLEON"

SYNOPSIS.—Under the name of Captain Sazarac," and disguised, Lafitte, former freebooter Barataria, proscribed, returns the city of New Orleans. He recognized by two of his old companions, Alderman Dominique Beluche. At the gaming Sazarac has won much from Colonel Carr, Britofficer. John Jarvis, the city's bohemian of the arts and ra, an oldtime friend of Latells of a woman's face and As his last wager, Carr up a woman, presumably a Custom compels Sazarac cept the stake. He wins. old associates and Count de Almonaster accost him Lafitte. A project of the ful adventurers of New Or- is the rescue of Napoleon parte from St. Helena, and p, the Seraphine, has been ready. From De Almonas- Sazarac learns that the girl won" at the card table is of high estate, and that matter has been made a by- in the city's resorts. Sazfinds Mademoiselle Lestron, llow passenger on a river er a few days before, and whom he had fallen in love, girl and in chivalry fore- his revenge against Carr. admires Mademoiselle Les- He is a witness of the ding and picks up a camellia h the girl had thrown, unced, to Sazarac. Jarvis is erous; he talks too much in cups. His old associates of Barataria days urge Lafitte ake command of the Sera-, ostensibly to rescue Napobut really to fly the black and cruise the seas. He tates.

CHAPTER IV—Continued.

—6—

would be at home anywhere—" e watched the jester who had ed back among the wine tuns ing for his pewter mug: "Do call how our rough fellows mazed when we first tumbled a sacked merchantman down us, and at once—with our pis- his head—he began to bawl ink? As I live, thereafter, on tral, he feared nothing save that xt prize might have more gold liquor!"

did us all honor," mused La- "Eh, the old faces about me!" is the youngest of them all, Raoul, staggered to the table. y," he lamented, "ruined me! treated all too famously by the oats. But, Jean—now, if we ship—eh, well! The drink this the ship! It appears we have ten why we are here! The ship? ave a ship!"

ship?" growled a new voice. Nez e, the small wiry Canary Islander, face most frightfully disfigured saber cut, the most lawless of rmer Grand Terre privateers, an still unpardoned, came to the lamp. "What talk! Not one of could purchase a yawl boat!"

che and Dominique fidgeted. he gestured uneasily to the fas- De Almonaster. It seemed he speak; it was for that they had d him to the council.

ere is a ship appointed for a se," began the count, reservedly. Girod ship, fitted by the citi- for a certain purpose—" h! That Napoleon folly!" ed Johanness: "Child's play! Ah, ship for your eye, my captain!" e grim grizzled faces looked from ptain to the youngest man.

is difficult to announce," con- Raoul. "But I have, this day, over my aunt's interest, and Monsieur Allain, in the Girod I have, therefore, a word as to As you all know, the Napoleon re is not a secret. The mayor, gnac, the Creole families of the are heartily in sympathy with it. e been against it until—Monsieur nique proposed that we intrigue aptain Sazarac to command."

re was a shout—derision, increst, protest. The wilder ones upfeverishly. Dominique would spoken, but Jarvis staggered up, h hand. "A toast! The plot! illains, all—to the plot!" And ured the louder.

he devil take you!" growled Be- "The watchman on the corarac raised his hand. "I, to and? What madness again! The g blades of the town are to man schooner—they would be spanked d if Lafitte was to be known g them!"

have thought powerful influ- ould be brought to bear for your , Monsieur. A rare exploit to ure you—seizing the emperor his prison isle!"

arac laughed idly: "Quite imble. Gentlemen, I beg you—" ship!" shouted Johanness, as if, enly, to his old eyes had leaped dom of far seas days: "The Sera- Jean and a ship again! A aken free in the gulf, and any will serve!"

ave, you fool!" gasped Domisition with aldermen! Ho, you che, with the gilt gimcracks on shoulders—what do you think? the quarter-deck, and you and the lookouts? Name o' G—d! ack at the fat fleets, and then across the line!"

the swamps off Point Le Garde," Nez Coupe, "I can enlist a overnight who once sailed with and Pierre!"

"Hist!" lamented Dominique. "They can hear you to the levee! Let the young gentleman talk; then our captain will have it clearly. He shall be Sazarac until we are cleared, Captain Gaspar Sazarac with recommendations from the Americans of the West. Monsieur de Almonaster will vouch for Sazarac. I, myself, the alderman, have known this worthy Sazarac who is to be the secluded house guest of Monsieur de Almonaster, and introduced aright ere we broach the Napoleon matter—"

Jarvis suddenly thrust his drink-swollen face close to the lamp. He grinned with tipsy awakening. "Why, so—this Sazarac! Ho, Jean!—a woman! You are overnight in the town, and at once a woman!" He fumbled in his breast and brought out a crushed flower, and laid it down with a mock flourish. "Did you ever, Captain Gaspar Sazarac—smell camellias in the moonlight?"

Sazarac stood glancing from John Jarvis to the camellia upon the table. The jester was grinning knowingly. The Count de Almonaster turned a puzzled face upon them both.

"The affair of the English woman," grumbled Beluche. "Twaddle of the gossipers on the promenade. A drunken fool, and an evil jest! Sazarac need not challenge. The scandal is upon Carr and his two women."

But Jarvis continued to leer upon the leader's silent face. "I wish I could paint love in a woman's eye—" he mocked. "Then there should be a mistress with a camellia in her hair at my studio." He turned away to draw his measure of wine.

CHAPTER V

Two Gentlemen of Mystery.

The honorable the mayor, Monsieur Rouiffignac, stood on the stone flags of the City hall, or Principal, as it was yet called from the Spanish days, and looked contentedly out on the rue Chartres. He had come early, before the heat of the day, for some business with his clerks.

"Helgh-o!" sighed the mayor. "A long day for me! The council will not meet until ten—but I shall cut them short! Ah, there—good morning, Monsieur Mudge!"

Mr. Mudge, of the banking firm of Mudge & Fickert, was turning from the street: a tall and immaculate gentleman in high bell hat and new, long, tight trousers outside his equally tight boots; and behind him, the mayor noted, was Mr. Langhorne, the consul of Great Britain. The greetings were of punctilious respect.

"A Toast! The Plot! Ho, Villains, All—to the Plot!" And He Roared the Louder.

"What makes you so early astir, gentlemen?" queried His Honor. "As for me—I am the most lamentably overworked man in Louisiana. The governor sends me vast communications—all in the English, these days, which, unfortunately, I cannot read so well; and Monsieur La Tour, getting up his new city directory, insists that I read his proofs—and there is not a picayune victualer, nor a mender of pots that he does not get in so that New Orleans may claim rank with Philadelphia or New York! La—la! there are too many of us now!"

"You may well say," rejoined Mr. Mudge hurriedly, "complaint has already been made by the English captain—petty thieves made away with some of his merchandise on the Algierine dock. The customs people have pursued them—I believe one fellow was shot in a fracas down Bayou Barataria, near the plantation of Monsieur Berthoud."

"An outrage, sir," protested the consul. "In the name of his majesty I must make representations—"

"It is an affair, sir," said Monsieur Rouiffignac politely, "more for the United States authorities."

"Yes, but they are laughing about the town, sir! Rough fellows of the wineshops and the levees are all agog with this rumor that the bandit of Barataria has returned; and at once an outrage is put on the port's shipping!"

"Hum," said the mayor, "I know. Thirty cases of muskets, by some mistake, put out from the English ship on the dock. The port officers—"

"The captain of the Genaron has protested, sir," fumed the consul; "the cargo was destined for the Mexicoes. But some thieving villains take advantage of the question raised—"

"The Barataria, Monsieur Mayor!" blustered the merchant; "the pardoned rascals of Jean Lafitte! The very rumor of his return disturbs commerce. Look, now—here comes old Gorgio, the crayfish seller—as big a villain as is unhung, pardoned by the President! And do you think he will trouble himself to step off the banquette when gentlemen come by, when he knows that half of Louisiana has come to think of Jean Lafitte as more patriot than pirate?"

"Hum—hum," mused the placid mayor; "some maintain that he saved the city in 1815. Eh, my dear consul!—but we are very good friends now, are we not? Hum—hum—and here comes Monsieur Dominique, who ought to know something about this idle gossip of Lafitte."

Mudge, the banker, bowed stiffly to the portly alderman; Langhorne, with a frown—there were some fastidious gentry who did not care for equality with the pardoned and Falstaffian buccaneer. The mayor turned slyly to him.

"Ah, Monsieur Dominique! The gentlemen ask of a matter upon which you might enlighten us. Lafitte's reputed return!"

The councilor raised a fat hand. "And if it were true, rue Royale would be ribboned to welcome him, I do believe!"

The respectable banker shrugged. "Enough! Mr. Langhorne, we shall take our business to the customs! The city is a trifler's town! And this other jest—the sailing of the Napoleon ship. Mr. Mayor, the folly leaps and grows! Sober, decent merchants entering the coffee houses are badgered by young roisterers to subscribe to the plot Napoleon! Anything for a fanfaronade, even if it brought England and the United States to war!"

Langhorne, the consul, raised a hand laughingly. "The Seraphine, good sirs, will be well watched once these crackbrains put her nose out the passes! His majesty is not atremble at this frolic!"

And with a bow the two gentlemen departed. Half a square distant, the consul turned to the banker.

"Colonel Carr, sir—has me distracted. He brings credentials from Quebec that I cannot ignore, and yet I mistrust him. Styled as a commissioner to the rebellious subjects of the Spanish king in New Granada, he has seemed overbusied up the Mississippi on his way overland."

"You fear Carr's honesty? Faith, the fellow has been too drunken to be dangerous. And you know his brawl with this Captain Sazarac? I should say they are both men of mystery out of the Northwest. The old talk of Aaron Burr's rival republic in the Mississippi valley is revived again; but if England is in it—"

"Perdition, sir! It is not so! He who comes to Louisiana thinking to find friction between the Yankees and the Creoles must be a better diplomat than Colonel Carr, sir—if that is what you mean!"

The merchant took snuff gravely. "We trust that he represents nothing but some malicious fur-traders, sir. Last night, I am informed, he had Madame Page's pension in an uproar, Starting to beat a black girl, he wound up by striking his wife; and then having a set-to with some unknown guest or caller. And the lady who is his wife, sir—is not of mettle to brook outrage."

"Mrs. Carr is of an old Tory family that fled from New York in the first war—bitter against the American government—far more than the British themselves. Then there is Carr's ward—"

"I had heard a famous beauty, sir."

"The young gallants already are agog for a peep at her when she is driven on the Esplanade. But the women seek absolute seclusion, humiliated utterly at Colonel Carr's conduct."

"The girl is of value to Carr's schemes, you think?"

Langhorne took his snuff absently. "That is the question. She was of a family that had great estates in the islands. She is loyal to the Carrs through gratitude to those who saved her life."

The merchant glanced at the clock in the cathedral facade.

"Well, enough of this. The coffee houses have already forgotten the affair of Carr and this adventurer Sazarac."

"This week the sensation is choosing the crew under Bossiere to man the Napoleon ship. Nothing has so tickled the popular fancy of the Creoles!"

"I trust your government does not take it seriously?"

The consul laughed shortly. "We watch it, sir! The clipper may take twoscore gallants out of the city, for if the thing is made fashionable enough, the Seraphine would sail with her decks crammed by ambitious admirals, commodores, captains and lieutenants! Bonaparte, himself, would be astounded at the array of perfumed gentlemen who would greet him in his exile!"

"Bossiere is to command," mused Mr. Mudge. "He, at least, is a seaman."

"I am an evil legacy . . . and I am forty-two."

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

Acquiring Knowledge.

I pluck up the good lissome herbs of sentences by pruning, eat them by reading, digest them by musing, and lay them up at length in the high seat of memory.—Queen Elizabeth.

KASS GOT 85 NEW MEMBERS

Detroit Legion Worker Won Trip to National Convention for His Rapid-Fire Hustling.

John Kass, a member of the Charles A. Learned post of the American Legion in Detroit, made the Legion national hall of fame recently when he enrolled 85 new members for his post. As a prize for winning the contest he received a trip to the Legion national convention in San Francisco with all transportation expenses paid by the post.

The most formidable rival Kass developed in the contest which lasted about two and one-half months was "Pete" Kolbe who obtained 65 members. Both of the contestants worked hard during the last four days of the race. Kolbe obtained 13 new members, but this record was beaten by Kass who speeded up the home stretch and recruited 36 Legionnaires, or nine a day during that period.

The two successful membership

John Kass.

"getters" obtained some valuable information during the contest. One of the surprising bits of information was that the reason why many veterans have not joined the Legion is because they have never been asked to enter the organization. Legion officials cite this fact as a demonstration of the necessity for a more active canvass of former service men.

Both Kass and Kolbe signed up scores of veterans for the Legion in previous membership contests.

MAY ADMIT FORMER ENEMIES

Owsley Favors Permitting Germans, Austrians and Russians to Enter Veterans' Federation.

Alvin Owsley, national commander of the American Legion, created a sensation in veterans' circles when he asked allied veterans to dismiss passion and hatred from their hearts and plan to admit German, Austrian and Russian World war fighters into the Interallied Veterans' Federation.

"Surely there must be some way in which we can speak to the men we fought and make them realize there is a better way of living among nations than continuing battling one another," Commander Owsley declared at the recent convention of the federation in Brussels. "How can we wish to deal with our former enemies if we haven't the moral courage to get together in peace? Maybe there has been no change of heart among our former enemies. Perhaps there never will be unless we are men enough to undertake to carry to them our peace message. France and Belgium positively are entitled to reparations, but hoarding and keeping in our heart ancient prejudices will not bring the peace we earned by our victory."

Charles Bertrand, president of the federation, representing the views of France and Belgium, indicated that he would favor admittance of the men from the enemy countries as soon as they evinced a desire to pay reparations.

AUXILIARY IS TO HAVE HOME

Alma (Kan.) Organization, With Only Twenty-five Members in Small Town, Sets Example.

A memorial home, for use by all townspeople is the objective of a unit of the American Legion Auxiliary in Alma, Kan. The building, which the women workers of the organization propose to erect, will contain an auditorium, a gymnasium, and a service kitchen. On the second floor, quarters for the Legion and for the Auxiliary will be established. While the erection of such a home is not unusual in auxiliary circles, it is an extraordinary undertaking in the case of this unit, which has a membership of 25, in a town of only 789 inhabitants. The women own a site for the proposed home purchased at a cost of $900, and plan early erection of the community memorial.

A La Carte.

We had quarreled at our dinner,
Though I ordered quite a spread.
"It's the woman does the paying,"
She snapped, "when all is said."
Then I tossed the check right at her
And I left her in a daze.
"Have your way," I sadly snorted,
"Here's one time the woman pays."
—American Legion Weekly.

Massed Bands at Convention.

Massed bands from eight Ohio cities furnished music at a special concert at the annual convention of the American Legion held in Springfield. More than 350 musicians participated.

WHO'S WHO in the WORLD

McCormick's Wait for Bride Is Over

"Everything comes to him who waits." So says the proverb and it's come true in the case of Allister McCormick, the young Chicago society man and heir to McCormick millions. Not that he got Mary Landon Baker as his bride. But he did get a bride who did not keep him waiting at the church.

This bride, Joan Tyndale Steven is eighteen, the daughter of the Hon. Mrs. Charles Melton Astley, a niece of Lord Hastings and a member of an old English family quite as distinguished, to say the least, as the Bakers of Chicago. They say she plays a good game of tennis, is an accomplished horsewoman, a graceful dancer, an expert swimmer and a brilliant conversationalist—all of which made a hit with Allister, even though he was still figuratively waiting at the church for the third year for Mary. Allister and his new love met at Le Toqueville and the young Chicagoan perked up so thoroughly that in 18 days he had gained Joan's consent. They were married in Paris.

Spain's Dictator Eyes Latin America

Spain has followed the prevailing fashion in Europe and has a dictator, Gen. Primo Rivera. But Spain's dictatorship has some frills peculiarly its own. It was Spain's efforts at imperialism that brought on the revolution and now Spain is preparing to challenge the Monroe doctrine.

Spain's dreams of conquest led her to undertake a disastrous campaign in Morocco, in which Spanish arms suffered so many disastrous defeats that the army got tired of it and played the role of the Italian Fascista. The result is that the Cortes was dissolved, the cabinet resigned and a military directorate was formed with Rivera at its head. King Alfonso, of course, acquiesced in the coup d'etat and thereby joined the society of dummy kings of Europe.

Learning nothing from the Moroccan fiasco, Spain is now reported to be preparing to revive an old project for federation between itself and the Spanish-speaking countries of South America. Here's Spain's idea:

"The real horizon of Spain lies toward South America, instead of Morocco. We first wish the creation of a United States of South America, stretching as far north as the Panama canal, and then a federation between this new state and Spain, which will have strength and prestige to negotiate with the United States and other great powers on equal terms."

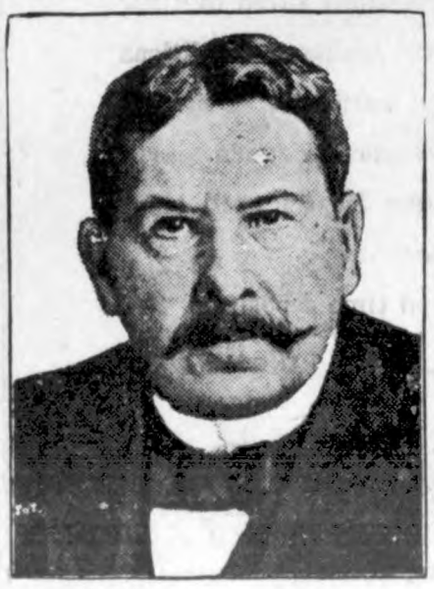
Dr. Meiklejohn and Amherst College

The resignation by request of the trustees of President Alexander Meiklejohn of Amherst college in Massachusetts still continues to agitate the American educational world. Amherst was founded a century ago by the Congregational church, mainly to educate for the ministry and for the teaching profession. Of late years it has been quite prominent. President Meiklejohn's resignation indicates an interesting struggle between the old and the new. The questions raised by the retiring president are several, but the main one seems to be this: Shall trustees and other outside influences be abolished in all higher educational institutions and control given to the faculty?

Dr. Meiklejohn sets forth in the Century Magazine his own views on the question, "To whom are 'we'—the professors and presidents—responsible?" He says in part:

"Since I am not responsible to student or parent, to church or donor, to public or graduate, to trustee or state, then I am responsible to no one outside myself; I am responsible to myself alone. This is a bad argument because responsibility is an external relation. . . . Scholars as well as other men do owe allegiance; they are responsible. . . . There are, I think, two relationships in which the scholar feels and acknowledges responsibility. The first and lesser of these is the relation to other teachers and scholars, to other seekers after the truth. The second and greater responsibility is that which 'we' feel and acknowledge toward the truth itself. In these two, so far as an answer to our question is possible at all, the answer will, I think, be found."

Von Kahr, Bavarian Military Dictator



Even a Philadelphia lawyer could not unscramble the German eggs. However, here is a new portrait of Dr. Gustav Von Kahr, former premier of Bavaria. At this writing he is general commissioner under a state of "ausnahme zustand" (exceptional condition)—which is to say that he is a military dictator and also premier of Bavaria. Upon receipt of the news the German government at Berlin issued a decree proclaiming the same state of siege for all Germany, and placing all executive power in the hands of Minister of Defense Gessler. The statement was given out for publication that this was done to strengthen Bavaria's hands against a possible uprising. According to other views Berlin regarded Bavaria's action as a move toward the establishment of an independent state with Prince Rupprecht as king.

Dictator Von Kahr is an avowed monarchist, but says Bavaria has no intention of setting up housekeeping for itself. Nevertheless, one of his first official acts was to forbid the Bavarians to pay taxes to the national government. Von Kahr is a Protestant, but enjoys the confidence of all Roman Catholic Bavaria.

"Ball Band" Rubber Goods--

I have sold BALL BAND Rubbers, Overshoes, Boots, etc., for years and have never had a single complaint on any pair I have sold.

All other Rubber Companys admit there is no better made than BALL BAND. So why buy a cheap, inferior grade—Buy BALL BAND and you buy the best.

A full line of Boots, Rubbers, etc., in all styles on hand.

Frank Gruetzmacher

Patton's a Great Boy's Store

WHEN you fit out your boys why not come to a store that features boy's wear? Where quality and correct styles are featured and where there is a wide and pleasing variety from which to choose?

Two-pant suits at $8.50, $10, $12, to $20

Overcoats—sizes 2 1-2 to 9—$8.50 to $15.

Overcoats—sizes 10 to 18—$12 to $15.

WARM, serviceable Mackinaws, Sweaters. Flannel Blouses and Shirts.

The best in Underwear, Night robes and Pajamas.

Come and judge—you'll find values. We will be glad to show you.

Patton Bros. Company

Where a dollar does its duty

MASON CITY and Manly, Iowa

fa.
States.
the United circumstances make an offer will gladly Europe to

Five Years [illegible] Practice.

Dr. D. . . Anderson

Graduate Vete[illegible]an

Office at Kahrs' Drug Store Phone 4009

Klemm[illegible]a

Let Us Be Your Friend In Need--

Perhaps you, like others, often wish for a friend who could give you good sound advice on financial matters.

Most men make money easily. Their chief difficulty lies in retanng t. They make unfortunate investments because they have neither time nor experience nor the facilities to properly safeguard the ventures.

If there s any need for information—ask us. Our officers are especially fitted by their intimate contact with busness conditions and ther knowledge of securities to help in the safe investment of surplus funds.

ACertificate Of Time Deposit will start you on the road to success.

We pay 5 per cent on time deposits.

State Savings Bank

Klemme Iowa

News of Klemme and Vicinity

FOR SALE—My house and three lots. J. W. Waterman. tf

W. H. Trafford. of Belmond, was in this city on business Friday.

rM. and Mrs. Chris Blumer were visitors at Clear Lake Sunday.

H. A. Sweigard, of Garner, was a business caller here Saturday.

A large number enjoyed the old tme dance given at A. G. Koerners garage last Thursday evening.

For Sale—My 160 acre farm in Liberty twp. next 30 days at $165 per acre. John Terhufen. N2p

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Trumbell and Florence, of Mason City, were callers here Saturday.

Grandma Fuller, of Iowa Flals, was here visiting Kleme relatives and friends the past week.

Mrs. Fred Chase and Mrs. Lou Avery of Goodell, were Klemme shopers Tuesday.

The weather turned cloudy and some colder today, after a week of fine Indian Summer weather.

E. S. Uben and family drove up from Webster City, Sunday, for a visit at the A. D. Gimer home.

The Royal Neighbors meet the 2nd and 4th Friday afternoon of each month. Members all come.

Mrs. J. B. Spitler, of Belmond, was a Klemme visitor last Thursday.

Chris Jacobs, of Garner, was here several days the past week helping his son, Ed., at the store during a rush.

Mr. Sam Rassmussen and family, of Forest City, and Mrs. J. Jorgenson, of Garner, were visiting at the R. A. Jorgenson home today.

Albert Yahnke and family of Buffalo Center were in this vicinity for a couple of days last week visiting Klemme relatives and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Greiwe went to Center Point, Iowa, Saturday for a visit with Rev. Fred Griewe and family.

Verner Lewis and family, from Hayfield, Minnesota. spent Sunday and Monday visiting with Klemme relatives and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Alden and Mr. and Mrs. Holverson, of Clear Lake, drove over here Sunday to view our little city.

I will not be held responsible for any obligations contracted by Wilbur and Rufus Heifner. J. W. Heifner, Garner, Iowa.

Mr. and Mrs. Lew Lewis left last Friday morning for Balaton, Minnesota, being called there by the death of Mrs. Lewis sister's husband who died Wednesday evening.

The Royal Neighbors will give a public Old Time dance at the Idle Hour, Thursday evening, Nov. 1st. Old time and new dances—come old and young. Have a good time.

Dr. Wesson, of Garner, was here last Friday for a visit with Dr. D. P. Anderon. The two of them combined forces and pestered Ye Editor for a couple of hours.

Grandma Bueseman is seriously ill at this writing. At her advanced age of seventy-seven years illness is a hardship for her. Her many friends hope or her recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. Lyons from Estherville, and Mr. and Mrs. Shoemacher of Mason City, were here on business and calling on friends Monday. Mr. Lyons is the general manager for the Northern Lumber Co.

Rev. Gauger and family drove to Kanawha Saturday for a visit with the Rev. Ortmeyer family. Incidently there was a foot ball game between Kanawha and Garner that lso attracted them.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Coobs returned in their car from a couple of weeks trip spent visiting relatives at McGregor, Iowa, Ingram, Wisconsin, and other points northeast of here.

The Corwith Hustler says Klemme is right up to date—a rural mail route being established and already has a Ku Klux Klan (the Corwith editor spelled it "Ku Ku Klan.") He wins the Koo Koo Klock.

The average size of family in Iowa in 1890 was 4.9 persons; in 1900, 4.6; in 1910, 4.3; in 1920, 4.1.

DOINGS OF THE WEEK AT THE HIGH SCHOOL

(Continued from page one)

Avery No. 2

The eighth grade pupils are taking up the geography series of questions for their eighth grade examination.

Johnny Trample has been absent for the past week on account of corn picking.

Johanna Albers was absent Friday on account of sickness.

Ell Center School

School began this year with an attendance of seven pupils.

The teacher's name is Emma Wacker.

No pupils will try for the eighth grade examinations.

District No. 4 School

Paul Baack was absent Monday and Tuesday on account of illness.

Lawrence Greiman was absent on Friday afternoon.

District No. 6.

This school has an enrollment of fifteen pupils this year.

No one was either absent or tardy within the last week.

The third graders have become rather interested in the weather within the last week. They are keeping weather reports in connection with their language work.

The teacher's name is Miss Ella Barz.

Ell Township Dist. No. 8

The picture of Harding is now completed, and is hanging on the wall draped with black crepe paper.

The following list of pupils have been neither absent or tardy since school started:

Elsina Albers Helena Albers
Mitchell Bock Ethel Swanson
Edith Swanson

KLEMME MARKETS

(Subject To Change)

Thursday, October 25

WHEAT	$1.00
CORN (new)	65.—.70
OATS	.34
BARLEY	.50—.55
RYE	.50
HOGS	$6.25—$7.00
HAY	15.00—20.00
BUTTERFAT	.49
BUTTER (Creamery)	.48
EGGS	.32
HEAVY HENS	.15
LIGHT HENS	.08
STANDARD SPRINGS	.15
LEGHORNS	.06
COCKS	.06
DUCKS	.11
GEESE	.08

Food for thought....

Have you ever considered your ELECTRIC LIG[illegible] COMPANY in terms of the service it renders?

The use of Electricity is so diversifed n modern liv[illegible] that most of us hardly realze its full mportance.

We take the service for granted, and as familiar[illegible] tends to indifference we sometimes lose sight of the be[illegible] fts in contemplation of the costs.

It is when we take thought that we realize how EL[illegible] TRIC SERVICE touches the lives of each, every day in[illegible] year through rendering of beneficial service.

Another matter worthy of consideration is the d[illegible] onstrated faith and labor of individuals who have made[illegible] service possible in your home community.

FIRST: The faith of those who provided the nec[illegible] sary money, and then the labor of the men who built[illegible] necessary generating stations; the pole lines; and o[illegible] equipment, to bring Electricity to you.

The demand for Electric Service is increasing in y[illegible] own Town, and other Communities want the Service, w[illegible] gives YOU the opportunity to be a COMMUNITY BUI[illegible] ER, at a profit to yourself.

This Company offers you this opportunity through[illegible] vestment in it's 7% Convertible Notes, and in the Ca[illegible] Stock now paying% Per Annum.

It will pay you to inquire.

Ask our Manager, or address the Securities Dep[illegible] ment, 215 South Second Street, Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

Iowa Falls Electric C[illegible]

Iowa Falls, Iowa. Iowa Falls, Io[illegible]

Heaters--

Rex Oak

Globe

16 and 18 Inch

Special

A few new Rock Island Hea[illegible] ers at special prices.

Have a few good used heaters an[illegible] hard coal burners.

Order your Stove and furnace repairs, pipe[illegible] Elbows, etc here

Jacobs & Son

"THE WINCHESTER STORE"

STILLE'S IMPLEMENT NEW[illegible]

VOLUME 1. Thursday, October 25, 1923. NUMBE[illegible]

Yes, we have no corn pickers, but we can get corn shellers yet; and if you are going to need one this winter, now is the time to get it.

Five Quarts Old Oil+
One Quart Fresh Oil equals
Six Quarts Old Oil.

You can replenish your oil in the crank case of your car from time to time, but you always have Old Oil.

Try En-Ar-Co
Free Lubricating Service

When you come to town and do your trading drive your car in our shop. When you are through trading we will have the old oil drained out and the motor filled with fresh EN-AR-CO MOTOR OIL, and all we charge for is the lubricants used. The SERVICE is FREE. Try it and see how smoothly your motor will run. The manufacturer of your car says it will run better and last longer if you change the oil every 500 miles.

Did you ever stop to think how much feed is going to waste in the corn stalks left in your field? About 32% of the food value of a ripe corn field lies in the hard shell of the stalk. In other words when you pick corn you are only getting about one half to two thirds of the crop; the rest stays in the field.

We have a machine that will grind those stalks as fine as ground oats, and that way the cattle like them. It has a feeder on it like a silo filler, and a hopper on he other end. You can feed corn bundles in the feeder and a hopper on the other end. You same time, and it all comes out of the spout mixed and finely ground. And say! what fine, cheap feed it makes. Feed the stalks and sell the ears, that's economy. You know "The extra bushels are the profit bushels."

Lets quit hollering about the times and figure out a plan whereby we can prosper under existing conditions. Use a Stover fodder grinder.

WHITE ROSE GASOLINE is a tonic for tired motors, a stimulant for weary pistons, and a general blessing to both auto and autoist.

It is a mileage gormandizer. It eats up miles as though they were inches; and it makes milestones look like teeth on a comb.

You may think your busine[illegible] not so rushing, but think o[illegible] pleasure.

It makes trucks laugh a[illegible] and drivers smile with happine[illegible] gives that consumptive old[illegible] the vigor of a recruit who ha[illegible] three months at a training[illegible] WHITE ROSE explodes with[illegible] please you.

It saves making a crank o[illegible] yourself trying to start your[illegible] a cold morning.

Pure POWERFUL

THE KLEMME TIMES

wenty-eighth Year—Number 8. Klemme, Iowa, Thursday, November1, 1923 $1.50 In Advance—$2.00 Outside of County

OINGS OF THE WEEK AT THE KLEMME SCHOOLS

RNT - TEACHERS ASSOCIA- TION HOLD FIRST MEETING

A parent-teachers association was nized in Klemme, Monday night following officers were elected: Walter Lau, president; Rev. ger, Vicepresident; Miss Rone, tary; and Mrs. Kluckhohn, urer.

Elder, Mrs. Gimer, and Mrs. lemeyer are the committee on bership. Mr. Neese, Miss Stac nd Mr. Gauger are the program mittee. Mrs. Frank Gruetzmach Miss Scharlach, and Mrs. Rid- are the refreshment committee. Stacey and Mr. Neese were ap ted to draw up a constitution. any interesing quesions were ed in which will bo discussed at next meeting. The membership s 50 cents.

etings will be held the last Tues of every month.

More Basket Ball Donators

W. F. Pavey, L. Lau, A. J. Schoen- er, R. A Jorgenson, A G Koern-

High School Party

ast Friday evening the high ol had a party n the gymnasium. Public Speaking class had ge of the entertainment. About y people were in attendance. y interesting games were play- including flying Dutchman and ghbors. Also, many stunts were ed off, which created a great of excitement. The chief one ong these was a play entitled " hering Nuts." There was a con- between the classes. The fresh- and Seniors were the winners inst the juniors and the sopho- es. The prizew as as ack of pea- s.

ut ten o'clock light refreshments e served including wafers, apple d and cocoa. The lunch was ed by the domestic science ss. and served cafeteria style. s Scharlach stood at the door h a saucepan into which each one pped a dime as he entered . The ey she collected was to pay for refreshments and if any was left s to be put in the school treasury. At about ten-thirty the party was r and we all returned home, feel- we had a very pleasant evening. wish to have another such de- tful party sometime.

Mr. Neese Gives Talk

On Monday morning. Mr. Neese e a short talk to the High School dents.

He gave two questions for the opy down and think about. The stions were, "What is the source petroleum; and what is the pro- s of thinking?" Very few of the dents had ever thought of these stions before.

Gertrude Priebe was a visitor at Klemme school last Thursday.

a Kever was a visitor Monday rnoon.

Boy's Sport News

The first basket ball game will be Nov. 9. Klemme vs. Goodell. e will be held a Klemme. Mr. gilgus has started basket ball tice. The boys are green at it, will practice as they are expect- to have a strong team. Every come and boost. Remember the game will be held Nov. 9 in our nasium.

change in basket ball practice announced Monday morning. was held before supper Monday, account of the parent-teachers ciation meeting Monday night.

Faculty News

Miss Rone spent the week at her e at Northwood.

Last Friday Mr. Tregilgus fell and ocated his arm. We are very d to say that it is getting along ly at present.

SENIORS

The physics class is having lab- ory work Friday and Monday of week. This past week they have studying friction.

The public speaking class is stud- ying gesture. Thec lass gave panto- mimic characterizaton of people. While one member of the class did the imitating, the other mebmers of the class guessed who they imitated person was. The class proved to be good actor and alo very good enter- tainers.

JUNIORS

The juniors held a class meeting Thursday evening to elect their class officers.

Gerald Koerner was re-elected pres- dent.

Andrew Wellemeyer was re-elected secretary.

Maurine Hake was elected treasurer.

SOPHOMORES

The English II class have started to study the book, "Ivanhoe."

The Physical Geography class with their teacher, Miss Scharlach, walked out to the sand pit, south- of town on Wednesday after- noon. The class noticed how the sand had been put in layers by the glaciers.

The agriculture class, with their teacher, Mr. Neese, took a feld trip, Wednesday afternoon, to judge corn in the corn field west of Koerner.'s The trip proved to be verp interest- ing to the class. The class started experiments in germinating seeds the same afternoon.

Grammar Room

The daily program was changed, so as to get longer recitations in Physiology and Geography by alter- nating days.

Alvin Lauden was happy to have his mother home again from the hospital, and much improved in health.

Elmer Schwartz worked on the railroad last week.

Intermediate Room

The pupils and their teacher, are getting ready for a Hallowe'en par- ty which they will have Wednesday afternoon. It is their first partp this term, and no doubt the young- sters will report a very good time.

Miss Flessner, gave her pupils in the fourth grade a wrtten lesson in geography the other day. One of the questions she asked was: "Name the largest river in the U- nited States."

One of the answers she reveived was: "The Misses Sippy." ?

Primary Room

The primary room is going to have a Hallowe-en party Tuesday a- fternoon. The first grade know all their consonents and ou combina- tions is phonics. The third grade have learned the Roman numbers up to twenty five. Verl Krouse brought some oak leaves which were used to decorate the primary room. The primary room is woking against tardiness .

(Continued on last page)

MAN WITH 14 FOOT BEARD HAS WILLED IT TO CLUB

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Nov. 1.— For probably the first time in the history of California a set of whisk- ers has been willed to a civic organ- ization—in this case a beard four- teen feet long, said to be second in point of luxuriant growth on the North American continent.

Zach Wilcox, of Carson Ciy, Nev., whose beard won second prize during the days of the '49 celebration here last summer in open competition with all the beards of America, has bequeathed his hirsute growth to the Sacramento Whiskerino club.

Wilcox, who is over 70 years old, suffered a recent illness and fearing that death was near, he called a law- yer to his bedside and pledged his flowing beard to the trophy room of the Whiskerinos.

The will charged a leading under- taker of Carson City with the duty of removing Wilcox's whiskers on the day of his death and sending them to Sacramento.

The only man who was able to show a longer beard than Mr. Wil- cox at the wild-west show here a year or two years ago was Hans Langstad, formerly of Kensett, Iowa.

A HALLOWE'EN PARTY

Tuesday evening about twenty- five High School people were enter- tained at a Hallowe'en party at A. G. Koerner's barn. The room was very fitingly decorated with the cus- tomary gold and yellow streamers, corn shocks and pumpkins.

The Misses Ridder, Blank, Lau and Koerner were the hostesses and had planned a very good program for the evening. Many games were played, in which everyone took a part with hearty enthusiam.

Doctor D. P. Anderson was for- tune teller and he proclaimed the past, present and future of every- one present. "Doc" carried the part very creditably and he ougth to travel with fairs as fortune teller. However, we would advise that he learn his little piece a bit better be- fore he tries it.

At about ten-thirty a delicious lunch was served, which included the customary pumpkin pie of Hall- owe'en.

After lunch, Coach Tregilgus en- tertained the crowd with ghost sto- es for some time and by the time he was through a good many were only too glad to have the bright lights turned on again.

More games were played and at a late hour the party ended with ev- eryone saying that they had a most enjoyable time.

Dr. Anderson and Mr. Trigilgus were the chaperones.

—By one of the "Spooks" present.

ENGLAND'S PRIME MINISTER IS DEAD

LONDON, Oct. 30.—(Associated Press)—Andrew Bonar Law, for sev en months prime minister of Great Britain, died in his modest London home at 3 o'clock this moning.

The official bulletin issued by the physicians who attended the former premier read as follows:

"Mr. Bonar Law died at 2 o'clock following an accute attack of septic pneumonia."

Mr. Law was the successor of Mr. Lloyd George, who is now visiting in this country.

ROADS SHOW DEGREE OF CIVILIZATION

Highways Index to Kind of Lives Its Users Live.

Gibbon, famous historian, wrote "The character and civilization of any community can be properly judg- ed by the class of roads it has."

The community which can afford a good road and is content to wallow in mud, is, by this standard, not thor- oughly civilized. This may not be agreeable reading to those contented with bad roads, yet these very people will judge their neighbors by stand- ards no more exacting. The man who can afford an automobile, a tele- phone, a lighting system, a warm house, and good clothes, and who walks, borrows his neighbor's phone, reads by candle, has a cold house and wears rags, is not called ciivliz- ed by his neighbors.

A good road is as necessary for the enjoyment of the advantages modern civilization has to offer as is the ability to read (which was once the accomplishment only of the king and priest.)

The abondoned farm is seldom or never found on a good road. The il- literate child does not live beside a good road. People who live on or near good roads get to town, see pic- tures, mix with their fellows, enjoy a rich social life, visit each other, buy and sell quickly and easily, are in touch with the world. Those who live on bad roads cannot even depend up on the R. F. D. if rain or snow lays its prohibition upon the carrier.

This great country is away down the list among the literate naions; one of the reasons is the difficuly of educaing either child or adult where mud prevents attendance at school.

Gibbon's measuring rod may not be comfortable, but the facts seem to show it is accurate.

MRS. BUSEMAN PASSED AWAY FRIDAY EVENING

Funeral Services Were Held Monday

Hempe Busemann was born Oct. 8, 1846. at Rorichmoor Ostfriesland, Germany. While yet in her infancy she received the rit of Holy baptism. After she had been July instructed in God's Word and the Christian re- ligion she was by confirmation re- ceived into the full membership of the Reformed Church.

She was united in marriage to Mr. Henry Buseman and came to America in the spring of 1891, mak- ing her home on a farm near Klem- me, Hancock County, Iowa. On Sep- tember 22, 1915, her husband was called from her side, whereupon she remained on her farm for a few years yet and then moved to Klem- me, in 1918.

Mrs. Buseman was blessed with a very strong constituton which en- abled her to maintain her physical strength in her high age. However, during the last year her health be- gan to fail. Having not been well for several weeks, her illness seem- ed to become serious about a week before her death. Realizing that her end was near, relatives and friends were called to her beside. All that medical aid and loving hands could do was in vain. She died at her home in Klemme October 26, 1923, at 9:00 o'clock p. m.

She leaves to mourn one sister, Mrs. H. Coobs, of McGregor, Iowa; six sons; four daughters; fifty grand children and some great grand children, and many relatves and friends.

She attained the age of 77 years and 18 days.

Mrs. Buseman was a member of good standing of Immanuel Reform- ed Church for over 26 years, and she will certainly be missed by her many friends.

Funeral services were held Mon- day afternoon at the home and at the Reformed church and burial was made in Calvary Cemetary.

Card of Thanks

The Busemans do herewith ex- pres their sincere gratitude and ap- precation to all those who have so kindly and abip assisted them dur- ing the days previous to and follow- ing the death of mohter Buseman.

Governor Kendall Back From Hawaiian Ttip

DES MOINES, Nov. 1.—Gov. and Mrs. N. E. Kendall returned to Des Moines Tuesday morning from their extended vacation in the Hawaiian islands and the Pacfic coast.

The governor, who left his office because of ill health, said he was "feeling fine." He will relieve Act- ing Governor John Hammill from the duties of Iowa's chief executive office this morning.

Gov. Kendall said Hawaii is a "great place to go for a rest. Some day Mrs. Kendall and I are going back."

METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH

A. W. Gauger, Pastor

Our program for this week is full of activities along varous lines.

It is house-cleaning week and we are cleaning both churches to have them spick and span for our winter months. While we are using the one church for our Sunday services, it being a little the larger, the other will be put to splendid use for many of our mid-week activities and will be known as our parish house.

This week the W. F. M. S. will hold its meeting at the parish house on Thursday afternoon. All the members of both societies are in- vited and urged to be present. A good meeting is in view. Then the Ladies Aid Society will regularly hold its meetings there. Other gath- erings from time to time will make good use of the parish house.

Last Sunday the Sunday school showed a fine increase over the Sun- day before. We hope that it map reach the 200 mark this Sunday.

Let's not forget the special col- lection for our new song books next Sunday. Anyone wishing to pur- chase a song book for the home or private use may have one for actual cost by applying to the pastor or S. S. Supt.

SCOUTS TO CO-OPERATE WITH STATE ON LAW ENFORCEMET

NEWSPAPER ASSOCIATION

MEMBER No. 5578

CONCRETE IS ANCIENT HIGHWAY MATERIAL

Is Among Oldest of Road Surfaces

The first known concrete highway was laid down by the Romans in Eng land, between Westchester and Lon- don. Excavations uncovered several sections, in excellent condition. Ap- parently the material was a natural cement mixed with pebbles and was worked into a road bed about twelve inches thick.

The art seems to have been lost for nearly two thousand years. the next example beng in Edinburgh, Scotland, in 1872, when some con- crete pavements, still in use and of good condition, were made.

In our own country, Bellefontaine, Ohio, gets credit for being the first municipality to experment wih ce- ment streets, in 1893. But it is really Wayne County, Michigan, the De- troit automobile factory region, which made the concrete highway known to the nation. This early ex- periment was in 1907. In 1909 less than half a million square yards of concrete were laid (perhaps fifty miles), while in 1921 more than six- ty million square yards were laid (more than 7,000 miles.)

One of the great advantages of concrete is the low cost of hauling, its surface being less resistant to ractive effort than any we know. Dy- namomeer meaurements show that the tractive force required to move a wheeled ton of weight on a level road are, for concrete, 32.5 pounds; for asphalt, 77.7 pounds; for brick, 51.8 pounds; and for earth 134.7 pounds.

A taxi company so situated that it drove one set of cars almost entirely on dirt roads and another set almost entirely on concrete roads, reports that it cost 2.4 cens less per mile mile to operate the taxis on the ce- ment road than on the dirt roads.

There are 12,000,000 automobiles in the country. If they average the low amount of 3,000 miles each per pear, the total miles driven is 36,- 000,000,000. At 2 cents a mile sav- ing, the sum of $720,000,000 a year could go towards building hard sur- face roads, which income would build 24,000 miles of permanent highways every year!

NORTH AVERY PROGRESSIVE CLUB ENTERTAINS

The North Avery Progressive Club entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Cook on Friday evening, October 26. A very enjoyable ev- ening was spent. After a short busi- ness session the following program was given:

Scripure Reading Mrs. Johnson
Communiy Singing
Reading Harvey Nelson
Solo "I never knew how much God gave me" Mr. J. J. Cook
Piano Duet Mrs. Arnold Miss Ridder
Hallowe'en Exercise, Dolores Cook, La Von Sherwood, Bonnie Bach- man, Irene Marshall.
Mixed Quartette "Come where the lillies bloom,' Miss Maude Griggs, Mr. and Mrs. Cook, Mr. Smith.
Solo Miss Ridder
Address "The Influence of Music." Mr. P. M. Greisemer.

Among the guests present from Klemme were Mr. and Mrs. P. M. Greisemer, Miss Maud Griggs, Mr. Smith, Mr. Carpenter and daughter Miss Thora of Goodell.

Delicious refreshments were serv- ed by the hostess.

The November meeting of the Club will be at the home of Mrs. Wm. Johnson.

BOY SCOUTS SAY DEALERS IN COFFIN NAILS BETTER WATCH STEP

The Boy Scouts of Iowa Will Aid To Put Down Sale or Gift Of The Pills and Papers To Minors And State Treasurer To Co-operate With Them

THE STATE WILL BE ORGANIZ- ED AT ONCE; McCOY

Dealers And Individuals Who Are Complying With Law Need Not Worry Any

(Special News Release)

DES MOINES, Nov. 1—At a con- ference on the 13th day of October, 1923 with the regional executive of the Boy Scouts' Organization, C. C. McCoy, for the Treasurer of State, extended an invitation to the Boy Scouts and their officers to become active with him in the enforcement of the Cigarette Law and assist by aking a real active part in the work of stopping the sale and gift of ci- garettes to minors.

W. J. Burbank, Treasurer of State, desires a full and complete enforcement of the Cigarette Law and states that any cigarette per- dealer who will willfuly sell or give cigarettes or cigarette papers to minors is guilty and must be pun- ished, and that any dealer in Iowa who handles and sells tobacco and has what is commonly known as free papers or the "makings" and furn- ishes them to minors, or puts the into a receptacle or in the bac of his place of business w nnor. are convenient to min just as guilty and shou ld. orld war. After ilitary service ter of Win- cigarette papers by any person to any minor under the age of twenty- one is a violation of the Cigarette Law and is punishable by a fine, for the first offense, of not less than $25.00 nor more than $100.00, and if by a permit dealers the permit will be revoked and another permit cannot be obtained for a period of two years thereafter. Sufficient a- mount of publicity has been given to that part of he law and here sho be none ignorant of the fact.

The Boy Scouts approve of the methods and are willing to co-oper- ate with us. "They will be organ- ized at once," says Mr. McCoy.

The Boy Scouts is an organiza- tion which does not approve of ci- garettes for minors and does not use them, and is ready and willing o assist its pals and help to keep them clean, so that they will not form the cigarette habit.

The Cigarette Department, in the office of the Treasurer of State, op- erates several men over the state, whose duty it is to prosecute all vi- olators of this law and they will be ready at all times to assist the Boy Scouts along this line. Bulletins are being sent out, explaining the law to Company Scout Masters for the Boy Scouts and Mr. McCoy will, within a very short time, have the entire state well organized.

John H. Piper, Regional Scout Master, commanding six states, Io- wa included, addressed the following communication to Mr. Burbank, the State Treasurer, on October 16:

"Mighty glad to hear of your de- termination to enforce the Cigar- ette Law of the State of Iowa as it relates to minors. Iowa has over 15,000 Scouts and something over 5,000 adult Scout leaders who will stand firmly behind you in the en- forcement of this law. Scouts are expected to obey the law and to do their best to intsruct others in the observance of law."

ST. ANSGAR'S 103 YEAR OLD MAN IS DEAD

ST. ANSGAR, Nov. 1.—Sylvester Lymann, age 103 years and ten days, died at his home Sunday evening. Mr. Lyman was in fair health until a few days before his death.

COOLIDGE BACKS HARVEY SPEECH

His Remarks in London on Reparations Approved by Administration.

TALK IS DIRECTED AT FRANCE

Is Regarded as Official Renewal of Hughes Reparations Plan—Also Explains America's Refusal to Cancel War Debts.

Washington. — Ambassador George Harvey's address to the Pilgrims in London Tuesday night, in which he said the United States stood ready to go to the aid of Europe when asked, was regarded here as practically an official restatement of the position of the United States with regard to Europe. In fact there is good reason to believe the United States government chose Harvey as the medium through which to reaffirm belief in the Hughes' plan for settlement of the reparations question and through which to restate the willingness of the United States to co-operate with Europe.

Coming, as it does, on the heels of the calls of former Premier Lloyd George for French acceptance of the Hughes' plan, the Harvey speech is regarded as having an unusual importance and as being almost the equivalent of a declaration from Secretary Hughes himself.

There is no question that Colonel Harvey stated accurately the views of both President Coolidge and Mr. Hughes and it is the belief here that the speech was intended to provide an opening for France to accept the Hughes' plan at this time, though they rejected it summarily last winter. Moreover, it is the understanding here that the speech was intended as a direct statement of the policy of President Coolidge that the United States stands ready to help Europe economically; that this government is not, however, going to force its aid on Europe and that it is up to Europe, especially France, to show how the United States can help.

It was said at the State department that the speech had the thorough approval of the department and that it fairly stated the attitude of the United States. This means, of course, that the United States will not under any circumstances at the present time make an offer of aid to Europe, but will gladly welcome an invitation from Europe to be of aid. This is directed especially to the French, who, by turning down summarily the Hughes' plan for a commission of international experts to determine Germany's ability to pay, closed the door against the United States.

Slashing of War Debts Perilous, Smuts Declares

London.—Prime Minister Smuts of South Africa urged a conference of the powers to consider the whole European situation in a speech at a dinner tendered by the South African delegation to the imperial conference. He attacked France for its policy and warned England and the United States against any "excessive generosity" in the remission of interallied war debts which might aid in further militarization of the continent.

Dixie Colored Folks Are Eager to Return Home

Mobile, Ala.—In cities of the Lake Michigan region are 17,000 negroes, formerly of Alabama and other southern states, who wish to return to the land of their nativity, the chamber of commerce was advised. Memphis, Tenn., has made provisions to return 1,000 families, according to information received here. Other cities in need of labor, the communication stated, are invited to bring the negroes back.

Oklahoma State Supreme Court Upholds the Walton Ouster

Oklahoma City, Okla.—Gov. J. C. Walton was declared suspended from office and M. E. Trapp, lieutenant governor, was installed as chief executive by the State Supreme court after a 39-minute hearing on a petition from the state senate. The court's order restrained District Judge Chambers and Governor Walton from further interfering in the impeachment proceedings.

Middle West Wheat Men and Bankers Indorse German Credit

Washington. — President Coolidge and Secretary of Agriculture Wallace were urged by a delegation of Middle West grain men and bankers today to support the so-called Gould plan for furnishing a government credit of $50,000,000 to aid Germany in purchasing 50,000,000 bushels of American wheat.

To Protest Reading Break-up.

Reading, Pa.—Mayors of all cities in eastern Pennsylvania have been called to meet within the next ten days to take joint action against the dismemberment of the Philadelphia & Reading in the proposed rail merger.

478,000 Negroes Migrate.

Washington.—During the year ending September 1 the number of negroes who migrated north from 13 southern states was 478,000, the Labor department of the government has made announcement.

OBERST WOOLFF

Oberst Woolff is the recognized head of the monarchist party in Austria which, it is rumored, may join with the Bavarian monarchists in trying to set up a Danube Catholic state including the two countries.

BEAT HAMBURG REDS

Forty-Four Persons Slain in Revolt in German City.

Four Thousand Loyal Police Faced Double That Number of Heavily-Armed Communists—Women Among Rebels.

Hamburg.—After more than thirty hours of fighting against communists the city of Hamburg again is in the hands of the police. Two armored cars covered the advance of the police, who were protected by steel helmets and armed with hand grenades, as they marched against the last strongholds of the Reds.

Hamburg.—Fourteen police are dead and 108 wounded and 30 communists are known to be dead and 250 wounded as a result of fighting in the streets of Hamburg.

Four thousand police are facing double that number of heavily armed communists. Sailors from destroyers, rushed here from Kiel, and a handful of reichswehr are aiding the police.

When the police attempted to storm the barricades the communists placed several blue police, their hands and feet bound, on top of their defenses. The Reds kept up a heavy rifle fire into the streets up which the police were advancing in skirmish order.

Many women were among the communist fighters. Several times a woman leaped to the top of one barricade amid a hail of bullets and shouted defiance to the police.

Governor Walton of Oklahoma Suspended as His Trial Begins

Oklahoma City, Okla.—Gov. J. C. Walton was suspended from office when the state senate, by a vote of three to one, adopted a resolution temporarily relieving him of his official duties, following the submission by the lower house of a bill of impeachment against him. The impeachment bill charges the executive with entering into "a corrupt agreement" with Dr. A. M. Davenport, state health commissioner, to place T. P. Edwards, the governor's personal chauffeur, on the pay roll of the health department at $200 a month, and that thereby "certain moneys were diverted from the statutory object and purpose for which they were appropriated by law."

Graft Charged to Colonel Forbes of Veterans' Bureau

Washington. — Charges were made before the Reed special investigating committee of the senate that Col. Charles R. Forbes, while director of the veteran's bureau, entered into a conspiracy to award without competition to certain parties contracts for the erection of the hospitals for veterans at such figures as to insure them a profit of $150,000 on each contract, and that Colonel Forbes was to get one-third of that amount as his share.

Ontario Miner Finds $20,000 Silver Nugget

Cobalt, Ont.—The biggest silver nugget brought to camp in recent years arrived here and old-timers are admiring it. The nugget weighs about 3,200 pounds, is fully 75 per cent silver, and is worth over $20,000, according to the owner, Angel Clemens, a New Liskard carpenter. Clemens found the chunk while doing assessment work on his claim.

Mussolini Present at Explosions.

Rome.—Premier Mussolini was present during the explosions of six grenades at a horse show at Turin. One lieutenant was seriously wounded and a sergeant and four privates were slightly hurt.

Pacific Highway Dedicated.

Olympia, Wash.—The great Pacific international highway was formally dedicated Wednesday and 700 miles of pavement, extending from Vancouver, B. C., to the California border, was opened to travel.

OFFERS EUROPE HELP OF U. S.

Secretary Hughes to Act on Reparations if All Allies Will Ask for It

GOOD OFFICES ON NEW TERMS

Says All Allies Must Take Part in the Discussion if Real Solution of German Problem Is to Result.

Washington.—In response to an official inquiry by the British government Secretary of State Hughes has informed Great Britain that the United States is willing to participate in an advisory economic conference for the purpose of considering Germany's capacity to pay reparations and methods of effecting such payments.

The co-operation is guaranteed only on the understanding that France and all other powers directly interested in German reparations concur in the plan and participate in the conference. If France or any other interested power should not approve of a reparations survey and refuse to participate the United States would determine whether it would participate only after mature deliberation.

Great Britain is revealed as putting forth a desperate effort to halt the dismemberment of Germany and restore the status quo with Germany and France in agreement on the payment of reparations. To this end Great Britain seeks the aid of the United States.

That there had been a formal exchange of views between London and Washington on the European situation was disclosed by Secretary Hughes a few hours after former Prime Minister Lloyd George had called on him and lunched with President Coolidge and told the press that only the United States can bring about the solution of Europe's problems. Mr. Lloyd George declined, however, to comment on the Hughes' note.

As a culmination of the subtle drive of the canny Welshman to induce the United States to take a strong hand in European affairs the American reply to the London sounding falls short of what he had hoped for, though he regards it as a step in the right direction from the British point of view.

With Hands Locked Two Texans Shoot It Out to a Finish

Teague, Tex.—Details of one of the most dramatic pistol duels Texas ever saw were revealed here by Sheriff Terry of Navarro county. The dead are Norwood Huckaby, prominent in Freestone county, and Charles A. Williams of Navarro county. The battle was an epic in gun fights, according to the sheriff. It occurred in a barn shortly ater dusk. Left hands locked together, their right hands clutching smoking revolvers which spat bullets until both were riddled, Huckaby and Williams died within a few minutes of each other, toe to toe and with their boots on.

Wife Eleven Years Without Bath, Husband Gets Divorce

Chicago.—From her wedding day until her husband left her, eleven years later, Mrs. Nellie Arnold never took a bath or washed her face, according to the testimony of her husband, George Arnold, before Judge Joseph Sabath.

"She was so dirty that I hated to look at her," Arnold testified. "Our house was filthy and there was nothing I could do to make her change her habits."

"Enough, enough," Judge Sabath exclaimed. "You have lawful ground for a divorce. Take it."

Industries in the Ruhr Are Shut by German Owners

Essen.—The French are faced with a situation fraught with grave possibilities as a result of the decision of the German industrialists to close the factories and mines in the Ruhr rather than to deliver reparations in kind and coal to France without pay. At meetings in Cologne, Coblenz and Bonn the industrialists, headed by Hugo Stinnes, agreed to shut up shop during the next fortnight.

Oklahoma Supreme Court Puts Trapp at State's Helm

Oklahoma City, Okla.—Lieut. Gov. M. E. Trapp was declared acting governor of Oklahoma in a decision of the state Supreme court, making permanent a writ of prohibition against Gov. J. C. Walton and District Judge Tom G. Chambers, Sr., which restrains them from interfering with the lieutenant governor's assumption of the office.

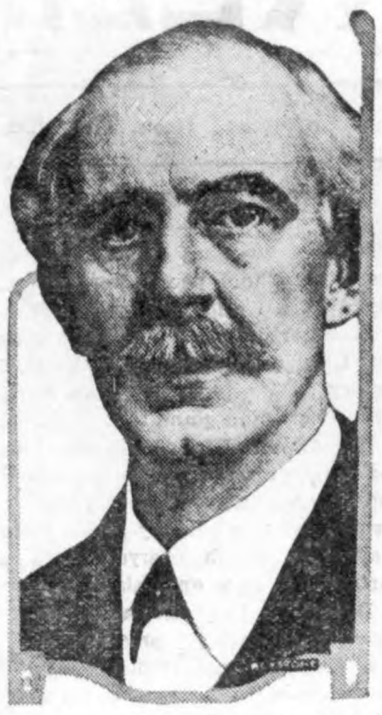
Half of Estate as Reward.

Moline, Ill.—George W. Wood, Moline dry leader, whose home was dynamited, revised his will, bequeathing half of his estate as a reward for the capture and conviction of those guilty of the bombing.

Bulgars' Air Force Falls.

Sofia.—Bulgaria's military air force was wiped out by an accident on an aviation field when the sole military plane left to Bulgaria by the treaty of Neuilly was wrecked. Two officers aboard the plane were killed.

PORTER H. DALE



Porter H. Dale, recently elected United States senator from Vermont.

U. S. MARKET REPORT

Weekly Marketgram by Bureau of Agricultural Economics.

Washington.—For the week ending Oct. 24.—FRUITS AND VEGETABLES—Potato market steady. New York round whites, $1.85@1.95, sacked and bulk, mostly $1.45@1.55 f. o. b. Northern round whites, 90c@$1.05 at Chicago. Demand for cabbage slow. New York Danish type, mostly $17@18 f. o. b. Onion markets unsettled. New York yellow varieties, $2.75@3.25, sacked, per 100 lbs. Apple markets dull. Baldwins, $4 per barrel. York Imperials, $3.00@3.75.

HAY—No. 1 timothy, $26.00 Cincinnati, $26.00 Chicago, $19.50 Minneapolis, $26.50 St. Louis; No. 1 prairie, $19.50 St. Louis, $16.50 Minneapolis.

LIVE STOCK—Chicago prices: Hogs, $7.55 for top and $6.60@7.40 for the bulk; beef steers, medium and good grades, $7.85@11.25; butcher cows and heifers, $3.10@10.75; feeder steers, $4.35@$8.00; light and medium weight veal calves, $8.00@12.00; fat lambs, $10.50@12.85; feeding lambs, $11.25@13.00; yearlings, $8.00@10.75; fat ewes, $3.75@6.50.

DAIRY PRODUCTS—Butter, 92 score, 47c at Chicago. Cheese at Wisconsin primary markets: Single daisies 24½c; longhorns, 24½c; square prints 25¾c.

GRAIN—Chicago cash market: No. 2 hard winter wheat, $1.09; No. 2 mixed corn, $1.07; No. 2 yellow corn, $1.09¼; No. 3 white oats, 42c. Average farm price No. 2 mixed corn in central Iowa, 94c.

Germany Asks the Allies to Ease Up on Reparations

Paris.—Germany has asked the allies to re-examine the nation's resources and capacity to pay and to permit the Berlin government to explain measures to be taken to balance the budget and to stabilize money. Germany frankly recognized its obligations to pay indemnity. It pleaded the impossibility of continuing the schedule of payments now owing to the economic and financial collapse resulting from the occupation of the Ruhr and depreciation to zero of its paper money.

German Cities Are Virtually Breadless and Moneyless

Berlin.—Berlin and many other northern centers are in the throes of a most acute bread nad money crisis. The capital is virtually without bread, following the rise of the price to 5,000,000,000 marks a loaf. In the poorer sections bread is unobtainable. Fashionable restaurants are unable to serve it.

Bandits Hold Up Paymaster; Escape With $14,000 Pay Roll

Belleville, Ill.—A. Ganaway, paymaster, and Walter Ames, a guard, carrying a pay roll of about $14,000 from a St. Louis bank to Mine No. 1 of the Southern Coal, Coke and Mining company here, were held up by an automobile load of bandits as they alighted from a street car close to the mine. The bandits escaped with a satchel containing the money.

Rumely Refused Rehearing on Sentence as War Alien

Washington.—The Supreme court denied a review in the case of Edward A. Rumely and others sentenced to the penitentiary after the war for failing to report to the alien property custodian their indebtedness to the German government in connection with the purchase of the New York Evening Mail.

Autoist, Pals Say, Declared Open Season on Pedestrian

Decatur, Ill.—A. T. Hill, twenty-four, is charged with assault with intent to murder. Two friends said Hill was the driver of an automobile which ran down Frank C. Peers, an elderly man. The friends quoted Hill as having said: "See that fellow crossing the street? Watch me make him jump."

Bid for Battleships.

Washington.—Bids for six battleships and battle cruisers were submitted by 18 metal scrap concerns. The proposals ranged from $5,000 for the uncompleted Philadelphia to a group bid for all six at $600,000.

Lumber Trains Crash.

Baton Rouge, La.—Two lumber trains collided on a trestle over the Amitex river in Livingston parish. The engines and five cars crashed through the trestle. Two railroad men were killed.

.. Hawkeye .. State News

Interesting Items Gathered From all Parts of Iowa

New efforts to alter the Iowa primary law are to be made at the coming special session of the general assembly it is claimed.

A conference of law enforcing officials in Iowa will be called at an early date in accordance with the prohibition program recommended by President Coolidge.

A decision has been made and prizes awarded in the city beautiful contest which has been running since last June at Clarinda and in which 400 homes have contested.

Near Iowa City Saturday evening a brand new $5,000 Packard car and four Fords lay overturned in a ditch alongside a narrow grade. Their owners were paying their mud roads tax.

That farm land in northwest Iowa is selling at good figures, $200 or better and even as high as $300, is shown by letters received by a Fort Dodge loan man, from bankers in different towns.

Conditions were generally favorable for farm work during the past week and much plowing was done throughout the state. Some wheat is being seeded and fields that are coming up show a good stand.

Iowa's population, urban and rural, is solvent. If all the rest of the country were in as good condition as is Iowa there would be no excuse for complaint against the economic situation from any direction.

Two thousand school teachers are expected at Cedar Rapids next April for the annual meeting of the northwestern division of the Iowa State Teachers Association, according to the executive committee of the division.

Butter made at the Coulter creamery won first prize at the national dairy congress at Syracuse recently, in the cold storage class. It was put in storage last June and received the highest score of 95 per cent. The Strawberry Point creamery took first on fresh butter.

The Iowa farmer needn't worry over the nitrate proposition so long as Mr. Ford keeps cutting the price on jitneys. The Iowa farmer makes his nitrates on his soil and in his barnyard. Mr. Ford couldn't make nitrates better or cheaper than the Iowa farmer manufactures his own.

The state board of health has had printed a number of pamphlets on contagious diseases giving general information for the use of those who have to deal with these diseases and for free distribution. The diseases included are measles, smallpox, diptheria, scarlet fever, whooping cough and hydrophobia.

Des Moines has the highest per cent of families owning their own homes of any city with 100,000 or more inhabitants in the United States, the official manual, "How to Own Your Own Home," prepared by the department of commerce, shows. An increase of 12.6 per cent was made in the decade between 1910 and 1920.

Thirteen head of horses and mules were sold at public auction by J. R. Sennett near Gilmore City. The horses brought as high as $125 for 2-year-olds. The twenty-three head of cattle brought as high as $112.50. The forty acres of corn in the field was disposed of at $20 an acre. The fifteen tons of hay in the stack was sold for $9 a ton. Farm machinery brought fair prices.

A reliable index of wealth and consuming power of the urban and rural classes of Iowa's population is afforded by a comparison of returns for federal estate tax. Examination of a large number of returns indicate that between 65 and 70 per cent of the returns for federal estate tax made in Iowa came from the estates of farmers or their widows.

As the result of a movement on foot at Boone it is likely that a bronze monument, to cost about $2,000 will be erected to commemorate Boone county's dead in the world war. Many Iowa counties already have placed memorials of varrious kinds to their soldier dead in the world war. It is planned to erect the monument in the city park, and to unveil the shaft on Memorial Day, 1924.

A message of the peace and prosperity of Iowa was conveyed to the representatives of nearly thirty eastern advertising agencies by members of the daily newspaper section of the Iowa Press Association in session at Des Moines. The eastern advertising men came to Des Moines at the invitation of the Iowa publishers that they might learn at first hand the true condition of economic affairs of the state.

Rural districts, which lost in population from 1917 to 1922, are growing and holding their own now, according to unofficial and approximated information, while the towns and cities of the state are experiencing a generaly unprecedented growth.

Des Moines was second in low death rate from typhoid fever in cities of its size last year and may make as good a record this year, City Physician Saylor states. Only one death has occurred so far this year from typhoid. In 1910 there were thirty-two, and in 19y1 there were twenty-four. Last year there were only two.

Relieved of Catarrh Due to La Grippe

Thanks To PE-RU-NA

Mrs. Laura Berberick, over [illegible] years of age, 1205 Willow Ave., Hoboken, N. J., writes: "A severe attack of La Grippe left me with a hoarseness and slime in the head and throat. I had chronic catarrh. It grew worse. I could not lie down or sleep at night. I was always bothered by the slime, pain in the back and a terrible headache every morning.

Finally I bought a bottle of Pe-ru-na which was of great benefit. It gave me blood and strength. I have no pains in head or back, nor noises in the head. The slime has gone and I can sleep. My weight has increased. I am cheerful and happy, thanks to Pe-ru-na which I shall always keep in the house and recommend to my friends."

For every form of catarrh Pe-ru-na meets the need, Coughs, Colds, Nasal Catarrh, Indigestion, Bowel disorders are all forms of catarrh.

Buy it any where in tablet or liquid form.

BACKACHE!

Dull Headaches Rheumatics Backache—are symptoms of Kidney and Bladder trouble

Quick Relief with FOLEY KIDNEY PILLS

Not the Right One.

"You look worried, old man," said Charles. "What's the matter?"

"I called on Miss Graham last night," returned Claude, "and no sooner had I entered the house than her mother appeared and demanded to know my intentions."

"That situation must have been rather embarrassing."

"Yes, but that wasn't the worst. Just as the old lady finished speaking Miss Graham shouted down the stairs:

"'Mother, that isn't the one!'"

MOTHER! GIVE SICK CHILD "CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP"

Harmless Laxative for a Bilious Constipated Baby or Child.

Constipated, bilious, feverish, or sick, colic Babies and Children love to take genuine "California Fig Syrup." No other laxative regulates the tender little bowels so nicely. It sweetens the stomach and starts the liver and bowels acting without griping. Contains no narcotics or soothing drugs. Say "California" to your druggist and avoid counterfeits. Insist upon genuine "California Fig Syrup" which contains directions. Advertisement.

It takes thirteen muscles to make a smile. Don't smile in the wrong place if you think thirteen is unlucky.

Mrs. S. W. Knott

Health Brings Beauty

All Women Can Look Well if in Health.

Champaign, Ill.—"Ever since I developed into womanhood I have been troubled with functional disturbances and fainting spells. I was under a physician's care, but no medicine I took seemed to do me any good. A friend, who had gone through the same experience as myself and had found such help by taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, urged me to try it. I tried it and to my great delight the Prescription brought about a wonderful change, every organ functionating correctly. I can speak in the highest praise of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription."—Mrs. S. W. Knott, 1212 N. Market St.

All druggists. Tablets or liquid. Write Dr. Pierce, Pres. Invalids' Hotel, in Buffalo, N. Y., for free medical advice, or send 10c for trial pkg. tablets.

Prominent People

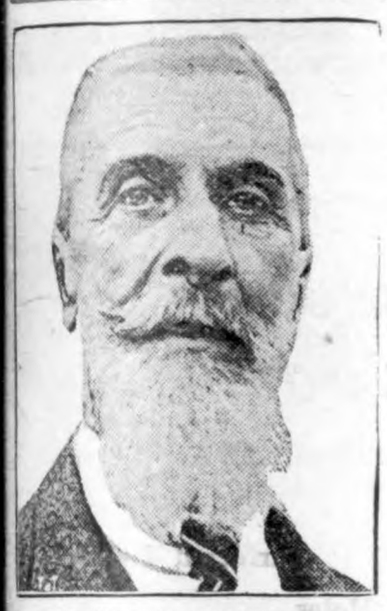
For President of General Federation

The Colorado Federation of Women's Clubs has sent out formal announcement that it will present the name of Mrs. John D. Sherman for president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs at the biennial convention in Los Angeles in June of 1924, in accordance with a motion passed unanimously, the members rising in acclamation, at its annual convention in Trinidad.

"Colorado," says the Colorado Club Woman, "considers it an honor to present for the highest office in the gift of the American women one who is known and admired in every state in the Union and who has devoted the best years of her life to the advancement of women, the strengthening of the club movement and the preservation of the natural beauties and resources of the nation."

Mrs. Sherman began her club work in the Chicago Woman's club, of which she has been made an honorary member. Her Colorado membership is in the Estes Park Woman's club. She was recording secretary, 1904-8, and second vice president, 1908-10, of the general federation. Her later work as chairman of the committee on conservation of natural resources and as chairman of the department of applied education has made her nationally famous. She has also been active as a director in several nation-wide organizations. During the war she served as director of the National War Garden commission and as special assistant director of the United States School Garden army, in charge of women's organizations. She is the author of a popular manual on parliamentary law.

Count Apponyi Pays America a Visit



It is quite the fashion nowadays for European dignitaries to pay Uncle Sam a visit. Count Albert Apponyi, the Hungarian elder statesman and former premier (portrait herewith), is now on a lecture tour in the United States upon invitation of the All-American committee of the Institute of International Education. Prof. Oscar Jaszi, minister of national minorities under the regime of Michael Karolyi, which immediately preceded the Red dictatorship of Kun Bela, publicly asserts that Count Apponyi is a representative of the ancient feudal system in Hungary and is working for an international loan to be used for the restoration of the defunct Hapsburg monarchy.

Count Apponyi is seventy-seven and six feet three inches tall. He speaks English perfectly and can even use American slang; at the peace conference he spoke for Hungary in four languages. There is nothing of the old man about him, except the fact that he was born in 1846. He says the great danger that he fears is that all Europe will go Bolshevist. He also says that the rearrangement of Europe by the Versailles treaty is in conflict with all natural law, and the new map will have to be completely revised before the continent can become stable and prosperous.

American Woman Restores Hattonchatel

Frenchmen and Americans met the other day at Hattonchatel, just north of St. Mihiel, France, to celebrate the completion of the rebuilding of the village. Hattonchatel is the village where the two forces of American troops met when, after working from the east and west, they had driven the German forces from the St. Mihiel salient in September, 1918. Hattonchatel is directly on the line in the Toul sector which American troops occupied until the end of the war, after the salient had been taken. The village was under constant shell fire because it was located on a promontory which was used by the French and the Americans as an observation post. Its forty dwellings were laid in ruins.

Miss Belle Skinner of Holyoke, Mass., had spent her summers in Hattonchatel before the war and loved the place. So she gave a million dollars, more or less, to rebuild the dwellings and the church and town hall. They say that all the dwellings have modern American plumbing and running water—which must seem passing strange to villagers who have been used to carrying water from an ancient Roman well.

There was a noteworthy gathering of dignitaries at the celebration, including President Poincare. Miss Skinner was the guest of honor, received public thanks and saw a bronze medallion of herself placed in the town hall. The Bishop of Verdun blessed the bell of the church, one of her gifts.

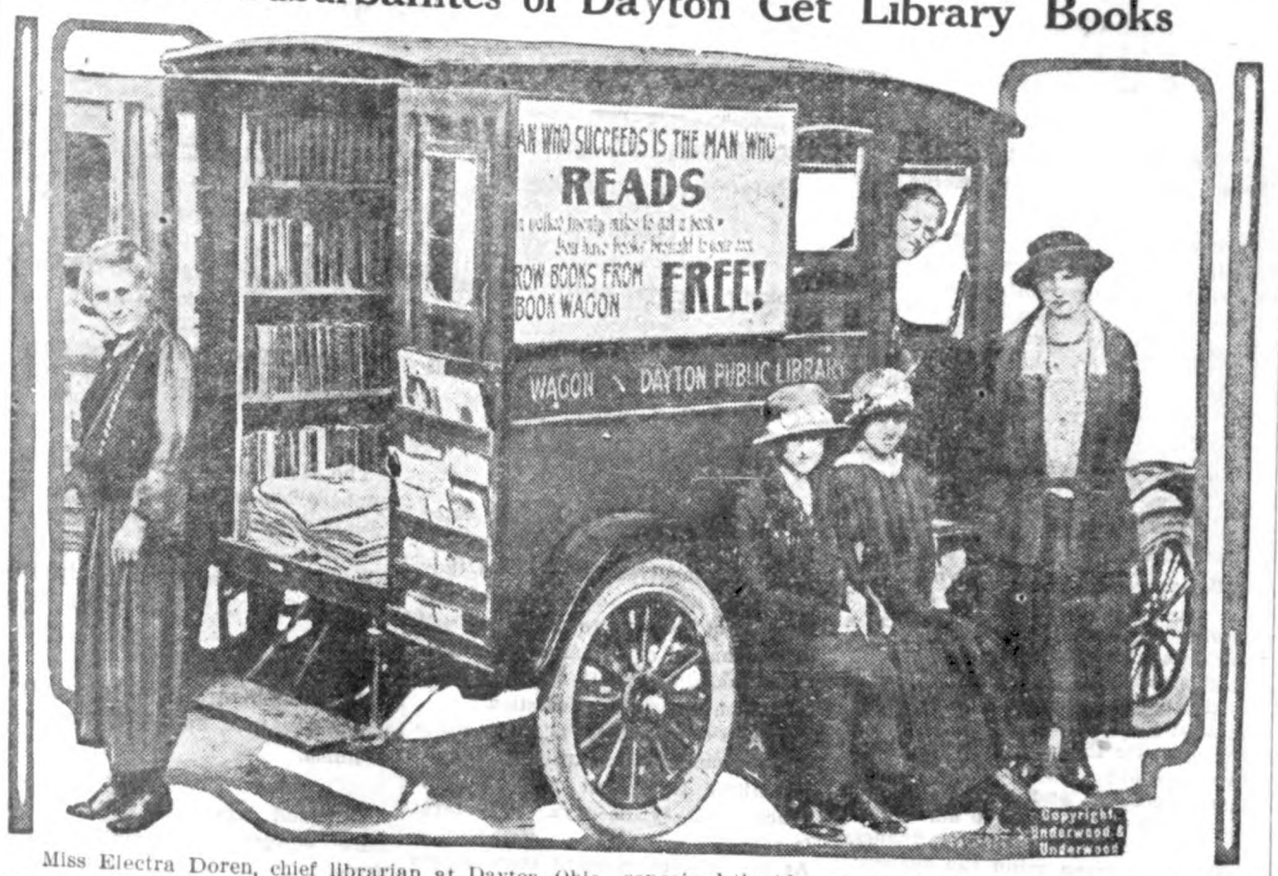
Harvey to Leave Court of St. James

Col. George Brinton McClellan Harvey, American ambassador to the court of St. James (portrait herewith), will give up his post at the end of the year in accordance with an agreement between him and President Harding and carried out by President Coolidge. This understanding was reached, it is stated, before President Harding's Alaskan trip. Colonel Harvey then offered his resignation on the ground of "pressing personal business." The ambassadorship to St. James is expensive business and there is the intimation that Colonel Harvey has found the post financially burdensome.

When Ambassador Harvey was last in the United States on a somewhat prolonged leave it was reported that he would resign and take an active part in the coming presidential campaign. However, State department officials limited their announcement to the statement that Mr. Harvey was about to retire and that he would do so in accordance with his understanding with President Harding.

The London press expressed regret at Ambassador Harvey's retirement and pointed out that he had rendered valuable service to Anglo-American friendship and understanding.

How Suburbanites of Dayton Get Library Books



Miss Electra Doren, chief librarian at Dayton, Ohio, conceived the idea of carrying books to readers who could not conveniently patronize the library, and her "rolling library," consisting of a truck with shelving for 600 volumes and 104 current periodicals, has proved a great boon to suburban dwellers. The truck canvasses a different section of the suburbs every day. The plan is economical, too, in that it is saving the construction of branch libraries. The photograph shows Miss Doren standing at the rear of the truck.

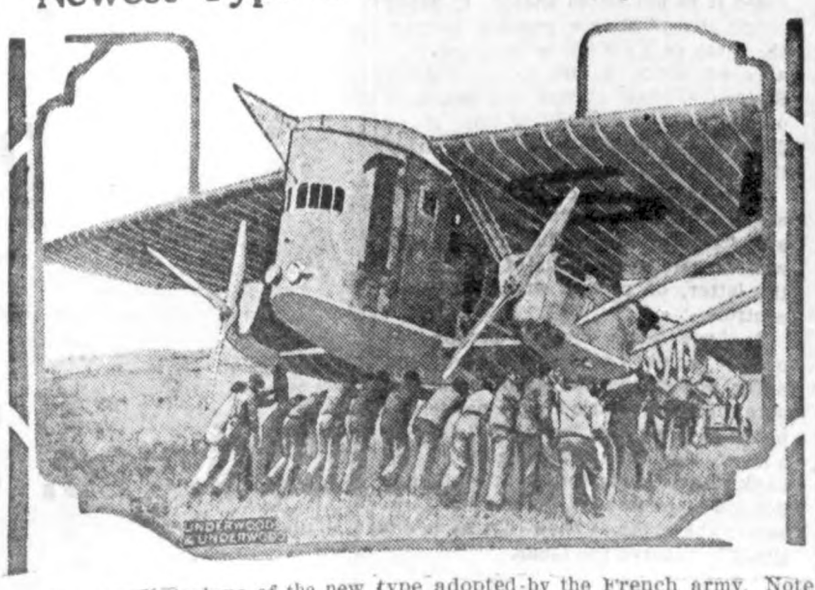
President Coolidge Talks to Postmasters

President Coolidge addressing the first and second-class postmasters, in session at Washington, from the steps of the south portico of the White House. Postmaster General Harry S. New is standing beside the President.

Scout Cruiser Marblehead Is Launched

Here, sliding down the ways at the Cramp shipyard, Camden, N. J., is the newest addition to the U. S. navy, just after she had been christened Marblehead by Mrs. Hannah Martin Evans, mother of the first man from Marblehead, Mass., to meet death in the World war. The new vessel is 555 feet long, 55 feet beam at waterline, and is a combined scout cruiser, flotilla leader, mine layer and airplane carrier. The illustration also shows Mrs. Evans.

Newest Type of French Army Plane



Here is an airplane of the new type adopted by the French army. Note the unique fuselage and wings with closed cabin to protect the fighter, and double propellers and engines.

MODEL FOR ADVERTISING

Miss Ethel Happiday of London, winner of the five-thousand-dollar newspaper prize for the best advertising face, hair, teeth and eyes. She has been placed under a five-year contract to pose for advertising copy. Her contract prohibits her from appearing on the stage or in motion pictures.

SHE KILLED A PRIEST

Mrs. Emma Strutynsky, wife of the pastor of a Ukrainian church at Ramey, Pa., who went to Chicago and killed Rev. Basil Stetsuk in a Greek church as she was pretending to confess to him.

O'CONNOR GOOD LEGION MAN

Kansas Member Has Seen Long Army Service, Much of Which Was Unexpected.

John H. O'Connor, an active worker of the American Legion in Kansas, declares that the unexpected has always led him into a line of work that he did not anticipate. In fact, the Kansas man has said that even his military career in the World war was somewhat unexpected, for an early admiration for things military caused him to become a member of the National Guard at the age of fifty-one. He was discharged with citations and the rank of lieutenant colonel.

Born in Frankfort, Ky., he moved to Kansas with his parents in 1879, just as that state was emerging from a cluster of shacks and a few score of families to modern cities. He was educated in Winfield, and was thrown on his own resources early in life. He first tried southern California, but went "broke" 2,000 miles from home. He became a surveyor with a party in the Sierra Madre mountains, and accumulated enough money to get back to Kansas. A series of even less fortunate experiences followed, and in turn, O'Connor became a farmer, a laborer, a stone mason, a soldier, a printer, a traveling collector, until he finally returned to Winfield, where he remained until the World war. After discharge from the military service he was appointed postmaster of Winfield.

John H. O'Connor.

His military record is nearly as remarkable. He enlisted for service in the Kansas National Guard in 1885 and served until 1891. On the opening of the Spanish-American war, he volunteered for service. At discharge he was sergeant major of the Second Kansas infantry. He then organized a company of the guard in Kansas in 1906, and had reached the rank of major in 1915, when detailed for border service. On May 28, 1917, he was detailed for a tour of instruction at Fort Sill, Oklahoma. In October, 1, with 4,000 other Kansas men, he was mobilized and arrived in France in April, 1918, after a training period. He served in the Alsace sector, in the Argonne-Meuse, east of Verdun, and for a time was stationed in the Commercy area. Colonel O'Connor is now a member of the organized reserves.

A delegate to the Paris caucus of the American Legion, Colonel O'Connor has been an enthusiastic worker for the organization. He organized and was first commander of the Winfield post of the Legion, has served as state historian, and is an active member of the Forty and Eight.

RENAME BOATS FOR HEROES

Metropolitan Firemen's Legion Post of Boston Honors Members Who Gave Lives in War.

Believing that heroic deeds of members of the city fire department who perished in the World war should be commemorated, the Metropolitan Firemen's post of the American Legion in Boston has caused three fireboats to be renamed in honor of the department's dead heroes.

These three vessels, formerly known as Engine 31, Engine 44, and Engine 47 were rechristened as the John P. Dowd, Thomas A. Ring, and Angus MacDonald, respectively, at a special ceremony conducted by the Legion.

State and post officials, municipal officers and three thousand firemen of the department participated in the ceremony. Mayor James P. Curley was the principal speaker.

On the pilot house of each boat was placed a bronze tablet, reciting the valorous deeds of the man for whom the vessel was named. These tablets were unveiled by relatives of the war victims. A firing squad from the navy fired a salute as each boat was rechristened.

Home for California Post.

When the county supervisors of Tehama county, Cal., ordered the building of a new court house, the Red Bluff post of the American Legion succeeded in securing a portion of the old building for use as a Legion home. Only slight changes and repairs were necessary to make it into an excellent building for the Legion's purposes.

Local Items

So well pleased with the graveling on the road south from town was Lippo Blank that he presented the Town of Klemme wih a crisp $5.00 bill. We need more men like that in the world who are boosters and appreciate good improvements.

The first snow of the season fell Saturday, October 27th, and Monday it came down in real ernest for a time. It is practically all gone again now and the weather is beginning to warm up. We publish this mainly for the benefit of Walt Bloom out in sunny Los Angeles.

Tuesday morning was house-cleaning ime at the Methodist church and quite an army of men and women gathered to make it spick and span for the winter. Tomorrow afternoon the Ladies Aid will invade the Parish House and will give that the once over with "Old Dutch", the kind that chases dirt. The Parish House, as he old English church is now called, will be used for all kinds of social purposes by the Ladies Aid, W. F. M. S. and Sunday school parties, etc.

DOGS KILLING SHEEP NEAR KLEMME

Dr. D. P. Anderson was in our office yesterday and told us of a case he has been called out on several times of late to administer veterinary service to sheep which had been severely injured by dogs.

The incident happened among the sheep on Roy Schaefer's farm. He has already lost three or four fine sheep that had been killed by dogs or died from the effects of dog bites. Some of the sheep which had been bitten are being cared for by Dr. Anderson. In some cases he had to amputate their ears and in others to sews up torn flesh where the dogs had bitten the sheep.

Sheep killing dogs are a menance and more stringent laws should be passed as a farmer loosing sheep by dogs is only allowed a very small sum by the county for heep killed in this manner.

Sheep killing dogs are as cunning as wolves and it is a hard matter to shoot them; this would be the best remedy, or a wholesale shooting of all stray dogs would help a great deal.

Alcohol

FOR YOUR RADIATOR

We have a big supply of denatured ALCOHOL on hand at this station now—the very kind we can buy, for your radiator. Drive in and we will put the proper mixture of alcohol and water in your radiator for any kind of freezing weather. Let us take care of your radiator this winte and test it for you and you take no chances on freezing it up and paying a costly repair bill.

WINTER OILS

Let us drain your car and refill with the proper grade of winter oil for your motor.

Drive up and fill 'er up!

Lewis' Service Station

Henry Lewis, Prop.

WORLD'S GREATEST BANKING SYSTEM

By CRAIG B. HAZLEWOOD
President Association of Reserve City Bankers

C. B. Hazlewood

Conceived in the spirit of common good, for the best interests of government, banks and public alike, based on broad and correct principles relating to the nation's currency and credit, the Federal Reserve System represents the greatest piece of economic legislation enacted by an American Congress. The System's record of achievement through a world war, an inflation period of dizzy heights, and months of serious and costly liquidation. It is a matter of greatest importance that very earnest and patriotic thought be given to the two questions: How far has the system succeeded, and in what particulars has it failed, to give our country as strong and as useful a financial system as human mind can devise?

The hope and expectation of those who framed the Federal Reserve Act that the machinery set-up for the origination, distribution and automatic retirement of currency issue, which should be entirely responsive to the needs of trade and the varying conditions of business, have been wonderfully well realized. Every possible effort must be exerted to preserve the Federal Reserve System from political alliance and to keep its powerful influence entirely devoted to the building up of the greatest banking system in the world.

The first bank of the United States was established in 1791 and failed to obtain a renewal of its charter in 1811, the opponents charging that the bank was a "money trust" controlled by foreigners, a tool in the hands of the Federalists, and that the act chartering the bank was unconstitutional. Note the use of the words "money trust." We have the idea that this is a modern term. The suspicions which animate the demagogue today have not changed in a century.

The second bank of the United States was chartered in 1816 and failed to obtain a renewal of its charter in 1831, the reasons being a widespread belief that the bank was unconstitutional, the hostility of the states the opposition of the state banks, the rise of democracy, and the envy and hatred which the poor always feel toward the rich.

Both banks functioned well and accomplished much for the country during crucial times. The downfall of both was caused simply and solely by attempts to place the determination of banking policies in the hands of political authorities.

The delicate handling of currency and credit, to the high end that the best interests of all may be served with special privilege to none, cannot be left to others than those who are competent through proven judgment and experience. The danger of politics in the Federal Reserve System is a real one; upon us is placed the grave responsibility of forever keeping the great system clean.

Horse Gets Up on Hearing Policeman Say He'll Shoot

Cleveland, O.—Frank is a white horse with a naturally meek expression, who hauls a rubbish wagon for the city. The other day Frank fell on the snow-covered street.

All attempts to get him to his feet failed.

A policeman said: "Well, I guess I'll have to shoot him and put him out of his misery."

Frank stirred and got to his feet.

Hall's Catarrh Medicine will do what we claim for it—rid your system of Catarrh or Deafness caused by Catarrh.

Sold by druggists for over 40 years

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio

THE CRYSTAL CAFE

THE HOME OF GOOD EATS

CANDIES— —SOFT DRINKS— —CIGARS

MEALS and LUNCHES

Fresh Bread Always on Hand Buy It Here

Our motto is fair treatment and prompt service

We solicit your patronage. Come and see us.

CONRAD QUANDT, Proprietor

GEORGE ZINN, M. D.

Physician and Surgeon

Office opposite from Hotel Klemme

Phone No. 19

Eyes Examined Glasses Fitted

UNJUST RESULTS OF MONEY PLANS

Unsound Currency Gives Sellers Unfair Advantage Over the Producers.

EXPERT EXPLAINS MONEY

Points Out Dangers in So-Called "Energy Dollars—Other Plans Exposed.

How demagogues are using false doctrines of so-called "sound money" to give themselves or the class they represent unfair advantages at the expense of real producers is exposed in the Journal of the American Bankers Association by H. Parker Willis, expert on the money question.

"There is no subject in whose name more crimes against truth have been committed than that of 'sound currency,'" Mr. Willis says. "The term is always resorted to by demagogues. At the present moment there seems to be a danger that it will be used by a potential presidential candidate as representing the 'platform' upon which he expects to run. There is no question that more nearly and directly touches the immediate welfare of every class in the community."

Purpose of Money

Primary functions of money and currency, it is explained, are to serve as a means of exchanging goods and as a means of measuring the value of goods. Mr. Willis continues:

"Demagogues and those who are disposed to mislead the public for various ulterior reasons have succeeded in disseminating an entirely different view of the purpose of money. Some of them contend that the soundest or best currency is that which is so arranged as to bring about a 'fair' redistribution of wealth. They want a constantly depreciating currency—one which keeps playing into the hands of the seller of goods, by enabling him to count confidently upon higher prices in terms of money so that he pays the producer from whom he has obtained them less and less. IT IS A STRANGE THING THAT THIS KIND OF CURRENCY IS OFTEN HIGHLY PRAISED OR FAVORED BY THE PRODUCER HIMSELF, NOTWITHSTANDING THAT HE IS THE GREATEST SUFFERER FROM IT."

Energy Currency

There is another popular view of sound currency which aims to base it upon "natural products" or "natural forces"—usually it is true, specifying products or forces which have been monopolized or can be controlled by the advocate of such currency. Thus from time to time there have been schemes to issue a currency based upon or protected by farm products stored in warehouses or occasionally representing "units of energy" or horse power.

The rulers of Soviet Russia at one time attempted to introduce a currency representing "labor time," each man receiving a check representing the number of hours of time he had put in at work, while goods themselves were to be valued in terms of hours of production time. Thus one man who put in an hour's time in street cleaning received the same control over goods as he who put in an hour's time at surgery. The theory was that this kind of "sound" currency enabled the "poor man" to get a larger supply of goods.

"The trouble was that when those who could perform a certain kind of labor were not paid in proportion to their effort they stopped making goods. So it was not very long in Russia before the sound currency which was issued in favor of the poor man had brought it about that the poor man could not buy anything with the currency. This was an unfortunate kind of 'soundness.' We do not want something like it in the United States today, yet very similar proposals are now being made in a good many quarters that ought to know better," says Mr. Willis.

FACTS ABOUT CHECKS

A bank check is a written order on a bank by one of its depositors to pay a specified sum to another party. This instrument must be dated, the amount written in full in the body, and signed the same as the depositor's signature appears on the bank signature card and ledger sheet.

A check is payable on demand, provided it is not dated ahead. If dated ahead it becomes a promise to pay, the same as a note or acceptance, payable on some future date. United States revenue stamps are required on a check dated ahead, at the rate of 2 cents per hundred dollars, or fraction thereof.

In case a check carries two different figures, that is $2.00 in the figures and "Two Hundred Dollars" in the written part of the body of the check, the latter, or part in writing, always controls.

A check made out to a person "or order," requires identification, and the party presenting the same must assure the bank that he is the payee. A check to a person "or bearer" is payable to the one presenting it at the bank, but a certain amount of identification is necessary, for the bank reserves the right to know that he is entitled to receive the funds.

News of Goodell And Vicinty

Miss Schoenwetter spent Sunday at the Ed. Hemingway home.

Miss Ina Ahrenkeil left for an extended visit at Cedar Rapids.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Strasburg of Meservey visited at the J. Griggs home Sunday.

The High School pupils and their teachers had a weiner roast last Tuesday evening.

The North Avery Progressive Club met at the J. J. Cook home Friday night.

Carl Sandberg, who is attending school at Ames, spent the week end at home.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Hemingway were entertaining relatives from Williams Sunday.

The Masquerade dance was well attended. Everybody had a good time. Ethel Church and Thomas Quigley took the prizes.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Cashman are enjoying a visit from their son, Francis, who has been working in Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. Dennie Conlan spent Wednesday evening at the J. Griggs home. They listened to a very fine radio program.

Warner Butts was called to Rochester last Wednesday by the serious illness of his sister. He was accompanied by Mrs. Wesenberg.

Miss Berniece Butts, who has been in the Rochester, Minnesota, hospital, returned to her home in Belmond. She is somewhat better. Miss Clime is teaching in her place.

A farm bureau meeting was held at the Center School house Wednesday evening. Mr. Nutty was there with his pictures. Refreshments were served.

Golden State Limited Rock Island

only 3 nights en route to California

Los Angeles
San Diego
Santa Barbara

Through tourist sleepers Tuesdays and Thursdays from Twin Cities and Des Moines. First car Nov. 6. Standard sleepers every day in the year.

Consult Rock Island Ticket Agent or address

C. C. [illegible], G. A. P. D. Rock Island Lines, 600 Royal Union Life Bldg., Des Moines, Iowa

RECEPTION TO BE GIVEN

On Tuesday evening, November 6th, the confederated Methodist Churches of Klemme will give a reception to Rev. Gauger and family, and to the school teachers of Klemme. Every member of the churches is requested to be present to join in giving this reception.

This reception will be given at the Idle Hour theatre.

NEW POOL HALL OPENED HERE

Mr. LuVerne Smith has opened a pool room in his restaurant building, having removed all the fixtures except tobacco and candy cases and has converted the place into an up-to-date place of amusement.

He has installed four tables and equipment.

There has been no pool room in the city since Etchen Bros. place was destroyed by fire sometime ago.

Hayfield Home Burns

HAYFIELD, Nov. 1.—The Geddes bungalow, occupied by the V. F. Oleson family was totally destroyed by fire Sunday evening about 9:00 o'clock. The family was calling on a neighbor at the time and the cause of the fire was unknown. The loss was partially covered by insurance. The Oleson family will occupy the suite of rooms recently vacated by the Allen family.

Typewriter ribbons at the Times Print Shop. Black, and Red and Black for all standard machines, at 75c. There is no better ribbon than the Remington. tfc

NOTICE—To call your attention: Come and sell your hogs on the Klemme Market at the North Elevator. Call at the Lau Office here. Hogs are bought six days a week and top prices are paid always. Telephone Office No. 16, House No. 2965. A. C. LAU & SON, WALTER LAU —Buyers—

NEW YORK SAMPLES

Our "Road Man" will put on a—

2 Day Sale

of Ladies, brushed all over, worsted—

GOLF COATS

—in several styles, with fancy fronts perfectly blended.

TWO DAYS ONLY—

Nov. 9-10

—at—

Wellemeyer's

Now is the time to get your—

Stephens Car

1924 MODELS READY

Powered with 60 H. P. Perfected built-in Valve in Head Motor.

The STEPHENS has no equal for the price.

Note these prices—

5 Passenger Touring	$1295.00
5 Pass. Touring Sedan	$1595.00
4 Door Sedan	$1995.00

(F. O. B. Freeport, Ill.)

We sell the—

Durant 4

"JUST A REAL GOOD CAR"

Lau Auto Co.

Phone 538 Mason City, Iowa

Phone 538

Corn Picking Time

Is the time to buy

Beef Quarters

Pork Quarters

Ask Us About Prices

J. P. Larsen & Sons

The Klemme Meat Market

DENTIST

J. L. Hesselhuus, D. D. S.
Office Hours 8-12 1-5:30
Office Opposite State Savings Bank; In Schaffer Bldg.
Evening Work By Appointment Only
Phone 81
Klemme, Ia.

TYPEWRITER RIBBONS
All Makes

Typewriter Ribbons for sale at the Times Office all of the Standard makes. Ribbons 75 cents each.

PAVEY'S STORMIZING SHOP
Authorized Service
Auto Mechanics & General Blacksmithing

We Do Complete Overhauling and Rebuilding

There is a time in the life of every motor when minor repairs, adjustments, tinkering and patch work DOES NOT PAY. That's when you need Complete Overhauling. We are splendidly equipped to give you Prompt and Efficient Service RIGHT NOW!

"All Kustomers Instantly Accomodated"

How Money Grows

Two dollars saved every week, or even one dollar a week, soon becomes a sum that you're glad to call your own.

Small, steady, savings, helped by compound interest, quickly grow.

Call and ask us to show you the exact figures. You'll be surprised to see how quickly small savings add up.

A bank account of your own gives you confidence and wins the respect of your fellow men. And when the right opportunity comes, ready money of your own is a big stepping stone to success.

We will be glad to talk it over with you and to lay out a saivngs plan, if you wish.

First National Bank

"The Bank for Everybody'."

AIN SAZ

HARLES TENNEY JACI

C

mellias? Let's see? Why, Jean—last night—"

"Silence—fool!" whispered Gorgio. He seized upon the fellow; he bore him along with his bull-necked strength against his back.

"He is utterly drunk," murmured Dominique. "Come, gentlemen—let us to our morning coffee at Maspero's!" He took the mayor's arm, turning him hurriedly. A block distant the councilor looked back, fiddling with his velvet cuff nervously. The Catalan vagabond was dragging his comrade along.

CIGARETTES' POPULARITY IN IOWA GAINS; CLAIM

DUBUQUE, Oct. 30.—The cigaret is making as great gains in popularity and sales in Iowa as elsewhere in the country, according to figures compiled by Lars Bladine, for collector of internal revenue for the Iowa district.

Cigaret sales increased from 14,294,895,471 in 1913 to 60,878,295,907 in 1923, his statistics show. These figures do not include the "roll your own" brands.

Cigar sales dropped from 9,000,000,000 in 1913 to 7,704,694,199 in 1923. Mr. Bladine explains that the war stimulated smoking of cigarets, and that many pipe and cigar smokers turned to cigarets because they are more convenient to the average smoker, aking less time to consume and costing less. He doubts whether women are smoking enough cirages to affect the sales much.

Township Recod Books Avaliable

A revised record book for township farm bureau secretaries has been printed. A copy may be secured thru the county farm bureau offices or direct from the secretary of the extension service, Ames, Iowa. The books are sold at cost, 15 cents each.

KLEMME DRAYLINE
Phone 2[illegible]6
A share of your patronage is solicited. All work attended to promptly and carefully.
Hard coal quick
LLOYD LAU[illegible], PR[illegible]

THE PERIL OF EDISON-FORD'S MONEY SCHEME

Would Create More Paper Money Than Russia's Trillions But Add No Real Wealth.

SOME DANGEROUS FALLACIES

Would Remove Safe Restraint of Gold Basis and Open Way to Endless Issues of Paper Money.

How the United States would be swamped, under a greater volume of worthless paper money than has ruined Germany and Russia, by the Edison-Ford commodity currency plan is pointed out in the present article, concluding the reviews, prepared by the American Bankers Association, of the recent exposure of the folly of the whole scheme by William T. Foster, Director of the Pollack Foundation for Economic Research. Mr. Foster says:

"'The supply of money,' says Mr. Ford, 'is inadequate. There is more wealth than there is money to move it.' He draws a vivid picture of 'the golden dam to the stream of prosperity.' From a hundred quarters comes the demand for the government to speed up the printing presses, in order to crush 'the money monopoly,' reduce interest rates, and make it easier for everybody to get money.

"Inflating the currency, however, though it enables people to get more units of currency, does not enable them to obtain more purchasing power, and it does not reduce interest rates. In all her history Germany never had so much money or as high interest rates as in 1922. Money, unlike other forms of wealth, is not easier to obtain simply because the total supply is increased. On the contrary, increasing the supply of money ordinarily increases the demand for money, and interest rates depend not on supply but on the relation between supply and demand.

A Dangerous Fallacy

"We are assured, however, that the Ford-Edison plan provides money for the farmer at virtually no expense to the government or to anyone else. All the government has to do is to print the money. What could be simpler? Here we come to the most dangerous fallacy in the whole project. It is dangerous because of the universal desire to get something for nothing.

"Here is the gist of the matter: Money will buy whatever is produced, not a particle more by any trick of alchemy, or legislation, or finance. The Russians, having multiplied their money 257,000 times, cannot buy as much with it as before. When we print more money there are no more goods for money to buy; not a single additional plow, or hat, or potato.

"Some of those who get the newly printed money can buy more goods than before; all other people can buy fewer goods than before, because their money has fallen off in purchasing power. Since there are no more plows, and hats, and potatoes, and so on, to distribute, if some people get more, others must get less.

"Inflation under the Edison plan is limited mainly because, on account of its indefensible discrimination, most groups of producers of goods and services are not allowed to participate. If all groups were included, as in fairness and in politics they would have to be eventually, the posibilities of inflation would be vast.

The Deadly Spiral

"The total income of the United States is now in excess of fifty billions of dollars. The total money in circulation, including bank deposits subject to check, is not far from twenty-five billions. It follows that the annual production, if used as a basis for new issues on the Edison plan, could at once greatly increase the volume of money in circulation. Every addition to the monetary supply would tend to raise prices. The higher prices became, the higher would be the loan value of a given volume of goods since the size of the loans is based on values and not volume. The greater, therefore, would be the volume of new money that could be issued on the basis of a given annual production. Prices would become still higher; and so on up an endless spiral.

"Even in Russia, where financial printing presses hold the world's record for volume, where new issues of two hundred trillions of rubles per month stagger the imagination, the people complain that 'there is not enough money to do business with.' Without the arbitrary restraint of the gold basis, and with Muscle Shoals inflationists, and sundry other kinds of inflationists constantly pressing their claims upon Congress, it is not at all certain that the United States, once well on the road to financial chaos, would in the end be outrun by Russia."

BANKS HELP CLUB WORK

Yakima County Banks in the State of Washington have loaned $8,670 to boy and girl club members. Yakima County has twenty-nine pig club members, twenty-four poultry club members and forty-three dairy club members. Dairy club members are all using pure-bred stock, local breeders and bankers co-operating with them to the fullest extent.

MAKING CAPITALISTS OUT OF WORKMEN

Festus J. Wade Says Anarchy Disappears With the Development of Thrift.

When the savings pass-book comes into a man's life to stay the red flag goes out. What the country needs is to bring about a condition whereby the man who works with his hands shall take the same interest in his affairs as the capitalist does in his. Probably the best way to do this would be to turn the workman into a capitalist. And this is exactly what he becomes when he saves his money and builds up a reserve fund. He remains a capitalist as long as he holds on to that money. The satisfaction of seeing his money reserve mount up will discourage the waster to take a layoff now and then. It will encourage him to work a full six-day week and thereby increase the labor hours applied to production.

The American people can solve any problem they set themselves to We provided for a sound currency when the greenbackers and inflationists were routed and the gold basis established. The Federal Reserve Bank was established and solved a problem for which most people thought there was no solution. A number of years ago, when there was a crisis or when a bank failed, we all used to shut up our vaults tight and let nothing get out. Instead of bettering conditions we made them worse. Now if failures occur few people, except those directly interested, are disturbed.

Perhaps the most important problem of all right now is to do away with labor waste. It never can be done by preaching, by agitatian or by force. It can be done by selling the workman on the idea of becoming a capitalist. This can be brought about by the right kind of bank advertising. Who is there to say that an advertising dollar bringing about this result would not be a constructive dollar?—Festus J. Wade.

News from Washington. Think coal prices will go up. We made a mistake. That isn't news.

We Get Further On RED CROWN GASOLINE, And POLARINE LUBRICATING OILS

—Phone—

8505

J. J. POORT, Agent
Klemme, Iowa

STANDARD OIL CO.
Thank You.

Mail Order Service

If you are unable to come to shop we will be pleased to send shoes on approval. Write or phone 489, Mason City) and the shoes will follow by return mail.

Woodruff's

Mason City — Good Shoes

Does "Seventy-One Years of Service" Mean Nothing?

IF YOU owned a complicated business, and it had weathered the lean years and was just beginning to pay, would you take it out of the hands of trained management and ask an inexperienced person to run it? Would you?

Transportation is a complicated business, and you are a partner, a user, or both. It has weathered the lean years and is just beginning to pay its owners—the American people. And yet, there are a few radicals who would impair the service of this vital transportation system of America, throw it into disorder, and finally, Government Ownership.

Must American business pay this price? Shall practical experience or practical politics run the railroads?

The Rock Island for more than two generations, under able management, has made it possible to develop the Middle West. It has been a pioneer.

Does the skill and experience reflected in our slogan—"Seventy-One Years of Service"—mean nothing?

Our interests are mutual. Helpful suggestions are appreciated.

Rock Island Lines

J. E. Gorman, President

Rock Island

"Seventy-one Years of Service"

THE motoring public has been emphatic in its approval of the new Ford Four-Door Sedan. In all parts of the country its stylish appearance and inviting interior have brought the car instantly into great demand.

Now, at its reduced price, it presents a more compelling value than ever. Although better looking, roomier, easier riding, it is listed at forty dollars less.

$685.00 f. o. b. Detroit

This good-looking, comfortable, and dependable Ford selling at this low price offers an agreeable solution to your closed car problems.

These cars can be obtained through the Ford Weekly Purchase Plan.

Griemann Motor Co.

Ford

CARS · TRUCKS · TRACTORS

DOCTORS WANTED TO OPERATE

Mrs. Quillon Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Saved Her from an Operation

Muskegon, Michigan.—"After doctoring for eight or nine years with different physicians without any relief at all, they said at last that medicine would not reach my case and I should have an operation. I had heard of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and often saw it advertised in different papers where some women had suffered just as I did and got well and strong again by taking the Vegetable Compound. I decided to see what it would do for me, and before I had finished the fourth bottle I was much better, the weakness stopped and the severe pains in my sides left me. I am now much stronger and do my own work and work in the factory besides. I am still taking the Vegetable Compound and give it all the praise."—Mrs. NELLIE QUILLON, 17 Morris St., Muskegon, Mich.

Women should heed such warning symptoms as bearing-down pains and weakness, for they indicate some female trouble, and a persistent and faithful use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will seldom fail to help.

Anyway, the obese female who has outgrown the corset habit looks comfortable.

WOMEN! DYE FADED THINGS NEW AGAIN

Dye or Tint Any Worn, Shabby Garment or Drapery.

Diamond Dyes

Each 15-cent package of "Diamond Dyes" contains directions so simple that any woman can dye or tint any old, worn, faded thing new, even if she has never dyed before. Choose any color at drug store.—Advertisement.

What is your environment doing to you? Study that.

Where fear is present wisdom cannot be.

BACK ACHY?

Lame and achy in the morning? Tortured with backache all day long? No wonder you feel worn out and discouraged! But have you given any thought to your kidneys? Weak kidneys cause just such troubles; and you are likely to have headaches, too, with dizziness, stabbling pains and bladder irregularities. Don't risk neglect! Use Doan's Kidney Pills. Doan's have helped thousands. They should help you. Ask your neighbor!

An Iowa Case

Mrs. Thomas Kelley, E. Main St., Osage, Iowa, says: "My back was lame and weak and ached a great deal of the time. The trouble was brought on by a cold. My kidneys were weak and irregular in action and I suffered with blurred sight and dizziness. I used Doan's Kidney Pills and it wasn't long before they relieved the trouble."

Get Doan's at Any Store, 60c a Box

DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS

FOSTER-MILBURN CO., BUFFALO, N. Y.

CORNS

Stop their pain in one minute!

For quick lasting relief from corns, Dr. Scholl's Zino-pads stop the pain in one minute by removing the cause—friction and pressure.

Zino-pads are thin, safe, antiseptic, healing, waterproof and cannot produce infection or any bad after-effects. Three sizes—for corns, callouses and bunions. Cost but a trifle. Get a box today at your druggist's or shoe dealer's.

Dr Scholl's Zino-pads

Put one on - the pain is gone

CURES COLDS — LA GRIPPE in 24 Hours — HILL'S — in 3 Days

CASCARA BROMIDE QUININE

Standard cold remedy world over. Demand box bearing Mr. Hill's portrait and signature.

At All Druggists—30 Cents

Let Cuticura Be Your Beauty Doctor

Soap 25c, Ointment 25 and 50c, Talcum 25c.

Sues Tenants for Using Roof

Landlord Says Crowd Watching Picture Show Damages Building.

New York.—Whether a landlord has a right to prevent tenants from congregating nightly on the roof with from 100 to 200 friends for a free view of an outdoor moving picture show next door is to be decided in the Supreme court as the result of a suit filed by Jacob London, owner of the two six-story tenement houses at 54 and 58 West One Hundred and Sixteenth street, adjoining a theater, which operates an outdoor moving picture show on the roof all summer.

Mr. London in his complaint asks for an injunction restraining fifteen tenants, all named as defendants, from congregating on the roof at any time to witness moving picture performances; from holding meetings or assemblages on the roof; from gathering collectively on the roof for social or amusement purposes; from occupying windows connected with the common halls to witness moving picture performances; from inviting, soliciting, encouraging or urging persons to assemble with them, either on the roofs or in the halls, on the stoop or at the hall windows to witness moving picture performances or for any unlawful purpose, and from continuing to perpetrate alleged damage, injury or loss to plaintiff's property.

Many Views Shown Free.

Isaac Stanislaw, agent of the property, said in an affidavit that there are 24 tenants in each of the houses, which were built 17 years ago. The roofs were recently recovered with a plastic slate rubber at a cost of $700. The agent said that each night from 8:30 to 11:30 o'clock the defendants congregated on the roof adjoining the theater, paying no heed to the watchman who ordered them away. They took chairs, boxes and other objec to the roof, he said, and invite friends and relatives, sometimes many as 200, to see the show f nothing.

"The roofs are not rented to t defendants," said the agent, "and a the exclusive property of the plainti None of the defendants has license authority to go on the roofs for ar purpose, and deponent has made v hement protest."

Alleged damage done by the night roof parties, he said, was as follow

"Coping on westerly wall of No. entirely broken; roof damaged in v rious places; vent pipes broken fro their bearings; bricks over the sta way leading to the roof demolished

Sues Husband Who Hurled Pies at Her

Chicago.—Because she objected to being a test of her husband's versatile employments, Mrs. Joseph Fronzak has filed suit here for divorce.

She declared she was used as a sparring partner because her husband was an amateur boxer, and as a target for pie throwing rehearsals because her husband was a substitute comedy actor in the "movies."

Many Defective Children Found

Government Bureau Reports on Study of 6,015 of Pre-School Age at Gary, Ind.

Washington.—Large percentages of undernourishment and physical defects were found in a group of 6,015 young children of Gary, Ind., studied by the United States Department of Labor through the children's bureau. The Gary study is the first investigation by the bureau of the "neglected age of childhood"—between babyhood and school.

Two reports have been written on the results of this study. The first, called "Physical Status of Pre-School Children," was issued last year. The second, called "Children of Pre-School Age in Gary, Ind.," and dealing with general child welfare conditions, especially nutrition, is now in press.

Results of the second study show the poverty of diet among nearly all the children.

Diets of Children Classified.

The diets of 6,015 children, all from two to seven years, were classified into five groups, A, B, C, D and E, according to their adequacy and suitability for children of these years. Of the "A" diet the report says:

"The 'A' diet is not one difficult of attainment. It is merely any diet capable of meeting the body's needs and administered with some consideration for the child's age and development. Moreover, such a diet need not be an expensive one—milk, whole cereal, and fruit or vegetable daily being sufficient to allow a diet to qualify in this group—and it is the easiest possible kind of diet to prepare. This being the case it might be expected that the large majority of the children would fall into the 'A' diet group.

"These facts notwithstanding, only 25 of the 6,015 children—less than half of 1 per cent of the total number—were thus fortunate. Furthermore, the number classed as having 'B' diets (probably adequate in food requirements though unsuitable in character and including but a pint of milk) was likewise small, amounting to 8.5 per cent of the whole group. Less than 10 per cent of the children studied, in other words, were receiving diets which appeared adequate to their needs. Almost three times this number (29.2 per cent) had diets (C) whose adequacy was highly questionable; and nearly two-thirds of the entire group (60.5 per cent) were found to have diets plainly incapable of covering all their bodily requirements, 58.4 per cent being in the D group and 2.1 per cent (5 times the percentage of A's) in the extremely inadequate E group."

Foods Analyzed in Detail.

The report analyzes in detail the use of certain staple foods among the children, for instance:

Only 18.9 per cent of all the children were getting a pint of milk a day and 57.2 per cent had no milk at all to drink. Two-thirds of the entire group were found to drink coffee habitually and 40 per cent to have it more than once a day.

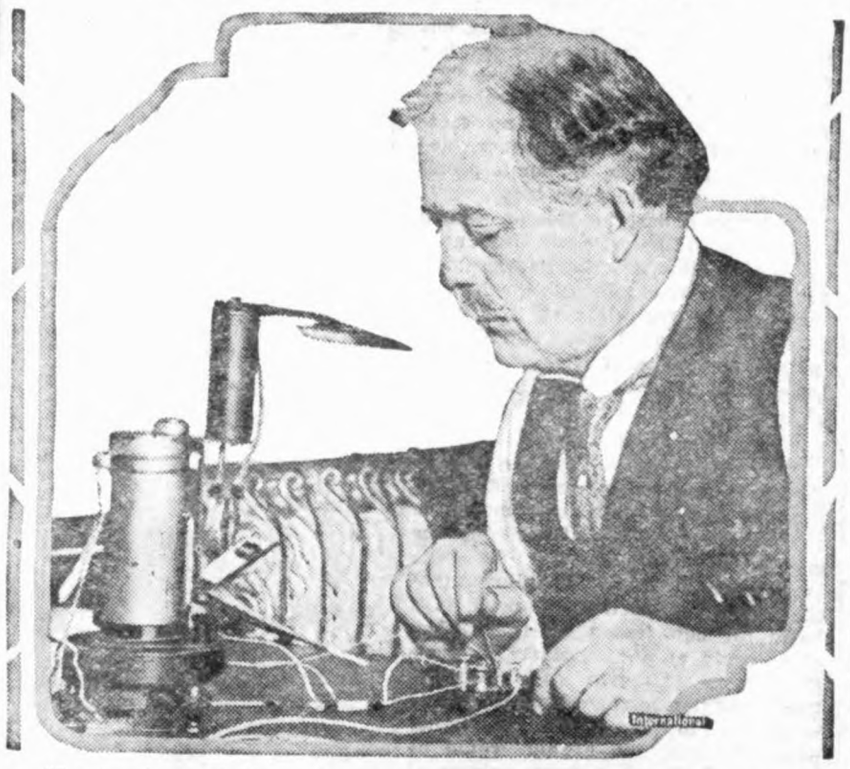
"Milk is not the only desirable food which was little used," the report states, "since vegetables, fruits, cereals and eggs were likewise conspicuously lacking.

"The extreme poverty of the diets is further shown by the fact that nearly half (45.5 per cent) of them lacked as many as four of the foods usually included in a child's diet."

Slightly over half of the children studied were given physical examinations; 64.7 per cent were found to have decayed teeth, and 14.9 per cent had bone defects which are the result of a deficiency diet. Only 4.8 per cent had no defects at all. Over a third had more than five distinct physical defects. Children with adequate diets (classed as A and B) made a better showing than the rest of the group. Over four times as high a percentage of these children were free from defects as of the children receiving deficient diets (classed as D and E).

The report also analyzes other conditions affecting children of this age, including community conditions, child care and hygiene, and dental care.

New Detector of Criminals



The "soul searcher" is the latest scientific machine to wring the truth from criminals, only Dr. Albert Scheider, here shown with the apparatus at the Criminology department of the University of California at Berkeley, calls it a capillary electrometer, being an improvement on laboratory equipment used for years. The suspect is asked to give the first word that comes into his mind after a word is furnished him by the questioner. His mental vibrations, transmitted through his fingers, are recorded and if they jump very high it's a sure sign he is guilty.

Weds Fiance's Brother.

Empire, O.—When the time came for the ceremony which was to make Albert Gano and Miss Julia Mahalko, of this city, man and wife, Albert had disappeared. A wait followed. Then Albert's brother Michael, whispered to the bride-to-be, she nodded assent, and five minutes later she was Michael's wife.

REINDEERS GLUT MARKET; U. S. TO SOLVE PROBLEM

Animals Have Multiplied Too Rapidly in Alaska.

Seattle, Wash.—Confronted with the problem of having so many reindeer he does not know what to do with them, Uncle Sam, through his division of education in Alaska, is reorganizing the service. W. L. Lopp, superintendent of education of the natives in northern Alaska, has been ordered to remove his office at once to Anchorage.

The reindeer service in the past year has completely outgrown its organization, the animals having multiplied so rapidly they number in excess of 300,000. During this season 80,000 calves were born.

Most of the natives are facing the difficulty of possessing herds so large they cannot handle them and some plan must be devised for marketing the animals.

The big herds of the government have increased rapidly and the fixing of boundaries of ranges for the reindeer must be done at once. At present the innumerable herds of reindeer are roaming the public domain.

Native herders who started out five or six years ago with two dozen reindeer have become owners of 1,000 to 5,000. From 11 individual herds in 1918 there has been an increase to 109 herds in August this year.

The discovery of large areas of reindeer moss on the northern slopes of Mount McKinley resulted in a herd of 1,800 reindeer being driven there for pasturage. This summer this herd nearly doubled.

At this time of year caribou pass the interior settlements on their southward trend to winter quarters, and settlers lay in their winter's supply of meat free of cost. Reindeer cannot hope to become a meat product until the caribou cease to pass human habitations.

During this season from 6,000 to 10,000 frozen reindeer carcasses passed through here en route to New York, distributing point for Nome reindeer shippers. Alaska's tundras and moss regions are capable of feeding 1,000,000 reindeer.

Man With Broken Back Expected to Walk Again

Middletown, N. Y.—Although George W. Hayes' back was broken a year ago when a car under which he was working at Mayhrook fell on him, it is thought by physicians that he may be able to walk again. Paralysis has gradually disappeared. His case is regarded as remarkable.

Put 'Phones Out of Order.

Easton, Me.—All the telephones on the 21 lines at Easton were out of commission for about 36 hours recently because a woman fastened a wire that supported her vines to the telephone wire on the walls of her house

News of Goodell And Vicinty

Miss Schoenwetter spent Sunday the Ed. Hemingway home.

Miss Ina Ahrenkeil left for an extended visit at Cedar Rapids.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Strasburg of eservey visited at the J. Griggs me Sunday.

The High School pupils and their achers had a weiner roast last esday evening.

The North Avery Progressive Club et at the J. J. Cook home Friday ght.

Carl Sandberg, who is attending hool at Ames, spent the week end

So easy! You just mix water with AUNT JEMIMA Pancake Flour, and bake 'em.

AUNT JEMIMA PANCAKES!

Observing Person.

Mrs. Newrich—What's that cross on your coat, John?

Mr. Newrich—It's in case the press take our photos. 'Aven't you noticed it's those marked with a cross that gets their names printed under the pictures?—London Bystander.

Art of Cutting.

It is the contributor to a new who first learns how many sen can be cut out to the great im ment of an article.

People with the least to say ta most.

At the Beach.

She—How is Gladys this summer?

He—Oh, she is getting along in fine shape!

Sometimes all that a sad man needs to make him jolly is just fifty pounds more avoirdupois.

Assuredly.

"Did any of your family ever a brilliant marriage?"

"Only my wife."

Sometimes the "rank outsider" one look around and prefers to outside.

for Economical Transportation

CHEVROLET

Every Farm Needs Two

EVERY farm needs two automobiles, one of which should be a closed model Chevrolet.

The open touring car is best for general farm use, carrying passengers or perhaps miscellaneous bulky produce or merchandise, but for cold or rainy weather, and for church or social use the family needs a closed car, either a 2-passenger Utility Coupé as illustrated, or the 5-passenger Sedan. The extra large rear compartment is a feature of the Coupé.

These closed cars are very finely made, furnished, upholstered and trimmed. The windows are of plate glass and can be lowered, providing as much air as an open car, yet affording full protection against wind, rain, snow or cold when raised.

With a second car on a farm, one is always available for those at home when the other car is out.

The low prices of Chevrolet make the ownership of two cars feasible for most farm families.

CHEVROLET MOTOR CO., DETROIT, MICH.
Division of General Motors Corporation

Prices Effective September 1, 1923 f. o. b. Flint, Michigan

Superior 2-Pass. Roadster	$490
Superior 5-Pass. Touring	495
Superior 2-Pass. Utility Coupé	640
Superior 5-Pass. Sedan	795
Superior Commercial Chassis	395
Superior Light Delivery	495
Utility Express Truck Chassis	550

Five United States manufacturing plants, seven assembly plants and two Canadian plants give us the largest production capacity in the world for high-grade cars and make possible our low prices.

Dealers and Service Stations Everywhere

SHINOLA

AMERICA'S HOME SHOE POLISH

Black - Tan - White - Ox-Blood - Brown

In the handy box that opens with a turn of the key. No broken nails or soiled hands. Softens and preserves leather. Sheds moisture. Shoe shining with SHINOLA is a nifty thrifty habit.

"The Shine for Mine"

WRIGLEY'S
After Every Meal
Have a packet in your pocket for ever-ready refreshment.
Aids digestion.
Allays thirst.
Soothes the throat.
For Quality, Flavor and the Sealed Package, get
WRIGLEY'S SPEARMINT THE PERFECT GUM
MINT LEAF FLAVOR
THE FLAVOR LASTS

ter a girl has once made up her to be a spinster she won't ge it unless some man proposes.

ayer Book says nothing yet about ips.

ousands Have Kidney Trouble and Never Suspect It

Applicants for Insurance Often Rejected.

dging from reports from druggists are constantly in direct touch with public, there is one preparation that been very successful in overcoming conditions. The mild and healing ence of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is realized. It stands the highest for markable record of success.

n examining physician for one of the inent Life Insurance Companies, in terview on the subject, made the as- hing statement that one reason why any applicants for insurance are re- d is because kidney trouble is so mon to the American people, and the majority of those whose applications declined do not even suspect that they the disease. Dr. Kilmer's Swamp- t is on sale at all drug stores in bottles two sizes, medium and large. owever, if you wish first to test this t preparation send ten cents to Dr. mer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a ple bottle. When writing be sure and tion this paper.—Advertisement.

dividuality can often exist with- gumption.

se your friends—and lose your nds.

"The last drop is as good as the first."

The delicious fragrance of

Baker's Breakfast Cocoa

Its unquestioned purity, uniformity and palatability make constant users of all who try it; it is the cocoa of high quality.

Made only by

Walter Baker & Co. Ltd.
Established 1780
Mills at Dorchester, Mass.
and Montreal, Canada
BOOKLET OF CHOICE RECIPES SENT FREE

Are You Moving to California?
We Save You 25% on Freight
Household Goods—Autos
Through car service. No transfers.
Shorter time in transit. Write
BLUE LINE STORAGE CO.
3rd & Elm, Des Moines, Iowa

FREE RADIO
Boys! Receiving Set Girls!
Do a little advertising for us and you can get Radio, Weather and Market Reports, Ball Scores right in your own home. Write us at once.
R. Z. GRAY, Dept. W29, Lebanon, Ohio

EXICO—We furnish expert, reliable informa- covering conditions and opportunities here and Commercial References. Fee $2.00, re- if inconvenient or impossible furnish infor Universal Information and Service Com Bolivar 27, Mexico City, Mexico.

CAPTAIN SAZARAC

By CHARLES TENNEY JACKSON

Copyright by The Bobbs-Merrill Company

"AND—DIE!"

SYNOPSIS.—Under the name of "Captain Sazarac," and disguised, Jean Lafitte, former freebooter of Barataria, proscribed, returns to the city of New Orleans. He is recognized by two of his old companions, Alderman Dominique and Beluche. At the gaming tables Sazarac has won much money from Colonel Carr, British officer. John Jarvis, the city's first bohemian of the arts and letters, an oldtime friend of Lafitte, tells of a woman's face and smile. As his last wager, Carr puts up a woman, presumably a slave. Custom compels Sazarac to accept the stake. He wins. His old associates and Count Raoul de Almonaster accost him as Lafitte. A project of the youthful adventurers of New Orleans is the rescue of Napoleon Bonaparte from St. Helena, and a ship, the Seraphine, has been made ready. From De Almonaster Sazarac learns that the girl he "won" at the card table is white, of high estate, and that the matter has been made a byword in the city's resorts. Sazarac finds Mademoiselle Lestron, a fellow passenger on a river steamer a few days before, and with whom he had fallen in love, is the girl and in chivalry foregoes his revenge against Carr. Jarvis admires Mademoiselle Lestron. He is a witness of the meeting and picks up a camellia which the girl had thrown, unnoticed, to Sazarac. Jarvis is dangerous; he talks too much in his cups. His old associates of the Barataria days urge Lafitte to take command of the Seraphine, ostensibly to rescue Napoleon but really to fly the black flag and cruise the seas. He hesitates. Jarvis is a witness of the kidnaping of Mademoiselle Lestron, but his story is not given credence. De Almonaster entertains Sazarac, now admittedly Jean Lafitte, at his country house.

CHAPTER V—Continued.

—7—

"And were he to order these young scions of the city's blue blood to holystone his decks, he would have to land in every isle of the Indies to settle the challenges! No, no—sir, Bonaparte is safe from these gentry!"

The two gentlemen smiled. But as they were to part, down the banquette of the rue Chartres came two figures, one supporting the other. A short, dark, ragged man whose gold earrings glistened under filthy locks, struggling to save his basket of cooked crayfish as he steered his companion on.

"Let be—" growled Gorgio, the Catalan. "Come, Jarvis—the Cafe des Refugies for you, man!"

"A ship!" bawled Jarvis. And being much the larger of the two he almost propelled the crayfish seller into the two elegant gentlemen, who stepped aside in disgust to let them pass.

"A ship! A rescue, old buccaneer!"

He lurched to the banquette, and sat there blinking. Old Gorgio hauled in vain at his sleeve. "Come, be up with me!"

But the town's first bohemian continued to fumble at his clothes.

"It was this way they went, Gorgio. I am even now on my way to the police to report of the affair. I shall appeal to the mayor—Rouillignac is not so dumb as to refuse rescue to a lady!"

"What does he babble of?" inquired Langhorne haughtily.

The painter got to his feet. He was bleeding from a gash across his brows. On his sleeve he laid a crushed and dirty camellia. Then, down the street came Mayor Rouillignac and Councilor Dominique to see what might be this public scandal. And to them Jarvis suddenly shouted his grievance.

"I was fumbling along the rue St. Peter in the mud, sober as any honest man, save that the moon kept diving past me. And there came a carriage that all but ran me down. The horses stumbled—and a lady screamed. She thrust an arm from the curtains—a white arm, I reached to touch. And a fellow within struck me . . . I got up later—I and my blossom. I swear she had more camellias in her hair! Eh, there—I have told it again! Now laugh, fools!"

"Where did you come upon this man, Monsieur Mudge?" said His Honor.

"Here, as you see—dirty and howling!" returned the merchant.

"Gorgio, take him home, and come to my clerk for a dollar," frowned the mayor. "It's drunkard's talk."

"Home?" blustered Jarvis. "A lady seized, spirited away in a galloping chaise through New Orleans' streets—and you say: 'Home!' Then romance is dead, sirs! I shall paint a fish-woman's shawl on my lady's head, and sorrow in her eyes. It was not so when Jean Lafitte was here!"

"You have dreamed—" muttered Dominique, watching him covertly. "Come with me, Jarvis."

"My skinned nose and brow—is that a dream?"

"He has stumbled nightlong about the streets," said Gorgio sullenly. Between the crayfish seller and the rotund alderman there shot glances of alert understanding. The Catalan stretched his hand to the painter and bent upon him a look of implacable fury.

"Let be!" grunted Jarvis. "Camellias? Let's see? Why, Jean—last night—"

"Silence—fool!" whispered Gorgio. He seized upon the fellow; he bore him along with his bull-necked strength against his back.

"He is utterly drunk," murmured Dominique. "Come, gentlemen—let us to our morning coffee at Maspero's!" He took the mayor's arm, turning him hurriedly. A block distant the councilor looked back, fiddling with his velvet cuff nervously. The Catalan vagabond was dragging his comrade along.

But none save the alderman saw that the hand of the one-time buccaneer was under Jarvis' arm, that his knife-point pressed there until the coat was torn.

"A word more," hissed the crayfish seller, "and—die!" Then he whispered: "Sazarac . . . and the English woman? Jean—and the wager he won? Who, then, has a better right to the woman? Home, now!—get your paint pots and paint a poultice on your broken head!"

But Gorgio had to drag the unconscious wastrel up the studio stairs, and there lock him in ere he went to a whispered conference behind a cabbage stack in the French market.

CHAPTER VI

The Mask Is Dropped.

It was after the heat of that same day that two horsemen rode out from a courtyard of the Faubourg St. Marie upon the Tchoupitoulas road.

Count de Almonaster breathed relief when the river willows hid them and the steeds broke into a gallop.

"My blacks are waiting at the ferry," he murmured; "now, Captain Sazarac, did the plainsmen teach you to ride? Come, then!" And the guest led the way in a cloud of dust. A half-dozen slaves uprose as the two dashed over the levee, dismounted and flung rein to the grooms. Then the scow-boat swung off on the muddy Mississippi, propelled by the naked-backed oarsmen.

Sazarac stood watching the willowed shores. The city was invisible, but on the western bank arose the stately facades of plantation homes among great oaks. Beyond this,

"That You—of the Spanish Almonasters, of Wealth and Connections Beyond the Proudest in the City—Have Chosen to Idle Unattached—" glimpses of the grim, gray forest wall, the impenetrable cypress swamp, with its watery aisles leading to Barataria, the legend-haunted, even at this early day.

De Almonaster stepped ashore as the scow grounded, and led the way across the broad lawns to the high steps of the porticoed gallery of the white mansion. Black boys dashed for the bridles. At the great glass doors arose a grizzled major-domo.

"At your pleasure, sir," said Raoul. "A drink shall be brought, and the bath."

"I have thought it strange"—Sazarac smiled absently—"that you—of the Spanish Almonasters, of wealth and connections beyond the proudest in the city—have chosen to idle unattached."

"I have my dream—" De Almonaster said gravely. "A boy's dream . . . but it does not pass. For six years now, the loveliest face that could stir youth has been with me. It was for that I cruised last year about the Caribbean ports—aimlessly seeking, slowly trying to forget. Ah, well! I am trying to be a practical, sober man—financing the new sugar process!"

With a bow he left the guest. The stranger looked from the great windows upon the gardens. Beyond the narrow fields ran a rutted road, and Jean Lafitte smiled. Up that same road had come the clumsy carts of the smugglers who met the gulf adventurers in the swamp rendezvous and brought the loot of silks and wines and jewels taken from luckless merchantmen on the Spanish Main. By pole-boat from the coast, by carts to the river forest; and then, at dead of night, ferried by other agents across to the warehouses of the city. And to Pierre Lafitte's cloaking smithy on the rue Bourbon came the winking merchants to watch the slaves work the forges while they slyly murmured to the proprietor: "I hear that a ship from Bilboa, strangely foundered, in Yucatan strait? . . . What, pray, is the price of brocade and silver plate at Monsieur Lafitte's Red house at Grand Terre?"

"Hypocritical dogs!" muttered the master now. "I respect the roughest scoundrel of my own band more than the smug merchants who enriched themselves on our traffic, covertly protecting us while they profited; eager to denounce us when our last ship was driven from the Gulf!"

The liquor decanter was on a high boy of heavy rosewood. The adventurer's melancholy eyes lighted as he examined it, the great four-post bed, the table and the mirrors.

"Loot from the Isle o' Pines! I recall Gambio's sweating blacks poling it from the swamp to be sold to a city factor! It turns up at De Almonaster's and I am entertained with it!"

His laughter had hardly ceased when he joined his host at dinner. Never a more well-appointed guest had Count Raoul greeted than the last sea-rover who sat across the board beyond the golden candelabrum.

Monsieur Sazarac raised a hand. He held a glass before him.

"As to the wine, young sir, I could swear there had been mischief in the Gulf again!"

Raoul laughed ardently: "If ever, sir, one of my uncle's ships, which bring our wine from Bordeaux, had fallen your way, all the wars of Bonaparte had been nothing to the uproar he would have raised!"

"Come—" smiled the guest. "I would forget it all!"

"If we let you—" he signaled the serving men to withdraw. "Now, I am delegated by your own worthy companions for this—the Napoleon plot—is not that adventure enough?"

"More." Sazarac smiled distantly. "I am done with adventuring. I dream of a plantation in the Indies. In Louisiana, even if again granted amnesty, my presence would be a sore spot. Let any thieving brawl come in the ports, and at once Lafitte's old men are charged with it. They are peaceful men now, scattered on the coast—hunters, raisers of truck, and fishers. Let the dead past lie, my friend. I am an evil legacy . . . and I am forty-two!"

"And yet—the lady of the packet boat!" mused Raoul. "Strange?"

"To her, Sazarac, the gamester—to you, Lafitte, the outlaw. And yet—" the older man stopped, his gaze out the glass doors to the starlight.

"And yet, Monsieur—Sazarac—what if you, of all men, brought Napoleon triumphantly out of exile to the New world? What proud lady of all Louisiana would not be thrilled by the name—Lafitte!"

"Now, that is ridiculous," frowned the other man. "She—an English Tory—an intrigue to aid Bonaparte win her approval?" He laughed: "Ah, well, a lovely lady for whom I would have fought; and I had to turn aside in silence. I am Lafitte. That is the irony of it—at forty-two, discredited, a fugitive under a mask . . . and she smiled upon the man who is the knave in either role. I did not challenge Colonel Carr," he concluded pointedly.

"I saw that." Raoul repressed his curious note. "We knew you went to confront him." He shrugged. "Come, my Captain Jean! I, too, have greatly loved—and lost. Now, this affair is of the sea and men. Would you not listen? You heard last night your old wild fellows chuckling with it!"

The guest stared hard at him. "Napoleon? The devil they would care for him! Tooth and nail on the first merchantman—loot, scurry, spend fistfuls of gold in the ports of South America—and then the yard-arm for them all! Monsieur, the world has shuffled off our gentlemen of fortune!"

"It is the English woman holds you from us," said Raoul, and then saw the black line deepen on the other's brow. The host bit his lip; and then upon the silence, there came rapid footsteps. A doorman was expostulating at the broad gallery. There was a scuffle, an oath.

"But I shall enter, fellow! Out of the door!"

De Almonaster had arisen by the silver-laden board, with a hasty glance at his guest's impassive face under the golden candelabrum, when the burly grizzled Johanness charged from the hallway. He turned without greeting, staring at Sazarac.

"You, Captain Jean! See. I have fought for you! A customs guard, I think it was, went down by the cutlass. Nez Coupe, Bohon and I stopped them from the first crossing, but the dragoons are here!"

"And that he is in reality Jean Lafitte, turned up from the dead."

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

Children Cry for

Fletcher's CASTORIA

MOTHER:— Fletcher's Castoria is a pleasant, harmless Substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Teething Drops and Soothing Syrups, prepared for Infants and Children all ages.

To avoid imitations, always look for the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher Proven directions on each package. Physicians everywhere recommend it.

Chow.

"Do you like Pung Chow?"

"I don't know that I ever ate any of that chow."

GIRLS! HAIR GROWS THICK AND BEAUTIFUL

85-Cent "Danderine" Does Wonders for Lifeless, Neglected Hair.

A gleamy mass of luxuriant hair full of gloss, luster and life shortly follows a genuine toning up of neglected scalps with dependable "Danderine."

Falling hair, itching scalp and the dandruff is corrected immediately. Thin, dry, wispy or fading hair is quickly invigorated, taking on new strength, color and youthful beauty. "Danderine" is delightful on the hair; a refreshing, stimulating tonic—not sticky or greasy! Any drug store.—Advertisement.

A little of everything is nothing in the main.

Vanity is the greatest handicap to greatness.

Sure Relief FOR INDIGESTION

6 BELL-ANS Hot water Sure Relief
BELL-ANS
25¢ AND 75¢ PACKAGES EVERYWHERE

The Soulless Vamp.

"That vamp of ours is soulless," declared Mr. Pretzel, of Pretzel's Perfection Pictures.

And there was drama in his voice.

"I thought that was just press agent stuff," observed the magnate from the next lot. "What life has she ruined now?"

"Nothing like that. But the heartless wretch has come at us for a thousand more per week."

Stop the Pain.

The hurt of a burn or a cut stops when Cole's Carbolisalve is applied. It heals quickly without scars. 30c and 60c by all druggists, or send 30c to The J. W. Cole Co., Rockford, Ill.—Advertisement.

A man's greatest joy lies in telling what he knows.

Knowledge is not found unsought.

All Sounds Alike.

They stood in the wings of the opera house. In a few moments she was to go on.

"One last word," said the conductor.

"Yes, maestro?"

"If you forget your lines do not hesitate. Never falter."

"But what shall I sing?" asked the new diva.

"That is the point. Be prepared. Sing the multiplication table with your best runs and trills. Nobody will ever know the difference."

Hall's Catarrh Medicine is a Combined Treatment, both local and internal, and has been successful in the treatment of Catarrh for over forty years. Sold by all druggists.
F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio

Toothache Instantly Relieved

decay retarded. A cement that seals up the cavity. (A dentist's formula) not merely a temporary relief, but a real filling for the tooth, which will last for weeks or months. Do not confuse this with toothache drops, gum or wax, which brings only temporary relief. Sufficient for three to five teeth. Send 35c.
CLIFTY CHEMICAL CO., MADISON, IND.

Don't Cut Out a Shoe Boil, Capped Hock or Bursitis for will reduce them and leave no blemishes. Stops lameness promptly. Does not blister or remove the hair, and horse can be worked. $2.50 a bottle delivered. Book 6 A free.
ABSORBINE
W. F. Young, Inc., 510 Lyman St., Springfield, Mass.

BATHE YOUR EYES
Use Dr. Thompson's Eyewater. Buy at your druggist's or 1163 River, Troy, N. Y. Booklet.

W. N. U., DES MOINES, NO. 44--1923.

Speed of Bird Flight.

According to one naturalist who has studied the speed of bird flight, the fastest flying bird is the gannet, which can attain a speed of more than two miles a minute.

A Lady of Distinction

Is recognized by the delicate, fascinating influence of the perfume she uses. A bath with Cuticura Soap and hot water to thoroughly cleanse the pores followed by a dusting with Cuticura Talcum powder usually means a clear, sweet, healthy skin.—Advertisement.

Worst never happens to him who is prepared for it.

Doing one's best can put wrinkles in one's face.

Genuine ASPIRIN
BAYER
SAY "BAYER" when you buy. Insist!
Proved safe by millions and prescribed by physicians for
Colds Headache Neuritis Lumbago
Pain Toothache Neuralgia Rheumatism
Accept only "Bayer" package which contains proper directions.
Handy "Bayer" boxes of 12 tablets—Also bottles of 24 and 100—Druggists.
Aspirin is the trade mark of Bayer Manufacture of Monoaceticacidester of Salicylicacid

Two pleasant ways to relieve a cough

Take your choice and suit your taste. S-B—or Menthol flavor. A sure relief for coughs, colds and hoarseness. Put one in your mouth at bedtime. Always keep a box on hand.

SMITH BROTHERS
S.B. COUGH DROPS MENTHOL (orange colored box)
Famous since 1847

"Ball Band" Rubber Goods--

I have sold BALL BAND Rubbers, Overshoes, Boots, etc., for years and have never had a single complaint on any pair I have sold.

All other Rubber Companys admit there is no better made than BALL BAND. So why buy a cheap, inferior grade—Buy BALL BAND and you buy the best.

A full line of Boots, Rubbers, etc., in all styles on hand.

Frank Gruetzmacher

Will You Receive a Dividend

—From—

Iowa Falls Electric Company?

Many of our customers regularly receive dividends at the rate of Seven Per Cent on money safely invested in the Common Shares.

Each One Hundred Dollars brings our shareholders 7% each year without worry or bother.

The money is at work All The Time because it is in a business that Never Closes, has no Lay-offs, and Is A Necessity to every customer.

There is no Safer Investment.

Other advantages are: having an income on which you pay no State Taxes, And Is Also Free of Normal Federal Income Tax, and having your money safely invested At Home in property You Know.

Ask for particulars and begin receiving Dividend Checks Every Three Months.

Write or call at our office or address the Securities Department, 215 South Second Street, Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

Iowa Falls Electric Co.

Iowa Falls, Iowa. Iowa Falls, Iowa.

Five Years General Practice.

Dr. D. . Anderson

Graduate Veter. an

Office at Kahrs' Drug Store Phone 4009

Klemme Iowa

Let Us Be Your Friend In Need--

Perhaps you, like others, often wish for a friend who could give you good sound advice on financial matters.

Most men make money easily. Their chief difficulty lies in retanng t. They make unfortunate investments because they have neither time nor experience nor the facilities to properly safeguard the ventures.

If there s any need for information—ask us. Our officers are especially fitted by their intimate contact with busness conditions and ther knowledge of securities to help in the safe investment of surplus funds.

ACertificate Of Time Deposit will start you on the road to success.

We pay 5 per cent on time deposits.

State Savings Bank

Klemme Iowa

News of Klemme and Vicinity

If its news, Phone 12. Thanks.

FOR SALE—My house and three lots. J. W. Waterman. tf

A baby girl was born to Mr. and Mrs. Emil Blumer Monday evening.

Room For Rent—modernly equipped. Inquire of John Josten.

Mr. Frank Livermore of Garner was a business calle in this city on Friday.

Mss. Leach, of Iowa Falls, came Friday for a visit with her mother, Mrs. Fuller.

Sheriff E. P. Oanson, of Garner, was here on official business Tuesday.

The W. F. M. S. are holding their meeting at the Parish House this afternoon.

Miss Rone, Klemme teacher, was an over Sunday visitor at her home at Northwood, Iowa.

Mrs. Henry Church and daughter, of Garner, were Klemme visitors on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Billy Keraus drove to Pratt, Minnesota last Thursday on business.

For Sale—My 160 acre farm in Liberty twp. next 30 days at $165 per acre. John Terhufen. N2p

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lewis drove to Mason City Sunday for a visit with friends.

Chris Gram is enjoying a visit fro mhs mother from Princeton, Minnesota. Chris drove up to Minneapolis Sunday to meet her there.

Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Mitchell drove over from Algona Saturday evening for an over Sunday visit with Klemme elatives and friends.

The Parent-Teachers Association organized and held their first meeting at the school house Monday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Needham and daughter from Mason City evening, called by the death of Mrs. Buseman, mother of Mrs. Needham.

The Royal Neighbors are putting on a dance at the Idle Hour tonight. Many are planning to attend.

Mr. and Mrs. R. A. McConn went to Clear Lake Sunday to be present at a six o'clock dinner given by Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Oumphrey.

A number of Iebeccah ladies met at the home of Mrs. Will Kirkwood Tuesday evening to make a woolen quilt for the Home at Mason City.

M. A. Fell, of Garner, who owns the McCullough barber shop has had the west wall cemented over and put a new roof on over the old shingles. The front has also been re-painted.

Messrs. Frank Gruetzmacher, P. M. Griesemer and R. A. McConn drove over to Britt last Friday to see the football game between the Garne and Britt high schols.

Grandma Buseman died Friday evening at her home after an illness of but a few weeks. The obituary is published elsewhere in this issue of The Times.

Howard Wiles and Fred Arnold came from Ames the latter part of the week to spend Sunday with he folks a home. The boys say they like college life at Ames and are kept busy with their studies.

Mr. Hafer, from Clear Lake, and Mr. Callan. of Palnell, Iowa, were in this city Wednesday on business and also visited at the Wm. Smith home.

Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Schlei and son and Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Weisbrod and children of Fenton drove up last Sunday for a visit with Mother Schlei in Liberty township.

Mr. and Mrs. George Blank, of Osakas, Minnesota. came Monday to attend the funeral of Mrs. Buseman. They visited at the Tom Blank home until yeserday. Mrs. Blank is a daughter of Mrs. Buseman.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Blank, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Latusick, of Minnesota Lake, came Sunday to attend the funeral of Mrs. Buseman on Monday. Thep visited at the T. Blank home while here.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Coobs came from McGregor, Iowa, last Friday morning, being called here by the serious illness of Mrs. Coobs sister, Mrs. Buseman, who died Friday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Coobs returned to McGregor Tuesday evening.

We are told that wedding bells rang in Klemme the other day but that it will be kept a secret. It will be no secret after we find out. Also the wedding bells are going to ring today, but we will tell you all about it next week.

KLEMME MARKETS

(Subject To Change)

Thursday. November 1

WHEAT	$1.00
CORN (now)	.60
OATS	.33
BARLEY	.55
RYE	.55
HOGS	$6.00—6.75
HAY	15.00—20.00
BUTTERFAT	.50
BUTTER (Creamery)	.50
EGGS	.35
HEAVY HENS	.14
LIGHT HENS	.08
STANDARD SPRINGS	.14
LEGHORNS	.08
COCKS	.06
DUCKS	.11
GEESE	.08

DOINGS OF THE WEEK AT THE HIGH SCHOOL

(Continued from page one)

RURAL SCHOOL NOTES

Eli Township Dist. No. 8

School was held this last Saturday to make up the day that was missed when the teacher went to the funeral of Neurings little child.

Lubbee Albers was absent Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday and Leonard Swanson was absent all of last week on account of picking corn

Avery No. 3

Mrs. Nettie Rhoes gave her pupils a wiener roast last Friday because it was the last day of the fall term.

Albert White was absent from school the last three days of the week to help pick corn.

Twin Lake No. 1

Thes chool is planning a basket social some tme soon, but the date has not been decided yet.

The sudens are busp learning their parts for the program.

Liberty No. 8.

George Stille was absent Thursday on account of corn husking.

Helen Lemke was absent on account of sickness.

Supt. J. R. Baggs visited school Friday.

Miss Stromer has been busy decorating and getting ready for the basket socal.

District No. 4 School

This school is having a one week vacaion.

District No. 6.

Last week was test week and every one was studying and worrying about tests.

Last Friday, a hallowe'en party was enjoped in the afternoon. Hallowe'en games were played, followed by a wiener roast.

The following have been neither absent or tardy within the last two monhs.

Norma Irvng	Henrietta Christians
Ronald Barz	Ronald Groesbeck
Arlene Groesbeck	Elenor Irving

Avery Dist. No. 1.

The 5th and 7th grades have been writing examinations this week.

School closed Friday, Oct. 26th, for a two weeks vacation during the corn husking season.

Herman Beek and Roy Waddngham have been absent from school the past week. They are helping husk corn at home.

A. W. Fuller was a visitor Tuesday morning.

All the grades began taking Citizenship this week.

Those who were neither absent or tardy for the past week are:

Ruth Fuller	Doris Waddingham
Emma Goll	Ava Fuller
Verna Fuller	Georgia Beek
Freda Beek	Virgl Waddngham

Liberty Dist. No. 7

Burnette Haefner was absent on Friday afternoon on account of picking corn.

The lower grades are busp making Hallowe'en posters.

Fall and Winter Footwear

We have a fine, large line of everything in Footwear for Fall and Winter—you will be surprised at the low prices we quote.

SHOES and OXFORDS, for the girls and the ladies in the new styles. Ask to see our line.

SCHOOL SHOES—a full line for the Boys and Girls—strong, sturdy shoes that are made to stand hard wear—and sell at a low price.

RUBBER FOOTWEAR

We have just received a full line of high grade Rubbers (for men, women and children), Overshoes in all sizes and styles from 1 to 6 buckle. Farmers! Ask to see our new "Corn Belt" all rubber overshoe, just the thing to wear around the yard and field, it comes in 4 and 6 buckle style.

Full line of Silk and Wool Hosiery

G. W. Kluckhohn & Sons

Heaters--

Rex Oak

Globe

16 and 18 Inch

Special

A few new Rock Island Heaters at special prices.

Have a few good used heaters and hard coal burners.

Order your Stove and furnace repairs, pipes, Elbows, etc here

Jacobs & Son

"THE WINCHESTER STORE"

STILLE'S IMPLEMENT NEWS

Volume 2, Number 1. Thursday, November 1, 1923

We have the nicest hog waterer for $18.00 that the hogs ever saw. Easy to fill, easy to keep warm, and easy for the hogs to get at. If your hogs are worth 25 bushels of corn they are worth being presented with one of those waterers. Saves chopping out the troughs three or four times a day. The hogs will do a lot better on the same amount of feed when they get ni e fresh water with the chill taken off whenever they want it. Get 'em one.

Sometimes it's a little bird that tells you an egg is bad.

No use running around freting until your socks sue your Paris garters for non-support, just because your tank is going to freeze up this winter when we have such a fine bunch of tank heaters in stock. We have self sinking cast heaters that burn wood, coal, cobs, kerosene or distilate. And they sure draw and hold fire. If you open them up they burn, oh boy! you can hear 'em hum for a long way.

Then we have a Nelson type heater, only made heavier and of boiler plate, and seamless, no packing to burn out nor rivets to rust off. They sell at a better price too. Look them over and you'll want one.

"Shay, fren, help me fin' my hat."

"Why man, its on your head."

"On mp head? Zasso? Well, then, don' bother, I'll look for it myself."

Don't be a crank. Use White Rose.

Be kind to your motor, use Enarco Motor Oil.

Now is the time to put in your order for a McCormick Deering—

We can't choose our own faces but we can pick our own teeth.

THE KLEMME TIMES

Twenty-eighth Year—Number 9. Klemme, Iowa, Thursday, November 8, 1823 $1.50 In Advance—$2.00 Outside of County

DOINGS OF THE WEEK AT THE KLEMME SCHOOLS

GIVING LUNCH TO GOODELL

Mr. Neese asked Monday morning Klemme students wished to give Goodell a light lunch after the basball game, Friday evening. This uestion was voted on by the High hool Assembly, and they decided beat Goodell, give them a lunch ter the game, and send them on eir way rejoicing. Mr. Neese said knew no better way o showing r colors, and also showing the spir of good sportsmanship; than by ving the opposing team a lunch a- the game.

The old school bell is now on top the bulding. The first time it has n this term was last Friday morng. All the pupils were glad to ar it ring again. It rings at the lowingk time:

A. M.
:30— for 5 minutes.
:55— one ding.
:00— several rings.
P. M.
:10— one ding.
:15 — several rings.

GIRL'S SPORT NEWS

The girls basket ball bloomers ve been ordered and we expect em any day now.

The girls practiced Friday evening for they needed extra practice. Their first game is scheduled with Goodell, November 9. It will be played on the home floor.

Boy's Sport News

The Athletic Department of Iowa State College extends an invitation to the boys in athletics to attend their homecoming game, November 11, Ames vs. Nebraska, at Ames. If the boys want to go, comps will be sent to admit the boys in athletics, free to see the football game.

A basket ball game will be held Nov. 9. Goodell vs. Klemme, at Klemme. Everyone invited. Double header.

Primary Room

In second grade reading class, Miss Buchan was introducing new words in the reading or Cinderella. She asked, "Can anyone tell me what is meant by Cinderella's coach' Pupil "Oh I know what coach means, it means that man up stairs that hurt his arm."

Kenneth Busch was a visitor in the primary room Monday forenoon.

Dorance Day read us an interesting story for opening exercises Wednesday.

Wayne Kirkwood sang for us Wednesday afternoon. We enjoyed it very much.

Intermediate Room

Thee bildren had a splendid time at the Hallowe'en party, given by their room. Games were played. after which a luncheon was served consisting of candy, peanuts, and an orange to take the place of a pump in.

Willis Busch was absent from school on Friday on account of illness.

Grammar Room

Lola Bachman visited with Mabel Schuldt one night last week.

Last Wednesday after noon after recess the Grammar room had a party, it being Hallawe'en.

First they played games and were rewarded with prizes for some of them.

The last thng Miss Rone gave the eats which consisted of oranges and candy.

They all report a fine time and regret to say that Hallowe'en comes only once a year.

FRESHMAN NEWS

The freshman algebra class have begun the study of division.

The general science class are now studying about molds and bacteria.

SOPHOMORES

The English I class is keeping questions in the study of "Ivanhoe," to use in review.

The physical geography class is now studying mountains and plateaus.

The agriculture class has started the critical study of corn.

Several of the sophomores have been absent the past week, on account of corn husking.

Seniors and Juniors

The Public Speaking class have taken up the study of debating.

The physics class have been studying the chapter on mechanics of liquids. They also had labratory work Friday morning.

The domestic science girlh made variations of baking powder biscuits this week. Friday morning they served the manual training boys to nut bread and egg roll.

Special reports on master pieces of literature are being given every day by members of the English literature are being given every day by members of the English literature class n connection with their regular study of the text book.

Faculty News

Mr. Tregilgus tried out his new car Sunday by going to his home at ora Springs.

The Misses Flessner, Buchan, Stacey, and Scharlach went to Mason City, Saturday.

Miss Flessner spent Sunday at theRev. Smith home, north of town.

Miss Rone went with Mr. and Mrs Henry Lewis to Sefield Sunday.

RURAL SCHOOL NOTES

Avery No. 3

The children all received their reportc ards last week.

George Stokesbary missed school two days last week.

The eighth grade are going to take up civics this week.

Twin Lake No. 1

We had a week of vacation last week for corn picking.

District No. 6.

Several o the pupils have been absent within the last week because of corn husking.

Mervin Groesbeck was a visitor last Wednesday afternoon.

Liberty No. 8.

Those that were neither absent nor tardy the fall term are:
Kenneth Gast, Charles Velau, Mildred Gast, Mary Lange, Loran Gast.

The fall term closed Friday.

Ray and Glen Lange were absent Monday afternoon and Tuesday forenoon to help shread.

All grades are studying citizenship.

There was a large crowd at the basket social last Tuesday evening. A splendid program was given by the pupils. Thes chool room was decorated very attractively. were a large number of baskets sold.

Liberty Dist. No. 7

Burnette Haefner was absent last week on account of corn picking.

Grade one has started their second primary book.

Avery Dist. No. 1.

There will be no school for two weeks on account of corn picking.

District No. 7

Little Dale Schlei visited school a few days last week.

Leonard Swanson was absent all last week on account of picking corn

Edmund Josten and Lubbe Albers were absent a few days on account of pickng corn.

Ell Township Dist. No. 4

School began this morning after a week of vacation. The pupils all seem anxious to get back to work.

A Big Business Deal

"Yes," said the specialist, as he stood at the bedside of the sick purchasing agent. "I can cure you."

"What will it cost?" asked the sick man, faintly.

"Five hundred doilars."

"You'll have to shade your price a little," replied the purchasing agent. "I had a better bid from the undertaker."

THE JEWS LIKE TO EAT CARP

Carload of Dead Fish Sent To Jewish Markets Monday

CLEAR LAKE, Nov. 8.—Thirty-thousand pounds of fish were again packed and sent Monday to the Philadelphia markets. These fish were caught the past week, most of the haul being made Friday when one of the largest collections of carp yet caught were made.

On Thursday, it was reported that only one fish was brought into shore during the haul, for the nets broke in the center letting the entire number free. Almost 28,000 pounds were caught on Friday and an excellent lot of the fish was brought in on Saturday.

The Jewish markets to which the fish are sent require that some of the fish be shipped alive for it is the custom of the jewish people to have the rabbi kill the fish on certain fast days. The fish that were shipped Monday were packed alive in ice and it is expected that they will die enroute to the eastern markets. A refrigerator car was obtained for the purpose of sending the load.

A fish car is already here for the next shipment of live carp to be sent out of Clear Lake the latter part of the week. These fish will be sent alive in water tanks.

HERE'S A SPRY OLD PAIR

Mr. Charles Heifner, of Giard, Ia., came yesterday for a short visit with his brother, Rev. G. Heifner and wife, of this city. Mr. Heifner had been at Garner for a visit with his daughter, Mrs. Ed. Wellemeyer.

It is not very often that you see a couple of boys of the ripe old age of 85 years and 87 years, but such is the case of these Heifner boys we are telling you about. Rev. G. Heifner is 87 years young, feels fine and is very active for a lad of his age. Charles is 85 years old and has followed the blacksmith trade for over fifty years. In fact he would like to remain here longer but he has to get back to work again

Neither of the boys of 85 and 87 years have used liquor or tobacco. They both feel and look much younger than they really are and both of them are working every day to keep fit.

A. Y. P. SIGNS APPEAR

Highway Well Marked On Old North Iowa Pike

Then ew A. Y. P. Highway signs have appeared along the North Iowa Pike, primary road number 19, thru Britt, Garner, Clear Lake and other towns along the line. The new trail is well marked and will be easy to follow.

The new trail which passes thru this part of the state over the North Iowa Pike is a direct route rom the Atlantic coast, thru the Yellowstone park and to the Pacific coast, and when completed will bring hundreds of tourists each year through North Iowa.

FREDERICK WICHMAN, NORTH IOWA'S OLDEST MAN DIES AT HOME OF DAUGHTER

Father Of Senator Wichman Was Over One Hundred Years Old

GARNER, Nov. 7.—Religious services for Garner's centenarian, Frederick Wichman were held here Saturday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Merten. His body was taken to the old home at Galena, Illinois, to rest by that of his wife who passed away thirty-five years ago was accompanied by his son, Senator J. E. Wichman, his daughter, Mrs. George Merten and her husband.

In the Merten home the aged man has for years received the tenderest care and untiring devotion from both Mr. and Mrs. Merten. In this same home a joyful observance of his ninety-ninth birthday was held with all relatives in attendance. On his one hundreth birthday on January 8, 1923, a quiet celebration was held for him.

Father Wichman was a man of peace. It was his hatred of militarism that brought him to America while a very young man. He was a Christian and the last two years of his life his reading was mostly from the Bible.

Funeral services and interment were held at Galena, Illinois.

Many Entered Twin Lake Husking Contest

ORA JOHNSON WINS HUSKING CONTEST IN TWIN LAKE

Anno Abbos Comes In For Second; Geo. Luick Takes Third

The corn husking contest held at the Alsvig Bros. farm in Twin Lake township was held on November 3, and there were some fast pickers on hand to compete or honors.

Thor Alsvig took the lead, followed closely by Curtis Luick with Geo. Luick right after his brother.

Great interest was shown from the time the first man started until the last one finished.

The men entered as follows: Thor Alsvg, 1st; Curtiss Luick, 2nd; Geo. Luick, 3rd; Arthur Lions, 4th; Francis Mason, 5th; Walt Mason 6th; Anno Abbos 7th; Ora Johnson, 8th; Alfred Neuhring, 9th and Orick Busick, 10th.

Ora Johnson won 1st. He husked 1370 lbs.

Anno Abbos, 2nd, husked 1340 pounds.

Geo. Luick, 3rd, husked 1330 lbs.

Curtis Luick, 4th, husked 1320 pounds.

Orick Busick, 5th, husked 1307 pounds.

The rest of the men were close to the prize winner, being a few pounds behind.

The prizes were as follows:
1.—$12.00—$3 gold, $7 in trade.
2.—$8.50—$2 in cash, 6.50 in trade
3.—$6.00—in trade.
4.—$4.00—in trade.
5.—$2.75—in trade.

Alfred Neuhring should have due praise as he let only 1½ pounds in the field and had the cleanest husked load.

Walt Mason showed lots of pluck to buck up against the young men. He is over fifty years old and he came in close to the winner but can not hit the bang board like he used to.

Quite a crowd of men, women and also boys and girls were out to see the fun, as the day was splendid for the contest.

METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH
A. W. Gauger, Pastor

It is with genuine pleasure that we express our great appreciation for the banquet and reception tendered the new pastor and family and the public scohol teachers. We feel that the people of Klemme have excelled themselves as perhaps never before. Surely a fine spirit of fellowship and cooperation was manifest thruout.

This same spirit applied in all other lines, will make for a greater and better church, and for a better school in Klemme. This is as it should be. As we were not able to meet nearly all the friends, we take this means of thanking everyone most heartily!

The Ladies Aid Society will meet in the parish house on Thursday afternoon of this week. All members and others interested are invited to be present.

Let us not forget the Sunday services but aim to be at every service if possible. The services will be as follows:
Morning worship at 10 o'clock.
Sunday school at 11 o'clock.

As next Sunday is Armistice Day we will observe it by a patriotic service on Sunday evening. Both music and sermon will be fiting for the occasion. We extend a very cordial invitation to alll ex-service men to attend this servece at 7:30 o'clock.

Our cartoonist drew a picture of a hen, then threw it in the waste basket and it laid there.

RECEPTION GIVEN IN HONOR OF PASTOR AND TEACHERS

NEWSPAPER ASSOCIATION MEMBER No. 5578

WHY SHOULD FRANCE EXCELL U. S. IN ROADS?

National Highways Saved France In War

France has 24,000 miles of national highways, 160,000 of departmental and intercommunicating highways and 185,000 miles of parish or vicinal roads. The national highways approximate six and one half per cent of France's highway system.

There are running on the roads of France 300,000 motor cars less than one per mile of road.

The United States has 2,882,198 miles of roads, of which a tiny small fraction of one per cent might be denominated national highways by a stretch of imagination, which would include roads in national parks and on such reservations as the Canal Zone and the District of Columbia under the term "national highways"

The United States has 13,000,000 motor cars running upon its highways, or more than four per mile of road.

Is there any really good reason why the United States should do less in transportation for its people than France? The paved highways of France saved that nation when nothing else could save her! Only the fact that she could transport her armies, her ammunition, her supplies with rapidity and dispatch allowed her to stem the German attack. Had she hal such roads as we have, she would be today beneath the heel of the conqueror.

It is no argument to say we do not need national highyays, because we are not neighbors to countries who might attack us. France did not build and does not maintain her national highways merely for stragetic reasons. She builds and maintains them for economic reasons. If thrifty France can find economy in the national highway idea, why can not the United States find the same benefit in the same idea.

UNIFORM TRAFFIC LAWS ON NATIONAL HIGHWAYS

Present Chaos Must End When The Nation Builds Roads

Traffic laws which differ in different States and different towns in the same State, are a cause of confusion, accident loss of property, and loss of life. Uniform traffic laws the same the country over, will promote safety.

The objection urged against uniform traffic laws that traffic conditions are different in different localities, does not hold in the face of the obvous power of the locality to modify or add to the uniform law for special conditions. There are many observances which, made uniform, would make for safety, such as the system of signalling for a stop, slow up and turn, a uniform rule as to right of way at crossings, a heavy penalty for such dangerous practices as passing another car when coming to a curve or top of a hill, etc.

With forty-eight States and thousands of municipalities, all making their own traffic laws, the motorist is more or less at sea as to what he can and can not, should and should not do. But when the National Government builds roads for the Nation, a national traffic law will be inevitable as a national police force for the national highways.

"A paved United States in our day" is not only devoutly to be wished for, because of the material benefits it will bring, but because of the safety the uniformity of traffic rules will provide when the Congress authorizes a system of national highways which will serve all the States as a good State highway system now serves all the counties in that state.

RECEPTION WAS ATTENDED BY OVER THREE HUNDRED PEOPLE

Good Program Was Given During The Banquet; Music and Speaking By Members

About three hundred people, or more, gathered at the Idle Hour on Tuesday night to attend the reception and banquet given in honor of the new pastor, Rev. Gauger and family, and the school teachers of Klemme, given by the members and friends of the united Methodist Church of Klemme. The evening was ideal and so the large crowd that had been planned for was in attendance.

Beginning at 7:30 o'clock the gathering was called to order by Toastmaster P. M. Griesemer who announced that the orchestra would play, while the waiters had everything arranged for the banquet and all guests had been seated.

The following program was then followed out:

Orchestra
Double Male Quartette—E. Ludeke, R. Ludeke, H. Ludeke, Jno. Day, A. Wellemeyer, Dr. Missman, E. Patet, and Bert Mathews.
Introductory, P. M. Griesemer.
Address, "Community Leaders," by Dr. Missman.
Piano Duet, Florence Behringer and Ethel Wellemeyer.
Address, "Cooperation & Good Fellowship,, Supt. L. Neese.
Male Quartette "A Tack"
Address, "Young People's Organizations Beneficial to the Church." Dr. D. P. Anderson.
Class Song, Miss Mable Smith's class
Address, "Aim of Our Sunday school T. C. Nelson.
Ocarina Solo, "A Perfect Day," by Mr. Poort, accompanied by Mrs. P. M. Griesemer.
Address, "Cooperation Instea Competition in Modern Me Between Business Men in T and Between Town and Coun Mr. R. A. McConn.
Address of Welcome, A. Wellemey
Address, Response, Rev. Gauger.
Response for teachers, Mr. Trigilgus

Mr. Griesemer is to be complimented on his ability as a toastmaster, and he had plenty of humorous sayings and stories to give a touch of jolly, good feeling to the occasion, as well as going into the more serious details at times and his talks were very much enjoyed by all. All who had a part in the program and speaking carried their part very well and are also to be complimented. The ladies who planned, and served the banquet were duly complimented by the toastmaster for the work they had done to help make his reception and banquet an event long to be remembered by all those present.

CAMPAIGN STARTED TO ELIMINATE FAKE "STOP" SIGNS ON HIGHWAYS

The American Automobile Association with the help of various state hihwa departments, has started a campaign to eliminate signs that are really dangerous to traffic. These ssigns adorn the highways in all parts of the country and contain such words as "Stop" followed by an advertisement. Others announce danger in large type where there is little or no danger. The result is that the driving public becomes so accustomed to being fooled that no attention is paid when real stop and danger signs are seen.

The highways in the east are becoming full of these signs and the practice is gradually moving west. It is the purpose of the association to see that they are eliminated when on private or public property. Iowa highways have been fortunate in having but few of this class of signs, and it is hoped that they will have still fewer. The confusing signs are more dangerous than no signs at all.

FINAL PLEA OF LLOYD GEORGE

Ends Tour With Dark Picture of Future Without U. S. Help.

RADICAL IRISH STAGE RIOT

New York.—David Lloyd George, Great Britain's magnetic little wartime premier, brought his American tour to a magnificent climax in a farewell address at the Metropolitan opera house. Before a selected audience, which gave him rapt attention and frequent applause, he gave this as his parting message to America:

"Civilization is doomed and within the present generation—unless the United States and Great Britain, acting in concert and close co-operation, go to the rescue of torn and nerve-racked Europe."

While scenes inside the Metropolitan were orderly and sympathetic in every way, there were serious disturbances outside when 250 Irish of the old De Valera clique attempted to march with banners deriding Lloyd George and the British empire.

Mr. Lloyd George got glimpses of the riot when he arrived and again when he left the opera house, but he remained unruffled and seemed pleased when the plaudits of the crowd drowned out the jeers of the Irish.

The hostile demonstration was timed to start with Lloyd George's approach. A group of some 250 Irish attempted to march past police cordons with banners praising De Valera and denouncing Lloyd George in particular and the British government in general.

A woman was at the head of the marchers. She refused to obey orders of the police to turn back. A clash resulted. One woman brought her banner down on the head of a policeman. Several other women and numerous men began to pummel the policeman. Some struck with walking sticks. The caps of numerous policemen were knocked off. But a cool-headed sergeant counseled his men, and ordered them to drive the marchers back off Broadway.

Murder Plantation Dead Tota. More Than 1,000 in Philippines

Manila, P. I.—Further details concerning the atrocities committed on Kumassee plantation, at Davao, were made public here by W. D. Corn, an American special investigator, who arrived from the district. Mr. Corn said that five cemeteries in the plantation were filled with graves of laborers. It is estimated that under the management of Domingo Filardo, a Filipino, 1,000 laborers have died since 1914. Actually none of these deaths have been reported, Filardo asserting that the laborers had run away.

Three Airplanes Chase Four Bank Robbers in Kansas

Ottawa, Kan.—Four unmasked bandits who rode into Ottawa Friday morning entered the First National bank, locked 15 persons in the vault, and then coolly looted the institution, are at liberty with $25,000 in money and $100,000 in bonds and securities. Five thousand dollars in gold was overlooked. Three airplanes were pressed into service, but they proved unsuccessful.

Enrico Caruso's Widow Will Be Bride of Wealthy Scot

Paris.—Mme. Enrico Caruso, formerly Dorothy Benjamin, is engaged to Capt. E. A. Ingram, a wealthy Scotchman. They will be married within three weeks in England. They are now visiting in Paris, where they recently arrived from London. The couple first met last August on the Lido, outside of Venice. The romance began when Captain Ingram gave her swimming lessons.

Uncle Sam's Debt Cut Down Nearly a Billion in Year

Washington.—The public debt of the United States has been reduced nearly a billion dollars during the past year, the Treasury department announced. Since October 31, 1922, the reduction has amounted to $995,575,076, making the total today $22,082,208,961. The reduction during October, 1923, was $43,405,286.

Akron, O., Aerial Officer Grabs Violator of Sky Traffic

Akron, O.—After chasing Pilot Howard Calvert and his passenger, Frank O'Neill, a prominent resident, through the skies in an airplane, Harold Kullberg, volunteer aerial policeman and former World war ace, arrested them for violation of city air traffic rules.

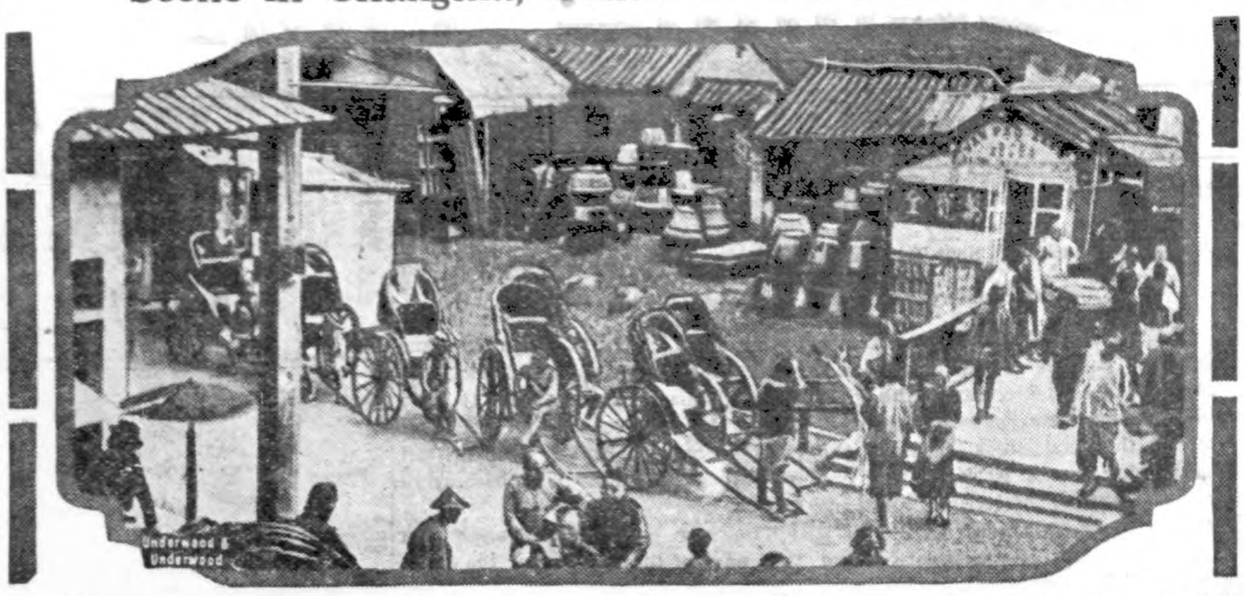
One Dead in $100,000 Fire.

Chillicothe, Mo.—An unidentified man was burned to death when fire destroyed the Henryetta hotel and three mercantile buildings. The loss is estimated at $100,000.

Flies 265 Miles an Hour.

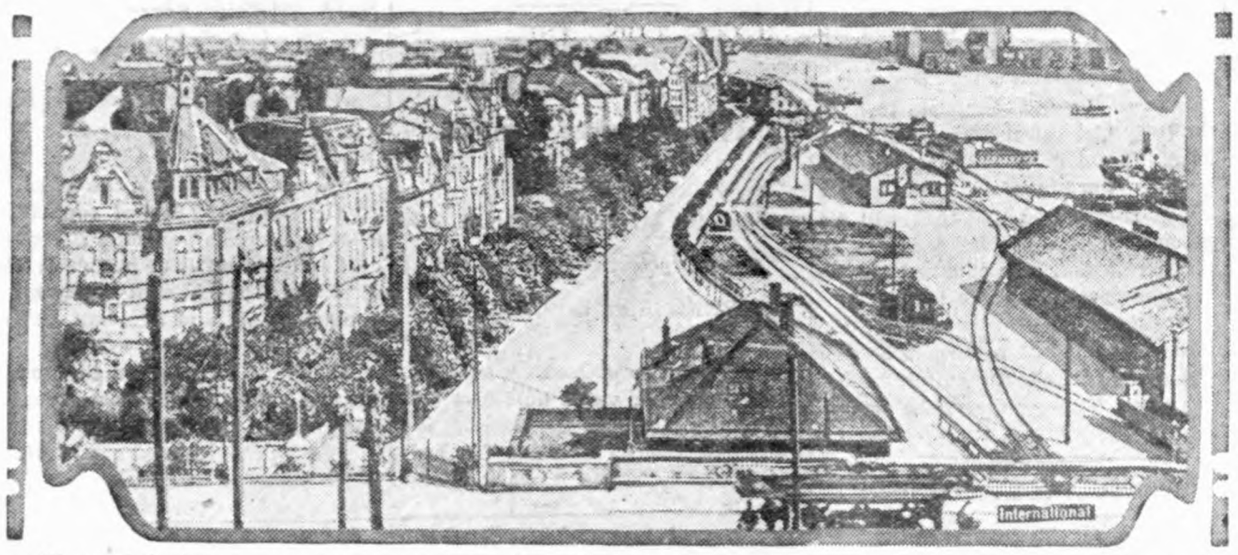
Mitchel Field, N. Y.—The fastest speed ever attained by man was made here by Lieut. H. J. Brow, navy aviator, who flew over a three kilometer straightaway course four times at an average speed of $259.15 miles an hour.

Scene in Changsha, Center of Chinese Civil War



Native section of Changsha, China, the hotbed of the fighting between the forces of the North and South, which city all Americans have been forced to leave.

Palatinate City Where Republic Was Proclaimed



View of Ludwigshaven, chief city of the Bavarian Palatinate, where a group of separatists proclaimed a new republic.

LINCOLN BUST IN LONDON

This bust of Abraham Lincoln has just been unveiled in the Mirror room of the Savoy hotel in London. "Tay Pay" O'Connor, M. P., was the guest of honor.

CHIEF OF THE SCOUTS

Daniel Carter Beard, National Scout commissioner, who headed a delegation of one thousand boy scouts on Navy day to pay tribute at the grave of Colonel Roosevelt.

Clothes That Passed in the Night.

Passenger (after the first night on board ship)—I say, where have my clothes gone?

Steward—Where did you put them?

Passenger—In that little cupboard there, with the glass door on it.

Steward—Bless me, sir, that ain't no cupboard. That's a porthole.—Reynolds' Newspaper.

There Are Lucid Intervals.

Kitty—Mr. S—— stutters, which is most unfortunate.

Fifi—Does he stutter all the time?

Kitty—Well, no; he only stutters when he talks.

Case of Necessity.

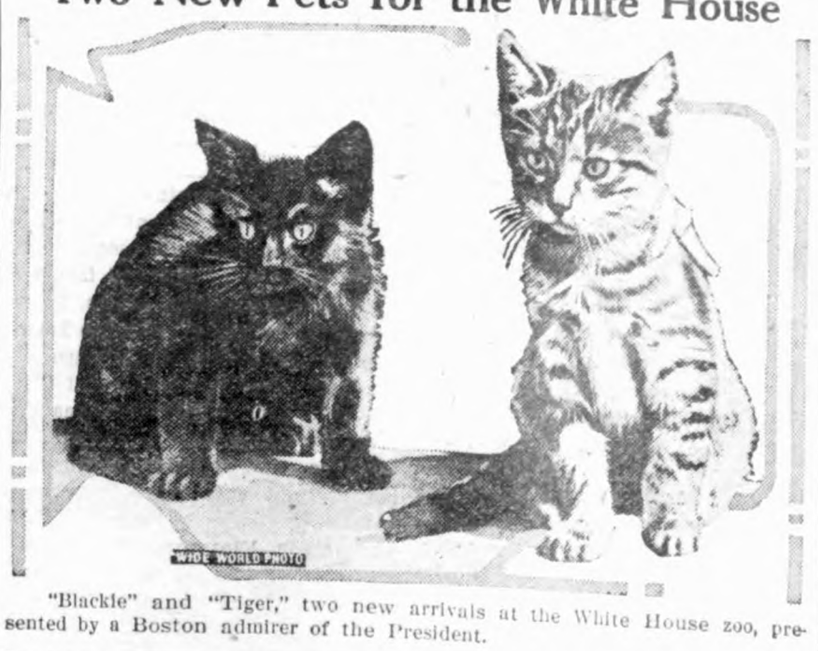
Ted—Whatever the moralists may say, short skirts made a girl look neat.

Ned—Yes; they kept her from going around with darned stockings.

Girl Freshies Were Rebellious

Because girl "freshies" at the University of Cincinnati refused to wear white middies and ignored other rules of the women's vigilance committee, they were punished recently by being compelled to brush the teeth of the two big stone lions in front of McMicken hall.

Two New Pets for the White House



"Blackie" and "Tiger," two new arrivals at the White House zoo, presented by a Boston admirer of the President.

Towing Coal on the Mississippi

Mississippi steamboat with eight barges, equivalent to 400 carloads of coal, passing Memphis, Tenn. This barge project is operated by the government and was recently inspected by the senatorial committee.

MRS. FRANK B. KELLOGG

Mrs. Frank B. Kellogg, wife of the former senator from Minnesota, who has been selected as ambassador to the court of St. James.

U. S. MARKET REPORT

Weekly Marketgram by Bureau of Agricultural Economics.

Washington.—For the week ending Nov. 3.—GRAIN—Cash prices: No. 1 dark northern spring wheat, $1.15@1.27 Minneapolis; No. 2 red winter wheat, $1.12@1.16 St. Louis; No. 2 hard winter wheat, $1.09½ Chicago; No. 2 yellow corn, 94@94½c Chicago, 95@97½c St. Louis; No. 3 white oats, 42@43c Chicago, 43@43¼c St. Louis.

FRUITS AND VEGETABLES—Northern round white potatoes, 90c@$1.15 in Chicago, 85@90c f. o. b. Cabbage, Danish type, $22.00@28.00 bulk per ton city markets, $14.00@17.00 f. o. b. Onions, yellow varieties, $3.00@3.50 sacked per 100 lbs., mostly $2.75@3.00 f. o. b.; midwestern stock, $3.00@3.35 consuming centers, $2.50@2.75 f. o. b. Stayman winesap apples, $3.75@4.50 per bbl.; Baldwins, $4.00; York Imperials, $3.00@3.75; Michigan and Illinois Jonathans, $5.50@6.00 in Chicago; northwestern extra fancy Jonathans, $1.60@2.00 leading markets, top of $2.25 in Chicago.

LIVE STOCK—Chicago prices: Hogs, top, $7.70, and $7.00@7.50 for the bulk. Medium and good beef steers, $7.75@11.35; butcher cows and heifers, $4.40@8.25; light and medium weight veal calves, $7.50@10.75. Fat lambs, $11.25@13.40; feeding lambs, $11.50@12.85; yearlings, $8.25@11.25; fat ewes, $3.75@6.50.

HAY—No. 1 timothy, $24.50 Cincinnati, $26.50 Chicago, $19.50 Minneapolis, $24.50 St. Louis; No. 1 alfalfa, $30.00 Cincinnati, $26.00 Chicago; No. 1 prairie, $19.00 Chicago, $16.50 Minneapolis, $19.25 St. Louis.

DAIRY PRODUCTS—Butter, 92 score, 50½c Chicago. Cheese prices at Wisconsin primary markets: Flats, 23½c; twins, 23c; single daisies, 24c; double daisies, 23¾c; longhorns, 24¼c; square prints, 25c.

France Driving United States to Drop Reparations Parley

Washington. — Premier Poincare's speech at Nevers halted American preparations for the international inquiry into the problem of German finances. It was Premier Poincare's statement that the experts must limit themselves to determine the present capacity of Germany to pay, which threw cold water on the administration's project.

There seems little doubt that if France persists in this attitude, America will withdraw her consent to take part in the conference.

Bankers' Assembly Opposes Bonus for Ex-Service Men

Washington.—Opposition to a soldiers' bonus was expressed in resolutions adopted at the closing session of the annual convention of the Investment Bankers' Association of America here. The resolutions, presented by Thomas N. Dysart of St. Louis, declared that "the payment of a bonus would require an increase or continuance of burdensome taxation and would further tend to prevent the prompt return of this country to full prospertiy."

Deputy Sheriff and Two Die When Train Wrecks Auto

Bloomington, Ill. — Three persons were instantly killed and another probably fatally injured here when an automobile in which they were riding was struck by a Nickel Plate freight train. The dead are: Park Vance, thirty-three, deputy sheriff; Mrs. Mary Schewe, fifty-seven, his mother-in-law, and Mrs. H. C. Doreman, forty-eight.

Britain Extends Welcome to Ambassador Kellogg

London.—The appointment of Frank B. Kellogg as United States ambassador to Great Britain has been formally accepted by the British government, it was announced here. Mr. Kellogg's name was presented by Ambassador Harvey to King George and Foreign Secretary Curzon and both expressed "most cordial acceptance" of President Coolidge's appointee.

Eighteen Get Death Sentence.

Moscow. — Eighteen persons were sentenced to death and twenty-three received long prison sentences when they were found guilty of participation in a bribery plot. All were employees of the naval technical department.

Adnan Bey Slated as Envoy.

London.—Dr. Adnan Bey, nationalist leader, is expected to be the first ambassador from the Turkish republic to Washington, according to a dispatch to the Morning Post from Constantinople.

After Every Meal

A universal co... that benefits ev... body. Aids digesti... cleanses the ... soothes the ...

WRIGLEY'S

a good thing to remember

Sealed in its Purity Package

THE FLAVOR LASTS

A Stone Which Weeps.

Truly awful is Fyvie castle, Aberdeenshire, Scotland, the ancient home of Lord Leith. It possesses a secret chamber which has not been opened for centuries; a "Green Lady" ghost which appears when misfortune or death threatens the family; and, built into the wall, a "weeping stone," made famous by Thomas the Rhymer, which weeps in wet weather and dries in tears in fine.

GIRLS! A GLEAMY MASS OF BEAUTIFUL HAIR

35-Cent "Danderine" So Improves Lifeless, Neglected Hair.

An abundance of luxuriant hair full of gloss, gleams and life shortly follows a genuine toning up of neglected scalps with dependable "Danderine."

Falling hair, itching scalp and the dandruff is corrected immediately. Thin, dry, wiry or fading hair is quickly invigorated, taking on new strength, color and youthful beauty. "Danderine" is delightful on the hair; a refreshing, stimulating tonic—not sticky or greasy. Any drug store.—Advertisement.

An Epicure.

"Your cat is very fussy about his eating. What is his name?"

"Lucullus."

MOTHER! GIVE SICK BABY "CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP"

Harmless Laxative to Clean Liver and Bowels of Baby or Child.

Even constipated, bilious, feverish, or sick, colic Babies and Children love to take genuine "California Fig Syrup." No other laxative regulates the tender little bowels so nicely. It sweetens the stomach and starts the liver and bowels acting without griping. Contains no narcotics or soothing drugs. Say "California" to your druggist and avoid counterfeits! Insist upon genuine "California Fig Syrup" which contains directions.—Advertisement.

Man wants to discover his origin, but it is doubtful if there is any money in it.

Mothers!! Write for 32-Page Booklet, "Mothers of the World"

Pat. Process Lloyd Loom Products

Baby Carriages & Furniture

Use This Coupon

The Lloyd Mfg. Company (Heywood-Wakefield Co.) Menominee Mich.

(31)

The Lloyd Mfg. Co. (Heywood-Wakefield Co.) Dept. E Menominee, Mich.

Please send me your booklet, "Mothers of the World."

Name.....

Street.....

City..... State.....

Are You Moving to California?

We Save You 25% on Freight Household Goods—Autos

Through car service. No transfers. Shorter time in transit. Write

BLUE LINE STORAGE CO.

3rd & Elm, Des Moines, Iowa

$1,500 TO $3,000 A YEAR

From small orchards of Magnolia figs in Texas coast country. Paying growers $300 to $600 an acre. Orchard tracts for income and winter homes pay handsomely. Five, ten, twenty acres developed at low price on easy terms. Endorsed by bankers and commercial clubs. Write for views and particulars. VALLEY FRUIT FARM & GARDEN CO., Owners, 483 Union Nat'l Bldg., Houston, Tex.

Spirit of Armistice Day

ARLINGTON, "AMERICA, WE HAVE RETURNED" International Photo

FLANDERS FIELDS Fotogramo

GOURAUD PAYS TRIBUTE

By JOHN DICKINSON SHERMAN

HEADS bared! Faces to the East! It is the eleventh hour of the eleventh day of the eleventh month—the fifth returning of the moment when silence fell upon the guns and the cheers of victory replaced the clamor of conflict; when joy came once more upon the earth; when hope, which springs eternal in the human breast, rose high; when personal loss was swallowed up in thanksgiving.

It is a moment sacred beyond all telling. Let each good American interpret its silence according to his experience and capacity, with a prayer for better understanding. And may each recurring November 11 forever find the American people in reverent silence with heads bared and faces to the East. May they in that sacred moment say, each to himself:

"I will remember while the light lasts and in the darkness I shall not forget."

At Arlington America's tribute to her "Unknown Soldier" will be paid by the highest officials of the government. Two years ago President Harding's address was the feature of the elaborate burial services. Last year President Harding, accompanied by Secretaries Weeks and Denby of the War and Navy departments, placed a wreath of red, white and blue blossoms on this national shrine. Then the president saluted and turned away. Not a word was spoken. The silence was broken only by the clatter of the hoofs of the cavalry escort and the booming of distant guns in the national salute.

This year another hand must place that wreath. And when America stands with bared head and face to the East there will be remembrance of the kindly gentleman and true patriot, unspoiled by pride of place, who has "Gone West" to join the boys "Over There." For Warren G. Harding was a good American and had understanding—witness these words of his at Arlington, which should never be forgotten:

"We do not know the eminence of his birth, but we do know the glory of his death. He died for his country, and greater devotion hath no man than this. He died unquestioning, uncomplaining, with faith in his heart and hope on his lips, that his country should triumph and its civilization survive. As a typical soldier of this representative democracy, he fought and died, believing in the indisputable justice of his country's cause.

"Sleeping in these hallowed grounds are thousands of Americans who have given their blood for the baptism of freedom and its maintenance, devoted exponents of the nation's conscience. It is better and nobler for their deeds. Burial here is rather more than a sign of the government's favor; it is a suggestion of a tomb in the heart of the nation, sorrowing for its noble dead.

"Today's ceremonies proclaim that the hero unknown is not unhonored. We gather him to the nation's breast, within the shadow of the Capitol, of the towering shaft that honors Washington, the great father, and of the exquisite monument to Lincoln, the martyred savior. Here the inspirations of yesterday and the conscience of today forever unite to make the Republic worthy of his death for flag and country.

"I speak not as a pacifist fearing war, but as one who loves justice and hates war. I speak as one who believes the highest function of government is to give its citizens the security of peace, the opportunity to achieve, and the pursuit of happiness.

"As we return this poor clay to its mother earth, garlanded by love and covered with the decorations that only nations can bestow, I can sense the prayers of our people, of all peoples, that this Armistice day shall mark the beginning of a new and lasting era of peace on earth, good will among men. Let me join in that prayer.

"'Our Father who art in heaven, hallowed be Thy name. Thy kingdom come, thy will be done on earth, as it is in heaven. Give us this day our daily bread, and forgive us our trespasses as we forgive those who trespass against us. And lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil, for Thine is the kingdom, and the power, and the glory, forever. Amen.'"

And what of the intervening years since November 11, 1918?

David Lloyd George puts Europe's condition thus: "Fifteen million picked men killed, twenty million crippled for life, tens of billions of wealth, gathered through the centuries, squandered in a moment, commerce destroyed, nothing left except hate."

But not so in America. We have no hate. Per contra, we have fed starving Europe without thought of payment or reward. And America emerges from the World war the wealthiest and most powerful nation of earth. Food for thought in the sacred moment of silence!

And what of Germany? It begins to look as if she were on her knees at last. Apparently—it is not safe to put it more strongly—the truth has at last been forced upon the German consciousness that in the great four-year struggle which convulsed the world and impoverished it in life and treasure Germany was decisively and conclusively beaten. Never, until the official and public and unconditional abandonment of passive resistance in the Ruhr, has Germany given acknowledgment that the victory in the test of war was absolute.

So 1923 sees a second surrender by Germany, of hardly less importance than that of Armistice day of 1918. Another thought for the moment of silence!

November 11 at the eight American cemeteries in France, Belgium and England, there remain the bodies of 30,363 soldiers, sailors and marines who gave their lives during the war. At each of these, from the Meuse-Argonne, Aisne-Marne, Suresnes, St. Mihiel, the Somme, Oise-Aisne in France, in Flanders field in Belgium and at Brookwood in England, appropriate services were held thoughout the day with American diplomatic or military and naval officials paying tribute.

November 11 is not the only "Armistice day." The year is full of days that are "Armistice days" in spirit.

In June the disabled American veterans, through National Commander J. A. McFarland, placed a wreath on the tomb at Arlington.

On the Fourth of July was unveiled in Paris a monument to the American volunteers who enlisted in the French army in 1914-15. The statue which surmounts the monument strikingly suggests Alan Seeger, the soldier poet who wrote that immortal poem "I Have a Rendezvous With Death."

In the spring at Seicheprey the First division, A. E. F., was honored by France by the dedication of a monument, a photograph of which is reproduced herewith. The First division fought the battle of Seicheprey early in 1918.

Gen. Henri Gouraud, "Lion of the Argonne," who lost his right arm in the service of his country, was a visitor here in July and placed wreaths upon the Arlington tomb.

Another photograph shows the crosses, row on row, which mark the graves of American soldiers in the national cemetery at Arlington. They died in France and were brought back by the American government.

American kindergarten leaders, visiting American kindergartens in France, decorated the grave of France's "Unknown Soldier" under the Arc de Triomphe.

Chateau Thierry recently unveiled monuments to the Americans who there gave their lives to block the German drive to Paris in 1918.

Cantigny has erected an elaborate fountain as a memorial to the Americans of the First division who captured the town from the Germans in May, 1918.

"Belleau Wood," a corner of the forest preserve at Rand and Ballard roads, has been made Cook county's first living memorial to her World war soldiers of Cook county, Illinois. The area, in accordance with the plan of the county board to name forest preserve tracts after battles of the World war, commemorates the deeds of the Second division at the famous wooded hill near Chateau Thierry.

A $2,000,000 memorial, testifying to the regard of the people of Tennessee for her sons who gave their lives in the World war, soon will take its place among the most beautiful and elaborate buildings of the kind in this country. The state appropriated $1,000,000, the city of Nashville raised $600,000 and the county of Davidson put up $400,000.

The General Federation of Women's Clubs, comprising the majority of the clubs of the entire nation, has indorsed and its component clubs will take an active part in the campaign for bordering the Victory highway, national memorial transcontinental highway, with living monuments to the soldier dead of the United States, in the form of trees planted and cared for by the local clubs which are members of the general federation.

Hattonchatel, the little village which was almost wiped out five years ago in the course of the hard, swift drive by which General Pershing's men cleared the St. Mihiel salient of German troops, in September celebrated its resurrection, thanks to American generosity, along with the fifth anniversary of the deliverance of the village from the Germans. Miss Belle Skinner of Holyoke, Mass., is the wealthy American woman to whose generosity the village is indebted for its restoration.

At Chaumont in June a monument was dedicated to "Franco-American friendship." Chaumont was the headquarters of the American general staff.

The French nation has begun the erection of a magnificent and colossal monument to the American soldiers. It will stand upon the Pointe de Grave, the lonely cape upon the stormy Bay of Biscay, where the American soldiers first landed in the great World war. The monument will rise to a height of 350 feet. It will be by far the greatest monument of its kind in the world.

The principal sculptural feature of the work will be a gigantic figure of France on the seaward side, gazing straight over the Atlantic in the direction of America.

The foundation stone of the monument was laid with imposing ceremony by Prime Minister Poincare in company with the American ambassador to France. The day chosen for the ceremony was the anniversary of the landing of the American troops, and happened also to be that of the arrival of Lafayette in America with French troops at the time of the Revolution.

Belleau wood, which Marshal Foch called "the cradle of victory," was consecrated in July to the memory of the Americans who died there. The French flag, at Foch's command, was hauled down to trumpeting by French buglers and the "Marseillaise" by the marine band from the U. S. S. Pittsburg, and the American flag was run up to the strains of the "Star Spangled Banner." A group of Americans from many states and relatives of the dead assembled inside the ring of French villages, the homes of which the Americans saved. The wood was formally dedicated as a permanent memorial by the Belleau Wood Memorial association, represented by the president, Mrs. James Carroll Frazier, who directed the plan to buy the land and preserve the battlefields, with trenches and machine gun nests and erect a monument and place descriptive tablets.

A demand for a congressional investigation into the alleged deplorable condition of the American military cemetery at Belleau woods, France, was made in October by Edward E. Spafford, New York state commander of the American Legion.

FIGHTING FOR LEGION BILL

Congressman A. Platt Andrew, Former Lieutenant-Colonel, One of Leaders for Compensation.

Congressman A. Platt Andrew of Gloucester, Mass., will be one of the leaders in the American Legion's campaign to obtain the passage by congress of an adjusted compensation bill.

Educated in Harvard and Princeton universities, Congressman Andrew attained a brilliant reputation as an economist. He served as director of the mint under President Taft and before he left Washington had become an assistant secretary of the treasury. With the outbreak of the World war, he became interested in the allied cause, raised a fleet of automobile ambulances and took it to the Belgian front. He drove a car for three months, making trips to the front every night. The constant appeal Congressman Andrew made to Americans for establishment of ambulance sections resulted in the creation of the American Field Service with headquarters at Neuilly. Congressman Andrew was named in charge of the organization.

A. Platt Andrew.

When Americans left the ambulance service to join the army, Andrew formed a number of "camion sections" to deliver ammunition. Entering the army, he received the rank of lieutenant-colonel.

Named as first commander of the Gloucester post of the American Legion, Andrew obtained permission of the city government to utilize the old town hall for a Legion home, and made it a museum of the great war. He led a movement to commemorate the war dead of Gloucester with a Joan of Arc monument, which is unique in that the base is formed of stones taken from every building in France sacred to the memory of the patriotic girl. He also served as first vice commander of the Massachusetts department in 1919-1920.

Congressman Andrew has been of vital assistance to the Legion in its fight for compensation. In defense of this measure he has said:

"The measure before the house offers to our veterans not only a just and fair, if long overdue reward, but also a reward that has been framed upon the principles of helping the beneficiaries to help themselves, which is the guiding principle of all intelligent and humane legislation."

LEGION IS AFTER PROMOTERS

Georgia Organization Now Boasts Commission to Put Lid on Fake Bouts.

Boxing and wrestling promoters who have been using the name of the American Legion posts to gain attendance for "shady" meets and bouts, will be at a disadvantage in Georgia, because of the establishment of a Legion boxing commission.

Unscrupulous promoters often induce the Legion men to stage a bout under their auspices, fighters failing to show up, or promoters mulcting the public of their money by fake bouts, leaving the Legion men to face deficits and an unenviable reputation in the community.

At the last department convention of the Legion, a commission was authorized to supervise all bouts held by the Legion posts in the state. This body, composed of three Legionnaires, will operate on plans similar to those established by laws in various states.

A registry fee will be charged to each boxer participating and a license exacted for each show. Boxing promoters will be required to pay annually a fee several times that charged the fighters. A representative of the commission will be present at every bout sponsored by the Legion to adjudicate contests among posts, promoters and fighters.

Oh, Those Women.

He had just returned from the prize fight and was all excited over it.

"It was a great scrap, Mary," he said to his wife, "and Red Mike took the count."

"Yes?" she inquired disinterestedly. "And where did he take him?"

And as he gazed at her in amazement, she added:

"And what became of the countess?"

Then, strong man that he was, he swooned.—American Legion Weekly.

CHARACTER TELLS THE STORY!

People throughout this country are giving more thought to hygiene and to the purity of remedies on the market, but no one doubts the purity of Doctor Pierce's vegetable medicines, for they have been so favorably known for over fifty years that everyone knows they are just what they are claimed to be. These medicines are the result of long research by a well-known physician, R. V. Pierce, M. D., who compounded them from health-giving herbs and roots long used in sickness by the Indians. Dr. Pierce's reputation as a leading and honored citizen of Buffalo, is a sufficient guarantee for the purity of that splendid tonic and blood purifier, the Golden Medical Discovery, and the equally fine nerve tonic and system builder for women's ailments, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. Send 10c. for trial pkg. tablets to Dr. Pierce's Invalids Hotel, Buffalo, N.Y.

SPOHN'S DISTEMPER COMPOUND

Are your horses coughing or running at the nose? If so, give them "SPOHN'S." A valuable remedy for Coughs, Colds, Distemper, Influenza, Pink Eye and Worms among horses and mules. An occasional dose "tones" them up. Sold at all drug stores.

SPOHN MEDICAL CO. GOSHEN, IND. U.S.A.

Use for cuts, burns, sores and wounds. Prevents infection. Cleanses and heals.

Vaseline
Reg U.S. Pat. Off.
CARBOLATED
PETROLEUM JELLY
CHESEBROUGH MANUFACTURING COMPANY (Consolidated)
State Street New York

QUICK RELIEF FROM CROUP COUGHS COLDS with FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR
ESTABLISHED 1875

A Disappointed Lot.

A wealthy man visited a school and gave an address. When he was through he called a little boy up to him and said: "My lad, have you a purse?"

"No, sir."

"I'm sorry," said the rich man. "If you had I'd have given you half a dollar to put into it."

The same man was scheduled to speak there again the following month, and when he came the boys were prepared for him; an empty purse lay hidden in every pair of trousers. And sure enough at the end of his speech he called another boy to him. "Have you a purse, little man?" he asked.

"Yes, sir."

"I'm glad of that," said the speaker. "If you hadn't I should have given you half a dollar to buy one."—Boston Transcript.

One can tell his trivial troubles in order to get his friends to laugh with him about them.

Sure Relief FOR INDIGESTION

6 BELL-ANS Hot water Sure Relief

BELL-ANS

25¢ AND 75¢ PACKAGES EVERYWHERE

HERE'S A CORN HUSKER

Black Hawk Man Is First Entry In Shucker's Contest

Bennington township, Black Hawk county, has distinguished itself by being the first locality to choose its representative corn husker who will compete in the all-state nubbin picking contest to be held at Des Moines. Harry Friedly, 19 years old, recently made the local record in Bennington township when he husked 25 bushels of corn in an hour and 20 minutes.

Husking reports soon will be coming in from all quarters, according to extension folks at Iowa State College who are cooperating with the local farm bureaus and Walace's Farmer in conducting the contests. Wallace's Farmer plans to hold a final contest at Des Moines the latter part of this month at which liberal prizes will be awarded the best huskers. All shuckers will be allowed to work for an hour and 20 minutes and then their corn will be carefully weighed.

LUDEN'S
MENTHOL COUGH DROPS
for nose and throat
Give Quick Relief

"HOWDY"

Glad to meet you, friend, old timer,
Put 'er there, how do you do,
Never saw you looking finer,
Same to you, thanks, same to you.

We've been working long together
Quite a spell now, must be years
Since you have first visited with us,
Friend, it almost brings the tears.

Say, we've had some fun, old timer,
Mixed in all these years we've seen
Don't know 'zactly how to say it
But, darn it, you know what I mean.

Mighty fine the way you helped us,
We've tried, too, to play it square,
And we hope for many more years,
Put 'er there, boy, put 'er there.

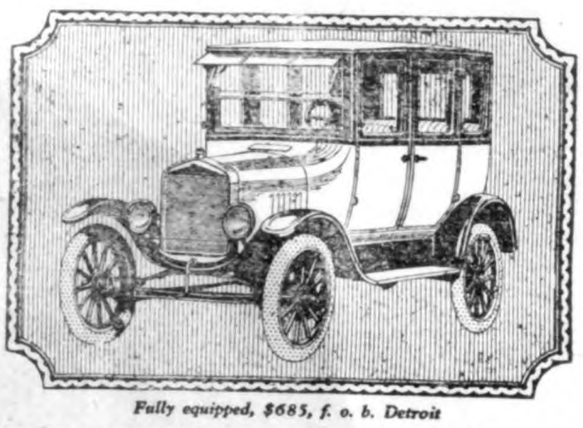
Not Yet

"Well! What are you stopping for?" asked the young man, as the taxi came to a halt in the middle of the block.

"I heard the lady say "Stop!" said the taxi driver.

"Well, she wasn't talking to you."

Ford
Four-Door Sedan



Fully equipped, $685, f. o. b. Detroit

Inside and out, the new Ford Four-door Sedan shows improvements of far more than usual importance.

It is lower and sturdier in appearance. New cowl, hood, radiator and apron add size and finish to the front. Sun visor, and wide, well-finished aluminum doors with bar handles perfect the design of the body.

Silk window curtains, deep broad-cloth upholstery; dome light, door lock, window regulators and handles, all finished in nickel, complete a refinement you would expect only at a far higher price.

Griemann Motor Co.

Ford
CARS · TRUCKS · TRACTORS

PAVEY'S STORMIZING SHOP
Authorized Service
Auto Mechanics & General Blacksmithing
We Do Complete Overhauling and Rebuilding

There is a time in the life of every motor when minor repairs, adjustments, tinkering and patch work DOES NOT PAY. That's when you need Complete Overhauling. We are splendidly equipped to give you Prompt and Efficient Service RIGHT NOW!

"All Kustomers Instantly Accomodated"

THE CRYSTAL CAFE
THE HOME OF GOOD EATS
CANDIES— —SOFT DRINKS— —CIGARS
MEALS and LUNCHES
Fresh Bread Always on Hand Buy It Here
Our motto is fair treatment and prompt service
We solicit your patronage. Come and see us.
CONRAD QUANDT, Proprietor

GEORGE ZINN, M. D.
Physician and Surgeon
Office opposite from Hotel Klemme
Phone No. 19
Eyes Examined Glasses Fitted

THE BASELESS FEAR OF FINANCE'S POWER

By WALTER W. HEAD
President American Bankers Association.

We speak of "coal"; immediately we visualize a pile of black lumps. We speak of "wheat"; in our mind we picture a golden field of grain or perhaps the farmer's load en route to market.

Walter W. Head

Finance is not a commodity. Being an intangible thing, it is greatly misunderstood. It means one thing to some people, another to others.

By reason of this mystery surrounding it, it is too frequently feared, and financiers assailed as enemies of the public good, using their power selfishly to advance their own purposes.

No nation or people ever achieved greatness without the assistance of finance,—accumulated capital, managed and directed by those skilled in the handling of wealth and money. Accumulated resources are represented at times by hoards of gold, but more frequently by ships, herds, and other productive agencies.

America measures her resources in terms of billions of dollars. She has thousands of prosperous homes, myriads of well developed villages and towns, thousands of miles of railroads and paved roads. This has been possible through the investment and use of capital or wealth created and accumulated by the citizens.

When the early pioneers first traveled over the prairies, which are now rich and productive fields, their resources consisted only of a productive soil, a healthful climate, and the sunshine and rain necessary to the growth of vegetation.

As the early settlers wrought and produced and prospered, they saved. These savings they invested in the tools of production — plows, harrows, binders, stores, railroads, banks and manufacturing enterprises. THESE SAVINGS "FINANCED" PROGRESS. The building of the railroads was the great outstanding contribution of finance to the development of the West. The West owes a debt of gratitude to the investors in eastern states who ventured to invest their money in virgin territory, making possible development by the use of their accumulated resources.

Bank deposits represent very largely the savings of the people. The loans they make possible are employed in productive enterprises. The development of the agricultural communities depends very largely upon the credits extended by investors in other communities. The development of municipalities is possible very largely through the sale of municipal bonds to investors in other places. All this is the work of finance.

WAGES HERE AND ABROAD

THE American factory worker is receiving wages the purchasing power of which is above the wages paid in any other country of the world. The British Ministry of Labor has made a computation of the amount of food which the wages of workers in different cities of the world will purchase. In the following table the purchasing power of wages in London is taken as 100, and the purchasing power of wages in other cities is shown as percentages of this figure. The table indicates that the worker in New York can buy more than twice as much food with his wages than can the worker in London, while the worker in Berlin or Vienna can buy only a little more than half as much with his daily wage as the worker in London, or only one-fourth as much as the worker in New York.

New York	217
Ottawa	180
Amsterdam	103
London	100
Christiania	92
Stockholm	87
Warsaw	85
Brussels	70
Paris	68
Prague	67
Madrid	61
Berlin	57
Vienna	55

An important factor in the differences between the rewards of workers is that the productivity of the American worker has been greatly increased through the use of large investments of capital for machinery.—Journal of the American Bankers Association.

WHAT AGRICULTURE NEEDS

A recent summary of the agricultural situation grouped the needs as follows:

1. Increased and balanced production
2. Increased understanding of credit facilities
3. Increased market facilities
4. Better business methods

The Agricultural Colleges are working out production problems, the banks the credit problems and co-operative associations appear to be greatly improving marketing facilities and business methods.

HOW TO TEACH RADIO AS STUDENTS SLEEP

Navy Men Give Another Demonstration Of New Wrinkle

LOS ANGELES.— R emarkable success in imparting radio instruction to backward students at the Pensacola Naval Aviation school some months ago has been duplicated here by naval authorities.

The experiments are said to have been carried out with surprisingly good results aboard the U. S. S. California in Los Angeles Harbor when two sleeping radio operators were given messages during their slumbers and awoke hours later to clearly relate the content.

According to Lieutenant-Commander Condie Winn and Lieutenant Francis W. Gibbs, naval medical corps officer, who conducted the experiment, the test definitely establishes that a man's sub-conscious mind more quickly grasps radio telegraphy. They pointed out that a sleeping operator's mind is susceptible only to the direct matter being conveyed to it, and the sub-conscious mind is not interfered with by external impressoins.

The two operators upon whom the test was made were B. S. Uhl and M. L. Peterson, students of the naval radio class. Receivers were attached to the ears of the men before they were to sleep. Messages were then sent with moderate rate of speed. When the pair awoke they clearly recounted the messages sent them during their sleep.

AVERY TOWNSHIP LOCALS

Quite a number in this vicinity are through picking corn, and some will finish soon.

Adna Church, who has been having a vacation for a week, returned to her school again Monday.

Anna Carlson was a visitor at the Tommy Nelson home a little while Sunday afternoon.

Ruth Newberger was a caller at the Will Waddingham home Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Nelson and family were Sunday visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Benn Coobs.

The following families were Sunday vistors at the Fred Bachman home: Walter Newbergers, Sumner Trumbells and Griggs.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Buss and Mr. and Mrs. Ranke Buss and children, of Goodell and Mr. and Mrs. William Bell, were visitors at the Elko Buss home Sunday afternoon.

Bad Boy!

"After sending your son to college it must be dissapointing to have him run off with a chorus girl."

"I should say it was dissapointing," replied the old millionaire. "I expected to marry that little dame myself."

Typewriter ribbons at the Times Print Shop. Black, and Red and Black for all standard machines, at 75c. There is no better ribbon than the Remington. tfc

TYPEWRITER RIBBONS
All Makes

Typewriter Ribbons for sale at the Times Office all of the Standard makes. Ribbons 75 cents each.

NOTICE OF PROBATE OF WILL

State of Iowa, Hancock County, ss.
TO ALL TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

You are hereby notified, That an instrument of writing purporting to be the last Will and Testament of HEMPE BUSEMAN deceased, dated Dec. 21, 1916, having been this day filed, opened and read, Monday the 3rd day of December, 1923 is fixed for hearing proof of same at the Court House in Garner, Iowa, before the District Court of said County or the Clerk of said Court; and at 3:30 o'clock P. M. of the day above mentioned, all persons interested are hereby notified and required to appear, and show cause, if any they have, why said instrument should not be probated and allowed as and for the last Will and Testament of said deceased.

Dated at Garner, Iowa, October 30th, 1923.

B. E. ERWIN,
Clerk of District Court.
(SEAL) Nov 1-8-15

The Gang Was There!

Mrs. Cohen was very popular. Cohen was blindly in love, but jealous enough to find cause to write to young Isaac Levy as follows:

"Dear Levy: You have been making love to my wife. Meet me in my office, 2 P. M. Nov. 9. Cohen."

Levy replied:

"Dear Cohen: Your circular letter received. I will try to attend the meeting you have called. Levy."

Hall's Catarrh Medicine will do what we claim for it—rid your system of Catarrh or Deafness caused by Catarrh.
Sold by druggists for over 40 years
F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio

DENTIST
J. L. Hesselhuus, D. D. S.
Office Hours 8-12 1-5:30
Office Opposite State Savings Bank; In Schaffer Bldg.
Evening Work By Appointment Only
Klemme, Ia. Phone 8

NEW YORK SAMPLES

Our "Road Man" will put on a

2 Day Sale

of Ladies, brushed all over, wsted—

GOLF COATS

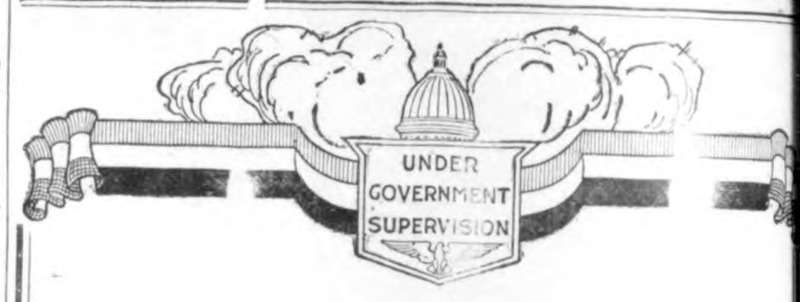
—in several styles, with fafronts perfectly blended.

TWO DAYS ONLY—

Nov. 9-10

—at—

Wellemeyer's



How Money Grows

Two dollars saved every week, or even one dollar a week, soon becomes a sum that you're glad to call your own.

Small, steady, savings, helped by compound interest, quickly grow.

Call and ask us to show you the exact figures. You'll be surprised to see how quickly small savings add up.

A bank account of your own gives you confidence and wins the respect of your fellow men. And when the right opportunity comes, ready money of your own is a big stepping stone to success.

We will be glad to talk it over with you and to lay out a saivngs plan, if you wish.

First National Bank
"The Bank for Everybody".

Corn Picking Time
Is the time to buy
Beef Quarters
Pork Quarters
Ask Us About Prices
J. P. Larsen & Sons
The Klemme Meat Market

DELINQUENT TAX LIST

For 1922 and previous years. Notice is hereby given that I will offer for sale at the Court House in Garner, Hancock County, Iowa, on Monday, December 3rd, 1923. the following described lands and town lots for the regular and special tax, penalty, and costs for the year 1922 and previous years.

All lands and town lots in the following list which have been previously advertised and offered for sale for two years or more and remain unsold for the want of bidders, will be sold at this sale or any adjournment thereof, in the manner provided by law.

Sale to commence at 10:00 o'clock A. M.

JOHN SUURBALLE, County Treasurer.

ELLINGTON TOWNSHIP 97-23

Name	Description	Tax	Penalty	Cost	Total
		$119.39	$10.75	$.40	$130.54
ry E. Donahue, N½ NE¼ Sec. 28		65.07	5.86	.40	71.33
ry E. Donahue, SE¼ SE¼ Sec. 21		472.64	42.54	.40	515.58
n Lass, NW¼ Sec. 34		83.12	7.48	.40	91.00
T. Norvet & Edw. Hirt, S½ NW¼ Sec. 12		7.39	1.50	.40	9.29
fred Berkland, Miller Lt 1 Blk 8		7.74	.70	.40	8.84
orge Kleinmann, Miller Lt 6 Blk 2		4.73	.41	.40	5.54
lla Nelson, Miller Lt 11-12 Blk 9		39.96	1.20	.40	41.56
F. Stokesbary, N½ NE¼ Sec. 29

MADISON TOWNSHIP 97-24

ugust P. Lackore, SE¼ SW¼ Sec. 9		40.88	3.68	.40	44.96
ugust Lackore, W½ SW¼ Sec. 9		83.12	7.48	.40	92.00
se M. Lackore, NE¼ SW¼ Sec. 9		38.86	3.50	.40	42.76
P. Olson, NW¼ lying E. of right of way Sec. 15		35.79	1.07	.40	37.26
P. Olson, W½ SE¼ Sec. 22		36.30	1.09	.40	37.79
P Olson, SE¼ SE¼ Sec 22		45.64	1.37	.40	47.41
rrett V. Geddes, Hayfield Lt 2 Blk 12		32.	.03	.40	.75
rrett V. Geddes, Hayfield Lt 12 Blk 12		2.31	.21.	.40	2.92
rrett V. Geddes, Hayfield Lt 1 Blk 12		32	.03	.40	.75
schow & O. W. Hill, SW¼ Sec. 32		394.32	35.48	.40	430.20
ra F. Nonweiler, Hayfield L & H Lt 6 Blk 3		1.29	.58	.40	2.17
ra F. nonweiler, Hayfield L & H Lt 7 Blk 3		1.29	.58	.40	2.17
ra F. Nonweiler, Hayfield L & H Lt 8 Blk 3		.70	.06	.40	1.16
ra F. Nonweiler, Hayfield L & H Lt 9 Blk 3		.69.	.06	.40	1.15
ra F. Nonweiler, Hayfield L & H Lt 10 Blk 3		.69	.06	.40	1.15
ra F. Nonweiler, Hayfield L & H Lt 1 Blk 5		1.24	.58	.40	2.22
ra F. Nonweiler, Hayfield L & H Lt 4 Blk 5		.55	.02	.40	.97
ra F. Nonweiler, Hayfield L & H Lt 7 Blk 5		6.08	.18	.40	6.66
ra F. Nonweiler, Hayfield L & H Lt 8 Blk 5		6.12	.18	.40	6.70
ra F. Nonweiler, Hayfield L & H Lt 2 Blk 5		4.53	1.05	.40	5.98
ra F. Nonweiler, Hayfield L & H Lt 3 Blk 5		4.52	1.05	.40	5.97
ra F. Nonweiler, Hayfield L & H Lt 9 Blk 5		1.65	15.	.40	2.20
ra F. Nonweiler, Hayfield L & H Lt 10 Blk 5		1.65	.15	.40	2.20
L. Rhodes, E½ SE¼ Sec. 19		220.86	19.88	.40	241.14
L. Rhodes, SW¼ SE¼ Sec. 19		107.46	9.67	.40	117.53
J. Schumacker, E½ NW¼ Sec. 31		132.43	11.92	.40	144.75
J. Schumacker, E½ SW¼ Sec. 31		149.98	13.50	.40	163.88

CRYSTAL TOWNSHIP 97-25

hn H. Johnson, NW¼ NW¼ Sec. 30		66.20	5.96	.40	72.56
hn H. Smith, SW¼ Sec. 30		84.41	2.53	.40	87.34
A. Gabrielson, SE¼ Sec. 14		376.54	33.89	.40	410.83
A. Gabrielson, W½ SW¼ Sec. 13		160.04	14.40	.40	174.84
hn H. Johnson, W½ SW¼ Sec. 19		141.73	12.76	.40	154.89
P. L. Juhl, SW¼ Sec. 11		410.78	36.97	.40	448.13
P. L. Juhl, W½ SE¼ Sec. 11		286.50	25.79	.40	312.69
B. Russell & Anna Cole, S½ Sec. 23		959.95	86.40	.40	1046.75
A. Skromme, SE¼ S of right of way Sec 24		435.98	39.24	.40	475.62
ncis E. Cummins, W½ NW¼ Sec. 35		71.65	6.43	.40	78.48
ncis E. Cummins, SE¼ NW¼ Sec. 35		48.35	4.35	.40	53.10

BINGHAM TOWNSHIP 97-26

M. & Edith Bedford, SW¼ Sec. 35		1016.95	91.52	.40	1108.87
M. & Edith Bedford, SE¼ Sec. 35		653.12	58.78	.40	712.30
L. Eisenman, SE¼ Sec. 8		359.74	32.38	.40	392.52
L. Eisenman, NW¼ Sec. 24		177.32	15.96	.40	193.78
phen Luse, E½ SE¼ Sec. 24		83.12	7.48	.40	91.00
mes Mackin, W½ SE¼ Sec. 30		120.84	3.62	.40	124.96
rs J. & Sevort A. Skromme, NW½ Sec. 28		396.10	11.88	.40	408.38
rs J. & Sevort A. Skromme, SW¼ Sec. 28		585.93	17.58	.40	601.91
vert M. Sorem, NE¼ Sec. 25		191.52	17.24	.40	209.16
H. Hirt & R. F. Hirt, D. Reed & Frank McDaniels, SE¼ Sec. 3		225.84	20.33	.40	246.57
njamin Morse, NW¼ Sec. 9		221.61	19.94	.40	241.95

ORTHEL TOWNSHIP 96-26

S. Bookman, W½ SE¼ Sec. 1		87.22	7.85	.40	95.47
bert Holm, NE¼ SE¼ Sec. 25		85.31	7.68	.40	93.39
hn A. Janssen, NW¼ Sec. 9		63.92	1.92	.40	66.24
W. Robinson, Hutchins Lt 9 Blk 2		.58	.05	.40	1.03
E. & Lottie Smith, SW¼ Sec. 34		375.93	55.02	.40	431.35
hn Sheets, NW¼ NW¼ Sec. 25		18.04	1.62	.40	20.06
hn Sheets, S½ NW¼ Sec. 25		45.01	4.09	.40	49.90
hn Sheets, NW¼ SE¼ Sec. 25		32.27	2.91	.40	35.68
hn Sheets, SW¼ Sec. 25		141.18	12.71	.40	154.29
hn Sheets, NE¼ Sec. 35		232.95	20.97	.40	254.32
hn Sheets, NE¼ NW¼ N. of Ry, SW¼ NW¼ N. of Ry. & NW¼ NW¼ Sec. 36		84.41	7.59	.40	92.40

BRITT TOWNSHIP 96-25

L. Eisenman, NE¼ Sec. 3		196.87	17.72	.40	214.99
L. Eisenman, N½ SE¼ Sec. 3		85.85	7.73	.40	93.98
L. Eisenman, NE¼ Sec. 10		171.64	15.45	.40	187.49
L. Eisenman, S½ SE¼ Sec. 3		85.85	7.73	.40	93.98
M. Furlong & C. J. Saunder, E½ NE¼ & E½ SE¼ Sec. 11		317.49	28.57	.40	346.46
os. Keough, SW¼ S. of right of way Sec 26		74.14	2.22	.40	76.76
hn C. Sheets, NE¼ Sec. 31		370.16	33.31	.40	403.87
hn C. Sheets, N½ SE¼ Sec. 31		128.90	11.60	.40	140.90
nner Knutsen & Mute Krutsinger, NW¼ Sec. 9		527.01	47.43	.40	574.84
nner Knutsen & Mute Krutsinger, E½ SE¼ Sec. 8		116.70	10.50	.40	127.60
mes L. Manuel, W½ NE¼ Sec. 12		46.30	1.39	.40	48.09
mes L. Manuel, W½ NW¼ Sec. 13		63.35	1.90	.40	65.65
hn H. Steenlage, SE¼ Sec. 18		216.68	19.50	.40	236.58
bert Holm, NW¼ Sec. 30		692.65	62.34	.40	755.39
bert Holm, SW¼ Sec. 30		745.85	67.13	.40	813.38
os. Keough, All of SE¼ lying S. of C. M. &St. P. Ry. Sec. 27		149.13	4.48	.40	154.01
L. McMillan, NW¼ Exc 13.61 A Sec. 27		166.48	4.99	.40	171.87
L. McMillan, Pt. of NE¼ SW¼ lying N. of right of way & NE of D. D. Sec. 27		18.51	.55	.40	19.46
L. Eisenman, W½ SE¼ Sec. 2		103.07	9.27	.40	112.74

GARFIELD TOWNSHIP 96-24

J. Elling, NW¼ Sec. 25		134.84	4.04	.40	139.28
J. Elling, SW¼ Sec. 24		98.76	2.96	.40	102.12
orge C. Hejlik, W½ NE¼ Sec. 22		123.66	11.13	.40	135.19
A. Lewis, W½ Sec. 23		942.46	84.82	.40	1027.68
A. Lewis, E½ NE¼ Sec. 22		187.96	16.92	.40	205.28
lia S. Manuel, N½ SE¼ Sec. 28		34.28	1.03	.40	35.71
lia S. Manuel, SE½ SW¼ Sec. 28		17.16	.52	.40	18.08
lia S. Manuel SW¼ SE¼ Sec. 28		18.34	55.	.40	19.29
mes L. Manuel, NE¼ exc S. 4 rds Sec. 32		103.29	3.10	.40	106.79
mes L. Manuel, SW¼ W. 4 rds SE¼ Sec. 32		79.03	2.37	.40	81.80
bert, Joseph & Wm. Chisek, NE¼ Sec. 9		362.14	32.59	.40	395.13
ter J. Kirschbaum, SW¼ Sec. 5		325.22	49.27	.40	374.89
A. Tobin, S½ NE¼ Sec. 6		145.26	13.07	.40	158.73
A. Tobin, SE¼ NW¼ Sec. 6		63.70	5.73	.40	79.83

CONCORD TOWNSHIP 96-23

gust & Ellen Schulz, NW¼ Sec. 7		100.93	3.03	.40	104.36
M. Farris, N½ SE¼ Sec. 24		69.22	6.23	.40	75.85
am Sinn & Anton Hanson W 2rds SW¼ Sec 36		8.94	1.82	.40	11.16
chael McCormick, N½ SW¼ Sec. 15		30.02	2.70	.40	33.12
chael McCormick, SE¼ SW¼ Sec. 15		24.38	2.19	.40	26.97

ELL TOWNSHIP 95-23

Josephs, S½ Sec. 25		385.96	34.74	.40	421.10
A. Mains, NW¼ NW¼ exc 1 A Sec. 10		53.04	4.77	.40	58.21
A. Mains, E½ NW¼ Sec. 10		107.23	9.65	.40	117.28
A. Mains, NE¼ Sec. 10		200.00	18.05	.40	219.05
A. Mains, W½ NW¼ Sec. 11		88.50	7.97	.40	96.87
A. Mains, SW¼ SE¼ Sec. 3		131.92	11.87	.40	144.19
gust Katter, SW¼ Sec. 12		123.68	3.71	.40	127.79

LIBERTY TOWNSHIP 95-24

as. N. Kinney, SE¼ Sec. 31		199.80	6.00	.40	206.20
as. N. Kinney, W½ NE¼ Sec. 31		78.31	2.35	.40	81.06
ner Schraeder, W½ NW¼ Sec. 6		91.55	8.24	.40	100.19
P. Cawles, W½ NE¼ Sec. 15		28.94	87.	.40	30.21

ERIN TOWNSHIP 95-25

n. Gourley, NW¼ Sec. 20		173.57	15.62	.40	189.59
d G. Hunsley, SW¼ Sec. 4		578.59	56.12	.40	635.11
rmond McGruder, etal, E½ SE¼ Sec. 2		31.73	.95	.40	33.08
ry Wagner, NW¼ Sec. 31		186.69	17.80	.40	204.89
ry Wagner, W½ NE½ Sec. 30		81.95	7.38	.40	89.73
. Morgan, NW¼ Sec. 2,		216.93	19.52	.40	236.85

BOONE TOWNSHIP 95-26

eo. Seibert, W½ SE¼ Sec. 35		26.36	.79	.40	27.55
n W. Sheahan, SE¼ S of Ry. Sec. 28		278.33	25.05	.40	303.78
n W. Sheahan, NE¼ S of Ry. Sec. 28		52.48	4.72	.40	57.60
W. Scovell, NE¼ Sec. 20		256.22	23.06	.40	279.68
W. Scovell, SE¼ Sec. 20		258.06	23.22	.40	281.69
Elder, NW¼ Sec. 17		190.23	5.70	.40	196.33
W Scovell & W P Chambers, NE¼ Sec 3		165.23	14.87	.40	180.50
W Scovell & W P Chambers, NW¼ Sec 3		170.89	15.38	.40	186.67

MAGOR TOWNSHIP 94-26

W. Blanchard, NW¼ Sec. 22		169.03	15.21	.40	184.64

AMSTERDAM TOWNSHIP 94-25

hn Baack, NE¼ Sec. 6		56.22	1.96	.40	58.31
Bohumil & Mary Mrazek, NW¼ Sec. 24		156.03	4.68	.40	161.11
Lena Mortenson & Mary Goodmonson, NE¼ Sec. 2		207.20	18.65	.40	226.35
Clint F. Paine, N½ SE¼ Sec. 15		108.16	3.25	.40	111.81

TWIN LAKE TOWNSHIP 94-24

American Bankers Surety Co., S½ Sec. 22		339.08	30.52	.40	370.00
American Bankers Surety Co., N½ Sec. 24		339.08	30.52	.40	370.00
Jacob Hegland, SE¼ Sec. 17		382.79	46.98	.40	430.17
Andrew Johnson, E½ NW¼ Sec. 7		83.59	7.52	.40	91.51

AVERY TOWNSHIP 94-23

Chas. Bielefeld, S½ NE¼ Sec. 16		95.56	8.60	.40	104.56
F. M. Costello, S½ NW¼ Sec. 16		30.31	.91	.40	31.61
F. M. Costello, NW¼ SW¼ Sec. 16		18.36	.55	.40	19.31
E. H. Townsend, Joe Wheeler & E. H. Williams, E½ Sec. 12		1022.37	73.43	.40	1096.20
Roscoe Wiles, W½ NW¼ exc N. 3 rds Sec. 20		87.35	7.86	.40	95.61

GARNER CORPORATION

Carl Boehnke, Orig Lt 7 Blk 18		227.53	20.48	.40	248.41
Jennie Elder & Sarah Brockway Orig Lt 30 Blk 47		70.04	28.20	.40	98.64
Chas. Bailey, Orig Lt 3 Blk 45		328.88	49.12	.40	378.40
Joseph Clemons & Frank Watzke, Orig Lt 28 Blk 47		75.57	28.73	.40	104.70
Joseph Clemons & Frank Watzke, Orig Lt 29 Blk 47		75.56	28.73	.40	104.69
A. L. Cushman, Orig Lt 5-6 Blk 25		366.76	33.01	.40	400.17
Empire Construction Co., Orig Lt 4 Blk 36		37.04	1.11	.40	38.55
Otto & Elizabeth Grau, Tallmans Lt 3 Blk 10		215.39	79.25	.40	295.04
Otto & Elizabeth Grau, Tallmans Lt 5 Blk 10		452.69	165.16	.40	618.25
H. P. Hull, Orig Lt 10 Blk 7		138.17	49.96	.40	188.53
Carl & Morris Jensen, Orig Lt 9 Blk 31		182.46	16.43	.40	199.29
Carl & Morris Jensen, Orig Lt 10 Blk 31		142.91	12.86	.40	156.17
G. W. Kluckhohn, Tallmans Add Lt 1 Blk 6		9.15	.82	.40	10.37
G. W. Kluckhohn, Tallmans Add Lt 2 Blk 6		9.15	.82	.40	10.37
G. W. Kluckhohn, Tallmans Add Lt 7 Blk 6		90.01	8.10	.40	98.51
G. W. Kluckhohn, Tallmans Add Lt 8 Blk 6		185.46	16.69	.40	202.55
G. W. Kluckhohn, Driving Park Add Lt 1 Blk 5		50.27	4.52	.40	55.19
G. W. Kluckhohn, Drivng Park Add Lt 2 Blk 5		9.15	.82	.40	10.37
Henry W. Ley, Orig Lt 7 Blk 9		9.04	3.34	.40	12.78
John Lemke, Driving Park Blk 1		305.50	97.48	.40	403.38
John Lemke, Tallmans Add Blk 4		435.00	173.18	.40	608.58
Katherine D. Little, Orig Lt 6 Blk 11		22.22	.67	.40	23.29
Mary Elizabeth Moe, Orig Lt 1 Blk 26		1058.30	382.99	.40	1441.69
Marius Nelson, Orig E½ Lt 3-4 Blk 11		572.15	218.34	.40	790.89
A C Otterbach & D W Rowe, Sunset View Lt 20		30.49	4.99	.40	35.88
Arthur Ovram, Orig W½ Lt 5-6 Blk 45		50.53	8.19	.40	59.12
Milton Panzlau, Sunset View Lt 19		15.59	1.40	.40	17.39
Nora B. C. Rhodes, Orig Lt 8 Blk 24		837.13	255.15	.40	1092.68
Aledia & Geo. Schaefer, Orig Lt 3 Blk 46		581.04	152.51	.40	733.95
Aledia & Geo. Schaefer, Orig Lt 4 Blk 46		270.86	81.03	.40	352.29
Aledia & Geo. Schaefer, Orig Lt 5 Blk 46		67.40	27.10	.40	94.90
Aledia & Geo. Schaefer, Orig Lt 6 Blk 46		67.04	27.05	.40	94.49
Aledia & Geo. chaefer, Orig 9-10 Blk 46		112.41	39.05	.40	151.86
Dwight T. Smith, Sunset View Lt 45		69.72	24.93	.40	95.05
Dwight T. Smith, Sunset View Lt 46		68.17	24.72	.40	93.29
Dwight T. Smith, Sunset View Lt 31		52.99	20.17	.40	73.56
Henry F. Sporaa, Park Add Lt 7 Blk 4		16.20	.49	.40	17.09
Herman T. Schneider, Orig. Lt 5 & N½ Lt 6 Blk 15		989.22	340.86	.40	1330.48
J. N. Sprole, Orig Lt 7 Blk 26		236.29	36.55	.40	273.24
J. N. Sprole, Orig Lt 8 Blk 26		231.93	35.49	.40	267.82
J. N. Sprole, Orig Lt 9 Blk 26		231.93	35.49	.40	267.82
J. N. Sprole, Orig Lt 10 Blk 26		245.82	37.61	.40	283.83
J. N. Sprole, Org Lt 11 Blk 26		259.71	38.74	.40	298.85
Carl H. Schneider, Sunset View Lt 8		86.96	28.48	.40	115.84
Maud Thompson, Orig Lt W 84' Lt 1-2 Blk 34		586.95	52.83	.40	639.18
Maud Thompson, Orig Lt 3 Blk 34		148.05	13.32	.40	161.77
Maud Thompson, Orig S 24¾' Lt 4 Blk 34		36.08	3.25	.40	39.73
J. T. Urice, Orig Lt 1 Blk 7		13.09	2.37	.40	15.86
J. T. Urice, Orig Lt 2 Blk 7		13.70	2.47	.40	16.57
J. T. Urice, Orig Lt 3 Blk 7		13.69	2.47	.40	16.56
J. T. Urice, Orig Lt 8 Blk 9		18.17	3.15	.40	21.72
F. J. Wenck, Orig Lt 4 Blk 14		1010.33	370.21	.40	1380.94
E. A. Braund, Orig Lt 3 Blk 33		276.28	41.54	.40	318.22
Mary Kalig, Orig Lt 1 Blk 11		134.40	20.61	.40	155.31
Mary Kalig, Orig Lt 2 Blk 11		134.40	21.01	.40	155.71
Gladys G. Barnes, Orig W 33' Lt 3-4 Blk 13		154.35	24.19	.40	179.54
Gladys G. Barnes, Orig Lt 5 Blk 13		215.56	19.80	.40	235.36
J. J. Becker, Orig Lt 9 Blk 25		653.96	244.07	.40	898.43
John Carothers, Orig E½ Blk 49		1250.00	328.53	.40	1578.93

BRITT CORPORATION

Bertha Bailey, Ways Sub Div Lt 1 Stubbins2" Add Lts 4, 5, 6, 7, 8 Blk 17		45.75	4.12	.40	50.27
Bertha Bailey, Ways Sub Div Lt 1 Stubbins2" Add Lt 9 Blk 17		57.20	5.08	.40	62.68
Ida J. Eisenman, Brown & Hills Add Lts 3-4 Blk 1 & S 10' Lt 2 Plk 1		115.56	10.40	.40	126.36
John A. Franklin, Way & Carpenters Add Lts 23-24 Blk 1		5.87	.51	.40	6.78
I. E. Gordon, Maple Hill Add Lts 5-6 Blk 5		46.49	4.18	.40	51.07
F. D. Hunsley, 82.2' W of SE cor Lt 20 Stubbins 2" Add thence 82½' NW, thence 132' N.-82-132' E, thence 132' S to place of beginning Lt 19		45.10	4.06	.40	49.56
Geo. B. Irish, Andersons 2" add Lts 9, 10, 11, 12 Blk 20		74.17	5.35	.40	79.92
Wm. Lindman, Maple Hill Add Lt 4 Blk 5		22.67	5.45	.40	28.52
Hattie Legg, Stubbins Add E½ NE¼ Blk 2		57.21	5.15	.40	62.76
Delia S. & James Manuel, Maple Hill Add. Lt 2-3 Blk 1 & Lt 4 exc E 32' Blk 1 & Lt 9 exc E 34' & 10, 11, 12 Blk 1		74.05	2.22	.40	76.67
James Mackin, Stubbins Add N½ NW¼ Blk 13		29.62	.89	.40	30.81
Gladys M. Madigan, Stubbins 3" Add W½ SW¼ Blk 9		33.04	3.93	.40	37.37
Geo. W. Oaks, Grace Fisks Lt 7		11.45	1.03	.40	12.88
F B Rogers, Andersons Add Lt 9-N½ 10 Blk 7		109.11	9.82	.40	119.33
F B. Rogers, Stubbins Add SE¼ Blk 1		544.23	50.82	.40	595.45
Frank Stone, All SW¼ SW¼ s. of C. M. & St. P. Ry. W of M. & St. L. Ry. exc 5.77 A. in Sec 27-96-25		81.79	7.47	.40	89.66
Patrick Strange, Auditors Plat Lt 5-6		42.44	4.13	.40	46.97
Barney Sheridan, McGraw & Fisks Add Lts 1, 2, 3, 4, 5 Blk 3		29.44	2.65	.40	32.49
F. R. Verrall, Brown & Hills Add Lts 1, 2, 3, 4, 7, 8 Blk 5		104.14	9.47	.40	114.01
Elizabeth Vickerman, Grace Fisk Add. Lts 5-6 Blk 1		78.81	9.03	.40	88.24
C. D. Welty, Orig Lt 8 Blk 9		108.53	10.74	.40	119.67
S K Wright, Andersons 2" add lt 13, 14 blk 23		129.75	11.68	.40	141.83
Chas. Williams, Auditors Plat Lt 4 Blk 33		225.99	23.85	.40	250.24
Hawkeye Fence & Wire Co., Andersons 2" Add Lts 5, 6, 7, 6 Blk 27		2162.84	542.99	.40	2706.23
Hawkeye Fence & Wire Co., St. Bet. Blk 27 & 28 From Hancock St. E to r. of w.		2.29	21.	.40	2.90
Hawkeye Fence & Wire Co, St. Bet. Blk 27 & 30 from 7th St. S. to r. of w.		2.29	.21	.40	2.90
Hawkeye Fence & Wire Co., Lt 8 Blk 30 & Alley Bet. Lt 8 & 1 Blk 30		1.17	.11	.40	1.68
Hawkeye Fence & Wire Co., E. half of alley running thru Blk 27 N. & S.		1.17	.11	.40	1.68
Grace Treganza, Grace Fisks Add 8 & Fisks Sub. Div. 7		51.04	13.46	.40	64.90
Geo. Clark, Chas Millers Add Lt 4 Blk 5		16.00	4.19	.40	20.59
Geo. Clark, Chas. Millers Add Lt 5 Blk 5		16.00	4.19	.40	20.59
Henry Wagner, Andersons Add Lt 5 Blk 8		186.48	33.26	.40	220.14
N. P. Nelson, Stubbins 3" Add NE¼ Blk 10		24.28	2.28	.40	26.96
G. Butts, Stubbins 2" Add S 297' Blk 12		51.17	4.60	.40	56.17
C. E. Dickhoff, Stubbins Add E½ NE¼ Blk. 2		35.06	3.16	.40	38.62
D. Graham, Anderson Add N½ Lt 15 Blk 8		18.00	1.62	.40	20.02
G. M. Gayken, Brown & Treganza Lt 6 Blk 3		57.21	5.15	.40	62.76
J J & J F Lorenz, Andersons Add Lt 16 Blk 8		60.01	5.40	.40	65.81
J. Mikkelson, Orig Lt 10 Blk 11		7.11	.64	.40	8.15
J. Mikkelson, Orig Lt 11 Blk 11		7.10	.64	.40	8.14
J. Mikkelson, Orig Lt 12 Blk 11		7.10	.64	.40	8.14
L. A. Peterson, Stubbins Add E½ SW¼ Blk 13		37.73	2.49	.40	40.62
C. W. Boutilier, Andersons Add Lt 13 Blk 8		69.84	6.29	.40	76.53
C. W. Boutilier, Andersons Add Lt 14 Blk 8		47.41	4.27	.40	52.08
C. W. Boutilier, Andersons Add S½ lt 15 blk 8		17.99	1.62	.40	20.01
Ella M. Glidden, Stubbins Add SW¼ Blk 5		3.01	.27	.40	2.68
F. R. Bandy, Stones Sub Div Lt 20 Blk 11		68.88	10.74	.40	90.02
F. R. Bandy, Stones Sub Div Lt 21 Blk 11		75.42	10.10	.40	85.92
M. L. Galloway, Andersons Add Lt 1 Blk 1		58.69	5.28	.40	64.37
M. L. Galloway, Andersons Add Lt 2 Blk 1		39.42	3.55	.40	43.37

CORWITH CORPORATION

Fred A. Beers, Sapps Add Lt 15 Blk 2		116.35	10.47	.40	127.22
Fred A. Beers, Sapps Add W½ Lt 17 Blk 2		12.35	1.11	.40	13.86
Frank C. Bunting, Aud Sub 28		108.46	9.76	.40	118.62
Alice Chambers, Standrings Add Lt 6 Blk 3		41.43	6.59	.40	48.42
Alice Chambers, Lentengres Add Lt 3 Blk 2		19.20	3.29	.40	22.89
Alice Chambers, Lentengres Add Lt 4 Blk 2		19.20	3.29	.40	22.89
Alice Chambers, Lentengres Add Lt 8 Blk 2		28.24	5.89	.40	34.53
Alice Chambers, Lentengres Add Lt 9 Blk 2		11.70	2.14	.40	15.24
Alice Chambers, Orig NW 25' Lts 6, 7, 8, 9, 10 11, 12 Blk 3		412.70	66.39	.40	479.49
W. P. Chambers, Orig W½ W½ Lts 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12 Blk 3		430.96	77.98	.40	509.34
W. P. Chambers, Lentengres Add Lt 1 Blk 2		41.93	6.63	.40	48.96
W. P. Chambers, Lentengres Add Lt 2 Blk 2		20.86	3.55	.40	24.81
J. H. Darby, Rofinots 2" Add Lt 1 Blk 1		74.98	6.75	.40	82.13
J. H. Darby, Rofinots 2" Add SW of Mertion St SE of Clinton St.		.75	.04	.40	1.19
Alice Erickson, Camelins Add Lt 45 Blk 1		3.07	.28	.40	3.75
Alice Erickson, Camelins Add Lt 46 Blk 1		3.07	.28	.40	3.75
James Houston, etal., Aud Sub SW 66' exc 15'x15' SW cor 4		35.65	3.21	.40	39.26
May Johnson, Standrings Add A.		173.33	15.87	.40	192.60
Charles Johnson, Orig Lt 1 Blk 6		365.90	52.08	.40	418.38
Anna Kraus, Aud Sub Div 19		9.06	.27	.40	9.73
Albert Mitchell, N 3-8 NW¼ exc cem Sec 5		68.28	6.14	.40	74.82
John Mitchell, Lentengres Add Lt 7 Blk 4		52.05	4.68	.40	57.13
John Mitchell, Lentengres Add Lt 8 Blk 4		4.53	.41	.40	5.34
T. R. McKaig, Orig W½ E½ Lts1, 2, 3, 4 Blk 4		45.26	4.07	.40	49.73
Mrs. Robert Norton, Camelins Add Lt 28 Blk 1		14.98	2.63	.40	18.01
Mrs. Robert Norton, Camelins Add Lt 29 Blk 1		14.99	2.63	.40	18.02
Kattie L. Riggle, Aud Sub Div 10		85.32	7.68	.40	93.40
E. J. Studer, Aud. Sub 7		18.13	.54	.40	19.07
Chancey Sherman, N½ SE¼ Aud Sub 27 (42A) Sec. 6-94-26		35.53	1.07	.40	37.00
Chancey Sherman, Sapps Add

CAPTAIN SAZARAC

by
Charles Tenney Jackson

Illustrations by
Irwin Myers

Copyright by The Bobbs-Merrill Company.

"MASSA LAFITTE!"

SYNOPSIS.—Under the name of "Captain Sazarac," and disguised, Jean Lafitte, former freebooter of Barataria, proscribed, returns to the city of New Orleans. He is recognized by two of his old companions, Alderman Dominique and Beluche. At the gaming tables Sazarac has won much money from Colonel Carr, British officer. John Jarvis, the city's first bohemian of the arts and letters, an oldtime friend of Lafitte, tells of a woman's face and smile. As his last wager, Carr puts up a woman, presumably a slave. Custom compels Sazarac to accept the stake. He wins. His old associates and Count Raoul de Almonaster accost him as Lafitte. A project of the youthful adventurers of New Orleans is the rescue of Napoleon Bonaparte from St. Helena, and a ship, the Seraphine, has been made ready. From De Almonaster Sazarac learns that the girl he "won" at the card table is white, of high estate, and that the matter has been made a byword in the city's resorts. Sazarac finds Mademoiselle Lestron, a fellow passenger on a river steamer a few days before, and with whom he had fallen in love, is the girl and in chivalry foregoes his revenge against Carr. Jarvis admires Mademoiselle Lestron. He is a witness of the meeting and picks up a camellia which the girl had thrown, unnoticed, to Sazarac. Jarvis is dangerous; he talks too much in his cups. His old associates of the Barataria days urge Lafitte to take command of the Seraphine, ostensibly to rescue Napoleon but really to fly the black flag and cruise the seas. He hesitates. Jarvis is a witness of the kidnaping of Mademoiselle Lestron, but his story is not given credence. De Almonaster entertains Sazarac, now admittedly Jean Lafitte, at his country house. Lafitte, accused of the abduction of Mademoiselle Lestron, is warned of the approach of a military party seeking to arrest him.

CHAPTER VI—Continued.

—8—

Sazarac arose. The old buccaneer was sheathing his sword. Then he sprang to the great windows and drew the silken curtain. "I see the boat's lights," he grumbled surlily. "The city is in an uproar!"

"Monsieur," the guest turned to De Almonaster. "The thing I feared has come. My name, in some brawl on the water-front—"

"Your name?" shouted Johanness. "No! It is Sazarac they seek! Sazarac, the packet gambler! D—n!—they put the affair straight on Sazarac!"

"What of Sazarac?" Raoul advanced wonderingly.

The old bo'sun laughed, his eyes glittered. He turned to his chief: "If you had told us, Jean, we would have had the woman miles beyond recovery, ere the word was out."

"The woman?" Sazarac eyed him sharply. "Old man, tell me this!"

"First they rout the packets. Then beat out the levee wineshops. All that they knew was that you had vanished with the English woman! Jarvis, the fool, first told the tale, and no one believed him. Then the colonel's wife, then Carr, himself, like a madman to the authorities. She was heard to scream . . . a river guard says there was some commotion on a small boat off the rue Conti, but he thought it was a drunken revel. Dominique hurried me here to warn you—he, alone, knew you were a guest of Monsieur! I did not believe you would be here . . . unless the English woman—"

The sea adventurer had sprung as if to seize the old man's throat.

"She—taken—kidnaped?"

"Why, the tale runs—down to the Barataria swamps! Sazarac was heard to say he would possess her, bond girl or free!" Johanness grinned. "Here is my sword, Jean—before you and the English woman wherever she be!"

De Almonaster was watching a boat's lights on the dark river. "They seek Sazarac, then? Monsieur, can we explain sufficiently where you were last night? I do not question, but you will see the position—"

"Was she not fair game . . . If my captain desired her?" glowered Johanness.

"You will be quiet, Johanness. Stand by to watch the approach." He turned to his host: "This seems some incredible jest. The lady vanished—it appears worthy of John Jarvis' telling—"

Old Johanness gaped upon him unbelievingly. "It would seem you deny knowledge of it! Sazarac was recognized standing before her hotel when all the town was abed. Sazarac swore he would claim her. It seems that not until late afternoon did a servant discover she had been seized in her room. Then came Jarvis' story, piecing the thing out. There is no doubt. The authorities are informed. The consul, the governor, the military!" He stopped, puzzledly watching his chief: "And Sazarac has vanished, you see!"

"There is work for me," muttered Sazarac to his host. "It is enough to say I had no hand in this. Come—throw the doors wide, Johanness!"

"You will have no chance! You will be recognized at once! It is a tale to hang on Jean Lafitte. The swamp, my captain, ere the dragoons come!"

"Monsieur," Sazarac spoke apart to Raoul. "She was to speak of some matter of which her life appeared to be the price. The mystery—Carr's mission. The consul's embarrassment. Who could have taken Miss Lestron?"

"To the swamps without doubt," growled Johanness, "but she cannot be hiddenf rom swamp eyes, Jean, if you seek her—there is the trail!"

Sazarac swept to action. "True! My place is there—and free to follow her!"

De Almonaster grasped his hand as he stepped to the dark. "You will send me word, sir? I am at your service, Monsieur—Sazarac!"

"The game is up for Sazarac! Lafitte, then, threading the secret swamp trails to unknown ends—Lafitte, again the fugitive, driven back to his old haunts as the hounds bay at the fox. Adieu, Monsieur! I am Lafitte."

De Almonaster heard a whispered laugh as the exile mounted a horse which the blacks had hurried from the stables. As he passed the gate, the old yard-man raised a frightened cry and dropped his flambeau.

"Massa Lafitte!"

De Almonaster ground his teeth in fury. "Silence that fellow!" he hissed to the house blacks. "Death to the one of you who whispers a word of this night's matters!"

Silently he ran back, up the rear way, and a moment more stood idly by the candles that shone on the remnants of the feast. The bronze knocker at the door dropped loudly. The frightened servant opened it. A young captain of the American dragoons stepped in hastily. He saluted, embarrassed now at his abruptness.

"I Demand Him, Monsieur!" The Young Officer Was Getting Angry.

"Your pardon, Monsieur de Almonaster—"

"Ah, Captain Roche! Will you enter?"

"Thank you. We are seeking information. A young woman of the party of Colonel Carr of the British mission, waiting to embark for Vera Cruz, has been seized. The clues lead to this west shore, apparently near your place, Monsieur. The British consul threatens to involve the two governments—it is said that the gambler, Sazarac, has done this trick . . . and that he is in reality Jean Lafitte, turned up from the dead!"

"Ah—incredible!" murmured De Almonaster. "The famed beauty, Miss Lestron! Possibly I am the one man in New Orleans who has not seen her."

The young officer seemed more embarrassed. "I am sorry to say, sir, that my information was to the effect that this Sazarac was your guest. It is regrettable that I must inquire and search—"

The host bowed: "My compliments to the governor, and say that, tonight, Monsieur de Almonaster Roxas did, indeed, entertain at dinner, Capt. Gaspar Sazarac of the American explorations."

"Ah, but—" gasped the dragoon captain. "It is a villainous affair that is charged to Lafitte, the returned freebooter! Where, Monsieur, is he?"

"Where could he have gone? The river on one side—the swamp on the other. It is lamentable!"

"I demand him, Monsieur!" The young officer was getting angry.

The host concealed a yawn. "I recall that, once, in the old days, the governor of Louisiana demanded him. He sent word to the governor that he would receive the governor at any time the governor wished to call at the Red house on Grand Terre. The governor did not call, I believe."

Captain Roche glanced impatiently at the tall black hats of his dragoons glistening in the torchlights. "Well, then! A cordon of troops on the back plantation roads. The man will be taken before morning!"

"A long day, Monsieur—" murmured De Almonaster.

The officer turned perplexedly. "At least, this! Did this Sazarac resemble Lafitte, the outlaw?"

"They might have been brothers," said Raoul languidly.

"What did he have to say, this bandit?" retorted Captain Roche.

"He praised the woodcock. As for the broiled pompano, it was superlative. And my wines—ah—you should have heard!"

"Perdition, sir!" roared the American captain. "It must be as I have been told—half of old Louisiana was in league with this pirate! The town is laughing, even at this infamy put upon the subject of a friendly power. If Sazarac was Lafitte, they gossip that she probably fled willingly with him!"

"Not to my broiled pompano," mused De Almonaster. "See? He left nothing of it save the bones."

CHAPTER VII

In the Old Haunts.

"Now, see—the captain!" roared old Johanness, shaking the pole support of the palmetto thatch in his truculence. "I—the bo'sun of the Petral—brought him. You older fellows, there! He commands you in this affair of the English woman. And you"—he leveled savage eyes upon the younger islanders who crowded under the thatch—"does any man speak against me?"

There was no answer. The sweating, motley crew pressed closer to stare at Jean Lafittee.

Gaspar Sazarac—henceforth Jean Lafitte to the gathering members of his old adventuring crew which once had numbered a thousand men at the Red fort on Grand Terre reef sixty miles to the southward—arose and looked at the silent faces.

"First," he said sternly, "I want to know this matter of the muskets stolen from the English ship at the Algiers wharf. It has a bearing upon this mystery of Mademoiselle Lestron, I imagine. The customs officers and the British skipper alike are in an uproar over it. Black Mike—speak!"

"An itch to be looting—that and the drink," muttered Black Michel, uneasily. "An Irisher in the English crew, who once had sailed with Paul Jones, and later taken and impressed into the king's navy—he wished to desert, and meeting up with Bohon, and John Crackley, who had fled from the navy but a week before, he proposed to seize the muskets. It appears they were unloaded by a mischance from the Genaron. The skipper protested to the customs that the arms were destined for the Mexicoes and not for this port. And while they quarreled of it, our fellows lugged them off. Old Budge was the dock watchman, which made it easy."

"And you, Black Mike—what was your part in it?"

"Oh, nothing! They smuggled the stuff on my lugger, that was all, and cached it on St. Joseph's island. Surely, my captain, you will not reproach me over a little affair like that!"

There was a hoarse laugh. Even the captain smiled.

"Thirty cases of new muskets—three thousands rounds of ball—who knows when we might need them?"

The captain looked out to the tidal bayou winding through the pathless morass to the Mexican gulf. At the water's edge, past the scraggy, hurricane-riven oaks, lay a dozen trappers' pirogues—slender swift canoes hollowed from a single cypress log. Beyond, at their moorings, swung a trio of red-sailed luggers, with the smoke of their charcoal pots drifting lazily into the air.

"Bohon—" Jean summoned the swarthy Portuguese smuggler from the throng. "Your lugger—twelve men to the sweeps, for there is no air. I must see the deserters from the English ship. The Genaron was to convey the British mission to Vera Cruz. See here—you! Has there been among you of late, any man who whispered against the American occupation of Louisiana? Not openly, as did Captain Lockyer of the Sophia, who, as you older men will remember, landed at our fort with a royal commission for me, and the king's gold for all who would betray New Orleans to Pakenham's fleet?"

There was a shout. "Aye! The British got our answer at Chalmette! Who fought the Yankee bat'ries but our Grand Terre gunners!"

"Even Old Hickory did not question where they got their skill wi' the twenty-four-pounders!"

"Mademoiselle Lestron on the Genaron, and the bark adrift to the passes!"

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

Plans Tips From Arctic.

Scientists almost unanimously agree that weather conditions throughout the entire world are governed largely by conditions in the arctic zone. With this in view Akbard Ekerold, Arctic explorer, is building a radio station at Jan Mayen island, the tiny cone of an extinct volcano in the Arctic ocean north of Iceland. This, the explorer claims, is the fountainhead of weather conditions.

A Duty.

Cheerfulness is not merely a matter of mood; it is an obligation we owe to those about us.—Boston Evening Transcript.

.. Hawkeye .. State News

Interesting Items Gathered From all Parts of Iowa

Good roads may be a long time coming but we'll scarcely go back to ox teams and lumber wagons in Iowa.

Marshall county has a bonded debt now of $827,000. Most of it is for grading county roads and for concrete bridges.

Ft. Dodge has passed the -120,000 mark and the rest of the county has subscribed $17,000 in the Lutheran Hospital campaign.

New efforts to alter the Iowa primary law are to be made at the coming special session of the general assembly it is claimed.

Marshalltown is the banner city of Iowa in automobile regulations, according to state automobile inspectors who visited that city recently.

A $40,000 addition to the county home will be built at Mason City. The contract already has been awarded to a Clear Lake, Ia., contractor.

The harvesting of the 200 acres of popcorn on the Frank Parkinson place adjoining Lake View on the east is in full swing. The yield is good this year.

Baptist leaders conferred with the Superintendent of the Iowa Anti Saloon League regarding work in behalf of prohibition enforcement next year.

Another mounted band for Des Moines is seen in the recent authorization of Troop B, 113th Cavalry Iowa National Guard to recruit a regimental band.

Near Iowa City Saturday evening a brand new $5,000 Packard car and four Fords lay overturned in a ditch alongside a narrow grade. Their owners were paying their mud roads tax.

Officials of the state executive council are already making plans for the state census of Iowa, to be taken in 1925. The state takes a census every ten years, in the years which end in "5".

Farmers of Fairfield township are not "broke". Not one delinquent tax was reported for the township, according to W. C. Skiff, treasurer of Buena Vista county, who believes is a record.

Conditions were generally favorable for farm work during the past week and much plowing was done throughout the state. Some wheat is being seeded and fields that are coming up show a good stand.

Iowa's population, urban and rural, is solvent. If all the rest of the country were in as good condition as is Iowa there would be no excuse for complaint against the economic situation from any direction.

Celery cannot stand much freezing weather and for this reason it soon will be time to put it away for the winter. If the plants are dug up with a small ball of earth and placed in a box in a cool room, they may be kept in good condition for several months, according to C. V. Holsinger, horticultural extension man at Iowa State College.

A message of the peace and prosperity of Iowa was conveyed to the representatives of nearly thirty eastern advertising agencies by members of the daily newspaper section of the Iowa Press Association in session at Des Moines. The eastern advertising men came to Des Moines at the invitation of the Iowa publishers that they might learn at first hand the true condition of economic affairs of the state.

The death toll of Iowa highways is increasing so alarmingly that officials will soon be compelled to use drastic methods to curb reckless, careless and indifferent driving. In the first seven months of 1923, there were 166 Iowans killed in accidents on Iowa highways and 4,581 were seriously injured, with bodies cut and mangled in a total of 3,649 accidents, according to a report of the Iowa highway commission. It is predicted that as many more fatalities will be entered on the records for the months between Aug. 1, 1923 and Jan. 1, 1924.

Figures from a reliable source giving detailed information regarding the Iowa financial situation will show that deposits in Iowa banks which are members of the Federal reserve system were, on June 20, 1921, $345,000,000 and on June 20, 1923, $421,000,000 or an increase of $76,000,000. This increase it is said, was made during the period when Iowa was supposed to have been in the midst of a financial depression. Iowa banks had borrowed from the federal reserve bank of Chicago in December, 1920, the sum of $98,000,000, and that April 1, 1923, this had been cut down to $14,000,000 or a reduction of $84,000,000.

Founding of a bureau of agriculture as a department of the Des Moines Chamber of Commerce is being advocated by the Greater Des Moines committee.

Sentiment for hard surfaced roads is growing daily in Webster county and in all parts of the state of Iowa when the tremendous maintenance cost of gravel roads is learned.

That farm land in northwest Iowa is selling at good figures, $200 or better and even as high as $300, is shown by letters received by a Fort Dodge loan man, from bankers in different towns.

FROM GENERATION TO GENERATION

Mothers Advise Their Daughters to Rely upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to Keep Them in Health

A Mother's Advice Prevents Operation

Corona, N. Y.—"I had a terrible pain in my left side and had to go to bed every so often. Doctors had told me I must be operated on, but I do not believe in the knife and would rather suffer than go through it. My mother also did not believe in it and she made me take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound because it had helped her. It has also helped me for I am better and able to do all my work. I recommend your medicine and give you permission to use my letter as a testimonial."—Mrs. J. Busch, Jr., 11 S. Railroad Avenue, Corona, N. Y.

A Sickly Child

Mahoningtown, Pa.—"I would like to say a few words about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. About a year ago I thought it would be necessary for me to take my daughter out of school. She was losing weight, was nervous, and when she would come home from school she would drop into a chair and cry, and say, 'Mamma, I don't believe I can go to school another day!' I gave her Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and now she is a healthy, happy, hearty, strong girl and weighs 120 pounds. She has no difficulty in doing her 'gym' work, and she works at home every night and morning, too. I am a mother who can certainly praise your medicine, and if it will be of any benefit you may use this letter as a reference."—Mrs. George E. Whitacre, 621 W. Madison Ave., Mahoningtown, Pa.

Every girl wants to be healthy and strong, and every mother wants her daughter to do well in school and to enjoy herself at all times.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a splendid medicine for young girls just entering womanhood. Mothers may depend upon it. Remember it is prepared from roots and herbs, contains nothing that can injure, and tends to tone up and strengthen the organs concerned, so that they will work in a healthy and normal manner.

For nearly fifty years it has been used by women of all ages, and these women know its great value.

Let it help your daughter and yourself.

SOMETHING NEW IN HISTORY

Schoolboy Discovers That Nelson Won the Battle of Waterloo in One Round.

History is contained in the history book is not half so entertaining as history as written by the schoolboy when he is being examined to find out what he doesn't know. With the conciseness of a press bureau, he has been known to state: "The Battle of Waterloo was in 1066. Nelson said every man should expect to do his duty. Nelson won in one round."

Another boy seems to have got mixed between geography and history. According to him, "the feudal system lies between the Humber and the Thames." It was the same "young hopeful" who stated that his favorite character in history was Henry the Eighth, because he had eight wives, and killed them all, and the last survived him."

An original genius told the examiner, in writing, that "Wat Tyler lead the pheasants' revolt because he was himself a pheasant, and that its cause was that a shilling poultice had been put on everybody over sixteen!"

It will be news to most people that the circulation of the blood "was discovered by Martin Harvey," and also that the three estates of the realm "are Buckingham palace, Windsor castle, and Balmoral."—London Answers.

A woman "is as old as she looks"; and a man is older than he thinks he looks.

It is during her first engagement that a girl ties up her love letters with baby blue ribbon.

TAKE HOUSES WITH THE

Natives of Barbados Load Structure Upon Cart and Carry It to New Location.

Moving in Barbados is so simple a task as to rouse the envy of the ordinary American householder. When a negro in that happy island moves, says Sir Frederick Treves, in the Cradle of the Deep, it is not uncommon to see not only the furniture but the whole house on the highway.

The structure is placed on a cart flat, like a puzzle taken to pieces. The four walls are laid one above another as if they were pieces of scenery from a theater. The roof is indistinguishable as such, for the tiles are put in the bottom of the cart. The owner carries the front door on his head and kind friends assist with the windows, shutters and with the chicken house. There is no plumbing, fortunately, and the eve that follows a moving man sees the entire establishment newly set up and settled, swept and garnished.—Youth's Companion.

Trying to Cover Up.

Miffles, whose social bulls are notorious, found himself at a party talking to a melancholy looking man whom Miffles did his best to cheer. He indicated a lady of more than usual lack of beauty and said, "Heavens, who do you suppose that hideous old dame is?"

Of course, the melancholy little man said, "That's my wife."

Miffles had done it again, but his kindly heart went blundering on, inspiring him to say, "Cheer up, old man; you ought to see mine."

"It Keeps Me Awake Nights"—

is the familiar confession of the tea and coffee drinker. The reason is that both tea and coffee contain caffeine—a drug which is the foe of night-time sleep and day-time energy.

Postum, the pure cereal beverage, is delicious and satisfying—and free from all the elements which so many users of coffee and tea find disturbing to nerves and digestion.

Postum contains no stimulant to keep you awake nights.

Sold by grocers everywhere!

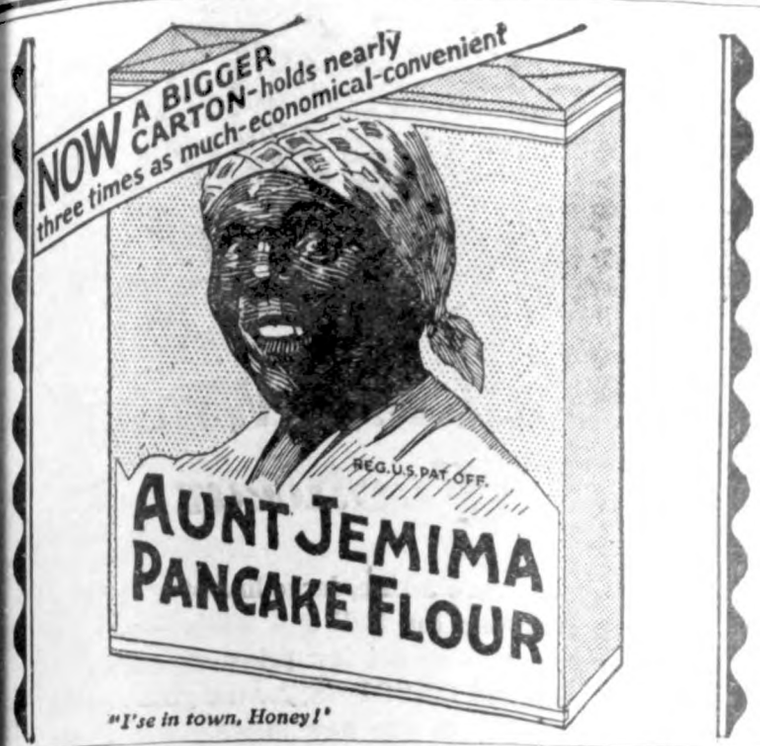
Postum

for Health

"There's a Reason"

Your grocer sells Postum in two forms: Instant Postum (in tins) prepared instantly in the cup by the addition of boiling water. Postum Cereal (in packages) for those who prefer the flavor brought out by boiling fully 20 minutes. The cost of either form is about one-half cent a cup.

Made by Postum Cereal Co., Inc.
Battle Creek, Mich.



Too Silly.

"What's the matter, baby? Why did leave your little playmate?"
"She's too silly, mother. I want to 'movie actress' and she wants to dolls, and I'm thoroughly ingusted her."—Atlanta Constitution.

Some preachers shout the glad tidings as though they were a death warrant.

If the victim of a practical joke thinks it's funny, the joke is justifiable; not otherwise.

Profit and Loss.

A domestic disaster had occurred in household and ten-year-old Bobbie been sent on a hurry call to bring family physician.
"Doctor, doctor!" he cried. "My lit-brother's swallowed a quarter.
ould it pay to have you take it out?"
-American Legion Weekly.

Cole's Carbolisalve Quickly Relieves and heals burning, itching and torturing skin diseases. It instantly stops the pain of burns. Heals without scars. 30c and 60c. At your druggist, or send 30c to The J. W. Cole Co., Rockford, Ill., for a package.—Advertisement.

No man realizes as promptly that he is a failure as he does that he is a success.

There are a myriad ways of making a fool of one's self, and most of them begin with talking.

Masses May Get Tired.

Men who keep up to concert pitch furnish the music for the masses to dance by; and sometimes the masses get tired of dancing.

Shave With Cuticura Soap

And double your razor efficiency as well as promote skin purity, skin comfort and skin health. No mug, no slimy soap, no germs, no waste, no irritation even when shaved twice daily. One soap for all uses—shaving, bathing and shampooing.—Advertisement.

Caught at It.

"He's a witty lad, don't you think?"
"Heavens, no. We both subscribe to the same humorous paper."

After doing one thing do you not often wish that you had done the other?

Yeast Foam Millions prefer it

Begin today to learn the most useful of home arts—bread-making.

Send for free booklet "The Art of Baking Bread"

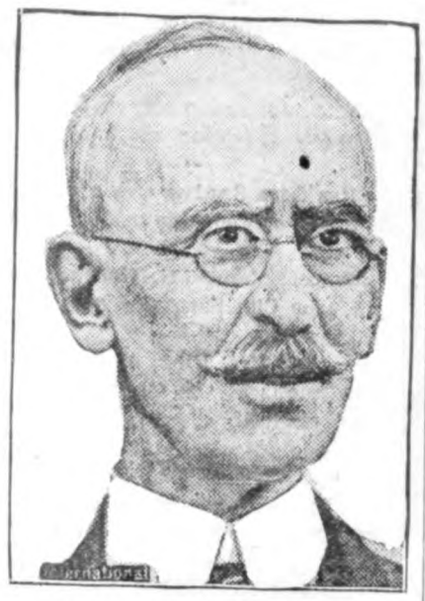
Northwestern Yeast Co.
1730 North Ashland Ave.
Chicago, Ill.

SHINOLA
AMERICA'S HOME SHOE POLISH
Black - Tan - White - Ox-Blood - Brown
SHINOLA preserves leather as paint preserves buildings.
Quick and easy to use. SHINOLA HOME SET Makes Shining Easy. Genuine Bristle Dauber dives around the sole and applies the polish thoroughly.
Shines in a hurry. Lamb's Wool Polisher just fits the hand. Brings the brilliant Shinola shine with a few strokes.

The Shine for Mine.

WHO'S WHO—and WHEREFORE

Crowder's Job in Cuba No Soft Snap

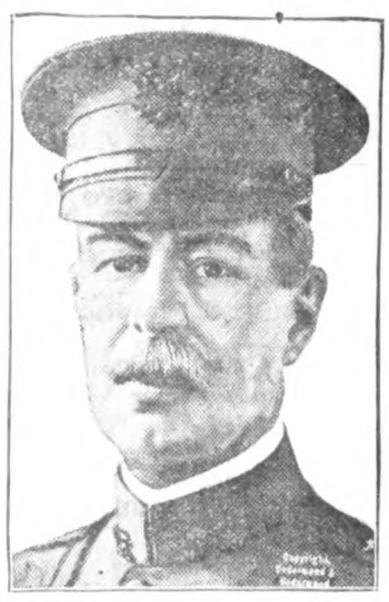


Maj. Gen. Enoch H. Crowder, whose name will never be forgotten by this generation of Americans, is now having troubles of his own as ambassador to Cuba. When President Zayas came into power he gave his unqualified indorsement to the reform program which had been urged by General Crowder at Washington. Administration officials believed there was to be little difficulty in putting through the reforms, regarded as necessary for the salvation of Cuba.

Since that time, however, Ambassador Crowder has encountered numerous difficulties, including many evidences of wabbling on the part of Zayas. It is admitted there have been times when it seemed that intervention was inevitable.

While President Coolidge is keenly appreciative of the obligation of the American government toward Cuba and would not hesitate to intervene in the affairs of the island republic, if necessary, it has become known that he and Secretary of State Hughes are counting on the development of an enlightened public opinion among the Cuban people which shall act as a check upon graft and a powerful factor for reform.

Patrick, Air Chief, Wins Pilot's Wings



Maj. Gen. Mason M. Patrick, chief of the army air service (portrait herewith), celebrated his sixtieth birthday by winning for himself what all aviators covet—pilot's wings. Aside from his army record, General Patrick has now three claims to distinction: He is the only officer of his rank who is entitled to wear pilot's wings; he is the only chief of air service ever to qualify for an aviator's rating; and he is the only man in the entire world known to have taken up and to have learned the art of flying at his age.

When General Patrick found he had to fly and didn't know the first thing about flying, Maj. Herbert A. Dargue was assigned to teach him. Patrick said to him, "Forget the rank, Dargue—you're to teach me to fly—and you can go as far as you like if you have to cuss me out."

Dargue may or may not have done any "cussing", but the chief is said to be as good a flier as there is in the army.

Maj. Gen. Patrick says in the Army and Navy Journal regarding the recent bombing tests off Cape Hatteras: "The air service does not for a moment assume to say that battleships or any other component of the naval establishment is obsolete. We merely rest on the conclusions of the joint board that under proper conditions we can put out of commission or sink any naval craft that floats."

Important Finds by Fossil Hunters

Here is a new portrait of Roy Chapman Andrews, one of the leaders of the third Asiatic expedition of the American Museum of Natural History that has just returned from the plains of Mongolia. The expedition is bringing back from China nine tons of fossilized bits of the dim past. These cover animal life that existed between 25,000,000 and 10,000,000 years ago in what are now the deserts and plains of East Central Asia. Among these fossils are 25 eggs laid by dinosaurs, gigantic reptilian creatures of a prehistoric era.

This expedition has apparently collected evidence to prove two things of great scientific importance: (1) That central Asia was the site of a real "Garden of Eden"; (2) that Asia and America were once united by a bridge of land over which prehistoric life roamed freely. They have definitely linked up the fossils of Asia with those of America. From the Siwalik hills of northern India, a collection that ranks with the Mongolian find has arrived at the museum. It includes among its tons of animal records four specimens, estimated to be 1,500,000 years old, that may be either man's or ape's. That these may prove to belong to the "missing link" is the possibility held out by the museum authorities.

League of Nations for Bird Protection

Although it has proven a difficult matter to create a political league of nations, T. Gilbert Pearson, president of the National Association of Audubon societies, has demonstrated the possibility of creating a league for the very useful purpose of protecting the wild birds of the world. Leading scientific and conservation societies in nine countries have now organized and pledged to active endeavors for the protection of the birds in their countries, and in aiding similar movements in more benighted regions.

This movement was launched at a conference held in London in June last year. On invitation of Mr. Pearson delegates from several countries met in the home of Hon. Reginald McKenna. Among the very active members of this conference were Lord Edward Grey and Lord Buxton of England, P. G. Van Tienhoven of Holland, and the eminent naturalist, M. Jean Delacour of France. Mr. Pearson, president of this international committee, who has returned from a lecturing tour through seven of the countries in Europe, said: "Europe is looking to America for leadership. There is no country in the world that is so thoroughly organized and has such advanced laws for bird protection as the United States. Our international organization is now in effective operation in the United States, Canada, Australia, Norway, England, Holland, Luxemburg, France and Italy. Other countries have recently been invited to unite with the movement and action by them may be expected.

Children Cry for "Castoria"

A Harmless Substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups — No Narcotics!

Mother! Fletcher's Castoria has been in use for over 30 years to relieve babies and children of Constipation, Flatulency, Wind Colic and Diarrhea; allaying Feverishness arising therefrom, and, by regulating the Stomach and Bowels, aids the assimilation of Food; giving natural sleep without opiates. The genuine bears signature of

Chas. H. Fletcher.

Right-Handedness.

Of two pay telephones in a shop, the one on the right side took four times as much money as the one on the left. This curious influence of the dominant side of the body was lately demonstrated by evidence that speakers before a large audience have a tendency to address the right-hand side if the speaker happens to be left-handed. The same unconscious tendency may be seen in the schoolroom.

Important to All Women Readers of This Paper

Thousands upon thousands of women have kidney or bladder trouble and never suspect it.

Women's complaints often prove to be nothing else but kidney trouble, or the result of kidney or bladder disease.

If the kidneys are not in a healthy condition, they may cause the other organs to become diseased.

You may suffer pain in the back, headache and loss of ambition.

Poor health makes you nervous, irritable and maybe despondent; it makes any one so.

But hundreds of women claim that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, by restoring health to the kidneys, proved to be just the remedy needed to overcome such conditions.

Many send for a sample bottle to see what Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder medicine, will do for them. By enclosing ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., you may receive sample size bottle by parcel post. You can purchase medium and large size bottles at all drug stores.—Advertisement.

Idealism.

Moral idealism is justified if it means allowing people to work out their careers as they choose, provided they don't injure others.

WOMEN CAN DYE ANY GARMENT, DRAPERY

Dye or Tint Worn, Faded Things New for 15 Cents.

Diamond Dyes

Don't wonder whether you can dye or tint successfully, because perfect home dyeing is guaranteed with "Diamond Dyes" even if you have never dyed before. Druggists have all colors. Directions in each package.—Advertisement.

Makes a Difference.

Veronica—Harry clapped his hands when I was singing.
"Over his ears?"

Hall's Catarrh Medicine will do what we claim for it—rid your system of Catarrh or Deafness caused by Catarrh.

Sold by druggists for over 40 years

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio

CURES COLDS IN 24 HOURS
AT ALL DRUG STORES — WORLD'S STANDARD HILL'S CASCARA BROMIDE QUININE — FOR TWO GENERATIONS — PRICE 30 CENTS
CURES LA GRIPPE IN 3 DAYS
DETROIT. W. H. HILL CO. MICHIGAN.

Ladies Keep Your Skin Clear, Sweet, Healthy With Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Talcum

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM
Removes Dandruff—Stops Hair Falling
Restores Color and Beauty to Gray and Faded Hair
60c. and $1.00 at Druggists.
Hiscox Chem. Wks. Patchogue, N. Y.

HINDERCORNS Removes Corns, Callouses, etc., stops all pain, ensures comfort to the feet, makes walking easy. 15c. by mail or at Druggists. Hiscox Chemical Works, Patchogue, N. Y.

RUB YOUR EYES? Use Dr. Thompson's Eyewater. Buy at your druggist's or 1165 River, Troy, N. Y. Booklet.

Poison Ivy.

Although poison ivy is one of the worst offenders it frequently is blamed for poisoning caused by other plants. The Department of Agriculture has a list of more than 100 of such plants that grow in this country, and it is probable that there are others that may be poisonous to some persons. Not all of these plants are equally poisonous, and, too, there is great variation in the susceptibility of persons.—Scientific American.

Up to the Dogs.

"As this is a government repair shop, I suppose the government will be willing to employ, say, three dogs to keep the rats down?" said Brown.

"I think so. How shall we pay them?" asked Jones.

"I was considering a scale to run something like this: To the best dog, three bones per diem; to the next best, two; to the third best, one bone," commented Brown.

"An excellent idea. It affords a chance for promotion, always an incentive to faithful work. But how shall we tell which is the best dog?"

"The dogs can decide that."

INSIST ON BAYER ASPIRIN

SAY "BAYER" when you buy—Genuine

Proved safe by millions and prescribed by physicians for

Colds	Headache	Neuritis	Lumbago
Pain	Toothache	Neuralgia	Rheumatism

Genuine Accept only "Bayer" package which contains proper directions.

Handy "Bayer" boxes of 12 tablets
Also bottles of 24 and 100—Druggists.

Aspirin is the trade mark of Bayer Manufacture of Monoaceticacidester of Salicylicacid

Two pleasant ways to relieve a cough

TRADE

Take your choice and suit your taste. S-B—or Menthol flavor. A sure relief for coughs, colds and hoarseness. Put one in your mouth at bedtime. Always keep a box on hand.

MARK

SMITH BROTHERS
S.B. COUGH DROPS MENTHOL (orange colored box)
Famous since 1847

CONSTIPATION
CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS
Take a good dose of Carter's Little Liver Pills—then take 2 or 3 for a few nights after. They cleanse your system of all waste matter and Regulate Your Bowels. Mild—as easy to take as sugar. Genuine bear signature— Brentwood
Small Pill. Small Dose. Small Price.

"Ball Band" Rubber Goods--

I have sold BALL BAND Rubbers, Overshoes, Boots, etc., for years and have never had a single complaint on any pair I have sold.

All other Rubber Companys admit there is no better made than BALL BAND. So why buy a cheap, inferior grade—Buy BALL BAND and you buy the best.

A full line of Boots, Rubbers, etc., in all styles on hand.

Frank Gruetzmacher

New Work

—BY—

Iowa Falls Electric Company

Installation of Ten Additional Street Lights in Belmond and Two Additional Str. Lights in Iowa Falls.

Re-routing the Iowa Falls Garner Line at the Iowa Falls Plant.

Increasing the clearance of the High Line from Cedar Rapids to Iowa Falls over the Western Union lines at Iowa Falls.

The cost of this work approximates, $1150.00.

Another reason why our customers have the opportunity to invest in the Company.

Have you inquired about the 7 percent Convertible Notes.

OR ANY OF OUR OFFICES.

Iowa Falls Electric Co.

Iowa Falls, Iowa. Iowa Falls, Iowa.

Five Years General Practice.

Dr. D. . Anderson

Graduate Veter ian

Office at Kahrs' Drug Store Phone 4009

Klemme Iowa

Let Us Be Your Friend In Need--

Perhaps you, like others, often wish for a friend who could give you good sound advice on financial matters.

Most men make money easily. Their chief difficulty lies in retanng t. They make unfortunate investments because they have neither time nor experience nor the facilities to properly safeguard the ventures.

If there s any need for information—ask us. Our officers are especially fitted by their intimate contact with busness conditions and ther knowledge of securities to help in the safe investment of surplus funds.

ACertificate Of Time Deposit will start you on the road to success.

We pay 5 per cent on time deposits.

State Savings Bank

Klemme Iowa

News of Klemme and Vicinity

If its news, Phone 12. Thanks.

Room For Rent—modernly equipped. Inquire of John Josten.

Mr. Herman Gast from Garner, was here yesterday.

Wallace Pavey was at Mason City yesterday on business.

Mr. and Mrs. R. A. McConn drove to Mason City on business Monday.

R. A. Jorgenson drove to Garner Saturday afternoon on businses.

Miss Lena Swalve was a visitor in Belmond between trains last Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Koerner drove to Mason City Saturday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Rice, of Clear Lake, were guests at the Chas. F. Keraus home Sunday.

Ralph Elder came over rom Mason City Saturday evening to spend Sunday with his family here.

Mr. and Mrs. Edw. Jacobs spent Sunday visiting relatives at Clear Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. John Etchen were Sunday visitors at the Ollie Brooks home at Clear Lake.

Henry Luick and mother of Belmond, spent Sunday visiting with Klemme relatives and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Neihoff from Belmond, were business callers in this city Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Smith, from Garner, were shopping here Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. T. Blank and daughters went to Hayfield Sunday for a visit at the Thomas Blank home.

County Treasurer John Suurballe of Garner, was a business caller in this city Tuesday afternoon.

Ruiter Engel, of Meservey, was a business caller in this city yesterday.

Buy your electric light bulbs here and save money. All styles and all sizes. Jacobs & Son, Hardware.

Miss Ruth Suckow, of Forest City, drove up Monday to spend the day with her grandfather Suckow, at the Ed. Schaefer home.

Mrs. Henry Moss and daughter, Alice, of Rake, came last Thursday for an extended visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. Blank.

Mrs. Elmer Fuller and daughter, Mavis, of Clear Lake, spent several days at the home of Mrs. Phil Behringer the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Waterman and daughter, Marian, drove to Belmond Sunday for a visit at the home of Clarence's sister, Mable.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Kindon and three children, of Thompson, visited at the Frank Kluckhohn home last Friday.

Not much doing in the line of duck shooting yet this fall. The weather has been too nice and the ducks are still up north.

This part of the state is again enjoying a spell of fine weather. Just like Inidan Summer—and easy on the coal bin.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lewis, accompanied by Miss Rone, drove to Sheffield, Sunday, for a visit with friends.

Mr. A. Wellemeyer returned last Thursday evening from a trip to the Twin Cities where he had been on business.

We are publishing the Hancock County Delinguent Tax List this week. The list is larger this year than it was last year.

Mrs. Ralph Jennison and children, and Mrs. Ernest Hubbard, of Goodell, were shopping in this city Friday.

Frank Gruetzmacher accompanied Sheriff E. P. Hanson, of Garner, to Des Moines yesterday where they will attend a meeting of Sehriffs and Mayors of Iowa.

Mrs. Wisty, and baby son of Clear Lake, are here visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Jacobs. Mrs. Wisty is Mrs. Jacobs' mother.

Charlie Luick came over from Clear Lake last Thursday evening and remained until the following evening for a visit wtih his wife and son here.

Some of the boys are getting some fine carp at the river the past few days. They claim the carp from the river have an excellent flavor in the fall and spring.

Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Marsh, former District Superintendent of the Standard Oil Co., now of Hampton, were Sunday dinner guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Poort.

Mr. L. J. Kalvig and Mr. Joe Anderson, of Kanawha, were business visitors in this city Tuesday. They are connected with the Crownpeg Checker Co., of Kanawha.

Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Courshow and son, James, were over Sunday visitors at the J. J. Poort home. Mr. Courshow is promoter of the A. Y. P. Highway and makes his home at Sioux Falls, South Dakota.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lewis and Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Luick drove to Clear Lake Friday evening for a visit at the Ollie Brooks home and to attend a dance given at the Lake that evening.

Charlie Gibbs, better known by his knickname, "Pickles," came over from Mason City Sunday to spend the day with his mother and brothers. "Pickles" is employed at the cement plant.

"GETTING AHEAD." Sounds interesting, doesn't it? It is a splendid little paper published for young people. It will show you how to get ahead. Send for it today. THE HAMILTON UNIVERSITY,
Mason City, Iowa.

The Royal Neighbors' dance at the Idle Hour last Thursday evening was well attended and the ladies added about 631 to their treasury. The hall was beautifully decorated. All who attended say they had a good time.

We are in receipt of a letter from Mr. A. G. Lau of Mason City, advising us that the Lau Auto Company are now located in a new place and the address is now 18 South Washington Ave. He says they are still selling the same line of cars.

Aron Greimann has the bug too. Soon his ears will be as flat as a pancake listening to the radio he installed in his garage the other day. Anyway, flat ears are better looking than those that stick out like a sore thumb. Quite a few around here are sporting the Flatear—us too.

Mr. and Mrs. B. Anfansen and daughter, Virginia, of Belmond, and Mrs. Clair Clarke and daughter, Maxine, of Denver, Colorado, were Sunday visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Elder, and also at the Elko Buss home. These ladies were formerly Miss Lena and Alma Frohling, of Klemme.

Howdy Folks! Wealth may not bring true happiness but there are people who would be satisfied with a good imitation.

All Americans are entitled to life, liberty and pursuit of curency.

Beards are unsanitary, perhaps but they are not quite so amusing as are emotional Adam's apples.

A bill collector generally knows how many door bells are out or order.

KLEMME MARKETS

(Subject To Change)

Thursday, November 8

WHEAT	$1.00
CORN (new)	.60
OATS	$1.00
BARLEY	.55
RYE	.55
HOGS	$6.00—6.75
HAY	15.00—20.00
BUTTERFAT	.52
BUTTER (Creamery)	.50
EGGS	.40
HEAVY HENS	.14
LIGHT HENS	.10
STANDARD SPRINGS	.13
LEGHORNS	.10
COCKS	.06
DUCKS	.12
GEESE	.10

Fall and Winter Footwear

We have a fine, large line of everything in Footwear for Fall and Winter—you will be surprised at the low prices we quote.

SHOES and OXFORDS, for the girls and the ladies in the new styles. Ask to see our line.

SCHOOL SHOES—a full line for the Boys and Girls—strong, sturdy shoes that are made to stand hard wear—and sell at a low price.

RUBBER FOOTWEAR

We have just received a full line of high grade Rubbers (for men, women and children), Overshoes in all sizes and styles from 1 to 6 buckle. Farmers! Ask to see our new "Corn Belt" all rubber overshoe, just the thing to wear around the yard and field, it comes in 4 and 6 buckle style.

Full line of Silk and Wool Hosiery

G. W. Kluckhohn & Sons

Goodyear Tires And Tubes--

Will you most miles per dollar

We carry a complete stock in all sizes.

Cord Tires

Fabric Tires

ALL WEATHER Tread WINGFOOT

A REAL Tire For the money

And no higher than the other--Guaranteed.

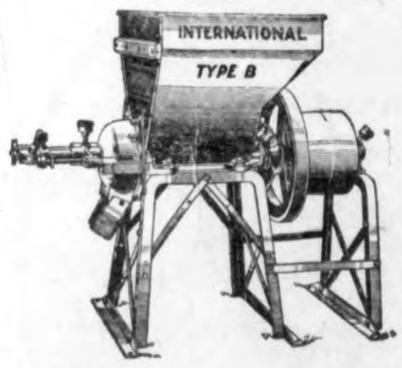
Etchen Bros.

(Successors to F. H. Ridder)

GARAGE REPAIRING BLACKSMITH SHOP

STILLE'S IMPLEMENT NEWS

Volume 2—Number 2. Thursday, November 8, 192



These grinders are so well balanced that they can be run 1,000 R. P. M. That's one of the many reasons for its large capacity in grinding. We have these grinders on hand and if you are in need of one this winter, drop in and look them over.

We have an especially good proposition on Spreaders right now; if you are in need of a new spreader next spring, better come in now and talk it over. Save some money.

Women want shoes large inst small outside.

Genuine Stoughton Wagons. Tho of you who have used them kno they can't be beat. Take a Stough ton Wagon, grease it with Bla Beauty Axle Grease and you ha the real rig for hauling grain an hogs. We have them both on hand.

Lets talk the tractor proposit over. Get yours now for spri We'll sell it to you on terms so will pay for itself. The tractor the guaranteed crank shaft an bearings. Plenty of power and some to spare.

THE KLEMME TIMES

Twenty-eighth Year—Number 10. Klemme, Iowa, Thursday Afternoon, November 15, 1923 $1.50 In Advance—$2.00 Outside of County

DOINGS OF THE WEEK AT THE KLEMME SCHOOLS

MISS FRANCIS VISITS SCHOOL

Miss Francis, the State Superintendent of Public Insturction, visited school last Thursday morning. She gave the high school pupils a very interesting talk. She said everything was satisfactory in school except the crowded condition in the first and second rooms, which should be relieved.

Miss Francis' personality is pleasing and we feel sure she is capable of her work. Were all surprised to see her. She told us we were welcome to call on her at the Capitol any time we were in Des Moines.,

New Seats in Recitation Rooms

Last week Mr. Yahnke andMr. Patet were busy working in Miss Scharlach's and Mr. Tregilgus's recitation rooms. They were putting twenty new seats in each room. This makes it more convenient for the pupils to write and study. . All the pupils are rejoicing over them.

Do More Reading

Last Monday morning Mr. Neese said everybody should read more in papers, magazines etc. Sometime soon we are to be called upon to give talks on the topics which are to be given us. If we know nothing about it we are to stand anyway so everybody can look at us. Mr. Neese said we are soon to give programs to which our friends and relatives are to be invited.

Clara Larson was a visitor at school last Monday.

GIRL'S SPORT NEWS

Friday evening, Nov. 9 opened the season of basket ball. We met the opponents on our floor and were defeated by a score of 14 to 16. The girls were good sports throughout the game. The following played on the team.

Maurine Hake	Forward
Dolores Koerner	Forward
Elvira Stille	Forward
Neota Ridder	Guard
Leona Lau	Guard
Marie Blank	Center

The substitutes were as follows:- Gertrude Johnson, Beatrice Busch, forwards; Bernice Tanner, Adela Schroeder, Guards.

Dolores Koerner made five points, Elvira Stille made six points and Maurine Hake three points. On the opponents side, Edith Halfpop made all sixteen points.

We expect to meet them again Friday night on the opponents home floor. After the game the teams were served a light luncheon prepared by the domestic science girls. The lunch consisted of cocia, jello, and Soda Crackrs.

Thursday evening a meeting was held for the purpose of electing a captain for the basket ball team. Elvra Stille, Dolores Koerner and Maurine Hake were nominated and by a majority votes Dolores Koerner was elected captain of the team. We feel sure that Dolores will serve as a good captain for the following season of basket ball.

The girls receievd their basket ball bloomers and they are satisfactory.

Boy's Sport News

Friday, Nov. 9 Klemme hung up its first scalp, by defeating Goodell 16 to 22. A large number of Klemme Boosters were watching the first game. The first part of the game scores were very close. In the last half of the game, both centers were put out on account of personal fouls. At the time Klemme was ahead by one score. Substitutes were put in and theg ame continued.

Klemme's Lineup was as follows:

Patet	Center
Wellemeyer	Forward
Gimer	Forward
Koerner	Guard
Elder, Cap't.	Guard
Gibbs	Substitute

The gate receipts for the game, Friday were 43.57. The expense of the lunch, the referee, and the score books was deducted from this fund leaving $16.41 apiece or each team.

Second game of the season will be held November 16, Klemme vs. Goodell, at Goodell. We would like to see all the Klemme boosters present.

Faculty News

The Misses Flessner, Buchan and Rone attended the teachers study center at Britt last Saturday.

Mr. Tregilgus went to Humbolt, Saturday to attend a football game, with Mr. Harold Gruetzmacher who is coach at Britt High School.

Mr. Tregilgus went to Nora Springs to spend Sunday at his home

Miss Scharlach spent the week end at her home at Corwith, Iowa. She reports that she had a very enpoyable time.

Miss Stacey spent the week end at her home at Osage, Iowa.

Miss Flessner went to Kanawha, Sunday.

Seniors and Juniors

Physics class had labratory work Friday and Monday of this week.

The public speaking class is selecting pieces to use in the declamatory contest.. When the pieces arrive anyone in high school will be permitted to choose from and to speak in the contest. The public speaking class have chosen the following question for debate: Resolved; that the Ku Klux Klan is a detriment to the United States.

There will be two debates. Clarence Elder, Hilary Greiman and Adela Schroeder form one affirmative team and will debate against a negative team composed of Marie Blank Neota Ridder, and Dolores Koerner, Leona Lau, Glenn Busch and Gertrude Johnson on the affirmative will debate against Bernice Tanner, Maurine Hake, Bertha Johnson and Beatrice Busch on the negative. The teams which work up the best arguments will probably present the debate to the public in a few weeks.

The Domestic Science girls prepared a good lunch for the basket ball players last Friday night. They have made tapioca prune whip, and custards this week.

SOPHOMORES

The physical geography class is starting to study volcanoes.

The agriculture class is preparing to judge corn. Each member of the class is to bring one ear of corn to be judged. The pupil having the best ear of ccorn reveics $1.00 and pupil having second best reveives $.50

FRESHMAN NEWS

Ruth Bailey has been absent for over a week on account of appendicitis. We are glad to say that she better. Her Sunday School class sent her flowers.

Grammar Room

Last Wednesday afternoon the pupils of the grammar room gave Miss Rone a peanut shower.

The government bulletins that the pupils sent for have arrived.

The seventh and eighth graders are studying Evangeline in connection with history. They are studying the struggle between France and England in trying to possess North America, and that is when the story of Evangeline takes place.

Intermediate Room

Last Friday the sixth grade pupils dramatized their reading lesson on the stage. The fourth and fifth grades and Mr. Neese were the audience.

Wilma Richardson visited school Monday.

The fifth grade pupils have memorized "The Landing of the Pilgrims

Thep upiles of the Intermediate rom haves tarted a wriitng contest this week, more will be said about it in the next issue of the TIMES.

Mr. Patet the janitor, has put up some brackets on which Miss Flessner has some flowering plants.

Primary Room

The primay room have begun the story of Indiana and Pilgrims. The second and third grade have arranged a pilgrim villiage on the sanl table.

Raymond Keeper visited the primary room Friday.

The second and third grade ciphered down Wednesday during their clas periods.

Thep rimary room is learning a new drill.

RURAL SCHOOL NOTES

District 5

None of the pupils were either absent or tardy thel ast week.

There will be a box social at this school Friday night.

Liberty No. 8.

Kermit Stille was absent last week to help pick corn.

The pupils are starting to get ready for examinations.

The attendence is more regular the past week because the corn is nearly all picked.

District No. 6.

Herbert Irving was a visitor last week Wednesday.

The fourth graders are busy writing compositions and stories and are struggling with paragraphs.

Ell Township. District. No.8

Leonard Swanson returned to school Monday after a few weeks absence on account of picking corn.

Some of the boys are starting to make Christmas presents in manual training.

Friday afternoon, from two-thirty until four o'clock, thec hildren were excused from their studies and enjoyed wasking the windows of the school house.

Avery No. 3

Albert White was absent all week on account of his broken arm. He broke it by cranking the Ford.

Liberty Dist. No. 7

No one was absent the past week.

The primary grade are doing well in their second primer.

Do you suppose the country is more moral now that the skirts have been lengenthened.

Lloyd George says Europe owes us a d bt of gratitude, but that's not the one we are worried abou.

Our idea of real labor is pumping air into a flat tire.

ON MAKING MISTAKES

We made a mistake in last week's issue of the Sentinal. A good subscriber told us about it. The same day there was a letter in our postoffice box that didn't belong to us. We called for ninety eight over the telephone and got 198. We asked for a spool of No. 50 thread and when we got home we found that it was No. 60. The train was reported thirty minutes late. We arrived at the depot twenty minutes after train time and the train was gone. We got our milk bill and there was a mistake of ten cens in our favor. We felt sick and the doctor said we were eating too much meat. We hadn't tasted meat for two months. The garage man said the jitney was missing because it needed a new timer. We cleaned a spark plug and it's run fine ever since. Yes, we made a few mistakes in last weeks paper.—Glen Elder (Kan.) Sentinal.

There are about 33 letters and pieces in each line of type set in the paper and there are 33 times 333 chances or errors in each line. There are 5,412 pieces in a column and 29 289,744 chances to make mistakes besides innumerable chances of having incorrect statements made. Figit up yourself. There are 56 columns in this paper each week and each column runs the same chances of mistakes. Everyone makes mistakes, that's why rubbers are put on lead pencils.—Ely (Minn.) Miner.

Oh! Mabel!

He struck her, but she uttered not a sound. He struk her agen butt no wurd eskapt her lips. Unce moor he hitter on the hedd brav thing that she wuz, she did not even wrimpurr. Then enraged beond awl reezon at her unconcern of his akshuns, the brute uttered a lo oth and began raining blo after blo on her prtee little hedd, even skratching hur in his madnus. Even thru this she had remained silent. Butt finelly, not being abje to stand it eny longer, she heeved a reluktant sputter and berst into flame.

For yu sea she wuz only a match!

Any man who drinks liquor in Turkey gets thirty strikes with a whip. Over here he is liable to get one stroke—Para lysis.

Farm Bureau Hold Third Nutrition Study

LIBERTY AND ELL TOWNSHIP FARM BUREAU LADIES HOLD JOINT MEET

The Liberty and Ell township leaders of the farm bureau ladies met at the home of Mrs. John Goll. Nine leaders were present at the meeting, who in turn will present the lesson to the district meetings soon. All members are invited and urged to attend the district meetings.

The lesson given was on milk, and was studied from the following standpoint:

(1) Composition (2) Value in Diet (3) Digestibility (4) Economy (5) Ways of Using (6) Care in the Handling of (7) Testing of Cows and (8) Products of.

While milk is universally recognized as the standard food of infancy and childhood, its value as a food for adults is often underestimated. Milk is most commonly thought of as a beverage like coffee, tea or water; yet a single glass of milk contains about as much of the nutritive value of a meal as a quarter loaf of bread or a good slice of roast beef. Skim milk is often regarded on farms as having very little food value, but it affords one of the cheapest sources of proteids generally available. Eight ounces of bread eaten with a pint of skim milk will furnish very nearly one third of the proteid required for a days nutriment, at a cost of 5 cents. Many housewives hesitate to remove the cream from whole milk in belief that they are thus robbing members of their family. This is not true. The fuel value of butterfat removed can be supplied in ordinary diet more cheaply by use of butter, meat, the sweets or other carbohydrates. Skim milk is rich in carbohydrates and proteid.

Pasteurization of Milk

Pasteurization of milk by heating it to a temperature of 140 to 145 degrees and holding at this temperature for 20 to 30 minutes serves to destroy any bacteria of diseases regarded as transmisable by milk. But this should not be necessary if each town would have an ordinance that all cows should be tested.

Milk absorbs odors quickly and should be left in clear vessels in a cool, clean place.

Milk Products

Milk stands, and the fat globules rise to the top in the form of cream. Cream is put into the churn and is shaken and the globules of cream gather together as Butter, and the liquid is buttermilk.

An acid added to milk coagulates the casein forming a curd, separating it from liquid called whey. The curd is then made into cheese which contains condensed nourishment (casein and fat.) Condensed milk is prepared by evaporating milk to about one-half to one-fourth of its volume.

Milk is preserved by sterilization. Pasteurization and evaporation.

The next meeting for leaders will be in Ell township at the home of Mrs. Wm. Schlawein.

Compared to Meat, Etc

If You Pay—	You can afford to pay for milk—
18c lb for boiling beef	18c qt.
25c lb. for round steak	20c qt.
45c doz. eggs	32c qt.
40c lb ham	27c qt.
50c qt. of oysters	60c qt.
30c lb. turkey	23c qt.

Don't tear your shirt, brother, over the turning issused of the sour for there is a short cotton crop this year and shirt material is bound to go .

KLEMME BUTTER SCORES HIGH IN NATIONAL CONTEST

SHERIFF'S SALE

W. A. Rhodes

vs.

Charley Bielefeld, and State Savings Bank, Klemme, Iowa.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, That by virtue of a Special Execution issued out of the office of the Clerk of the District Court, in Hancock County, on a judgement rendered October 22, 1923, October Term of said Court, A. D. 1923 for the sum of Two Thousand Eight Hundred Twenty Two & 48-100 Dollars debt, and Eighty One & 50-100 Dollars costs, in favor of W. A. Rhodes, and against Charley Bielefeld, and to the Sheriff of Hancock County directed, I have levied upon the following described property, to-wit:

The North 4-5 of the East 5-6 of the Northeast quarter (NE¼) of the Southwest quarter (SW¼), Also the Southeast quarter of the Northwest quarter (SE¼, NW¼), All in Section Twenty-one (21), Township Ninety-four (94), North Range Twenty-three (23) West of the 5th P. M. Hancock County, Iowa.

NOW, THEREFORE, Public Notice is hereby given that I shall, on the 24th day of November, 1923, at 10:20 o'clock A. M., at the front door of the Court House, in Garner, in Hancock County, offer and sell at public outcry, to the highest bidder for cash, all the right, title and interest that the above named Charley Bielefeld had on the 22nd day of October, A. D. 1923, or now have in and to the above described property, or so much thereof as is necessary to satisfy said execution, together with costs and all accruing costs, unless the same shall be sooner satisfied.

Dated at the Sheriff's office in Garner, this 22nd day of October, A. D. 1923.

E. P. HANSON,
Sheriff of Hancock County, Iowa.
(Pub. Nov. 15-22.)

SHERIFF'S SALE

First National Bank, Klemme, Iowa,

vs.

Roscoe Wiles & Flora Wiles, State Savings Bank, Klemme, Iowa, and T. R. Burgess.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, That by virtue of a Special Execution issued out of the office of the Clerk of the District Court, in Hancock County, on a judgement rendered October 22, 1923, October Term of said Court, A. D. 1923, for the sum of Four Thousand Seven Hundred Seventy Two & 98-100 Dollars debt, and One Hundred One & 72-100 Dollars costs, in favor of First National Bank, Klemme, Iowa, and against Roscoe Wiles & Flora Wiles, and to the Sheriff of Hancock County directed, I have levied upon the following described property to-wit:

The East Half (E½) of the North east quarter (NE¼), of Section Nineteen (19), And the West Half (W½), of the Northwest quarter (NW¼), of Section Twenty (20), All in Township Ninety-four (94), North of Range Twenty-three (23), West of the 5th P. M. Hancock County, Iowa.

NOW, THEREFORE, Public Notice is hereby given that I shall, on the 24th day of November, 1923, at 10 o'clock A. M., at the front door of the Court House, in Garner, in Hancock County, offer and sell at public outcry, to the highest bidder for cash, all the right, title and interest that the above named Roscoe Wiles & Flora Wiles had on the 22 day of October A. D. 1923, or now have in and to the above described property, or so much thereof as is necessary to satisfy said execution, together with costs and all accruing costs, unless the same shall be sooner satisfied.

Dated at the Sheriff's office in Garner, this 22nd day of October, A. D. 1923.

E. P. HANSON,
Sheriff of Hancock County, Iowa.
(Pub. Nov. 15-22.)

When a woman wants to tell some thing real mean about another she tells her real age.

Curosity may have killed a cat, but it makes life interesting for many cats.

GIMER'S BUTTER SCORES HIGH IN NATIONAL CONTEST

Klemme Creamery Again in Lime Light In Big Contest

A. D. Gimer, local buttermaker, has added another feather to his cap when his tub of butter brought back a Silver Medal Class Diploma in the National Creamery Buttermakers' Association Fresh Butter Contest, held at Madison, Wis., November 6, 7, 8, 1923. His score was 94.75.

The prize winners were all Iowa men and went to A. H. Bentz, Maynard, Iowa, first; D. W. Mohler, of New Hampton, Iowa, second; and to John S. Smith, Rockwell, Iowa, for third.

There were 389 buttermaker who entered butter in the contest, and Mr. Gimer can well feel proud of the showing he made. There were only four tubs higher than his, except the three prize winners. He was tied with two others in the contest.

When a man gets that close to the top of the list in the National Contest he has something to be proud of, and we congratulate him on his success.

The local creamery also receives a great deal of recognition and all helps to further advertise Klemme and put it on the map.

There was butter entered in contest from sixteen states.

PETIT JURY FOR THE DECEMBER TERM OF COURT

Court Begins December 3, 1923

Robert Metz, Wesley, Orthel
T. J. Murray, Britt, Crystal
Fred Madole, Woden, Bingham
Gus Lamprecht, Kanawha, Amster.
Ben Neiman, Kanawha, Amsterdam
Otto Larson, Forest City, Crystal
H. M. Abbot, Forest City, Ellington
Frank Lundberg, Forest City, Mad
John Carlson, Corwith, Magor
Ruth Chase, Corwith, Magor
Lottie White, orwith, Magor
Mrs. Lillie Meter, Klemme, Ell
Henry Katter, Klemme, Liberty
Fred Henschen, Klemme, Ell
Fred Reitter, Britt, Britt
J. A. Schrader, Brit, Britt
T. J. Volding, Britt, Crystal
Fred Cook, Britt, Orthel
Martel Avery, Goodell, Avery
H. C. Barger, Goodell, Avery
A. B. Landon, Goodell, Twin Lake
Ed. Kennedy, Goodell, Avery
W. H. Ingram, Garner, Concord
John Berghofer, Garner, Concord
Joe Wenck, Garner, Concord
W. G. Nugent, Garner, Concord
Abbey Ross, Garner, Concord
John Schneider, Garner, Concord
Ida Baggs, Garner, Concord.
Fred Grieman, Garner, Ell

METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH

A. W. Gauger, Pastor

Our last Sunday services proved interesting and we trust beneficial to everyone.

We were glad to greet quite a number whom we had not met before.

The Armistice service on Sunday evening brought a good audience. We enjoyed the special music.

Next Sunday is "Good Literature" day and the sermon will be along that line, showing the importance of good reading, in character building, home training, and religious instruction.

This bee 's knees, cat's pajamas. gnat's eyebrows, conservation is getting to be the snakes hips.

So drive your car today that your name will appear in the obituary column of a newspaper tomorrow.

One evidence of the fundamental excellence of the American constitution is the amount of inexpert tinkering it can stand without becoming materially damaged.

HELP FOR GIRLS WHO WORK

Mrs. Lodic Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Helped Her

Tyrone, Pa.—"A friend told my husband how Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had helped his wife, so my husband bought me a bottle because I was so run-down, had a nervous weakness, no strength in my body and pains in my left side so bad that I could hardly do my work. Before I was married I used to work in the factory, and I had pains just the same then as I have had since I have done my housework. I would not be without a bottle in the house now. It has stopped the pains all right and I have found out that it is a wonderful body builder, as it has made me well and strong. It is going to be the 'old reliable' with me hereafter, and I am always willing to tell other women how it has helped me. You can use this letter as you wish as I can honestly say that my words are true."—Mrs. M. LODIC, R.F.D. No. 4, Box 40, Tyrone, Pa.

Letters like this bring out the merit of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. They tell of the relief from such pains and ailments after taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Sure Enough.

I read in the paper last night," said Professor Pate, "that a member of the old German aristocracy had turned to burglary as a regular business."

"Why do you say 'turned'?" snarled J. Fuller Gloom.

Hall's Catarrh Medicine is a Combined Treatment, both local and internal, and has been successful in the treatment of Catarrh for over forty years. Sold by all druggists.
F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio

Cuticura Talcum
Fascinatingly Fragrant
Always Healthful
Soap 25c, Ointment 25 and 50c, Talcum 25c.

CORNS

Stop their pain in one minute!
For quick lasting relief from corns, Dr. Scholl's Zino-pads stop the pain in one minute by removing the cause—friction and pressure.
Zino-pads are thin, safe, antiseptic, healing, waterproof and cannot produce infection or any bad after-effects. Three sizes—for corns, callouses and bunions. Cost but a trifle. Get a box today at your druggist's or shoe dealer's.
Dr Scholl's Zino-pads
Put one on - the pain is gone

PREVENT FLU Stop Your Coughs and Colds
FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR
ESTABLISHED 1875
LARGEST SELLING COUGH MEDICINE IN THE WORLD
REFUSE SUBSTITUTES

SAVE YOUR EYES!
Use Dr. Thompson's Eyewater
Buy at your druggist's or 1167 River, Troy, N. Y. Booklet.

No Chance to Be Polite.

Said a straphanger to another who had just given his seat to a lady: "Good luck, sir. I've been traveling on this line for three years, and I've never offered my seat to a lady."

"Then you've never had any manners, sir," was the reply.

"No, it isn't that; I've never had a seat."—Judge.

Sure Relief FOR INDIGESTION

6 BELL-ANS
Hot water
Sure Relief
BELL-ANS
25¢ AND 75¢ PACKAGES EVERYWHERE

CAPTAIN SAZARAC

By Charles Tenney Jackson

Copyright by The Bobbs-Merrill Company

"WELCOME, CAPTAIN!"

SYNOPSIS.—Under the name of "Captain Sazarac," and disguised, Jean Lafitte, former freebooter of Barataria, proscribed, returns to the city of New Orleans. He is recognized by two of his old companions, Alderman Dominique and Beluche. At the gaming tables Sazarac has won much money from Colonel Carr, British officer. John Jarvis, the city's first bohemian of the arts and letters, an oldtime friend of Lafitte, tells of a woman's face and smile. As his last wager, Carr puts up a woman, presumably a slave. Custom compels Sazarac to accept the stake. He wins. His old associates and Count Raoul de Almonaster accost him as Lafitte. A project of the youthful adventurers of New Orleans is the rescue of Napoleon Bonaparte from St. Helena, and a ship, the Seraphine, has been made ready. From De Almonaster Sazarac learns that the girl he "won" at the card table is white, of high estate, and that the matter has been made a byword in the city's resorts. Sazarac finds Mademoiselle Lestron, a fellow passenger on a river steamer a few days before, and with whom he had fallen in love, is the girl and in chivalry foregoes his revenge against Carr. Jarvis admires Mademoiselle Lestron. He is a witness of the meeting and picks up a camellia which the girl had thrown, unnoticed, to Sazarac. Jarvis is dangerous; he talks too much in his cups. His old associates of the Barataria days urge Lafitte to take command of the Seraphine, ostensibly to rescue Napoleon but really to fly the black flag and cruise the seas. He hesitates. Jarvis is a witness of the kidnaping of Mademoiselle Lestron, but his story is not given credence. De Almonaster entertains Sazarac, now admittedly Jean Lafitte, at his country house. Lafitte, accused of the abduction of Mademoiselle Lestron, is warned of the approach of a military party seeking to arrest him. He escapes to the swamps of Barataria.

CHAPTER VII—Continued.

—9—

The old dogs laughed the harder. Rough shaggy fellows in shirts of faded green and blue, barefooted for the most, filthy muskrat traps dangling at their belts where once they had worn cutlass and pistol before the President's pardon.

"Nothing of sedition," answered Bohon. "Few of us dare go to the city even now. There is always a peg on which to hang one of Lafitte's men. Let a sheep be stolen up in the north parishes, and at once the Barataria are charged with it!"

"Come," said the chief. "The older of you with Bohon on his lugger. The others to their camps. Not a man of you shall lift hand against the law for me. If you can serve me further you shall be summoned. Come—Rigo! Black Mike—Nez Coupe. We shall talk to the deserters first."

They made way for him to the beach. Old Rigo was laughing softly:

"Old days are come! Jean—and at once, a fair enterprise! A woman—and a ship! And down at the old isle where Yankees burned our fort, I have pumpkins growing—beautiful yellow pumpkins! Eh, bien! Perhaps we shall see another color o' gold among my pumpkins, wi' Jean among us once more!"

Six men to a side, the lugger crept down the mirrored bayou to where it opened to a shallow lake red in the warm sunset. Back on the Temple, the whispering swampers scattered to their pirogues. Fast and wide the word would go through watery forest aisles and into the grass jungles of Barataria. Never a customs boat could leave the city but that keen eyes noted, and paddling couriers spread the warning far to the most secluded chenlere of the deep swamp.

"Look you," growled the steersman, Bohon, to Joe Rigo, "the old fellows gathering like buzzards, furbishing up rusty dirks and smelling venture on the very wind that brought Jean to us. Name o' G—d!—I am young again!"

Bohon glanced at the first stars. Eastward a dim smudge showed on the grassy bayou margin. "John Kelly will be there—and Maviano, the Manilaman. And others, Captain. There will be drinking, for three casks of wine went from the Algiers dock along with the arms. And the English lads, Captain—you will not have them delivered to the consul?"

"Did you ever know," laughed Jean, "of me kicking back any man to the press gangs—white, yellow, brown or black—who ever reached the swamp?"

"Do you remember when our men went recruiting to the Acadian dances and shook their gold before the country youth—a speech, a song, a revel—that would carry every restless spirit of the parishes back to our fort to serve you, Jean?"

There was a shout in the starlight. To the lugger's side swept a half-dozen canoes. Old whiskered fellows would noa be denied—theye clambered over the gunwales, and stood roaring their welcome to the one-time dictator of the Barataria coast. A torch gleamed among the palmettos as Bohon's men slid the anchor to the mud. Then they crowded aboard to shout, to shake his hand, amazed that he lived, eager to hear of the lost leader.

But Bohon led the way ashore. The one-time privateers trooped behind the guides to another palm-thatched camp under which were stored the stolen wine casks, the boxes of ammunition and scattered muskets. The English deserters, red-eyed, reeling from drink, looked upon the party with suspicious eyes, although the swamp men had heralded Lafitte's coming.

"Welcome, Captain!" shouted old Budge, the dock watchman. "I came with these lads. It must have been in the very air that you had returned, for—of a sudden—I had the notion of plunder! Look you—two more lusty seamen from the Genaron are here!"

"The mate laid twenty lashes to our backs because we could not explain Burke's get-away," said one. "We slid down the chains, sir, and are done with the king's shilling!"

"Lafitte!" cried another, "I sailed in a bark that took a round shot from you once off Trinidad! Come, my hand to it that I serve you now!"

The laughter and the drinking arose once more. Clearly the exile perceived that the swamp outlaws had no other thought than that he had come to revive again the marauding against the West India merchantmen.

He led aside the eldest of the deserting seamen. "Come, of the Genaron? What is her mission in the gulf?"

"I wish I could answer, sir! She sailed regularly, but she is stuffed with arms. Vera Cruz was to be her entry port, yet why carry arms to the king o' Spain's men? We were warned to say nothing of her cargo. When the Yankee customs discovered them, I hear the British consul was embarrassed. Colonel Carr had hand in it, the fo'cas'le said."

"Carr?" spoke up a youthful deserter eagerly. "Why, that is the blustering officer who wrangled with the skipper when they bundled the woman aboard!"

"The woman!" demanded Lafitte. "What of this—quick!"

"But the other night. The watch was hustled below when they brought her. Then it was up-sail and away

"Why, That Is the Blustering Officer Who Wrangled With the Skipper When They Bundled the Woman Aboard."

without waiting to settle this quarrel about the muskets which a drunken supercargo put off and into the customs' hands by a mistake."

"Sailed!" The chief laid hands upon his shoulder. "Lads, is it true?"

"Some dirty affair, sir. Burke and Crackley and myself saw it. Slave, free woman of color, to be sold in the Indies, or whatever she was—we cannot say. They took her to the master's cabin. There was no law to it, I warrant, but when we lads saw that the Genaron was to put out hastily we took our leave o' her!"

Lafitte swept about upon Bohon. "Mademoiselle Lestron on the Genaron, and the bark adrift to the passes! What can she make, sir, with this wind?"

"Steerage, nothing more. She will not have passed English Turn—"

"Forty men by daylight at the river side! She shall be boarded in midstream, Bohon. Johanness—back to the Temple and summon every lad!"

There was a gasp of incredulity. The leader had turned back to the smuggler's landing. The older privateersmen followed. The deserters stumbled among their wine casks. Then the leader of them, John Crackley, a long, thin-faced villain of the crimp-gangs, roared to the others.

"I told you, bullies, if ever we found this Lafitte there would be rough work to do! The Genaron—burn her to the water's edge, say I—and a knife to the mate for the cat he laid on our backs!"

The messengers paddled off in the starlight while about Jean gathered his old friends. And presently, across the shallows, came another small boat, swept by four black oarsmen to the smuggler's stern. A cloaked figure stepped out and grasped Lafitte's hand.

"Monsieur de Almonaster!"

"The mask is useless, sir! I came to warn you. The dragoons seized my house-servants, and bullied them into confession. Sazarac! The city shouts with it! Jean Lafitte has stolen the English colonel's ward!"

"Sir, you know better. I, indeed, know where she is. Mademoiselle Lestron has been put to sea. I take it, to hush her mouth. She would have spoken something dangerous to Carr's purposes. What these are, in all, we cannot say. But the lady of the river packet is a prisoner on the Genaron."

The count stared at him bewilderedly. "None in the city knows! Carr roars his indignation—he leads the cry that Jean Lafitte put his old Barataria refugees to the abduction. Half a dozen expeditions are fitting out to search the swamps. Captain, you cannot linger here!"

"The Genaron—" said Lafitte curtly. "If she does not fetch a sailing wind before she makes the outer passes, sixty of the Baratarians will swarm her chains for boarding before daylight. Will that be answer enough to the city, that Lafitte is here again? —the old fox in his hiding place?"

"A mad scheme!" muttered Raoul. "But—ah, well! For a woman! I trust, sir, you see it is an act of piracy against the vessel of a friendly power in American waters?"

The exile laughed grimly. "The dice are against Lafitte, the honest man!"

"Sir, does she know your identity?" pursued De Almonaster gravely.

"Can you ask? Lafitte—for whom her countrymen have a gallows built in every port that flies the king's flag? Come, sir! This is man's business! Every hour counts—every moment. She will know, soon enough, when a proscribed outlaw frees her . . . and turns away to face his ring of enemies."

And suddenly old Bohon dashed to his feet and held a finger to the air. He touched the skin with his lips and held it again.

"D—n!" he shouted. "The air is changing. It is swinging northerly! A breeze in the river, and she will make the passes before a man of us could lift hand against her!"

It was true. Five minutes later the lugger lurched slowly around in the tide. The big sail began to lift and stream in the starlight. Johanness came aft cursing the stir of the water.

"I tell you it cannot be done. If we had a thousand armed fellows in the narrows what could they do with cockleshell dugouts to board a ship drawing sail?"

They listened to the lapping water on the lugger's side. And now, from the oak-grown islet, there came a stumble of feet, a clatter of arms, and then a splashing in the starlit shallows.

"Aye, bullies!" roared John Crackley. "I said if ever we met this Lafitte there would be proper work for you!"

The deserters and the younger swamp islanders were swarming out, drunken and with ribald cheers, under their smoky torches. "A-Barataria!" one of the pardoned outlaws cried. It was the old boarding sea-yell of the Black Petral's crew, and it struck with a curious cold prophecy to the heart of Lafitte. Fate was bearing him, do what he might, back to the lawless years of the youth he had put by.

"The devil's hand is in this," grumbled Johanness. "This wind—it will be a good ship's wind in the passes. The Genaron will be in blue water tomorrow noon!"

"It is fatal to our plan of boarding her in the river," mused Lafitte. "And the plan must change with the wind. If we had a weather boat off the old isle—"

"A boat!" growled Nez Coupe. "But in all these coves, where once we counted forty sail and two hundred guns, there is nothing worth a nutshell on blue water. Bah! We took the President's pardon!"

"A ship!" snarled Black Mike. "Seize a ship! Damnation!—how does a man find a ship? Why, name o' G—d—he takes her!"

And suddenly De Almonaster whirled on the silent leader with glowing eyes. "A ship? Why, there in the city—moored at the Place d'Armes!"

"The Napoleon ship!" shouted Johanness. "Why, curse my eyes, that is a ship, but death to the perfumed gentry that own her!"

"The Seraphine?" cried Bohon. "Why that beauty would sit ahead o' the English bark and laugh in any weather!"

Lafitte was staring half-amusedly at De Almonaster. "Monsieur, the Seraphine lies in the very heart of the city, under the guns of every fort and warsman there!"

"Well, then—threescore of your swamp fellows gathered secretly by the Algiers shore, and crossing the river at midnight could board and have her under way ere the port awoke. Once off the passes, she could overhaul the bark. She is gunned for the best of them, but there would be no need. The Genaron could not fight—she would give back the lady . . . of course the admiralties at Washington and London would howl, but"—the young man shrugged indifferently—"the affair would be over."

"Over? Monsieur, are you mad?"

"Ah, I had forgotten that I possess a certain interest in the Seraphine! Of course, I really know nothing about such madness! I am amazed—I denounce it much as I denounce this Saz-a-rac who—a dinner guest of mine—is discovered to be Lafitte, the pirate!"

"You peril your life and your future, Monsieur."

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

Morality and Religion.

Morality without religion is only a kind of dead reckoning—an endeavor to find our place on a cloudy sea by measuring the distance we have run, but without any observation of the heavenly bodies.—Longfellow.

The Whole Secret.

Progress is a matter of going in the right direction and keeping patiently on.—Anonymous.

Miss Kathryn Gill is director of an employment agency in St. Louis that hires each month 500 men and women.

The Public Demand.

"Aren't you going to make a speech?"

"Not if I can avoid it," answered Senator Sorghum. "Why should I risk saying something that might make me unpopular? All the public appears to ask at present is that I keep quiet and be photographed."

WOMEN! DYE FADED THINGS NEW AGAIN

Dye or Tint Any Worn, Shabby Garment or Drapery.

Diamond Dyes

Each 15-cent package of "Diamond Dyes" contains directions so simple that any woman can dye or tint any old, worn, faded thing new, even if she has never dyed before. Choose any color at drug store.—Advertisement.

An English Custom.

"With all due deference, my boy, I really think our English custom at the telephone is better than saying 'hello,' as you do."

"What," asked the party of the second part, "do you say in England?"

"We say: 'Are you there?' Then, of course, if you are not there, there is no use in going on with the conversation."

Cuticura for Sore Hands.
Soak hands on retiring in the hot suds of Cuticura Soap, dry and rub in Cuticura Ointment. Remove surplus Ointment with tissue paper. This is only one of the things Cuticura will do if Soap, Ointment and Talcum are used for all toilet purposes.—Advertisement.

Not So Wasteful.

Efficiency Expert—You are wasting too much time on your personal appearance.

Stenographer—It's not wasted. I've only been here six months and I'm already engaged to the junior partner. —The American Legion Weekly.

All popular songs are composed, and some are decomposed.

Flapper Corn.

A gentleman farmer had a friend out to look the place over. After inspecting the tractors and one thing and another they came to a small inclosed corn field.

"What is this variety you have sown?" asked the visitor.

"Flapper corn," was the reply.

"Flapper corn? I never heard of that. Is it something new?"

"No, I had it last year. That is when I gave it the name."

"And why do you call it flapper corn?"

"I can't see the ears."

GIRLS! HAIR GROWS THICK AND BEAUTIFUL

35-Cent "Danderine" Does Wonders for Lifeless, Neglected Hair.

A gleamy mass of luxuriant hair full of gloss, luster and life shortly follows a genuine toning up of neglected scalps with dependable "Danderine."

Falling hair, itching scalp and the dandruff is corrected immediately. Thin, dry, wispy or fading hair is quickly invigorated, taking on new strength, color and youthful beauty. "Danderine" is delightful on the hair; a refreshing, stimulating tonic—not sticky or greasy! Any drug store.—Advertisement.

Serious Shortage.

"Hullo, Jack! And where hae ye been all this time?"

"Why, mon, I've just coom back fra London. It's a swindling place, is London. I bought a packet of 3,000 pins there. It cost me sixpence and then I found I was two short."—London Tit-Bits.

A Safe and Sure Laxative— Brandreth Pills. One or two taken at bed time will keep you in good condition. Entirely vegetable.—Adv.

Unfortunately a man's epitaph comes along too late in the game for him to live up to it.

MONARCH QUALITY

Coffee	Tea	Cocoa	Salad Dressing
Prepared Mustard	Grape Juice	White Cherries	Olive Oil
Tomatoes	Stringless Beans	Pears	Peanut Butter
Pineapple	Asparagus Tips	Beets	Red Raspberries
Mince Meat	Catsup	Yellow Cling Peaches	Apricots
Sweet Pickles	Baked Beans	Salmon	Pumpkin
Red Pitted Cherries	Grape Fruit Hearts	Milk	Food of Wheat
Loganberries	Sliced Peaches	Grated Pineapple	Preserves
Spinach	Corn	Wax Beans	Early June Peas
Sweet Relish	Fruit Salad	Sweet Peas	Red Kidney Beans

None Better Obtainable - Costs Less
REID, MURDOCH & CO.
Established 1853
Chicago New York

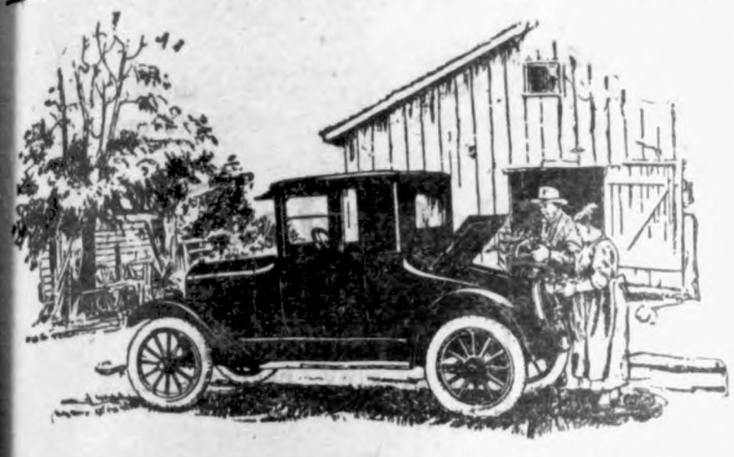
SHINOLA
AMERICA'S HOME SHOE POLISH
Black - Tan - White - Ox-Blood - Brown

SHINOLA and the Shinola Home Set should be in every home. Every member of the family can use it for it gives the quick easy shine. The shine that preserves leather and resists weather. SHINOLA in the handy quick opening box with the key.
It's easy to shine with the Home Set. "The Shine for Mine"

for Economical Transportation

CHEVROLET

Every Farm Needs Two



EVERY farm needs two automobiles, one of which should be a closed model Chevrolet.

The open touring car is best for general farm use, carrying passengers or perhaps miscellaneous bulky produce or merchandise, but for cold or rainy weather, and for church or social use the family needs a closed car, either a 2-passenger Utility Coupé as illustrated, or the 5-passenger Sedan. The extra large rear compartment is a feature of the Coupé.

These closed cars are very finely made, furnished, upholstered and trimmed. The windows are of plate glass and can be lowered, providing as much air as an open car, yet affording full protection against wind, rain, snow or cold when raised.

With a second car on a farm, one is always available for those at home when the other car is out.

The low prices of Chevrolet make the ownership of two cars feasible for most farm families.

CHEVROLET MOTOR CO., DETROIT, MICH.
Division of General Motors Corporation

Prices Effective September 1, 1923 f. o. b. Flint, Michigan

Superior 2-Pass. Roadster	$490
Superior 5-Pass. Touring	495
Superior 2-Pass. Utility Coupé	640
Superior 5-Pass. Sedan	795
Superior Commercial Chassis	395
Superior Light Delivery	495
Utility Express Truck Chassis	550

Five United States manufacturing plants, seven assembly plants and two Canadian plants give us the largest production capacity in the world for high-grade cars and make possible our low prices.

Dealers and Service Stations Everywhere

FIRST U. S. MILITARY MEDAL

Government Gave Gen. George Washington Decoration to Commemorate Evacuation of Boston.

The first military medal ever bestowed by the American government was one in gold to Gen. George Washington, to commemorate the evacuation of Boston by the British in 1776. Capt. Paul Jones was similarly rewarded after his famous fight with the "Serapis" in 1779, and the three men, Paulding, Williams and Van Wart, who captured Maj. John Andre in 1780, were given special medals by congress.

The first decoration, and so far as Col. Robert E. Wyllie of the general staff of the U. S. A., and author of a work on military and civil orders, decorations and insignia, has been able to discover, which had a general application to enlisted men, was the result of an order issued in 1782 by General Washington. A soldier cited for the decoration was permitted to wear on his facings, over his left breast, the figure of a heart in purple cloth or silk, edged with narrow lace or binding.—Detroit News.

Not Loud Enough.

"Jack's got a new siren for his car."

"Really. What became of the blond one?"—London Mail.

FEDERAL LAW ON HUNTING

Prohibits Shooting of Migratory Fowl After Sunset—South Dakota Hunters Face Arrest.

Hunting migratory game birds is permitted under federal regulations each day during the open season from half an hour before sunrise to sunset. Persons found hunting between sunset and half an hour before sunrise are liable to prosecution in federal court under the provisions of Regulations 4 of the migratory-bird treaty-act regulations. A state law recently passed by the legislature of South Dakota provides that waterfowl may be shot half an hour after sunset. The biological survey of the United States Department of Agriculture points out that state legislatures may pass laws to give further protection to migratory birds, if such laws or regulations do not extend the open seasons for such birds beyond the time prescribed by the migratory-bird treaty-act regulations. Although the state law permits shooting from sunrise to half an hour after sunset, a person so doing may be arrested and prosecuted under the federal law, administered by the Department of Agriculture.

Self-made men don't always make themselves agreeable.

As a man eateth so is he —

THINKING moulds the mind and exercise develops the body, but food supplies the materials for building mind and body.

Grape-Nuts, made from wheat and malted barley, is a crisp, delicious cereal food, rich in wholesome nutriment.

The important mineral elements of the grains are readily available in this splendid food. The essential Vitamin-B is supplied in generous measure. The nutritious starches of the wheat and barley are partially pre-digested by 20 hours' baking.

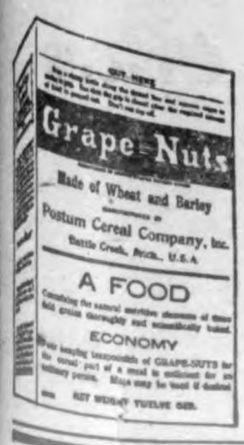
Grape-Nuts with milk or cream is a complete food. Its compact form makes a little go a long way.

Sold by Grocers Everywhere!

GRAPE-NUTS
Six Minute Pudding

1 cup Grape-Nuts
1½ cups scalded milk
1 tablespoon sugar
½ cup raisins

Cover Grape-Nuts with scalded milk. Add sugar, raisins, and a little nutmeg. Cook six minutes directly over the heat, stirring constantly, and serve with any good pudding sauce. Makes four to six portions.



Grape-Nuts
—THE BODY BUILDER
"There's a Reason"

WHO'S WHO—and WHEREFORE

"Doc" Cook Again Gets in Limelight

Dr. Frederick A. Cook and more than twenty of his associates are on trial in the Federal court at Fort Worth, Tex., charged with misuse of the mails. Cook and his co-defendants are among 100 charged with fraudulently promoting stock sales, as a result of which, according to the Attorney General's department, a "sucker list" which extended from the Atlantic to the Pacific, was swindled out of $200,000,000.

Cook, who won world-wide fame in 1908 when he declared he discovered the North Pole but failed to submit proofs, went to Texas five years ago seeking peace and wealth.

His domestic troubles have been in Fort Worth courts for two years. What oil he discovered was insufficient to smooth his marital troubles, and only a few months ago his wife was given a divorce decree, Cook failing to appear.

Dr. Cook flatly denies every charge of whatever character ever brought against him. He still vehemently asserts he reached the North Pole. In fact he has spoken to several audiences about his famous "dash"; he insists that he provided well for his wife and daughter; that he never practiced fraud in the oil game; that he really did climb to the top of Mt. McKinley—that the whole world, in fact, is in league against him.

Haller, Polish Hero, Gets Warm Welcome

America has had the pleasure of entertaining many distinguished war leaders, including the French generals Joffre, Foch and Gouraud, but none of its visitors from abroad has come nearer the rating of a national hero than Gen. Joseph Haller, the idol of Poland, who came here to attend the American Legion convention in San Francisco.

The general is not only a hero in his native land, but also in the United States. Many of our citizens of Polish extraction fought under his banner and thousands of Poles not naturalized at the time returned to Europe to assist in winning freedom for their country.

Those Americans called themselves "Haller's Own," because they fought under his immediate command, and his division, as it was termed, approached the size of an army as recruits flocked to his headquarters. Many of the soldiers who enlisted in his army have since returned to the United States and become repatriated. His record in the war and the unique position he occupies in Polish political circles have made him a man to be reckoned with in European affairs.

Mary Garden to Be Married—Perhaps

Mary Garden, who is her own press agent, will be married in 1924—perhaps. She says so herself.

"For twelve years newspaper men have been asking me when I'm going to be married," said Mary. "Next year is the thirteenth, my lucky number, astrologists, fortune tellers, palm readers, all tell me that I am to be married in 1924. So you see something ought to happen. I never miss an opportunity to consult fortune tellers and palm readers. I love to hear them, though I always go away and say I don't believe a word they say.

"Anyway, the fortune tellers all agree in saying that I am to be married next year, so now every man I meet I look him over and wonder if perhaps he is not the man. However, I haven't seen him yet.

"The only thing I dislike about getting married," continued the singer, "is that I shall have to walk down the aisle of the church. I hate walking. I hate it so much that I shall probably be married sitting in an automobile. I love dancing, but that is as far removed from walking as it is from swimming.

"I hate golf primarily because it is another form of walking. It also is a form of approaching senile debility and paralysis of the emotions. You show me a woman who goes in for golf and I'll show you that she is getting so she wheezes when she dances or lops over the top of her evening gown and thinks a long stroll over the grass will put her in shape again."

Ladd's Billion-Dollar Government Bank

A billion-dollar government bank for lending money to American farmers at 4 per cent interest! Although it would revolutionize the American financial system, this in effect is the proposal advocated by Senator Edwin F. Ladd, Republican, of North Dakota for stabilizing agriculture. Ladd's plan is based on the government issuing millions of dollars in new United States treasury certificates—guaranteed by the gold and silver bullion in its vaults—and lending the new paper money to farmers through postal saving banks at 4 per cent interest.

The new greenbacks, Ladd declared, would give the farmer cheaper credit, easily accessible cash and end a "money famine now existing in the West." To prevent inflation, his plan would place a limit of $5,500,000,000 on all paper money to be circulated in the United States, which ultimately would force the retirement of all other paper money in favor of federal greenbacks.

The North Dakota senator has announced he would introduce a bill in the next congress to put his plan in operation. It is certain to meet vigorous opposition from financial institutions and perhaps from treasury officials. A new "money fight" similar to the famous Bryan "16 to 1" controversy may be projected.

Children Cry for Fletcher's
CASTORIA

MOTHER:— Fletcher's Castoria is a pleasant, harmless Substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Teething Drops and Soothing Syrups, prepared for Infants in arms and Children all ages.

To avoid imitations, always look for the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher
Proven directions on each package. Physicians everywhere recommend it.

WIDENS MARKET FOR MEAT

United States Department of Agriculture Gives Hog Raisers Additional Outlet.

A wider market for United States meats, particularly pork, has been made available by the efforts of the United States Department of Agriculture and the State department, the most recent evidence of it being the opening of The Netherlands to shipments of fresh pork. This new market, with the English market, which was opened to the same products about 18 months ago, now gives hog raisers a considerable additional outlet at a time when production is at a high point.

A Standard External Remedy of known value—safe and effective. It's "Allcock's"—the original and genuine porous plaster.—Adv.

An Artist.

"Daughter, doesn't that young man know how to say good-night?"

"Oh, daddy! I'll say he does!"

Burning Skin Diseases
quickly relieved and healed by Cole's Carbolisalve. Leaves no scars. No medicine chest complete without it. 30c and 60c at druggists, or J. W. Cole Co., Rockford, Ill.—Advertisement.

A woman's idea of a secret is something worth telling.

Their Secret.

Family Physician—I'm afraid you've been eating too much cake and candy. Let me see your tongue.

Little Bess (perkily)—Oh, you can look at it but it won't tell.

Is Your Work Hard?

Is your work wearing you out? Are you tortured with throbbing backache—feel tired, weak and discouraged? Then look to your kidneys! Many occupations tend to weaken the kidneys. Constant backache, headaches, dizziness and rheumatic pains are the natural result. You suffer annoying bladder irregularities; feel nervous, irritable and worn out. Don't wait! Use Doan's Kidney Pills. Workers everywhere recommend Doan's. They should help you, too. Ask your neighbor!

An Iowa Case

H. P. Lewis, chief engineer at high school, 309 East St., Corydon, Iowa, says: "My back was lame and painful and it was hard for me to turn over in bed. I found it hard to pass the kidney secretions, as they were scanty. I read about Doan's Kidney Pills being so good and got three boxes. I used them until the troubles were corrected."

Get Doan's at Any Store, 60c a Box
DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS
FOSTER-MILBURN CO., BUFFALO, N.

Internal cleanliness protects against disease

IT is but a step from those immediate results of constipation—headache, heaviness, loss of appetite—to serious disease. Such minor ailments are a warning that poisons from food waste are flooding your body. Keep clean internally.

In constipation, say intestinal specialists, lies the primary cause of more than three-quarters of all illness including the gravest diseases of life.

Your bath goes only skin-deep.

Laxatives Aggravate Constipation

Laxatives and cathartics do not overcome constipation, says a noted authority, but by their continued use tend only to aggravate the condition and often lead to permanent injury.

Medical science, through knowledge of the intestinal tract gained by X-ray observation, has found at last in lubrication a means of overcoming constipation. The gentle lubricant, Nujol, penetrates and softens the hard food waste and thus hastens its passage out of the body. Thus Nujol brings internal cleanliness.

Nujol is not a laxative and cannot gripe. Nujol is used in leading hospitals and is prescribed by physicians throughout the world.

Don't give disease a start. Adopt this habit of internal cleanliness. Nujol is not a medicine. Like pure water, it is harmless. Take Nujol as regularly as you brush your teeth or wash your face. For sale by all druggists.

Nujol
REG. U.S. PAT. OFF.
For Internal Cleanliness

Two pleasant ways to relieve a cough

Take your choice and suit your taste. S-B—or Menthol flavor. A sure relief for coughs, colds and hoarseness. Put one in your mouth at bedtime. Always keep a box on hand.

SMITH BROTHERS
S.B. COUGH DROPS MENTHOL (orange colored box)
Famous since 1847

SICK HEADACHE

Take a good dose of Carter's Little Liver Pills then take 2 or 3 for a few nights after. They restore the organs to their proper functions and Headache and the causes of it pass away.

THEY REGULATE THE BOWELS and PREVENT CONSTIPATION

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS

Genuine bear signature— Brent Good Small Pill; Small Dose; Small Price

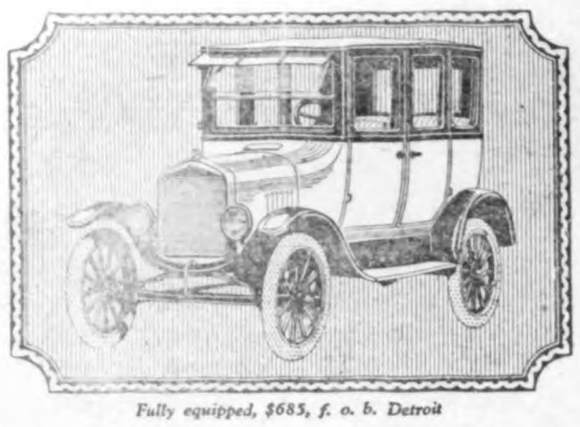
Ford

Four-Door Sedan



Fully equipped, $685, f. o. b. Detroit

Inside and out, the new Ford Four-door Sedan shows improvements of far more than usual importance.

It is lower and sturdier in appearance. New cowl, hood, radiator and apron add size and finish to the front. Sun visor, and wide, well-finished aluminum doors with bar handles perfect the design of the body.

Silk window curtains, deep broad-cloth upholstery; dome light, door lock, window regulators and handles, all finished in nickel, complete a refinement you would expect only at a far higher price.

Griemann Motor Co.

Ford

CARS · TRUCKS · TRACTORS

WE EMPHASIZE STORMIZING BECAUSE—

1.—It is the most important work. It deals with the very "heart" of the motor—the cylinders. If the cylinders are neglected or not repaired RIGHT, the car will not give satisfaction, no matter how careful and how thoroughly any other work may have been done.

2.—STORMIZING is the best method known for re-machining cylinder bores. It redeems your old motor—Makes it better than new. The cylinder walls are made absolutely true, straight and round. They will have a mirror-like finish that means perfect compression, full use of power, and lasting, satisfactory service.

PAVEY'S STORMIZING SHOP, Klemme, Iowa.

Authorized Service

Auto Mechanics —All Work Guaranteed— General Blacksmithing

"Loyal Lives"

A SMASHING, CRASHING MELODRAMA OF THE POSTAL MAIL SERVICE

Don't fail to see this great picture—its full of thrills—romance—pathos—action. A brand new picture and one of the best pictures ever screened.

Will be shown two nights only at the Idle Hour

Thurs. & Fri., Nov. 29-30

NOTE: This picture is being shown Thanksgiving night, come and spend the evening here and enjoy a good show.

THE CRYSTAL CAFE

THE HOME OF GOOD EATS

CANDIES— —SOFT DRINKS— —CIGARS

MEALS and LUNCHES

Fresh Bread Always on Hand Buy It Here

Our motto is fair treatment and prompt service

We solicit your patronage. Come and see us.

CONRAD QUANDT, Proprietor

Local Items

Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Pavey, of Albert Lea, Minnesota, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Chillcot, of Iowa Falls, spent Sunday at the W. F. Pavey home in Klemme.

Attorney "Fat" Hastings and Attorney Verner Grau, of Garner, were business callers in Klemme yesterday afternoon. We also acknowledge a call.

Mr. August C. Lau left yesterday morning for Rochester, Minnesota. Mr. Lau has not been well of late and is going there for an examination in the hopes of relief.

Charles Lawhorn will have a sale on his farm Tuesday, November 27. The bills will be out the latter part of the week and a list will be published in the Times next week.

The Northern Lbr. Co. are going to give away twenty Red Top Steel Posts to some farmer. Read their adv in this issue and maybe you are the lucky one to get them free.

Walter Lau has been doing a lot of repairing on his elevator and has the work completed. Among other things he has installed a new elevator and other equipment.

Clarence Lemke was ten years big Wednesday, ovember 14, and in honor of the event his mother prepared a birthday supper and invited in a number of his boy friends to celebrate. They all had a fine time.

R. A. Jorgenson and family, accompanied by Al Emerson, drove to Lincoln, Nebraska, last Friday morning, for a visit with Mrs. Jorgenson's relatives. They returned to Klemme Monday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Kirkwood, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lewis and Mr. and Mr. A. G. Koerner atended a party given by the Royal Neighbors at Garner Tuesday evening. They report a good time.

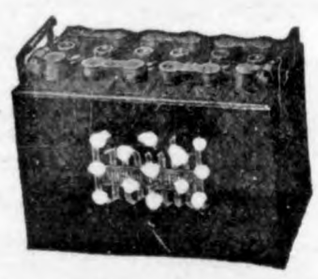
C. R. Kennedy, 5½ miles east of Klemme will have a public sale on next Tuesday, November 20. The sale begins at 10:00 A. M. Nine head of horses, one mule, forty head of cattle, fifty head of spring shoats and eight sheep are on the bill, as well as a full line of machinery.

The farm work will soon be over. Don't idle away the winter months. Make the biggest and best investment of your life in a business education. Our Farmers' Shortcourse is especially interesting and valuable. Send for information.

THE HAMILTON UNIVERSITY
Mason City, Iowa

There should be plenty of material for rural route mail carriers for the new Klemme route as five or six took the examination at Garner Saturday. Mrs. Gibbs has appointed C. W. Wiles to carry the mail until the carrier is appointed. Mr. Wiles did not take the examination. The new route is effective tomorrow, November 16th, and many readers of this sheet will receive their mail on the new route for the first time Friday.

All those who wish to join the Womens' or the Mens' Athletic Club can sign up at Wellemeyer's store. The school board has givne their consent to let the women of Klemme use the high school gym one night a week, and likewise the men can also use it one night, for playing basket ball or volley ball. Lets get in on it and have a lot of fun this winter. If there will be a fat man's team Ye Editor can qualify, as well as Bally Kluckhohn, Ed. Kahrs, Zip McCullough and a few others barrel shaped. Of course there are no fat women in Klemme!



Now is the time to have your Battery charged or repaired.

Get it ready for Cold Weather now.

We charge and repair any and all makes of Batteries.

When in need of a new Battery—see us first.

Satisfaction Guaranteed

H. Lau Sons

PUBLIC NOTICE

BIG CLOTHING SALE

For 2 Days only in Belmond, Iowa

In the Old Variety Building

This stock consists of brand new up to the minute men's and boys' clothing—Not an Auction Sale—belonging to Jacobson Bros. of Fort Dodge. Here we quote only a few of the many bargains in store for you.

Friday, Nov. 16 to Saturday Night

Men's SUITS and OVERCOATS
Values from $15.00 to $50.00 at $8.96 to $26.95
Sale Price

Men's HEAVY BLUE OVERALLS
$1.50 values at $1.19
$2.00 values at $1.59

MEN'S SHOES
$1.95 up

Men's WORK SHIRTS
Blue or grey, heavyweight, $1 values, at—59c

LEATHER VESTS
$10.00 values at
$5.95

Ball Band & U. S. OVERSHOES
4 buckle red, A No. 1 quality
$5.00 value at
$3.19

Remember the place and date. 2 days only, November 16th and 17th, then we go away. The sale will be in the Old Variety Building.

OPEN EVENINGS BELMOND, IOWA

The GLOBE

Supreme Range

Here is a range that will indeed beautify and brighten your kitchen. Made of Globe analysis cast iron, a most endurng metal.

The white porcelain panels and nickel finish fittings, keep the stove bright and shining. And the stove pipe is completely concealed behind the big, roomy, double warming oven.

An extension on the fire box permits long pieces of wood to be burned whenever you so desire.

Other features are the large, quick-heating reservoir, convenient broiler lift, easily-operated sliding damper, and a nickeled front rod.

BEAUTIFUL: Exceptionally attractive design—one that will brighten and beautify your kitchen. Panels are of white porcelain, fittings are nickel finish and the top of the stove is polished and shining. The stove pipe, that most unsightly part of the stove, is completely concealed behind the warming oven.

ECONOMICAL: The Supreme Globe cuts your coal bill. Gases and soot are burned right in the fire box, where they are utilized for heat, instead of going out the chimney and clogging the flues. Consequently, less coal is used.

EFFICIENT: Oven absolutely air tight and equipped with heat indicator. When oven is open, door makes a strong smooth shelf. Large reservoir, water quickly heated. Work is minimized—the perfect combustion feature does away with soot, and ashes accumulate slowly.

DURABLE: Globe Analysis cast iron, that most enduring metal, goes into every Supreme Globe. And finally the workmanship—there goes into every Supreme Globe all the skill and knowledge of the Master Stove Builders of America.

Jacobs & Son

"THE WINCHESTER STORE"

Corn Picking Time

Is the time to buy

Beef Quarters
Pork Quarters

Ask Us About Prices

J. P. Larsen & Sons

The Klemme Meat Market

DELINQUENT TAX LIST

1922 and previous years. Notice is hereby given that I will offer at the Court House in Garner, Hancock County, Iowa, on Monday, ber 3rd, 1923. the following described lands and town lots for the and special tax, penalty, and costs for the year 1922 and previous nds and town lots in the following list which have been previously ed and offered for sale for two years or more and remain unsold for of bidders, will be sold at this sale or any adjournment thereof, in ner provided by law.

to commence at 10:00 o'clock A. M.

JOHN SUURBALLE, County Treasurer.

ELLINGTON TOWNSHIP 97-23

Description	Tax	Penalty	Cost	Total
Donahue, N½ NE¼ Sec. 28	$119.39	$10.75	$.40	$130.54
Donahue, SE¼ SE¼ Sec. 21	65.07	5.86	.40	71.33
ss, NW¼ Sec. 34	472.64	42.54	.40	515.58
rvet & Edw. Hirt, S½ NW¼ Sec. 12	83.12	7.48	.40	91.00
Berkland, Miller Lt 1 Blk 8	7.39	1.50	.40	9.29
Kleinmann, Miller Lt 6 Blk 2	7.74	.70	.40	8.84
Nelson, Miller Lt 11-12 Blk 9	4.73	.41	.40	5.54
Stokesbary, N½ NE¼ Sec. 29	39.96	1.20	.40	41.56

MADISON TOWNSHIP 97-24

P. Lackore, SE¼ SW¼ Sec. 9	40.88	3.68	.40	44.96
Lackore, W½ SW¼ Sec. 9	83.12	7.48	.40	92.00
Lackore, NE¼ SW¼ Sec. 9	38.86	3.50	.40	42.76
son, NW¼ lying E. of right of way Sec. 15	35.79	1.07	.40	37.26
son, W½ SE¼ Sec. 22	36.30	1.09	.40	37.79
son, SE¼ SE¼ Sec 22	45.64	1.37	.40	47.41
V. Geddes, Hayfield Lt 2 Blk 12	32.	.03	.40	.75
V. Geddes, Hayfield Lt 12 Blk 12	2.31	.21.	.40	2.92
V. Geddes, Hayfield Lt 1 Blk 12	32	.03	.40	.75
w & O. W. Hill, SW¼ Sec. 32	394.32	35.48	.40	430.20
Nonweiler, Hayfield L & H Lt 6 Blk 3	1.29	.58	.40	2.17
nonweiler, Hayfield L & H Lt 7 Blk 3	1.29	.58	.40	2.17
Nonweiler, Hayfield L & H Lt 8 Blk 3	.70	.06	.40	1.16
Nonweiler, Hayfield L & H Lt 9 Blk 3	.69.	.06	.40	1.15
Nonweiler, Hayfield L & H Lt 10 Blk 3	.69	.06	.40	1.15
Nonweiler, Hayfield L & H Lt 1 Blk 5	1.24	.58	.40	2.22
Nonweiler, Hayfield L & H Lt 4 Blk 5	.55	.02	.40	.97
Nonweiler, Hayfield L & H Lt 7 Blk 5	6.08	.18	.40	6.66
Nonweiler, Hayfield L & H Lt 8 Blk 5	6.12	.18	.40	6.70
Nonweiler, Hayfield L & H Lt 2 Blk 5	4.53	1.05	.40	5.98
Nonweiler, Hayfield L & H Lt 3 Blk 5	4.52	1.05	.40	5.97
Nonweiler, Hayfield L & H Lt 9 Blk 5	1.65	15.	.40	2.20
Nonweiler, Hayfield L & H Lt 10 Blk 5	1.65	.15	.40	2.20
hodes, E½ SE¼ Sec. 19	220.86	19.88	.40	241.14
hodes, SW¼ SE¼ Sec. 19	107.46	9.67	.40	117.53
humacker, E½ NW¼ Sec. 31	132.43	11.92	.40	144.75
humacker, E½ SW¼ Sec. 31	149.98	13.50	.40	163.88

CRYSTAL TOWNSHIP 97-25

Johnson, NW¼ NW¼ Sec. 30	66.20	5.96	.40	72.56
Smith, SW¼ Sec. 30	84.41	2.53	.40	87.34
abrielson, SE¼ Sec. 14	376.54	33.89	.40	410.83
abrielson, W½ SW¼ Sec. 13	160.04	14.40	.40	174.84
Johnson, W½ SW¼ Sec. 19	141.73	12.76	.40	154.89
L. Juhl, SW¼ Sec. 11	410.78	36.97	.40	448.13
L. Juhl, W½ SE¼ Sec. 11	286.50	25.79	.40	312.69
ssell & Anna Cole, S½ Sec. 23	959.95	86.40	.40	1046.75
romme, SE¼ S of right of way Sec 24	435.98	39.24	.40	475.62
E. Cumming, W½ NW¼ Sec. 35	71.65	6.43	.40	78.48
E. Cummins, SE¼ NW¼ Sec. 35	48.35	4.35	.40	53.10

BINGHAM TOWNSHIP 97-26

Edith Bedford, SW¼ Sec. 35	1016.95	91.52	.40	1108.87
Edith Bedford, SE¼ Sec. 35	653.12	58.78	.40	712.30
isenman, SE¼ Sec. 8	359.74	32.38	.40	392.52
isenman, NW¼ Sec. 24	177.32	15.96	.40	193.78
Luse, E½ SE¼ Sec. 24	83.12	7.48	.40	91.00
Mackin, W½ SE¼ Sec. 30	120.84	3.62	.40	124.96
& Severt A. Skromme, NW½ Sec. 28	396.10	11.88	.40	408.38
& Severt A. Skromme, SW¼ Sec. 28	585.93	17.58	.40	601.91
M. Sorem, NE¼ Sec. 25	191.52	17.24	.40	209.16
Hirt & R. F. Hirt,
ed & Frank McDaniels, SE¼ Sec. 3	225.84	20.33	.40	246.57
in Morse, NW¼ Sec. 9	221.61	19.94	.40	241.95

ORTHEL TOWNSHIP 96-26

ookman, W½ SE¼ Sec. 1	87.22	7.85	.40	95.47
Holm, NE¼ SE¼ Sec. 25	85.31	7.68	.40	93.39
Janssen, NW¼ Sec. 9	63.92	1.92	.40	66.24
Robinson, Hutchins Lt 9 Blk 2	.58	.05	.40	1.03
& Lottie Smith, SW¼ Sec. 34	375.93	55.02	.40	431.35
heets, NW¼ NW¼ Sec. 25	18.04	1.62	.40	20.06
heets, S½ NW¼ Sec. 25	45.01	4.09	.40	49.90
heets, NW¼ SE¼ Sec. 25	32.27	2.91	.40	35.68
heets, SW¼ Sec. 25	141.18	12.71	.40	154.29
heets, NE¼ Sec. 35	232.95	20.97	.40	254.32
heets, NE¼ NW¼ N. of Ry, SW¼ NW¼ N. of Ry. & NW¼ NW¼ Sec. 36	84.41	7.59	.40	92.40

BRITT TOWNSHIP 96-25

isenman, NE¼ Sec. 3	196.87	17.72	.40	214.99
isenman, N½ SE¼ Sec. 3	85.85	7.73	.40	93.98
isenman, NE¼ Sec. 10	171.64	15.45	.40	187.49
isenman, S½ SE¼ Sec. 3	85.85	7.73	.40	93.98
urlong & C. J. Saunder, E½ NE¼ & E½ SE¼ Sec. 11	317.49	28.57	.40	346.46
Keough, SW¼ S. of right of way Sec 26	74.14	2.22	.40	76.76
Sheets, NE¼ Sec. 31	370.16	33.31	.40	403.87
Sheets, N½ SE¼ Sec. 31	128.90	11.60	.40	140.90
Knutsen & Mute Krutsinger, NW¼ Sec. 9	527.01	47.43	.40	574.84
Knutsen & Mute Krutsinger, E½ SE¼ Sec. 8	116.70	10.50	.40	127.60
L. Manuel, W½ NE¼ Sec. 12	46.30	1.39	.40	48.09
L. Manuel, W½ NW¼ Sec. 13	63.35	1.90	.40	65.65
Steenlage, SE¼ Sec. 18	216.68	19.50	.40	236.58
Holm, NW¼ Sec. 30	692.65	62.34	.40	755.39
Holm, SW¼ Sec. 30	745.85	67.13	.40	813.38
Keough, All of SE¼ lying S. of C. M. &St. P. Ry. Sec. 27	149.13	4.48	.40	154.01
McMillan, NW¼ Exc 13.61 A Sec. 27	166.48	4.99	.40	171.87
McMillan, Pt. of NE¼ SW¼ lying N. of right of way & NE of D. D. Sec. 27	18.51	.55	.40	19.46
isenman, W½ SE¼ Sec. 2	103.07	9.27	.40	112.74

GARFIELD TOWNSHIP 96-24

Elling, NW¼ Sec. 25	134.84	4.04	.40	139.28
Elling, SW¼ Sec. 24	98.76	2.96	.40	102.12
C. Hejlik, W½ NE¼ Sec. 22	123.66	11.13	.40	135.19
Lewis, W½ Sec. 23	942.46	84.82	.40	1027.68
Lewis, E½ NE¼ Sec. 22	187.96	16.92	.40	205.28
Manuel, N½ SE¼ Sec. 28	34.28	1.03	.40	35.71
Manuel, SE½ SW¼ Sec. 28	17.16	.52	.40	18.08
Manuel SW¼ SE¼ Sec. 28	18.34	55.	.40	19.29
Manuel, NE¼ exc S. 4 rds Sec. 32	103.29	3.10	.40	106.79
Manuel, SW¼ W. 4 rds SE¼ Sec. 32	79.03	2.37	.40	81.80
Joseph & Wm. Chisek, NE¼ Sec. 9	362.14	32.59	.40	395.13
Kirschbaum, SW¼ Sec. 5	325.22	49.27	.40	374.89
Tobin, S½ NE¼ Sec. 6	145.26	13.07	.40	158.73
Tobin, SE¼ NW¼ Sec. 6	63.70	5.73	.40	79.83

CONCORD TOWNSHIP 96-23

& Ellen Schulz, NW¼ Sec. 7	100.93	3.03	.40	104.36
Parris, N½ SE¼ Sec. 24	69.22	6.23	.40	75.85
Sinn & Anton Hanson W 2rds SW¼ Sec 36	8.94	1.82	.40	11.16
McCormick, N½ SW¼ Sec. 15	30.02	2.70	.40	33.12
McCormick, SE¼ SW¼ Sec. 15	24.38	2.19	.40	26.97

ELL TOWNSHIP 95-23

ughs, S½ Sec. 25	385.96	34.74	.40	421.10
Mains, NW¼ NW¼ exc 1 A Sec. 10	53.04	4.77	.40	58.21
Mains, E½ NW¼ Sec. 10	107.23	9.65	.40	117.28
Mains, NE¼ Sec. 10	200.00	18.05	.40	219.05
Mains, W½ NW¼ Sec. 11	88.50	7.97	.40	96.87
Mains, SW¼ SE¼ Sec. 3	131.92	11.87	.40	144.19
Katter, SW¼ Sec. 12	123.68	3.71	.40	127.79

LIBERTY TOWNSHIP 95-24

N. Kinney, SE¼ Sec. 31	199.80	6.00	.40	206.20
N. Kinney, W½ NE¼ Sec. 31	78.31	2.35	.40	81.06
Schraeder, W½ NW¼ Sec. 6	91.55	8.24	.40	100.19
awles, W½ NE¼ Sec. 15	28.94	87.	.40	30.21

ERIN TOWNSHIP 95-25

ourley, NW¼ Sec. 20	173.57	15.62	.40	189.59
Hunsley, SW¼ Sec. 4	578.59	56.12	.40	635.11
ed McGruder, etal, E½ SE¼ Sec. 2	31.73	.95	.40	33.08
Wagner, NW¼ Sec. 31	186.69	17.80	.40	204.89
Wagner, W½ NE½ Sec. 30	81.95	7.38	.40	89.73
organ, NW¼ Sec. 2,	216.93	19.52	.40	236.85

BOONE TOWNSHIP 95-26

Seibert, W½ SE¼ Sec. 35	26.36	.79	.40	27.55
Sheahan, SE¼ S of Ry. Sec. 28	278.33	25.05	.40	303.78
Sheahan, NE¼ S of Ry. Sec. 28	52.48	4.72	.40	57.60
Scovell, NE¼ Sec. 20	256.22	23.06	.40	279.68
Scovell, SE¼ Sec. 20	258.06	23.22	.40	281.69
der, NW¼ Sec. 17	190.23	5.70	.40	196.33
Scovell & W P Chambers, NE¼ Sec 3	165.23	14.87	.40	180.50
Scovell & W P Chambers, NW¼ Sec 3	170.89	15.38	.40	186.67

MAGOR TOWNSHIP 94-26

Blanchard, NW¼ Sec. 22	169.03	15.21	.40	184.64

AMSTERDAM TOWNSHIP 94-25

Black, NE¼ Sec. 6	56.22	1.96	.40	58.31
Bohumil & Mary Mrazek, NW¼ Sec. 24	156.03	4.68	.40	161.11
Lena Mortenson & Mary Goodmonson, NE¼ Sec. 2	207.20	18.65	.40	226.35
Clint F. Paine, N½ SE¼ Sec. 15	108.16	3.25	.40	111.81

TWIN LAKE TOWNSHIP 94-24

American Bankers Surety Co., S½ Sec. 22	339.08	30.52	.40	370.00
American Bankers Surety Co., N½ Sec. 24	339.08	30.52	.40	370.00
Jacob Hegland, SE¼ Sec. 17	382.79	46.98	.40	430.17
Andrew Johnson, E½ NW¼ Sec. 7	83.59	7.52	.40	91.51

AVERY TOWNSHIP 94-23

Chas. Bielefeld, S½ NE¼ Sec. 16	95.56	8.60	.40	104.56
F. M. Costello. S½ NW¼ Sec. 16	30.31	.91	.40	31.61
F. M. Costello, NW¼ SW¼ Sec. 16	18.36	.55	.40	19.31
E. H. Townsend, Joe Wheeler & E. H. Williams, E½ Sec. 12	1022.37	73.43	.40	1096.20
Roscoe Wiles, W½ NW¼ exc N. 3 rds Sec. 20	87.35	7.86	.40	95.61

GARNER CORPORATION

Carl Boehnke, Orig Lt 7 Blk 18	227.53	20.48	.40	248.41
Jennie Elder & Sarah Brockway Orig Lt 30 Blk 47	70.04	28.20	.40	98.64
Chas. Bailey, Orig Lt 3 Blk 45	328.88	49.12	.40	378.40
Joseph Clemons & Frank Watzke, Orig Lt 28 Blk 47	75.57	28.73	.40	104.70
Joseph Clemons & Frank Watzke, Orig Lt 29 Blk 47	75.56	28.73	.40	104.69
A. L. Cushman, Orig Lt 5-6 Blk 25	366.76	33.01	.40	400.17
Empire Construction Co., Orig Lt 4 Blk 36	37.04	1.11	.40	38.55
Otto & Elizabeth Grau, Tallmans Lt 3 Blk 10	215.39	79.25	.40	295.04
Otto & Elizabeth Grau, Tallmans Lt 5 Blk 10	452.69	165.16	.40	618.25
H. P. Hull, Orig Lt 10 Blk 7	138.17	49.96	.40	188.53
Carl & Morris Jensen, Orig Lt 9 Blk 31	182.46	16.43	.40	199.29
Carl & Morris Jensen, Orig Lt 10 Blk 31	142.91	12.86	.40	156.17
G. W. Kluckhohn, Tallmans Add Lt 1 Blk 6	9.15	.82	.40	10.37
G. W. Kluckhohn, Tallmans Add Lt 2 Blk 6	9.15	.82	.40	10.37
G. W. Kluckhohn, Tallmans Add Lt 7 Blk 6	90.01	8.10	.40	98.51
G. W. Kluckhohn, Tallmans Add Lt 8 Blk 6	185.46	16.69	.40	202.55
G. W. Kluckhohn, Driving Park Add Lt 1 Blk 5	50.27	4.52	.40	55.19
G. W. Kluckhohn, Driving Park Add Lt 2 Blk 5	9.15	.82	.40	10.37
Henry W. Ley, Orig Lt 7 Blk 9	9.04	3.34	.40	12.78
John Lemke, Driving Park Blk 1	305.50	97.48	.40	403.38
John Lemke, Tallmans Add Blk 4	435.00	173.18	.40	608.58
Katherine D. Little, Orig Lt 6 Blk 11	22.22	.67	.40	23.29
Mary Elizabeth Moe, Orig Lt 1 Blk 26	1058.30	382.99	.40	1441.69
Marius Nelson, Orig E½ Lt 3-4 Blk 11	572.15	218.34	.40	790.89
A C Otterbach & D W Rowe, Sunset View Lt 20	30.49	4.99	.40	35.88
Arthur Ovram, Orig W½ Lt 5-6 Blk 45	50.53	8.19	.40	59.12
Milton Panzlau, Sunset View Lt 19	15.59	1.40	.40	17.39
Nora B. C. Rhodes, Orig Lt 8 Blk 24	837.13	255.15	.40	1092.68
Aledia & Geo. Schaefer, Orig Lt 3 Blk 46	581.04	152.51	.40	733.95
Aledia & Geo. Schaefer, Orig Lt 4 Blk 46	270.86	81.03	.40	352.29
Aledia & Geo. Schaefer, Orig Lt 5 Blk 46	67.40	27.10	.40	94.90
Aledia & Geo. Schaefer, Orig Lt 6 Blk 46	67.04	27.05	.40	94.49
Aledia & Geo. chaefer, Orig 9-10 Blk 46	112.41	39.05	.40	151.86
Dwight T. Smith, Sunset View Lt 45	69.72	24.93	.40	95.05
Dwight T. Smith, Sunset View Lt 46	68.17	24.72	.40	93.29
Dwight T. Smith, Sunset View Lt 31	52.99	20.17	.40	73.56
Henry F. Sporaa, Park Add Lt 7 Blk 4	16.20	.49	.40	17.09
Herman T. Schneider, Orig. Lt 5 & N½ Lt 6 Blk 15	989.22	340.86	.40	1330.48
J. N. Sprole, Orig Lt 7 Blk 26	236.29	36.55	.40	273.24
J. N. Sprole, Orig Lt 8 Blk 26	231.93	35.49	.40	267.82
J. N. Sprole, Orig Lt 9 Blk 26	231.93	35.49	.40	267.82
J. N. Sprole, Orig Lt 10 Blk 26	245.82	37.61	.40	283.83
J. N. Sprole, Org Lt 11 Blk 26	259.71	38.74	.40	298.85
Carl H. Schneider, Sunset View Lt 8	86.96	28.48	.40	115.84
Maud Thompson, Orig Lt W 84' Lt 1-2 Blk 34	586.95	52.83	.40	639.18
Maud Thompson, Orig Lt 3 Blk 34	148.05	13.32	.40	161.77
Maud Thompson, Orig S 24¾' Lt 4 Blk 34	36.08	3.25	.40	39.73
J. T. Urice, Orig Lt 1 Blk 7	13.09	2.37	.40	15.86
J. T. Urice, Orig Lt 2 Blk 7	13.70	2.47	.40	16.57
J. T. Urice, Orig Lt 3 Blk 7	13.69	2.47	.40	16.56
J. T. Urice, Orig Lt 8 Blk 9	18.17	3.15	.40	21.72
F. J. Wenck, Orig Lt 4 Blk 14	1010.33	370.21	.40	1380.94
E. A. Braund, Orig Lt 3 Blk 33	276.28	41.54	.40	318.22
Mary Kalig, Orig Lt 1 Blk 11	134.40	20.61	.40	155.31
Mary Kalig, Orig Lt 2 Blk 11	134.40	21.01	.40	155.71
Gladys G. Barnes, Orig W 33' Lt 3-4 Blk 13	154.35	24.19	.40	179.54
Gladys G. Barnes, Orig Lt 5 Blk 13	215.56	19.80	.40	235.36
J. J. Becker, Orig Lt 9 Blk 25	653.96	244.07	.40	898.43
John Carothers, Orig E½ Blk 49	1250.00	328.53	.40	1578.93

BRITT CORPORATION

Bertha Bailey, Ways Sub Div Lt 1 Stubbins2" Add Lts 4, 5, 6, 7, 8 Blk 17	45.75	4.12	.40	50.27
Bertha Bailey, Ways Sub Div Lt 1 Stubbins2" Add Lt 9 Blk 17	57.20	5.08	.40	62.68
Ida J. Eisenman, Brown & Hills Add Lts 3-4 Blk 1 & S 10' Lt 2 Plk 1	115.56	10.40	.40	126.36
John A. Franklin, Way & Carpenters Add Lts 23-24 Blk 1	5.87	.51	.40	6.78
I. E. Gordon, Maple Hill Add Lts 5-6 Blk 5	46.49	4.18	.40	51.07
F. D. Hunsley, 82.2' W of SE cor Lt 20 Stubbins 2" Add thence 82½' NW. thence 132' N.-82.132' E. thence 132' S to place of beginning Lt 19	45.10	4.06	.40	49.56
Geo. B. Irish, Andersons 2" add Lts 9, 10, 11, 12 Blk 20	74.17	5.35	.40	79.92
Wm. Lindman, Maple Hill Add Lt 4 Blk 5	22.67	5.45	.40	28.52
Hattie Legg, Stubbins Add E½ NE¼ Blk 2	57.21	5.15	.40	62.76
Delia S. & James Manuel, Maple Hill Add. Lt 2-3 Blk 1 & Lt 4 exc E 32' Blk 1 & Lt 9 exc E 34' & 10, 11, 12 Blk 1	74.05	2.22	.40	76.67
James Mackin, Stubbins Add N½ NW¼ Blk 13	29.62	.89	.40	30.81
Gladys M. Madigan, Stubbins 3" Add W½ SW¼ Blk 9	33.04	3.93	.40	37.37
Geo. W. Oaks, Grace Fisks Lt 7	11.45	1.03	.40	12.88
F B Rogers, Andersons Add Lt 9-N½ 10 Blk 7	109.11	9.82	.40	119.33
F. B. Rogers, Stubbins Add SE¼ Blk 1	544.23	50.82	.40	595.45
Frank Stone, All SW¼ SW¼ s. of C. M. & St. P. Ry. W of M. & St. L. Ry. exc 5.77 A. in Sec 27-96-25	81.79	7.47	.40	89.66
Patrick Strange, Auditors Plat Lt 5-6	42.44	4.13	.40	46.97
Barney Sheridan, McGraw & Fisks Add Lts 1. 2, 3, 4, 5 Blk 3	29.44	2.65	.40	32.49
F. R. Verrall, Brown & Hills Add Lts 1, 2, 3, 4, 7, 8 Blk 5	104.14	9.47	.40	114.01
Elizabeth Vickerman, Grace Fisk Add. Lts 5-6 Blk 1	78.81	9.03	.40	88.24
C. D. Welty, Orig Lt 8 Blk 9	108.53	10.74	.40	119.67
S K Wright, Andersons 2" add lt 13, 14 blk 23	129.75	11.68	.40	141.83
Chas. Williams, Auditors Plat Lt 4 Blk 33	225.99	23.85	.40	250.24
Hawkeye Fence & Wire Co., Andersons 2" Add Lts 5, 6, 7, 6 Blk 27	2162.84	542.99	.40	2706.23
Hawkeye Fence & Wire Co., St. Bet. Blk 27 & 28 From Hancock St. E to r. of w.	2.29	21.	.40	2.90
Hawkeye Fence & Wire Co, St. Bet. Blk 27 & 30 from 7th St. S. to r. of w.	2.29	.21	.40	2.90
Hawkeye Fence & Wire Co., Lt 8 Blk 30 & Alley Bet. Lt 8 & 1 Blk 30	1.17	.11	.40	1.68
Hawkeye Fence & Wire Co., E. half of alley running thru Blk 27 N. & S.	1.17	.11	.40	1.68
Grace Treganza, Grace Fisks Add 8 & Fisks Sub. Div. 7	51.04	13.46	.40	64.90
Geo. Clark, Chas Millers Add Lt 4 Blk 5	16.00	4.19	.40	20.59
Geo. Clark, Chas. Millers Add Lt 5 Blk 5	16.00	4.19	.40	20.59
Henry Wagner, Andersons Add Lt 5 Blk 8	186.48	33.26	.40	220.14
N. P. Nelson, Stubbins 3" Add NE¼ Blk 10	24.28	2.28	.40	26.96
G. Butts, Stubbins 2" Add S 297' Blk 12	51.17	4.60	.40	56.17
C. E. Dickhoff, Stubbins Add E½ NE¼ Blk. 2	35.06	3.16	.40	38.62
D. Graham, Anderson Add N½ Lt 15 Blk 8	18.00	1.62	.40	20.02
G. M. Gayken, Brown & Treganza Lt 6 Blk 3	57.21	5.15	.40	62.76
J J & J F Lorenz, Andersons Add Lt 16 Blk 8	60.01	5.40	.40	65.81
J. Mikkelson, Orig Lt 10 Blk 11	7.11	.64	.40	8.15
J. Mikkelson, Orig Lt 11 Blk 11	7.10	.64	.40	8.14
J. Mikkelson, Orig Lt 12 Blk 11	7.10	.64	.40	8.14
L. A. Peterson, Stubbins Add E½ SW¼ Blk 13	37.73	2.49	.40	40.62
C. W. Boutilier, Andersons Add Lt 13 Blk 8	69.84	6.29	.40	76.53
C. W. Boutilier, Andersons Add Lt 14 Blk 8	47.41	4.27	.40	52.08
C. W. Boutilier, Andersons Add S½ lt 15 blk 8	17.99	1.62	.40	20.01
C. W. Boutilier, Andersons Add SW¼ Blk 5	3.01	.27	.40	2.68
Ella M. Glidden, Stubbins Add SW¼ Blk 5	68.88	10.74	.40	90.02
F. R. Bandy, Stones Sub Div Lt 20 Blk 11	75.42	10.10	.40	85.92
F. R. Bandy, Stones Sub Div Lt 21 Blk 11	58.69	5.28	.40	64.37
M. L. Galloway, Andersons Add Lt 1 Blk 1	39.42	3.55	.40	43.37
M. L. Galloway, Andersons Add Lt 2 Blk 1

CORWITH CORPORATION

Fred A. Beers, Sapps Add Lt 15 Blk 2	116.35	10.47	.40	127.22
Fred A. Beers, Sapps Add W½ Lt 17 Blk 2	12.35	1.11	.40	13.86
Frank C. Bunting, Aud Sub 28	108.46	9.76	.40	118.62
Alice Chambers, Standrings Add Lt 6 Blk 3	41.43	6.59	.40	48.42
Alice Chambers, Lentengres Add Lt 3 Blk 2	19.20	3.29	.40	22.89
Alice Chambers, Lentengres Add Lt 4 Blk 2	19.20	3.29	.40	22.89
Alice Chambers, Lentengres Add Lt 8 Blk 2	28.24	5.89	.40	34.53
Alice Chambers, Lentengres Add Lt 9 Blk 2	11.70	2.14	.40	15.24
Alice Chambers, Orig NW 25' Lts 6, 7, 8, 9, 10 11, 12 Blk 3	412.70	66.39	.40	479.49
W. P. Chambers, Orig W½ W½ Lts 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12 Blk 3	430.96	77.98	.40	509.34
W. P. Chambers, Lentengres Add Lt 1 Blk 2	41.93	6.63	.40	48.96
W. P. Chambers, Lentengres Add Lt 2 Blk 2	20.86	3.55	.40	24.81
J. H. Darby, Rofinots 2" Add Lt 1 Blk 1	74.98	6.75	.40	82.13
J. H. Darby, Rofinots 2" Add SW of Mertion St SE of Clinton St.	.75	.04	.40	1.19
Alice Erickson, Camelins Add Lt 45 Blk 1	3.07	.28	.40	3.75
Alice Erickson, Camelins Add Lt 46 Blk 1	3.07	.28	.40	3.75
James Houston, etal., Aud Sub SW 66' exc 15'x15' SW cor 4	35.65	3.21	.40	39.26
May Johnson, Standrings Add A.	173.33	15.87	.40	192.60
Charles Johnson, Orig Lt 1 Blk 6	365.90	52.08	.40	418.38
Anna Kraus, Aud Sub Div 19	9.06	.27	.40	9.73
Albert Mitchell, N 3-8 NW¼ exc cem Sec 5	68.28	6.14	.40	74.82
John Mitchell, Lentengres Add Lt 7 Blk 4	52.05	4.68	.40	57.13
John Mitchell, Lentengres Add Lt 8 Blk 4	4.53	.41	.40	5.34
T. R. McKaig, Orig W½ E½ Lts1, 2, 3, 4 Blk 4	45.26	4.07	.40	49.73
Mrs. Robert Norton, Camelins Add Lt 28 Blk 1	14.98	2.63	.40	18.01
Mrs. Robert Norton, Camelins Add Lt 29 Blk 1	14.99	2.63	.40	18.02
Kattie L. Riggle, Aud Sub Div 10	85.32	7.68	.40	93.40
E. J. Studer, Aud. Sub 7	18.13	.54	.40	19.07
Chancey Sherman, N½ SE¼ Aud Sub 27 (42A) Sec. 6-94-26	35.53	1.07	.40	37.00
Chancey Sherman, Sapps Add Lt 33 Blk 2	14.51	.44	.40	15.35
G. L. Severns, Stilsons 1st Add Lt 2 Blk 2	2.41	.07	.40	2.88
G. L. Severns, Stilsons 1st Add Lt 3 Blk 2	25.68	.77	.40	26.85
G. L. Severns, Stilsons 1st Add Lt 4 Blk 2	3.57	.11	.40	4.12
E. C. Schroeder, Rofinots Add Lt 4 Blk 1	74.16	6.67	.40	81.13
B. F. Whetsler, Stilsons Add N½ Lt 3 Blk 3	11.06	1.00	.40	12.46
B. F. Whetsler, Stilsons Add N½ Lt 4 Blk 3	71.50	9.41	.40	81.31
S. S. Young, Stilsons 2nd Add Lt 1 Blk 8	10.15	.91	.40	11.46
S. S. Young, Stilsons 2nd Add Lt 6 Blk 9	66.12	1.45	.40	67.97
S. S. Young, Stilsons 2nd Add Lt 7 Blk 9	10.91	.98	.40	12.29
S. S. Young, Stilsons 2nd Add Lt 8 Blk 9	12.78	1.15	.40	14.33
S. S. Young, Stilsons 2nd Add All Blk 3	46.42	4.20	.40	51.02
S. S. Young, Stilsons 2nd Add All Blk 4	46.42	4.20	.40	51.02
S. S. Young, Stilsons 2nd Add Lt 5 Blk 2	5.80	.52

BAVARIA REVOLT IS BIG FLIVVER

Ludendorff and Hittler in Jail and Probably Will Be Shot, Says Report.

GERMANY UNITED BY MOVE

Munich.—Bavaria's royalist revolt died in less than twenty-four hours after its birth in a local bierstube. Its leaders, Adolph Hittler and Gen. Erich Ludendorff, have been arrested.

Deserted by the federally appointed dictator, Von Kahr, whom they had considered faithful to their cause, the Fascisti met the reichswehr in street battles, in various sections of the city throughout the day, causing a number of deaths and casualties on both sides. Hittler was seriously wounded while defending the Bavarian war office with his "die hard" troops, after they had been forced from a brewery, where they were besieged for hours by the reichswehr with bayonets and bombs.

General Ludendorff surrendered in the office of General von Lossow, who had promised to take up his duties immediately as Bavarian minister of war. Instead, Von Lossow, unknown to the Hittlerites, got into communication with reichswehr officials in Berlin, Nuernberg and other cities and swore fidelity to the republic.

Former Dictator von Kahr simultaneously announced he had been forced, with a pistol at his head, to accept Hittler's coup d'etat temporarily, and that his speech, wherein he proclaimed his confidence in the return of the ancient German regime, was his only alternative to immediate assassination at the hands of Hittler's bodyguard.

Martial law was declared for the whole of Bavaria. Death sentences will be executed within a few hours after being pronounced.

In Augsburg Herr Hittler's troops attempted a coup similar to that in Munich, but they were met by police and disarmed.

The unsuccessful attempt to overthrow the republic has cleared the political atmosphere and made Chancellor Stresemann's position incalculably stronger.

...ed States Handed Its Hat by France, Bows Self Out

...ington.—The United States declined, in effect, to participate ...pert survey of Germany's ca... ...pay reparations, the scope of ... limited as proposed by the ...overnment. When M. Jusser... French ambassador, explicitly ... French position in confer... ...e secretary of state, Mr. ...ed him that the limita... ...ould frustrate the pur... ...quiry suggested in the ... Haven speech and reits... ...n the American government's reply to Great Britain Oct. 15, last.

Drys to Ask Congress for $20,000,000 in Liquor War

Washington.—Comprehensive plans for running down rum runners have been completed by the United States coast guard. Congress will be asked for an appropriation of $20,000,000 for the support of the coast guard service for the next fiscal year, most of which will be spent in the purchase and construction of seagoing cutters speedy enough to overtake the fastest rum runners operating within the territorial limits of the United States.

More Bloodshed in Ruhr as Hunger Renews Rioting

Dusseldorf.—The disorders in the Ruhr which had been calmed during the last few days, broke out again Friday night. Food riots and unemployment demonstrations are going on in Gelsenkirchen, Recklinghausen, Kray and Bochum. There was bloodshed in all these towns, when the German police under French orders attempted to repress the riots and fired on the crowds.

Americans Buy Ancestral Home of John Adams

New York.—Purchase or the ancestral home of John Adams and his son, John Quincy Adams, second and sixth presidents of the United States, at Flore, Northamptonshire, England, was announced here by the board of governors of the Sulgrave institution. The Adams cottage is within a few miles of Sulgrave manor, ancestral home of George Washington.

England Roars Big Welcome to Returning Lloyd George

London.—No conqueror returning from a victorious campaign ever had a greater reception than that given former Prime Minister David Lloyd George, first by the people of Southampton and then by London.

Corey Fined as Game Hog.

Norfolk, Va.—W. Ellis Corey, millionaire steel magnate, was fined $475 by Judge D. Lawrence Groner in the United States District court here for violation of the federal migratory bird law. It was Corey's second offense.

Fire at Chicago Stock Yards.

Chicago.—The burning of 11,000 tons of hay and other damage, totaling about $400,000, were the result of a spectacular fire in the barn of the Union Stock Yards at Forty-eighth and Aberdeen streets Friday.

MRS. ENRICO CARUSO

Mrs. Enrico Caruso, formerly Dorothy Park Benjamin of New York, widow of the famous tenor, is engaged to Capt. E. A. Ingram, a wealthy Scotsman. The wedding will take place soon in England. The couple first met in August at Lido, Italy, where Captain Ingram gave Mrs. Caruso swimming lessons.

BRITAIN PLANS TARIFF

To Put Fence Around Empire to Bar U. S. Products.

London.—The imperial economic conference adopted unanimously a series of recommendations which, if passed by the imperial conference of prime ministers, will mean a heavy trade blow to the United States. The recommendations dealt with imperial preference and were as follows:

A suggestion that Great Britain put a tax of 5 shillings (roughly $1.10) a hundredweight on raw apples from foreign countries, admitting those from the dominion free. This would give Canadian apple growers an advantage over producers in the eastern states, Oregon and California.

A duty of 10 shillings ($2.20) a hundredweight on canned salmon, thus giving Canada an advantage over Oregon.

A duty of 6 pence (10) cents a gallon on fruit juices, which would give the dominions a monopoly on lime juices in England.

It was also decided to advise preference for empire tobacco of a 25 per cent duty, favoring South Africa against America.

The food and raw materials committee reported against the suggestion of Prime Minister Bruce of Australia at the opening of the conference favoring subsidies, import licenses and price restrictions as methods of promoting imperial trade. The committee reported that government interference with the free flow of trade would carry more evils than benefits. It recommended the closest co-operation between the home government and the dominions and home and dominions trade associations in efforts to promote trade and to secure uniformity of methods.

Federal Reserve Board Rules Against All Branch Banks

Washington. — Resolutions were passed by the federal reserve board settling for all time, so far as the board is concerned, the long-standing row over branch banking by member banks in the federal reserve system. Under the resolution state banks will not be admitted to membership in the system except on condition that they abandon branch banking. Part of the edge is taken off this action, however, by a proviso that the board decision will not become effective until February 1, 1924. Until that time state banks with branches can come in.

President Harding Made Forbes Resign, Sawyer Says

Washington. — President Harding forced the resignation of Charles R. Forbes as director of the veterans' bureau for insubordination in connection with the sales of government property at Perryville, Md., the senate veterans' committee was told by Brig. Gen. Charles E. Sawyer, personal friend and physician of the late President.

Filipino Lower House Asks President Coolidge for Freedom

Manila.—The lower house of the Philippine legislature passed a resolution instructing the presidents of both the house and the senate to petition President Coolidge to include a recommendation in favor of Philippine independence in his next message to congress.

King, Queen Get Ovation.

Cartagena.—King Alphonso and Queen Victoria were received enthusiastically on their arrival here to take part in the unveiling of a monument in memory of Spaniards killed or wounded in the battle of Manila.

Debt Representatives Named.

Belgrade.—The Jugo-Slav government has appointed a commission to visit the United States to discuss the Jugo-Slav war debt with Washington officials. The debt amounts to approximately $60,000,000.

JURY VINDICATES MRS. H. E. STOKES

Single Ballot Exonerates Titian Beauty and Ends Five-Year Fight.

MILLIONAIRE SHEDS TEARS

New York.—Mrs. Helen Ellwood Stokes won her fight to defend her character against charges of infidelity brought against her by William Earl Dodge Stokes, her seventy-three-year-old husband.

The jury refused to grant Stokes a divorce which he had asked on allegations his wife had been intimate with Edgar T. Wallace, California oil promoter.

The jury was out an hour and seven minutes. Only one ballot was taken and that unanimously in favor of the pretty defendant.

When the jury filed in there was a tenseness in the courtroom. For the contending sides it meant the culmination of five years of the bitterest fighting.

The clerk of the court asked Foreman Hitchcock of the jury whether the jurors had reached a verdict.

"What is your verdict?" the clerk then asked.

"We find Mrs. Stokes not guilty on count nine," Hitchcock said.

This was the issue of whether Mrs. Stokes had been guilty of infidelity with Wallace in his apartment at 13 East Thirty-fifth street, New York.

This was the sole issue left to the jury to consider.

Mrs. Stokes, her face tense, listened to the verdict and then gulped visibly. Her face broke into smiles as she shook hands with her counsel, Samuel Untermyer. The pair then walked to the jury box and thanked the jurors.

Stokes, sitting alone at his table, appeared much affected by the jury's announcement. Tears were in his eyes. He was asked if he had anything to say.

"That's all," the aged financier said. "I have no statement to make."

Federal Judge at Philadelphia Jolts U. S. Brewery Raids

Philadelphia, Pa.—After prohibition agents had announced the seizure of 14 breweries in and near Philadelphia, Federal Judge McKeehan rendered a decision that it was illegal to seize the entire plants of brewing companies. Holding that a search warrant authorizes prohibition agents to seize only intoxicating liquors illegally manufactured and the appurtenances necessarily used in the manufacture, Judge McKeehan advised federal prohibition authorities to "use some discretion and judgment" in the execution of such warrants and warned them there was a penalty of a fine or imprisonment for exceeding their authority.

Big Wheat Grower Urges Higher Tariff on Grain

Washington.—An increase in the wheat tariff, either by congressional action or through the flexible provisions of the Fordney-McCumber bill, was recommended to President Coolidge by Thomas D. Campbell of Hardin, Mont. Mr. Campbell was introduced to the President by Eugene Meyer, Jr., director of the War Finance corporation, as the "greatest wheat grower in the world."

Standard Oil Company Cuts Price of Gasoline

Chicago.—Gasoline is selling at 14 cents a gallon in Chicago as the result of a reduction of 1.4 cents a gallon announced by the Standard Oil Company of Indiana. The Standard cut was immediately met by independents. Elsewhere in the territory served by the Standard the reduction was 2 cents, except in South Dakota, where prices were advanced 2 cents.

Entire Hershey Wealth to School Candy Man Founded

Harrisburg, Pa.—Milton S. Hershey, multimillionaire candy manufacturer, head of the Hershey Chocolate company at Hershey, near Harrisburg, and its fifteen constituent companies, has placed his entire wealth—$60,000,000—in trust for the Hershey Industrial school at that place.

Uncle Sam Must Get Along on Mere $1,700,000,000

Washington. — The budget bureau brought government expenditures for the next fiscal year within a limit of $1,700,000,000. This was done when estimates from all of the departments were pared down to the bone. They will go to President Coolidge for his approval.

Winter's Work Planned.

Washington.—The bureau of soils will include soil surveys in its winter's work, according to plans announced by the officials. More than one-third of continental United States already has been covered.

Would Restore Howat.

Springfield, Ill.—Reinstatement of Alexander Howat, former president of the Kansas district of the United Mine Workers of America, will be proposed at the meeting of the executive committee in Indianapolis.

DOCTOR MATTHES

Doctor Matthes is head of the recently proclaimed Rhineland republic.

U. S. MARKET REPORT

Weekly Marketgram by Bureau of Agricultural Economics.

Washington.—For the week ending Nov. 6.—LIVE STOCK—Chicago hog prices: $7.50 for the top and $6.70@7.30 for the bulk. Medium and good beef steers, $7.75@11.35; butcher cows and heifers, $4.40@8.25; light and medium weight veal calves, $7.50@10.75; fat lambs, $11.25@13.40; feeding lambs, $11.50@12.85; yearlings, $8.25@11.25, and fat ewes, $3.75@6.50.

FRUITS AND VEGETABLES—New York round white potatoes range $1.65@1.85 sacked and bulk per 100 lbs. Northern round whites, in Chicago, 85c@$1.10; 90c f. o. b. Cabbage, Danish type, $20@25 bulk per ton leading cities, $12@16 f. o. b. shipping points. Onions, New York yellow varieties, $2.75@3.25 sacked per 100 lbs. Midwestern stock, $2.50@3.25. Apples—Eastern Baldwins, $4@4.50 per bbl., city markets; York Imperials, $3@3.75; Stayman Winesap, $3.75@4.75; Michigan and Illinois Jonathans, $5@6 Midwestern cities. Northwestern Jonathans, $1.75@2.25 per box leading markets.

DAIRY PRODUCTS—Butter, 92 score, at Chicago, 51½c. Cheese, at Wisconsin primary markets: Single daisies, 24c; double daisies, 23½c; longhorns, 24½c; square prints, 24¾c.

HAY—No. 1 timothy, $24.00 Cincinnati, $26.00 Chicago, $19.50 Minneapolis, $24.50 St. Louis; No. 1 prairie, $16.50 Minneapolis.

GRAIN—Wheat, No. 2 hard winter at Chicago, $1.09¾@1.11¾; No. 2 yellow corn, Chicago, 97@98c; No. 3 white oats, 41½@42½c.

Charles M. Schwab Bought Off Woman Twenty Years

New York.—Charles M. Schwab, steel magnate, from time to time over a period of twenty years sent money to Mrs. Myrtle B. Hayes, who now is under indictment for forging his indorsement to notes with which she attempted to finance a $5,000,000 hotel project in Brookline, Mass., he testified before a referee in bankruptcy.

He did this, he said, because in 1902 he had advanced the woman $2,000, and subsequent demands for money were based on the threat of publicity which would have resulted in placing an erroneous construction on his previous associations with her.

Ten Bandits Hold Up Kansas Town of 500 and Loot Bank

Ogden, Kan.—Ten bandits in wild west fashion held this town of 500 inhabitants at bay for two hours while blast after blast was set off at the door of the vault in the Ogden State bank. Guards stationed outside the bank kept up a heavy fire until their companions inside finally gained access to the vault and looted it.

Bank officials estimate the loot at approximately $26,000. The bandits got approximately $2,000 in cash and $24,000 in Liberty bonds.

Bandit Force Captures Indiana Town; Loots Two Banks

Spencer, Ind.—For two hours early Tuesday morning this town was in the hands of a band of robbers, who threw a cordon of guards on every road leading out of the town, cut all electric light, telephone and telegraph wires, and, after wounding two citizens who attempted to interfere, leisurely robbed the First National bank and the Exchange State bank, took $13,000 they had collected from the banks, climbed into four automobiles, and drove away.

Big Drive Is Launced to Lift War Tax on Automobiles

Washington.—The American Automobile association has announced the launching of a campaign for the removal of war taxes on automobiles and accessories. The 5 per cent levy on passenger cars and the 3 per cent on trucks is called by the association "an unfair tax upon a necessary means of transportation."

Cotton Hearing Concluded.

Washington. — The federal trade commission completed its hearings into the cotton situation Thursday. Most of the witnesses opposed any material change in the cotton industry, it is said.

Two Indicted for Duel.

Cambridge, Mass.—Two indictments for dueling have been returned by the county grand jury here as one aftermath of the mysterious sinking of a rum-running schooner. Thomas Duris and Olaf M. Anderson were indicted.

.. Hawkeye .. State News

Interesting Items Gathered From all Parts of Iowa

There is easier money in raising geese than in the production of most anything else on the farm, thinks Mrs. Frank Colvin of Postville.

Wisconsin hunters are having fun with 10,000 ducks on the east side of the river near McGregor where it costs an Iowa hunter $25 for a license.

The Commercial bank and the First National bank of Emmetsburg have been consolidated. The First National will continue the business of both institutions.

A golden eagle was killed by a hunter in southern Iowa a few days ago. The bird measured six feet seven inches, with wings spread. It was a young eagle.

Thousands of Iowa school teachers, superintendents and principals were in Des Moines to attend the sixty-ninth annual session of the Iowa State Teachers association.

The drive for a community building at Malvern is about to go over the top, according to the committee in charge. Over $37,500 of the $40,000 required for the building has been pledged.

A plea for more consideration for the small rural schools of the state was made in an address deliver before the Iowa State Teachers' Association meeting in Des Moines by the President.

The Iowa Branch of the National League of District Postmasters will hold a convention in Des Moines Nov. 22nd and 23rd, according to a letter received by the convention bureau of the Chamber of Commerce.

Women representing the Women's Foreign Missionary Society in 12 foreign countries at Des Moines Methodist Church pledged themselves to promote an international federation of women to promote peace.

Range cattlemen have shown a noticeable tendency this fall to market a larger proportion of cows and heifers than usual, a survey recently made by the United States department of aggriculture reveals.

New building operations begun in Des Moines during October totalled slightly more than half a million dollars. Permits were issued at the city hall for 233 projects representing a total valuation of $582,220.

Friends of the Iowa Tuberculosis Association have offered to the schools of Iowa silver cups for the school health work on conditions similar to the national cup which was won by Iowa for the third time.

Moving pictures, the dance and women's dress are the three most outstanding factors in the increase of crime among young men and women, said Miss Emily M. Porter of Winterset at a union meeting in Lamoni.

County boards of health to give to each county in Iowa the same health and sanitation service which is now afforded in the best organized city health departments are contemplated in a plan being backed by the state board of health.

One of the largest soy bean fields in Louisa county at the present time is a 40-acre field on the Williams farm which is planted to Manchu variety. Indications are that there will be a crop yield of eighteen to twenty bushels per acre.

"The future of the horse industry is very promising," says D. R. Meyers farming 440 acres of land six miles east of Clarion, "because everybody has stopped breeding horses and that is sure to make the market good for good horses."

With headquarters opened in Storm Lake, in charge of T. J. Graham of New York, the representatives of the Presbyterian General Board of Education are ready to start the campaign for Buena Vista college's share of the $2,000,000 being raised by the general board for Presbyterian schools in Iowa.

A little six-page pamphlet issued by the state agricultural department on "Why Iowa is Great," has been drawing unusual attention not only among Iowa citizens in the last few weeks, but from large concerns in the east. The first page calls attention to the fact that Iowa is the first state in the raising of corn, oats, hogs and horses. Twenty-five per cent of the total number of hogs marketed come from Iowa. Iowa ranks first in number of fat cattle, number and value of poultry, number and value of eggs produced, total value of grain crops, value of land and farm buildings, value of farm implements, automobiles and telephones in rural homes, percentage of improved land and per capita wealth. She is also the world's center for popcorn and timothy seed.

A 25,000 membership and the establishment of both farm and home club work in every county in Iowa is the goal of boys' and girls' club workers for the coming year.

The historical review issued by the state under the name of "Annals of Iowa" is one of the state's oldest publications. On account of the woldr war there were no issue from October 1915 to April, 1920, but on the latter date publication was resumed. The object of the "Annals of Iowa" is to assist in putting on record state events deserving of special notice.

PE-RU-NA

The Most Successful Treatment of the Century for CATARRH

Tablets or Liquid

Sold Everywhere

He Didn't Leave It.

Caller—Here is a poem of ... stanzas.

Editor (without looking) Twenty-one. It stanza chance of ... into the waste basket.

Aspirin

Say "Bayer" and Ins...

BAYER

Genuine

Unless you see the name "Bayer" package or on tablets you are not ... ting the genuine Bayer product ... scribed by physicians over twenty ... years and proved safe by millions ...

Colds	Headache
Toothache	Lumbago
Earache	Rheumatism
Neuralgia	Pain, Pain

Accept "Bayer Tablets of Asp... only. Each unbroken package con... proper directions. Handy boxes ... twelve tablets cost few cents. D... gists also sell bottles of 24 and ... Aspirin is the trade mark of B... Manufacture of Monoaceticacidest... Salicylicacid.—Advertisement.

What They Missed.

Two newsboys went to a per... ance of "Hamlet." In the last sce... after Hamlet had killed Laertes ... the king, and the queen had die... poison and Hamlet of a poi... wound, one of the newsboys ... claimed: "Golly, Jim, what a ... that must have been for extras."

MOTHER! GIVE SICK CHILD "CALIFORNIA FIG SYR...

Harmless Laxative for a Bi... Constipated Baby or Child.

Constipated, bilious, feverish, or sick, colic Babies and Children love to take genuine "California Fig Syrup." No other laxative regulates the tender little bowels so nicely. It sweetens the stomach and starts the liver and bowels acting ... out griping. Contains no narcotic ... soothing drugs. Say "California" ... your druggist and avoid counterf... Insist upon genuine "California ... Syrup" which contains direction... Advertisement.

It's unsafe to bury the dead ... better cremate it.

Mrs. A. Van Arnam

Davenport, Iowa.—"I wish I co... tell to all the world how much I o... to Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescripti... I was nearing middle life when ... last child came and my health w... miserable, I had continuous pain ... my right side. I took nine bottles ... 'Favorite Prescription' and can tr... say that I suffered the least ... time and my health afterwards w... better than it had ever been before. While passing through the critic... time of life I depended solely upo... 'Favorite Prescription' to keep ... well and strong and it did not fa... me. I had none of the distressing ... symptoms most women have at th... period, such as heat flashes and dizz... spells. I came through in excell... health and am still just as strong ... well as I was thirty years ago, thank... to this best of medicines, Dr. Pierce's ... Favorite Prescription."—Mrs. Alic... Van Arnam, 1705 W. Fourth St.

Your health is most important ... you. Why not write Dr. Pierce's ... valids' Hotel in Buffalo, N. Y., ... free, confidential, medical advice. ... send 10c for trial pkg. of Favor... Prescription Tablets.

...nd Good Housekeepers
...he superiority of

...Baker's ...hocolate

(Premium No. 1)

...ing cakes, pies, puddings, fudges, ices, etc.

Be sure that you get the genuine, in the blue wrapper and yellow label with the trade-mark of the Chocolate Girl on the back.

Made only by

...er Baker & Co. Ltd.

Established 1780

...lls at Dorchester, Mass. and Montreal, Canada

...T OF CHOICE RECIPES SENT FREE

Odd Fellow!

...Waters has an odd case of ...ndedness.

...h!

...es, he's just back from a mo...rulse, and the other night he ...in the bath and bailed it out ...whole floor was flooded.

...ck survivors ...l how tobacco ...ept them going

...food and water gave ...on third day, they ...noked until rescued

...ps they were only pirates of ..., and deserved no great charity ...he hand of Fate. Nevertheless, ...ere very much human beings ...they found themselves miles out ...adrift in an open boat.

...h two days' supply of food and ... they confidently expected to ...ued in plenty of time. But ...the third day passed and no ...y sail appeared on the horizon, ...n to look like a case for Davy ...locker.

...of the victims, crazy with ... suggested that they divide a ...of iodine and end the agony ...y.

..."The tobacco hasn't given out yet," ...another. "Let's stick it out a ...longer." And they did.

...e in the afternoon of the fifth ...a tramp schooner saw their dis...signals and came valiantly to ...cue.

..."The only thing that kept us going ...was tobacco," one of the survivors admitted when he was safely deposited on dry land again. "We smoked and chewed, and that sort of kept us up."

Tobacco is certainly a poor substitute for food and water—but under the stress of trying circumstances smoking a pipe is a big help.

...pes filled with Edgeworth ...ely have no more soothing effect ...pipes filled with other tobaccos, ...most Edgeworth smokers some...el that they need Edgeworth to ...mplete pipe satisfaction.

...you have never smoked Edge..., send your name and address ... postcard to Larus & Brother ...pany. They will be glad to send ...ree samples—generous helpings ...of Edgeworth Plug Slice and ...y-Rubbed.

...ke a few pipefuls and judge for ...self whether or not you wish to ...e a permanent member of the ...worth Club.

...geworth is sold in various sizes ...t the needs and means of all ...kers. Both Edgeworth Plug ... and Ready-Rubbed are packed ...all, pocket-size packages, in ...me humidors holding a pound, ...also in several handy in-between ...s.

...For the free samples, kindly address ... & Brother Company, 70 South ...Street, Richmond, Va. If you ...also include on your postcard the ...e and address of your regular ...co dealer, your courtesy will be ...ciated.

...Retail Tobacco Merchants: If your ...er cannot supply you with Edge..., Larus & Brother Company will ...send you prepaid by parcel post ...a two-dozen carton of any size ...geworth Plug Slice or Ready-...ed for the same price you would ...the jobber.

Streets Barricaded by German Communists

Almost every town in Baden, and many in other parts of Germany, is daily the scene of outbreaks on the part of some faction. Street barricades have been thrown up in various cities, and rioting and fighting is prevalent everywhere. Led by the Communists, hungry hordes are sweeping through the food shops.

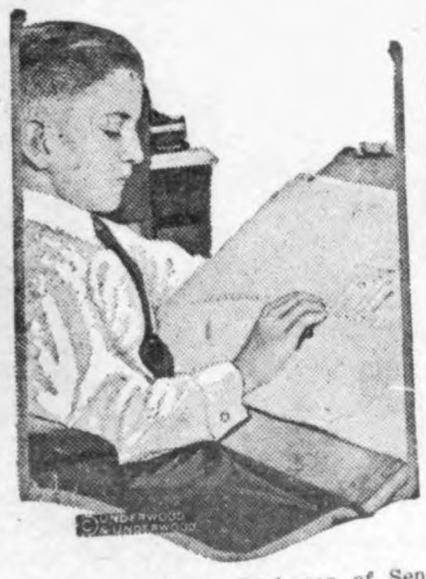
HER EX-HUSBAND IS SUING

Arthur Engle, New York civil engineer and war veteran, has begun a suit for $100,000 against Albert R. Kahr, millionaire lumberman of Cleveland, Ohio, after having been divorced from his wife for a year. Engle charges alienation of affections, claiming that Kahr took his wife, Mrs. Grace G. Engle, shown above, on "petting parties" and midnight auto rides.

HE SUCCEEDS HARVEY

Frank B. Kellogg, former senator from Minnesota has been selected to succeed Mr. Harvey as ambassador to Great Britain.

YOUNG DIAL AN ARTIST



Nathaniel Minter Dial, son of Senator Nathaniel Dial from South Carolina, at twelve years is an artist of considerable talent.

Set New World's Records for Speed in Air

At Mitchel field, New York, Lieut. A. J. Williams (right) and Lieut. Harold J. Brow engaged in a speed duel in the air, and both set new world's records. Williams won by making an average of 266.6 miles an hour, but Brow did one leg at the rate of 274.2 miles an hour, traveling faster than man ever before traveled.

Claim Valuable Chicago Land

Skinaway, 110 years old, and Nunnemskuk, 113 years old, oldest living members of the Pottawatomie tribe of Indians of Kansas, who are in Washington to investigate claims of their tribespeople to land tracts on the Chicago water front. The property is valued at thirty-five million dollars.

Small Schooner on a Long Cruise

The little schooner Blossom photographed at New London, Conn., just before she started on a two-years' cruise to South Atlantic waters and the Indian ocean. She has three sailing masters aboard and the rest of the crew of fifteen are scientists and explorers.

TO CHECK UP ON PROGRESS

Americanism Commission of American Legion Plans to Combat Adverse Instruction in Homes.

Max M. Neumann, chairman of the Americanism Commission of the American Legion in Washington, and a former state legislator, has announced a definite plan for combating un-American teachings in home life, which have often offset patriotic instruction in schools.

"We have found in Washington that Americanism work done in schools with the children oftentimes has been counteracted by un-American teachings in the home. A plan has been worked out for use in the state whereby we are urging that examinations be made in Americanism in every grade of the schools. These examinations would be kept and taken yearly, and comparisons made as to advancement. In the event these records do not show the proper progress, the American Legion would take up the matter at its source in the home to remedy it. The examinations would not be limited to the foreign-born children, or those born of foreign parentage."

Legion men in Washington face many problems of Americanization, of which the Japanese question and anti-alien land ownership are of greatest concern, according to Mr. Neumann.

MEMORIAL TO HERMAN DAVIS

Legion in Arkansas Joins In Movement to Raise $100,000 to Mark Hero's Grave.

The American Legion in Arkansas has joined in the movement to raise $100,000 for a memorial to Herman Davis, said to have been the state's greatest World war hero. Davis' name is fourth on the list of 100 greatest heroes of the war, selected by War department officials. The man died from the effects of gas last January in almost destitute circumstances, and his body now lies in an unmarked grave near Manila, Ark. A suitable monument will be erected over the grave and a memorial shaft on the grounds of the War Memorial building is contemplated by the donors to this fund. Scholarships for Arkansas students at the state university will be endowed, if the quest for funds is successful. Department Commander Elgin C. Robertson, of Marianna, is secretary of the memorial organization.

Physicians Being Assigned.

A group of graduate physicians, who have received intensive training in neuro-psychiatric treatment in a government school in Washington, D. C., are now being assigned to Veterans' bureau hospitals in various parts of the country. The school was opened by the government with the intention of making available the services of the strongest teaching staff of experts on mental questions possible, in order that former World war soldiers of the United States might receive the benefit of their research. The instructors were drawn from the public health service, civil life, and from military service. The class of forty-four, who studied under this faculty, were paid for the time spent in training and will receive a retainer fee for consultation work with mental cases originating from war service, and handled by the Veterans' bureau.

Seeks Ex-Service Man.

National headquarters of the American Legion in Indianapolis has been asked to aid in the search for John Morgan Broaddus of El Paso, Tex., who disappeared from Long Beach, Cal., June 14, 1923, while on a vacation. Broaddus is not a Legionnaire, but his brother, Frank Broaddus, is an active member in the organization in El Paso. The missing man is twenty-two years of age; 5 feet 7 inches in height, and weighs 145 pounds. His hair is light and he has high cheek bones. When last seen he was wearing a light-brown suit and heavy tortoise-shell glasses. His mother is very ill and needs him. Any information obtainable should be forwarded to the El Paso post, No. 36, American Legion. A reward of $500 has been offered for his location.

To Raise Funds for Memorial.

That the memory of Raoul Lufberry, one of America's great flying aces, might never be dimmed, members of the American Legion and other veterans' organizations have joined in a campaign to raise funds for a memorial in Wallingford, Conn., the former home of the great flyer. The monument will be erected on Mount Tom, near the city, and a flying field will be opened bearing the hero's name.

Legionnaires as Painters.

Public spirit, muscle power and 75 gallons of paint enabled members of the American Legion post and its auxiliary in Bemidji, Minn., to apply the proper color to the $15,000 unpainted grandstand of the Beltrami County Agricultural association's fair ground. Fifty Legionnaires put on two coats of paint and members of the auxiliary unit served lunches with occasional maneuvers of the paint brushes.

Purse for Former Chaplain.

Lyman Rollins, formerly chaplain of the One Hundred First infantry, has been remembered by his comrades in Enfield, N. H., with a substantial purse presented by the Legion post in Marblehead, Mass. Rollins is suffering from the effects of being gassed while in France. He was given $2,500 by his Legion comrades.

WRIGLEY'S

Take it home to the kids.

Have a packet in your pocket for an ever-ready treat.

After Every Meal

A delicious confection and an aid to the teeth, appetite, digestion.

Sealed in its Purity Package

The Silent Art.

"My boy, Josh, has given up tryin' to be a musician and wants to be a movie star," said Farmer Corntossel.

"Are you disappointed?"

"No. We're all pleased. Josh won't have to make so much noise around the house practicin'."

STOP! THAT BAKE-DAY Waste!

That's what Millions of women have done with CALUMET

The Economy BAKING POWDER

Being uniform and dependable it never spoils any of the ingredients used on bakeday

THE WORLD'S GREATEST BAKING POWDER

BEST BY TEST

Sales 2½ times as much as that of any other brand

Are You Moving to California?

We Save You 25% on Freight Household Goods—Autos

Through car service. No transfers. Shorter time in transit. Write

BLUE LINE STORAGE CO.

3rd & Elm, Des Moines, Iowa

ABSORBINE

TRADE MARK REG. U.S. PAT. OFF.

will reduce inflamed, swollen Joints, Sprains, Bruises, Soft Bunches; Heals Boils, Poll Evil, Quittor, Fistula and infected sores quickly as it is a positive antiseptic and germicide. Pleasant to use; does not blister or remove the hair, and you can work the horse. $2.50 per bottle delivered.

Book 7 A free.

W. F. YOUNG, Inc., 510 Lyman St., Springfield, Mass.

A COLD TODAY—DON'T DELAY

AT ALL DRUGGISTS CASCARA HILL'S BROMIDE QUININE PRICE 30 CENTS

Cures Colds in 24 Hours La Grippe in 3 Days

W. H. HILL CO., DETROIT.

SAFE SURE DEPENDABLE

Overcoats Distinctive in style and value

$35

If you need an overcoat this winter and thirty-five dollars is about your price, better take a look at these coats. You'll see the extra value in them.

All sizes, every good style—raglans, ulsters and Chesterfields.

Come in and see these coats.

Patton Bros. Company

Where a dollar does its duty

MASON CITY and Manly, Iowa

Neighbors Prosper Together

A neighbor is more than one who merely lives next to you. A neighbor has a sincere interest in you, and is worthy of your interest also.

The best evidence of neighborliness the officers of the First National Bank believe, is mutual helpfullness. Therefore, we say, buy and bank at home—contribute to your neighbor's success. As he prospers, he will help you to prosper.

We invite you as a neighbor to bank with us and make our bank your bank.

First National Bank

"The Bank for Everybody'."

20 Red Top Steel Posts Will Be Given Away FREE!

WE WILL GIVE Away absolutely FREE 20 RED TOP Steel Fence Posts and a Post Driver to the farmer who pays up the largest account with us on or before 4:00 P. M. Saturday, December 1st, 1923.

This also holds good if a farmer purchases a bill of lumber and pays cash for it, or on or before the above date.

Every farmer can use these 20 Red Tops and it will pay you to pay your account---you may be the winner.

Northern Lumber Co.

Building Materials of All Kinds

News of Klemme and Vicinity

If its news, Phone 12. Thanks.

Let the Times print your sale bill.

Mrs. A. G. Koerner and children were at Mason City Saturday.

Lena Kever and friend went to Clarion Sunday for a visit.

Mr. and Mrs. R. A. McConn were at Clear Lake Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Jacobs drove to Clear Lake Sunday for a visit.

Leo Brinkman was five years old Tuesday, November 13th.

R. W. Elder, of Mason City, was a visitor at home here Sunday.

The Rebeccah lodge met Tuesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Chris Blumer were at Mason City Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. M. O. Barr were visiting at Crystal Lake Sunday.

A baby boy was born to Mr. and Mrs. Albert Etchen Friday morning of last week. The young man's name is Winton.

Mrs. Wisty, of Clear Lake, was visiting with her daughter, Mrs. E.d Jacobs last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Levi Klotczbach and family were visiting at Mason City Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Keraus and family drove to Forest City Sunday for a visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Ell, of Mason City, were visiting relatives in this city Sunday.

Ed. Schoenwetter is at a Mason City hospital where he had an operation.

Mrs. A. Ahrenkeil and son, of Goodell, visited Klemme relatives Tuesday.

Dr. Misman is enjoying a visit from his father and mother this week.

Howard Wiles and Fred Arnold, who are Ames students, came home for the week end.

20 Red Top Steel Posts free to a farmer in this community. Read the Northern Lbr. Co. adv in this issue

Mesdames Joe Starnes and Tom Roths drove to Belmond last week Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Nihoof of Belmond were visiting in Klemme last Thursday.

Mrs. Charles Luick and son, Lee. drove to Clear Lake last Thursday evening for a visit with relatives.

Mrs. LuVerne Smith went to Belmond last Wednesday for a visit at the home of her parents.

Mrs. Brouwer, of Minnesota, is in this vicinity visiting with Klemme relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. McGorman and family, of Clear Lake, were calling on friends here Sunday.

Mesdames Gee and Nelson, of Goodell, and Mrs. Gram of Minnesota, were in Klemme Wednesday evening.

Mrs. Fred Blackstone and daughter, Maud, and Miss Moore, of Garner, were Klemme visitors last Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. LuVerne Smith and Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Luick and son, Albert Luick, were visiting with Belmond relatives Sunday.

Quite a number of Klemme people atended a hard time, old fashioned, dance at Clear Lake last Friday evening.

Miss Minnie Blank and her aunt, Mrs. Moss, went to Cedar Rapids last Friday for a visit with relatives and friends.

Mr. E. P. Schaefer and son Kenneth, of Hebron, Illinois, visited at the John Gruetzmacher and Ed. Schaefer homes Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Schuldt, of Garner, were visitors at the John Gruetzmacher and P. M. Griesemer home last Sunday.

Glenna Gruetzmacher who attends college at Iowa Falls, came home last Thursday evening to spend the week end at home. Mr. Gruetzmacher drove to Dows to meet her.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Gram returned yesterday from their honeymoon trip in Minnesota, where they visited with relatives and friends for about a week.

FOR SALE—Full blood R. C. White Wyandotte cockerels at $1.50 each if ordered at once. Albert Etchen. adv-p

"Loyal Lives" is the title of the big picture coming to the Idle Hour. Read their adv in this issue and plan to see this picture as it is a dandy.

Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Lundberg and Miss Mary Darner, of Marshalltown, Iowa, were visiting at the home of Dr. and Mrs. J. L. Hesselhuus over Sunday.

Dorance Day is the proud owner of a fine Shetland pony which his dad bought for him last week. Dorance will be a regular cow-boy now.

Mrs. Henry Metzgar has gone out to her home on the farm after being away or eight weeks. She recently underwent a serious operation.

Grandma Schroeder was 72 years young Friday, November 9th and a number of her friends held a surprise party for her. She had a cake that was nearly as big as a tub and on it were 72 candles. She was presented with many gifts and flowers.

KLEMME MARKETS

(Subject To Change)

Thursday, November 15

WHEAT	$1.00
CORN (new)	.60
OATS	.34
BARLEY	.55
RYE	.55
HOGS	5.50—6.25
HAY	15.00—20.00
BUTTERFAT	.53
BUTTER (Creamery)	.50
EGGS	.40
HEAVY HENS	.13
LIGHT HENS	.10
STANDARD SPRINGS	.13
LEGHORNS	.10
COCKS	.06
DUCKS	.12
GEESE	.10

Our Great Third Annual

Employee's Sale

Begins Saturday Morning

Saturday, November 17th, marks the beginning of great sale which will continue for one week ending S day night, November 24. This sale is planned and sup ed by our employees who compete with one another t tain the highest "selling peaks," and the management lows profits to be disregarded in the race for volume. is the last general sale which this store will conduct year, and our steady growth allows us to offer greater ues than ever before. Plan ahead for your Christmas ing. New Holiday merchandise awaits you at money ing prices.

ALL Merchandise in the store will be included in this sale excepting a very few items on which the manufacturer regulates the prices

Louis Killian Company

MASON CITY'S SHOPPING CENTER

Safety, Interest, Something More--

Of course you expect safety when you bank your crop money, and liberal interest if the money remains on deposit for a considerable period. But you should receive helpful personal interest as well.

You'll find this last in exceptional measure at this bank. Entrust your crop money to this "personal service" bank.

5 per cent interest is paid on time deposits at this bank.

State Savings Bank

Klemme Iowa

STILLE'S IMPLEMENT NEW

Volume 2—Number 3. Thusrday, November 15,

THE KLEMME TIMES

ty-eighth Year—Number 11. Klemme, Iowa, Thursday Afternoon, November 22, 1923 $1.50 In Advance—$2.00 Outside of County

INGS OF THE WEEK AT THE KLEMME SCHOOLS

ME WINS DOUBLEHEADER FROM GOODELL

Win by Score of 21-11 and the Boys by a Score of 20 16

Girl's Game

pletely upsetting the dope the girls basket ball team up a big score at Goodell last and evened the series, winn- a score of 21 to 11.

ing the offensive at the start, wept the Goodell teams off eet, and at the end of the first e score stood 18 to 2. Goodell the last half, but was un- overcome the early lead set home girls.

the locals, the playing of Rid- Stille featured, while Koer, ayed a steady game at other d, keeping upthe team work r perfect style. On defense, was a tower of strength, ng up pass after pass. The Hake and Tanner broke up 's offense repeatedly, hold- em to but one basket in the alf. Tanner playing her first performed like a veteran.

Score and Lineup

Klemme 21		Goodell 11
	F	Halfpop
	F	Fuller
er (Captain)	F	Harberts
	C	Miller
	G	Chase
r	G	Dieger

mmary KLEMME.

d baskets, Stille 4, Ridder 6, er, 1 Foul baskets made, Stil- Fouls missed Ridder 1, Person- ls, Ridder 1, Techinical fouls r 1, Hake 2.

odell

d baskets, Halfpop 4,Lackore1 baskets made, Halfpop 1, Fouls d Halfpop 2. Personal fouls l, technical fouls, Miller 2. itution Lackore of Dieger. e, Pals of Belmond.

Boy's Game

lowing the example set by the the boys also took a healthy at the dope bucket, andscatter- contents far and wide, pro- to give the Goodell Basket- eam a severe drubbing. A last change in the lineup proved 's Waterloo. Koerner went forward, and Wellmeyer came guard, with the instructions h Cashman, and keep him coring. So closely was the guarded, that he was held ss the first half.

odell drew first blood with a goal by Meyer, but Koerner in a basket soon after and foul throw by Gimer gave us ad, and Klemme's Shamrocks never headed the remainder evening. The score at half s 10 to 3.

he second half, Goodell start- whirlwind attack that threat- o win the game for them, but short lived, and they were un- o maintain the pace.

the Shamrocks, Gimer was gh scorer with nine points. er at forward and Patet at played a strong heady game. Elder was a Gibralter at nd Wellemeyer, playing his ame as a guard held Cashman 's ace to three baskets, keep- m entirely scoreless the first

Score and Lineup

Klemme 20		Goodell 16
	RF	Cashman
r	LF	Savogue
	C	Meyer
(Captain)	RG	Quigley
eyer	LG	Estle

mary KLEMME

goals, Gimer 4, Koerner 2, Elder 1. Free throws made 1, Patet 2, Koerner 1, Free missed, Gimer1, Koerner 1, Personal fouls, Gimer 3, Elder1, Wellemeyer1, Grei-itution, Greiman for Wel-

ODELL

goals, Cashman 3, Meyer1. rows missed, Savague 1, Estle 3, Quigley 1, Meyer 1, Cashman 1. Personal fouls Cashman 3, Savogue 1, Quigley 1, Schultz 1, Technical fouls, Estle.

Substitution, Schultz for Estle, Estle for Schultz.

Time of periods, 10 minutes.

Referee, Pals of Belmond.

General News

Extemporaneous Speaking

Supt. Neese called on several pupils of the high school assembly to give talks Monday morning. Some gave good speeches while others only stood up and let us look at them. Clarence Elder talked about printing, Dolores Koerner about the Ku Klux Klan, and Andrew Wellemeyer about Radio.

The parent- teachers association is to meet next Tuesday evening, Novemeber 27, in the school building at 8 o'clock. We want all the parents and friends to come who are interested in the work. The questions that were brought up in the last meeting are to be discussed on Tuesday evening.

The janitor tried to confuse the pupils of the Klemme School in fire drfil by filling the building with smoke last Wednesday afternoon. The building was vacated quickly in an orderly manner.

Women's and Men's Athletic Club

A Women's Athletic Club and a Men's Athletic Club have been organized. These clubs are to play in the school gymnasium at certain evenings. It has not been decided which evening each club is to play.

The American Legion is also to meet here. It has not been decided which evening they are to meet but possibly on Tuesday evenings.

The sophomores will discontinue news writing after this week. New editors will be appointed.

Junto Club

The Freshman English class have organized a club similiar to that which Benjamin Franklin and his friends belonged. It is called Junto Meetings are held every Friday until the class finishes the study of the Autobiography of Benjamin Franklin. (It will be about six weeks.) Each member answers roll call by presenting questions to be discussed in the next meeting. Essays and debates are part of the program.

The purpose of the club is to make the members better inormed and better conversationalists. At the first meeting officers were elected and questions presented. The officers will be changed frequently to give the membrs of the class practice in conducting meetings. Rules for writing minutes of a meeting were studied.

Faculty News

Miss Rone attended a surprise party on Miss Edith Haupt, Thursday night at the home of Mrs. Schuldt's.

All teachers went to the basket ball game Friday night.

Mr. Tregilgus spent Saturday with the coach of Mason City. While there he witnessed a foot ball game between Mason City and Osage.

Mr. Tregilgus spent Sunday at Nora Sprngs.

Avery No. 9

Marie and Johanny Ablers were absent Thursday and Friday on account of taking care of the children.

Tom Nelson built a new flag staf on the school house Monday.

Liberty Township, District No8

Kenneth Ghast and Kermit Stille were absent three days last week.

Fifth grade drew maps of South America last week.

The seventh grade is studing Europe.

Ell Center No. 5.

Last Friday night a basket social was held at this school. The teacher and pupils gave a good program. Alarge crowd was there and the school house was filled to its capacity. About a dozen baskets were sold for $14.

Ell Township, District. No 4

There will be a basket social at this school November the 30th. Everybody invited.

STATE OF IOWA
Executive Department
THANKSGIVING DAY
By The Governor

A Proclamation

To the People of Iowa:

In compliance with a custom which is immemorial and in conformity to the proclamation of the Presdent, I, N. E. Kendall, Governor of Iowa, do hereby appoint as a day of public thanksgiving and prayer.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 29, 1923

Our people have more to be thangful for this year than any similar population in the world. The health of the Commonwealth is excellent. Nature has rewarded abundantly the industry of the husbandman. Capital is safely invested at satisactory returns and labor is steadily employed at renumerative wages. Prosperity is mnifest in every section and in every vicinity. Blessed are we indeed, and above all fortunate, to live in a state of advanced enlightment, under the best government ever organized by man, with a constitution and laws which guarantee to the humblest citizen the unabridged right to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. Let our hearts be uplifted in gratitude for the immeasurable benefits which a Divine Providence has bestowed upon us.

I recommend that on the day above designated, all secular pursuits be suspended, and that the people assemble in their usual sanctuaries of worship, there to unite in humble thanksgiving to Almighty God for His infinite goodnes in the past, and in fervent appeal that His generous favor may be continued in the future.

In Testimony Whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused to be affixed the great Seal of the State of Iowa.

Done at Des Moines, this 13th day of November, A. D. 1923.

(The Great Seal of the State of Iowa)

By the Governor:

W. C. RAMSAY, Secretary of State

N. E. KENDALL, Governor

Ell Township, District. No. 8

Edmund Josten was absent Wdenesday afternoon on account of going to Catechism school.

Thep upils are going to start practising for a Christmas program.

Edmund Josten and Lubbe Albers are the only eighth graders this year but they are studying hard so they can write the eighth grade examinations.

Avery District. No. 1

School opened this week after two weeks of corn husking vacation.

Ruth Fuller was absent from school Thursday and Friday of this week.

These is an enrollment of twelve pupils for the winter term.

A. W. Fuller and son "Budy" were callers Tuesday morning.

Verna Fuller was absent from

(Continued on Last Page.

Some Interesting Facts Concerning Our Highways

IS THERE A MILE POST IN YOUR TOWN

The Zero Milestone, located just behind the White House at Washington, on Meridian of Longitude Zero, dedicated to the Nation and accepted by President Harding is the starting for road measurment east, west north south of the Capital of the Nation.

It is forty miles to Baltimore. It is also forty-five miles to Baltimore, depending on what part of Baltimore to which one measures! It may be two hundred and fifty three or two hundred and sixty seven miles to New York, according as one measures to the Battery or up above Harlem.

Every town in America ought to have a milestone, to which road distances from other towns could be measured, and from which distances would be computed. If an error of one mile was made in estimating distance between town and town, across the continent, the motor traveler might easily be several hundred miles out o his cauculations!

A town milestone costs little. It can be easiy financed by the local civic or commercial club. Its placement and use will foster civic pride. encourage tourist travel, and be an everlasting convenience to all who use it. A little research will compute its exact distance from the Zero Milestone at Washington, still furthur adding to its interest.

From a commercial standpoint an official milestone would be o fservice in giving readers of advertisements of real estate, for example definite information. A farm may be advertised as being six miles from Jonesville. With the adoption of an official milestone by Jonesville, the reader would know that the distance is six mies from a fixed point in the heart of the city.

OLDEST HIGHWAY ON CONTINENT IN NEW MEXICO

Road was Old When Pilgrim Fathers Landed

The oldest highway in North Amererica is said to be in New Mexico section of the National Old Trails Road. According to Judge J. M. Lowe, president of the National Old Trails Road Association, this section of the great highway is the oldest road established on the North American continent. It extends from Socorro to Santa Fe, about one hundred and fifty miles. Don Juan Onate, a Spaniard who was governor of New Spain (which comprehended all of Mexico) in the fifteenth century was the first man to establish a road in America.

Long years before the Pilgrim Fathers landed at Plymoth Rock. Onate had marked out and established this road, which started at Santa Bargara, now Jiminz, Mexico, and ended in the vicinity of what is now Santa Fe, New Mexico. This territory had been claimed by the king of Spain in 1598, and in 1606 Santa Fe was founded as the capital of New Spain. This route was used later as a highway over which goods were freighted from the Gulf of Mexico via Vera Cruz, Via the City of Mexico and Santa Barba, until the Santa Fe Trail was opened under the Act of Congrehs of 1824. This old road was then known as the "Camino Real" . . . "The Kings Highway . . . and it traversed the Rio ¼rande Valley from the Gulf to Santa Fe.

Don't believe everything you hear, but be sure you hear everything you believe.

REASONS FOR PARENT-TEACHER ASSOCIATIONS

SUPT. L. NEESE WRITES ABOUT INTERESTING TOPIC FOR THE TIMES

Seventy-five pears ago, when school was kept in the little log-house in the clearing, when the teacher "boarded around among the pupils," the social life of the community centered around the school, the relation of the teacher and patron was a close one.

As the school grew, however, this social relationship in many cases diappeared, and in the present complicated school system the parent and the teacher of the child rarely meet or never meet at all.

As a result the school curriculum appears more and more to the parent as an outside institution, planned by strangers with out reference to home life and executed by persons who do not consider home needs.

The teacher, on the other hand, feels a lack of co-operation and sympathy on the part of the parent.

It is to further a much-needed spirit of co-operation that the parent-teacher associations are formed. When school teachers and patrons get together regularly in a semi-social way, the friendliest feeling is fostered and kept; and, in addition, current school questions can be brought up and discussed in a form representing the points of view of both home and school.

This not only gives help to the individual teacher but makes an opportunity for the expression of general public opinion on such important questions as discipline, recreation, health, the treatment of individual differences, and movements for community welfare. Patrons cooperation lessens occasion for acute crisises, or quarrels, in school government and promotes orderly and easier adjustment of educational system to community needs.

It is imposible to maintain a school system successfully without the co-operation of the praents, the teachers and the school officials. For many years it was thought that the governing board of a school represented the public. Therefore, little attention was paid to securing the co-operation of the individual patrons.

The public school, however should seek to promote not only the well-being of the individual pupil but the unity, harmony, and welfare of the entire community.

No agency has come to the ai dof the schools that has greater possibilities for good than the parent-teacher association.

The parent-teacher association can give the teachers and understanding of the peculiar needs of the children, the helps or hindrances of home environments, and the special needs of the children to which the school should address itself.

The school can and must bring about a closer relation between parent and teacher and show them that they must work together for a better community.

In bringing together of the school, family and school officials, isolation, clannishness, and community strife may be over come, for people learn from one another when they work with a common aim, and when they learn from one another misunderstandings in the man disappears and harmony, as a rule, is the result.

The best community is the one in which all of its citizens are active members of the local government. The purpose of the parent-teacher association is in harmony with modern spirit of friendship, and that every community, every town, and every citizen should be organized, in order that this spirit of fellowship may extend its educative value to both teacher and parent.

Through the understanding of home conditions, which may be gained through the parent-teacher meetings, teachers are enabled to supplement home training by emphasizing those traits of character which have received least attention at home.

Parents who are in full sympathy with the work of school will endeavor to arrange home conditions so they are conductive t othe best school work. They will see that children get plenty of sleep; that home duties are so arranged that children do not have to hurry unnecessarily to get off to school. They will observe school regulations as to infectious dieases, and school rules to protect the health of the children, and will heed the advice of Boards of Health.

The meeting of parents and teachers and boards of education acts as a clearing house of information between them when freely mingling at one of the associations.

Regular meetings at fixed dates saves time and effort of both. The full, free discussion makes possible their aids in establishing a mutually helpful relation that ought to exist between people and their school.

Individual matters can be taken up as a general problem, so as to give offense to none.

Difficulties and short commings will disappear when discussed while eating the dough-nut away from the hole and drinking a friendly and neighborly cup of chocolate or tea or coffee.

In these meetings parents and teachers learn from one another and each have their points of view changed somewhat after a free and neighborly discussion.

Hoping that you may meet us at the auditorium of the Klemme High School, November 27, to discuss some of the sharp and pithy questions which have been asked and also help us arrange for lunch and a social hour at the next meeting.

Yours very truly,
L. NEESE.

Editor's note: We are indeed very grateful to Mr. Neese for this timely and interesting article on the parent-teacher association. It will no doubt, give our readers a much better understanding of the importance of this new organization in this community. We would urge all parents of children in our school to attend the meetings and co-operate in the school work.

METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH
A. W. Gauger, Pastor

Last Sunday was an ideal day and people responded most splendidly to the call of the church. The result was a capacity audience at the morning service.

At the evening service Hon. W. H. Ramsay, of Garner, was the speaker. He gave a splendid address on Christian Stewardship, which was well received by a fine audience. We shall be glad to have Mr. Ramsay come again.

On Tuesday the pastor took a party composed of Mrs. C. F. Keraus, Mrs. Leonard Sampson, Mrs. R. W. Elder, and Mrs. Gauger to Algona to a special called meeting in the interest of the Iowa Methodist Hospital of the N. W. Iowa Conference.

The Adult Clas of the S. S. held a class social and election of officers on Tuesday evening in our Parish House. All report a fine time.

Let all come out to the special service on this Thursday evening. at 7:30. Dr. Bushnell will preach thereafter the joint quarterly conference.

It is essential that every member of the two quarterly conferences be there.

On Sunday next we reverse order when Sunday School begnis at 10 oclock. At 11 oclock Dist. Supt. Belling will preach after which the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be administered. A cordial invitation goes out to everyone to come and participate.

NUTRITION MEETING

Five ladies in District No. 9 met at the home of Mrs. Wm. Ax, on November 15th, for one of the follow-up nutrition meetings of the Ladies Farm Bureau.

Pamphlets and bulletins were distributed on the value of vegetables, cereals and milk. Mrs. H. Paul spent the first half of the afternoon discussing the same, after which a lunch of baked hominy and pearl barley was served.

The next follow-up meeting in District No. 9 will be held at the home of Mrs. John Lemke.

WRIGLEY'S
After Every Meal
Have a packet in your pocket for ever-ready refreshment.
Aids digestion.
Allays thirst.
Soothes the throat.
For Quality, Flavor and the Sealed Package, get
WRIGLEY'S SPEARMINT THE PERFECT GUM
MINT LEAF FLAVOR
THE FLAVOR LASTS

Are You Moving to California?
We Save You 25% on Freight
Household Goods—Autos
Through car service. No transfers.
Shorter time in transit. Write
BLUE LINE STORAGE CO.
3rd & Elm, Des Moines, Iowa

AGENTS—SELL LADIES' SHOES DIRECT to wearer; fastest selling line today. Can double your income. Write for this independent opportunity. STYLE-ARCH SHOE CO., Agency Department, CINCINNATI, O.

His Mind on Baseball.

Music Teacher—Why don't you stop? Those marks mean rest.

Johnny—What's the use of restin'—let's get through with it.—Boston Evening Transcript.

MOTHER! GIVE SICK BABY "CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP"
Harmless Laxative to Clean Liver and Bowels of Baby or Child.

Even constipated, bilious, feverish, or sick, colic Babies and Children love to take genuine "California Fig Syrup." No other laxative regulates the tender little bowels so nicely. It sweetens the stomach and starts the liver and bowels acting without griping. Contains no narcotics or soothing drugs. Say "California" to your druggist and avoid counterfeits! Insist upon genuine "California Fig Syrup" which contains directions.—Advertisement.

Slight Difference.

A man seldom has as much faith in his vote when he is voting for something as he does when he is voting to punish somebody.

Don't Be Disfigured.
Keep Cole's Carbolisalve in the house. It stops pain from burn or cut quickly and heals without scars. At all good druggists, 30c and 60c, or J. W. Cole Co., Rockford, Ill.—Advertisement.

Convenient Relatives.

He—It wouldn't be much trouble for us to marry. My father is a minister, you know.

She—Well, let's have a try at it, anyway. My dad's a lawyer.—Mass. Tech Voo Doo.

"DANDELION BUTTER COLOR"
A harmless vegetable butter color used by millions for 50 years. Drug stores and general stores sell bottles of "Dandelion" for 35 cents.—Adv.

Modern Improvements.

The mother sang in days agone
A crade song.
Oh, that was long ago.
The phonograph she now turns on
And trots along
To see the movie show.

Thousands Keep in Good Health by taking one or two Brandreth Pills at bed time. They cleanse the system and purify the blood.—Adv.

The Score.

She—I'm so glad you proposed to me; that puts me one up on Della. She's only had three this month.

Best Way to Relieve Pain is by direct outside application and the best remedy is an Allcock's Plaster—the original and genuine.—Adv.

Strange!

Magistrate—Are the prisoners brothers?

Answer—Yes, sir, both of them.

Hall's Catarrh Medicine will do what we claim for it—rid your system of Catarrh or Deafness caused by Catarrh.
Sold by druggists for over 40 years
F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM
Removes Dandruff—Stops Hair Falling
Restores Color and Beauty to Gray and Faded Hair
60c. and $1.00 at Druggists.
Hiscox Chem. Wks. Patchogue, N. Y.

HINDERCORNS Removes Corns, Callouses, etc., stops all pain, ensures comfort to the feet, makes walking easy. 15c. by mail or at Druggists. Hiscox Chemical Works, Patchogue, N. Y.

W. N. U., DES MOINES, NO. 47--1923.

CAPTAIN SAZARAC

By CHARLES TENNEY JACKSON

Copyright by The Bobbs-Merrill Company

"I OFFER A SHIP"

SYNOPSIS.—Under the name of "Captain Sazarac," and disguised, Jean Lafitte, former freebooter of Barataria, proscribed, returns to the city of New Orleans. He is recognized by two of his old companions, Alderman Dominique and Beluche. At the gaming tables Sazarac has won much money from Colonel Carr, British officer. John Jarvis, the city's first bohemian of the arts and letters, an oldtime friend of Lafitte, tells of a woman's face and smile. As his last wager, Carr puts up a woman, presumably a slave. Custom compels Sazarac to accept the stake. He wins. His old associates and Count Raoul de Almonaster accost him as Lafitte. A project of the youthful adventurers of New Orleans is the rescue of Napoleon Bonaparte from St. Helena, and a ship, the Seraphine, has been made ready. From De Almonaster Sazarac learns that the girl he "won" at the card table is white, of high estate, and that the matter has been made a byword in the city's resorts. Sazarac finds Mademoiselle Lestron, a fellow passenger on a river steamer a few days before, and with whom he had fallen in love, is the girl and in chivalry foregoes his revenge against Carr. Jarvis admires Mademoiselle Lestron. He is a witness of the meeting and picks up a camellia which the girl had thrown, unnoticed, to Sazarac. Jarvis is dangerous; he talks too much in his cups. His old associates of the Barataria days urge Lafitte to take command of the Seraphine, ostensibly to rescue Napoleon but really to fly the black flag and cruise the seas. He hesitates. Jarvis is a witness of the kidnaping of Mademoiselle Lestron, but his story is not given credence. De Almonaster entertains Sazarac, now admittedly Jean Lafitte, at his country house. Lafitte, accused of the abduction of Mademoiselle Lestron, is warned of the approach of a military party seeking to arrest him. He escapes to the swamps of Barataria. Lafitte learns that Mademoiselle Lestron has been placed on the ship Genaron, for the West Indies. Influenced by his followers of the freebooting days, and by De Almonaster, chief owner of the Seraphine, Lafitte agrees to seize the ship and sail to the rescue of Mademoiselle Lestron.

CHAPTER VII—Continued.
—10—

He took his snuff debonairly. And suddenly, with a shout of joy, the hairy giant, Johanness, seized the count's slender hand. "There—once more! I told you, Jean, that this young aristocrat was the truest adventurer of us all! Now, he proposes a ship! A ship for Sazarac!"

The Captain Sazarac in turn grasped De Almonaster's hand: "Well, then, Bohon, get word to the Temple! Choose your fellows well, and have them come by the water trails secretly to Monsieur Berthoud's plantation across from the upper city. And not a field-hand or house-slave must so much as have sight of a shirt-tail of you all. No liquor, there! No brawling, until we have descended by the old smuggler's road and taken the Napoleon ship!"

The score of figures crowded on the lugger's deck, or wading waist-deep about her bow, holding the flambeaus and striving to listen to the conference, raised a hoarse cry. Crackley, the leader of the deserters, strove for dominance over the younger men.

"Eh, bullies! I told you there would be blood-letting, once we had the man to lead us! A ship, and then over the line at the king o' Spain's traffic, says I!"

At a word from Bohon there was a scattering of the islanders from the smuggler's rail. A whispered conference here and there; secret orders given; gesticulations of surprise and exultation, as the lieutenants explained what must be arranged.

At the lugger's bow there now stood but two figures. The gamester, Sazarac, had placed a hand on the younger man's shoulder.

"You peril your life and your fortune, Monsieur. There is but one stake for which I would accept such a mad offer from a friend. One night, upon the staircase at the hotel, I said bluntly, merely as a vagabond may speak his thought, with nothing to lose or gain—that I loved the lady of my wager at Maspero's. I went my way, asking no answer. The moonlight was on the palms and myrtle . . . I could not well see, but I thought something fell and vanished from my sight. It might have been her answer."

"Very likely it was the lady's answer," smiled De Almonaster.

"Eh, well! Out of the shadows it came—into the shadows it vanished. It appears to be like my life. It seems to have the prophecy of my love. Ah, a curious thing!—a flicker in the moonlight—and silence!"

"I offer, Monsieur, a ship, my friendship, my fortune—to compel the lady to answer!"

The bronzed adventurer laughed slightly. "Thank you, Monsieur!"

But suddenly his companion started with an amazed gasp.

"Sazarac, I have forgotten something! Perdition! It just came to my dullard mind! The plot is to seize the Seraphine tomorrow night as she lies at her moorings before the Place d'Armes!"

"Certainly the venture cannot be delayed a moment beyond that—"

"Well and good! But it is the night of the banquet to celebrate the plot Napoleon. I, myself, am to make a modest speech of acceptance for my aunt, Baroness Pontalba, as I take over her interests in outfitting the Seraphine!"

"I should say it is very well. Putting back to the city at once, with your blacks, and appearing at the affair, you are shielded from all connivance with what the infamous Sazarac may do."

"Ah, but!" exclaimed De Almonaster. "There is to be a ball at the Theatre d'Orleans. The youth and chivalry of the city are to dance there, and then away to the Seraphine herself to revel and drink to the plot upon her decks."

"At what hour, Monsieur? I admit this is disconcerting."

"At twelve o'clock. The ship will be ablaze with lanterns and hung with ribbons! Nom de Dieu! It is too late to change the affair! I could bite my fingers that I did not think of the banquet. Commander Bossiere will preside. De Marigny, Barre, Pierre des Trehan, young De la Vergne—the officers of the garrison and the municipality—the affair will be an uproar until sunrise!"

"Midnight," commented the other. "Well, then—by Bonaparte, himself—Monsieur Sazarac shall attend. He will stand at the banquet table in the emperor's suite and toast the absent guests. He will be the ghost out of the dark, and fleeting on to the darkness that awaits him. He will be brief in his role, this Sazarac—grasping at a flicker of moonlight; and for his answer—silence."

"Belles Chandelles, M'sieu! Madame! Belles Chandelles!"

CHAPTER VIII

The Revelers of the Place d'Armes.

In the dusky radiance of the chain oil-lamps suspended from corner to corner, the vagrant candle seller held his handful of green wax myrtle tapers high, peering up at the iron gallery to the possible customer.

"Belles chandelles! Petits belles chandelles—Madame!"

The magnificent lady ignored him with disdain, and the shabby old figure shambled on with its cry:

"Belles chandelles, M'sieu! Madame—belles chandelles!"

At the corner of the rue Royale and Orleans just behind the cathedral the peddler stopped and hitched his cloak higher over his basket. The rue d'Orleans was a blaze of light showing forth the low facade of the famous ballroom. From carriages, dusky, bejeweled women were alighting; and across the cobbles grooms led horses from which gentlemen had just dismounted to wander by groups to the barroom or to the crowded vestibule of the Quadroon ball. Laughing, jesting gallants, some of more youthful appearance glancing rather timorously up the street, for this was a frolic not countenanced openly—and yet the gentlemen of the town and the plantations would be there. Favorites and mistresses—the famed beauties of the demi-monde—and perhaps a few better recognized were lured to the Ball d'Orleans to wonder curiously how brothers, fathers and lovers might comport themselves at the revel.

The old candle seller, in the shadow of the trees in the cathedral garden across the rue Royale, watched unceasingly. Behind him lay the narrow-paved Alley St. Antoine between the church and the gloomy, high-galleried buildings jutting over it. The other end opened on the Place d'Armes; and beyond that, the levee where there was a group of lanterns forming an arch over a carpeted gangway that led to the deck of the gayly lighted Seraphine.

The candle peddler looked each way casually. At length, from the crowd before the ballroom vestibule—amidst the flash of carriage wheels, sleek-coated animals turning among the bright-coated gentlemen and shouting hostlers, there came one brown-skinned fellow tugging to hold back a spirited steed. Unsteadily, as by chance he was jerked on by the horse, the groom finally held up at the banquette of broad stones on which stood the idle candle seller. To him the groom muttered:

"Monsieur Almonaster is here. He thought it best. They gibe him roundly about the affair Lafitte, but he protests—he has given half his plantation force to the military and the city guard who are beating out the woods for the stolen lady. He has denounced as deeply as any against the outrage—and he thought it best to come join the gallants. How goes it, Gorgio?"

"With the few of us in town—well. And, be assured, across the river the Captain Jean will have his fellows ready! Be on, now! You must not talk to me overlong. Only, Teton, we idle here, armed and watchful—and a word from your master—"

"Monsieur de Almonaster is to send word by me—I am to hang about drinking with the servants at our side entrance—watching."

"Word must come in time—before the party leaves for the ship—we must know that an hour before."

"My master will be assured. The fun grows furious already—it will be drawn ere they think of supper on the Seraphine."

"Be gone! Here comes one of the police guard!"

The quarter-blood groom led on De Almonaster's horse. And again the candle seller raised his monotonous cry down the rue Royale. And from the river end of Antoine's alley wandered another figure; at the deep entry to the Padre's house, midway in the tree-shaded obscurity, the old Andalusian beggar sank on the stones with a sigh—and adjusted the pair of pistols at his belt to more ease.

When Gorgio wandered this way again, the vagrant seemed asleep. Then came his mutter: "Perhaps, on the rue de la Levee—by the first market stall, there might await a customer. Thou art too noisy at the best for the Padre's street, eh—Frere Diable?"

"Custom is bad at least," retorted Gorgio, "but you—the police will harry you on as well."

"Not with Padre Antoine, my good friend, above at his book," growled the other. "Do as I bid—I was sent."

And on idled the candle man, with his owl-cry to the galleried homes. Under the thick arches of the ancient market he bantered hoarsely about the cabbage and fowl stalls. At this hour the market was little visited and few kept open. A few lazy Indian women and mulattoes grumbled back at Gorgio's jests; an early cart or two backed in to unload for the morrow's business, and it was to one of these, on which a trio of trucksters smoked idly, that the old man came.

They shot down dark, inscrutable glances.

"Pierre," muttered Gorgio, "you are in charge of these?"

"In all, sixteen of us, sleeping about the stalls," came in the patois. "The police guards note nothing. But of the fellows who must cross by the river, there is delay. What was the hour?"

"It cannot be set to a moment. At midnight the ball must have taken every idler from the plaza to crowd about and gape at the gentry. Save for the cursed lights about the ship itself, all would be clear. It must be touch and board quickly."

"Two of Johanness' men are already enlisted in the crew. They report all well, save that old Bossiere fusses about the tables on the deck—the lights and wine and cuisine keep the servants all astir."

"He will go to the ball later. As commander of the Napoleon expedition, and the affair in honor of the Seraphine's departure on a next week's tide, the young bravos will have him in the whirl."

"Monsieur de Almonaster's groom is to fetch the first word to me—I to Peter, the beggar, who plays the sot on the steps of the Padre's house. He to you in the market—then you to the lantern signal under the rue Toulouse landing. Then the six boats shoot with all speed from the other shore. At the first commotion as they swing aboard, your fellows rush openly from the market, cast off the mooring lines and join. It is overboard with any who oppose."

"Ah, to play the part of Sazarac—one hour!"

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

Japanese Story Tellers.

Public story tellers still earn a good livelihood in Japan. In the large cities and towns hundreds of them ply their trade, provided with a small table, a fan and a paper wrapper to illustrate and emphasize the points of their tales.

Get it in the new large size carton

"I'se in town, Honey!"

You'll like the new carton of Aunt Jemima Pancake Flour. It holds nearly three times as much as the regular package; more economical. Much more convenient than a sack; no spilling; protects the flour. Ask your grocer; if he doesn't have it he can get it for you.

AUNT JEMIMA PANCAKE FLOUR

Yeast Foam The favorite of home bread makers for fifty years

The knowledge of how to make good bread gives a girl confidence in mastering other baking and cooking.

Send for free booklet "The Art of Baking Bread"

Northwestern Yeast Co.
1730 North Ashland Ave.
Chicago, Ill.

ODD SEA MONSTER IS FOUND

It Is Eight Feet Long and Resembles an Elephant Without a Trunk and a Whale.

There has been exhibited in Buenos Aires what South American scientists believe to be a hitherto unknown sea monster, captured some twenty-five miles from the coast near Mar del Plata. It was at first supposed to be a shelless sea turtle, but expert examination shows this is not the case.

It resembles rather an elephant without a trunk, or, more properly, an enormous elephant's head with ears almost perfectly identical with those of that animal. It also has some features similar to those of a whale. Its color is brown, the mouth is large and spherical.

It is nearly eighty feet long and approximately four and a half feet in diameter. It has two vertical fins behind, one above and one below, remotely suggesting the screws of a propeller. The flesh is almost as elastic as rubber.—Living Age.

Throw a man down and he falls against his inclination

Record Mountain Climbing.

A record of climbing 36 mountai at the rate of one every day has be made by a California schoolmast On a camping trip in Glacier Natio park, Norman Clyde of Weaverv Cal., set out to reach the tops of many peaks as possible in the sho est space of time, and, according the bureau of national parks, his to of 36 is unique. The last pe climbed by Clyde was Mount Wilb the summit of which is almost 10 feet. Clyde, who is thirty-eight, h had long experience in mount climbing as a member of the Sie club of San Francisco. He cla that evidence shows him to have b the first to attain the summit of ele mountains.

Bargains.

"I see you have installed a m counter in your department store."

"Yes, right next to the canned so aisles."

"How are things going?"

"Pretty fair. We don't know j how to feature remnant day."

Have faith in your friends if you keep them faithful.

Test This Out for Yourself—

MANY people who drink coffee regularly are troubled with insomnia; or they feel nervous, "headachy," or suffer from indigestion.

It may be hard for such men and women to believe that coffee is responsible for the way they feel. Because they have always drunk coffee, it hardly seems possible that this old habit could cause trouble.

But there is one sure way to find out whether coffee is harming you. Just stop its use for a week or so, and drink Postum.

Postum is a pure cereal beverage—absolutely free from caffeine, the drug in coffee, which disturbs the health and comfort of many.

After a week or two on Postum, you will sleep better and feel better; then your own good judgment should decide whether you go back to coffee or continue on the Road to Wellville with Postum.

Sold by grocers everywhere!

Postum for Health

"There's a Reason"

Your grocer sells Postum in two forms: Instant Postum [in tins] prepared instantly in the cup by the addition of boiling water. Postum Cereal [in packages] for those who prefer the flavor brought out by boiling fully 20 minutes. The cost of either form is about one-half cent a cup.

NURSE GAINS 15 LBS. ON TANLAC

Miss Mary Early, 1531 North 20th St., Omaha, Neb., practical nurse for the past fifteen years, prompted by gratitude for the Tanlac treatment, because of its benefits to her and others, recently gave out the following statement:

"Tanlac is the one medicine I can recommend knowing full well it merits the highest praise, not only because of what it has done for me, but because of what I have seen it do for others. My brother was flat on his back with typhoid for a long time, and afterwards was so weak he could barely walk from one chair to another. I gave him Tanlac and it was simply marvelous the way it built him up.

"Nursing him through this illness left me weak and exhausted. I couldn't eat anything to speak of and my food hurt me, but Tanlac gave me a keen appetite, strengthened my digestion, and I gained fifteen pounds in weight and am still in perfect health. As a nurse and user of Tanlac, I give it my unqualified endorsement."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists, Accept no substitute.—Advertisement.

Visiting Not Necessary.

Mrs. A.—The telephone is certainly a help when one is trying to economize.

Mrs. B.—How do you mean?

Mrs. A.—One can have a chat with friends and relatives without the expense of entertaining and feeding them.—Boston Evening Transcript.

Costs Less to Keep Clean.

More than 250,000 deaths and over 4,500,000 cases of serious illness annually are ascribed by Federal and State health reports to needlessly unsanitary conditions. It is an amazing fact that most of this needless lack of sanitation is found, not in the cities, but among the rural and small-town population.

Yet wholly sanitary conditions may be brought about in the country just as quickly and easily as in the city. The actual expenditure involved is very small, especially when you consider how much the family's health will be improved as a result. It will assure also, of course, a great improvement in comfort.

Septic tanks, privy vaults, protection for domestic water supplies, ratproof outbuildings—all of these can be provided for a little cost and a little work by any man. Full directions on how to do it, what is the best structure for each job, what tools you will require, how much cement, how to mix and place the concrete—all this may be had free on request to the Portland Cement Association, 111 West Washington Street, Chicago. Ask for "Concrete in Home Sanitation"; you will get it free by return mail.—Adv.

In Wait for the Traveler.

"I understand you have no holdup men in Crimson Gulch."

"You understand wrong," said Cactus Joe. "Only they're modernized. We've got a taxi stand and a gasoline station just like other towns."—Washington Star.

Cuticura Soothes Baby Rashes

That itch and burn, by hot baths of Cuticura Soap followed by gentle anointings of Cuticura Ointment. Nothing better, purer, sweeter, especially if a little of the fragrant Cuticura Talcum is dusted on at the finish. 25c each.—Advertisement.

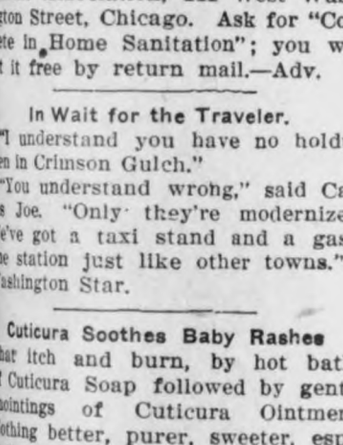
Many a man gets a reputation for being good-natured because he is too lazy to stand up for his rights.

"CASCARETS" FOR LIVER AND BOWELS—10C A BOX

Cures Biliousness, Constipation, Sick Headache, Indigestion. Drug stores. Adv.

While you many know a spinster like a book, it isn't nice to remind her of the fact that she is on the shelf.

John McLain



How to Gain Strength and Endurance

Milwaukee, Wis.—"For the last twenty years I have used Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery at times, as a general tonic with excellent results. One bottle in the spring, and one in the fall, is usually sufficient. It gives me added strength and endurance and greatly aids me in following my strenuous occupation. I have also found Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets very beneficial and mild in action.

"I have been thru Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute at Buffalo, N. Y., and have found everything just as represented."—John W. McLain, 188 Wisconsin St.

Get the "Discovery" in tablets or liquid and you'll be surprised at the way you'll pick up.

Write Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel Buffalo, N. Y., for free confidential medical advice. Send 10 cents if you want a trial pkg. of the tablets.

The Wise Pumpkin

"I'M LEFT alone," the pumpkin said, "the other ones are gone. Shall I let go and roll away, or just keep growing on?"

"Keep growing on," said Mother Vine, "the pumpkin who is wise Hopes always to be big enough to make a lot of pies."

The pumpkin kept on swelling until a golden ball, All sweet and ripe and firm he lay, the biggest of them all.

And then with shouts of laughter gay the children claimed the prize And bore him home, much marveling upon his mammoth size.

But great his disappointment grew when to the cellar deep Down in the dark they carried him and left him there to sleep.

"Well," said the pumpkin, "this is queer, there must be some mistake. It's very dark and gloomy, and there are no pies to make."

He bolstered up his spirits, though, by thoughts of Mother Vine, And kept his coat all free from specks, his inside sweet and fine.

And when Thanksgiving day drew near he had a glad surprise, He crowned the feast and made at least two dozen golden pies.

—Grace Strickler Dawson.

Reason to be Thankful

LET'S have a reg'lar old-fashioned Thanksgiving dinner," said Farmer Wheaton.

Mrs. Wheaton shook her head dubiously, with a remark concerning "taxes" and "hard times."

"Oh, pshaw!" said the farmer. "We've been pretty well-to-do all the year, and I guess we're about as able to pay taxes as other folks."

"I don't care," assented Mrs. Wheaton, rather ungraciously; "but I was a-calculatin' to sell the turkeys—they'll bring sixty cents a pound."

"Let's ask Miss Manners and her mother to come to dinner. There ain't no prettier gal in the country, and she don't get sewin' enough to do to keep the breath of life in her body, hardly! I'll stop this evenin' as I go by and ask 'em to come—shall I?"

"Moses Wheaton, you're the strangest man I ever saw in all my blessed life!" began Mrs. Wheaton, querulously. "I can't be bothered with company."

"Guess we'll have a sharp frost tonight if the wind goes down," soliloquized Moses, as he chirruped to Dolly, the sleek brown horse. "Wonder how Mrs. Manners and Edith are off fer wood! I'll send over a little tomorrow. Hallo, mister!" he shouted to a leisurely pedestrian, upon whom his eyes fell at that moment, "which way you goin'? Want a lift?"

The stranger was tall and slender, apparently about twenty-six or twenty-seven years of age, with dark wavy hair, and cheeks bronzed by the sun of some foreign clime.

"Thank you," said the gentleman, good-humoredly. "I have been walking some distance, and should be very glad to ride."

"Walkin' some distance, eh?" said Moses as the stranger took the vacant seat at his side. "Where might you be goin', if it's a fair question, sir?"

"Perfectly fair," returned the gentleman, smiling. "I am going to visit some friends in this neighborhood."

"Oh!" returned the baffled Moses. "Then you're acquainted 'round here."

"I used to be."

"Don't want to go no further 'n the crossroads, do you? 'Cause I've got to stop there. I'm carryin' a basket of things to Miss Edith Manners and her mother, that live just this side o' there."

"To whom?" said the stranger.

"Miss Edith Manners and her mother."

"I thought—I understood," exclaimed the gentleman, "that they resided at Pinely Hall."

"So they did until 'bout a year back; 'cause, you see, Pinely Hall belongs to a great friend of theirn—a young feller that was brought up in furrin' parts, an' only come over here, visitin' occasionally. He was engaged to marry Miss Edith, folks said, but I don't know how true the report was.

"Wall, about twelve months ago a letter come over, tellin' how the young man was drowned while he was out boatin' on some o' them lakes with the outlandish names. Of course, the property went to the heir-at-law, a sort o' distant cousin, and the poor ladies were turned, bag and baggage, out of the Hall, to provide for themselves the best way they could."

"The brute!" involuntarily exclaimed the stranger. "And does he make them no allowance?"

"Not a cent. He is a brute, there's no denyin' it; and all the neighbors allow he's a hard man. I've been wantin' to buy a nice bit o' land from the Hall property that jines to mine. See that ar' basket, mister?"

"Yes."

"Well, that holds a little Thanksgivin' dinner I'm a-takin' down to 'em from my place. I can't do much to help 'em, but I try my best. I sent down a load o' wood last month, and I calculate to send another tomorrow, for— Hallo, what you squeezin' my hand for in that joint-crackin' way?"

"You are a noble fellow," said the gentleman, enthusiastically, "and I honor you more than I can express."

"What in thunder for?" exclaimed the amazed Moses. "I hain't done no more than another feller would that had a heart bigger'n a poppy-seed! Goin' to get out here, sir?"

"I must—I have business with this Hadley fellow! But if we live I shall see you again, my friend!"

* * * * * * *

The Thanksgiving dinner was smoking on Mrs. Wheaton's table, the kitchen door swung open, and Moses entered, his face beaming with suppressed exultation.

"Hallo!" he ejaculated. "I hain't late, be I? Guess I am by your face! Here's something to sweeten it," and he flung a folded parchment toward his wife.

"A deed o' gift o' them three acres belonging to the Hall property."

"Who—on—arth—gave 'em to you?" shrieked Mrs. Wheaton, her mouth apart, and her eyes open wide in astonishment.

"The gentleman who owns the Hall, and who's goin' to be married to Miss Edith Manners, and settle down here."

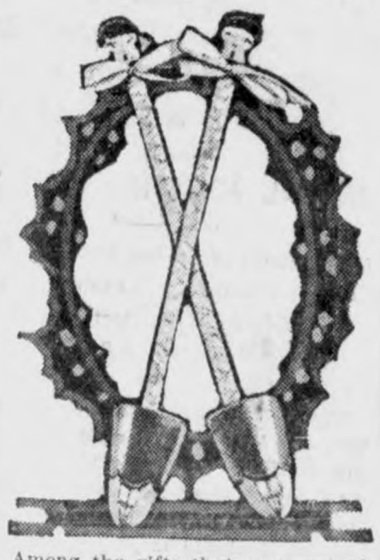
"Now Moses, that's all nonsense—Mr. Hadley's married a'ready!"

"I see you hain't heerd the news!" said Moses, plunging his carving knife into the breast of the huge turkey. "Why, it's all over the village! The young squire wasn't drowned, although he come pretty near it—and he was ill for months of a fever that follered the accident, in Italy, and now he's come home and claimed his own, and old Hadley's turned out, neck and heels—sarves him right, I say."

"Gracious me!" interjected the breathless matron. "I wish I'd asked Miss Edith and her mother to dinner here today."—Exchange.

Things to Be Made at Home

SHOE TREES NICE GIFTS



Among the gifts that are sure of a welcome every Christmas are shoe trees, furbished up with various pretty, and sometimes amusing, decorations. The trees pictured have funny little faces cleverly painted on the round ends. The toes are painted in two colors and the shanks wound with narrow satin ribbon ending in bows below the faces.

CANDLES AS PRESENTS

Christmas without candles would be as disappointing as summer without flowers and every home-maker knows their charm and decorative value. A candlestick of paper rope, carrying a tall candle decorated with sealing wax paint, is a lovely homemade gift for either men or women friends. The rope may be bought ready for weaving and it is an easy matter to paint the candle with sealing wax paints.

FOR THE CHRISTMAS TREE

Here are some new, homemade ornaments for the Christmas tree. They include a gay painted parakeet, with a peanut body, fastened to a wooden standard by wire. Crepe paper in bright colors makes his crest, wings and tail. A wooden skewer, with a paper doll face fastened at one end and a sleigh bell at the other, is dressed up in strips of bright crepe paper. Mosquito netting, yarn and a paper face make the boy with stick candy in his arms and legs and small candies in his body. Colored gum drops fastened on small wires make tiny bouquets and plants.

IN SEALING-WAX PAINTS

Plain white brushes and combs for gifts are enhanced by pretty sprays of flowers done in sealing wax paints and small tin boxes are made decorative by covering them with the melted wax in varied colors, blended into one another while they are soft.

MONARCH COFFEE

SWEET PICKLES
SALAD DRESSING & CATSUP
and other FOOD PRODUCTS
NONE BETTER OBTAINABLE AT ANY PRICE

Quality Counts—Always

But in the Holiday times quality counts more than in any other season. The Thanksgiving Dinner is an event for which every mother prepares with unusual care.

Throughout the whole country the women upon whom falls the task of marketing and preparing for this annual feast are on the lookout for the finest food products obtainable. Discriminating women know that under the Monarch Trade Mark they find those food products that always can be depended upon to give supreme satisfaction.

REID, MURDOCH & CO.
Chicago Pittsburgh New York

A Few Suggestions Try some of these seasonable items: Monarch Mince Meat, Monarch Plum Pudding, Monarch Clam Chowder, Monarch Sweet Pickles, Monarch Cocoa, Monarch Catsup, Monarch Olive Oil, Monarch Asparagus, Monarch Peas, Monarch Corn, Monarch Pumpkin, Monarch Sliced Pineapple, Monarch Grape Fruit Hearts, Monarch Fruit Salad, Monarch Pears, Monarch Raspberries. The mother who has not canned her own fruits and vegetables can turn to the Monarch line with assurance that she will not be disappointed.

for THANKSGIVING

Our Monarch Coffee, either whole bean or steel cut, is sold in 1-and 3-lb. air-tight sanitary containers—
Never in bulk

SHINOLA

AMERICA'S HOME SHOE POLISH
Black - Tan - White - Ox-Blood - Brown

SHINOLA is made of the finest wax and oils. It softens and preserves leather. Makes shoes wear longer and look better.
SHINOLA is quickly and easily applied - shines in a jiffy. Keeps shoes trim and tidy.
SHINOLA Home Set makes the home care of shoes easy

"The Shine for Mine"

Habit.

"Look, mother! the police are taking a man up." "Well, don't act as if you thought it was your father again!"

Exaggerated humility is often nothing more than conceit.

Respect for the Constitution is the first requisite of a patriot.

Giant Concrete Tower.

Engineers are preparing plans for a concrete tower used as a wireless station that will be 1,200 feet high.

To believe with certainty we must begin with doubting.

Two hearts that beat as one seldom keep time very long.

Imitations may be dangerous

Demand BAYER ASPIRIN

SAY "BAYER" when you buy—Genuine

Unless you see the "Bayer Cross" on tablets you are not getting the genuine Bayer Aspirin proved safe by millions and prescribed by physicians 23 years for

Colds Headache Neuralgia Lumbago
Pain Toothache Neuritis Rheumatism

Genuine → Accept only "Bayer" package which contains proven directions.
Handy "Bayer" boxes of 12 tablets
Also bottles of 24 and 100—Druggists.

Aspirin is the trade mark of Bayer Manufacture of Monoaceticacidester of Salicylicacid

Two pleasant ways to relieve a cough

Take your choice and suit your taste. S-B—or Menthol flavor. A sure relief for coughs, colds and hoarseness. Put one in your mouth at bedtime. Always keep a box on hand.

SMITH BROTHERS

S.B. COUGH DROPS MENTHOL (orange colored box)
Famous since 1847

Disordered Stomach

Take a good dose of Carter's Little Liver Pills—then take 2 or 3 for a few nights after. You will relish your meals without fear of trouble to follow. Millions of all ages take them for Biliousness, Dizziness, Sick Headache, Upset Stomach and for Sallow, Pimply, Blotchy Skin. They end the misery of Constipation.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS

Genuine bear signature— Brentwood Small Pill; Small Dose; Small Price

The Klemme Times

[illegible] ROBERTSON, Publisher

Entered at the postoffice at Klemme, Iowa, as scond class matter.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES

One Year in advance.....$1.50
One Year. outside of county..$2.00

ADVERTISING RATES

Display, per column inch.....25c
Readers, per line 10c
Classified or want ads, per line..10c
Card of Thanks, per line.....10c
Legal Notices at legal rates.
Black-face lines double charge.

No local or classified adv accepted for less than 25c per insertion. No display adv for less than 50c per in- These rates are net.

Local Items

Mrs. Hake went to Belmond Monday and remained until Tuesday, for a visit with her parents.

Julian Miller and family have moved from the farm and now reside in the former English M. E. parsonage.

Mrs. Frank Costello, of Forest City, was here the fore part of the week looking after her farm, which is located between here an Goodell.

The Farmers' Shortcourse consists of farm bookkeeping, farm arithmatic, income tax law, etc., opens December 3. Boys, you can make the best investment of your lives by taking this three months course. Write for splendid catalog. THE HAMILTON UNIVERSITY, Mason City, Iowa. 1tc

NOTICE

Everybody (irrespective of pursuit, condition or previous servitude) who owes Dr. Zinn, is going to get a statement the fore part of December. Please help him to save stamps. 2tc

There will be a basket ball game at the high school gym Saturday evening. The Klemme teams will play the Rowan cage artists.

Mr. Lyle L. Greene and family and his mother, Mrs. Wm. Greene, who drove here from Boscobel, Wisconsin, returned to their home Monday of last week, after several days visit with relatives at the Henry Ludeke home The visitors had expected to reach home that same day but did not as they missed the last ferry across the Mississippi River and were forced to remain over night at McGregor, Iowa.

County Treasurer John Suurballe, of Garner, was a business caller in Klemme yesterday. John will soon be as busy as a cranberry merchant when next month opens with the auto lincense business. This barnch of his office is getting largre each year and no doubt the time will soon come when this office will take the entire time of one man. Over 3,500 cars have been registered in Hancock county this year.

Lou Griffen was the victim of a painful and serious accident Friday when he lost one finger and injured two others on his right hand when he was trying to remove some corn husks and stalks which had clogged the rollers in his corn picker. The accident happened when the rollers caught his fingers. It was necessary or the doctor to amputate the second finger; the other two next to it were badly injured but it was thought would heal. Lou is taking a vacation now and the neighbors are finishing the picking.

Hunters should be careful on whose farms they hunt without asking permission. There are about 14 farmers in this community who are publishing a notice to hunters in this issue of the Times. It is only fair to ask permission of the farmer for the use of his land for your own sport. Nerly every farmer will let responsible parties hunt on their land if they ask permission and do not try to shoot all the game (which lived on the farmers grain), and if you do get permission to hunt be careful that you do not injure any stock, or damage any fences or other property. That is what the average land owner or tenant objects to is damage to property and greedy shooting.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Weisbrod and three children, Ralph, June and Bobbie, of Fenton, Iowa, drove to Klemme Saturday with Mrs. Weisbrod's mother, Mrs. Herman Ludeke of this place who had been visiting at Fenton. Sunday the Ludeke's had a family gathering at the home of Henry Ludeke at which fourty-four people were present. Mrs. Ludeke's table was not logn enough to accomodate the size of this family so the big feed was served in cafeteria style but this did not stop them from enjoying the meal and none were heard to complain of being a bit hungry. What they lacked in a table they made up in "eats." The Weisbrod family returned to their home at Fenton Monday.

We know of at least three people who had a birthday Saturday. Veryl Keraus was seven years old that day and he celebrated by asking in all of his little friends from 3:00 to 5:00 o'clock. Games were played and his mother served a dandy lunch. The kids also glorified in the possession of a large freezer full of ice cream which disappeared in a hurry and they had all they could eat. Veryl received a number of fine presents. Another who had a birthday was Miss Minnie Lenz, assistant postmistress. Of course it was impossible for us to find out which birthday she celebrated but we just presume she celebrated her sixteenth birthday—again! The other who had a birthday Saturday was Raymond Jorgenson, Jr., who got away with the long end of a big angel food cake with three candles on it.

EXTRAORDINARY HOLIDAY BARGAIN OFFER

To Old and New Subscribers For A Limited Time Only

The DES MOINES DAILY CAPITAL

—ONE YEAR—

for $3.50

(Regular rate $4.00 per year)
Subscribe at the Times Office.

WHY INDUSTRY IS MISUNDERSTOOD

Geo. E. Roberts Tells How Co-operative Character of Corporations is Obscured.

RADICAL AGITATION RESULTS

Maintenance of Present Industrial System Necessary to Maintain Present Standards of Comfort for All the People, He Says.

The modern industrial system is at bottom a co-operative organization, but this fact is obscured by the complexity of huge enterprises, George E. Roberts, noted authority on business and finance, declared in a recent speech before the American Bankers Association Convention at Atlantic City, N. J.

"The primitive man knew that the harder he worked the more he would have," Mr. Roberts said. "When a man exchanged work with a neighbor he had the whole transaction under his eyes. But when a man works with thousands of others for a great corporation he doesn't see any definite relationship between what he does and what he gets. He doesn't know whether he is getting a fair share of the industrial results or not, and he suspects not.

"The modern industrial system is essentially co-operative, but you cannot have effective co-operation without understanding. Because people do not see the industrial organization as a whole we have the tendency for society to break up into groups and blocs and unions and organizations of one kind and another, many of whom are trying to advance their own interests at the expense of society as a whole. The population of this country today could not be supported in the state of comfort to which it is accustomed without the modern, specialized organization.

Bolshevism in Russia

"The extremity of social disorganization has been seen in Russia, where has been enacted the greatest tragedy in the history of the world. What happened there will happen everywhere unless there is a development of the capacity of people to work together and understand each other.

"In its final form the revolution in Russia was against what is called the capitalistic system, or the private ownership of property and direction of industry. The results of the revolution are so calamitous in Russia as to give a check to revolutionary tendencies in other countries. Yet the economic principles of Bolshevism are influencing public opinion more or less everywhere.

"The motive behind all this agitation is the desire to establish equality. The social struggles of the past have been for political equality. Now the demand is for equality in possessions, equality in incomes, equality in the management of industrial affairs. There is no argument against the aspirations of men for better social conditions, but radical ideas result from certain economic fallacies. One relates to the employment and service of private capital. Men read about vast sums of wealth belonging to individuals, and think of these sums as devoted exclusively to the owners. In fact wealth employed in production for the public market is rendering service to the entire community, no matter who owns it.

"The whole radical argument is like claiming that nobody ever got any benefit from the development of the steam engine but the owners of steam engines. Of course, the theory only needs to be stated for the fallacy to be apparent. The man who works for wages is benefited by every investment of capital which increases and cheapens the supply of the things for which his wages are spent.

The Service of Capital

"It is a fundamental truth that all productive property, although privately owned, is part of the equipment of society, by which its wants are supplied.

"The progress of the past has been accomplished under the individualistic system. The theory of this system is that every one shall have for his own, as nearly as may be, that which results from his own efforts. It is a system calculated to stimulate the initiative, call out the energies and develop the ability of each individual. He is free as to his undertakings; there are no restrictions except that he must seek his own gains by activities that are serviceable to the community as a whole, and he is inspired to labor, not simply by the desire for personal advantage, but by the desire to provide for loved ones, by the impulse to self-expression, to realize and develop his natural abilities, and by the ambition to achieve, to win distinction and to render service.

"It does not promise equality. Unless there is equality in production, in service, in effort, in resolution and in self-denial, why should there be equality in the division of results?

"The justification of individualism, however, is not merely in what it allows to the superior individual, but in the results that inure to all. It is in the interest of all to secure the most effective organization, the most effective management and the largest possible production. These cannot be had by adopting the fiction that all have equal ability for any position, or by any other system than that which judges men by their individual qualifications."

SHERIFF'S SALE

W. A. Rhodes
vs.
Charley Bielefeld, and State Savings Bank, Klemme, Iowa.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, That by virtue of a Special Execution issued out of the office of the Clerk of the District Court, in Hancock County, on a judgement rendered October 22, 1923, October Term of said Court, A. D. 1923 for the sum of Two Thousand Eight Hundred Twenty Two & 48-100 Dollars debt, and Eighty One & 50-100 Dollars costs, in favor of W. A. Rhodes, and against Charley Bielefeld, and to the Sheriff of Hancock County directed, I have levied upon the following described property, to-wit:

The North 4-5 of the East 5-8 of the Northeast quarter (NE¼) of the Southwest quarter (SW¼), Also the Southeast quarter of the Northwest quarter (SE¼, NW¼), All in Section Twenty-one (21), Township Ninety-four (94), North Range Twenty-three (23) West of the 5th P. M. Hancock County, Iowa.

NOW, THEREFORE, Public Notice is hereby given that I shall, on the 24th day of November, 1923, at 10:20 o'clock A. M., at the front door of the Court House, in Garner, in Hancock County, offer and sell at public outcry, to the highest bidder for cash, all the right, title and interest that the above named Charley Bielefeld had on the 22nd day of October, A. D. 1923, or now have in and to the above described property, or so much thereof as is necessary to satisfy said execution, together with costs and all accruing costs, unless the same shall be sooner satisfied.

Dated at the Sheriff's office in Garner, this 22nd day of October, A. D. 1923.

E. P. HANSON,
Sheriff of Hancock County, Iowa.
(Pub. Nov. 15-22.)

AVERY TOWNSHIP NEWS NOTES
(Last Week)

Mr. and Mrs. William Bell and family spent Sunday afternoon with Fred Radloff and family near Garner.

Mr. and Mrs. Edd Bachman and family from near Garner were visitors at the Fred Bachman home Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Read and son were visitors at the Wm. Bell home Sunday evening.

D. D. Ross and daughter, Bernice, of Garner, were visiting at the home of Wm. Bell Saturday.

The Ship Ahoy Club of Avery twp gave their pie social and program last Thursday night to a well filled house. The club made the sum of $12.55 from the pies. Everyone there enjoyed a fine time.

Mrs. John Bachman is enjoying a visit from her mother who lives in Garner.

FOR SALE— A few choice BIG TYPE

CHESTER WHITE BOARS

Sired by some of the prize winning boars of the breed.
These boars are from extra good sows and from big litters.
They are eligible to registry and will be sold as guaranteed breeders if notified by January 1st.
Priced reasonable.
Phone 414, Meservey. 1 1-2 miles north and 1 mile west of Meservey, Iowa.

E. S. BARKER, MESERVEY, IA.

Cold Weather Accessories

Cold weather is already here and it will pay you to prepare your car now; that you may enjoy winter driving and also be assured of damages and expense caused in freezing weather.

We are giving a few suggestions in the following list of accessories that you should have for winter:—

DE LUXE HEATERS—all styles.
MOTOR METERS
PEDAL PANTS—keep out drafts
RADIATOR and HOOD COVERS
ALCOHOL—prevents freezing up
WINTER OIL—light, best for motors
COMMUNITYGAS—has lots of pep!
SIDE CURTAINS, Etc.
NON-SKID CHAINS

SOMETHING NEW—Let us install a CLYMER Spot Light in your car—the kind that works from the inside of your car and it fastened right thru the windshield. Fine for a Coupe or Sedan. We have a machine to bore a hole in your windshield and can install one for you in a few minutes—the best spotlight you ever saw.

Note: Clean your car with Simons "Simonizer" and Kleener—takes the old dirt off down to the original finish and makes your car look like new. A lasting finish that will withstand winter weather.

Greimann Motor Co.

Coal For Thanksgiving

COMING——ONE CAR ONLY

Central Kentucky Block $8.00

—Per Ton Cash Off The Car—

The Coal Company is allowing the low price to introduce their New Coal. This is not cheap coal, or inferior. It contains 14,00 Heat Units, 6 per cent ash. This is [illegible],000 Heat Units over Illinois or Indiana [illegible]mber—ONE CAR ONLY at the [illegible]tioned.

[illegible]er now and SAVE $3.00 PER TON [illegible]oal bill.

F. LAU

Thanksgiving--

And the Dinner

First on everyone's mind on Thanksgiving Day is the dinner. This season the market is plentifull stocked with the most delicious products of orchard, field and hot house.

Scores of Suggestions

Bananas	Apples	Sweet Potatoes
Oranges	Cranberries	Grapes
Grapefruit	Honey	Nuts
Figs	Dates	Celery

And many other things

Order today from your grocer

J. N. DAY'S

"The Place That's Always Busy"

Reduced Fares via

Rock Island

Chicago and Return

Account

International Live Stock Exposition and Horse Fair

DECEMBER 1-8, 1923

Annual Event. Brilliant Evening Entertainments

Round-trip excursion fares will be one and one-third of the regular one-way fares and tickets will be on sale daily from November 30th, to December 5th, inclusive. Final return limit December 10th, 1923.

For Full Information Apply to

M. O. BARR, Agent, Klemme, Iowa.

GARDNER, Gen Agent Pass. Dept., 600 Royal Union Life Bldg., Des Moines, Iowa

Thanksgiving Day--

Of course we know that Klemme Co-Operative Creamery butter will be on your table Thanksgiving Day, as well as all other days in the year, in this community, but while you are tasting the delicious flavor of this home product we wish to remind you of something which you have perhaps never thought of before:

Thousands of people in the large eastern cities will also have butter on their tables from the Klemme Co-Operative Creamery Company.

Are you, as a loyal farmer to this community, doing your share to supply the eastern demand for high grade butter?

Sell your cream and patronize this HOME CONCERN and share in the profits of this good eastern trade.

Patronize The

Klemm Co-Op. Creamery Company

COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS

Klemme, Iowa,
October 8, 1923.

Regular meeting of the Town Council held in Mayor Gruetzmacher's place of business with all he members of the council present, except Joe E. Johnson.

Motion made and seconded that the following bills be allowed:

White Phillips Co., Coupons 62 and 65	$30.00
Henry Lemke, Gas	$ 8.79
Standard Oil Company, gas.	$ 4.35
Klemme Times, publishing Council proceedings, 500
Water Receipts	$ 6.92
Lloyd Lau, hauling sand and mowing weeds	$ 7.35

Bills allowed.

Motion made and seconded to grant LuVerne Smith a permit to operate a Billiard Hlal in the Town of Klemme, Iowa. Motion carried.

Motion made and seconded that all slot machines in the Town of Klemme, Iowa, be removed at once as their operation is illegal. Motion carried.

Moved to adjourn.

A. J. KUDJE, Clerk.

COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS

Klemme, Iowa,
October 22, 1923.

Regular meeting of the Town Council of Klemme, Iowa, held in Mayor Gruetzmacher's place of business with all members of the council present.

Motion made and seconded that the following bills be allowed:

Standard Oil Co., Gas	$ 6.75
Standard Oil Co., gas for Tractor	$ 2.18
F. H. Ridder, gas for tractor	$ 1.00
Paul Stille, bolts and motor oil	$ 7.75
G. W. Kluckhohn & Sons, supplies	$ 6.14
John Etchen, refund Pool Hall License	$20.00
Henry Freie, labor grading streets	$ 2.40
T. C. Hake, Salary for Oct.	$75.00

Bills allowed.

Moved to adjourn.

A. J. KUDJE, Clerk.

I may be wrong but I always have been of the opinion that the only one who could put any faith in a rabbit's foot was a rabbit.

The bird of paradise is the eagle on the American dollar.

Japanese Convicts Wear Red.

The regulation prison dress for men in Japan is a kind of strawberry-red colored kimono.

Origin of Pensions

The practice of pensioning or insuring sick and wounded soldiers is said to have been started in England by Oliver Cromwell.

URGES BANK ADS IN NEWSPAPERS

Banker Tells National Association They Are Essential Aids to Business Building.

PRESENTS PRACTICAL PLAN

Savings Bank Division of the American Bankers Association Offers Prepared Newspaper Advertising Service to Cover a Year's Campaign.

More newspaper advertising by banks as a business builder was strongly urged at the recent convention of the American Bankers Association by W. R. Morehouse of the organization's Savings Bank Division. He backed up his plea with definite action to stimulate advertising by savings banks by calling the attention of the members to a prepared newspaper advertising service developed by his division comprising copy to meet their requirements for a year's advertising schedule.

"It is my firm conviction that banks can use newspaper advertising with great success," Mr. Morehouse said. "Newspapers go into the homes—by their use as a medium the people of a whole community may be reached in a single day. Because a bank cannot directly trace a large volume of new business to newspaper advertising does not prove that the medium is ineffective as a business-builder.

"The fact that there are certain kinds of newspaper advertising which do not produce good results ought not to brand the medium as ineffective, any more than the fact that because a certain booklet or certain buiness-building letter fails to pull would warrant you in branding all booklets and all letters as non-productive mediums.

How to Advertise

"Newspaper advertising must be attractive and easily read if it is to produce good results. If the subject presented is not to the point, is too deeply involved for the average mind to grasp readily, is too full of big and uncommon words, it is only natural that it will not be read. If bank advertising is to accomplish its purpose it must be very simple.

"Discuss only the subjects which will make it easy for the public to patronize your bank. Advertise your bank, its financial stability, its officers, directors and stockholders and you will build prestige and strengthen public confidence in your institution. Enumerate the various kinds of service your bank is prepared to render. It has been my experience that the public is on the lookout for information about banks, banking methods and the kinds of service rendered by banks. For quick results I am a firm believer in sticking to subjects which have a direct bearing on banks, banking methods and service, until the public has become better informed about banks and the wide variety of services rendered by them.

A New Plan

"If you have not been successful with newspaper advertising try this plan. Confine your advertising within the scope of banking and especially enumerate the various services which your bank is prepared to offer. Boil down every advertisement to one hundred words or less, preferably less. Use headings which arouse interest at a glance. For example, a head 'INTEREST FROM DATE' will inspire action on the part of persons with idle funds to deposit because interest starts from the time savings accounts are opened. A heading 'PROTECTION FOR YOUR VALUABLES' will inspire action on the part of persons in need of protection."

HOW TO CATCH FAKE STOCK SALESMEN

Some state bankers' associations are distributing an investor's questionnaire with the idea of protecting purchasers of securities from fake stock salesmen.

"Whenever you are solicited to purchase stock or other securities, use this questionnaire before investing any of your funds," says one of these. "The questionnaire was compiled to protect the small investor and to emphasize the necessity of investigating thoroughly every investment proposition before placing any money therein. When you have been furnished with the information called for in this questionnaire, take it to any one of the banking institutions in your community and get its opinion of the stock offered. If the stock salesman refuses to fill out this questionnaire, have nothing more to do with his proposition, as it is evident that he is fostering a fraudulent promotion."

The questionnaire pins the salesman down to answering the following questions:

Date .....
Name of company .....
Name of salesman .....
Kind of stock offered .....
Total issue of stock .....
Stock given for property .....
Stock given for good-will .....
Stock given for patents .....
Are you taking any Liberty Bonds? ....
If so, at what price? .....
Amount of cash needed .....
Par value of stock .....
Market price of stock .....
Has the stock a ready market? .....
If so, where is it listed? .....
Is the stock accepted by banks as collateral for loans? .....
If so, what banks have accepted it to your knowledge? .....
What are the present net earnings? .....
Bank references .....
Names of officers .....
Former occupation .....

SHERIFF'S SALE

Frank Quigley and Peter Quigley
vs.
W. K. Blackwell, Iris E. Blackwell, Iowa Farm Investment Company and the American Bankers Securities Company.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, That by virtue of a Special Execution issued out of the office of the Clerk of the District Court, in Hancock County, on a judgement rendered November 1st, 1923, October Term of said Court, A. D. 1923, for the sum of Thirty Two Thousand Two Hundred Eighty Four & 90-100 Dollars debt, and Three Hundred Eighty Four & 79-100 Dollars costs, in favor of Frank Quigley and Peter Quigley and against W. K. Blackwell, and Iowa Farm Investment Company and to the Sheriff of Hancock County directed, I have levied upon the following described property, to-wit:

The North Half (N½) of Section Twenty-four (24) Township Ninety-four (94) North, Range Twenty-four (24) West of the 5th P. M. Hancock County, Iowa.

NOW, THEREFORE, Public Notice is hereby given that I shall, on the 3rd day of December, 1923, at 10 o'clock A. M., at the front door of the Court House, in Garner, in Hancock County, offer and sell at public outcry, to the highest bidder for cash, all the right, title and interest that the above named W. K. Blackwell, Iowa Farm Investment Company had on the 2nd day of November A. D. 1923, or now have in and to the above described property, or so much thereof as is necessary to satisfy said execution, together with costs and all accruing costs, unless the same shall be sooner satisfied.

Dated at the Sheriff's office in Garner, this 2nd day of November, A. D. 1923.

E. P. HANSON,
Sheriff of Hancock County, Iowa.
(Pub. Nov. 22-29, 1923.)

SHERIFF'S SALE

First National Bank, Klemme, Iowa,
vs.
Roscoe Wiles & Flora Wiles, State Savings Bank, Klemme, Iowa, and T. R. Burgess.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, That by virtue of a Special Execution issued out of the office of the Clerk of the District Court, in Hancock County, on a judgement rendered October 22, 1923, October Term of said Court, A. D. 1923, for the sum of Four Thousand Seven Hundred Seventy Two & 98-100 Dollars debt, and One Hundred One & 72-100 Dollars costs; in favor of First National Bank, Klemme, Iowa, and against Roscoe Wiles & Flora Wiles, and to the Sheriff of Hancock County directed, I have levied upon the following described property to-wit:

The East Half (E½) of the Northeast quarter (NE¼), of Section Nineteen (19), And the West Half (W½), of the Northwest quarter (NW¼), of Section Twenty (20), All in Township Ninety-four (94), North of Range Twenty-three (23), West of the 5th P. M. Hancock County, Iowa.

NOW, THEREFORE, Public Notice is hereby given that I shall, on the 24th day of November, 1923, at 10 o'clock A. M., at the front door of the Court House, in Garner, in Hancock County, offer and sell at public outcry, to the highest bidder for cash, all the right, title and interest that the above named Roscoe Wiles & Flora Wiles had on the 22 day of October A. D. 1923, or now have in and to the above described property, or so much thereof as is necessary to satisfy said execution, together with costs and all accruing costs, unless the same shall be sooner satisfied.

Dated at the Sheriff's office in Garner, this 22nd day of October, A. D. 1923.

E. P. HANSON,
Sheriff of Hancock County, Iowa.
(Pub. Nov. 15-22.)

Some women punish their children frequently and some never have a headache.

KLEMME DRAY LINE
Phone
share of your patronage is solicited. All work promptly and coal quick
LLOYD LAU

Now is the time to have your Battery charged or repaired.

Get it ready for Cold Weather now.

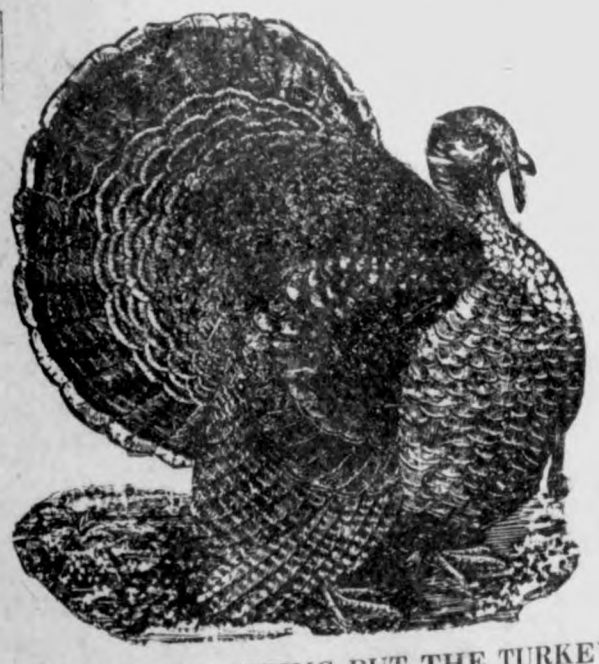
We charge and repair any and all makes of Batteries.

When in need of a new Battery--see us first.

Satisfaction Guaranteed

H. Lau Sons

Let's Talk Turkey--



WE FURNISH EVERYTHING BUT THE TURKEY FOR

Thanksgiving Dinner

Here are a few of the "trimmings" you will need:—

CALIFORNIA GRAPES BANANAS CRANBERRIES CABBAGE
SWEET POTATOES CELERY LETTUCE NUTS OLIVES
CANDY FRUIT PRESERVES PICKLES, Etc.

We also carry a complete line of Canned Soups.

In our Hardware Department you will find the following:—

BAKING DISHES ROASTERS ALUMINUM WARE POTS
CARVING KNIVES PANS KETTLES, Etc.

Make this Your Thanksgiving Store

G. W. Kluckhohn & Sons

"Loyal Lives"

A SMASHING, CRASHING MELODRAMA OF THE POSTAL MAIL SERVICE

Don't fail to see this great picture—its full of thrills—romance—pathos—action. A brand new picture and one of the best pictures ever screened.

Will be shown two nights only at the Idle Hour

Thurs. & Fri., Nov. 29-30

NOTE: This picture is being shown Thanksgiving night, come and spend the evening here and enjoy a good show.

JOHNSON AND M'ADOO IN RACE

California Senator Announces Candidacy in Chicago; the Other in Omaha.

CHEWING GUM MAN FOR HIRAM

Chicago.—Senator Hiram Johnson and William G. McAdoo both formally entered the race for the presidency Thursday when they made statements announcing they would be candidates.

Senator Johnson made his announcement after four days of conferences with political advisers in Chicago, and his formal statement was made to a group of newspaper men after he had made his decision.

With Albert Lasker and William Wrigley, Jr., backing him, Senator Johnson, it is assumed, will have plenty of funds for his canvass, and his friends are confident he will prove an even stronger primary candidate than in 1920, when he was victorious in nearly every direct primary contest he entered.

Active campaigns in all states having presidential primaries will be launched at once by the Johnson forces, it was announced.

Harold L. Ickes, former Progressive national committeeman from Illinois, will be the political director of the campaign in Illinois and other Middle Western states.

Mr. McAdoo's declaration in Omaha that a statement made by David L. Rockwell that friends of Mr. McAdoo intend to nominate him was accurate was interpreted as his formal announcement.

"If I have any further comment to make it will come later," Mr. McAdoo asserted after admitting his candidacy. Mr. McAdoo is reported to have held a brief conference with Democratic leaders.

Mr. McAdoo was in Omaha en route to the Pacific coast.

Bankruptcy Sought in Illinois by Partner of Gov. McCray

Chicago.—Governor McCray of Indiana was involved in a bankruptcy petition filed in the United States District court here by Anthony Messman. The petition set forth that Governor McCray is a partner of Mr. Messman in the ownership of a large farm in Will county, Illinois. The schedule of liabilities consists of notes signed by Mr. Messman and Governor McCray. Notes were listed totaling $41,250 and a blanket statement of other notes amounting to $50,000 was made. The Messman farm was at one time one of the biggest stock farms in Illinois.

Death Comes to Locomotive Fireman on First Run

Danville, Ill.—Fireman Fred Whitcomb of Peru, Ind., who was making his first run on a Wabash work train, was instantly killed; Fireman Al Shanks of Tilton, Ill., was probably fatally injured and 17 others, 13 of whom were section men, were injured when the engine of local freight No. 76, while backing out of a brick yard at Attica, Ind., was struck by the work train.

United States to Issue New Savings Certificates

Washington.—Secretary Mellon announced tonight a new offering of treasury savings certificates, designated as the issue of December 1, 1923, succeeding the issue of December 1, 1922, and maturing in five years. They will carry maturity denominations of $25, $100 and $1,000, as have previous issues, and will be offered for sale at $20, $80 and $800.

Governor McCray's Assets Only $8,727, Says Committee

Indianapolis. — Governor McCray's equities in all the assets which he turned over to a committee several weeks ago for administration for the benefit of his creditors, aggregate only $8,727.45 except for two or three items classed as "indefinite," according to a letter sent to creditors by the committee. Claims of these creditors are estimated to be in excess of $2,000,000.

Orders Berlin Cafes to Let Poor Enter to Get Warm

Berlin.—The most fashionable cafes, cabarets and dancing halls in Berlin must accept the lower crust of the capital as free guests. An order issued by Gen. von Seeckt announces that all such establishments must be converted immediately into warming halls for anyone who is cold. There are thousands walking the streets who should qualify.

Italians Going to Brazil.

Rome.—Premier Mussolini has promised his support for a plan to colonize a large portion of Brazil. The South American government already has approved the idea. Grants of 50 acres of land will be made to each family.

Bank Robber Caught.

Center City, Minn.—Richard Chafe, a former mail carrier, was arrested and jailed three hours after he robbed the Shafer State bank. He escaped from the bank with between $4,500 and $5,000 in cash and currency.

LIEUT. RALPH E. DAVISON

Lieut. Ralph E. Davison, American naval aviator, has been selected from 30 volunteers to pilot one of the three planes making up the squadron which will attempt next summer to traverse the Arctic regions. They will be commanded by Capt. Roald Amundsen. The expedition will be transported on ships to Spitzbergen in May and a base will be established there. Lieutenant Davison is a native of Missouri and is a graduate of the Naval academy, class 1916.

2 BILLION CROP GAIN

Secretary Wallace Says Farmers on Road to Prosperity.

Chicago.—Wheat kernels have become thorns in the farmer's flesh, but the improvement in agricultural conditions has been remarkable during the past year, Henry C. Wallace, secretary of the United States Department of Agriculture, told Chicago business men.

As a barometer of the situation, he cited a few figures taken from his annual report recently presented to the President, showing that the value of eleven principal crops had jumped from approximately $5,200,000,000 in 1921 to $7,000,000,000 this year.

"Don't misunderstand me to say that this represents the farmers' gross income," he declared in his address before the Chicago Association of Commerce. "It does not. But it does represent the value of these eleven crops, and for purposes of comparison it is sufficiently illustrative of the improvement we have made during the last year. But the improvement has not been sufficient to put agriculture on a parity with industry, commerce or labor. The farmer is still in a distorted relationship with other groups."

In plowing through the various measures that have been suggested to aid farmers, particularly wheat growers, the secretary turned the price-fixing proposal over in his mind skeptically and labeled it hopeless.

He then unfolded briefly the proposal that he is fostering.

"The government might well consider the setting up of a government agency which would take the surplus wheat and handle it in exactly the same way many manufacturers have handled their surplus products," he said, "so that it would not be the government carrying the burden, but the producers. Many who have given the matter consideration believe that of all the proposals suggested this one offers the most hope."

Four Greek Army Officers Sentenced to Death at Eleusis

Athens.—A court at Eleusis has sentenced to death Generals Leonardopoulos and Gargalides and Majors Avrambos and Nicolareas, leaders of the recent revolutionary movement. Many other officers of high rank involved in the revolt were sentenced to imprisonment for life or for long terms.

Government Warns Farmers Hog Cholera Is Spreading

Washington.—The government issued a warning that hog cholera will be increasingly prevalent this fall and that it will be greater than in any year since the last extensive outbreak in 1914. The disease has appeared recently in districts which have been free from it for 25 years, official reports show.

Former German Crown Prince Renounced the Throne, Report

Paris.—Herr von Hoesch, German charge d'affaires, told Minister of Foreign Affairs Peretti Della Rocca that the former German crown prince officially renounced the throne and promised not to attempt a restorationist movement before he was permitted to return to Germany.

Former Professor Arrested.

Yorkton, Sask.—Wasyl Mackenzuk, former professor of the University of Prague, has been arrested after a search of six years. He is charged with a series of holdups and store robberies.

Mine Safety Devices Urged.

Philadelphia.—Dr. John B. Andrews, secretary of the American Association for Labor Legislation, declared that two-thirds of the mine accidents in the United States and Great Britain could be avoided by safety devices.

FRANCE TO PAY AFTER GERMANY

Speech of Premier Poincare Virtual Repudiation of All War Debts.

AMERICA MUST WAIT CENTURY

Paris.—Premier Poincare consolidated his position before a cheering chamber of deputies by practically repudiating allied debts.

"The allied debts were the price paid for a common victory," stated the French premier in the midst of cheers and violent applause by all parties. "We shall pay them with Class C bonds when Germany has paid, and not before."

The Class C bonds represent the figurative debt of Germany over and above the $12,500,000,000 in cash which experts agreed was the absolute limit of the reich's capacity to pay.

These bonds will probably never be paid, or at least the minimum time which must elapse before Germany is in a position to pay them will be 75 years.

According to Premier Poincare's speech, America must wait nearly a century before being paid, during which the interest will continue to pile up until payment will be a physical impossibility.

Before the premier opened his speech he faced a considerable Socialist opposition. He knew that if he attempted to explain or justify his present Ruhr policy, he would meet with violent opposition from the extreme left. He therefore chose the moment to make the sensational statement of what has for a long time been the hidden policy of the French government—that the allied debts could not be paid.

His speech may be taken as an absolute indication of the opinion of all French parties, including the Socialists and Communists, since all applauded wildly.

14,000,000 Autos in U. S.; 3,000,000 in Other Lands

Washington.—By January 1 the world will have in operation 17,000,000 automobiles, passenger cars and trucks, according to an estimate by M. H. Moepli, chief of the automotive division of the Commerce department. Of that total he says 14,000,000 will be running in the United States, or about one to every eight persons, whereas in the rest of the world the proportion will be about one to 112 persons.

British Ambassador Geddes, Going Blind, to Quit His Job

London.—One of the first tasks for the new government will be to select a new British ambassador at Washington. The treatment Sir Aucklad Geddes has been forced to undergo for eye trouble has been only partially successful, and he has now completely lost sight of one eye. The ambassador will return to Washington to clean up outstanding matters and then resign.

United States Judge Does Own Peeping; Grants Decree

Washington.—An illustration of the possibilities of judicial short cuts was given in the Supreme court of the District of Columbia by Justice Stafford. The corespondent in a divorce case asserted no one could see into his bedroom while standing on a railing outside. "That is not true," interjected the justice. "I went there and looked in." A verdict for the plaintiff was granted.

Governor McCray Testifies He Used Others' Names

Indianapolis, Ind.—Under pressure by opposing counsel, Governor McCray today admitted he had issued and signed notes bearing the names of other persons, although he had no authority to sign their names. The persons whose names were signed had no knowledge of the transactions, the governor testified.

Ex-Kaiser Acts to Seize Former Prince's Furniture

London. — Messages from Doorn, where the ex-kaiser lives in exile, say he has instructed a notary to seize the furniture at Wieringen, where the ex-crown prince lived in exile. The former kaiser says the furniture belongs to him.

Communists Open War on Krupp Factory; Three Slain

Dusseldorf.—A communist demonstration on a large scale, directed against the Krupp factory, began at Essen Friday night. Three communists were killed and twenty wounded by the German police.

Citrus Consumption Heavy.

Los Angeles, Cal.—Consumption of citrus fruit in the United States and Canada totaled 113,000 carloads during the 1922-1923 fruit season, according to the California Fruit Growers' exchange.

U. S. Marines Land at Canton.

Peking.—American marines have been landed at Canton to protect the United States mission, which is endangered by the expected fall of Sun Yat Sen. Doctor Sun is intrenched at White Cloud mountain.

MISS ANITA PHIPPS

Miss Anita Phipps, who has been appointed by Secretary of War Weeks to the post of director of women's relations. The appointment of a woman for this post came as a distinct surprise to the old army heads.

U. S. MARKET REPORT

Weekly Marketgram by Bureau of Agricultural Economics.

Washington.—For the week ending Nov. 14.—FRUITS AND VEGETABLES—New York round white potatoes, $1.65@1.80 sacked and bulk per 100 lbs, $1.35 f. o. b.; northern round whites, $1.00@1.15 in Chicago, 90@95c f. o. b. Danish type of cabbage, $13.00@14.00 per ton f. o. b. Yellow varieties of onions, $2.50@3.00 sacked per 100 lbs; middle-western varieties, $2.50@3.25 consuming centers. Baldwin apples, $4.00@4.50 per bbl.; York Imperials, $2.50@3.15; northwestern extra fancy Jonathans, $1.75@2.25 per box leading markets.

HAY—No. 1 timothy, $23.50 Cincinnati, $26.50 Chicago, $20.00 Minneapolis, $24.50 St Louis; No. 1 alfalfa, $24.00 Minneapolis; No. 1 prairie, $16.50 Minneapolis, $19.50 St. Louis.

LIVE STOCK—Chicago prices: Hogs, $7.50 for the top and $6.70@7.30 for the bulk. Medium and good beef steers, $7.75@11.35; butcher cows and heifers, $3.10@10.75; feeder steers, $4.50@7.[illegible] light and medium weight veal calves, $7.00@9.75. Fat lambs, $10.75@13.00; feeding lambs, $11.50@13.00; yearlings, $8.25@11.00; fat ewes, $4.00@6.75.

GRAIN—No. 1 dark northern spring wheat, $1.10@1.19 Minneapolis; No. 2 hard winter wheat, $1.05 Chicago and St. Louis; No. 2 red winter wheat, $1.11@1.12 St. Louis; No. 2 yellow corn, 99¾c Chicago, $1.08 St. Louis; new corn, 79@88c St. Louis; No. 3 white oats, 41½@42½c Chicago, 44½@45c St. Louis.

DAIRY PRODUCTS—Butter, 92 score, 51½c Chicago. Cheese prices at Wisconsin primary markets: Twins, 24c; single daisies, 24½c; double daisies, 24c; longhorns, 24¾c; square prints, 25½c.

24 Banks Shut Within 6 Days in Northwest

Minneapolis, Minn. — Twenty-four country banks in the Minneapolis territory closed in the six business days from October 23 to 29 inclusive. Hence the development of what looks like a return to conditions of eighteen months or two years ago. At no time, however, have there been so many banks closed or put on the doubtful list in so short a time. At least one bank has been reported in the doubtful or uncertain class for every one reported closed.

Woman and Three Men Slain in Quarrel Over a Girl

Bemidji, Minn.—A quarrel over a girl in a farmhouse near Kelliher, 50 miles north of this city, resulted in the murder of four persons and the murderer is at large. The man, Leonard Portano, who carried on a wholesale killing, taking most of a day to track down his victims, escaped into the North woods. The dead are Oscar Timmy and John Sanders, farmers; Mrs. Sanders and J. A. Wilson, town marshal.

Savings Deposits Doubled in U. S. During Last Ten Years

New York.—Each person in the United States would have $158 if the total deposits in the savings departments of banks and trust companies were divided equally among the entire population, according to figures made public by the savings bank division of the Bankers' association. Savings deposits, which were only $8,425,275,000 in 1912, increased to $17,331,749,000 in 1922. The number of savings accounts increased from 12,584,316 to 30,323,320.

Allies United in Demand to Banish Former Prince

Paris.—The allies are practically in agreement in demanding that Germany banish the former crown prince and they intend to couple with this a demand that Germany shall accord protection to the allied military control commission. Here the allied accord stops. What cannot be decided upon is what shall be done to Germany if the Berlin government refuses either or both of the demands.

Missouri Bank Closes.

Patterson, Mo.—The bank of Patterson, capitalized at $10,000 and with total resources of $24,000, closed its doors. The cashier, C. P. Kinder, is missing. He is charged with embezzling the bank's funds.

Business Is Warned.

New York.—R. W. Babson, in a talk at Cooper Union, urged business men to reduce expenses, get out of debt, cut out fake optimism and false standards and get back to old-fashioned honesty, industry, thrift and service.

Prominent People

Man an Electrical, Chemical Machi

Man is no more than a mechanism run by electricity and chemical reaction—a machine made up of twenty-eight trillion electric cells. So stated Dr. George W. Crile of Cleveland, known for his work on the thyroid gland, who spoke at Orchestra hall before 3,000 members of the American College of Surgeons at their thirteenth annual convention in Chicago.

Emotions, love, hate, fear, are but stimuli loosing currents of electricity through certain paths, he said.

Through Dr. Crile's theory, if true, life itself may be created by human hands.

Each cell of the body is a tiny wet battery, with negative and positive pole, according to the surgeon. The brain cells are the most positive; the cells of the liver the most negative.

The greater the difference in electrical potential between positive and negative the greater energy the body possesses. With death the difference of potential vanishes. All is equilib[rium]. Fatigue makes this difference less. Sleep restores it.

"We consider that electricity keeps the flame of life burning in the cell the flame—oxidation—supplies electricity used in operating the animal," Dr. Crile. "There is no more energy per mass in the living than in the living. In the living, energy is captured and stored and made to run the ganism—in the nonliving the same energy exists, but it balances, is equal inert, nonliving."

Dr. Crile concluded by stating that "although the theory has stood crucial test of the surgical clinic, it is not yet proven and will not be pro until the equivalent of a living cell is constructed, until the equivalent of is made artificially."

Georgia Wants to Honor Oglethorp

Dr. Thornwell Jacobs (por herewith), president of Oglethorpe versity, Atlanta, Ga., is at the he a movement to transfer from Eng to Georgia the remains of "The orable General James F. Oglethor founder of Georgia, and those of Oglethorpe. The general's body found, after two years of search, brick vault under the floor of the parish chuch at Cranham, Engl where it was interred 138 years Name plates on the elmwood, lead-l coffins, and a tablet on the wall o church, identify remains of husb and wife. The tablet says in par

"About 700 seeking an asylu the wilds of America, were by thorpe conducted thither in 1732 thus became founder of the colon Georgia, a colony which, founded the ardent wish for liberty, set an ample by prohibiting the importa of slaves."

Oglethorpe, as chairman of a British parliamentary committee in 1 "found a truly suitable employment for his talents by visiting the dark pestilential dungeons of the London prisons. . . . and restoring multitu from the extremes of misery to light and freedom." It was from the pris that the 700 were led to Georgia.

Kellogg to Go to Court of St. Jam

Frank B. Kellogg, former United States senator from Minnesota (portrait herewith, has been selected by President Coolidge as American ambassador to Great Britain, to succeed Col. George Harvey, whose resignation has been accepted. Five considerations are said to have moved the President to select Mr. Kellogg for the American representative at the court of St. James. They are: Mr. Kellogg's outstanding knowledge of international law and affairs. His wide public experience and his wide acquaintance abroad. His understanding of the foreign policies of President Coolidge and Secretary Hughes and his thorough accord with those policies. The fact that Mr. Kellogg is from the Northwest, a district which the President is said to be glad to honor. The fact that Mr. Kellogg is well able financially to accept the position.

Mr. Kellogg is a noted lawyer. As special counsel for the government prosecuted the dissolution suits against the Standard Oil and other "tru In the 1922 campaign he was renominated for the senate by the Republic but failed of re-election in the sweep of the Farmer-Labor party which Henrik Shipstead, a dentist, to the senate from Minnesota by a majorit more than 80,000 over his nearest opponent.

Schwab Gives Advice to Business Me

Charles M. Schwab, chairman the Bethlehem Steel corporation, has retired—after a fashion—say his retirement: "At my age (h sixty two) a man must necess step aside to make room for you men. When the boys get into a and need a little diplomacy and vice, I step in." And he further s

"The United States will be workshop of the future. America the wealth and resources which bound to make her the supplier exclusively, but to a large exte for the whole world."

Here's his advice about the to do business:

"Go through life smiling, and ing a good time. See the bright of things; be optimistic. No judgment ever comes unless you in a happy frame of mind. Your troubles that you magnify disap shortly like trifles in the air.

"Put your heart in your business; carry your head in the air, believe this country and believe in its development; believe in its people and thei tegrity; believe that this country is going to be the material workshop o world."

Hawkeye .. tate News resting Items Gathered rom all Parts of Iowa

y rate, we have to admit that teachers deserve a high rat- their looks year after year. State university summer registration was fourth among colleges of the country, with ty-six counties have filed pe- with their board of super- for the tuberculosis area test er wheat throughout the state ing a good normal growth, a little of that seeded late up yet.

Moines has the best milk in recently made of twelve of the cities in Iowa, says B. Bar- r., city milk inspector.

Oelwein Nursery company east wein shipped a carload of ever- to Norfolk, Va. They are to d for landscape plantings.

White Leghorn hen owned by Hammer of Weaver set a new by laying 306 eggs in 365 days laying contest which closed at , Ill., November 1st.

yields of corn were scored by county farmers who partici- in the annual corn contest, wards for which have just been The winner produced 93 bu- and 28 pounds to the acre.

second attempt of Burlington s to float a bond issue for the diture of $275,000 for enlarging igh school and $75,000 for the ruction of a gymnasium was ssful in an election just held. te politics appears to be at a bb these November days. With or public gatherings discon- d and with indoor public meet- ew and far between, political ssion seems to have subsided orarily.

at ignorance is the greatest ob- e to all progress and the dead- foe of a Republic, was the de- tion of Miss Mae Francis, state intendent of public instruction, e members of the Iowa State hers Association.

rs George Wilson, a farmer near es, "I have lived in Iowa 48 rs and know the signs. The bark is thicker, animals dug rlier, nuts are not plentiful and fur on animals is thicker." So out when winter comes.

ool is one product of the farm which the tariff helps the far- , and he expects to profit this from an increase in wool prices, rding to V. G. Warner of Bloom- , secretary of the Iowa Fleece l Growers association.

ne day recently about eighty bers of the Modern Woodmen e and neighbors gathered at the s home, southwest of Manson, husked almost 3,000 bushels of and put it in the crib for a sick bor.

reparations for the annual hunt he Iowa Outdoor Sportsmen sche- d for November 25th have been e at Des Moines. Enrollment of members and the report on the dition of the new hunting pre- e leased by the club added to enthusiasm of the meeting.

aring Consolidated school has ted a corn husking vacation of weeks, Kelly Consolidated, two ks, and Napier Consolidated, e weeks, many other schools the e. Huskers are receiving 5 and nts around Ames, and 6 and 7 in northeast part of the county.

he world's fifth anniversary of stice day, because it was Sun- was not observed in Iowa this by any public ceremonies or celebrations. It was, however, ely observed in the pulpits, where y ministers took the subjects for day's sermons from the spirit of day, not a few of them speaking the world court.

ast spring, George Ekstrom and C. Williams of the consolidated ool of Jesup purchased nine mpshire hogs, placing them with ool children found to be interested. heck of results this fall show that eral fine Hampshire herds have n established with these animals a basis. With the start of the ool years the junior farmers will asked to report on the success failure of their venture in swine ing.

es Moines has passed all records the number of private one-family es built from the months of l to October, statistics just com- ed at the bureau of housing w. Last year there were 689 es built, while this year's rec- s show that there have been 1,048 these months.

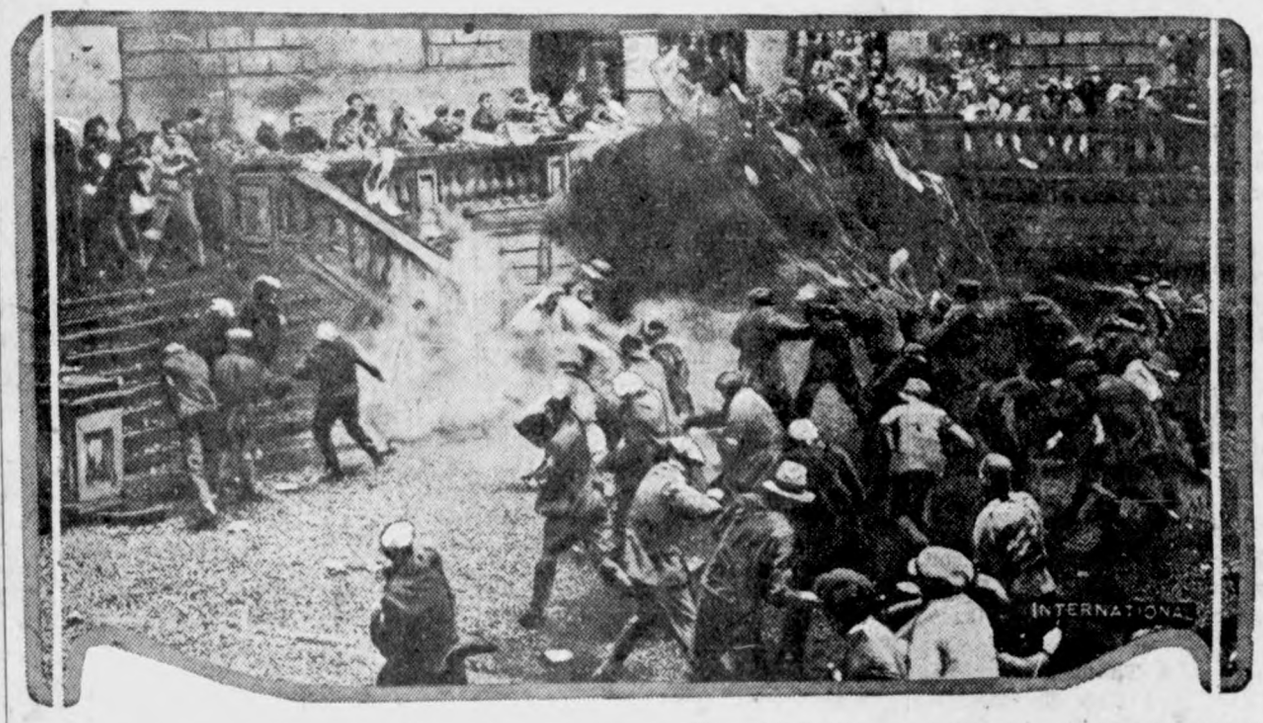
State cigaret inspectors must be d from the revenue derived from sale of cigaret stamps, accord- to a decision handed down re- tly to State Treasurer Burbank by rney General Ben J. Gibson.

rty-one years ago this month a on bearing six men, a driver and mber of boxes drove into Des nes after a three days' trip from a City to establish the capital of state of Iowa in the old capital ding which at that time was be- built where the present monu- t stands at the south end of the ol grounds.

Young T. R.'s at Roosevelt Memorial House

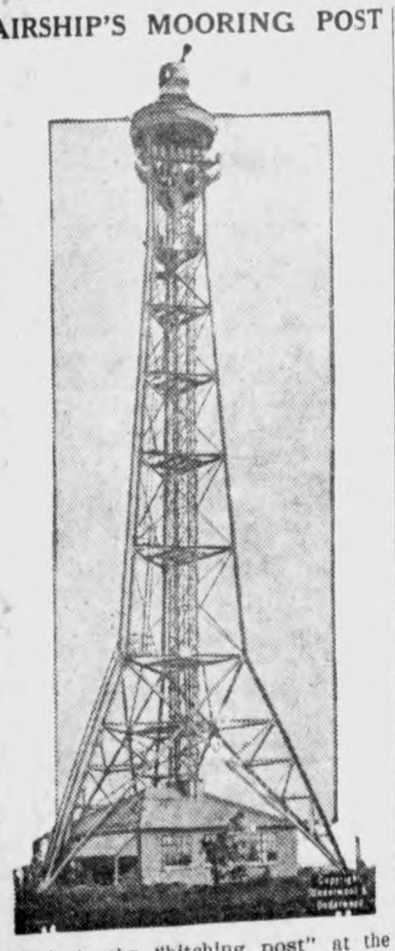
Sixty-five young American citizens named Theodore Roosevelt—many of them so young they were accompanied by their mothers—visited the Theodore Roosevelt Memorial in New York the other day. The photograph shows R. W. G. Vail, assistant director of Roosevelt House (extreme right), talking to some of the namesakes and their mothers.

Students' Fight Not So Bloody as It Looks



During the voting recently at Edinburgh university when Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin was elected rector, a pitched battle took place between the Liberal and Tory students. In the photograph it looks like a bloody riot, but the missiles were bad eggs, old tomatoes and tar.

AIRSHIP'S MOORING POST



This is the "hitching post" at the Lakehurst hangar to which the nation's biggest airship, the U. S. Shenandoah, is to be moored.

MILLION ON HER LIFE

June Mathis, well-known screen author, has been accepted for a life insurance policy of $1,000,000. She is said to be the highest paid writer in filmdom.

Enrolling President Coolidge

President Calvin Coolidge being enrolled in the American Red Cross by Miss Janet Moffett, daughter of Rear Admiral Moffett. Miss Moffett is one of this season's debutantes in Washington.

Terrific Storms Are Prevalent

Mariners who have sailed the seven seas for decades state that never in their experience have they encountered such mountainous waves as those now rolling along the Atlantic and Pacific oceans. The photograph shows the bow of one of Uncle Sam's fighting vessels being swept by a wave.

POST SETS AN EXAMPLE

Some one wanted to know what Kankakee post of the American Legion in Kankakee, Ill., had done to justify its existence. Some one else prepared a summary of its achievements. And the summary is going the rounds of the press as an example of what a Legion post can do in the way of making itself useful in a community.

The Kankakee post relieved last winter 250 transient cases and prevented those in distress from becoming temporary charges on the charities of that city. It investigated a large number of cases which proved fraudulent and drove from the town 85 fakes who were endeavoring to enlist sympathy and get money from the public.

It has a record of supervision and care of disabled men, of hospital visitation, of loans extended to worthy service men in need of temporary assistance, of comradely attention to the sick, and of Christian burial of the dead. It has looked after the compensation claims of soldiers, and has stood between them and harpies who prey on the unprotected and uninformed.

Kankakee's organization of the nation's defenders is typical. It points with pride, and there are others which are anxious to match records with it. Collectively, these records tell what the Legion has done for the commonwealth and the nation, as well as what has been accomplished for the communities with Legion posts. — Illinois State Register.

TO AID MENTALLY ABNORMAL

Soldiers' Relief Commission Will Interview Veterans in Oklahoma Penal Institutions.

All veterans in penal institutions of Oklahoma will be interviewed and examined by members of the Soldiers' Relief commission, with special attention to cases of men mentally abnormal. This action was suggested for every state in a resolution adopted at the last meeting of the American Legion's national executive committee. The veterans' organization will co-operate in the Oklahoma survey.

Representatives of the commission will gather complete data on each veteran, to be used in assisting the men entitled to federal compensation, war risk insurance, and other allowances. Vocational training classes and a series of libraries will be established in the institutions as a means of helping prisoners to rehabilitate themselves in civil life.

A survey of the prisons of Wisconsin revealed that 60 per cent of the former service men confined therein were mentally abnormal, 60 per cent suffering from disabilities due to World war service.

To Try Again for Trophies.

Distribution of captured war trophies is held up because congress, before it adjourned, failed to pass legislation requested by members of the American Legion permitting captured and surrendered relics to be given to cities and towns throughout the country. The cost of distribution of these trophies is estimated at $250,000. Under provisions of the bill introduced through the Legion's efforts, they would go to the various states according to the number of men sent to the armed forces. The bill will be reintroduced at the next session of congress, so that, if passed, trophies may be finally disposed of and placed on exhibition throughout the United States. In the meantime the War department is caring for 3,000,000 cannons, machine guns, rifles and other pieces of fighting equipment of the enemy.

May Have Home in Park.

If a memorial park is opened by civic authorities in Patchogue, N. Y., a site for a home for the loyal post of the American Legion will be provided. This determination was recently reached by the city council when Legion men appeared at a meeting seeking inclusion of a location for their building. Conclusion was reached that the new home might also include administrative offices for city officials, and the edifice will be erected jointly with the Legion.

To Erect Memorial Home.

Veterans at Harrison, N. Y., are campaigning for funds with which to erect a memorial home for use of veterans of all wars. The drive is led by the local post of the American Legion and the goal has been set at $18,000. The building will follow the plans of Independence hall in Philadelphia, and will be dedicated to the soldiers and sailors of 1776, 1812, 1845, 1861, 1898 and 1917-18. The major portion of contributions was borne by the Legion post and members of the organization.

Beacon Announces Meetings.

One of the most novel means of attracting post members to a meeting of the American Legion is utilized by George Washington post, the pioneer post of the organization in the nation. In the recent process of remodeling the clubhouse a pole, ten feet in height, was installed on the cupola of the building and a colored electric beacon placed at the top of this. When the beacon is lighted it signals to the members that a meeting is to be held.

COULD HARDLY DO HER WORK

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Made Her Eat, Sleep and Feel Better Every Way

Chicago, Ill.—"I was weak and run-down and in such a nervous condition that I could hardly do my work. I was tired all the time, and dizzy, and could not sleep and had no appetite. I tried different medicines for years, but they did not help me. Then I read in the papers about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and what it had done for other women and gave it a trial. I began to eat better and could sleep, and consider it a wonderful medicine. I recommend it to my friends and will never be without it." —Mrs. M. OHLEN, 3640 S. Marshfield Ave., Chicago, Illinois.

It is such letters as these that testify to the value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. This woman speaks from the fullness of her heart. She describes as correctly as she can her condition, first the symptoms that bothered her the most, and later the disappearance of those symptoms. It is a sincere expression of gratitude.

For nearly fifty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been so praised by women.

SPOHN'S DISTEMPER COMPOUND

Horses and Mules can be kept on their feet and working if owners give "SPOHN'S" for Distemper, Influenza, Shipping Fever, Coughs and Colds. Cheapest and surest means of escaping these diseases. Occasional doses work wonders. Give "SPOHN'S" for Dog Distemper. Used for thirty years. 60 cents and $1.20 at drug stores.

SPOHN MEDICAL CO. GOSHEN IND. U.S.A.

BATHE TIRED EYES with Dr. Thompson's Eyewater. Buy at your druggist's or Dept. Booklet. Ilion River, Troy, N. Y.

He Knows.

If the doctor doesn't listen to the relation of half your symptoms, it is because he knows what's the matter, anyway.

WOMEN CAN DYE ANY GARMENT, DRAPERY

Dye or Tint Worn, Faded Things New for 15 Cents.

Diamond Dyes

Don't wonder whether you can dye or tint successfully, because perfect home dyeing is guaranteed with "Diamond Dyes" even if you have never dyed before. Druggists have all colors. Directions in each package.—Advertisement.

There is no satisfactory reason for believing that a woman who is always "harping" will make a good angel.

DEMAND "BAYER" ASPIRIN

Take Tablets Without Fear If You See the Safety "Bayer Cross."

Warning! Unless you see the name "Bayer" on package or on tablets you are not getting the genuine Bayer Aspirin proved safe by millions and prescribed by physicians for 23 years.

Say "Bayer" when you buy Aspirin. Imitations may prove dangerous.—Adv.

A married man is glad that there is no place like home when it is filled with his wife's folks.

Sure Relief FOR INDIGESTION

6 BELL-ANS Hot water Sure Relief

BELL-ANS

25¢ AND 75¢ PACKAGES EVERYWHERE

Cuticura Soap —Imparts— The Velvet Touch

Soap 25c, Ointment 25 and 50c, Talcum 25c.

AS SURE AS DAWN BRINGS A NEW DAY HILL'S CASCARA QUININE BROMIDE

AT ALL DRUG STORES Will Break That Cold and Make You Fit Tomorrow. PRICE 30 CENTS

W. H. HILL CO., DETROIT.

CLEAR your COMPLEXION

Remove all blemishes, discolorations. Have a smooth, soft skin—natural, beautiful, clear. Satisfaction or money back. All druggists. Beauty booklet free. Write DR. C. H. BERRY CO., 2975 A Mich. Ave., Chicago.

with Kremola FAMOUS FOR 40 YEARS

Be sure and attend the Rohrbach & O'Rourk Holstein and Guernsey cow sale at the stock yards at Kanawha, Saturday, November 24th at 2 o'clock. Every cow tested. Now is the time to get yourself a good cow.

DUROC BOARS, Sensation breeding, good type with plenty of bone. Price $20 and $25 each. Can furnish papers. Also winter apples at $1.00 per bu. Northwestern Greenings and Sheepnose. 4 miles south of Klemme, Roscoe Wiles, Goodell, Iowa. 1c

Mrs. Clarence Kluckhohn and two sons, Clarence and Eugene, returned last Friday from Indiana. Mrs. Kluckhohn was called to Indiana about two months ago by the serious condition of her mothers health. She reports that her mother is now getting along well.

Hunting and trapping without permission is strictly forbidden on the land owned or occupied by the undersigned: W. L. Sherwood, J. W. Johnson, J. J. Cook, A. C. Carpenter, M. J. Kearney, H. T. Marshall, J. W. Waddingham, Mrs. Elsie Chase, V. A. Cook, Fred Bachman, Tom Nelson, Ed. Hemenway, C. Bielefeld, H. A. Nelscn. 2tpd.

Rev. and Mrs. A. W. Gauger, accompanied by Mrs. R. W. Elder. Mrs. C. F. Keraus and Mrs. Lenoard Sampson drove to Algona Tuesday to attend a Ladies Aid Convention. Dinner was served to the visitors in the basement of the church by the Algona Ladies Aid.

Mr. Fred Musfelt and daughter, Mrs. Hattie Lanahan, drove to Garner last Friday morning. Fred discovered that even a Star Sedan will not run entirely on its reputation—it also requires gas. This he did not have (about half way between Garner and Klemme.)

Last week the Times carried a story about the National Contest in which Klemme Creamery butter had a hihg rating. We can improve on the story this week. The Banner goes to Iowa—Minnesota had it but the judges made an error in counting up per centages, so now Iowa has it. The recount also put A. D. Gimer's butter in the ten high class, a further honor for Mr. Gimer and the Klemme Co-Operative Creamery Co. There were 589 contestants who entered butter in the national contest and so it is quite an honor to be listed with the high ten.

Neighbors Prosper Together

A neighbor is more than one who merely lives next to you. A neighbor has a sincere interest in you, and is worthy of your interest also.

The best evidence of neighborliness the officers of the First National Bank believe, is mutual helpfullness. Therefore, we say, buy and bank at home—contribute to your neighbor's success. As he prospers, he will help you to prosper.

We invite you as a neighbor to bank with us and make our bank your bank.

First National Bank

"The Bank for Everybody'."

News of Klemme and Vicinity

If its news, Phone 12. Thanks.

Let the Times print your sale bill.

H. A. Sweigard, of Garner, was a business caller here Tuesday.

Ben Coobs assisted at the Jacobs & Son hardware store Saturday.

Mrs. R. W. Elder and daughter, Reva, spent Saturday at Mason City.

R. A .Jorgenson and family spent Sunday at Garner.

Sheriff E. P. Hanson of Garner, was in this vicinity on officila duties yesterday.

Miss Alta Wellendorf, of Maquoketa, Iowa, is here for a visit with Mr .and Mrs. Ed. Jacobs.

Positively no hunting or trapping will be permitted on my land. Dick Swalve. 2tp

Wallace Pavey is enjoying a visit from his brother, Jim Pavey, of Garrison, Iowa, who came Sunday.

Hamo Beek has built a fine new garage on his farm this fall and has just finished painting it.

Art Wellemeyer was at Mason City Tuesday hob-knobing with the aristocrats and gazing at the tall skyscrapers.

Mr. and Mrs. Chris Jacobs, of Garner, were visiting at the Ed. Jacobs home Tuesday. Chris also found a little time to blow with Ye Editor.

Mrs. Clarence Kluckhohn has been on the sick list the past week with a case of tonsilitis. She is much improved at this writing.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lewis, and Miss Genieve Rone drove to Allison, Sunday, for a visit with Mrs. Lewis' cousin, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Olk.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Blank and son, Henry, and Miss Dorothy Lachore, from Hayfield, spent Sunday at the T. Blank home in this city.

Quite a number from here went to Goodell Fridap evening to see our basket ball teams trim up the high school teams there.

It is reported that George Greimann has sold his farm north of Klemme to Wes Lenz. The price was $200 an acre.

Henry Church, of Garner, was in this city on business Saturday. We understand that Henry will move on one of his farms south of Klemme in the spring.

Ben Schwichtenberg and Albert Tanner, of Big Lake, Minnesota, arrived in Klemme last Saturday and remained until Tuesday visiting with Klemme relatives and friends.

Rohrbach & O'Rourk will sell 30 head of Holstein and Guernsey cows and heifers all T. B. tested at the stock yards at Kanawha, Saturday, November 24th, at 2 o'clock. 1c

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Gram returned last week Wednesday from their honeymoon trip to Princeton, Minn. They have gone to house keeping in the flat over J. N. Day's store.

Mrs. George Post was called to Nevada, Iowa, last Thursday by the serious illness of her father. He died about an hour after she arrived.

George Platt has built a fine set of buildings on his farm south of town on the Highway. The buildings are a fine new house, large barn and other buildings. We wonder who will live there?

The American Legion of Klemme gave a basket and pie social at the school house gym last Thursady evening which was well attended and a nice sum of money was realized. All report a good time.

The Adam-Schaefer Post wishes to thank all who helped with the program at the basket social for the benefit of the Legion, and for the patronage. Adam-Schaefer Post, No. 625, Klemme.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. G. Ell, son Milvern, and daughter, Arlene, drove in from Mankato, Minnesota, last week Thursday afternoon for a few days visit with relatives and friends here and at Belmond and Mason City.

Dr. and Mrs. J. L. Hesselhuus and Mr. and Mrs. M. O. Barr drove up to Minneapolis Saturday afternoon to spend Sunday with Mrs. Hesselhuus' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Darner, who live near Minneapolis.

We are having some ine fall weather and if it keeps up like the past week there will be no need of anyone going to California. Naturalists say we are going to have a mild winter. They base their claims on the conduct of animals.

Continued from Page 1.

NEWS OF THE WEEK REPORTED BY KLEMME SCHOOLS

school three days this week.

Roy Waddingham entered school Friday after an absence of two week He has been helping pick corn.

Liberty No. 7

Pupils for thep ast week have all been present.

All the grades have had perfect spelling lessons.

The pupils have been practicing for a program which will be given later.

Ell Township, District No.6

Karsjen Christians returned to school last week Tuesday after several weeks absence, becaue of corn husking.

Cora and Walter Ristace were absent a few days last week because of sickness.

Avery District. No. 3.

Albert White returned to school last Wednesday. He has been absent on account of his broken arm.

The eighth grade are carrying 9 subjects now, and aer getting along well with them.

The smaller grades are beginning to make Christmas decorations for the school house now.

KLEMME MARKETS

(Subject To Change)

Thursday, November 22

WHEAT	$1.00
CORN (new)	.60
OATS	.34½
BARLEY	.55
RYE	.55
HOGS	5.00—6.50
HAY	15.00—20.00
BUTTERFAT	.55
BUTTER (Creamery)	.52
EGGS	.42
HEAVY HENS	.14
LIGHT HENS	.10
STANDARD SPRINGS	.14
LEGHORNS	.10
COCKS	.06
DUCKS	.11
GEESE	.10

Your Thanksgiving Dinner--

And and A GLOBE Range

Nothing tastes better than a Thanksgiving Dinner prepared on a Globe Range. For cookin, baking, and roasting, they can't be equalled. We have them in all stylse.

We carry a complete line of roatsers in all sizes and syles, baking dishes, kettles, pots, pans, carving sets, and silverware.

Plan With Us For The Big Feed!

Jacobs & Son

"THE WINCHESTER STORE"

Safety, Interest, Something More--

Of course you expect safety when you bank your crop money, and liberal interest if the money remains on deposit for a considerable period. But you should receive helpful personal interest as well.

You'll find this last in exceptional measure at this bank. Entrust your crop money to this "personal service" bank.

5 per cent interest is paid on time deposits at this bank.

State Savings Bank

Klemme Iowa

20 Red Top Steel Posts Will Be Given Away FREE!

WE WILL GIVE Away absolutely FREE 20 RED TOP Steel Fence Posts and a Post Driver to the farmer who pays up the largest account with us on or before 4:00 P. M. Saturday, December 1st, 1923.

This also holds good if a farmer purchases a bill of lumber and pays cash for it, or on or before the above date.

Every farmer can use these 20 Red Tops and it will pay you to pay your account---you may be the winner.

Northern Lumber Co.

Building Materials of All Kinds

STILLE'S IMPLEMENT NEWS

Volume 2.—Number 4. Thursday, November 22, 1923

We have just received a few new tractors and they sure are a bunch of dandies. We tried one out the other day, a 15-30 on a good shredder, and say! that tractor just loves to make them hum.

These tractors have ball bearing main bearings on the crank shaft. The ball bearings and the crank shaft are both guaranteed against breakage and wear. With each tractor you get a written guarantee that if the ball bearing main bearings wear out, burn out or break any time during the life of the tractor, they will be replaced free of charge. The guarantee furthre reads that if the crank shaft breaks any time during the life of the tractor it will be replaced free of charge.

If these tractors were in the habit of wearing out and breaking bearings and crank shafts the company couldn't afford to replace them. Up to the last report we received a couple of weeks ago the company hasn't replaced a single crank shaft.

Can you beat a guarantee and a record like that?

They burn kerosene perectly.

They have removable cylinder linings.

Roller bearings on all important bearings.

Alemite Oiling system.

High tension magneto.

Impulse starter.

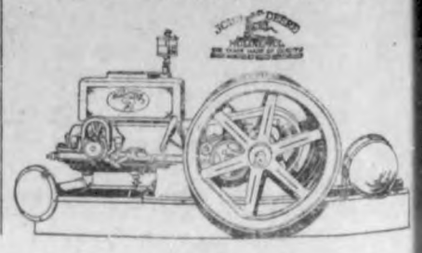
The tractor with a Packard construction.

A good ear for scandal offsets a poor nose for news.

Fools become Angels at Railroad Crossings.

There are no detours on a poor road.

Buy an International feed grinder.



THE KLEMME TIMES

Eighth Year—Number 12. Klemme, Iowa, Thursday Afternoon, November 29, 1923 $1.50 In Advance—$2.00 Outside of County

NGS OF THE WEEK AT THE KLEMME SCHOOLS

HAS BEEN STARTED ON CONTEST

Annual Declamatory Contest Till Take Place Soon

has been started on the sel- suitable pieces for the An- clamatory contest. The Pub king class have selected a mber of suitable pieces to contestants in selecting eces. All public Speaking are required to learn a sel- ut will not have to speak in est unless they wish to. re a very large number of taking up declamatory is year and a preliminary will probably have to be held e public contest. Miss Stac- lish teacher, will have charge raining, and we feel that she able to do this line of work. the Fourth consecutive year emme High School have had ontests. Everyone who has Klemme the past two or ears know that they have success and this year prom- be better than ever. Let's or a bigger and better Declam ontest this year.

H. S. SUFFERS DEFEAT

Teams Win Both Games By a High Score

y came, they saw, they con- " This, in brief is the sad of our double encounter with . And Rowan deserved to ecause they outclassed our at every branch of the game. ffer no alibi, for the best won girl's game was fast, with excelling in passing and gen- eam work. The score at half as 10 to 3, and at the end. Rowanites had an eleven point winning by the score of 23 to the locals, Ridder was high with nine points to her credit a little more difficult to pick he individual star of the Row- tett, for they played as one. altine, with 17 points was the scorer for the visitors.

ow is the lineup.

LEMME 12		ROWAN 23
er, (Capt.)	F	A Azeltine
	F	Emerson
	F	C. Azeltine
	C	Dufy
	G	Ketchum
	G	Addinger

MMARY

LEMME

Baskets— Ridder 5, Koerner 1

Throws made— Koerner 1.

Throws Missed— Stille 1, Koerner 1

al Fouls— Blank 2, Tanner 1, Lau 4.

bstitution— Lau for Blank.

WAN

Baskets— A. Azeltine 8,Emerson 2, C. Azeltine 1.

Throws made A. Azeltine 3

Throws missed— A. Azeltine 3, Emerson 1.

rsonal Fouls— C. Azeltine 1, y 1, Ketchum 1.

e boy's game was close during t half. Rowan got the lead ran up eight points before the rocks got started. Klemme ed near the end of the first and managed to garner 7 point e the whistle blew. At the rest ed the score was 10 to 7 in o the visitors.

wan turned on the heavy artil- econd period, and shot ts from every corner of the running up 23 points in this In our boys were allowed 10.

the locals, Wellemeyer was scorer with 8 points and Patet with 6. For the visitors, R. ine with 16 points and E. Moel- g with 10 points were the indiv l stars.

llowing is the lineup.

LEMME 17		ROWAN 33
emeyer	LF	E. Moellering
er	RF	R. Azeltine
t	C	D. Farron
r (Capt.)	RG	C. Azeltine
man	LG	H. Moellering

MARY

KLEMME

Field Baskets— Wellemeyer 4, Gimerl, Patet 3.

Foul Throws— Greiman 1.

Foul Throws Missed Wellemeyer 2

Personal Fouls— Patet 2, Greiman 3, Larson 2.

Techinical fouls— Patet 2, Greiman 1.

Substitution— Larson for Greiman, Gibbs for Gimer.

ROWAN

Field Baskets— R. Azeltine 7, E. Moellering 5, D. Farron 1, C. Azeltine 1, Binghan 1.

Fouls Missed— R. Azeltine 2. D. Farron 1, C. Azeltine ,.

Personal Fouls R. Azeltine 1, D. Farron 1.

Substitution —Bingham for Farron.

Time of Periods 20 minutes.

Referee, Tals of Belmond

WITH THE CLASSES

Physical Geography

The physical geography class are about to begin to study "The Atmosphere."

English I

The Freshman English class are studying Franklin's Plan of Life," and arew riting similiar plans.

In English test, the question "Tell about Benjamin Franklin's educaon was answered by one of the students in this manner; "He became educated by reading books, working arithmetic, by being a printer, marrying and losing his money. We wonder if this worthy student has under went the hazards and trials of married lie or merely relying on hearsay.

New Six Weeks Period

The beginning of this weekmarks the beginning of another six weeks period. Three months, or one-third of the school year has already elapsed and soon the midyear or Christmas vacation will be here. Students are beginning to arrange their courses for the second semester and everybody is busy trying to keep their grades above the 90 per cent mark. Watch for the honor roll next week.

More Speech

Monday morning Mr. Neese called upon some to give their ideas on — "What is the matter with our Basket ball teams." Some declared that the game Saturday nights howed to us, what practice makes of a team, Rowan teams have had coaching from the Junior High up. This is a good idea to practice in the Klemme school, so that in later years we will not have to take defeat.

Miss Stacey declared that she had seen both teams play better games and that thep layers should wake up and take notice. Coach Tregilgus stated that we need practice on Monday and Wednesday nights and not tea parties.

Mr. Neese summed up the ideas and stated that his idea was that the Klemme High School teams need speed and alertness on the part of the players and that practice would help to make the Klemme High Basket Ball teams winners in all games.

'Practice makes Perfect' is the old saying. Watch the Klemme High Basket ball teams practice every Monday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings.

Thanksgiving Vacation

Mr. Neese made the most welcome announcement Tuesday noon, stating that the Klemme school will be closed for Thursday and Friday of this week for the purpose of eating our ill. Mr. Neese's parting remark was, We should all Eat and be merry.

Primary Room News

Mrs. Ralph Ludeke and Mrs. Walter Lau were visitors of the primary room on Thursday of last week.

Mrs. Clarence Larsen, Mrs. R. W. Elder and Mrs. Levi Klotzbach visited school last week.

The folloying children were visitors in the primary room this week: Doris Ludeke, Jean Lau and Raymond Keeper.

The second grade has been making Pilgrim booklets.

The first grade is making Thanksgiving posters.

La Vonne Larsen and Paul Busch have missed only one word in spelling in the past six weeks.

4th, 5th and 6th Grade News

William Gauger won in the writing contest of the fourth, fifth and sixth grades.

Thanksgiving posters are being made by the fourth, fith and sixth grades.

NEW EDITORS

With the end of another six weeks period, the Editors of this column again change. The work of editor has again fallen upon Clarence Elder. Coach Tregilgus will keep you informed in all sport activities and Marie Blank, Adela Schroeder and Maurine Hake will endeavor to keep you informed on all other activities of the High school and the Grade school. We are sorry to say that we are unable to get all of the rural notes which were published the last six weeks, but if these notes are handed to any of our High School students, we are sure they will ind their way to the editor. We wish to ask for the co-operation of all High School students in making the school column better the coming six weeks.

METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH

A. W. Gauger, Pastor

We reached the 175 mark in our Sunday school last Sunday with some out that were there the Sunday before. Our goal is 200. With everyone co-operating we can make it possible.

A fine audience greeted District Supt. Belling. We are looking forward to a like audience next Sunday.

Our Thanksgiving service will be held on Thursday evening t 7:30. As cled upon by our president and by our governor to go to our respective house of worship to praise God frm whom all blessings flow, let us all join in this service. Offering will be taken for the several orphanages, as is customary on this occassion. Let this offering be a liberal one!

SCOUT CORNER

SCOUTS ATTEND SERVICES OF REV. GEDYE

About Ten Scouts Go to Whittemore Sunday to See Old Scout master

Last Sunday morning, before the most of the good people of Klemme were up, a group of Boy Scouts and their scoutmaster Dr. Anderson left for Whittemore to attend the church services and have a visit with their old scoutmaster, Rev. A. B. Gedye.

They arrived in due time and got into the church and were seated before Rev. Gedye noticed them.

Great was his surprise and pleasure to see so many of the Klemme boys he had spent so many happy times with.

The boys had a good visit with him and also visited the grotto at West Bend. They report a fine time

One of our scouts has had the bad luck of breaking his arm. Albert White, while cranking his father's Henry Ford, greatly to his surprise met by opposition wien the thing kicked and broke his arm.

One night after school Scoutmaster Anderson and four or five boys went out to see Albert and also took him a little fruit as a token from the scouts. We are glad to say that his arm is nearly well now.

TWO POSSUMS CAUGHT IN VICINITY OF NASHUA, IA.

NASHUA, Nov. 28.—Two opossum were caught by the Demro brothers last week in this vicinity. These animals are not common in northern Iowa and some years none are seen here. The flesh is good eating but the pelts are small and worth only about the same price as thoes of a muskrat which is a little less than a dollar for the best ones this season. Raccoons are also scarce in this vicinity but three were caught by Louie Tegler and his 'coon hound the last few days and a supper featured by the 'coons with Fred Winters as chef was served to several at the Commercial club rooms. Coon pelts are higher this season and bring around $5 each.

P. T. A. Wants Pure Milk Orninance

PARENT-TEACHERS MEET

The Parent Teacher Association met at the high school auditorium Tuesday evening and a very good meeting was enjoyed. About thirty people were present. The attendance was small as there should be at least double that many present at each meeting. Every parent in the community, whether you have children in school or not, who are interested in school affairs should attend and are invited to attend tehse meetings which are held every month.

A number of interesting questions were brought up and dicussed.

Perhaps the best topic brought up and acted on was a resolution passed to petition the mayor and council of Klemme to pass and put into effect a tubercular pure milk ordinance. This is something the Times has been trying to get for the past five years and we have been given a lot of encouragement from time to time to stay by it. We certainly will join hands with the Parent Teacher Association to see that Klemme will get a pure milk ordinance. There is no reason why the council should delay any longer as it is an ordinance that should be in effeit in every town in the United States. No doubt the time is close at hand when there will be both state end national laws prohibiting the sale of milk from any cow unless she has passed a satisfactory tubercular test and is proven to be free from tubercular germs.

The next regular meeting of the P. T. A. will be held January 8th. Everyone interested are invited to come. A full assembly room of interested parents are wanted at this meeting.

LAST NIGHT'S BASKET BALL RESULTS

Klemme Boys and Girls teams played Rowan at Rowan last night. Rowan Boys—48 Klemme Boys—10 Rowan Girls—27 Klemme Girls—6

A TIPLESS LIGHT BULB

New Lamp Gives Better Light And Is Hard To Break

"Without question, the greatest step in the developement of the incandescent lamp since the advent of the gas filled lamp is the production of the tipless bulbs." says Dr .Wm. Kunerth of the department of physics at Iowa State College.

The tipless light bulb has several advantages over the ordinary bulb. Aside from being neater looking than the common bulb, the tipless bulb does not cast a shadow on the work below it and is much less likely to be brokne than is the bulb with the usual projecting tip. In providing uniform illumination for the area immediately under it, the tipless bulb has a marked advantage over the old fashioned bulb. Everyone knows how frequently bulbs are broken because the tips are nipped off.

Tipless bulbs were made years ago but no very satisfactorp method of manufacture was discovered. By an altogether new method recently hit upon, tipless bulbs are again being made and may be purchased for about the same price as ordinary bulbs. In making the tipless bulbs the air is exhausted thru a tube in the base of the lamp bulb and this is then sealed off. For gas filled lamps the air is exhausted and then a mixture of nitrogen and argon gases is introduced thru the same tube.

The crop loss from chinch bugs in Iowa in 1887 was estimated by one authority at $25,000,000. Those were the good old days.

The child under five years does not need meat. For older children, meat should be limited to small amounts once each day.

SPCEIAL SESSION OF GENERAL ASSEMBLY TO MEET DEC. 4

NEWS OF THE LAWMAKERS

Special Session To Revise Code Start Tuesday, December 4th, and May Last Six Months.

(By G. L. Caswell

Des Moines, Nov.27,1923— Without any speakership contest, and with no scrimmage for committeeships and jobs about the legislative halls, the special session of the Fortieth General assembly will commence next Tuesday, December 4th, with the organization of the last regular session governing.

It seems rather strange to those used to the beginnings and accustomed to the proceeding of these state legislator bodies to see a session get under way as this one is going to. No buttonholing, no headquarters, not a promise nor a string cut— not even a drink, any more, to put pep into the kickof. No new throngs watching and waiting to see what may turn up. No getting acquainted with each other or relating of victories in the last campaign. All this is old stuff with this membership. The members know each other; know their strength, their purpose, their ideas, their capacity for work and their shortcomings. And the usual horde of lobbyists or representatives of special interests have not had to be on the ground to sow seeds for a future harvest. Yes, there is a dull time around the the old Savery lobby but "the smoke is going up the chimney just the same." Later there will be more action and more at stake with every interest in the state than there has been at any session for years.

The Code to Be Revised

With every section and chapter of the present code of laws of this state to beg one over by this General Assembly, to be revised, rearragned and classified, it means that every provision of laws that have stood for years and which have been adjudicated by courts and thoroughly understood by lawyer., will have to be scanned by members of this body. and actually voted on favorably to continue them as laws of the state. And every present law,, and every section of every present law, is subject to ammendment and change without much notice. It may be imagined therefore that every business interest in the state is interested and will be on had to watch things. Call them lobbyists or representatives, or agents, or what you will, they have a right to be on hand in any ligitiate manner, and in many cases they may be of assistance to members in the way of information, suggestions and experience.

Without the preliminaries of the regular session to delay organization and with no governor and lieutenatgovernor to inaugurate and orate, there should be no delay in the get ting down to the work of Code revivision as contemplated in the call of the governor. Plans for carrying on the work, divisions of the members and committees, and assignments of certain capable men to certain phases of thew ork, will be the preliminary consideration netx week.

Will Play Much Politics

It is realized that there will be about as much politics as there is Code revision in this special session. There was plently politics in thel ast regular session. But now these politicians are just beginning on a primary campaign and election year. Many of them are candidates for one thing and another and these is a complete state, county and legislative ticket to be made up for 1924, from the United States senator down to constable.

Speaker Joe Anderson of the house is regrded as a certain candidate for governor, while Lieutanant- Govervor John Hammill had been almost conceded the nomination for governor a few months ago. Now Anderson is showing considerable strength Many friends wanted him to take the field and contest with Brookhart or the six- year term as United States senator. But Anderson is both able and wary. He is freindly with Brookhart's friends, and there is a vacancy in the senate coming within two years more when Cummins retires. Therefore, the governorship looks best to Joe now. Governor Kendll apparently does not care for a renomiation as governor. Senator J. R. Price seems to be a candidate for lieutenant- governor, and friends of Senator Perry Holdoegal hope he will be. There are several other able senators who might get into this race. Most of the present state officials having permanent ofices at Des Moines are said to be candidates, for renomination and seemingly they are unoppossed as yet.

In the next letter I will be able to tell whether the program will be to revise the Code without delay, enact new legislature or, justp lay politics.

NEWSPAPER ASSOCIATION

MEMBER No. 5578

SUGGEST CHANGES IN OUR IOWA ROAD SYSTEM

Good Roads Association Meets And Recommends Changes

DES MOINES, Nov. 28.—In the good road meetings that have been held in the dinerent parts of the state under the auspices of the Iowa Good Roads Association it is very significant says M. L. Bowman, Executive Secretary, that there is a real demand for some changes in our highway law.

There is a positive belief on the part of our people that all the primary road expenses should properly be paid from the primary road fund. The sentiment is so strong in favro of this change that apparently there would be indeed very little, if any, opposition from any part of the state.

Another matter that meets very general approval is that our law should be changed so that a county voting bonds for primary road improvement would have the right to use this money for graveling as well as hard surfacing.

The most enthusiastic hard surfaced road boosters realize that more than one-half of the primary road system cannot be hoped to be hard surfaced for some years to come. In fact the highwap commission recommends but 3,000 miles of the 6,600 miles of primary roads need hard surfacing and in doing this it must be spread over a period of years. It is plain to see that gravel where at all available can be used to splendid advantage in many of our counties and therefor there is a real sentiment that money secured bp the issuing of bonds for improving the primary system of any county should very properly be used for graveling as well as hard surfacing.

The Executive Committee of the Iowa Good Roads Association believes that these are matters of very great importance in our endeavor to "pull Iowa out of the mud" and that every effort should be made to secure this very necessary legislation at this winter's special session.

These suggested changes would probably meet with more genuine approval of our people than most any other thing that can be taken up and should not require a great deal of time because of its urgent demand.

CAMP FIRE GIRLS CORNER

The Camp Fire Girls held their meeting at the home of Maurine Hake, Thursday Nov. 22nd. Light refreshments were served by the hostess. Ethel Wellemeyer and Adela Schrodeer are working for Fire maker rank.

The next Camp Fire meeting will be held at the home of Gertrude Johnson, the 6th of December.

BOY SCOUT CORNER

STRESEMANN AND CABINET ARE OUT

Quit When Legislative Body Refuses to Give Vote of Confidence.

DECIDING BALLOT 230 TO 157

Berlin.—Having forced the issue by demanding a vote of confidence forthwith, Chancellor Stresemann went down to defeat in the reichstag, the deputies withholding their approval of the cabinet by a vote of 230 to 157.

After discussing the situation which he painted as highly critical both in Bavaria and the Rhineland with representatives of the German and foreign press, Dr. Stresemann immediately went to President Ebert and turned in the resignations of himself and his ministers.

Just fifteen minutes after the reichstag had fixed Chancellor Stresemann's doom a messenger boy dashed into an anteroom and placed a telegram in the chancellor's hand.

"I had hoped to receive this news earlier," Herr Stresemann said. "A treaty between France and the German industrialists was signed at Dusseldorf. This agreement will bring comparative peace to the Ruhr and Rhineland, because the German industrialists agree to keep their mines and factories operating, and the workmen can now earn their bread. It is my chief accomplishment.

"I could not tell the reichstag how near we were to an agreement in the Ruhr, because the French would not then have signed it.

"We had to make the French believe we seriously intended to throw the entire responsibility for feeding the idle Ruhr and Rhineland population upon them. I waited two days for news of the signing of the agreement, but it did not come in time.

"I wonder what would have happened if the telegram came fifteen mines earlier."

Walton Indicted by Grand Jury on 7 Counts, 6 Felonies

Oklahoma City, Okla.—Former Governor Jack C. Walton, who was impeached Monday, was indicted by the Oklahoma county grand jury Friday on seven counts. The governor is charged with having diverted public funds, intimidation of an officer and preventing the assembling of the lower house of the legislature. Indictments on five counts, also charging diversion of public funds, were returned against Dr. E. A. Davenport, state health commissioner, and T. P. Edwards, former personal chauffeur to the deposed governor. All indictments against the former chief executive of the state, except the one alleging intimidation of an officer, charge felonies.

Governor McCray Stumped by Item for $45,755.81

Indianapolis, Ind. — Governor McCray could not account for an item of $45,755.81 which was entered as a part of his income from the defunct Sawyer's Grain company of Chicago. The governor said he did not know where the item came from and that it would have to be explained by the bookkeeper. When asked if he would overlook such a small item as $45,000 in his income, the governor replied: "It wasn't in my income."

$13,000 Taken in Two Daylight Bank Holdups

Indianapolis, Ind. — Three armed bandits held three employees and two customers of the Tuxedo State bank here at bay with revolvers, and after scooping up between $10,000 and $12,000 in currency, escaped in an automobile. Earlier in the afternoon three men, believed to be the same trio, held up the Central Avenue state bank and escaped with $1,500 in currency.

Prohibition Involved in House Organization

Washington.—The prohibition question was involved in the fight for house Republican leadership when Representative Colton of Utah declared he would support Representative Graham of Illinois for floor leader because Mr. Graham had been "consistently dry," while Representative Longworth of Ohio had a wet record.

Wets Call Rally to Modify Dry Laws of the Land

Washington.—A country-wide rally of those opposed to prohibition will be held in Washington January 21. Convened under the auspices of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, the meeting will discuss the results of four years of legal drought, and will formulate plans for modification of present-day laws.

U. of C. Girl Wins Honors.

Boston, Mass.—Miss Mary E. Barnette of the University of Chicago was awarded second prize for an essay on a plan for world peace. The contest was conducted by the American School Peace league.

Reclamation Farmers Broke.

Washington.—The government will have to grant a moratorium to a number of reclamation tenants, Chairman Campbell of the advisory committee of the Department of the Interior declared Thursday.

J. C. SHAFER

J. C. Shafer, known as the "baby congressman," newly-elected member of the Sixty-eighth congress from Wisconsin. He is just twenty-nine years old and was a railroad man before his election.

TO REMAIN IN EXILE

Former Kaiser Must Not Return to Germany.

Paris.—The allies, through the council of ambassadors, agreed to send two communications to Germany, one stating that the allied military control commission will resume its work in Germany and directing the Berlin government to give it adequate protection and facilitate its work, and the other agreeing to let the ex-crown prince remain in Germany as a German farmer, but insisting that the ex-kaiser must not be allowed to return.

Having dispatched these two notes to the German charge d'affaires, the ambassadors sat back to wait for Germany's answer which, if in the negative, will merely bring the two issues back to where the wrangling started. As far as the ex-crown prince is concerned Germany is merely told that she will be held responsible for anything he may do, the possibilities of penalties only arising in some distant future when the allies "might be constrained to a concert on proper measures." But if the ex-crown prince behaves himself and the ex-kaiser does not return to Germany the allies accept the German government's pledge to this effect at its face value.

Samuel Gompers Hurls Bolt at Hearst Soviet Policy

Washington.—In a bristling statement opposing recognition of Soviet Russia by the United States, Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, Thursday denounced William Randolph Hearst, who has recently stirred up agitation in favor of the soviets. Mr. Gompers charged that persons urging recognition are chiefly those interested in oil and other concessions in Russia.

Recover $100,000 American Bonds in Carpathians

Prague.—Bonds worth $100,000 lost on April 24, 1920, in the mails between Omaha and Chicago have been recovered in the Carpathian mountains. The bonds, mailed by the Stockyards bank of Omaha to the Continental and Commercial bank of Chicago, were traced to the Czech frontier and seized when a peasant, Joseph Legner, tried to bank them. Legner declares he got them from a brother-in-law.

Big Quake Kills 1,500 Persons and Wrecks a Chinese City

Peking.—Meager details are being received here regarding a severe earthquake in a remote section of Shansi province, in which 1,500 were killed at Kaolan, 200 miles northwest of Taiyuanfu, the capital of the province. It is stated that a wide area was damaged owing to the seriousness of the shocks, which occurred at 3:30 p. m. on November 13.

Von Seeckt Orders Communist Party Disbanded, Funds Seized

Berlin.—General von Seeckt, national commander of the reichswehr, ordered the dissolution of the German Communist party and the confiscation of its funds. His decree also prohibits the holding of Communist meetings and the publication of Communist newspapers.

Motorman, Hurt as Auto Hits Car, Gets $100,000

New York.—Charles N. Olson, street car motorman, was awarded $100,000 by a jury in the Supreme court for injuries received when an automobile truck belonging to the Metal Package corporation of New York crashed into the street car Olson was operating.

Underwood Scores G. O. P.

Atlanta, Ga.—Senator Underwood attacked the foreign policy of the Republican administration. He declared that America's failure to use its moral influence is responsible for the present condition in Europe.

Employees Against Increased Work.

New York.—Textile workers are antagonistic toward any move on the part of their employers to increase the amount of work to be done in an effort to produce goods at prices more in harmony with buyers' ideas.

BIG PACKERS DEFY U. S. GOVERNMENT

Swift Company Declines to Permit Federal Supervision of Business.

CALLED TRADE INTERFERENCE

Chicago.—Swift & Co., packers, will decline to "permit the Department of Agriculture to place auditors permanently in their offices, with power to examine at all times their books, papers, and other documents." This became known through a statement issued by L. F. Swift, president.

The Swift company, Wilson & Co., and the Cudahy Packing company were directed by Henry C. Wallace, secretary of agriculture, to make their records available to government auditors.

No statements were forthcoming from the other two companies, but reports indicated they would support the Swift & Co. stand. Representatives of all indicated their belief that Secretary Wallace's order involves an "invasion of constitutional rights."

"We claim on behalf of the 45,000 stockholders," said Mr. Swift, in his formal statement, "the right which the Constitution guarantees to all citizens of being permitted (in the absence of specific charges) to conduct our business peacefully, without interference from government agents.

"If the government has power to maintain accountants in our office, as it claims, it also would have the power to establish such accountants permanently in all business offices in the country, a situation which we believe is unthinkable.

"The proposed inquiry is not founded upon any complaint or charge of any violation of law, but is for the purpose of obtaining complete, detailed information as to all business of the company. Such a sweeping inquiry must be considered an attempt to seize power reserved to the several states under the commerce clause of the Constitution of the United States.

"Until the court decides the packers and stockyards' act to be as broad in its scope as Secretary Wallace construes it to be, judging from the notice served upon us, Swift & Co. must decline to comply."

Nudeness of the Stage Is Scored by Methodist Board

Washington.—A scathing denunciation of some New York theaters and plays was made by the board of temperance, prohibition and public morals of the Methodist church in its "Clip Sheet" issued here. The board charged: "For the first time the New York theater has sunk to depths of indecency . . . Young girls are in these theaters to be stripped of their last pretense of modesty." In one show, the board said, "girls troop down to the footlights naked from the waist up and practically naked from the waist down."

Boni Castellane to Sue Hearst for Half Million

Paris.—Because of sensational articles appearing in the Hearst newspapers in America, which he says prevent him from mingling socially and diplomatically in European society, Count Boni de Castellane decided to sue the American newspaper publisher for $500,000 for garbling and misquoting his memoirs.

Chinese Bandits Kidnap an American; Let Four Women Go

Shanghai.—E. W. Schmalzreid, an American missionary attached to the Reformed church in the United States, whose mission is at Chenchow-Fu, Hunan, has been kidnaped by bandits while on his way from Changteh, Hunan, to Tungjun, Kweichow. Four women who were accompanying Mr. Schmalzreid were permitted to resume their journey.

Chicago to Get National Convention, Upham Says

New York.—The Republican national convention next year will be held in Chicago, according to Fred W. Upham, treasurer of the Republican national committee. Mr. Upham gave this as his opinion after a conference with Charles D. Hilles, Republican national committeeman from New York.

Food Rioters Sack Silesian Farms and Burn Homes

Berlin.—As a result of the food boycott announced by the nationalistic farmers against all Silesian towns, the unemployed in the district resorted to arson. The establishments of thousands of farmers were burned, while the plunderers were stealing crops and driving away herds of cattle.

Would Get Out of Philippines.

Washington.—American withdrawal from the Philippines will be proposed in a resolution which Senator King (Dem., Utah) said he will introduce immediately after the convening of the senate.

Shows Speed.

St. Louis, Mo.—The Federal Home Building corporation, incorporated here a year ago, but in active operation only seven months, was shown to be $233,959 short in its accounts, according to an auditor's report.

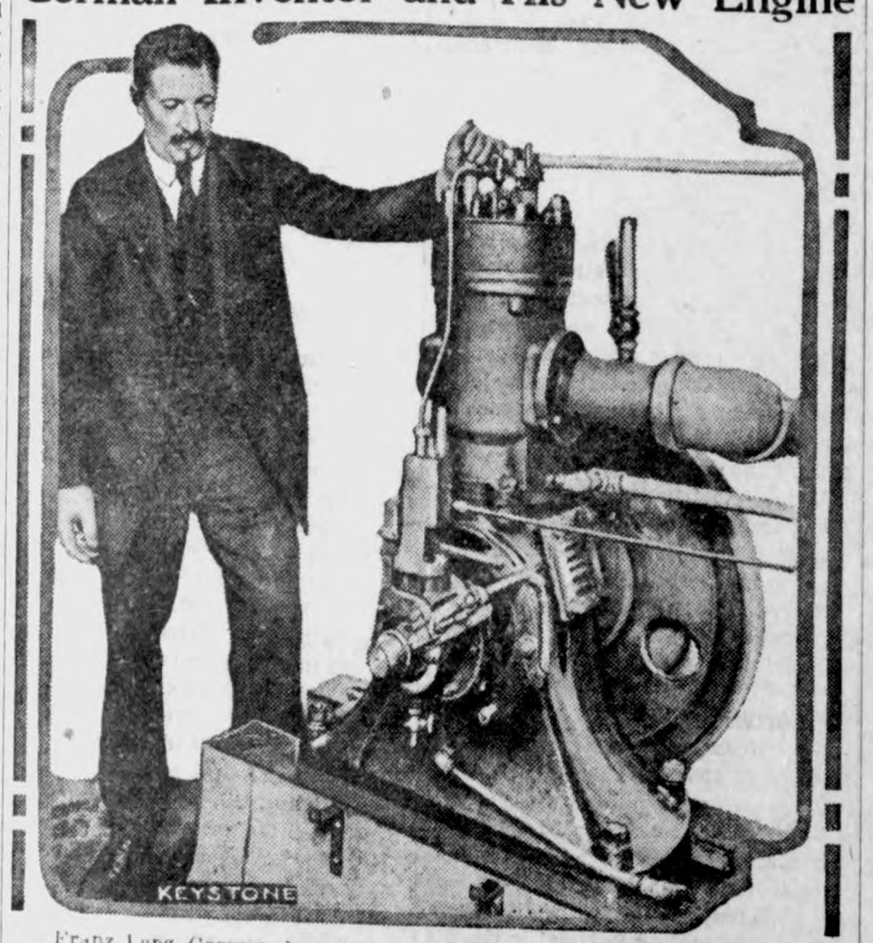
Bank Girls Trained to Shoot Straight at Bandits

Aroused by the recent epidemic of holdups in Greater New York, the managers of banking institutions the been training their employees, men and women alike, to shoot straight at robbers. The girls in the photogr clerks in a Brooklyn bank.

Woman's Party's New Slogan Banner

Janet Fouts and Margaret Raef, carrying the new slogan banner of the Woman's party which was carried by the deputation to President Coolidge recently. They are wearing the new national costume that was worn then. Miss Fouts is of Washington, while Miss Raef is from Milwaukee, Wis.

German Inventor and His New Engine



Franz Lang, German inventor, and his engine, a new invention which he claims can use olive oil or goose grease as easily as gasoline as a fuel. An oil vaporizer breaks up the oil into a fine gas which leaves no trace of carbon.

Old Southern School Gets New Flags

Presentation of new national and state flags marked the occasion of the "Old Porter Boys" reunion at Porter Military academy, Charleston, S. C. They were the gift of chapters of the Daughters of the American Revolution and the United Daughters of the Confederacy.

NO WONDER HE WA

Col. Macks Willard of Los A tells a tough luck story. He's 7 inches tall and weighs 310, s get clothes, shoes, hats or oth ments unless they're made to No girl will marry him becau couldn't be on the level with hi has to pack his own bed along h no hotel has one long enough to war, but was too much of a being shot nine times; has to the back row or rent a box at t ater, and can't use a telephone because they're not built big e But to pretty Lille Buker be c that there's one advantage an is he's so tall he can see all the girls in a crowd.

SON OF OLDEST FATH

The father of this sturdy Himan Dutcher, aged seventy-el Oswego, N. Y., is now claimin title of the oldest father in the States. The baby, Desmond Irwin Dutcher, is six months o

YOU CAN SEE HE WO

Mayor-Elect Kendrick of Ph phia reading the election returns. him is Miss Charlotte Nash, wh "Miss St. Louis" in the Atlanti beauty pageant last year.

Hawkeye .. State News

nteresting Items Gathered From all Parts of Iowa

e City of Colfax is just complet- a $160,000 paving project which give it forty-six blocks of pavmployment conditions in Iowa satisfactory, according to the re- of the United States department abor for October which is releas- oday.

he new 1924 auto license tags have ved and will be ready for distri- on by the motor vehicle depart- t soon. The tags have white fig- on a black background.

ore fines will be collected by the fish and game department dur- November if the present rate ps up than in other other month record in the department.

arroll county boys are engaged in orn husking tournament, most of country schools having been dis- ed for a week or two to allow boys to help in the field.

reaths of silk leaves and dull sil- berries are worn becomingly by young Iowa girls this season. are worn by the bobbed and un- bed.

he court has declined to appoint uardian for Dick Witte, 80-year-old helor, who raises ginseng on land produces $80,000 an acre near den.

large delegation of Des Moines iness men will attend the meet- of the northern central division the National Chamber of Com- ce at Chicago January 21st and d.

he grading of the Lincoln High- is now completed between Tama Belle Plaine and all detour signs removed. This new grade is a tiful piece of road and is in fine pe.

he Iowa Association of Progres- Chiropractors, at their annual eting, adopted a resolution oppos- any change in the present Iowa s regarding the practice of chiro- ctic.

A wheat commission plan of hand- America's surplus wheat is now g worked out in his department, ry C. Wallace, secretary of agri- ture, indicated in an address re- tly.

o be consigned to the flames is g to be the lot of a good many nch bugs this winter, if the bug- ning campaigns now being work up over the state develop as nned.

Only 20 per cent of the demands corn huskers are being supplied cause of the shortage of men for s work, according to the manager the state federal employment bu- an here.

Blanchard boys don't all play foot- l. Walter Reece who has been king corn for R. S. BcKie, husked ot slip shucked) and cribbed Nov. h, 162 bushels between sun up and down.

In the Des Moines library system th its five branches and twelve tions, 160,000 volumes are in cir- lation among 40,000 registered bor- ers, according to the record of e librarian.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy D. Brown of r Lamoni are among the most suc- ful poultry raisers in Iowa. They e a flock of 1,000 white Leghorn s and a modern, well improved ltry farm.

Dr. Morley Jull, recently appoint- chief in poultry husbandry in the partment of agriculture, points out at the country must eat more eggs, order to maintain prices profitable the producer.

Cattle are purchased in South erica according to dress weight d bring only about one-fourth as ch as in Iowa, according to Char- Thompson, formerly head cattle yer for Armour & Co.

In the northern half of Iowa some ceptionally good work has been e on the roads. The traveler in y kind of a car can ride from Ma- n City to Algona, a distance of fifty- r miles on as good paving as there in any city in Iowa.

Tuberculosis Christmas seals will placed on sale in Polk county ools immediately after Thanksgiv- . Each school has a right to use the proceeds for health equip- nt of its own. The other half s to the general work of fighting erculosis in Iowa.

The biggest single paving job ever dertaken in Iowa—Black Hawk nty's twenty-three mile stretch of Red Ball highway and the Water- and Hudson road—will be com- ed ahead of the specified time the paving contractors will follow pace set by the grading and bridge ws.

Practical instruction in housekeep- is being offered for the second r by the home economics division Iowa State College to women who not care to take a four-year course, who either are already house- es or who expect sooner or later become homemakers.

A new silver loving cup, to be rded to the school children of the e which makes the best showing the tuberculosis crusade each , has been presented to the Na- al Tuberculosis association by John H. Peck of Des Moines presi- of the Iowa association.

LEGION BAND AT CONVENTION

Wichita (Kan.) Organization, Made Up of Former Service Men, Attends National Meeting.

The American Legion band of Wichita, Kan., one of the first musical organizations formed entirely from membership of the former service men's association, represented the state at the national convention in San Francisco.

The band is composed of 45 musicians, and was awarded $1,500 from the Legion's state treasury in order to help pay the expense of taking the musicians to the convention city. The band was organized early in 1922 and went to New Orleans with 22 musicians. In competition with bands from all over the country, the organization received seventh place, despite the small instrumentation. The band has played many local engagements since the 1922 convention, among these being a contract with the city of Wichita for municipal concerts, and for the International Wheat and Farm exposition. Lester Weatherwax, formerly director of the Three Hundred and Forty-first Field Artillery band and well known on lyceum and chautauqua circuits, directs the organization.

HEAVY CHARGES ON CASKET

Tag Calling for Two Hundred Forty-Six Dollars on Box Containing Unclaimed Body.

The body of a World war veteran who died in a government hospital 3,000 miles from home recently arrived in Wilmington, N. C., with charges totaling $246 attached to the casket. No relatives could be found to meet the body, nor was there any one to pay the charges.

The body was that of Seaman E. I. Vause, who succumbed in the Veterans' Bureau hospital in Palo Alto, Cal.

When no one appeared to take charge of the remains, J. L. Sprunt, commander of the local post of the American Legion, guaranteed the charges and the body was interred with full Legion ceremonies.

Protest was immediately filed with Veterans' Bureau authorities because of shipment of the remains without first ascertaining if relatives could provide sufficient means to pay the shipping charges. An explanation will be sought from those in charge, as a recent ruling provides payment of transportation charges to the place of burial.

CONCERT FUNDS GO TO NEEDY

Prominent Artists to Participate in Program Planned by Ohio Legion Post.

A concert series in Columbus, O., at which some of the leading operatic artists in the nation are to appear, is sponsored by the American Legion county council.

Direction of the concerts is by Gen. Chauncey B. Baker, department commander of the Legion in that state. Madame Schumann-Heinke, Mischa Elman and Louis Gravure have been announced as three of the artists to appear. The concerts will be given in Memorial hall.

Funds from the events will be turned over to the Legion for the purpose of aiding needy ex-service men and women.

Question Answered.

The old lady tourist in Florida was interestedly viewing a monster alligator and finally demanded of the attendant:

"You say you don't have to feed him very often. What kind of food does he like best?"

"Babies, ma'am," replied the man, mildly.

"Why, mercy me; how horrible! I shouldn't think the law would allow you to feed him such things."

"It doesn't, ma'am," asserted the attendant. "We feed him fish, mostly, but you asked what he liked best."—American Legion Weekly.

Friend of Ex-Service Men.

A believer in the employment of ex-service men, Richard Hardy, president of the Dixie Portland Cement company at Richard City, Tenn., is offering additional incentive for his employees to become members of the American Legion. Of the 61 former service men in the employ of the cement company, 58 are members of Marion post No. 62 of the Legion. The interest of Mr. Hardy in the Legion post has raised its membership from 40 Legionnaires to more than 100 veterans.

Post Composed of Indians.

A post of the American Legion, composed entirely of Chippewa Indians who served in the World war, has been formed on a reservation at Reserve, Wis. National Commander Alvin Owsley was made a chieftain of the tribe, when he paid a visit to the Wisconsin convention of the Legion. The Legion official was named "Beautifying Bird" in honor of the tribe's greatest orator. He is said to have been the first white man to be accorded this honor.

Legion Parkway 155 Feet Wide.

The widest cement thoroughfare in Brockton, Mass., and believed to be one of the widest in the nation, is known as the American Legion parkway. The parkway is 155 feet in width. It replaces a residential section and affords parking places for hundreds of automobiles. The thoroughfare was named for the Legion in honor of the service its members rendered during the World war.

The Thanksgiving Pumpkin

SUMMER has been out here, and walked—
Oh, just a little more than was required;
She sat calmly here and talked and talked—
Oh, it was good talk, but it made us tired.
The splendid truth that's in the tulip tree
She blurred too daintily with leaf and flower;
And in a leafy-soft garrulity
She wrapped the locust tree and masked his power.
The corn is cut and shocked. She'll walk no more
Across the field to comb the willow leaves
Until the willows let the great tears pour;
Nor hide the twiggy web the hornbeam weaves.
The corn is all that's left of Summer's chatter—
I think these pumpkins are her thoughts that matter.

—Melampus, in Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Bagster's Thankfulness

By M. L. U.

THE Bagsters came to us for Thanksgiving, as usual. Most of the families on the street double up in that way, except those who "go back to the old home for Thanksgiving." Mrs. Penniman and I would feel lost without the Bagsters.

After dinner we sat about the open fire in the library, and talked, with intervals of silence. That is, Bagster talked.

"I've been thinking a great deal today about thankfulness. It's all right—the ordinary, conventional thanksgiving for food, drink and all. I was running through an old Anthology of Poetry—that started me. Ran across a lot of poems by that wonderful old Quaker-Patriot-Mystic, Whittier. There was one stanza at the close of his 'Lines for an Autumn Festival' that struck me particularly:

Thank Heaven instead that Freedom's arm
Can change a rocky soil to gold—
That brave and generous lives can warm
A clime with northern ices cold!

"'Twas the last part I mean—'brave and generous lives'! What don't we owe to them! Those of the past—those of the present. Those of our friends—those that we know only by report. And how many of them have given the glow of their warmth to this land since the colonists south and north held their first Thanksgiving! And they've not been lived in vain! Longfellow was right:

Whene'er a noble deed is wrought,
Whene'er is spoken a noble thought,
Our hearts in glad surprise
To higher levels rise.

The tidal wave of deeper souls
Into our inmost being rolls,
And lifts us, unawares,
Out of all meaner cares.

There were murmurs of assent. Then, from Mrs. Penniman: "Why should it be with glad 'surprise,' I wonder? Why not just simply with gladness?"

Bagster studied the coals a while before he spoke:

"Well, I don't know! It is a pity. Well, here—suppose we four practice thinking of the nobler deeds of humanity. And, more, expecting the best from people."

In varied phraseology we all agreed.

Bagster glowed upon us. "Came upon another fine stanza of Whittier's. I know it's the fashion, nowadays, to smile in a superior manner when Whittier, and Longfellow, and Tennyson, and the rest, of the past century, are mentioned, but—well, I'm an old-fashioned person, I'm afraid."

"So are we all old-fashioned," we reassured him. He went on:

"This was from a poem of Channing—William Ellery Channing—of whom Whittier writes: 'A man whose life, beautifully and truly manifested above the atmosphere of sect, is now the world's common legacy.' Well, here's the stanza, at last:

God blesses still the generous thought,
And still the fitting word He speeds,
And truth, at His requiring taught,
He quickens into deeds.

"Maybe not tremendously poetic poetry, but isn't it packed with inspiring truth! Another line I recall, from 'My Psalm': 'All the windows of my heart I open to the day!' Isn't that—even if indirectly expressed—a fine spirit of thankfulness? And there are stanzas in 'My Triumph' the very essence of noble thanksgiving:

Hail to the coming singers!
Hail to the brave light-bringers!
Forward I reach, and share
All that they sing and dare.

I feel the Earth move sunward,
I join the great march onward,
And take, by faith, while living,
My freehold of thanksgiving.

"And Browning—of course, he was represented in the Anthology. Everybody knows 'Rabbi Ben Ezra,' but I was especially struck, this time, by a stanza I'd rather read past, before:

Praise be Thine!
I see the whole design;
I, who saw power, see now Love perfect, too;
Perfect I call Thy plan;
Thanks that I was a man!
Maker, remake, complete—I trust what Thou shalt do!

"Then there is Tennyson. Listen to this:

Glory of warrior, glory of orator, glory of song,
Paid with a voice flying by to be lost on an endless sea—
Glory of Virtue, to fight, to struggle, to right the wrong—
Nay, but she aimed not at glory, no lover of glory she;
Give her the glory of going on, and still to be.

"Well, I'm talking too much!"

We demurred, vigorously. But he shook his head.

"Anyway, I know Mrs. Bagster thinks it's time for us to be going.

But another stanza of good old Whittier's has been sticking in my head; and in spite of all these things we'd like to have otherwise, these days, somehow there is a song in my heart, such as he sings in 'The Peace Autumn':

A song of faith that trusts the end
To match the good begun,
Nor doubts the power of Love to blend
The hearts of men as one!

"Amen!" we responded. And the going home started.

Things to Be Made at Home

DAINTY FURNISHINGS

Exquisite, lifelike roses are made of fine crepe paper and set in millinery foliage and stems. Two or three shades of rose-colored paper are used and every petal carefully shaped and arranged. A rose or two, in a bud vase, makes a lovely gift.

Plain toilet-water bottles are painted in wonderful color blends, with sealing wax paints, and flowers made of tape and sealing wax provide a little nosegay for the stopper.

ARTISTIC SCREENS

A regal-looking lady of old Egypt, painted in vivid Egyptian colors on cardboard, makes a fascinating telephone screen, appropriate for a man's room or the house phone. On the reverse side, lists of names and numbers and reports of calls are recorded on removable tablets that slip under narrow ribbon bands.

DAINTY LAMP SHADES

The prettiest new lamp and candle shades are made of plain and picot-edged ribbon, as shown in the illustration. Plain satin ribbon, in strips set together with narrow beading, and laid in shallow plaits, forms the shade, finished with ruffles of picot and plain ribbon. The lamp standard is also covered with the plain ribbon, scantily shirred and sewed row on row. This is a dainty and elegant gift suited to a boudoir reading stand or dressing table.

USE YARN TO MAKE TOYS

Amusing and grotesque dolls and animals are made of wires wound with heavy yarns. Millinery wire will answer for the frames or skeletons, which may be padded with cotton before they are wound with zephyr or coarse yarn. Beads or buttons are used for eyes .A horse, jockey and dog are pictured.

WOMEN OF MIDDLE AGE

Relieved of Nervousness and Other Distressing Ailments by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Brooklyn, N. Y.—"I first took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound four years ago, and am taking it now for the Change of Life and other troubles and I receive great benefit from it. I am willing to let you use my letter as a testimonial because it is the truth. I found your booklet in my letter-box and read it carefully, and that is how I came to take the Vegetable Compound myself. It has given me quiet nerves so that I sleep all night, and a better appetite. I have recommended it already to all my friends and relatives."—Mrs. ENGLEMANN, 2032 Palmetto St., Ridgewood, Brooklyn, N.Y.

For the woman suffering from nervous troubles causing sleeplessness, headache, hysteria, "the blues," Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will be found a splendid medicine. For the woman of middle age who is passing through the trials of that period, it can be depended upon to relieve the troubles common at that time.

Remember, the Vegetable Compound has a record of nearly fifty years of service and thousands of women praise its merit, as does Mrs. Englemann.

You should give it a fair trial now.

CURES COLDS — LA GRIPPE
in 24 Hours — in 3 Days
BILL'S CASCARA QUININE BROMIDE
Standard cold remedy world over. Demand box bearing Mr. Hill's portrait and signature.
At All Druggists—30 Cents

Cuticura Soap
—The Healthy—
Shaving Soap
Cuticura Soap shaves without mug. Everywhere 25c.

Many a man would talk less about justice if there was a remote possibility of his getting it.

Why Suffer Pain

from a cut or burn? Cole's Carbolisalve stops pain instantly and heals quickly without a scar. Keep it handy. All druggists, 30c and 60c, or J. W. Cole Co., Rockford, Ill.—Advertisement.

A noble mind disdains not to repent.

Help That Achy Back!

Are you dragging around, day after day, with a dull, unceasing backache? Are you lame in the morning; bothered with headaches, dizziness and urinary disorders? Feel tired, irritable and discouraged? Then there's surely something wrong, and likely it's kidney weakness. Don't neglect it! Get back your health while you can. Use Doan's Kidney Pills. Doan's have helped thousands of ailing folks. They should help you. Ask your neighbor!

An Iowa Case

Mrs. S. M. Campbell, 626 Spring St., Grinnell, Ia., says: "I had a dull ache across the small of my back. At times this pain became sharp like a knife stabbing into my back. I also had dizzy spells and could hardly walk. My head ached terribly and I felt tired and worn out. Doan's Kidney Pills helped me right away."

Get Doan's at Any Store, 60c a Box
DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS
FOSTER-MILBURN CO., BUFFALO, N. Y.

CORNS

Stop their pain in one minute!

For quick lasting relief from corns, Dr. Scholl's Zino-pads stop the pain in one minute by removing the cause—friction and pressure.

Zino-pads are thin, safe, antiseptic, healing, waterproof and cannot produce infection or any bad after-effects. Three sizes—for corns, callouses and bunions. Cost but a trifle. Get a box today at your druggist's or shoe dealer's.

Dr Scholl's Zino-pads

Put one on - the pain is gone

SELDOM SEE a big knee like this, but your horse may have a bunch or bruise on his ankle, hock, stifle, knee or throat.
ABSORBINE
TRADE MARK REG. U.S. PAT. OFF.
will clean it off without laying up the horse. No blister, no hair gone. Concentrated—only a few drops required at an application. $2.50 per bottle delivered. Describe your case for special instructions, and Book 8A free.
W. F. YOUNG, Inc., 510 Lyman St., Springfield, Mass.

LUDEN'S
MENTHOL COUGH DROPS
for nose and throat
Give Quick Relief

DENTIST
J. L. Hesselhuus, D. D. S.
Office Hours 8-12 1-5:20
Office Opposite State Savings Bank; In Schaffer Bldg.
Evening Work By Appointment Only
Klemme, Ia. Phone 81

TYPEWRITER RIBBONS
All Makes

Typewriter Ribbons for sale at the Times Office all of the Standard makes. Ribbons 75 cents each.

Golden State Limited
Rock Island
only 3 nights en route to California
Los Angeles
San Diego
Santa Barbara
Through Standard sleepers every day in the year from Twin Cities and Des Moines.
Through tourist sleepers Tuesdays and Thursdays
"The best meals on wheels"
Consult Rock Island Ticket Agent or address
J. C. Gardner, G. A. P. D. Rock Island Lines 600 Royal Union Life Bldg., Des Moines, Iowa
Rock Island Lines

SHERIFF'S SALE

Frank Quigley and Peter Quigley
vs.
W. K. Blackwell, Iris E. Blackwell, Iowa Farm Investment Company and the American Bankers Securities Company.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, That by virtue of a Special Execution issued out of the office of the Clerk of the District Court, in Hancock County, on a judgement rendered November 1st, 1923, October Term of said Court, A. D. 1923, for the sum of Thirty Two Thousand Two Hundred Eighty Four & 90-100 Dollars debt, and Three Hundred Eighty Four & 79-100 Dollars costs, in favor of Frank Quigley and Peter Quigley and against W. K. Blackwell, and Iowa Farm Investment Company and to the Sheriff of Hancock County directed, I have levied upon the following described property, to-wit:

The North Half (N½) of Section Twenty-four (24) Township Ninety-four (94) North, Range Twenty-four (24) West of the 5th P. M. Hancock County, Iowa.

NOW, THEREFORE, Public Notice is hereby given that I shall, on the 3rd day of December, 1923, at 10 o'clock A. M., at the front door of the Court House, in Garner, in Hancock County, offer and sell at public outcry, to the highest bidder for cash, all the right, title and interest that the above named W. K. Blackwell, Iowa Farm Investment Company had on the 2nd day of November A. D. 1923, or now have in and to the above described property, or so much thereof as is necessary to satisfy said execution, together with costs and all accruing costs, unless the same shall be sooner satisfied.

Dated at the Sheriff's office in Garner, this 2nd day of November, A. D. 1923.

E. P. HANSON,
Sheriff of Hancock County, Iowa.
(Pub. Nov. 22-29, 1923.)

Typewriter ribbons at the Times Print Shop. Black, and Red and Black for all standard machines, at 75c. There is no better ribbon than the Remington. tfc

WE EMPHASIZE STORMIZING BECAUSE—

1.—It is the most important work. It deals with the very "heart" of the motor—the cylinders. If the cylinders are neglected or not repaired RIGHT, the car will not give satisfaction, no matter how careful and how thoroughly any other work may have been done.

2.—STORMIZING is the best method known for re-machining cylinder bores. It redeems your old motor—Makes it better than new. The cylinder walls are made absolutely true, straight and round. They will have a mirror-like finish that means perfect compression, full use of power, and lasting, satisfactory service.

PAVEY'S STORMIZING SHOP, Klemme, Iowa.
Authorized Service
Auto Mechanics —All Work Guaranteed— General Blacksmithing

EAGLE "MIKADO" Pencil No. 174

For Sale at your Dealer Made in five grades
ASK FOR THE YELLOW PENCIL WITH THE RED BAND
EAGLE MIKADO
EAGLE PENCIL COMPANY, NEW YORK

THE CRYSTAL CAFE
THE HOME OF GOOD EATS
CANDIES— —SOFT DRINKS— —CIGARS
MEALS and LUNCHES
Fresh Bread Always on Hand Buy It Here
Our motto is fair treatment and prompt service
We solicit your patronage. Come and see us.
CONRAD QUANDT, Proprietor

Five Years General Practice
Dr. D. P. Anderson
Graduate Veterinarian
Office at Kahrs' Drug Store Phone 4009
Klemme, Iowa

GEORGE ZINN, M. D.
Physician and Surgeon
Office opposite from Hotel Klemme
Phone No. 19
Eyes Examined Glasses Fitted

$3,700.00 POSTAGE ON LETTER RECEIVED FROM GERMAN WRITER

PLCMOUTH, Nov. 28.—L. L. Heniselman received a letter from Berlin Germany which bears postage stamp to the amount of 15,000,000 marks; this amount being the new letter rate to the U. S.

As far as the American exchanges is concerned the mark is worth a little less than nothing. The letter bore three of the 5,00,000 mark values, the total postage amounting to $3,700,000 pre-war value. Present value about 5 or 10 cents.

The letter was mailed Oct. 17 and by this time the stamps are obsolete the 10,000,000 mark taking their place.

Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Keraus drove to Algona last Friday to remain until Sunday evening for a visit with their daughter, Mrs. Tom Mitchell and husband. The Mitchells are going to move to Little Falls, Minnesota the first of the month where "Tommy" will follow his proession as an optician. Then Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Keraus and family, and Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Waterman and baby drove to Algona and the families all enjoyed a sort of a reunion and farewel dinner combined.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Keraus are entertaining for Thanksgiving dinner at their home, their parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Keraus; and C. G. Waterman and family and Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Mitchell, of Algona.

Lured "Skeeters" to Death.

During the recent hot season pedestrians in a Jersey suburban town were mystified each night about bedtime by an unusual performance in a residence. Every window in the house was darkened except one. A bright light of round proportions was seen upon the screen of this window; now at the top; now at the bottom; now in the center, moving rapidly as with a set purpose.

The solution, as discovered, reveals a new plan of warfare on mosquitoes. The man of the house hit upon the scheme of putting a flashlight on the screen to induce the mosquitoes to alight upon the wire. They were then finished with a swatter. Some nights later the flashlight device was seen at work in a dozen other houses on the thoroughfare.—New York Sun.

"JUST LIKE DADDY," AN ECONOMIC FORCE

By J. H. PUELICHER
President the American Bankers Association.

J. H. Puelicher

"Like Daddy"—these two words, that express the imitative nature of children, occur to me as I think of our parental responsibilities in respect to both the thriftiness and the thriftlessness of our boys and girls. The accent belongs on both aspects of the case, for we have yet to find a person who is the perfect example of thrift.

Even Ben Franklin admitted his lack of attainment after his years of self-admonishment and self-criticism—and his temptations were not so great as those of today. Every reader will admit his deficiency in thrift. So will I. And what of our children? Will they copy us? Will their attitude toward thrift be "like Daddy's?" Will it be thrifty or thriftless?

It will at least be largely influenced by it. The thrift of the next generation is in the hands of the present. If our children are "out of hand" on their habits, whom have we to blame but ourselves?

Remember this: The next generation will be subject to the same laws of economics, the same rules of success, the same principles of happiness, as prevail today. A habit of thrift is one of the best possible characteristics we can mould into our children's natures during their habit-forming years. Its value will be apparent throughout maturity, whatever their lot, whether at the helm of large enterprise or steering the more humble affairs of a home.

Thrift will be the basic principle in the economic life of our nation and its system of producing and exchanging commodities. Thrift is always both of social and of individual advantage. Each day finds us expanding both in breadth and in depth of our resources of enjoyment and our opportunities for service as we practice thrift.

But how shall we bring about habits of thrift? Is there any other way than by teaching, whether by direct precept or by the unconscious example of our own habits, continually impressing themselves on the receptive minds of the young?

"Like Daddy" expresses one of the most powerful social and economic forces there is.

News of Goodell And Vicinty

W. L. Sherwood and family were Iowa Falls visitors Sunday.

Mrs. Wilkins of elmond was a Goodell caller Saturday.

Maude Griggs spent several days in the country visiting her sisters.

Warner Butts and his mother have moved into their new house. He also installed a radio.

Special song services were given by the choir Sunday night under the direction of Mrs. Thompson.

Mrs. C. F. Peters had the misfortune to all and throw her shoulder out of place.

Mr. and Mrs. Wiliiam Larner visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Kahrs, Friday evening.

The dance at Goodell Friday night was well attended. All report a good time.

..Mr. and Mrs. William Johnson entertained the north Avery Progressive Club Friday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Jay Griggs and Kenneth were entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Strasberg, last Sunday.

Mr. Frank Clark and children were at Hampton Saturday to see Mrs. Clark who is in the hospital there.

Mr. and Mrs. Tony Boller accompanied by Miss Mary Knolen and Arthur Lowenberg were entertained for 6 o'clock dinner at the Gus Menzel home of Belmond last Sunday.

GOODELL HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

Various intelligence tests and educational tests have been given during the past two weeks. In many cases the results have been very satisfactory. By the use of thees tests we can compare the efficiency of the local school yith other schools thruout the country. We are glad to say that we are not at the bottom by any means.

Nov. 17 Supt. C. F. Peters, Carroll Cashman, Thomas Quigley, Donnell Estle, and Harold Savogue drove to Ames to see the homecoming football game between Ames and Nebraska. Everyone had a good time and enjoyed the game very much. Between halves about four thousand high school boys who were guests of the College, marched around the field behind the Ames band. There was a large display of sweaters, penents and banners, representing various high scohols of Iowa.

The basketball teams played at Thompson, Nov. 23. There were three good games. While Goodell lost all of them, everyone from Goodell who saw the games were well satisfied with the showing the teams made. The grade boys played the first game of the season. Thompson's grade team was much larger than our boys but they held them to a tie score during the last half. The high school boys team played the best game up to date. Cashman and Estle were the stars for the Goodell team, while Isaac made most of the points for Thompson. The boys were hanidcapped because Captain Donald Meyer was not able to make the trip.

Friday, Nov. 23, the class in domestic science under the direction of Miss Orr, served the basketball teams a light lunch before levaing for Thompson.

Most of the teachers are planning on going home during Thanksgiving holidays.

Effie Clark has been absent for two weeks on account of the illness of her mother. The three Basket ball teams drove to Thompson after school to play basket ball Friday night.

The grade boys have organized a basket ball team.

The domestic science girls served lunch to the basket ball players and their teacher before leaving for Thompson.

This week was education week and Wednesday morning we had a ew current events on Education.

Friday morning was singing morning. We also had a pep meeting Friday morning.

Donald Meyer was absent from school Friday on account of sickness.

We've been learning some new yells. Corral Cashman is leader.

We are sorry to say that we have lost one of our best basket ball players from the girls team.

Will Burn CVhinch Bugs Out

Chinch bug burning campaigns will be conducted in 13 o the southern two tiers of counties in Iowa, beginning about the first of December according to Fred D. Butcher, extension entomologist of Ames, who will assist the county agents in the work. The aim is to get the farmers in the bug infested counties to burn the harbors.

Women's community clubs have been responsible for much poultry culling in Clay county.

LOOK——BOYS AND GIRLS OF KLEMME
You Can Win Free Prizes
In The —DIAMOND BREAD—
—VOTING CONTEST—

Thirty big prizes, including bicycles skates, rifle, Scout knives, manicure set and many other handsome gfts will be gven to the boys and girls who will

SEND IN THE MOST DIAMOND BREAD WRAPPERS

Come to our store and get full praticulars or write to the MASON CITY BAKING COMPANY, MASON CITY, IA.

—Get Busy Boys and Girls and Win An Xmas Gift—

G. W. Kluckhohn & Sons

Short Time INVESTMENTS--

For the CAREFUL INVESTOR who has money to lend for a period of from ONE TO FIVE YEARS, our 7% CONVERTIBLE GOLD NOTES offer an opportunity to earn a good interest rate with SAFETY.

THESE NOTES are DIRECT OBLIGATIONS of the Company, backed by STRONG PROPERTY VALUE, and EARNINGS.

The Conversion Privilege has a distinct value.

The notes will be isued for $100, or Multiples thereof. Interest starst at once, and is paid Quraterly, or Semi-annually as desired.

We will be glad to give you the particulars if you will write the Securities Department, at 215 South Second St., Cedar Rapids, or see our Manager.

Iowa Falls Electric Co.
Iowa Falls, Iowa

EDE FUR COATS--

PRICES CHEAPER THAN A GOOD CLOTH COAT .....
EDE GIVES A LIFE TIME GUARANTEE!

Have that hide or fur converted into a beautiful FUR COAT—either ladies or gentlemens, at a very small cost.

We can also have hides and furs made into RUGS, COLLARS, CAPS, MITTENS, GLOVES, MUFFS, ETC.

The cost of having hides and furs tanned and made up is very reasonable and the resultis abeautifuljob you will be proud of.

If you do not have yourownhide or fur EDE can supply you with one at a small extra cost. It will pay you to to see us about prices.

FOR INSTANCE—

We will have tanned and made up a complete EDE FUR COAT, of horse or cow hide, with collar of same for only———...$23.95

We can have your horse or cow hide tanned and made up into a most beautiful Standard size Robe, bouble border, plush lined for only..$18.75

Waranted not to rip or rot. Coats Guaranteed To Fit.

J. P. Larsen & Sons
The Klemme Meat Market

FOR SALE— A few choice BIG TYPE

CHESTER WHITE BOARS

Sired by some of the prize winning boars of the breed.
These boars are from extra good sows and from big litters.
They are eligible to registry and will be sold as guaranteed breeders if notified by January 1st.
Priced reasonable.
Phone 414, Meservey. 1 1-2 miles north and 1 mile west of Meservey, Iowa.

E. S. BARKER, MESERVEY, IA.

Cold Weather Accessories

Cold weather is already here and it will pay you to prepare your car now; that you may enjoy winter driving and also be assured of damages and expense caused in freezing weather.

We are giving a few suggestions in the following list of accessories that you should have for winter:—

DE LUXE HEATERS—all styles.
MOTOR METERS
PEDAL PANTS—keep out drafts
RADIATOR and HOOD COVERS
ALCOHOL—prevents freezing up
WINTER OIL—light, best for motors
COMMUNITYGAS—has lots of pep!
SIDE CURTAINS, Etc.
NON-SKID CHAINS

SOMETHING NEW—Let us install a CLYMER Spot Light in your car—the kind that works from the inside of your car and it fastened right thru the windshield. Fine for a Coupe or Sedan. We have a machine to bore a hole in your windshield and can install one for you in a few minutes—the best spotlight you ever saw.

Note: Clean your car with Simons "Simonizer" and Kleener—takes the old dirt off down to the original finish and makes your car look like new. A lasting finish that will withstand winter weather.

Greimann Motor Co.

Avery Township

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Roth and Al Williams were Goodell callers Thursday night.

Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Ross of Garner were callers at the William Bell home Friday afternoon.

Lloyd Brugman is husking corn down near Goodell since finishing at home.

Arthur Wade was a caller at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hank Wades last Saturday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Trampel, and three sons went to Kamar, Saturday for an over Sunday visit with relatives.

Chris Anderson bought a carload of cattle while in Chicago last week and had them shipped here. The cattle arrived in Klemme Friday.

After this the club girls were given a delightul lunch consisting of sandwiches, pickles ,cake, fruit salad and coffee. The next meeting will be a Christmas meeting held at the home of Anna and Wemkie Trampel on December 22nd.

The Ship Ahoy Club of Avery Township met at the home of Vera Bachman and Margie Anderson on Saturday Nov. 24 with ten members and their leader with three visitors present. After theb usiness meeting came the sewing hour, after which came a riddle contest, which was lots of fun.

PUBLIC AUCTION

Having ddissolved partnership we will hold a public auction on the old Gus Carlson farm located 2½ miles southeast of Klemme and 2 miles east and 4 miles north of Goodell, on

WEDNESDAR, DECEMBER 5

—Sale to begin at 1:00 P. M.—

51— HEAD OF LIVVE STOCK —51

5 Head of Horses

1 roan team 7 and 8 years old, wt 2600; 1 gray mare 8 years old wt 1300; 1 black mare 3 years old, wt 1000; 1 spotted mare 8 years old in foal.

26 Head Of Cattle

10 head of milch cows in calf; 3 heifers coming 2 years old in aclf; 4 steers coming 2 years old; 8 head of spring and summer calaes; 1 bull coming 2 years old.

Hogs

20 head of summer shoats.

Machinery, Etc.

1 wagon and box; 1 8-t. disc; 1 2-row corn plow; 1 single row corn plow; 1 John Deere 16-in. sulky plow 1 set 1¼ harness; 5 horse collars; 1 cutter; 1 International corn planter with 120 rods wire; 1 manure spreader and many other articles too numerous to mention.

Some hay in stack.

Terms—8 months time at 8%.

BRUGMAN & WILKINS
Proprietors

H. Brummond, Auctioneer — Goodell Sav. Bank Clerk

Why Railroad Rates Have Increased in the Past 10 Years

Price of coal increased	156%
Price of ties increased	180%
Price of cars increased	146%
Average wages increased	130%
Taxes increased	154%

But—

Freight rates increased only	60%
Passenger rates increased only	51%

Rock Island

"Seventy-one Years of Service"

Rock Island Lines
J. E. Gorman
President

FINANCIAL STATISTICS OF THE STATE GOVERNMENT OF IOWA, 1922

Expenditures

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Nov. 29—The Department of Commerce announces that according to reports made to the Bureau of the Census the costs of government for the state of Iowa for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1922, amounted to $32,392,946, which was a per capita cost of $13.27. In 1918 the per capita cost was $4.86, and in 1915, $3.98, the totals of these years being $11,502,353 and $9,201,661, respectively. The per capita costs for 1922 consisted of expenses of general departments, $6.68; payments for interest, less than one-half of 1 cent; and for outlays, $6.58. Chief among the outlay payments were $1,000,000 for schools, and $14,000,000 for highways.

Revenues

The total revenue receipts for 1922 were $31,907,084, or $13.07 per capita. For the fiscla year the per capita excess of governmental costs over revenue receipts was, therefore, $0.20. However, the revenue receipts exceeded the costs for the ordinary operation and maintenance and the payments for interest, excluding outlays, by $6.39. The excess of per capita payments over revenue receipts is largely on account of permanent improvements, the costs of which were met by the issuance of debt obligations; such obligations are not considered a source of revenue receipts.

In Iowa property and special taxes represented 30.7 per cent of the total revenue for 1922, 51.7 per cent for 1918, and 62.0 per cent for 1915. The increase in the amount of property and special taxes collected was 14.7 per cent from 1915 to 1918, and 45.3 per cent from 1918 to 1922. The per capita property and special taxes were $4.02 in 1922, $2.85 in 1918, and $2.55 in 1915.

Earnings of general departments or compensation for services rendered by state officials, represented 13.8 per cent of the total revenue for 1922, 21.0 per cent for 1918, and 11.0 per cent for 1915.

Business and nonbusiness licenses constituted 38.2 per cent of the total revenue for 1922, 23.1 per cent for 1918, and 21.8 per cent for 1915. Receipts from business licenses consist chiefly of taxes exacted from insurance and other incorporated companies, while those from nonbusiness licenses comprise taxes on motor vehicles and amounts paid for hunting and fishing.

Indebtedness

The net indebtedness (funded and floating debt less sinking fund assets) of Iowa was $0.08 per capita for 1922, and $0.05 for 1918.

Assessed Valuations and Tax Levies

For 1922 the assessed valuation of property in Iowa subject to ad valorem taxation was $1,766,033,081; the amount of taxes levied was $12,514,369; and the per capita levy, $5.12.

THE GOOSE HANGS HIGH

Where They Are Spending Thanksgiving Today

Of course we do not know where everybody in this vicinitp will spend Turkey Day, but we gathered the following list:

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gruetzmacher and daughter, Glenna, are spending the day with Mr. and Mrs. Harold Gruetzmacher at Britt.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Fuller and daughter, Mavis, of Clear Lake are being entertained at the home of Mrs. Phil Behringer.

Mr. and Mrs. Chris Blumer will have dinner with Mrs. Fern Katter at Garner.

Mrs. Lena Schoeder is entertaining for dinner all of the Barz families in this community, the Will Barz family of Garner, Grandma Schroeder and the M. Croner family.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Johnson and daughters will have Thanksgiving dinner at the Arthur Kudje home. Mr. Kudje's mother from Britt will also be present.

Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Day will entertain Mr. and Mrs. Will Smith and daughter. Mabel, and the D. D. Ross family of Garner.

R. A. Jorgenson and family will have Thanksgiving dinner at the J. Jorgenson home at Garner.

Many others of course that we do not know about.

Exactly 160 members exhibited club work at the Jasper county fair this fall.

25,000 persons attended the Jubilee at Oelwein this fall. The Fayette county arm bureau had a hand in the celebration.

CHOIR SINGS BUT MAKES NO SOUND

DUBUQUE, Nov. 28.—Thirty men here of St. Paul's Lutheran church sang several hymns at Sunday afternoon services here, but none of the singers made a sound.

They sang in the sign language, using one hand to express their voice less music. All were dea mutes employed by a local factory.

The services, "the first of their kind ever held here," were conducted by the Rev. J. A. Beyer of St. Paul, Minn. After preachnig a sermon for those of normal speech and hearing the minister repeated it on his fingers.

The Reverend Beyer plans to establish services for deaf mutes in a number o Iowa cities including, Des Moines, Cedar Rapids, Waterloo and Davenport, he announced.

IOWA CHAMPION BEATS SUCKER BY FOUR BUSHELS

DES MOINES. Nov. 28.—Husking 44.6 bushels of corn in two hours and twenty-two minutes, as compared with 40.6 bushels by his opponent, H. D. Paul, of Ipava, Ill., in the same length of time, John Rickelman of Mount Hamill won the Iowa-Illinois corn husking title yesterday in the match between the champions of the two states, held on hte Newlin farm, near heer. Rickelman, who won the state title last Saturday, received the prize o $50 given by Wallace's Farmer and a husking machine company for yesterday's contest.

The match yesterday is said to have been the first interstate corn husking contest ever held in the U. S and its sponsors hope to make it an annual event including more states in the competition.

Rickelman is 28 years old and lives on a farm in Lee County.

ANOTHER SWINE DAY PASSES

Results of Many Hog Feeding Tests Revealed Before 1,000 Visitors at Ames. Nov. 16

That "hogging down corn" to get pigs to "pork up" on it is nearly always a paying proposition is but one of many valuable tips more than 1,000 Iowa farmers took home with them from the seventh Iowa Swine Feeders day held at Iowa State College, Nov. 16. It was ably demonstrated that Iowa corn, aided by soy beans and tankage, compries one of the very best rations the farmer can provide for his porkers.

One of the important tests showed that the hogging down of soybeans raised with the corn also pays dividends. Six groups of 14 pigs each were fed differnet rations as follows: one group got standing corn and tankage; another standing corn and Machu soybeans; a third, standing corn, Manchu soybeans and tankage; a fourth, standing corn, rye and the tankage; fifth, standing corn, rape and tankage; and sixth, husked corn rape and tankage. A mineral mixture was fed to all of the pigs and the tankage was fed "free choice" style.

This experiment revealed some valuable information. The corn tankage lot and the corn tankage soybeans lot made the most economical gains. the figures being $5.32 per 100 pounds gain for the former and $5.38 for the latter.These figures indicate that soybeans, which the farmer can raise himself at comparatively low cost, may replace a part fo the high priced tankage.

Soybeans failed to prove their efficiency as a balancer of the corn ration. Daily gains were increased by 40 per cent and the cost of gains per 100 pounds was reduced from $5.84 to $5.38 by the addition of tankage to the ration.

In another test a combination of soybean meal and tankage proved an efficient balances for corn. Still another experiment showed that soybeans planted with corn will make better financial returns in the hogging down process than rye or rape put in at the last cultivation of the corn.

Other tests showed the advisability of feeding some kind of a mineral mixture to all classes of swine, the growing pigs, the breeding gilts and sows and the boars. Results secured in a six years' investigatino of wine types indicate that the large type hog is a better performer than either the medium or the small type hog. The large type sows farrowed an average of eight pigs per litter; the medium eight, and the small, seven pigs per litter.

Hall's Catarrh Medicine will do what we claim for it—rid your system of Catarrh or Deafness caused by Catarrh.

Sold by druggists for over 40 years

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio

FRED ETCHEN AND MISS HULDA GREIMANN MARRIED

Ceremony and Reception Held At The W. F. Greimann, Sr. Last Evening

The home of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Griemann, Sr., was the scene of a wedding last evening at 7:30 o'clock, Wednesday, November 28, when their daughter, Hulda, was united in marriage to Mr. Fred Etchen. The Rev. Schmidt of the Reformed church officiating.

After the wedding the fine home of Mr. and Mrs. Grieman was thrown open to the many young friends of this young couple and a reception for the newly-weds was given which was followed by a dance. All had a fine time.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Etchen are two very fine young people and are of the communities best. Both have a following of young friends who extend congratulations on the happy union and best wishes for a long and prosperous married life.

Mr. and Mrs. Etchen will move to the farm now occupied by Albert Etchen and family, but just when we do not know.

The Times also wishes to extend congratulations.

If it hadn't of been for Clarence Wiles we could have gotten away with it all right, but he came along just in time to spoil it and give the thing away. It happened that we ran out of gas a mile this side of Garner Tuesady evening when we were on the way to the Court House to deliver some job work. The dang fliver quit percolating and we and us hooed it to town to get some of the go-quick fluid for Henry. Wiles came along just in time to give us a ride back to the stranded gas-buggy. "Aha! You kidded Fred Musfelt last week about running out of gas, now tell 'em about yourself," says Wiles.

NOTICE

Everybody (irrespective of ... suit, condition or previous ser... tude) who owes Dr. Zinn, is going ... get a statement the fore part of ... ember. Please help him to sit ... stamps.

Now is the time to have your Battery charged or repaired.

Get it ready for Cold Weather now.

We charge and repair any and all makes of Batteries.

When in need of a new Battery—see us first.

Satisfaction Guaranteed

H. Lau Song

Alcohol

FOR YOUR RADIATOR

We have a big supply of denatured ALCOHOL on hand at this station now—the very kind we can buy, for your radiator. Drive in and we will put the proper mixture of alcohol and water in your radiator for any kind of freezing weather. Let us take care of your radiator this winte and test it for you and you take no chances on freezing it up and paying a costly repair bill.

WINTER OILS

Let us drain your car and refill with the proper grade of winter oil for your motor.

Drive up and fill 'er up!

Lewis' Service Station

Henry Lewis, Prop.

CAPTAIN SAZARAC

CHAPTER VIII—Continued.
—11—

"The wind is capital—although making English turn we shall have to pull-haul, doubtless. But who can pursue save one of the steamboats—and by the time the uproar goes that far—Bien!—what of it?"

"A shot from an eighteen-pounder and the teakettle will hesitate," growled Gorgio. "All is ready—waiting Monsieur de Almonaster's word for the river signal."

The swarthy-skinned marketmen laughed; their roving glances went from the idle croons at the stalls to the load of cabbages under which there protruded one rusty cutlass hilt which Gorgio now frowningly pushed back. Then he was on with his droning cry about the dark streets of the Vieux Carre.

Meantime, at the Ball d'Orleans, the fun was rising fast. The door, the deep-set windows, the low galleries about the hall, were filled with onlookers; while to the strains of a waltz from Les Amours du Diable sensuous women and fiery-tempered men whirled in giddy mazes. Frowned on by the aristocracy, and taboo with the haughty ladies of the Vieux Carre, yet few there were of the young fashionables who would not steal, now and then, to the revel. There arose the quarrels that led to the duellos out under the Oaks; there, on an instant, the scene might change from laughing, and men rush together in affray; or two of the hot-tempered dons of the old Spanish or French regime, or some restless Kentuckians, down-river, would exhange the cards that meant rapiers or pistols at sunrise.

The young Count de Almonaster was in a chaffing coterie at the vestibule. The town had been agog with this story about him today.

"Ho, Raoul!" cried De Marigny, "where is your new house guest?"

"Yes—Raoul, the proud, entertaining this gallant Saz-a-rac! Better you had counted the family silver ere you put him to bed! They say Lafitte put out from your hospitality to the Barataria swamps—and at once a lady disappears from her hotel!"

"I am just back from a search my- It was a shabby trick, but—"

The laughing gallants crowded "Lafitte turns up, and at once Orleans is in an uproar! The British consul fumes, and Colonel Carr denounces. His lady may well be in the tropics within a week!"

"Bah!" shouted the Chevelier de Montrieul, "here is Alderman Dominique, who was once buccaneer himself! I say, we are unworthy gallants! Under the Spanish governors we would all be out seeking to rescue the lady ourselves, rather than leave such romance to the authorities."

De Marigny twigged Raoul's laced cuff: "Come, we have a new beauty. I shall introduce you for one of the very contre-danses Anglais."

"I," retorted Raoul reservedly, "do not dance here, as you know."

"Why so haughty? A round, and we are all off to the Seraphine."

Raoul started. This would never do; the conspirators must seize the clipper before the party assembled on her decks. He was relieved to see Captain Bossiere—already chosen to command—come on smiling, waving a hand to the merrymakers.

"Messieurs! Is it not enough here? We shall make a long night on the Seraphine and discuss affairs. Ah, Monsieur Dominique, I am glad you are with us! And Monsieur de Almonaster, who has been won over at last to support the Napoleon expedition!"

Many curious and admiring eyes, indeed, were leveled on the tall, bronzed young man who followed to the bar. Old Dominique winked again at him. A buzz of talk ran around concerning these two who surely must know something about Lafitte which they chose not to disclose to the authorities.

De Marigny shouted good-humoredly to Raoul:

"We are discussing the flag, Monsieur! A flag for the Seraphine! La Barre insists it will not be good taste to fly the American colors now, with England and the United States at peace. Under what flag, Captain Bossiere, do we put to sea?"

Good Captain Bossiere pulled his whiskers and beamed on the laughing gallants. "That is to be settled. Also, tonight, who is to be second in command."

"And third!"

"And fourth!"

"And," bawled another youth, "I trust to be at least a midshipman!"

The flushed and merry Creole blades gathered closer. The costliest champagnes were spilling over bar and tables. Under the glitter of the crystal lamps, where the press was deepest, Captain Bossiere perspired and tried, in vain, to address them. From this laughing melee Dominique, the alderman, velvet-clad and rotund, found way and came to De Almonaster's side.

"And tonight," he muttered, "I wantder about, a respectable official of the city—and the sea is calling. As to Jean," he said with pointed abruptness, "what do you know, Monsieur?"

The young aristocrat could not be sure of how much the city conspirators had imparted to the complacent Dominique. He therefore shrugged indifferently: "The old fox is on familiar trails, Monsieur Dominique—do you know of any reason for absenting yourself tonight?"

"Eh?" queried the alderman darkly. Then, a hand on his shoulder. Jarvis, the portrait painter of the Vieux Carre,

By Charles Tenney Jackson

Copyright by The Bobbs-Merrill Company

for once cleanly arrayed in velvet, beruffled stock and a high hat! Jarvis, incredibly sober. Nodding to Alderman Dominique, he drew Raoul aside.

"The fools found I was right, eh? A lady stolen from our streets—and this Sazarac of the packets is my old captain." He smiled with some twitching pathos about his nervous lips. "Jean—and my lady. Ah, one might have guessed!" He stopped abruptly.

"What is it, Jarvis?" Raoul stared at him. Plainly, he knew nothing of Mademoiselle Lestron's disappearance upon the English bark, tonight slowly beating a way out of the Belize pass to the open Gulf.

"Sober," muttered the jester. "That is it. I have vowed to keep sober for her sake from half-past eleven to quite one o'clock . . . it was about the hour of the camellia. Ah—to a staircase fellow in the moonlight!"

His friend laughed curiously, but without understanding. "Every night"—continued Jarvis—"half-past eleven to one. It is a disastrous intermission. however. I have to arrange all my hours, both at the studio and the grog shops. Romance should keep better hours." He sighed: "Love has come like a flame to my darkness, Monsieur! I—who would have laid my dull head as a stone among the other cobbles for her footstep—and asked nothing! She has gone . . . they whisper, willingly, perhaps, with him. Ah, to play the part of Sazarac—one hour!"

"What are you driving at?" queried Raoul.

"This Sazarac—" muttered Jarvis. "I regret he was not himself. I would have had an affair at the Oaks. Can you imagine me, sober, well-arrayed and speared through the stomach because of a woman? I cannot. On second thought, of course not. The time, Monsieur—"

Many Curious and Admiring Eyes, Indeed, Were Leveled on the Tall, Bronzed Young Man Who Followed to the Bar.

"The time—" De Almonaster started, shot a suspicious glance at the town's jester. But Jarvis was not, apparently, in the conspiracy.

"To put aside my romance and resure my bottle. D—n!—not yet midnight" He turned impatiently and gnawed his cuff. "Jean has taken my lady— Eh, well! One's friend is one's friend!"

Raoul watched the mountebank's drawn, hungry face at the end of the crowded bar. Then he wandered to the street vestibule. The time for the attack must be approaching. Somewhere along the west bank of the Mississippi, but a few miles above, the Baratarians must be gathered for the embarkation and the silent drift downstream. Now that he had time to think soberly of it, Raoul's mind stumbled over the uncertainties of the mad venture. He knew that, about the city, two score of adventurers had armed and awaited secretly to aid the men of Johannes and Nez Coupe from the deep swamp. Seizing the unguarded ship at her moorings, even with the revel about her, would not be difficult. It was the next step when an unfavoring wind might leave the Seraphine helpless and adrift in the lower reaches of the river.

De Almonaster watched the faces of his familiars about the ballroom. He had been chaffed enough for his entertainment of the mysterious Sazarac out of the West. But even now the heedless youth were forgetting it. The affair Lafitte was being left to the authorities. The British Colonel Carr had already been courteously rejected from the gentlemen's company; the gentry, while most of them had but the merest hearsay about what the missing gamester, Sazarac, might have intended concerning Mademoiselle Lestron, could not endure Carr's infamous jest at Maspero's gaming-room. They believed, indeed, that the lady had fled of her own accord with the adventurer of the river packet, whom rumor said was Jean Lafitte. Eh, bien! It was not the first affair of women for Lafitte . . . there was the old story of the governor's lady when the Grand Terre chieftain was at his power.

Raoul saw, in the barroom, a score of tossing glasses upraised to some speech that Bossiere had concluded.

"The Seraphine," a dozen voices shouted, "and to the unknown flag she flies!"

The goblets clinked and broke; the air was a spray of crystal and champagne bubbles; then the laughing groups scattered. But about Captain Bossiere flushed youths clamored on.

"Devil take the dances! Monsieur Girod's banquet awaits us on the Seraphine. Let's finish the night there."

And a score of young men took up the cry. De Marigny came crowding to Raoul's side. "Come, there! You—Felix, La Barre—all of you! You can dance on the decks—but no women, mind! This is a secret session of the Napoleon plot!"

"Yes, and you with us, De Almonaster! You are a third backer of the enterprise since you took over the baroness' interests."

De Almonaster started as the jesting groups closed about him. It was but eleven o'clock! The conspirators across the river would never dream that the gentlemen-adventurers would quit the ball so early! He began to protest as the youth streamed to the street. But one glance at the gold-laced hat of the Seraphine's commander now leading the way, and Raoul whirled back and to the courtyard where the servants awaited.

At his low hail his groom came watchfully. "Teton, the ball is breaking up! With all speed the word to the market!"

The octoroon vanished silently. Raoul turned back through the ballroom, his heart beating wildly. He wondered if any saw his perturbation. It was too late to warn the Baratarians that the plans had changed. Already, far across the rue Royale past the cathedral to the Place d'Armes. the aristocrats were trooping, unarmed, save for their swords of fashion, to encounter unsuspectingly the desperate renegades of Lafitte summoned again from their deep swamp refuges.

"Madness!" the young man muttered. "They are ascending the gangway! The plot is lost! Sazarac will not dare lead his swamp bandits to face the gentlemen of the city already at their banquet seats!"

He lingered irresolutely and then went to the Plaza. If he could find one of the spies who had been all evening watching the course of events at the revel and passing the word, mouth to mouth, out to the upper levee so that the Baratarians across the river might be apprised, he could, even yet, ward off a disastrous failure.

But nowhere did he find one whom he could trust as being in the conspiracy. The groups of idling market men had scattered from the stalls.

The crowd on the rue de la Levee, gathered to watch this outdoor revel of the gentlemen-adventurers of the Napoleon ship, was thickening. Along the roped path between these onlookers the gold hat of Captain Bossiere moved with the gallants cheering in his wake. The gay rosettes and lanterns festooning the ship's rigging reflected upon the yellow flood murmuring along her side.

"I must be seen with them," murmured De Almonaster. "It is a sorry joke. Sazarac dare not face this revel to seize a ship—no, not for all his loves!"

He found his place to the right of Commander Bossiere. De Marigny had started a song of the day among the flushed youths near him:

"Mo l'aimin vous
Comme cochon aimin la boue!"

"Ah!" shouted one, catching sight of De Almonaster; and he translated the doggerel for a young American ensign: "'I love you as a little pig loves the mud!' It must be Raoul, seeing that he loves the Barataria swamps."

Raoul smiled; but his glance was out from the quarter-deck awnings to the yellow, silent flood of the mighty river. Big honest Commander Bossiere, a real seaman oddly out of place among the laughing youths, was unsteady from the toasts he had drunk.

"And there," cried La Barre, "comes another guest who must love the mud, seeing that he frequently rolls in it!"

The guests shouted as another belated one came unsteadily down the carpeted gangway to the deck. Jarvis, it was, the town's profligate, whose hour's tribute to his lady had turned to Bacchus promptly with the clock. The first bohemian of the French quarter raised his hand. In it was a staff with folded colors. And behind him marched six grim fellows in tarpaulin hats, red shirts and the new tight pants of the period, cutlassed and pistoled, who, without word, took position along the rail, and came to a salute as Jarvis bawled a mocking order.

The flushed aristocrats stared, then cheered, when the mummer pirates broke to hoarse song, a Creole air of the day:

"Di tems M'sieu Lafitte,
Ye te menin monde a la baguette—"

The guests seized it in glee. Another gibe at the smiling Count de Almonaster.

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

Boots.

Father bought a pair of hip boots, in anticipation of the coming fishing season. The boots greatly interested Ann, his three-year-old daughter, so one day when mother and father were preparing for a journey downtown, and mother was putting on her Russian boots, Ann turned to father and said:

"Daddy, why don't you wear your boots, too?"

ANOTHER NURSE PRAISES TANLAC

Mrs. Leona Culpepper, 17 Lucile Avenue, who was a trained nurse for fifteen years, is another highly esteemed Atlanta woman whose gratitude and desire to help others prompts her to tell of the wonderful results she derived from the Tanlac treatment.

"I had suffered from nervous indigestion and loss of appetite for four or five years," said Mrs. Culpepper, "and was nearly always nauseated. I had heartburn so bad I could hardly stand it, and became so weak and nervous I could hardly do my housework.

"Reading what Tanlac had done for others, I decided to try it, and by the time I finished the first bottle I was feeling so much better that I bought two more. When I had finished the third bottle I was feeling fine and had actually gained sixteen pounds. Tanlac is all that is claimed for it."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Take no substitute.—Advertisement.

Did you ever hear of a girl marrying the kind of a man that the fortune teller said she would?

GIRLS! A GLEAMY MASS OF BEAUTIFUL HAIR

35-Cent "Danderine" So Improves Lifeless, Neglected Hair.

An abundance of luxuriant hair full of gloss, gleams and life shortly follows a genuine toning up of neglected scalps with dependable "Danderine."

Falling hair, itching scalp and the dandruff is corrected immediately. Thin, dry, wispy or fading hair is quickly invigorated, taking on new strength, color and youthful beauty. "Danderine" is delightful on the hair; a refreshing, stimulating tonic—not sticky or greasy! Any drug store.—Advertisement.

What makes the "good old days" seem good? Isn't it the memory of the friends of your youth?

WOMEN! DYE FADED THINGS NEW AGAIN

Dye or Tint Any Worn, Shabby Garment or Drapery.

Diamond Dyes

Each 15-cent package of "Diamond Dyes" contains directions so simple that any woman can dye or tint any old, worn, faded thing new, even if she has never dyed before. Choose any color at drug store.—Advertisement.

Algebra is said to train the intellect, but some wonderful successes never had it.

Demand BAYER ASPIRIN

SAY "BAYER" when you buy—Genuine

Proved safe by millions and prescribed by physicians for

Colds Headache Neuralgia Lumbago
Pain Toothache Neuritis Rheumatism

Genuine Accept only "Bayer" package which contains proven directions.

Handy "Bayer" boxes of 12 tablets
Also bottles of 24 and 100—Druggists.

Aspirin is the trade mark of Bayer Manufacture of Monoaceticacidester of Salicylicacid

Two pleasant ways to relieve a cough

TRADE

Take your choice and suit your taste. S-B—or Menthol flavor. A sure relief for coughs, colds and hoarseness. Put one in your mouth at bedtime. Always keep a box on hand.

MARK

SMITH BROTHERS

S.B. COUGH DROPS MENTHOL (orange colored box)

Famous since 1847

CONSTIPATION

Take a good dose of Carter's Little Liver Pills—then take 2 or 3 for a few nights after. They cleanse your system of all waste matter and Regulate Your Bowels. Mild—as easy to take as sugar. Genuine bear signature— Brentwood

Small Pill. Small Dose. Small Price.

It's all right for a man to talk himself up provided he doesn't run others down.

During courtship a man's word goes about seventeen times as far as it does after marriage.

A man prays for relief when he is sick and swears when the doctor presents his bill.

It sometimes seems as if a man with a good disposition likes to be imposed on.

Children Cry for "Castoria"

Especially Prepared for Infants and Children of All Ages

Mother! Fletcher's Castoria has been in use for over 30 years as a pleasant, harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Teething Drops and Soothing Syrups. Contains no narcotics. Proven directions are on each package. Physicians everywhere recommend it. The kind you have always bought bears signature of

Chas. H. Fletcher.

Health and good looks

—the reward of internal cleanliness

HEALTH and good looks go hand in hand. If you do not keep clean internally, your looks and health are undermined together. A clogged intestine breeds poisons that reach every part of the body. These poisons ruin the complexion and undermine health. Constipation brings on such ailments as headaches, bilious attacks, and insomnia—each of which saps your health and vitality. Soon much more serious conditions follow.

Good Looks Throughout Life If You Keep Clean Internally

In constipation, say intestinal specialists, lies the primary cause of more than three-quarters of all illness including the gravest diseases of life.

Laxatives Aggravate Constipation

Laxatives and cathartics do not overcome constipation, says a noted authority, but by their continued use tend only to aggravate the condition and often lead to permanent injury.

Medical science, through knowledge of the intestinal tract gained by X-ray observation, has found at last in lubrication a means of overcoming constipation.

Physicians Favor Lubrication

The lubricant, Nujol, penetrates and softens the hard food waste and thus hastens its passage through and out of the body. Thus Nujol brings internal cleanliness.

Not a Medicine

Nujol is not a laxative and cannot gripe. Nujol is used in leading hospitals and is prescribed by physicians throughout the world.

Cleanliness Demands More Than Bathing

Don't give disease a start. Adopt this habit of internal cleanliness. Nujol is not a medicine. Like pure water, it is harmless. Take Nujol as regularly as you brush your teeth or wash your face. For sale by all druggists.

Nujol

REG. U.S. PAT. OFF.

For Internal Cleanliness

PE-RU-NA
FOR CATARRH
The Remedy You Need the Year Round in Your Home
Sold Everywhere
Tablets or Liquid

Tough Job.

Friend—I suppose, old man, you get bad if you don't get a likeness of ur sitter?

Portrait Painter—Yes, and some- es I get in worse if I do.

One Trial Will Convince You
at Allcock's Plaster is by far the ickest, safest and most certain rem- y for all local aches and pains.—Adv.

Those who want to be boss gener- y get to be.

To make a good cup of cocoa use

THE COCOA OF HIGH QUALITY

MANUFACTURED by the most scientific, up-to-date mechanical processes (no chemicals), it is absolutely pure and has a most delicious flavor and aroma.

Made only by
Walter Baker & Co. Ltd.
Established 1780
Mills at Dorchester, Mass.
and Montreal, Canada

BOOKLET OF CHOICE RECIPES SENT FREE

Are You Moving to California?
We Save You 25% on Freight Household Goods—Autos
Through car service. No transfers. Shorter time in transit. Write
BLUE LINE STORAGE CO.
3rd & Elm, Des Moines, Iowa

KEEP EYES WELL! Dr. Thompson's Eye Water will strengthen them. At druggists or Geo. H. Ver, Troy, N. Y. Booklet.

W. N. U., DES MOINES, NO. 48--1923.

Fewer Demands Sought.

"Why did George marry Angy?"

"Well, they were engaged for two years and he got tired of seeing her every day."—Kansas Sour Owl.

PILFERAGES WHILE IN PORT

Efforts to Minimize Thefts of Merchandise Are Made in New Zealand and Australia.

The efficient policing of wharves and improved packing methods will effect a substantial saving in losses traceable to pilferage is evident from an interesting tabulation of claims made against ship owners in respect to pilferage at New Zealand and Australian ports, according to a Department of Commerce report. The effect of the police patrols at these ports, instituted at Melbourne and now widely imitated, is sufficiently striking to be noteworthy. The expense is prorated among the municipal police authorities, the rail carriers, steamship owners and other interested parties.

It is stated that improved types of packing cases, which render pilferage physically impossible or in some instances prevent undetected pilferage, are given credit for a substantial reduction in losses of this character.

Hall's Catarrh Medicine is a Combined Treatment, both local and internal, and has been successful in the treatment of Catarrh for over forty years. Sold by all druggists.
F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio

By strictly attending to our own business it may limit our useful knowledge.

MOTHER! GIVE SICK CHILD "CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP"

Harmless Laxative for a Bilious, Constipated Baby or Child.

Constipated, bilious, feverish, or sick, colic Babies and Children love to take genuine "California Fig Syrup." No other laxative regulates the tender little bowels so nicely. It sweetens the stomach and starts the liver and bowel acting without griping. Contains no narcotics or soothing drugs. Say "California" to your druggist and avoid counterfeits! Insist upon genuine "California Fig Syrup" which contains directions.—Advertisement.

Let's be thankful for the privilege of being on earth.

"CASCARETS" FOR LIVER AND BOWELS—10C A BOX

Cures Biliousness, Constipation, Sick Headache, Indigestion. Drug stores. Adv

When jealousy gets busy love takes a vacation.

DEMAND "BAYER" ASPIRIN

Aspirin Marked With "Bayer Cross" Has Been Proved Safe by Millions.

Warning! Unless you see the name "Bayer" on package or on tablets you are not getting the genuine Bayer Aspirin proved safe by millions and prescribed by physicians for 23 years.

Say "Bayer" when you buy Aspirin. Imitations may prove dangerous.—Adv.

Courage is boldness built of moral timber.

Cuticura Soap for the Complexion.

Nothing better than Cuticura Soap daily and Ointment now and then as needed to make the complexion clear, scalp clean and hands soft and white. Add to this the fascinating, fragrant Cuticura Talcum, and you have the Cuticura Toilet Trio.—Advertisement.

Dog sense is stronger than horse sense, especially if the dog is an Airedale.

"DANDELION BUTTER COLOR"

A harmless vegetable butter color used by millions for 50 years. Drug stores and general stores sell bottles of "Dandelion" for 35 cents.—Adv.

First on Record.

"Who was Delilah?"

"The original lady barber."—Exchange.

What is a Teaspoonful?

—it depends on the Baking Powder you use. You must use a heaping spoonful of many brands because they don't contain as much leavening strength as

CALUMET
The Economy BAKING POWDER

Level spoonfuls are all that are necessary when you use CALUMET—it makes more bakings which means a real saving on bake day.

Sales 2½ times as much as that of any other brand

THE WORLD'S GREATEST BAKING POWDER

WHO'S WHO in the WORLD

Hornaday Makes Charges Against Snow

Henry A. Snow of Oakland, Cal. (portrait herewith), appears to be in disfavor in some quarters. Anyway, American museums and zoological gardens are being given a bad reputation abroad because of "the ruthless slaughtering and cruel maiming" of wild animals in Africa by him, according to Dr. William T. Hornaday, director of the New York Zoological park. Dr. Hornaday, as trustee of the Permanent Wild Life Protection fund, has sent letters to the heads of scientific institutions in America, interested in the preservation of wild animals, charging that Snow was being denounced "all the way from Nairobi, British East Africa, to Cape Town," for shooting specimens of game now almost extinct.

Charges brought against Snow are:

That he ran down big game in an automobile taking moving pictures of the fleeing animals until they fell, unable to move, from exhaustion.

That he wounded wild animals so that, while they writhed in agony, he could take "close-up" pictures of them without injury to himself.

That some of his pictures show him standing beside stuffed animals, which he pretended were alive, and that one of the tigers with which he posed had a chain around its neck.

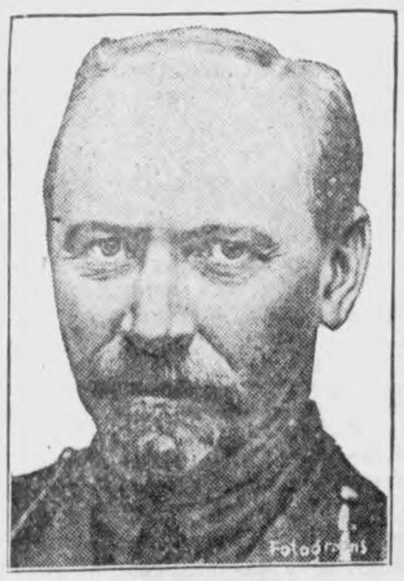
That he killed four of the only remaining twenty-four specimens of the white rhinoceros species.

No More War; Society Does Not Approve

Major Henry Reed Hatfield of 1725 Walnut street, Philadelphia, has returned triumphant from his European mission. In a word or two Major Henry Reed Hatfield was a "social ambassador." The title, like the mission, is his own. The purpose to which he has dedicated himself is nothing less than world peace. There must be, Major Henry Reed Hatfield points out, some omnipotent force, recognized in every civilized land, if world peace is to be attained. That omnipotent force, recognized in every civilized land, is society.

So Major Henry Reed Hatfield sailed for Europe as social ambassador. The vital questions at which diplomats and politicians shy Major Henry Reed Hatfield has discussed frankly and settled finally with the élite of Paris, London, Berlin, Vienna and such of those of Moscow and Petrograd as he found sojourning in Geneva and other enforced domiciles. Not only did he discuss these questions frankly with the aristocracy of Europe, the only people who really count, but he settled those questions and formed an informal citizens' league for peace. Diplomats and politicians henceforth are powerless. They may blunder into war, but there will be no war, for society—international society—will not countenance it.

Smuts in British Imperial Conference



Gen. Jan Christian Smuts, premier of South Africa, emerged from the peace conference in Paris the acknowledged equal in intellectual and moral qualities of any participant in the treaty of Versailles. He has now bulked large in the imperial conference in London of the British empire.

England credits the South African premier with having forced the hand of Premier Baldwin of Great Britain in the matter of the new attempt to adjust conditions on the continent, by declaring in a speech that arrangements were being made for an international conference on reparations.

The address by General Smuts, in which he appeals to the conscience of the world to redeem the chaotic European situation, is rightly to be regarded as an inspiring document in the realms of both diplomacy and morality.

General Smuts bluntly refused to give Indian settlers in South Africa political rights. He held that they could make a distinction between Indians and Africans and the result would be that not only would the whites be swamped by the Indians, but all over Africa by the blacks, and the whole position for which they had striven for two hundred years would be gone.

Capital Society Approves Mrs. Kellogg

"Charming" and "well dressed." These are the adjectives being applied in Washington to Mrs. Frank B. Kellogg, whose husband has been appointed ambassador to England. A buzz of speculative conversation concerning the former Minnesota senator's wife has arisen around every tea table in the capital since the appointment was announced. A small, plump, gray-haired person she is. Without being truly beautiful, her gowns and her grooming are always such that she has given the impression of being a very handsome person whenever she has been seen, says capital report.

The Kelloggs have no children. Their home was always hospitable, and they gave attractive little dinner parties, but never splurged with large affairs of any sort. Mrs. Kellogg had an unusual custom of being informally at home every two weeks for her Minnesota friends and citizens from her home state. The concensus is that Mrs. Kellogg will be successful as a diplomatic hostess, for she fits easily into any society. Her poise and her reticence, her serene, decorative charm and social grace should combine to make her an excellent ambassador's wife.

Aunt Jemima Rag Dolls
Get this jolly family for your children

Aunt Jemima, Uncle Mose, Wade and Diana—four of the jolliest rag dolls you've ever seen; all in bright colors ready to cut and stuff. Also a sample package of Aunt Jemima Prepared Buckwheat Flour, a sample package of the famous Aunt Jemima Pancake Flour and a recipe folder telling how to use it in making fine waffles, muffins and special pancake treats. Send coupon and 30c in stamps or coin—today.

Aunt Jemima Mills Company, Dept. 140-B
St. Joseph, Mo.

Enclosed find 30c. Please send dolls, samples, etc.

PRINT Name .....
St. or R. D. .....
Town ..... State .....

Accommodating.

Tailor—I should like to know when you are going to pay that bill. I can't come here every day in the week.

Jones—What day would suit you vest?

"Saturday."

"Very well, then, you may call every Saturday."—London Answers.

A Standard for 90 Years.

As a laxative and blood purifier there is nothing better than Brandreth Pills. In use throughout the world.—Adv.

Some Driver.

Are you a good driver?

Motor, golf, charity, pie or slave?—Philadelphia Record.

Charity begins where patriotism does—at home.

Sure Relief FOR INDIGESTION

6 BELL-ANS
Hot water
Sure Relief

BELL-ANS
25¢ AND 75¢ PACKAGES EVERYWHERE

for Economical Transportation
CHEVROLET

Quality Cars at Quantity Prices

Chevrolet now leads all high-grade cars in number sold.

Our new low prices have been made possible through doubling our productive capacity.

We are now operating twelve mammoth manufacturing and assembly plants throughout the United States in which thousands of skilled workmen are turning out 2500 Chevrolets per day.

See Chevrolet First

Notwithstanding our recent big reduction in prices the quality and equipment of our cars have been steadily increased, until today Chevrolet stands beyond comparison as the best dollar value of any car sold at any price and the most economical car to maintain.

Chevrolet Motor Co., Detroit, Michigan
Division of General Motors Corporation

Superior Roadster	$490	Commercial Cars
Superior Touring	495	Superior Commercial Chassis	$395
Superior Utility Coupe	640	Superior Light Delivery	495
Superior Sedan	795	Utility Express Truck Chassis	550

All prices f. o. b. Flint, Michigan

Dealers and Service Stations Everywhere

SHINOLA
AMERICA'S HOME SHOE POLISH
Black - Tan - White - Ox-Blood - Brown

In the handy box that opens with a turn of the key. No broken nails or soiled hands. Softens and preserves leather. Sheds moisture. Shoe shining with SHINOLA is a nifty thrifty habit.

"The Shine for Mine"

Hunters and Trappers Notice

Hunting and trapping without permission is strictly forbidden on the land owned or occupied by the undersigned: W. L. Sherwood, J. W. Johnson, J. J. Cook, A. C. Carpenter, M. J. Kearney, H. T. Marshall, J. W. Waddingham, Mrs. Elsie Chase, V. A. Cook, Fred Bachman, Tom Nelson, Ed. Hemenway, C. Bielefeld, H. A. Nelson. 2tpd.

Positively no hunting or trapping will be permitted on my land. Dick Swalve. 2tp

Hunting and trapping not allowed on my land. Geo. Buseman. 2w

For Sale—Duroc Jersey Boars. C. A. Arnold Estate. 2wp

J. N. Day drove over to Mason City last Thursday on business.

It pays to buy your electric light bulbs at Jacobs & Son. Try it. tf

R. W. Elder of Mason City spent Sunday with his family here.

Art Wellemeyer was at Iowa Falls on business Friday.

Wm. Voiles o Belmond, was a visitor here Saturday.

Buy your electric light bulbs and other supplies here and save money. Jacobs & Son, Hardware Store. tf

Mrs. Ben Swalve has been on the sick list all week. Reports are that she is beter at this time.

A baby girl was born to Mr. and Mrs. Henry Griffin a week ago Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Jorgenson of Garner, were visitors at the R. A. Jorgenson home Friday.

Frank Gruetzmacher and R. A. McConn drove to Britt Friday to see the Emmetsburg-Britt game.

Miss Buchan, Miss Flessner and Miss Scharlach were Mason City visitors Saturday.

Charlie Luick came over from the Lake Friday to remain over Sunday for a visit with his wife and son in this city. Mr. Luick is employed at Clear Lake.

Neighbors Prosper Together

had counted t... put him to bed! out from your ho... taria swamps—an ...ars from her ...am just back. It was a sha... laughing ...r. "Lafitte t... Gana is in an ...isl... ...isul fume... deno...es. Hi... the tropics w...st also.

"Bah!" ... Montrieul ...nique, w... self! I ...lants! ... we wor... cue th... eave... ies."

...hbor is more than one who merely ...t to you. A neighbor has a sin... ...erest in you, and is worthy of your

The best evidence of neighborliness the officers of the First National Bank believe, is mutual helpfullness. Therefore, we say, buy and bank at home—contribute to your neighbor's success. As he prospers, he will help you to prosper.

We invite you as a neighbor to bank with us and make our bank your bank.

First National Bank

"The Bank for Everybody'.'

News of Klemme and Vicinity

If its news, Phone 12. Thanks.

Let the Times print your sale bill.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lewis drove to Mason City Sunday for a visit with friends.

Mr. and Mrs. M. O. Barr spent Sunday visiting relatives at Spirit Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Thompson of Britt, were shopping in this city on Monday.

I am prepared to do Dressmaking by the piece or by the day. Call or phone Mrs. John Josten. tfc

For sale—Bourbon Red Turkey Gobblers, $5 and $6. W. A. DeMerritt, Meservey, Iowa. 3p

The December term o the District Court commences Monday December 3rd at Garner. Judge J. J. Clark is at the desk.

Mrs. Paul Stille enjoyed a visit fro mher grandfather, Mr. Franslow, of Dows, who spent Thursday visiting in Klemme.

Twin Lake District No. 1 school cleared $35.00 on their basket social Friday night. Pretty good we'd say.

Walter Lau shipped out the first car of new corn shelled last week. The grade at the St. Louis market was No. 4 White.

Rev. Gauger was called to Charles City Monday to conduct funeral services. He returned to Klemme Tuesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Ross of Garner were here Friday looking after business matters and visiting with relatives and friends.

E. C. Ford, of Iowa Falls, was in town Tuesday looking after insurance business. Ed is getting fatter and laughs more than ever.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lewis celebrated their ninth weddding anniversary Monday, November 26. Sure 'Heinie" ate most of the big cake.

Printing Of The Orderly Kind—that's us! Orderly, well balanced, and neat work on all jobs, large or small. Klemme-o-Times-o-Print.

Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Koerner, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lewis, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Kirkwood, Mr. and Mrs. Stokes bary and Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Luick attended a dance given at the White Pier at Clear Lake last Friday evening.

For Sale—some S. C. White Leghorn Roosters, egg laying strain, at $1.25 each, five or more at $1 each. John Swalve, Phone 918 Klemme. 3p

Aaron Greimann has installed a new gas pump at his garage. It is one of the new fangled kind that shows the gas in a nice glass jar and is worked by air pressure.

A. C. Lau left for Minneapolis Sunday morning where he will take treatments for several weeks. His health has been failing of late and he is in hopes of regaining his former strength.

There is a mighty good picture on at the Idle Hour tonight, "Loyal Live" and it would be a good place to spend the evening after the big Thanksgiving dinner. The picture will also be shown Friday night.

Art Schoenwetter will move out to his farm the irst of the week. Art has a fine place now; all new buildings and will sit pretty. No fun to in town when you have a nice farm like that.

Ed. Schoenwetter returned from the Mason City hospital Tuesday. He had been three for a rupture operation and is getting along fine. Art Schoenwetter and John Day drove over to get him.

Miss Mildred Johnson left last Thursday morning via. Garner for Chicago where she will attend the Paterson School at Lagrange, Ill., a suburb of Chicago. The school is for girls and Miss Johnson will take up a business course there.

Carl Suckow and family, of Garner, will move back to Klemme again after living at the county seat for a year. They will move in with Mrs. Herman Ludeke, mother of Mrs. Suckow, as Art Schoenwetter and family will move out to their farm.

On Monday, December 3, there will be a large class of young men and young women enrolling at the Hamilton University, Mason City, Iowa. *It is the first day of the first winter term. Will you be one of them? adv

This vicinity had quite a bunch of snow last Thursday evening when between one and two inches fell and covered the ground like winter. It all disappeared again in a day or two and the weather is again nice but a little colder. (This item is for Walt Bloom, August Baack, and a few others of our California readers.)

"Sam" Larsen is singing, "Bring Back My Bossy to Me!," and when we inquired why all the gloom he told us a fine red cow, weight 1200, had wondered away from his yard without even asking permission and he says if the cow will notify him of her whereabouts he will settle the hotel bill she has run up and bring her home. Bossy left home about a month ago. Finder notify Mr. Larsen.

Mr. C. H. Weigman, of Garner is dead and was buried Tuesday. Mr. Weigmann was well known all over the county as he wsa connected with a number of banks in this part of the country, and was president of the local First National Bank. M. Weigmann died suddenly of heart trouble. He leaves his wife, two sons, Marvin, now in college and formerly employed in the First National here, a younger son at Garner, and one daughter, Mrs. R. N. Reuber of Sheffield, wife of Dr. Reuber, formerly of this city.

KLEMME MARKETS

(Subject To Change)

Thursday, November 27

WHEAT	$1.00
CORN (new)	58
OATS	.35
BARLEY	.55
RYE	.55
HOGS	5.00—6.00
HAY	15.00—20.00
BUTTERFAT	.55
BUTTER (Creamery)	.52
EGGS	.42
HEAVY HENS	.12
LIGHT HENS	.08
STANDARD SPRINGS	.12
ELGHORNS	.08
COCKS	.06
DUCKS	.11
GEESE	.10

Cream Separators--

We sell the two best

De Laval Melotte

We have just receided a shipment of these separators & supply you at once.

De Laval No. 15-17

Melotte 740-1135 lb.

Jacobs & Son

"THE WINCHESTER STORE"

Safety, Interest, Something More--

Of course you expect safety when you bank your crop money, and liberal interest if the money remains on deposit for a considerable period. But you should receive helpful personal interest as well.

You'll find this last in exceptional measure at this bank. Entrust your crop money to this "personal service" bank.

5 per cent interest is paid on time deposits at this bank.

State Savings Bank

Klemme Iowa

20 Red Top Steel Posts Will Be Given Away FREE!

WE WILL GIVE Away absolutely FREE 20 RED TOP Steel Fence Posts and a Post Driver to the farmer who pays up the largest account with us on or before 4:00 P. M. Saturday, December 1st, 1923.

This also holds good if a farmer purchases a bill of lumber and pays cash for it, or on or before the above date.

Every farmer can use these 20 Red Tops and it will pay you to pay your account---you may be the winner.

Northern Lumber Co.

Building Materials of All Kinds

STILLE'S IMPLEMENT NEWS

Volume 2—Number 5. Thursday, November 29, 1923.

THANKSGIVING AND TURKEY

Not the best times we have ever heard of, and yet, we have a lot to be thankful for in spite of the adverseness o the times. We'er thankul for the business we've enjoyed; thankful that it could have been worse; thankful for the fine weather and our health and many other things.

We're also thankful that we ran across a real "honest-to-goodness" successful tank heater. Its made of cast iron which will not rust nor burn out; self-sinking and so constructed that freezing and quick-fires will not crack it. It has a large firebox and a large heating surface. Heats wonderfully and holds fire for a long time.

One of our customers says after kindling a fire in it he has to hurry the coys out or the water is too warm to drink. Now we cannot exactly vouch for the veracity of this as he smiled pretty much after he said it, but who wouldn't smile if he owned a heater like that?

They call it the "ONLY" and it is about the only one that will do all this.

Be thankful! Even the crabapple has its bright side.

If you can't raise chickens—try raisin pie.

If you have a McCormick-Deering tractor you have something to be thankful or.

Here's hoping you all have those two great American birds—The Turkey on the table; The Eagle in your Well! Our office boy says, "Fill up on turkey, dressing, cranberries and mince-pie, then finish it up right by ordering your corn picker for next fall, so you'll be sure to get it; then you'll feel thankful.

Its a grinding success; get yours.

THE KLEMME TIMES

ty-eighth Year—Number 13. Klemme, Iowa, Thursday Afternoon, December 6, 1923 $1.50 In Advance—$2.00 Outside of County

WS OF THE LAWMAKERS OF THE SPECIAL SESSION

IAL SESSION STARTED TUESDAY

Revision To Be Accomplished If It Takes All Winter

ning of Extra Session Creates tle Stir or Interest, but Will Soon Warm Up

(By G. L. Caswell)

S MOINES, Dec. 3.—Members he General Assembly gathered r slowly for this extra session; mencing Tuesday, December 4. lly they are on hand in goodly bers a week before a regular ses- starts. Now there is no contest y kind, no favors or advantages ain by early attendance, they in at the last horu. Even up to ay afternoon only a small part he whole membership was found in the city.

t they will all be here Tuesday the special session, wihch was about an hour on April 18th and urned to December 4, reconven- There is a big work to do in Code sion, and they want to do it this nd how long will it take? Some bers say six months; others be- it can be done in two months, one member says he is in avor of ting the Compiled Code that was d in 1919 by the Code Commis- ers, settling up the details of the k in a week and going back home. n there is the question of what members are going to get for at- ance at this special session. If ten dollars per day runs indef- ly, there may be some who will care how long it lasts. In justax- ition, however, are the large ber of members who are ascri- ng home business interests very erially by their attendance, and want to get back.

The law as to compensation for cial sessions reads like a puzzle, follows:

"To every member, for each full ular session, one thousand dollars for each extra session the same pensation per day while in ses- to be ascertained by the rate day of the compensation of the bers of the general assembly at preceeding regular session; * * but in no case shall the compen- on exceed ten dollars per day, ex- ive of mileage."

ow, when you have read that you say what one lawyer-senator to the writer: "The pay is ten rs per day for not more days were spent at the last regular ion." Or, as another one said: e pay is ten dollars per day, in- ing Sundays and holidays and sses, as long as we stay here, not to exceed ten dollars per " And you can read both opini- into the law.

Patronage Committee Acts

Rather surprising it was to a lot of se and Senate employees at the ks, doors, office rooms and coat s to find that their jobs were not ed to them by the last session. ator Cessna, chairman of the Sen- patronage committee, called his bers in session Friday and on day they met again to designate employees for the session. It was osed when the special sesion was ed on the last regular session adjourned to Dec. 4, that the old loyees went along with it. Sun- and Monday these employees literally in the air and worried t where they were going to light. hange in the reading clerk of the te may be all the change in the force there, however, while in House several changes may be e as circumstanese require, but Gustafson will be chief clerk in House again and Col. Ainsworth resume his responsible position secretary of the Senate, which is gratifying to all concerned. As various House and Senate com- ee, these may and probably will as they were at the last ses- the some members contend that Speaker Anderson and Lieut. Hammill may change these com mittess around if they so desire. It is not likely that they will be disturbed, unless some wish to make trades of chairmanships.

Question Is, How Proceed?

What most members are talking about at this time is, how shall the special session proceed with the work? Shall any new legislative business be permitted during the session? Shall there be a two-thirds rule under which new business of importance may come in, or let the usual regular sessions rules govern that? We have talked about with a few members who stick or the special session's work of revising the Code and nothing else. They contend that is what they were called for, and they believe that should be done first. Some say they are willing to stay and act on new business after the Code revision work is done. We may quote Senator Mead of Butler county: "We ought to sitck to revising the Code, but if there is business of importance to the state of Iowa that ought to be taken up, I wouldn't bar it. A rule that such business can be taken up on a two-thirds vote would not be a bad idea." And that is the position of Senator Dutcher of Iowa City, a leader in the Senate—make a two-thirds rule that will bring any important business before the assembly, but permit no new business without such a vote. On the other hand, Senator Smith o Madison is quoted as favoring any new business or otherwise that seems important enough to warrant consideration. In this doubtless would be included his committee's new taxation bills as presented at the last session and withdrawn for the very purpose of having them acted upon at the special session.

Road Question Still Dominates

If anybody thinks the road question will not have any attention at this special session of the Geneart Assembly, let him change his mind now. The road question is the rallying point of a certain group of Senators and Representatives who made themselves very strong in the last session, and there is a coalition now that means a fight to finish on any road proposition that come up. When you consider that in this special session to revise the Code every section o every law will come up, and be subject to amendment, it must be admitted there is possibility of a lot of road legislation and a lot of fight over the same old problems of control f the highways. We could name the Senators who have this in mind, and they will be heard from. Some of them are just now trying to smoke out certain officials who have been talking state controlled primary roads. Speaker Anderson's speech on that feature of the road question has lost him some of his old riends, thye say. Senator Bowman of Blackhawk county has been out all summer to preach good road plans for the Iowa Good Roads Association and trying to interest Iowa Farmers in a statewide primary system. Both these members may come in for some hot shot from the township and county control advocates, we are told.

Possibly the gasoline tax measure will be permittd to gt into this special session. It may be kept out as new business under the two-thirds rule, but it will surely bob up as an amendment to a Code bill. Durnig the seven months since adjournment of the last session members have been discussing this question with their farmer friends. They say the Farmers Union members generally oppose a gasoline tax, and some Farm Bureaus have also "resoluted" against it. But other members of the same group of Senators say their farmer friends favor such a tax. Senator Shane is against it; Senator Campbell does not favor it; Senator Mead says he would vote against such a tax unless it takes the place and reduces some other taxes. The whole gamut of ifs and ands of the last fight on the gasoline tax may be gone over again. But it will come up, even though Governor Kendall did veto the hodge-podge of a bill that was passed at last session.

If the new taxation bills do get into this session, it may be promised they will take a lot of time, for they constitute the greatest problem and require more study and information possiblp, than anything that will be considered. The special taxation committee composed of members of both houses has spent many months and many dollars gathering facts and outlining a taxation system for the sttae that will displace largely the antiquated and wasteful system of today. It includes county assessors an dless officials handling the work, brings personal property to the fore, gets after moneys and credits, and all that. It might be imagined a whole special session could be devoted to consideration of this matter alone, but members of the committee think it would be worth it.

Quietly and behind the screens, will be many political conflabs this week. A nationwide election and a state primary are at hand. Twenty-six new senators and 108 new representatives are to be chosen, besides a new governor, lieutenant governor judges and all county officers. In our first letter we mentioned the possible candidacy of Senator Holdoegal of Rockwell City for lieutenant governor. Senator Holdoegel has published a statement that he is not and will not be such a candidae, and it will be regretted that his health is not the best at this time. One prominent possible candidate for governor in northwestern Iowa has changed the course of his political ship ad has started for congress. There are still three in the running, however, and room or more.

THE WORD "CHRISMAS"

Brevity may be the soul of wit, but abbreviation is not thes oul of high sentiment anl sacredness that attach to Christmas. Why abbreviate the syllable that carries its sacred meaning? Why make it "X"? Surely the ink or space or toruble saved does not warrant marring a word that holds such high place in heart and memory.

"Lincoln's Birthday" and "Washington's Birthday" have not been cut down by abbreviation. And certainly Christ's birthday should be as generously dealt with. It's "Christmas" in speech. Let it be so in writing.

THE MINISTER

I pity the minister.
And his family.

If they are well dressed, they are extravagant; if not, they are slouchy and careless in their habits.

If the minister is humorous, he belongs on the stage. and if he is serious, he is dry as dust.

If the members who call get a square meal at the minister's, they are living too high; if the table is not groaning with food, the minister's wife is a poor cook and no manager.

If the minister's son smokes, his father ought to stop it; if not, the boy is a sissy and should have been a girl.

If the family are musical, they are too hilarious; or if the children do not play, it is too bad they couldn't get a pastor who had a little musical talent.

If the minister is home a good deal, he puts too much time on his sermons; if he is out calling, he is a gadabout.

If the family visits the members, they are spongers; and if not, they are too aristocratic.

If the minister tries to bolster his salary in any way, he should leave the pulpit and enter the business world; if not, he should be glad he is getting almost half as much as a truck driver because he wasn't fitted for anything except the ministery.

If his sermons are short, he is too lazy; and if they are long, he is too old-fashioned

If his wife is neat, she is stuck up; if not, she is slovenly.

If the children are well behaved, the pastor is too strict with them; if not, the parents are to blame for not taking care of their own affairs properly.

If they save any money, they are stingy; and if not they are spendthrifts.

I pity the minister.
And his family.

—James A. Sanamaker.

Rohrbach & O'Rourk will have another sale of a car load of Holstein cows and heifers, all T. B. tested, at the stock yards at Kanawha Saturday, December 15th. 2wc

New Cases In Hancock County District Court

Mrs. Harry Wright vs Henry Putzstuck, the plaintiff asks judgment for $760.

D. L. Richardson vs Geo. W. Segrist Co., et al. Plaintiff asks a judgment for $784 and landlord's writ of attachment.

G. W. Rubel vs John Daly. The plaintiff asks judgment for $157.

Mary E. Kramer vs Jessie O. Kramer. Plaintiff asks to be appointed guardian.

John E. Olson vs J. G. Eckhoff. Plaintiff asks judgment for $1257.

Farmers National Bank, Garner, vs Joe J. Schumacher, et al. The plaintiff asks judgment for $614.85.

B. F. Goodrich Rubber Company vs Hatterscheid Bros. Plaintiff asks judgment for $151.50.

Chris Boddum vs Board of Supervisors et al. Appeal in D. D. No. 114.

Wm. Kruse vs L. A. Church. The plaintiff asks judgment for $45.

Cyrus Howe et al vs W. P. Ewing. Plaintiff asks judgment for $127.24.

Ida Raw vs Chas. Raw Plaintiff asks for divorce.

Undertakers Supply Company vs C. J. Lewis. Plaintiff asks judgment for $46.64.

Iowa Spreader & Engine Co. vs F. J. Schuldt. Plaintiff asks judgment for $123.

L. F. Lemhke vs G. L. Severns. Plaintiff asks judgment for $386.66.

Arthur Wellemeyer vs G. G. Washburn, et al. Plaintiff asks judgment for $505.28.

Albert Lea Credit Association vs Jens Charlson. Plaintiff asks judgment for $306.39.

F. M. Hoel et al vs James Kolfrom et al. Plaintiff asks judgment for $1,000.

John Aitchison vs E. T. Hauptman. Plaintiff asks judgment for $1376.10.

C. P. Lewis vs W. J. Ewing et al. Plaintiff asks judgment for $404.12.

C. P. Lewis vs Frank Melaney et al. Plaintiff asks judgment for $276.96.

C. R. Jones vs Peter Paulson. The plaintiff asks judgment for $276.96.

Bankers Life Co. vs M. C. Gahan, et al. Plaintiff asks judgment for $23,030.00.

Forest City National Bank vs J. F. Stokesbary, et al. Plaintiff asks judgment for $3,060.

Chas. L. Endlich et al vs D. W. Fultz et al. The plaintiff asks judgment for $8,220.

Albert Lea Credit Association vs Jens Charlson. Plaintiff asks judgment for $143.60.

Geo. E. Snearly vs Roscoe Wiles, et al. Plaintiff asks judgment for $117.

F. H. Wixom vs Ruben L. Peterson. Plaintiff asks judgment for $108.31.

Farmers National Bank, Garner, vs Thos. H. Thompson. Plaintiff asks judgment for $6,500.

Farmers National Bank, Garner, vs J. F. Stokesbary, et al. Plaintiff asks judgment for $2785.

Crystal Lake Savings Bank vs W. A. Dillow. Plaintiff asks judgment for $2738.92.

Wm. Nelson et al vs John Fank et al. Plaintiff asks judgment for $768.

Wm. Nelson et al vs John H. Johnson et al. Plaintiff asks judgment for $541.25.

J. E. Wichman vs Jacob Hegland et al. Plaintiff asks judgment for $3182.

John Fillenwarth vs F. B. Glidden et al. Plaintiff asks judgment for $3,000.

Fred J. Bush, Trustee of Chas. W. Johnson, Bankrupt vs Mae Johnson. Plaintiff asks judgment for $1700. —Signal.

BASKET SOCIAL

A basket social and program will be held at the Stille School 2 miles west of Klemme on Friday evening, December 14. Ladies are requested to bring baskets. Dalia Stromer, Teacher; Elmer Ludeke, director.

DOINGS OF THE WEEK AT THE KLEMME SCHOOLS

K. H. S. ADVANCES ANOTHER STEP

Local School is Admitted to the Declamatory Associtaion

Our High School advanced another step, when they were recently admitted to the Northwest Iowa Declamatory Association. This is an association whic is to Declamatory work as the Iowa High School Athletic Association is to athletics. It has its laws and by-laws and arranges state and district Declamatory contests. This year the District contest is to be held at Dayton, Ia.

This is another good advancement for Klemme and was obtained, only by hard work on the part of Superintendent Neese and Miss Stacey. It will help put Klemme High School in closer association with the other schools, and help put Klemme on the map.

KLEMME AGAIN GETS THE LITTLE END OF THE SCORE

The Wednesday before Thanksgiving the basket ball teams journeyed to Rowan and journeyed back again with the small end of the scores, being defeated in both games of the double header.

The girls fought stubbornly, the first half and succeeded in holding their strong opponents to 8points the first half, while gathering in 6 points for themselves. The second half the Rowanites opened up and held our girls scoreless, while running up 9 points for themselves. The score was 17 to 6 in favor of Rowan.

SUMMARY

Klemme 6		Rowan 17
Blank	C	Duffy
Stille	C	C. Azeltine
Ridder	F	A Azeltine
Koerner (Cap't)	F	Emerson (Capt)
Hake	G	Ketchum
Tanner	G	Addinger

Field Goals— Ridder 2, Stille 1, A. Azeltine 5, Emerson 3.
Foul Throws Made— Ridder 1, Emerson 1.
Foul Throws Missed 3, Emerson 2.
Personal fouls— Ridder 1, Hake 2, Aldinger 1.
Technical Fouls— Blank 1, Stille 2 C. Azeltine 1.
Time of Periods— 15 minutes
Referee— Pals of Belmond.

The boys struck some tough opposition, and were again forced to bow to defeat. The final score does not indicate the character of the game, for although beaten, the Shamrocks fought to the last of the game and had the breaks of the game more even, the score would have been less lop-sided.

Koerner was taken out, via the foul route in the first half which weakened the guards. The ceiling at Rowan was about 3 feet from the basket and a maze of steam pipes hid the basket competely from a person not accustomed to their gymnasium. Our boys thus had two handicaps which they were unable to overcome. For the Shamrocks, Elder played a good game at guard, and Gimer was high scorer.

For Rowan, R, Azeltine and F. Moellering starred, this pair getting 44 of their teams total points.

SUMMARY

Klemme 10		Rowan 48
Gimer	RF R	Azeltine (Capt)
Wellemeyer	LF	F. Mellering
Patet	C	Farron
Elder (Capt)	RG	C. Azeltine
Koerner	LG	C. Moellering

Substitutions— Gibbs for Wellemeyer, Turgasen for Koerner.
Field Goals— Gimer 2, Turgasen 1, R. Azeltine 11, F. Moellering 8, Farron 1, C. Azeltine 1.
Foul Throws Made— Gimer 1, Patet 2, Turgasen 1, R. Azeltine 6.
Foul Throws Missed— Gimer 3, Patet2, R. Azeltine 5.
Personal Fouls— Gimer 1, Elder 3, Koerner 4, Turgasen 1, F. Moellering 2, Farron 1, C. Azeltine 1, A. Moellering 2.
Time of Periods— 20 minutes.
Referee— Pals of Belmond.

"Abe" Lauritzen visits School

Adolph Lauritzen, a former K. H. S. Student visited our school last Monday morning. He said things have changed considerably since he first came to the Klemme School and said that he would like to be back in school again here. "Abe" is attending Upper Iowa University this year, and says he likes it fine, although they make him work pretty hard.

Thanksgiving Over

Thanksgiving vacation is over with no serious effects from the big dinners. Most of the students were back again Monday morning erfreshed from their two days vacation.

WITH THE CLASSES

Agriculture

Te-agriculture class are making their final seed corn test for the One Dollar Prize and the Half Dollar Prize. They will study small grains next.

General Science

The general science class are trying to understand hydraulic pressure and the force pump.

MENTAL TESTS

Superintendent Neese is very busy giving mental tests on silent reading in the grades this week. The test will show whether the grades are up to standard as compared to other schools. It will also show the teaching ability of the teacher.

These tests will be given at the close of each semester of the school year. The standard of these tests have been taken from testing 1 000 grade children. A report of these tests will be published to class unit and not as an individual grade. Should any parent desire to have the test explained, it will be a pleasure of Mr. Neese to explain the same to you, then you can see at a glance where your child is, and what it is getting in reading.

RAILROAD ELECTRIFICATION

Philedephia, Dec. 5.—More than 100,000,000 tons of coal would be saved yearly through the electrification of railroads of the United States, to be made possible through the super-power system, according to Morris L. Cook, direcor of the Pennylvania Giant Power survey. Mr. Cook brought out this statement at the "special coal conference" held recently in this city under the direction of the American Academy of Policical and Sicial sience.

Director Cok shwed that the railroads of the country now use 2 per cent of the total coal produced. He made the prediction that at the present rate o consumption of anthracite coal the supply in Pennsylvania would be consumed in 150 years.

"A Giant power system, with mighty electrical generating plants at the mine heads and the sources of water power, all linked by high voltage lines, will greatly decrease the consumption of coal in coming years he said.

NORTH AVERY PROGRESSIVE CLUB HAS GOOD MEETING

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Johnson entertained the North Avery Progressive Club at their home on Friday evening, November 23. A pleasant social evening was spent and the following program was given:

Song, "America."
Scripture Reading, Mrs. D. Marshall
Piano Solo, Harvey Nelson.
Magazine Article, Mrs. L. Carpenter
Ladies Trio, "Autumn Lullaby"
Solo, Miss Iris Sherwood, accompanied by Piano and Violin.
Magazine Article, Mrs. H. Marshall
Piano Solo, Mrs. Lloyd Carpenter
Mixed Quartette.
Address, Mr. A. Carpenter.
Motto.

Delicious refreshments were served by the hostess.

The Club will meet at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Marshall, December 21.

A great many people ask, receive, and then nock.

CAPTAIN SAZARAC

by
Charles Tenney Jackson

Illustrations by
Irwin Myers

Copyright by The Bobbs-Merrill Company

CHAPTER VIII—Continued.
—12—

"'In the days of Lafitte the world was straight as a switch,'" translated De Marigny for the benefit of a young American lieutenant, "and, look you, Jarvis unfolds the pirate's flag. Another crack at Raoul's new friend—the famous Sazarac!"

For the artist, as his amateur buccaneers roared their chantey, shook free the colors, and planted the staff by Bossiere's table. A black banner upon which was a grotesque skull and cross-bones. Even Bossiere was convulsed with laughter at the grimacing Jarvis' antics. Then he uprose, glass in hand.

"Well, then, to the buccaneers, my good Jarvis! The old cry: 'A-Barataria! A-Barataria!'" And then the old seaman seemed to stare curiously at the nearest of the pirate mummers. Raoul's eye was on him; the young man caught a covert glance from Alderman Dominique. But the shouting tables saw nothing wrong. De Marigny was up and roaring.

A Black Banner Upon Which Was a Grotesque Skull and Cross-bones.

"A flag! A flag, for the Seraphine! A royal jest for Bonaparte when we scale the cliffs of St. Helena, hale him to sea, and run up the old colors of the free rovers! Ho, Jarvis, this is a hit!"

A group was about the artist, dragging him to a wine cask to mount and speak. But suddenly a new uproar burst from them all. One of the red-shirted masqueraders had sprung to the rail, seizing the black flag to wave it as he ran. And his song burst forth—there seemed some new, warning accent to the thing:

"Di tems M'sieu Lafitte—"

Above the hubbub De Almonaster's nervous senses caught a sound over the rail. His covert glance to the yellow river showed a deeper shadow, then the flash of oars. He found Alderman Dominique staring at him hastily. Then, turning, he heard bare feet pattering along the wooden slope of the levee. But even when the first of a curious crew appeared at the gangway among the crowding servants, hustling them aside, the revelers on the deck did no more than roar appreciatively.

"Ho, Jarvis! More of your jesting! Faith, how many—"

Then De Marigny stopped. Gorgio, the crayfish seller, was unwarping a mooring line that held the Seraphine in the tide. And a huge mulatto leaped from rail to deck; there came a flash of a cutlass from another figure.

"De Almonaster!" cried La Barre, "that is your hostler, Teton! This is not good taste!"

And suddenly, with a roar, a score of burly forms rushed the rail and swept among the guests. Forward came a rattle of poles and blocks. A shouted order from old Johanness of the swamp; and the bow of the clipper was sheering off the wharf. A startled silence fell. The richly appareled gentlemen were staring as the Seraphine's bow caught the slow current. De Almonaster grasped Dominique in turn.

"They are here!"

The two caught sight of a tall cloaked figure that had sprung to the quarterdeck and turned calmly to watch the melee. Captain Bossiere had leaped up shouting:

"Lafitte! 'Pon my soul—the bandit!"

Then from the barefooted fellows arose the old cry of a decade agone:

"A-Barataria! A-Barataria!"

"Off with them!" roared old Bohon, "to the work, bullies!"

The elegant young De Marigny, in his evening clothes of broadcloth and silk stockings, was lifted and hurled over the rail to the muddy levee. A sword flashed in Villeret's hand, and he was seized and thrown from the deck. La Barre sprang to the shrouds with a warning cry to the servants, but he, too, was propelled off. And with yells and laughter the Baratarians rushed upon the retreating guests of the Napoleon ship. Overpowered, borne back, the struggling gallants fought, but one by one the brawny hunters and fishermen of the chenieres threw them from rail and deck. Tables were overturned, the awning poles broken, lanterns flared up smokily; and over the battle the one-time commander of the black Petral watched calmly. The pressure brought De Almonaster almost against him.

"Jean!" he whispered; "you dared, then?"

But a hand clutched frantically at Raoul's sleeve. De La Vergne was borne past in the embrace of two lusty fellows. "A moi!" cried the youth. "Raoul, we are attacked!"

"Nom de Dieu!" muttered Raoul. "Nez Coupe, do not injure him!"

"Over with him!"

There was a splash in the batture mud. The ship was swinging wide in the river flood. Jarvis came reeling aft, staring back at his late fellow-guests and bon-vivants. Already ahead came the snap of a loosened jib. Johanness, the bo'sun, was shouting orders to fellows who were manning the fore-rigging. At the wheel stood Beluche, one-time admiral of Cartagena, looking up to the break of the canvas. And even as De Almonaster gasped to see how swiftly the plotters had worked, each to an appointed station, the last of the youth and chivalry of La Nouvelle Orleans went over the side to the levee mud.

Save one. Jarvis, the wit, had seized his hand-painted Jolly Roger and shook it toward the city. Then bewilderedly he looked again at Lafitte.

"Jean! What is this jest!"

"Next time you seek to amuse the gentry of New Orleans," cried Johanness, "do not allow Gorgio to choose your players!"

Jarvis approached the master of the Seraphine.

"It might be of interest, Monsieur Sazarac, why I am here, why my fat friend, Dominique, is here?"

"My good Jarvis, I wish you were ashore—you and the councilor at least. This is a serious venture, sir. We are to the rescue of the English lady."

The painter stared at him: "Why, I thought she—you—she did not flee with you after all? I may see her again?"

"It lies with the winds of chance. You are set on a mad venture, sir."

Jarvis poured him more drink unsteadily. His captain stood frowning at the long tables on the banquet deck. Already along them wild spirits of the crew were cracking bottles and making merry over the disordered feast which had been spread for the gentlemen-adventurers of New Orleans. The older men were working the ship safely in the broad reaches of the river on a following wind, but the others hardly gave way before the under-officers.

"Eh, well!" bawled the town's jester suddenly. "Ho, slimy gallants. Ho, drenched blades o' the opera!—tomorrow, to celebrate the sailing of the Napoleon ship there will be such a scrubbing and hanging forth of furbelows and ribbons as will keep the house mammies busied for a week! Who is in the mud, now—John Jarvis? Mo l' aimin vous comme cochon—!"

But after the laughter that followed him the author of it went aside to stare ahead into the dark. De Almonaster found him so, his pallor heightened, his cheeks twitching. The mimic seemed shaken with a fear as he watched the bloom of shadowy sail drawing him on to unknown venture.

"I am to see her, Monsieur—and she me?" he said plaintively.

"Monsieur Sazarac will rescue her by force if needs be, John."

The other nodded slowly: "Yes—Sazarac, always—Sazarac. Ah, name o' G—d:—to play one hour! To be the poseur—to have the lover's gesture, the pretty speech; and to tell men: 'Go there!—Come here!'—with a mere glance that they obey! Think of it! A Sazarac . . . Come, Monsieur, the cognac. It is the refuge, the adventure—and the dream. 'In the bottle I am Lord Sazarac—I swagger, I rescue—I love.'" He twitched his friend's sleeve dolefully: "She must never see me . . . I am the ragged ghost out in the shadows, Monsieur—where her eyes cannot follow." He turned away, the sardonic mood quite shaken from him. "Below—the emperor's chair, for Sazarac. The lady will come—for Sazarac. Sazarac—who does not exist save in her dreams! . . . Why should I not play Sazarac for her? What right has Jean Lafitte to this gallant, rescuing role before her eyes?"

CHAPTER IX

A Question of Diplomacy.

They had been a roaring, unruly lot forward until Beluche, as second officer, with Bohon and Nez Coupe, had brought discipline, at times with the threat of fist or marlinspike. The watches were picked and the mess organized, and the desultory plundering of stores and the finery left in disorder by the gentlemen crew of the Napoleon ship was sternly stopped. Indeed, three fellows who had a set-to with the rum at once, were in the brig by nightfall; and a trio more had broken heads. But when the Captain Jean, with Monsieur de Almonaster and Dominique, went on inspection during the second watch, they were greeted with cheerful and subdued respect.

The former second officer of the Black Petral muttered to his chief.

"There be sixty-four in all. Some old artillerymen of Jackson's day at Chalmette; some fo'cas'le lads who've sailed wi' David Porter and wi' Decatur against the Tripolitans; some escaped Britishers from press gangs—and there be a score of our old fellows, Jean. Men of Grand Terre, and of Galveston Island, some wi' the President's pardon—some not."

The gaunt, shifty-eyed John Crackley, stepped from the line. "We have made bold to ask, sir—under what flag this ship—"

A rumble of laughter stopped him. Aft, by the captain's companion, hung a stiff, painted banner already fraying in the gale. And by it, fast asleep, sprawled the artist-jester who had painted the thing to amuse the city of the Creoles.

But Lafitte stopped the levity. "We shall attend to that. We are on a venture the end of which will be disclosed to you in due time."

But when he had dismissed them to quarters, old Beluche voiced his doubts. "Not a ruffian of them all but thinks we are privateering again. As to Napoleon, they would roar with laughter; and as to this rescue of the English woman, well—you can lead them to that, but it is plunder that is in their minds."

The chief looked thoughtfully at De Almonaster. When they sat again over their brandy and coffee in the tapestried luxury of the emperor's suite, the young man adverted to it.

"We have the excuse, sir, that Mademoiselle Lestron was unlawfully seized out of the city. Only violent action could save her. She must explain the mystery of her abduction to clear us with the admiralties—"

"The watch already reports a vessel making south," grunted Beluche. "And the Genaron will be a clumsy lout in weather that this clipper loves. The mists kept the Englishman hid in the passes, but out to sea we can pick him up at our pleasure."

Old Dominique twirled his thumbs upon his stomach. He had declined to take any active part in the ship's hurried organization, pleading his gout and corpulence, but they had gibed him well.

"If trouble comes of it—as it will," grinned Beluche sourly, "you will still be the worthy councilor of New Orleans, eh? Pummeled aboard and off against your will! Ho, Dominique!"

"And you may yet need an honest councilor to plead your cause," retorted Dominique. "And you get yourselves into admiralty court, the big-wigs will be hard to convince this is not open lawless piracy. The Captain Jean's love-affairs—eh, well! Can you get an advocate to speak them to the magistrates of Jamaica, or even in Charleston or New York!"

A lanky tousled form came reeling under the rocking cabin lamp

"A magistrate!" chuckled Jarvis, "the rum, old gabbler—that is the prime magistrate! Since when did Dominique mewl of the laws?"

"Be still, Jarvis!" said Lafitte, "this is a serious council. The lady of the

"In the Bottle; I Am Lord Sazarac; I Swagger, I Rescue—I Love."

Genaron is to be rescued—without violence if we may. After that—"

"Bonaparte!" cried Raoul eagerly, "that is our one chance for fame, for fortune and for extenuation! The exiled emperor slipped from under their noses and to sea on the fastest clipper that Yankee brains ever devised!"

"And after that, pray?" mumbled old Dominique.

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

Just So.

Teacher—"What is the meaning of a false doctrine?" Johnny—"That's when the doctor gives the wrong stuff to sick people."—The Medical Quip.

TO AID ALL EX-SERVICE MEN

Outline of Year's Work Made Known in Resolutions Adopted at Legion Convention.

The policy of the American Legion for the coming year—which definitely means the policy of nearly 1,000,000 persons throughout the United States holding membership in the organization, and in reality represents the principles which will guide hundreds of thousands of unaffiliated ex-service men and women in this country for the same period, is embodied in the resolutions adopted at the recent national Legion convention in San Francisco.

These principles cover a variety of problems. The American Legion has taken a definite stand upon practically every question of national and international importance now before the people of the United States.

The most important of these is the question of rehabilitation, according to Legion leaders. The American Legion, at its national convention, adopted 91 resolutions embodying recommendations for governmental steps, legislative or otherwise, all insuring more complete justice to disabled service men at the hands of the United States Veterans' bureau. Although such a mass of suggestions for the improvement of the government's service to disabled ex-service men is proof that the bureau is not entirely as it should be, most of the resolutions call for legislative changes, and indicate no fault in the administration of the body. In fact, the convention expressed its appreciation of the way in which the bureau has been conducted by Director Frank T. Hines, who has served as head of the bureau since last March.

Outstanding among the resolutions offered under the head of rehabilitation are those continuing the work of the national rehabilitation committee of the Legion along the same broad lines as heretofore; recommendation that the federal law be amended to the end that no time limit prevent a veteran from receiving medical treatment or hospitalization for disability attributable to service; a suggestion that congress appropriate additional funds to permit improvement of the caliber and efficiency of the bureau; a request that nearly 5,000 beds be added to government hospitals to care for present and future needs, and a resolution instructing the national rehabilitation committee to survey all federal and state penal institutions and insane asylums to determine the number of ex-service men therein suffering from curable mental ailments caused by service.

The Legion for the fourth time reaffirmed its stand on adjusted compensation and demanded that congress pass the adjusted compensation bill without further equivocation or delay. The national Americanization commission of the Legion was authorized to establish a bureau of community welfare, work out a program whereby posts throughout the country can cooperate in movements for civic betterment, and urged that all posts devote their best efforts to the benefits of their local communities.

Specific details of the suggested program recommend the Legion work for the betterment of schools, recreation, park and playground facilities, furtherance of boy scout work and active participation in scout and troop organization and management; medical clinics, municipal music concerts, public forums, community buildings and city planning.

The fulfillment of the terms of the national defense act of June, 1920; the bringing of the navy's auxiliary strength to the standard required by our capital ship strength authorized under the 5-5-3 agreement and the development of aeronautics, especially a merchant air service, also was strongly advocated.

The American peace award plan was favored by another resolution, and the national commander was directed to appoint a permanent international peace committee to report at the next annual convention.

The Legion denounced as un-American any individual or organization which creates or fosters "radical, religious or class strife among our people, or which takes into its own hands the enforcement of law, determination of guilt or infliction of punishment."

The Legion again affirmed its policy in favor of suspension of all immigration for five years and stricter regulation in the absence of an exclusion law. Other resolutions, forming the keynote of the American Legion policy for the next year embodied the following points:

Indorsement of the maintenance of cordial relations with our allies in the World war and approval of the French policy in the occupation of the Ruhr;

Indorsement of land-reclamation projects, particularly those in the Colorado and Columbia river basins, which, it is pointed out, would make available hundreds of thousands of acres for soldier settlement;

Indorsement of a constitutional amendment empowering congress to enact legislation to prevent child labor;

Reaffirmation of the demand for a universal service law for the conscription on labor and capital as well as man-power in case of war;

A demand for the immediate passage of the Bursum bill, giving disabled emergency officers of the World war the retirement rights enjoyed by officers of the regular army, and

A declaration for the establishment in congress of a special committee to deal with all matters affecting the interests of World war veterans.

Over 500 million Aunt Jemima Pancakes served last year!

That old-time Southern flavor! You can get it only with

AUNT JEMIMA PANCAKE FLOUR

Aunt Jemima's famous recipe ready-mixed

"I'se in town, Honey!"

Yeast Foam assures a light, tender dough

Start your children out right—teach them how to bake good, wholesome home-made bread.

Send for free booklet "The Art of Baking Bread"

Northwestern Yeast Co.
1730 N. Ashland Ave.
Chicago, Ill.

'RAIN TREE' SUPPLIES WATER

Beautiful and Common Tree in Tropical America Holds Liquid in Leaves.

The name "rain tree" has been given to a beautiful and very common tree of tropical America. The name is probably due to the fact that the tree has the habit of closing its leaflets before and during rains, and not to any tendency to shed water from the leaves.

The original rain tree story, as found in the narratives of early voyagers back as far as the Fifteenth century, located the tree in the island of Ferro, one of the Canaries. This island has no springs and a scanty rainfall, but, according to the story, derived an ample supply of fresh water from a single tree.

The natives say that the famous rain tree that once supplied the whole island was blown down in a storm.—Detroit News.

Jazz is what democracy will do to music.

He knows not what love is that has not children.

Knew Where It Was.

Pat had got a job as stewa board a liner and on his first was anxious to have everyth nice as possible so as to plea captain. Accordingly, the first he did was to have a good cl of the captain's quarters, and other things he polished up t service, of which the captain wa proud.

Unfortunately, he let the teap overboard and it sunk like a s the bottom of the sea.

He did not know what to do, last an idea struck him and, ap ing the captain, he said:

"Captain, can anything be you know where it is?"

"No; certainly not," replied t tain, rather sharply.

"Well, sir," retorted the Iri "your silver teapot is at the of the Atlantic.

He is not only idle who does ing, but he is idle who might ter employed.

Often a woman is so incon that after making up her mind her age she is unable to stick

What's the Verdict?

THE test of a mealtime drink is not alone how it tastes, but also what it does. Many a coffee-user finds wakefulness and restlessness after drinking coffee with the evening meal—and other health-disturbances follow on.

There's double pleasure and benefit in Postum; delightful taste, complete satisfaction, and agreeable friendship with nerves and health.

There's charm without harm in Postum.

Let a ten-days' trial of Postum instead of coffee show you the marked improvement in health and comfort which so many others have found.

Sold by grocers everywhere!

Postum for Health

"There's a Reason"

Your grocer sells Postum in two forms: Instant Postum (in tins) prepared instantly in the cup by the addition of boiling water. Postum Cereal (in packages) for those who prefer the flavor brought out by boiling fully 20 minutes. The cost of either form is about one-half cent a cup.

Made by Postum Cereal Co., Inc., Battle Creek, Mich.

WARNING
Our Monarch Coffee is NEVER sold in bulk

SHINOLA
AMERICA'S HOME SHOE POLISH
Black - Tan - White - Ox-Blood - Brown
SHINOLA preserves leather as paint preserves buildings.

Quick and easy to use.
SHINOLA HOME SET
Makes Shining Easy
Genuine Bristle Dauber cleans around the sole and applies the polish thoroughly.

The Shine for Mine.

Shines in a hurry.
Lamb's Wool Polisher just fits the hand. Brings the brilliant Shinola shine with a few strokes.

HIS OPINION OF ACTRESSES

Stage Aspirant Relates Remark Made by Photographer When She Needed Encouragement.

The trials and tribulations of the embryo actress are legion. One learns from many sources of all the obstacles placed in her way. She is told that success means hard work and so forth, and those girls with courage enough to go on, their eyes fixed on a shining goal, are the first to agree that hard work is the real means to an end.

"We have our disappointments and discouragements," said one, "letters from managers that when you follow them up often turn out to be only form letters, kindly written, it's true, but still form letters. And one can't blame the manager. He gets so many letters from aspiring applicants. But" —with a courageous and determined toss of a lovely brown head—"I'll have a part this fall!"

"I've had a good many blows and disappointments, discouragement and the like, but the funniest of all was the photographer's I visited the other day to have some professional pictures taken. He looked me over. 'Going on the stage?' said he. 'Well, I suppose by next spring you'll be posing for the cloak and suit trade.'"—New York Sun and Globe.

The Reason.

Husband—"We have no children. That is why the missus and I have so much time to quarrel with each other."

The whole world loves to get the laugh on a lover.

MUST HAVE GOOD MEMORY

Checker of Hats in Hotel Can Give No Adequate Explanation of His Power.

The checkers of hats in large hotels have remarkable memories. Doubtless many young men were employed and discharged before one was found who could learn to take 300 hats from men entering the dining room and distribute them as the diners left, without checks and without an error. In a city luncheon club with nearly 400 members, for example, says Edgar James Swift, the usual method of paging a man who is wanted has been changed to asking the colored man in the hat room whether the man in question has arrived. And a glance over the hat racks gives accurate information.

Conversation with those who display this wonderful and peculiar memory has always brought essentially the same reply. They have no system. They talk vaguely about something which, in psychological language, is association between the appearance of the hat and the face of the owner.—Scribner's Magazine.

Creating Impressions.

Flint—You were working like a Trojan cleaning up your house yesterday. How come?

Lint—Company is coming this afternoon and I want them to see what a good housekeeper my wife is.—New York Sun and Globe.

We grow wiser as we grow older, and there is no mistake that it sort of takes the pep out of things.

The Winter Breakfast which includes Grape-Nuts with cream or good milk, will have one dish that has both engaging flavor and true nourishment.

Grape-Nuts is more than "something good to eat." It is a building food in most digestible form; rich in proteins, carbohydrates, mineral elements and vitamin B—all vitally essential to the daily rebuilding of every part of the body.

It pays to keep oneself in the highest physical condition, for with the strength and vigor that go with health you can "do things" and be happy.

There's a way—and
"There's a Reason"
for Grape-Nuts

As Aunt Susan Saw Christmas

By ETHEL COOK ELIOT

Optimistic Niece Touched Right Spot and Was Rewarded by Aged Relative

Compass as Present Drew Prize Over Boudoir Slippers

GREAT-AUNT SUSAN chuckled. She said: "Well I'm not done for yet, even if I have been pretty sick. They needn't take it for granted I'm a spent old woman. Why, I'll go to Europe, come spring!"

But nobody answered Aunt Susan, for there was only the canary to hear. Not being interrupted by the canary, a wise little bird who knew Great Aunt Susan's ways, she went on, all to herself, sitting bolt upright among her many lacy pillows in the rich, big bed, "Not much fun going alone, however. Wonder how Jessica or Polly now would like traveling around with a cross old woman. Guess I'll think it over pretty well, though, before I ask either of 'em."

Then silence fell while Great Aunt Susan thought this question over—should she ask one of her great-nieces to see Europe under her care?"

The canary, swinging on his perch, began to sing.

Had either Jessica or Polly heard what the canary had heard, they would have begun to sing, too. For neither one of these girls had ever been to Europe, or ever traveled at all. And with both it was the fondest dream.

They were cousins, but how different!

Jessica lived on Elm street in a fashionable little house with her widowed mother, and went to Miss Fisk's finishing school. Polly lived 'way down below Church hill on a street named "Pearl." It was a decent enough street, but far from fashionable; and Polly was a sophomore in high school. Her father was a teacher in that same high school, and the smallness of his salary explains the smallness of their little house and its location.

While Great-Aunt Susan was sitting up in bed in her dark old mansion away in the city, thinking about Polly and Jessica, both those girls, strange to say, were thinking quite concentratedly of her, too. For it was only a few days to Christmas and it was their yearly habit to send this rich, haughty old aunt a Christmas present.

Jessica cried, "Oh, mother, what a bore! Well, I'll go out and get the old thing her present right away and have it over with. But what can I give her, she has so much?"

Jessica's mother answered wisely, "Well, dear, it isn't the gift that will matter to Aunt Susan. It's the thought. She has everything in the world, of course. It's only to let her know you remember her—and so she won't forget you, you know. All our hopes are on her not forgetting us, remember."

"Well, Dear, It Isn't the Gift That Will Matter."

"Oh, yes, of course," Jessica pouted. "But what shall I get her?"

"Why not some beautiful boudoir slippers? She'll probably be sick a long time—if indeed she ever gets better."

"That's an idea—boudoir slippers. You are clever, mummy." And Jessica ran off to her Christmas shopping for Great-Aunt Susan.

In the little brown house on Pearl street the same question was being asked and answered.

"Poor old thing!" Polly cried. "What's it to her if she is so rich and all that! She's not got a soul to love her, and it's almost Christmas. Imagine Christmas without love! Well, I can't spend over fifty cents, even though I am so sorry for her. I gave a whole dollar to the Girl Scouts, and after Christmas I won't have a cent of allowance left."

"Well, get something cheerful whatever you do," Polly's mother exclaimed. "Nothing to remind her that she's an invalid, I'd say. It's the thought, not the gift that counts."

But though this last was what Jessica's mother had said, the motive was entirely different. Polly's mother was not practical-minded like Jessica's. She was just a simple, kind-hearted woman.

So Polly ran away to Christmas shop for Great-Aunt Susan.

* * * * * * *

Came Christmas day. And Great-Aunt Susan was keeping her word. She was "showing 'em." She had begun with her servants. They were the only ones to observe the fact that she was up and dressed and downstairs for Christmas dinner. There, all in her grim solitude, she surveyed her presents. There were dozens and dozens of them. A table heaped and running over with parcels from all her hopeful relatives. She smiled a trifle wryly.

She came to her great-nieces' presents the very last of all. They happened to be lying together at the bottom of the pile. A footman was at her hand ready to help with the strings and the unfolding of paper. But now Aunt Susan waved him away. "I'll undo these myself," she said. In her hardened old heart there had always been a spark of affection for these two young nieces whom she had not seen since they were children. She would like to undo their presents with her own hands—to get the personal flavor.

Jessica's came first. Off she tore the brown paper wrappings with its postmarks and address. Out rolled a white paper parcel tied with everyday white string. The white paper was rather wrinkled and certainly slightly soiled. Aunt Susan slipped the string. Into her lap rolled a pair of soft gray silken boudoir slippers, hand embroidered with lavender flowers and edged and lined with soft gray fur.

"Then Came a Little White Box, and in the Box, a Compass."

Lying in the heel of one of them was a calling card—Jessica's. The surname was crossed out, of course, and scrawled in a careless, artistic hand at the top was written, "Merry Christmas."

"Well, it's certainly a generous gift," thought Great-Aunt Susan. "For I know they're not any too well off, even if they do manage to keep up appearances. And very appropriate, too—for an invalid."

She turned to the other parcel.

Under the brown wrapping she found a neat square of white paper tied with silver Christmas cord. Beneath that lay tissue. This tissue square was tied with bright holiday ribbon and sealed with Christmas seals. Then came a little white box. And in the box a compass! On the box was written in careful script, script easy for sick, old eyes to read, "For your travels, dear Aunt Susan! Your affectionate niece—Polly."

"Humph!" said Great-Aunt Susan. But after a minute her eyes twinkled and her cheeks grew pinker. "That girl's got sense—and Christmas spirit, too," she added.

That night she wrote a long letter to Polly, a letter all about a journey she wanted her to go on with her old aunt just as soon as she had finished with high school. And the day after Christmas Polly in the little brown house on Pearl street was caroling as gayly as the canary in the fine mansion in the city. For her dream of dreams had come true. "Europe, Europe, Europe," she trilled.

But suddenly she stopped to ask her mother, "Why, oh why did she choose me?" But Polly's mother couldn't answer that. "Old ladies just take notions, I guess," she said.

(©, 1923, Western Newspaper Union.)

CHILD OF THE AGES

O Child divine, wrapt in the hope of ages;
O Thought of God, interpreted in love;
Thine infant Hand, within Thy mother Mary's,
Links all mankind, with Fatherhood above.

O Child, unchanged by customs of the ages;
O still, small Voice, whose soft appeal we know;
Thy plea is only childhood's rightful portion,
A place of love, in which to live, and grow.

—Lila Vass Shepherd.

HIS SKIN WAS SENSITIVE

She was young and pretty and her eyes sparkled with happiness. She stepped up to the counter of a men's furnishing store during the busy Christmas rush and asked to be shown something that would make a nice gift for a man. The clerk brought two grades of mufflers, one of silk and the other of coarse knit yarn. She decided on the silk one in a moment, with the remark that the other was entirely too rough for Charlie's sensitive skin. The crowd about the counter smiled faintly. They all guessed it, of course—another newlywed.—Katherine Edelman.

(©, 1923, Western Newspaper Union.)

Demand BAYER ASPIRIN

SAY "BAYER" when you buy—Genuine

Proved safe by millions and prescribed by physicians for

Colds Headache Neuralgia Lumbago
Pain Toothache Neuritis Rheumatism

Genuine Accept only "Bayer" package which contains proven directions.
Handy "Bayer" boxes of 12 tablets
Also bottles of 24 and 100—Druggists.

Aspirin is the trade mark of Bayer Manufacture of Monoaceticacidester of Salicylicacid

Two pleasant ways to relieve a cough

TRADE

Take your choice and suit your taste. S-B—or Menthol flavor. A sure relief for coughs, colds and hoarseness. Put one in your mouth at bedtime. Always keep a box on hand.

MARK

SMITH BROTHERS
S.B. COUGH DROPS MENTHOL
Famous since 1847 (orange colored box)

SICK HEADACHE

Take a good dose of Carter's Little Liver Pills then take 2 or 3 for a few nights after. They restore the organs to their proper functions and Headache and the causes of it pass away.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS

THEY REGULATE THE BOWELS and PREVENT CONSTIPATION

Genuine bear signature— Brent Good Small Pill; Small Dose; Small P

Where Pearls Are Plentiful.

In the vicinity of the Pearl islands, in the Bay of Panama, pearls are so plentiful that when the islands were first discovered the natives were using them as decorations for their canoes.

WOMEN CAN DYE ANY GARMENT, DRAPERY

Dye or Tint Worn, Faded Things New for 15 Cents.

Diamond Dyes

Don't wonder whether you can dye or tint successfully, because perfect home dyeing is guaranteed with "Diamond Dyes" even if you have never dyed before. Druggists have all colors. Directions in each package.—Advertisement.

Long Calculation.

The value of the paper mark
Becomes infinitesimal.
It may require from morn till dark
To write the needful decimal.

Freshen a Heavy Skin

With the antiseptic, fascinating Cuticura Talcum Powder, an exquisitely scented, economical face, skin, baby and dusting powder and perfume. Renders other perfumes superfluous. One of the Cuticura Toilet Trio (Soap, Ointment, Talcum).—Advertisement.

Rug Wool Dyer Man of Importance.

The dyeing of wool for the making of Persian rugs is esteemed as a fine art, and the tribal dyer is regarded as a person of considerable importance.

"DANDELION BUTTER COLOR"

A harmless vegetable butter color used by millions for 50 years. Drug stores and general stores sell bottles of "Dandelion" for 35 cents.—Adv.

Feed the Brute.

"You can generally reach a man's heart through his stomach."

"Yes, or by feeding his vanity."

Use for cuts, burns, sores and wounds. Prevents infection. Cleanses and heals.

Vaseline
Reg U.S. Pat. Off.
CARBOLATED
PETROLEUM JELLY
CHESEBROUGH MANUFACTURING COMPANY (Consolidated)
State Street New York

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM
Removes Dandruff—Stops Hair Falling
Restores Color and Beauty to Gray and Faded Hair
60c. and $1.00 at Druggists.
Hiscox Chem. Wks. Patchogue, N. Y.

HINDERCORNS Removes Corns, Calluses, etc., stops all pain, ensures comfort to the feet, makes walking easy. 15c. by mail or at Druggists. Hiscox Chemical Works, Patchogue, N. Y.

243 ACRES---LEWIS COUNTY

farms are leaders in the dairy industry; this is a big one and all equipped, on good dirt road; registered herd; all stock, machinery and tools included; buildings extra good; price $17,600, part cash. 230 ACRES; fine productive farm in good farming section; stock and tools included; good buildings; Fulton County; $9,350, part cash. 140 other bargains. Farm Sales Magazine sent free. NEW YORK STATE FARM SALES CO. 12 Mann Bldg., P. O. Box 156, Utica, N. Y.

Dr. Isaac Thompson's EYEWATER
HELPFUL EYE WASH
359 River, Troy, N. Y. Booklet.

Men know their weaknesses in a subconscious way. They can't describe them in fine language.

A spoiled child grows up and wants to have his way; and if he is smart he may get it.

Children Cry for

MOTHER:- Fletcher's Castoria is a pleasant, harmless Substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Teething Drops and Soothing Syrups, prepared for Infants in arms and Children all ages.

To avoid imitations, always look for the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. Proven directions on each package. Physicians everywhere recommend it.

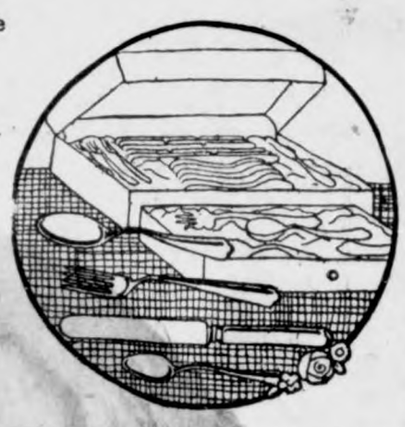
M. N. ZEIGER'S TWENTIETH

Anniversary Sale

In appreciation of the kind and liberal patronage that has been extended to me during the pest twenty years, and in view of the many requests of patrons for another sale like our sale last year, when they received such wonderful bargains, we feel obligated to our many friends and customers in Garner and vicinity, and in order to show our appreciation we have decided to give to all an opportunity to save money on their Xmas gifts. We will therefore offer to the public for two weeks only, starting Monday, Dec. 10th, our entire stock of high grade Watches, Diamonds, Silverware, Cut Glass, solid Gold and gold filled Jewelry, Clocks, etc., without reserve at practically your own price--

SILVERWARE

Complete line of Hollow Ware, consisting of Baskets, Bowls Bread and Cake Trays Candle Sticks Etc. Buy at Your Own Price.



AT PUBLIC AUCTION

Starting

Monday, December 10th

Continuing for Fourteen Days Only

Two Sales Daily--2:30 and 7:30

Fancy Dishes

A Lot of Beautiful Pieces. These too Go at Auction. Most Suitable for Christmas Giving.

IVORY TOILET and MANICURE SETS of Finest Quality

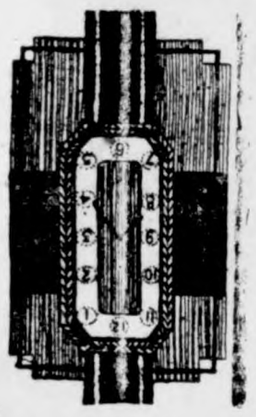
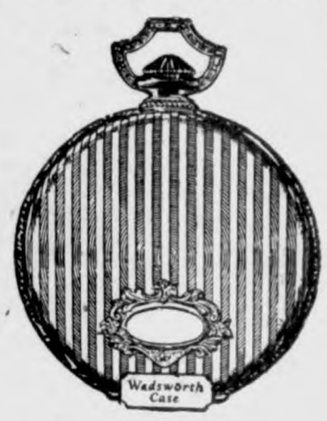
These sets Make Lasting Useful Christmas Gifts. Buy them at Your Own Price. Be one of the early Ones.

Watches and Clocks





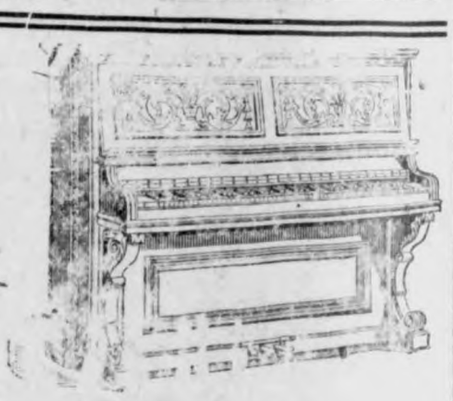
We carry the Foremost makes of American Watches, such as Elgin, Waltham, Hamilton, Illinois and South Bend

Buy these Watches at your own Price

Pearls

We carry a wonderful Assortment of indestructable Pearls in Various Lengths

PIANOS



A limited number of Musical Instuements will be included in this sale. Come early and get your choice while the selection is large. A few Pianos, you can buy them at auction at your own price.

Fine Rings-

Blue White Diamonds in latest style Mounting. Large assortment. All under the auction hammer.

CHRISTMAS

Is just around the Corner. Now is the Time to Buy all your Xmas Gifts at Positively Your Own Price. Never before has an Opportunity of this kind been given the People of this Vicinity.

Cut Glass--

THE GLASS WITH A LUSTRE—Water Sets, Compotes, Vases, Bread Trays, Flower Baskets, Bowls, Etc.

The high standard of Zeigers fair dealing will characterize this sale. Our store is well known to the people of Garner, and vicinity as a place where fair and honest dealing prevails. Our guarantee of fairness, backed up by our business reputation, established 20 years ago, and successfully advancing from year to year, is back of every article we sell.

We Want You to Celebrate Our 20 Anniversary Sale With Us.

DIAMOND RING
Given Away
Saturday Night

M. N. ZEIGER

Jeweler and Optician Garner, Iowa

FREE GIFTS
To the First 12 Ladies
Attending each Sale

rd Wiles and Fred Arnold ome from Ames to spend the giving Day with their folks city. They had to return to the next day.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Kluckhohn entertained for Thanksgiving dinner Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kluckhohn and daughter, Thelma, and Mr. and Mrs. Herry Metzgar.

WHERE and WHAT to BUY

For Early Shoppers

Our Holiday Goods are now being displayed. A visit o our Store will give you many suggestions for useful gifts hat will please your family and friends.

Come early and bring the children. We have a fine, arge selection of practical gifts for the children which will nake them happy for a long time after Christmas.

FLASHLIGHTS
PYREX WARE
ALUMINUM WARE
WINCHESTER TOOLS
SILVERWARE
ENAMEL WARE
CARVING SETS
GLOBE RANGES
COLEMAN LAMPS
SCISSORS

ICE AND ROLLER SKATES make ideal gifts for Boys or Girls. We also have a fine assortment of Coaster Wagons, wagons and kiddy cars for the little tots.

Jacobs & Son

"THE WINCHESTER STORE"

Holiday Goods

WATCHES CLOCKS
JEWELRY
EDISON PHONOGRAPHS
IVORY GOODS
FOUNTAIN PENS, GOLD PENCILS
BOX STATIONERY, BOX
CANDIES and TOYS

E. S. D. Kahrs, Druggist

EAGLE "MIKADO" Pencil No. 174

For Sale at your Dealer Made in five grades
ASK FOR THE YELLOW PENCIL WITH THE RED BAND
EAGLE MIKADO
EAGLE PENCIL COMPANY, NEW YORK

THE CRYSTAL CAFE

THE HOME OF GOOD EATS
CANDIES— —SOFT DRINKS— —CIGARS
MEALS and LUNCHES
Fresh Bread Always on Hand Buy It Here
Our motto is fair treatment and prompt service
We solicit your patronage. Come and see us.
CONRAD QUANDT, Proprietor

Five Years General Practice

Dr. D. P. Anderson

Graduate Veterinarian
Office at Kahrs' Drug Store Phone 4009
Klemme, Iowa

GEORGE ZINN, M. D.
Physician and Surgeon
Office opposite from Hotel Klemme
Phone No. 19
Eyes Examined Glasses Fitted

Mrs. Ben Swalve has been quite sick the past week but it is reported that she is greatly improved at this writing.

Mrs. Stiehl enjoyed company over Sundap when she received a visit from Mr. and Mrs. Webner of Waterville, Minnesota.

Mrs. Ed. Jacobs visited with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wisty, at the Lake a few days the fore part of this week.

Joe Johnson went into Chicago Saturday night with a live stock shipment and remained over a few days to attend the Live Stock Exposition.

Mr. and Mrs. Eichmeyer from Sheffield, and Mr. and Mrs. Whitehead, from Clear Lake, were Sunday dinner guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lewis.

Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Ridder and baby of Watertown, South Dakota, came in their car Tuesday, being called here by the illness of Mrs. Ridder's mother, Mrs. Ernest Lenz, who is quite ill.

Be sure to atend the Rohrbcah & O'Rourk Holstein cow and heifer sale at Kanawha, Saturday, December 15th at 2 o'clock. Every cow is tested. Now is the time to get yourself a good cow. 2wc

---

Mr. adn Mrs. Schuettpelz and baby left for their home at Lane, South Dakota after a weeks visit at the Ben Swalve home. They were called here by the illness o Mrs. Swalve, mother of Mrs. Schuettpelz.

Adolph Lauritzen came home last Thursday from Fayette, Iowa, to spend Thanksgiving and visit for a few days with folks at home. Adolph is a student at Upper Iowa University at Fayette. This is his first year at college. He likes it fine.

"Dad" Yahnke was exactly fifty-three years young last Friday. Mrs. Sam Larsen and Mrs. Alvin Stokesbary thought a surprise would be in order so they went up to his house and ate supper with him and his family.

W. F. Pavey drove to Webster City Tuesday on business. He went there to look over a new shipment of Star cars. He says the company there got in twenty-four and by the afternoon all were taken out by customers.

Quite a number from this vicinity went to Garner last Thursday afternoon to see the Thanksgiving Day batle between the Garner and Clear Lake high school football teams. Garner won the game 24 to 7. Garner has a fine team this year and they showed some good playing.

Mr. and Mrs. Tony Boller and some friends with them, when returning from Mason City in their car last Thursday night had an acident. When between Garner and Klemme their lights went out and they ran into the ditch, upseting the car. Fortuneately no one was injured.

Last Friday afternoon Ye Editor and family were at Mason City on business and while there stopped at the hospital for a visit with County Auditor "Jack" Madison who is recovering from an operation on his spine, caused by an injury. He is getting along fine and will soon be back of his desk in the court house.

Joe Schuldt was th winner of the twenty Red Top Steel Fence Posts given away by the Northern Lumber Company to the customer paying up the largest acount by December 1st. Joe wanted those posts and thought it an easy way to accumulate a fine bunch of posts. Joe and August already have a large section of their farm fenced with Red Tops.

A few are beginning to get their new auto license plates for 1924. County Treasurer Suurbalie had issued over a hundred the first of the week. The new plates are white numbers on a black back ground. As usual, Elko Buss grabbed plate number "13" again this yea. This is the third year he has had that number. Elko says it is a lucky old number, and anyway nobody else in the county will take it.

News of Goodell And Vicinty

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Sherwood and family were Mason City shoppers on Friday.

The dance in the Hall Saturday night was well attended, and all report a good time.

Jay Griggs was a Mason City caller Saturday.

A bazaar was held in the Catholic Church parlors, Saturday. They took in uiqte a large sum of money.

The farm bureau of Twin Lake township held a basket social in the Hall Friday night. County Agent, L. T. Nutty was there and showed some very good pictures. The entertainment was put on by members of the Avery township farm bureau.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Hemingway, Riley Clark and Mrs. M. J. Kearney were Mason City callers last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Hemingway enjoyed a visit from relatives of Williams, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Newberger of Ventura ate Thanksgiving dinner at the George Griggs home.

Ben Grieman and family were visiting at the Chase home Sunday.

Dale Chase is making preparations to leave for Cedar Falls Wednesday, December 5th, where h eis going to attend school.

Mrs. Dan Miller is visiting relatives at Goldfield.

Mrs. Frank Clark, who is in the Hampton hospital, will return home in a few days.

School Notes

A short Thanksgiving program was given in the intermediate room Wednesday morning. The program consisted mostly of singing, short talks, original stories and exercises by pupils of all grades. A number of the parents were present and we hope they will continue to show their interest in the work of the school.

Alcohol

FOR YOUR RADIATOR

We have a big supply of dehatured ALCOHOL on hand at this station now—the very kind we can buy, for your radiator. Drive in and we will put the proper mixture of alcohol and water in your radiator for any kind of freezing weather. Let us take care of your radiator this winte and test it for you and you take no chances on freezing it up and paying a costly repair bill.

WINTER OILS

Let us drain your car and refill with the proper grade of winter oil for your motor.

Drive up and fill 'er up!

Lewis' Service Station

Henry Lewis, Prop.

Hall's Catarrh Medicine is a Combined Treatment, both local and internal, and has been successful in the treatment of Catarrh for over forty years. Sold by all druggists.
F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio

DENTIST
J. L. Hesselhuus, D. D. S.
Office Hours 8-12 1-5:30
Office Opposite State Savings Bank; In Schaffer Bldg
Evening Work By Appointment Only
Klemme, Ia. Phone 81

Golden State Limited
only 3 nights en route
Rock Island
to California
Los Angeles
San Diego
Santa Barbara

Through Standard sleepers every day in the year from Twin Cities and Des Moines.
Through tourist sleepers Tuesdays and Thursdays
"The best meals on wheels"

Consult Rock Island Ticket Agent or address
C. C. Gardner, G. A. P. D.
Rock Island Lines
600 Royal Union Life Bldg., Des Moines, Iowa

Rock Island Lines

Don't deceive Yourself--

You're paying the cost of STORMIZING in waste oil and gas alone. The expense of operating your car with cylinders in a worn and scored condition is greater than the cost of STORMIZING and Complete Overhauling. But the waste of oil and gas is not the only thing to be considered. The following troubles are all directly due to worn cylinders. Loss of Power, Imperfect Compression, Low Gasoline Mileage, Waste of Oil, Excessive Carbon, Fouled Spark Plugs, Mis-firing, Diluted Oil, Injured Bearings, Weak Compression, Hard Starting, Piston Slap, Nosy Operation, Uneven Idling, Mis-firing at Low Speed.

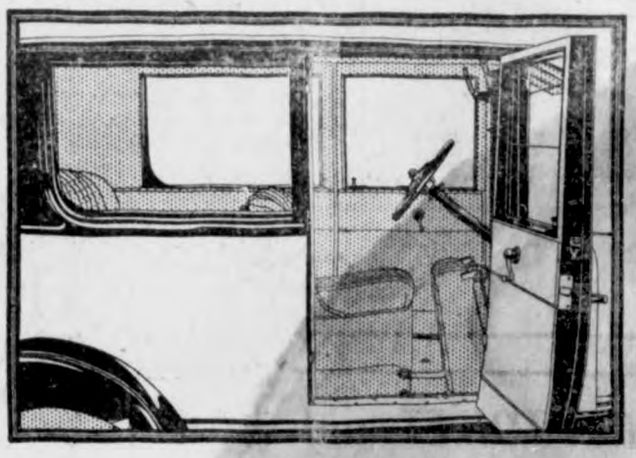
STORMIZING strikes the very root of all these troubles, it cures them all.

We Know Autos—Both Right and Left Handed
TAGOLENE OIL—the Utmost in Lubrication

Pavey's Stormizing Shop

Authorized Service
Auto Mechanics —All Work Guaranteed— General Blacksmithing

Tudor SEDAN



F.O.B. DETROIT $590 FULLY EQUIPPED

The Lowest Priced Sedan

IN the Tudor Sedan a wholly new Ford body type is offered American motorists.

It is distinguished by a compact, roomy body, two wide doors opening forward, and folding right front seat.

Large windows affording an open view in every direction, make for safer driving and greater motoring enjoyment.

At $590, this is the lowest priced Sedan ever placed on the American market.

It is a car of broad appeal and compelling value.

This car can be obtained through the Ford Weekly Purchase Plan.

Griemann Motor Co.

Fordson
CARS—TRUCKS—TRACTORS

Are You the Master Of your Fate?

DRIFTERS— indifferent, aimless people— are the prey of every piratic scheme that comes along. Ambitious men and women, with a definite course before them and the courage to wheather it through, are the ones who reach the harbor of safety and contentment. Start now to be master of your fate.

Thousands have made their start by the saving of $1.00 and then adding to it regularly.

We help your savings grow by paying 5 per cent interest.

First National Bank

"The Bank for Everybody'."

INDICT M'CRAY ON 192 COUNTS

Indiana Governor Is Charged With Embezzling a Total of $225,000.

MANY PROMINENT WITNESSES

Indianapolis, Ind.—The grand jury returned eight indictments embracing 192 counts against Governor McCray, whose financial activities have been up for investigation before a special body for several weeks.

Embezzlement, embezzlement and larceny, false pretense, fraud and false statement in connection with financial settlement were the charges. The governor's bond was set at $25,000 on the forgery charge, but no amount was set by the judge on the other charges.

The Marion county grand jury began the investigation of the governor's activities early in October. The inquiry was begun at the suggestion of the First National Bank of Marion through its attorney, Gus S. Condo.

The indictments charge that the governor embezzled a total of $225,000. One indictment alone covers 75 typewritten pages.

Witnesses have included many bankers from Indianapolis and other cities of the state. Among the prominent was former Governor Goodrich, now president of the National City Bank of Indianapolis. Mr. Goodrich is said to have been a leader in the pool of $350,000 which was raised last summer to help Governor McCray out of a "pressing financial obligation."

Senator James E. Watson and Postmaster General New were other witnesses summoned to appear.

A second phase of the governor's financial tangle is the involuntary bankruptcy proceedings which have been instituted against him in Fort Wayne by several banks.

Legion Chief Discusses Bonus With Coolidge

Washington,—John R. Quinn, national commander of the American Legion, discussed the bonus with President Coolidge Friday. He was a luncheon quest at the White House. Mr. Quinn expressed confidence that the soldier bonus would be one of the first matters taken up by congress and that it would be passed by an overwhelming vote. He said he had appointed a legislative committee with Aaron Shapiro of Chicago as chairman.

Secretary Hughes Clears Up Foreign Policy of U. S.

Philadelphia.—Secretary Hughes declared that America would rather bear such ills as might result from its present European policy than to "suffer the greater evils which would follow the sacrifice of our independent position." The statement was made during an address before the American Academy of Political and Social Science on the occasion of the one hundredth anniversary of the Monroe doctrine.

Disabled Veteran Sends $1,500 Check Back to U. S.

Salt Lake City, Utah.—A check for $1,500, compensation for a disability received in the service during the World war, has been returned by Lyman P. Hunter of Salt Lake City to the United States veterans' bureau. In a letter he declined to accept the check, saying that "he only spent a short time in the service and did not think he was entitled to it." He added that he had a good job now.

Senator Couzens Quits Bank Job He "Can't Work At"

Detroit, Mich.—Senator James Couzens resigned as president of the Bank of Detroit. George B. Judson, first vice president, succeeds the senator as president. "I am resigning because I never hold a job I can't work at," the senator said. "I expect to be in Washington steadily for the next six months."

Mercury Jumps 40 Degrees in a Minute; Reaches Zero

Fairbanks, Alaska. — An unusual weather visited Hot Springs, 100 miles north of here, Friday, when the mercury jumped from 40 degrees below to zero in less than one minute. Sourdoughs never before heard of such a large jump.

United States Will Not Participate in Reparations

Washington. — The United States government will decline to participate in any reparations inquiry into Germany's capacity to pay, it was stated in behalf of President Coolidge at the White House.

Five Dead in Louisiana Storm.

Houma, La.—Five persons, four of them members of one family, were killed and five others were injured in a storm which wrecked twenty-five houses in the Little Caillou bayou section, sixteen miles south of here.

New Wet Bill.

Washington. — Representative Dyer of Missouri has drafted a bill for amendment of the Volstead act which would permit the sale of beverages having an alcoholic content not to exceed 2.75 per cer

JAMES E. WATSON

New portrait of Senator James E. Watson of Indiana who says he may enter the primaries in his state as a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination.

HIRAM FOR TAX CUT

Also for Bonus and Warns Against European Traps.

Chicago.—Senator Hiram Johnson challenged the administration to come out definitely and say what opportunity it sees for American action in Europe when he addressed the Cook county real estate board here. It was Mr. Johnson's first important address since he jumped into the presidential race.

The senator declared that clouds of "benevolent vagueness" have hung over the issue and that it is time the administration came forward to a definite stand. The European question was the California senator's chief indictment of the Harding-Coolidge administration. He declared openly that it will be the issue on which he will fight out his campaign.

In connection with the bonus, Senator Johnson said that the matter of adjusted compensation now constitutes a promise and a solemn pledge. It is a faith, he declared, that must not be broken.

Turning to the question of taxation, the candidate held that the surplus is sufficient not only to warrant a reduction, but to enable the passage of bonus legislation. He declared that tax reduction is absolutely required. He suggested a reduction of the tax burden of the 13,600,000 persons who pay taxes on incomes of less than $10,000.

Reduction of freight rates on farm products was recommended by the senator as a means of farm relief.

Married at 13, Mother of 13 Children, Gets Divorce

Memphis, Tenn.—Mrs. Rosa Walden, twenty-seven, mother of thirteen children, was granted a divorce in Circuit court from John Walden on a charge of abandonment. They were married fourteen years ago at Decatur, Ala. There have been one set of triplets and one pair of twins. Five of the children are still living. At the time of her marriage Mrs. Walden was but thirteen years of age.

Senator Ferris Does Not Believe in Inheritances

Big Rapids, Mich.—Senator Woodbridge N. Ferris is opposed to fortunes being used at the discretion of heirs, and will go to Washington prepared to boost legislation that would all but absorb inheritances, he said here in his "home-town" farewell. Young men and women, he said, would be better off and make higher marks in the world if they started life with little.

Train Kills Three Persons in Stalled Auto in Michigan

Jackson, Mich.—Two Chicago women and a Chicago man were killed near this city when the automobile in which they were taking a Thanksgiving day trip to Dearborn, Mich., was struck by a Michigan Central express train. They were Thomas Robinson, driver of the car; Mrs. Ida Kurent and her sister, Mrs. Barbara Ginter.

Four to Be Electrocuted in One Day at Sing Sing

Ossining, N. Y.—A wholesale execution in which four men convicted as murderers will die in the electric chair will take place at Sing Sing prison on Thursday night, December 13. Warden Lewis E. Lawes announced the fourfold execution.

Won't Block Red Recognition.

Rome.—Speaking in the chamber of deputies, Premier Mussolini said the Italian government would raise no difficulty with regard to giving de jure recognition to the soviet government of Russia.

Germans Hold Spy.

Berlin.—Capt. Darmont, French officer, is held by the German government. Notes have been forwarded to Paris pointing out that there is ample evidence that Captain Darmont is a spy.

FEAR GERMANS ARM FOR WAR

England and France Get Reports of Great and Growing Army.

CANNON FOR LARGE FORCE

Paris.—"Germany is preparing for a revenge war," a Cologne correspondent wires the Paris Journal. "However, Germany is not yet quite ready to make war."

The Journal points out that Germany began casting off the Versailles treaty and arming itself in October, 1922, three months before the Ruhr occupation. In the last few months the reich no longer has tried to hide its preparations.

The reich has 200,000 trained soldiers, from the reichswehr to the shupos, but this number is a small fraction of its real army, because of wholesale violations of the treaty. The Journal estimates that Germany has enough cannon to equip from 40 to 60 divisions with factories working overtime turning out more armaments.

London.—The newspapers are devoting considerable attention to a news item sent out by Reuter's dealing with military preparations in Germany, information concerning which the news agency says has reached the British government. The article declares the British are concerned over the situation and its bearing on the peace of Europe.

Récent information from British observers in Germany shows that more men than ever are being trained, and that the police and military soldiers, the regimental associations, and the student organizations are all bigger than ever.

Snuff Out Red Attempt to Rule Germany; Few Casualties

Berlin.—Turning Berlin into an armed camp, the police snuffed out an attempt of the Communists "under orders from Moscow," to hold hunger demonstrations. Lumbering tanks, armored cars and truckloads of policemen armed with riot guns and "potato masher" grenades, sent the Reds scurrying to cover. The casualties were small. Meanwhile President Ebert, Socialist harness maker, turned over the rule of Germany to the Nationalistic parties, who are expected to control a majority in the reichstag.

Thousands Flee From Blast in Mine; Two Killed, 13 Hurt

Benton, Ill.—More than 1,000 miners working in the underground chambers of No. 1 mine of the Chicago, Wilmington & Franklin Coal company were rescued after an explosion of gas in the workings which killed two men and injured thirteen, six of whom may die. The killed and injured were in the 1,000-foot level, to which the explosion and subsequent fire were confined.

Rob Bank, Fight Posses, Kidnap an Officer, Vanish

Joplin, Mo.—Five bandits who held up the Bank of Asbury at Asbury, Mo., fifteen miles northwest of here, and escaped with approximately $1,500 after a gun fight with citizens, played hide and seek with three pursuers in a chase that extended into Kansas, and later kidnaped a Joplin motorcycle policeman following an exchange of shots, and escaped.

Thousands of Dogs and Horses Killed for Food in Germany

Berlin.—For the first six months of this year, 10,882 dogs and 165,186 horses were slaughtered in Germany for food, according to official statistics made public today. During all last year there were 13,995 dogs and 240,014 horses slaughtered. These figures are only those of public abbatoirs and do not include dogs and horses killed by farmers for food.

Two Lose Lives in Speedway Automobile Race on Coast

Beverly Hills Speedway, Cal.—Two lives were lost in the 1923 Thanksgiving day automobile race, which was won by Bennett Hill, driving a Dusenberg special, with Jimmy Murphy second and Eddie Hearn a close third. The double fatality was witnessed by from 80,000 to 100,000 spectators.

Boat Tips, 3 Duck Hunters Drown in Illinois River

Springfield, Ill.—J. P. Croak of Hammond, Ind., and Earl House and John M. Butler of Bath were drowned in the Illinois river near Bath, while duck hunting. Their launch capsized. Leo Knoezer of Hammond escaped by swimming to shore.

Gary for Tax Cut.

New York.—Reduction of taxes and at least a delay in the soldiers' bonus until adequate means to finance it can be determined, were urged by Elbert H. Gary in an address here before the League of Political Education.

English Pumpkin Pie.

London.—Members of the American society got on very well with their Thanksgiving dinner at one of London's big hotels until pumpkin pie—with crust on top as well as on the bottom—was brought in.

MME. AMALIA BESSO

Mme. Amalia Besso is leader of the women Fascisti of Italy. This organization of women is fully as influential as the male organization and is national in scope.

U. S. MARKET REPORT

Weekly Marketgram by Bureau of Agricultural Economics.

Washington.—For the week ending Dec. 1.—FRUITS AND VEGETABLES—New York round white potatoes, $1.50@1.75 sacked and bulk per 100 lbs., $1.15@1.25 f. o. b.; northern round whites, 90c@$1.20 in Chicago. Cabbage, $8.00 in Chicago and Wisconsin shipping points; Danish type ranged $20.00@25.00 bulk per ton leading city market, mostly $18.00@20.00 f. o. b. Onions, midwestern yellow varieties, $2.50@3.00 sacked per 100 lbs. consuming centers.

LIVE STOCK—Chicago prices: Hogs, $7.10 top and $6.50@7.00 for the bulk. Medium and good beef steers, $8.15@11.50; butcher cows and heifers, $3.65@10.90; feeder steers, $4.50@7.50; veal calves, $7.25@9.50. Fat lambs, $11.50@13.50; feeder lambs, $11.00@12.75; yearlings, $8.50@11.50; fat ewes, $4.00@7.25.

GRAIN—No. 2 hard winter wheat, $1.10@1.17 Kansas City, $1.06@1.06½ St. Louis; No. 2 red winter wheat, $1.09 Kansas City, $1.14@1.15 St. Louis; No. 2 yellow corn, 84c Chicago, 78@79c St. Louis; No. 3 white oats, 43@44¾c Chicago, 40½c Minneapolis, 45c St. Louis.

DAIRY PRODUCTS—Butter, 92 score, 51½c Chicago. Cheese prices at Wisconsin primary markets: Twins, 22¼c; single daisies, 24½c; double daisies, 24¼c; longhorns, 25¾c; square prints, 25½c.

HAY—No. 1 timothy, $25.00 Cincinnati, $26.00 Chicago; No. 1 alfalfa, $28.00 Chicago; No. 1 prairie, $19.50 Chicago.

France Drafts Recognition of the Russian Soviet

Berlin.—France is ready to recognize de facto soviet Russia. A commercial, political and economic treaty being drawn up after four and a half months of negotiations provides for close cooperation between France, the ally of czarist Russia before the revolution, and the Bolshevik leaders who overthrew the emperor. After the long negotiations, which were begun in Berlin, continued in Paris and thence transferred to Moscow, the pact has been practically settled. The new treaty embodies three sections—financial, economic and political.

Blaze in Detroit Causes Loss of $1,500,000 on Water Front

Detroit, Mich.—Fire starting from an overheated stove in a watchman's shanty destroyed the Detroit and Windsor Ferry company's dock, housing the United States immigration and customs offices, spread to the six-story Munger building, which was burned to the ground, and then destroyed a four-story warehouse and several small buildings on Woodward avenue and Bates street. The loss is estimated at $1,500,000.

Belgians Seize Rolling Stock in Ruhrland as Penalty

Brussels.—The Belgian government seized German rolling stock at Duisburg and Hamborn, in view of Germany's failure to reply to Belgium's ultimatum demanding an indemnity of 1,250,000 francs for the assassination of Lieutenant Graff near Duesseldorf in March, 1922.

Find Bodies of 100 Gassed Germans in Lifelike Positions

Verdun.—Bodies of more than 100 German soldiers, postured in lifelike attitudes, were found in a tunnel between Dead Man's hill and Bethincourt. They had been caught in a surprise gas attack during the battle of Verdun. The Germans were bottling mineral water when stricken.

Berlin Ordered Lusitania Sunk, Washington Archives Show

Washington.—Proof that the German government deliberately planned and ordered the sinking of the great passenger liner Lusitania is contained in the secret archives of the American government.

Moros Killed in Battle.

Manila, P. I.—Four Moros were killed in a clash with a constabulary detachment near Bayan, in the province of Lanao, on the island of Mindanao, according to a dispatch received here from the governor.

Orders Head Cut Off.

Bordeaux.—Joseph Vasquez, who died recently at the age of seventy-one, left a provision in his will requesting that a physician cut off his head to make sure he was dead before he was buried. His wish was fulfilled.

.. Hawkeye .. State News

Interesting Items Gathered From all Parts of Iowa

Increasing numbers of loans to farmers on warehouse receipts are being made, according to reports received by the state agricultural department.

Anyhow, the chap who boasts of his corn-husking ability is of more use in the world than the one who puts in most of his time pushing billiard balls around.

The champion corn husker of Iowa in the preliminary contests for the state championship is Carl Hoover, Mahaska county, with a record of 226 bushels in nine hours.

Several changes in the Iowa highway law will be offered by the Iowa Good Roads Association when the Iowa Legislature convenes next month, according to M. L. Bowman, secretary.

The Tom Young farm two miles from Malvern sold recently for $350 per acre. The farm, which consists of 120 acres, is one of the best improved and best located farms in this section.

Ottumwa's new white way is now lighted. Work on the project, which cost $33,262, has been pushed rapidly to completion since construction began. The first work was done early in October.

The Iowa State Teachers Association through its legislative committee will work for a revision of the school laws which will make the office of state superintendent appointive instead of elective.

The people of Iowa lost millions of dollars in stock promotion schemes prior to 1921. Then the State Legislature passed the Blue Sky Law, which was supposed to put a stop to such practices. But has it?

The Red Cross campaign in Iowa is going over the top. Judge Hubert Utterback, state chairman, has announced. The drive has been made in a number of counties and the report shows a 100 per cent return.

Iowa has 481 third class postoffices, for which the executives are appointive and usually for only a four year term, according to Secretary Carl Wulkau, of Williams. The 637 fourth class offices have civil service.

An addition to the Red Oak public library building is soon to be built at a cost of $6,000. Funds for the improvement were donated by Mrs. H. C. Lane, former resident here, who, with her husband, the late H. C. Lane, have always been interested in library work.

Pure bred stock is the hobby of the three mistresses of Wildwood Place, a farm in Jasper county. These three young women argue that, since they do practically all of their own farm work, it is necessary for them to work toward quality rather than quantity production.

More than 100,000 tons of sugar beets, the largest crop handled by the factory of the Northern Sugar Corporation, has just been harvested from farms in the northern section of Iowa and southern Minnesota. There have been 65,000 tons already brought into the beet sheds and of this amount 50,000 tons have already been sliced.

The new Union Trust and Savings bank at Dubuque was formally opened when fifty merchants of Central avenue staged a huge parade of floats over a mile long and a street dance in the evening attended by thousands of Dubuquers. Three bands, the Community band, the Ladies' band and the new Firemen's band were engaged for the day.

Fifty-one samples of Woodbury county corn grown in connection with the seed corn improvement program have been harvested and resulted in an average yield of 74.3 bushels per acre which is 42.3 bushels per acre over the average yield of corn in that county in 1922 and 20 bushels per acre over the state average for the same year.

Having interested twenty-seven counties in Iowa in the plan to centralize its public health work in a county organization under the plan worked out by the international health board, the state board of health expects to go before the Iowa legislature this winter with the request for approximately $50,000 for taking care of this work.

The title of champion corn husker of Iowa and a prize of $100 went to John Rickelman, Mount Hamill, when he husked nearly thirty-three bushels of corn in an hour and twenty minutes in the state contest at Johnston Station on the Newlin farm. Second place and the prize of $50 went to Ben Grimmius, jr., Grundy Center with forty-eight pounds less than the champion. Grimmius has won second place honors two years in succession.

The farmers of Estherville community will hold a farmers' short course in Estherville December 10-14. A short course association has been formed with over a hundred members. Premiums amounting to more than $1,500 will be given to exhibitors.

Iowa's rank in ratio of total road mileage is sixth, her mileage being 104,082. Texas ranks first with 182,816 miles, Kansas second with 124,143, South Dakota third with 115,390, and Missouri ranks immediately ahead of Iowa with 111,510. Minnesota ranks next to Iowa with 103,059

MOTHER OF LARGE FAM

Recommends Lydia E. ham's Vegetable Comp to Other Mothers

Windom, Minn.—"I was so r that I was just good for nothing. become the of my ninth I thought I have the to go throu it. I took Pinkham's ble Compou it has surely I could ask and I am te my friends a I have a nice girl and am fine. You may use this letter other sick mothers." — Mrs. MOEDE, Box 634, Windom, Minn.

My First Child

Glen Allen, Alabama.—"I hav greatly benefited by taking Ly Pinkham's Vegetable Compou bearing-down feelings and pains troubled in this way for nearl years following the birth of m child, and at times could hardly st my feet. A neighbor recommend Vegetable Compound to me after taken doctor's medicines without benefit. It has relieved my pai gives me strength. I recommend give you permission to use my te nial letter."—Mrs. IDA RYE, Glen Alabama.

CURES COLDS IN 24 HOU
AT ALL DRUG STORES
WORLD'S MILLIONS STANDARD
CASCARA BROMIDE QUININE
FOR TWO GENERATIONS
CURES LA GRIPPE IN 3 DAY
DETROIT.

No Soap Bett
—For Your Skin—
Than Cuticu
Soap 25c, Ointment 25 and 50c, Talcu

Curious.

"That feministic stuff of D. andso in the yellow paper mak sick," said a San Francisco w "Well, you don't have to re said her husband. "It has his n it and there is his picture to you off. It isn't compulsory. makes you sick why do you pa attention to it?" "Because, y goose, I want to see how sick make me."

DEMAND "BAYER" AS Take Tablets Without Fear
See the Safety "Bayer Cro

Warning! Unless you see the "Bayer" on package or on tablet are not getting the genuine Aspirin proved safe by millions prescribed by physicians for 23 Say "Bayer" when you buy A Imitations may prove dangerous.

Nothing Serious.

Applicants for positions und municipal government of a Middle Western town are requir undergo a physical examination ing the examination of one can the physician asked: "What di grandfather die of?" The app looked nonplused for a momen finally admitted that he did not member, but hastened to add, know that it was nothing seri

Only the Best Ingredients are used in Brandreth Pills. For stipation they have no equal. one or two at bed time.—Adv.

A beautiful truth is so apt to mere abstraction.

Sure Relie
FOR INDIGESTIO

BELL-AN FOR INDIGEST
25 CENT
6 BELL-A
Hot wat
Sure Re
BELL-AN
25¢ AND 75¢ PACKAGES EVERYW

Fame for Dress Designer.

Miss Caroline Nunder of New city has the distinction of being of the most widely-known dre signers in America. At the twenty-four she is said to enjoy come of nearly $50,000 a year her work. Miss Nunder is a ra pretty girl with fair bobbed ha large hazel eyes. Every froc designs she wears, usually at t ater.

The Best External Remedy for all local aches and pains, sult of taking cold, over exert strain, is an Allcock's Plaster.—

Advice to Mules.

Professor (after a very bad tion)—"Class is dismissed; don't your ears when you go out."

Hall's Catarr
Medicine will do what claim for it rid your system of Catarrh or Deafn caused by Catarrh.
Sold by druggists for over 40 years
F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo,

Prominent People

Ludendorff's Beer-Cellar Government

Here is the very latest photograph of Gen. Erich Ludendorff, headliner with Adolph Hittler in the comic-opera "revolution" in Germany, known as the Bavarian "putsch." Imagine this pompous, arrogant and ruthless figure of the World war arrested by a policeman as supreme commander of the "beer-cellar government" forces!

This government was proclaimed in Munich with the announced purpose of regenerating Germany by demolishing the republic and restoring the monarchy. Twenty-four hours later it was in collapse. Its career ended ignominiously in circumstances widely different from those attending its inception, when, amid the fumes of beer and tobacco, Ludendorff declared that he would not flinch in the task assigned to him, even before the prospects of a war with France as Bavaria could put 300,000 fully equipped men in the field immediately.

Those who do not admire Ludendorff say he is an embodiment of all that is worst in the Prussian character—arrogant, vindictive, vain and utterly selfish, narrow-minded and unbending, working at most for the domination of a limited class—the military and royalist hierarchy—he lacks all genuine sense of patriotism and all consideration for the German people.

Chicago Is Proud of New Woman Judge

Here's an up-to-date portrait of Judge Mary Bartelme of the Circuit court of Cook county, Illinois, elected to the bench after 26 years of public service which have brought her nation-wide fame. She is Chicago's first woman judge. The women managed her campaign, but the men voted for her, too. Chicago is proud of her.

Her first office was that of public guardian, to which she was appointed in 1897 by the late Gov. John R. Tanner. She held that position for 16 years. She began her work in the Juvenile court, which won her renown throughout the United States, in 1913, when the late Judge Merritt W. Pinckney appointed her his assistant. In that office she handled thousands of cases of juvenile delinquency.

She is a native of Chicago, the daughter of Balthasar and Jeanette Hoff Bartelme. She was educated in the public schools and at Northwestern university, from which institution she graduated in 1894. She was admitted to the bar the same year.

Mary Bartelme is a little woman; many of the girls who come before her are much bigger than she. She dresses simply, pleasingly. She has clear brown eyes that brook no nonsense, but that melt with their kind understanding the most refractory of girls. Her voice is soft, modulated and inspires the confidence of the many friendless delinquents that troop before her improvised tribunal.

The overindulgent parent, the indifferent parent and the avaricious parent have been named by Miss Bartelme as the three principal causes for the delinquency of young girls.

"Every girl can be saved," has always been her optimistic motto.

Houghton, an Unloquacious Ambassador

Do you know the name of the American ambassador to Germany? No! Well, it is Alanson B. Houghton. Did it ever occur to you that you never see his name in the pages of cable from Germany? Well, there's good reason for that. He is a phenomenon among ambassadors. He sets a new standard in diplomacy. He makes no speeches, attends no functions, doesn't talk for quotation, gives few chances for misquotation. He is the antithesis of the modern slogan "It pays to advertise."

The odd part is that this is an acquired behavior. It is part of a carefully thought out and strictly followed plan. He once gave an opening. That was just before sailing to take up the work left vacant by the war when he made an innocuous after-dinner remark to the effect that the war was over and that the job was to consolidate Europe in friendship, as well as in finance. It was blazoned around the country and pounced upon by Ambassador Jusserand as indication that the United States has sent a pro-German ambassador to the Wilhelmstrasse. That put the seal on silence.

Ambassador Houghton knows his way around in the world. He's a Harvard man, studied at Paris and Gottingen and narrowly escaped a literary career. He's in big business, with several irons in the fire—glass, coal, insurance. He's been in congress. You can hear him called in Washington "the best ambassador we have."

Banting, Who Gave the World Insulin

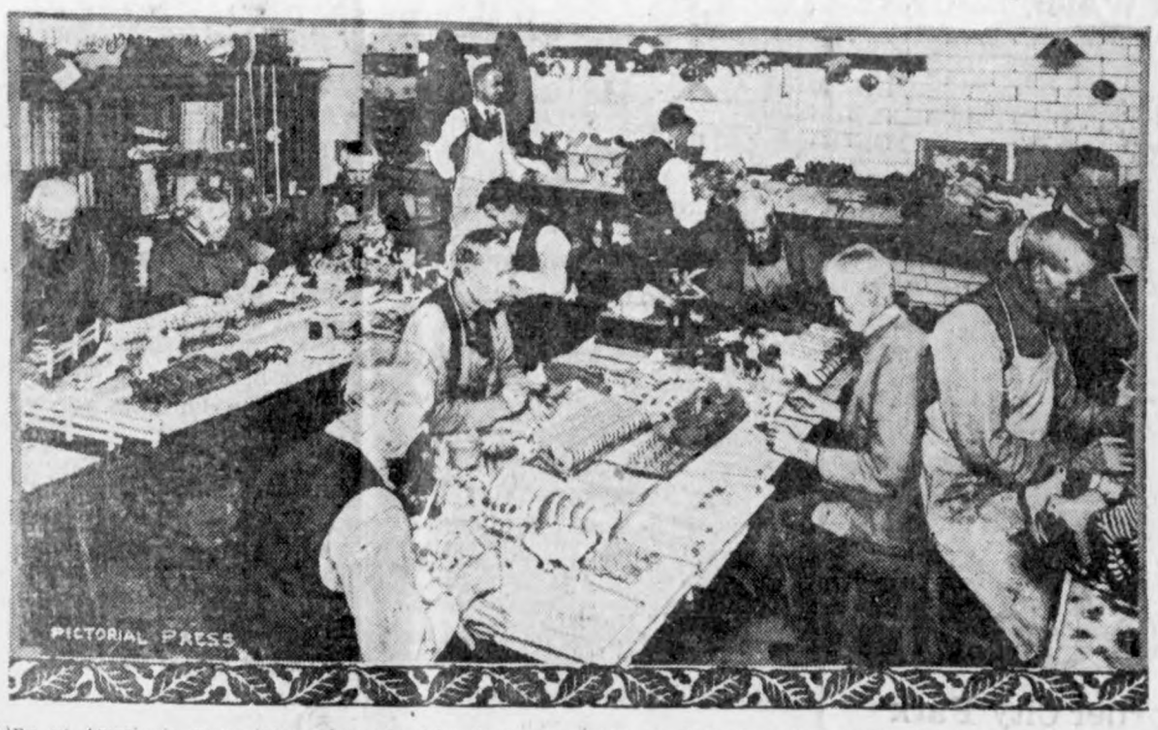
The Nobel prize for medicine for 1923 has been awarded to Dr. Frederick George Banting (portrait herewith) and his senior colleague at the University of Toronto, Dr. J. J. R. McLeod, to whom he presented his plans after he felt assured of success and who arranged for the continuation of the experiments and himself worked with the young investigator.

The Canadian government has awarded him an annuity of $7,500 to enable him to pursue scientific researches unhampered and the Ontario legislature has appropriated $10,000 for a research chair at the University of Toronto to be known permanently as the Banting-Best Chair of Research, in tribute to him and his chief assistant, Charles H. Best, who is only twenty-three years old and has not yet received his M. D. degree.

It was in February of 1922 his discovery of insulin as a remedy for diabetes was announced. Dr. Banting, instead of exploiting the commercial possibilities of his discovery, refused compensation in any form for the sale of the product, which will be sold at three cents a unit, making it available for even the poorest sufferers from diabetes.

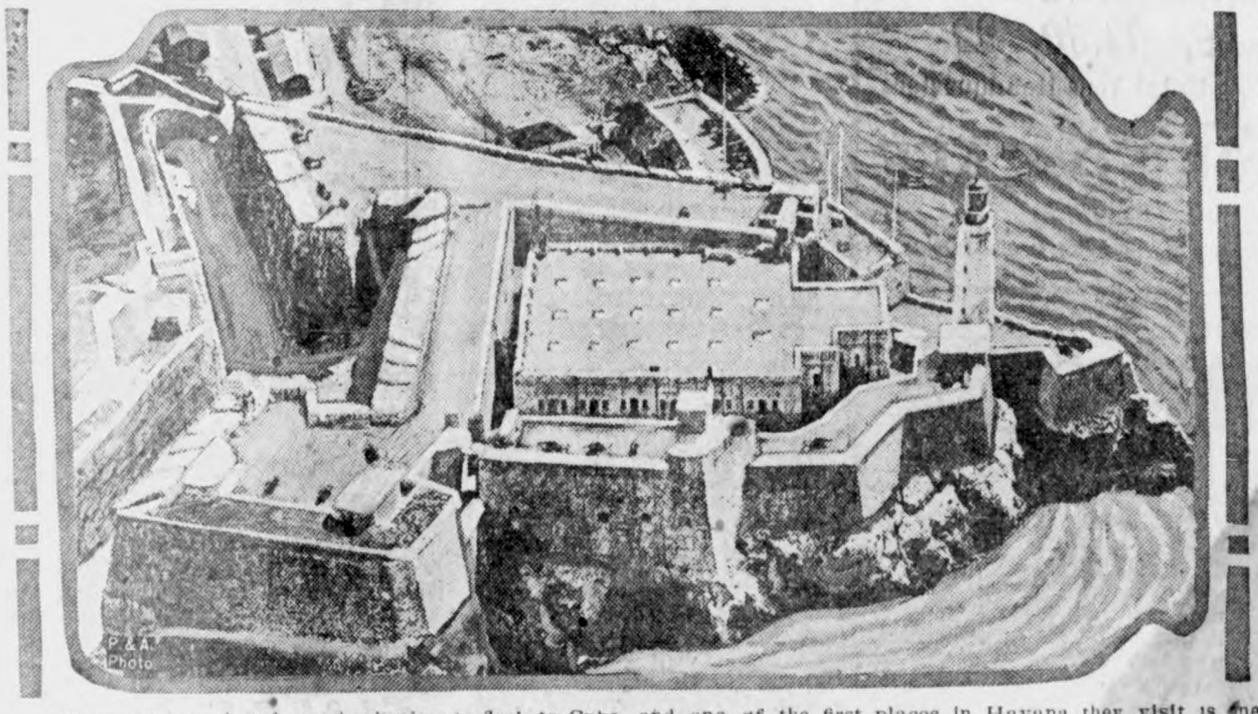
Dr. Banting wears the Military Cross, is thirty-two and is unmarried.

Indigent Old People Making Christmas Toys



One of America's most interesting charities is to be found at 512 East Sixteenth street, New York, whereby a home of peace and comfort and pleasant industry has been provided for aged folk whom Dame Fortune somehow has overlooked. Among the 75 old men and women inmates are many skilled mechanics, especially clever in making novel Christmas toys and whose work each year finds a ready market. The home is called the Crawford shops and is maintained by the Association for Improving the Condition of the Poor.

One of the Things People Go to Cuba to See



Winter tourists already are beginning to flock to Cuba, and one of the first places in Havana they visit is the Morro castle on the promontory at the entrance to the harbor. The famous old fortress is shown above as seen from an airplane.

PLEDGED AND REDEEMED

Mrs. Grancel Fitz, young and attractive, of Philadelphia, Pa., has discovered that she is of some monetary value. She and her husband went hunting and by mistake entered the Pennypack park, where hunters are forbidden. They were arrested and at the guard house were fined $15. Mr. Fitz had little money with him, so, leaving his wife as security, he went off to get enough to pay the fine. Oh, yes, Mr. Fitz reclaimed his pledge.

CAUSE OF CONTROVERSY

This statue, "The Vine," by Harriet Frismuth, which recently won the Julia A. Shaw memorial prize, has caused a heated controversy between Dasha Podgorska and Renee Wilde, dancers. The rough sketch for the work was made from an accidental pose by Miss Wilde, but Miss Podgorska posed for the elaboration of the statue, and now both claim most of the credit.

Turkey Sent to Mrs. Harding

Since 1920 the Harding Girls' Club of Chicago has each year furnished the Thanksgiving turkey for the Harding table and the chief Thanksgiving delight of the late president was the amusement which he derived from the manner in which the girls transported his turkey from Chicago to him. This year they sent "John Gobbler"—here seen with Miss Esther Wilton—in a special pullman compartment by the Erie railway to Mrs. Harding at Marion, Ohio.

Passing of a Death Sentence

This remarkable picture is probably the first ever made during the actual passing of a death sentence and shows Judge Walter McMahon of Cleveland, Ohio, condemning Cosmo Ferranto, aged forty-five, to electrocution February 26 next.

Pat. Process Lloyd LOOM Products

Baby Carriages & Furniture

Ask Your Local Dealer

Write Now for 32-Page Illustrated Booklet

The Lloyd Manufacturing Company
(Heywood-Wakefield Co.)
Dept. E
Menominee, Michigan (16)

Are You Moving to California?

We Save You 25% on Freight
Household Goods—Autos

Through car service. No transfers. Shorter time in transit. Write

BLUE LINE STORAGE CO.
3rd & Elm, Des Moines, Iowa

He Knew It.

Jim Higgins was paying his first visit to the country and so it naturally follows that this was also his first visit to a farm.

On the first morning of his visit he breakfasted with the family on cold pork.

The city fellow immediately proceeded to cut off the rind and then placed it on the side of his plate.

The farmer noticed this and, looking up, he remarked:

"We all eat the rind here, Jim."

"That's all right," replied Jim. "I am just getting mine ready for you!"

GIRLS! HAIR GROWS THICK AND BEAUTIFUL

35-Cent "Danderine" Does Wonders for Lifeless, Neglected Hair.

A gleamy of luxuriant full of gloss ter and life ly follows a ine toning ue neglected sc with depend "Danderine." Falling ha itching scalp a the dandruff corrected immediately. Thin, dr wispy or fading hair is quickly invig rated, taking on new strength, colo and youthful beauty. "Danderine" delightful on the hair; a refreshing stimulating tonic—not sticky or greasy Any drug store.—Advertisement.

A Time Saver.

"You wanta da hair cut?" asked the Italian barber. "Den I calla my brother, Petro."

"Is he better at hair cutting than you?" asked the new patron.

"Petro mucha better. He tella wonderful ghosta story an' maka hair rise, an' he no lossa da time h in' it up wi da comba."

MOTHER! GIVE SICK BABY "CALIFORNIA FIG SYRU

Harmless Laxative to Clean Li and Bowels of Baby or Child.

Even constipated, bilious, feverish, or sick, colic Babies and Children love to take genuine "California Fig Syrup." No other laxative regulates the tender little bowels so nicely. It sweetens the stomach and starts the liver and bowels acting without griping. Contains no narcotics or soothing drugs. Say "California" to your druggist and avoid counterfeits! Insist upon genuine "California Fig Syrup" which contains directions.—Advertisement.

Why He Was Amused.

Bald-Headed Guest—"Well, sonny, what is 't that amuses you?" Sonny—"Nothing; only mother has put a brush and comb in your bedroom."

"CASCARETS" FOR LIVER AND BOWELS—10c A BOX

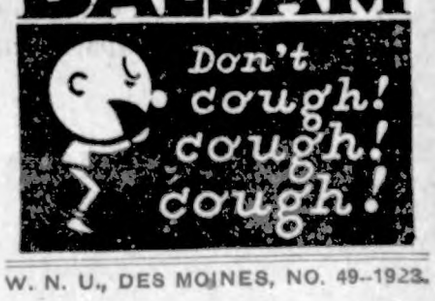
Cures Biliousness, Constipation, Sick Headache, Indigestion. Drug stores. Adv.

That Kind of Feet.

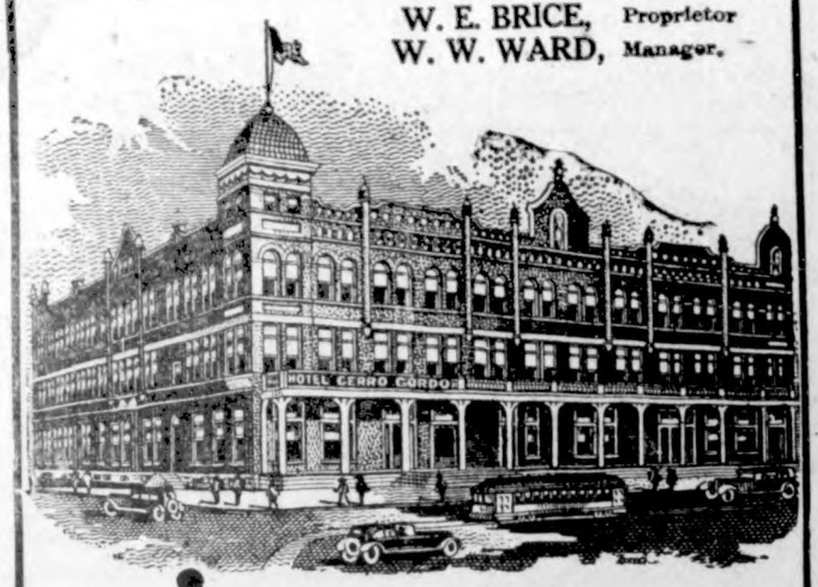
Customer—I would like to see a pair of shoes that would fit my feet.

Salesman—So would I.

KEMP'S BALSAM



W. E. BRICE, Proprietor
W. W. WARD, Manager.



Hotel Cerro Gordo

Opposite Southwest Corner City Park

Mason City, Iowa

Completely Remodeled and Refurnished

125-Rooms-125

Rates—$1, $1.25, $1.50, $2

When in Mason City Make This Hotel Your Headquarters

POPULAR PRICED CAFE

In Connection.

Under Management of F. L. Schneider, Formerly of Cedar Rapids

News of Klemme and Vicinity

If its news, Phone 12. Thanks.

Let the Times print your sale bill.

Old Time Odd Fellows Dance on Tuesday night. Everybody come.

Hunting and trapping not allowed on my land. Geo. Buseman. 2w

Mrs. E. S. D. Kahrs visited at Mason City last Friday.

For Sale—Duroc Jersey Boars. C. A. Arnold Estate. 2wp

Mr. Reed, of Clarion, was a visitor at the Henry Keeper home yesterday.

It pays to buy your electric light bulbs at Jacobs & Son. Try it. tf

Grandpa Schlawein is quite sick this week, and from reports his condition is no better at this writing.

I am prepared to do Dressmaking by the piece or by the day. Call or phone Mrs. John Josten. tfc

R. W. Elder came over from Mason City last Thursday to eat Thanksgiving dinner with his family.

Mrs. Heinish and Mrs. Dittman of Belmond were calling on friends in this city Tuesday afternoon.

For sale—Bourbon Red Turkey Gobblers, $5 and $6. W. A. DeMerritt, Meservey, Iowa. 3p

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Coobs spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Harry Buss at Goodell.

Elko Buss went to Goodell Wednesday for a short visit with his sons, Harry and Rank.

Buy your electric light bulbs and other supplies here and save money. Jacobs & Son, Hardware Store. tf

Mr. and Mrs. E. S. D. Kahrs ate Thanksgiving dinner with Druggist Lamer and wie at Goodell.

Ferd Missman from Albert Lea, Minn., has been visiting at the Dr. Missman home the past week.

Positively no hunting or trapping will be permitted on my land. Dick Swalve. 2tp

Pro. L. Neese and family spent Thanksgiving Day at the Charlie Ax home west of town .

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wenck entertained the Joe Wenck family of Garner Thanksgiving Day.

Mrs. Earnest Lenz has been very ill the past week, and lates treports are that she is no better.

LuVerne Smith and Ernest Helps were business callers at Mason City Monday.

Aaron Greiman got in another car load of Fords the past week. The new models go like hot cakes.

A baby girl was born to Mr. and Mrs. Nels Bach Wednesday night of this week.

I. O. O. F. Old Time Dance, Old Time music, everybody come Tuesday night, Dec. 11. Idle Hour.

Mrs. LuVerne Smith returned on Saturday from a visit over Thanksgiving at Belmond and Clarion.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Leitzinger and baby were callers at Mason City Friday.

Miss Mable Stearnes of Belmond, came Saturday for an over Sunday visit at home.

Howard Doyle and family left Monday for a visit with relatives at Alta Vista, Iowa.

For Sale—S. C. Rhode Island Red Cockerels, $1.50 each. John Woods, Phone 4810. 2wp

For Sale—some S. C. White Leghorn Roosters, egg laying strain, at $1.25 each, five or more at $1 each. John Swalve, Phone 918 Klemme. 3p

Senator Wichman, of Garner, left for Des Moines Sunday to be present at the opening of the special session of the legislature.

Miss Minnie Lau is assisting at the post office as Miss Minnie Lenz is helping to care for her mother, Mrs. Ernest Lenz, who is sick.

Mr. and Mrs. Len Wilson of Goodell, and Mr. Freeman Hunt, of Sparta, Missouri, were calling on friends here Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kluckhohn entertained for Thanksgiving dinner, G. W. Kluckhohn and family and Mr and Mrs. C. F. Keraus.

KLEMME MARKETS

(Subject To Change)

Thursday, December 6

WHEAT	$1.00
CORN (new)	50—55
OATS	35—36
BARLEY	.55
RYE	.60
HOGS	6.00—6.50
HAY	15.00—20.00
BUTTERFAT	.56
BUTTER (Creamery)	.53
EGGS	.42
HEAVF HENS	.14
LIGHT HENS	.08
STANDARD SPRINGS	.14
ELGHORNS	.08
COCKS	.06
DUCKS	.11
GEESE	.10

The Store Of The Christmas Spirit

Here's a store of gifts for all mankind —men, youths and little fellows.

Buying gifts for men folks need not be a puzzle. The practical and safe thing to do—is buy them at this Man's Store, where you'll always find quality, service and fair prices.

Gifts That Please

SHIRTS	MUFFLERS
TIES	GLOVES
HOSIERY	SWEATERS
PAJAMAS	HOUSE COATS

Patton Bros. Company

Where a dollar does its duty

MASON CITY and Manly, Iowa

EDE FUR COATS--

PRICES CHEAPER THAN A GOOD CLOTH COAT .....
EDE GIVES A LIFE TIME GUARANTEE!

Have that hide or fur converted into a beautiful FUR COAT—either ladies or gentlemens, at a very small cost.

We can also have hides and furs made into RUGS, COLLARS, CAPS, MITTENS, GLOVES, MUFFS, ETC.

The cost of having hides and furs tanned and made up is very reasonable and the resultis abeautifuljob you will be proud of.

If you do not have yourownhide or fur EDE can supply you with one at a small extra cost. It will pay you to to see us about prices.

FOR INSTANCE—

We will have tanned and made up a complete EDE FUR COAT, of horse or cow hide, with collar of same for only———————...$23.95

We can have your horse or cow hide tanned and made up into a most beautiful Standard size Robe, bouble border, plush lined for only..$18.75

Waranted not to rip or rot. Coats Guaranteed To Fit.

J. P. Larsen & Sons

The Klemme Meat Market

Suggestions For January Investment

—AND—

Christmas Giving

Gold Notes issued for One Year to Five Years, bearing Seven Per Cent Interest, which is paid Every Three Months.

During DECEMBER, we will attach (without extra cost) a CERTIFICATE giving the privilege to the INVESTOR in each GOLD NOTE, at his option, of exchanging the Note at any time before Maturty, for an equal amount of the COMMON STOCK Paying 7 % on the basis of allowing 100% FACE VALUE of the Note on the exchange.

This is An EXTRA VALUABLE FEATURE.

The COMMON STOCK paying Dividends Every Three Months is another excellent Investment for the Investor who wants a SAFE, Permanent Investment Free of Taxes, and bother.

For the SAVER we issue a Partial Payment Certificate on a first payment of ONLY $5.00, giving the privilege of paying for a full COMMON SHARE paying 7% over a period of 10 months, interest being allowed at the rate of 7% on each payment from date made.

These GOLD NOTES and COMMON STOCK CERTIFICATES Fit the Needs of Every Investor.

They are fully protected by the Assets and Earnings of a Strong, Sound business.

Full particulars will be furnished on Inquiry, concerning these Securities.

Ask our Securities Representative, or Manager, or Write to the Securities Department, 215 South Second Street, Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

Iowa Falls Electric Co.

Iowa Falls, Iowa

Own Yonr Home

The great American impulse from the time of the landing of the Pilgrims, has been the creation of a place to call home.

From this eventful day the early settlers kept moving westward to conquer a new world that you and I, their children, might reap the reward.

They were homeseekers and homebuilders, they had the spir it to create, not destroy.

Are you upholding the spirit?

Are you working for a home of your own, a place where your family will feel secure, no matter what might befall?.
Uphold the American spirit by building up an. account with that purpose in view.

OPEN ONE TODAY

State Savings Bank

Klemme Iowa

STILLE'S IMPLEMENT NEWS

Volume 2—Number 6. Thursday, December 6, 192

Well! We took the last McCormick-Deering Tractor out the other day. They are all gone and we have none left to play with. We will get some more in soon and if you are interested in tractors at all, better come in awhile and talk it over.

Feed grinders are moving again. Fred Krause purchased a new 10" type D special snap corn mill with wagon box elevator from us.

Tim Waddingham is using a new 10" type B mill which he purchased at our store. Tim is pulling it with a 10-20 McCormick-Deering tractor. An outfit like that makes it a real pleasure to grind.

Vic Schoenwetter is pulling his grinder with a McCormick-Deering 10-20. They'll pull a 10" mill nicely in all kinds of grain.

"Dad" Stille is using a 15-30 McCormick-Deering tractor this winter. Stop in sometime, they'll be glad to show the tractor and tell you about them.

Emil Blumer pulled a six roll McCormick Shredder all fall with a McCormick-Deering 10-20 tractor and it did a fine job of it. They sure have the pep.

We told you last week about the tank heater we have, the name of it is the "ONLY". The way they're going and the satisfaction they give would make you think they were the Only tank heater. If you want a tank heater that will keep the ice out of your tank and do it as long as you want to farm get an "ONLY". We sell them.

We are having a "Special" in En-Ar-Co Motor Oil. We give you a nice can free with every 5 gallons of oil. One can to each person. Get yours while they last.

Its all right to be sociable, especially during the Holiday season, but the fellow who asks a heavy weight girl to sit on his lap is taking a good deal upon himself.

Paint your face with a smile. Advertise that you are a success.

Use standard machinery and prove it.

Cutting out the necessary new machinery may reduce your expense, but, so does cutting your windpipe reduce the cost of living.

The Primrose gets all the cream. The new ball bearing Primrose is a wonder. Steel disks that will hold a man, and work easy. Ask the man that has one.

THE KLEMME TIMES

enty-eighth Year—Number 14. Klemme, Iowa, Thursday Afternoon, December 13, 1923 $1.50 In Advance—$2.00 Outside of County

OINGS OF THE WEEK AT THE KLEMME SCHOOLS

CLAMATORY CONTEST TO BE HELD TUES. AND WED.

me Contest to be Held Here Dec. 18th and 19th

ANY CONTESTANTS ENTERED

Next week the annual Declama- ry contest is to be held. Owing to e fact that so many people have en red and there is not time for an limination contest in the school. e contest will take two nights. he first night or Tuesday night, the umorous contest will take place d on Wednesday night the Drama- c and Oratorical contests will take ace. Each evening will be a full ntertainment and one that you hould not miss under any condi- ons. Come both nights and we are re that you will enjoy them.

Here is the list and the selections

HUMOROUS

umble Petition	Ruth Bailey
ady Across the Aisle	E Wellemeyer
n Love Letters	Gertrude Johnosn
he Rise and Fall of Georgie Basset	Myrtle Irving
azing of Valients	Adela Schroeder
n Contest Night	Bernice Tanner
ogo on Baseball	Hilary Greiman
n Honor of Columbus	Glenn Busch
t the Box Office	Bertha Johnson

DRAMATIC

an in the Shadow	Blanche Hulse
addy Long Legs	Ruth Johnson
ragettes Ride and Death	Beatrice Busch
lizabeth	Dolores Koerner
adame X	Marie Blank
lack Horse and His Rider	Hallie Greimann
he Passion Flower	Leona Lau
ewis Rand	M aurine Hake

ORATORICAL

merica First	Clarence Elder
Holy War	Stella Bock
he Unkown Hero	Neota Ridder

The price of admission is only 25 nd 35 cents for each evening's en- ertainment.

K. H. S. MEETS FAST BELMOND CAGE TEAMS

Monday night the teams journeyed to Belmond to meet the strong teams of that school.

The games were fast and furious and although we lost both, the teams displayed a fighting spirit such as they had never shown before.

The girls started out with a bang, and ran up a lead of six points before the Belmond girls started up their offense. At half time the Green and White was leading, 10 to 9. The second half was even faster than the first half, and Belmond began piling up the score, the final reckoning being 19 to 14.

For Klemme, Ridder, with 12 points was high scorer. The team played well, and deserve credit for the fine showing they made against their more experienced opponents. For Belmond Leavy was the high scorer and outstanding star, making 14 of her team's points.

SUMMARY

Klemme 14		Belmond 19
Ridder	GF.	Leavey (Cap't)
Stille	F	Starnes
Blank	C	Stapeley
Koerner (Capt)	C	Hauge
Hake	G	Elder
Tanner	G	Thiltgen

Klemme

Field Goals— Ridder 5, Stille 1.

Foul Throws— Ridder 2

Foul throws missed— Ridder 1, Stille 1.

Personal Fouls— Blank 1, Hake 1.

Technicals, Hake 1, Tanner 2.

Substitutions— Busch for Koerner, Koerner for Busch.

Belmond

Field Goals —Leavey 6, Pursell 3.

Free Throws Leavey 2.

Free throws missed Leavey 1, Pursell 2.

Personal Fouls Stapely 1, Leavey 1 Hauge 1, Elder 1. Technical fouls Stapley 1.

Substitutions— Pursell for Starnes, Maland for Elder. Time of Periods 8 minutes.

Referee Nabholz, Rowan.

The Shamrock's, handicapped by the absence of Patet and Gimer, outfought their heavier and more experienced opponnets throughout the game, and although the odds were against them, played the hardest game of their life.

Lemke at center outjumped his opponent consistently, and Capt. Elder at guard broke up plap after play. Turgasen, playing his first complete game, showed a world of stuff, and what he lacked in size he made up in fight. The whole team fought like Tigers, and never once slackened their pace. A team that has the moralle of our Shamrock's is a team to be proud of, regardless of wether they win or lose.

For Belmond, Captain Parsons was the individual star and high scorer.

Lineups and Summary

Klemme 12		Belmond 24
Turgasen	F	Parsons(Capt)
Wellemeyer	F	R. Leinbach
Lemke	C	Vestweber
Koerner	G	S. Leinbach
Elder (Capt)	G	Christe

Klemme

Field Baskets— Wellemeyer 4, Lemke 1. Free throws— Turgasen 1, Lemke 1.

Free throws Missed— Koerner 3, Elder 1.

Substitutions— Greiman for Koerner.

Personal fouls— Turgasen 3, Lemke 1, Koerner 3.

Belmond

Field Baskets— Parsons 6, R. Leinbach 2, Christe 3.

Foul Throws Made, Parsons 1, Rierson 1.

Foul throws missed Parsons 3, Tyrell 2, Rierson 1.

Personal fouls Parsons 2, R. Tyrell 1 Rierson 1, Dorr 1 Axen 1.

Substitutions— ourse for Parsons, Tyrell for R. Leinback, Rierson for Vestweber, Dorr for Christe, Axen for Dorr, Menke fo Treese, Treese for Christe.

Time of periods, 10 minutes.

Referee— Nabholz—Rowan.

Two More Fast Games this Week

Thursday night of this week the boys go to Swaledale to play the boys basketball team of that school.

Friday, December 14, Britt plays a double header here and December 21 the Klemme teams travel to Crystal Lake for a doube header there, which will wind up our acivities for this year.

Basket Ball Schedule for this Year

Dec. 13	Swaledale at Swaledale
Dec. 14.	Britt at Klemme.
Dec. 21.	Crystal Lake, there
Jan. 11	Crystal Lake, here.
Jan. 18	Swaledale, here.
Jan. 25	Open.
Feb. 1.	Open
Feb. 8.	Open.
Feb. 15	Tournament
Feb. 18	Corwith, here.
Feb. 22.	Open.

We have a few open dates, but they are sure to be filled before that date. As will be seen, Klemme has a "pretty hard row of stumps" to get this year, this being our first year in basket ball, but we might just as well play the hard ones first as last. All the above games are double headers, except the two games with Swaledale, which are boy's games.

Other School Events

Declamatory Contest. Dec 19 and 19
Picture Exhibit Jan 23 to 26.
Spelling contest Feb. 1.

Thank You!

The members of the Faculty wish to thank the Alumni and friends who gathered at the gym last Friday nite and gave our teams a practice game. We appreciate your kindness and wish to thank you for your interest.

Senior Class Meets

The seniors held a brief meeting last Tuesday night after school and decided a few matters of business. The class flower was chosen, the choice being the American Beauty Rose and also the class rings were selected and ordered.

Basket Ball Boys Entertained

Last Monday night before going to Belmond the basket ball boys and coach were entertained by the Basket ball girls to a very good supper. The supper was a very consistant) one of poached eggs, toast and cocoa and was very well fitted to the needs of the players. The boys wish to thank the girls and Miss Scharlach for the good time and fine supper.

WITH THE CLASSES

The domestic science girls are studying "Meats" this week and are learning how to prepare them in many different ways.

The physical geography class and General Science classes, are both, studying "Climate". This is a very interesting part of these courses and the students are enjoying the study very much. (We wonder?)

More labratory supplies have arrived for the labratory. A large and efficient vacuum pump and apparatus is in the shipment. The stone sink is here, but at present is not installed. When all the supplies get here we will have a very good labratory.

The Freshman have been having numerous class meetings of late, and we are begining to wonder what they are all about.

We'll bet its a party!

P. T. A. HAS HEADQUARTERS

Executive Offices of Association Now Open in Des Moines

A new service to local units of the Mothers and Parent-Teachers association of Iowa has been started with the opening in Des Moines by the state organization of executive offices.

The new headquarters is at 504 Youngerman building and Mrs. Chas. F Pye, executive secretary of the state body is in charge. Information about the work of the organization literature and speakers can be secured thru her. The new treasurer of the association is Mrs. C. W. Smith, Des Moines, and the president, Mrs. F. W. Beckman, Ames.

PLACE TO WORK AND LIVE

The Farm Home Should Not Only Be Good Work Shop, But Should Also Have Real Beauty

"We would all like to see the farm home the choicest spot in th world in which to live," declares Anna E. Richardson, dean of home ecqnomics at Iowa State College. "But before better homes can be developed, it is essential to set up our standards for this home so that we have something definite to work toward. Without an ideal, too many of the little home duties are but wearisome task which must be done as part of the days work.

"The farm home," says Miss Richardson, "must be a satisfactory place in which to live; it must be provided with healthful and satisfying surroundings. The farm home must have modern conveniences which make it possible to do the work of the home and to live according to good sanitary standards. It means a washing machine, and a sink high enough to wash dishes in comfort, and a carpet sweeper, a bath room, good ventilation and sun shine, but it also means that not only should our house be physically equipped as an efficient work shop, but that there should be real beauty in the home."

To come up to this standard, Miss Richardson says farm homes should furnish adequate food to meet the needs of each member of the family and should assume responsibility for providing educational facilities for its boys and girls. Also, it should provide for the social and spiritual life of the family.

"What does it profit us," asks Miss Richardson, "if we do grow a few more bushels of corn or raise a few more hogs, if life is one round of dull routine, struggle from morning until night and again tomorroy? When one says the magic word, 'home,' what comes to mind? A different picture, probably, for each of us, but each, I feel sure, has the essential elements, happy, sympathetic companionship, the ine thing which kept us in the narrow path, which warmed our hearts at the end of a long, hard day."

NEWS OF THE LAWMAKERS OF THE SPECIAL SESSION

WORK ON CODE IS NOW WELL UNDER WAY

Bill Prepared By Mabry Is First To Pass During Reconvened Session

DES MOINES, Dec. 10. The house of representatives of the Iowa general assembly passed its first code commission bills of the reconvened session at its morning session Wednesday and at the same time had introduced the first bill put before it since the body gathered again in special session.

These were not the first measures of their sort, however, as several measures were introduced and passed on the one-day meeting of the extra session last April 18, after its organization and before its adjournment to Dec. 4.

Mabry Is Author

The first code commission bill to come up and to pass was House File 210, a code commission bill prepared by J. C. Mabry, and dealing with unfair discrimination. It amended, revised and codified sections 6205 and 6206 of the compiled code and provided in part:

"Any person or firm doing business in the state and engaged in production, manufacture, sale, distribution or purchasing for the purpose of manufacture, storage, sale or distribution of any commodity of commerce, that shall for the purpose of destroying the business of a competitor in any locality or creating a monopoly in such commodities, discriminate between different sections in the state by purchasing such a commodity at a lower rate or price in one section than is received in another after making due allowance for the difference in grade or quality and in actual cost of transportation between the points of production or purchase shall be deemed guilty of unfair discrimination. But prices made to meet competition in such section shall not be in violation of this section."

Penalty From $500 to $5,000

The penalty is a fine of from $500 to $5,000, or imprisonment not to exceed one year, or both.

The other code commission bill was one amending and codifying chapter 23 of Tittle 5 of the code, relating to gold and silver alloy. Both measures passed with almost no dissenting votes.

The bill introduced was legalizing act for an election held at Oakland, Iowa, and for a bond issue made in pursuance thereto. It was brought before the house by Harrison of Pottawattamie, who is a newspaper editor at Oakland.

The senate was behind the house in getting to the code commission bills, having spent more time in debate over preliminaries. It got on Wednesday afternoon to the reading of its share of the code commission bills. The house read its share the preceding day.

Hammill Speeds Them Up

An address from the chair by Lieut. Gov. Hammill urging senators to expedite the work of all committees that the work of code revision might be taken up in the chamber as rapidly as possible featured this mornings brief session of the upper body, and the slow progress of the session was brought to the attention of members of the house by Speaker Anderson, who told committee chairmen their reports must be had with the least possible delay.

As a result of the presiding officer's statement and a general feeling that the business before the special session was moving slower than had been expected, the senate agreed to advance the hour of convening tomorrow from 10 to 9 a. m.

President Hammill made his statement after it was found no committees were ready to report this morning, and after the call had failed to bring forth any bills or resolutions.

SHOULD THERE BE AN ASSESSMENT AGAINST ABUTTING PROPERTY FOR HARD SURFACING PRIMARY ROADS?

(By Iowa Good Roads Asso. News)

There are those who would argue both sides of this question. Those who beleive abutting property should be assessed, generally base their conclusions on the fact that the property is benefited, and therefor should pay.

On the other hand, there are those who beleive that when the traffic upon roads gets so heavy that it becomes necessary to build a hard surfaced road to maintain this traffic, then that road becomes practically "a state highway," and that the charge to the abutting property for the cost of hard surfacing is unjust.

"This latter view is the belief of the Iowa Good Roads Association," says M. L. Bowman, Executive Secretary.

There can be no doubt but taht any property is benefited by having a paved highway pass by it, but it must be remembered that for ordinary community use a gravel road all that is needed, and that the rural traffic never needs more than a gravel road to maintain traffic. It is heavy trucks, the interestate and the intercity traffic of heavily traveled highways that make hard surfacing necessary—it is for the farm traffic.

If abutting property should be taxed at all, the proper place for the tax would seem more properly come in connection with the grading, and if this was admitted, then all that should be charged for hard surfacing would be that amount which is charged where the road was graveled. It has been deemed proper, however, to charge for gravel roads on the primary system since this is all the surfacing is needed for farm traffic, it would seem most certainly when it becomes necessary that surface roads be built to meet traffic other than farm traffic the butting property should not be assessed for a road which is not particularly needed for farm traffic.

The Iowa Good Roads Assoc' feels that in justice to abutting property on primary roads, the 12 assessment now existing should be repealed, and to those who have paid should be refunded the money. It would seem fair and equitable.

PROHIBITING DEFACING ADVERTISING SIGNS

Natural Beauty Not To Be Marred By Commerce

Several states have passed laws prohibiting signs on roads, with the idea that the automobile, carrying tourists and sight-seeing travelers, is not an asset to the individual business house but to the State, and that travelers should not be compelled to have their beautiful views and vistas profaned by painted boards.

Speaking of this idea in Illinois, Governor Small said: "Illinois has seen the logic of preserving the right of way in this respect with the result that we have hundreds of miles of drives fringed with grass, trimmed to a lawn-like nicety, and unmarred by unsightly billboards, which are so often seen in neighboring commonwealths."

Col. C. R. Miller, director of the Illinois Department of Public Works and Buildings, said:

"Connecticut has followed Illinois' clean highway policy, has passed a law prohibiting signs on the right-of-way. Minnesota has also followed suit and a law in that state, effective December 1, 1923, provides for the elimination of advetising signs aleady standing, as well as pohibiting the constuction of new ones."

Those radio bedtime stories make the adults tired.

Some aviators break records and others break their necks.

Mrs. Ralph Brouwer Passed Away Last Thursday

OBITUARY MRS. R. J. BROUWER

Ida Schlawein was born in Pommer, Germany, November 29th, 1878 and died suddenly at her home on the afternoon of December 6th, aged 45 years and seven days.

She came with her parents from Germany when 12 years of age; the family settling in Hancock County in 1890. It was here she grew to womanhood.

She was confirmed in the Reformed Church when fourteen years of age, but after her marriage she with her husband united with the Methodist Episcopal Church and has ever been faithful to her Christ.

She was united in marriage to Ralph Brouwer January 20th, 1897, and to this union there has been born eleven children, six sons and five daughters. The oldest son Elmer died of influenza on December 5th, 1918, and Helen the daughter who had grown to a beautiful womanhood died on September 20th, 1920.

Sixteen years ago Mrs. Brouwer had an extended and severe illness, being afflicted with inflamatory rheumatism, and at that time her life was in the balance. Every few years the disease recurred. For the past four or five weeks she has not been in her usual health. The end, while not wholly unexpected, came as a severe shock to her family and friends.

Mrs. Brouwer was a good wife and mother, and loved and respected by all who knew her.

She leaves to mourn her untimely going a husband, five sons and four daughters; a father and mother, and three brothers and one sister, and hosts of friends.

The funeral was held in the Methodist Episcopal Church Sunday afternoon at two o'clock and interment was in the Garner Cemetery. The church was completely filled with the relatives and friends, the latter ones having difficulty in getting into the church even for standing room. The pastor, Rev. C. H. Van Metre spoke comfortingly to the family and friends from the words of St. Paul found in 2 Timothy 1:10. A male quartett consisting of Eric Clark, Edgar Schuler, Prof. Taylor, and J. R. Baggs sang three selections; Mr. Floyd Fraser presided at the piano. The large concourse of people, the profusion of flowers, and the spirit evidenced throughout the memorial, spoke in no uncertain terms of the esteem in which Mrs. Brouwer was held.

The family have the sympathy of the entire community in this their hour of bereavement.

(Rev. C. H. Van Metre)

Card Of Thanks

We wish to express our appreciation of the many kindnesses shown us, by the hosts of neighbors and friends, at the time of our deep bereavement.

—R. J. Brouwer and family.

METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH
A. W. Gauger, Pastor

All appreciated the speakers of last Sunday. Doctor Mershon was the speaker of the morning representing the Methodist Hospital of Sioux City; Mrs. J. E. Stille was the speaker of the evening reporting on the General Executive meeting of the W. F. M. S. held in Des Moines several weeks ago. All enjoyed her address very much.

Next Sunday is White Cross Sunday. Come out and learn more about it and what it stands for.

The S. S. totaled 182 last Sunday, our new high mark. Let all help to surpass that.

Ladies Aid meets this Thursday at the parish house.

PE-RU-NA

Recommended by an Ohio Farmer

W. J. Temple, 292 W. Central Ave., Delaware, Ohio, for five long years could not eat a meal without distress. His trouble was catarrh of the stomach and bowels brought on by exposure. Mr. Temple says: —"A druggist recommended Pe-ru-na. I took five bottles and am a well man. While formerly I could not do a day's work. I now never become fatigued. Pe-ru-na is the best medicine and tonic in the world. It is especially fine for catarrh and colds."

The value of any medicine is determined by results.

Pe-ru-na has been accumulating results for over fifty years.

Sold Everywhere
Tablets or Liquid

Insist upon having the genuine remedy for catarrhal conditions.

A Trying Limitation.

Every youngster has an equal chance to set the woods afire except the one who has money to burn.—Duluth Herald.

This is a cold, cold world—and the coal dealer is glad of it.

The commuter's idea of hades is that it is a suburb of heaven.

Confidential to the Ladies

Don't overdo that "for him" gift

Stores are full of "gift-things for him" of which "he" lives in mortal dread.

For to receive a gift involves an unritten obligation to wear it, or carry or to otherwise use, display, or conme it, as the lawyers would say.

It is usually surprising, and often appointing, to a woman to find out w few things the average matter-of-ct man really wants. But for some of those things he has a good deal of affection, and moreover, he can use a lot of them.

In casting about for an example, somehow pipes and pipe tobacco come first to our mind. If we were a woman and we wanted to get right next to a man's heart, we would smuggle a good pipe and some good pipe tobacco to him around December 25th.

Or, if he already has a pipe that he thinks was divinely intended for him, the tobacco alone makes a full-size gift.

Other advantages of good pipe tobacco as a Christmas present include the following:

You don't have to engage in any detective work to find out his size, favorite color, or other specifications. And it doesn't make any difference whether he "already has plenty" or not; nor need you be concerned lest your gift be duplicated.

A man can smoke up a lot of tobacco between this Christmas and next; while the humidor jar, in which we put up a pound of Edgeworth, keeps the tobacco in prime condition indefinitely. Edgeworth is a tobacco that practically every pipe-smoker likes; it's a safe choice.

The 16-ounce jar sells for $1.65 at any tobacco store.

If your regular dealer hasn't enough glass jars to supply the Christmas trade, let us play Santa Claus for you. Send us $1.65 for a jar, "his" name and address, and your personal greeting card. We'll do the rest.

We'll pack the glass jar in an appropriate Christmas box, enclose your card and send it in plenty of time to reach him before Christmas.

Address Larus & Brother Company, 70 South 21st Street, Richmond, Va.

To Retail Tobacco Merchants: If your jobber cannot supply you with Edgeworth, Larus & Brother Company will gladly send you prepaid by parcel post a one- or two-dozen carton of any size of Edgeworth Plug Slice or Ready-Rubbed for the same price you would pay the jobber.

Relief for coughs

Use PISO'S—this prescription quickly relieves children and adults.
A pleasant syrup. No opiates.
35c and 60c sizes sold everywhere.

CAPTAIN SAZARAC

By CHARLES TENNEY JACKSON

Copyright by The Bobbs-Merrill Company

CHAPTER IX.—Continued.

—13—

They were silent. The light breeze lifted and swung the silken curtains of the ship Napoleon; the wines lapped slowly in the rich glass and silver. Jarvis looked about at the polished teak, the heavily carpeted floors; he shook his head.

"This is a dream," he muttered, "and still—we must awaken! After Napoleon—when our threescore musketmen have come scrambling up the St. Helena crags, filched the emperor from their snoozing guards and cutlassed a way to sea again—what then?"

"Old Bossiere, Monsieur Girod, and the other spirits of this venture, before we seized the ship, had every point worked out," explained De Almonaster. "Even the plans of the island and the English lookouts. Even block and tackle and chair to hoist the emperor from out the St. Helena cliffs to our waiting longboats if needful. Doctor Antomarchi, Napoleon's own physician, and Marshal Bertrand, his friend in exile, are aware of our purpose and expectant. Everything is cared for—it is only for us to put through what the gentry of New Orleans had plotted."

"Except," mused Jarvis, "the lady who once looked back at me from the coach . . . and threescore cutthroats brawling on these decks!"

The Captain Jean looked gravely off to the shimmering sea. Dominique sighed. "Ah, yes—after Napoleon—what?"

"Gentlemen, the future of you all has been a concern to my mind," said Lafitte gravely. And as he was speaking on, there came a hail from the forward lookout; and then Beluche, the deck officer, at the companionway.

"A ship's light, sir! Sou' by east, lying out o' the wind!"

"She is not within hailing?" The master started to his feet.

"No, sir. And we have little air to come up with. But the longboats, sir! The thing might be done in a trice this very night, unless she undertakes to repel our parley!"

"She will hardly give in to our demands." Lafitte followed to the quarter-rail. The twinkle of the stranger showed through the moonlight. But both ships were lying in the great outrush of the Mississippi waters though many miles from the sight of land.

"Lay to, sir, and keep her in eye. We can do nothing without a bit of wind. We shall request the restoration of Mademoiselle Lestron peaceably before we consider boarding the bark." The master turned below again.

Johanness went forward grumbling. The light of battle was in his eye. Off this pass he had taken his last Spaniard fifteen years ago with eighty thousand dollars to be divided among his crew at the Grand Terre fort of the buccaneers which was not a day's sail westward on the Louisiana coast. And the party in the emperor's cabin heard a hoarse shout from the fo'cas'le hood.

"A ship, bullies! And we lay here with the old itch to be alongside! What do the gentlemen aft propose for her, eh—mates?"

Beluche showered imprecations upon the speaker. There was a yell or two,

"I Have Been Forward," Grunted the Painter. "There Is More Hubbub Than a Ladies' Picnic."

then silence. Presently the admiral came aft under the limp hang of the Seraphine's snowy new canvas.

"There are some hardheads, sir. Already they are dicing it for the first choice o' plunder from the Genaron. The woman, they agree, is yours!"

"Do they think," retorted Lafitte sternly, "that this is the time of Morgan come again?"

The silence grew upon them all. Dominique sighed once more. "The English woman—if it was not for the affair of the English woman, we could give a wide berth to everything until this ship and crew had found themselves."

"They will now—this coming day!" said the commander. "I am Lafitte again—not Monsieur Sazarac! Irons, and then the yard-arm for the first fellow who disputes my will. The older heads will not needs be told. The English woman first—after that, as it is Monsieur de Almonaster's honor to his fellow citizens of Louisiana—for Bonaparte. And then—"

"The seas are wide," grimaced Jarvis with a look at the master which drew, in turn, a glance of impenetrable reserve.

CHAPTER X

The Long Chase.

At dawn the Seraphine lay in a flat pink sea, with, not a mile to the eastward, the dingy moil of the Mississippi outpour still visible. The canvas hung wet and limp. The idle steersman listened to Beluche's impatient comments as he held the glass off to the growing light.

"Beggar's luck! The river drift has been with her. She is all but tops'l down with some capful of wind that we never saw!"

"Wi' the sun," growled Nez Coupe, "we shall find our breeze."

"Yes, but this matter cannot wait. Some Yankee clipper may put out on our trail! We cannot tell what is brewing after this affair."

De Almonaster and the captain joined them before breakfast. True, a topsail breeze came with the sun, and the Seraphine began to draw out of the detaining eddies of the delta drift. The gentlemen had no more than settled to their morning coffee when the monotonous cry of the lookout was repeated. Beluche came with his report.

"The stranger has picked a better wind, sir, and has come about, making sou'west, and running fair."

"Good! She will not make the Floridas then and draw us into the path of the traffic. It will be a good ship today that we do not haul up with."

"I have ordered the chase guns shotted," muttered the admiral. "It may take a carronade across her bows to make her lay to. Eh, bien! You will see old eyes shine as they take to the lanyard!"

De Almonaster cried out exultantly when he followed to the deck. The first poke of the breeze laid the good ship smartly over, and the snap of the answering canvas drew a shout from the crew.

"Every bully of them out to see!" cried Raoul. "A lot of schoolboys minded to rob an orchard! The first eighteen-pounder let go will be music to old ears, Monsieur!"

"And they may dance on air to it, afterward." Lafitte turned quietly to the younger man. "I have had a sleepless night, Monsieur de Almonaster. It appears to be largely yourself. The rest carried in irons to Charleston when the inevitable happens, will not matter, but you—your position, your good name and fortune—"

Raoul snapped his fingers laughingly. "I came for this—a true exploit, and with you, sir—whatever befalls afterward!"

"I have my plans considered," said the captain calmly. "We will not escape in the end. When that hour comes, you shall be my prisoner."

"I, Monsieur?"

"I seized you upon this ship against your will. It was no affair of yours but of Jean Lafitte's."

"But nom de Dieu! I was the first to propose it!"

"That is why I shall save you." He bowed enigmatically. "And Jarvis, the fool. The rest—well, in the end, I must answer. First to these lawless spirits who believe absolutely that I am turning pirate again. Next to the admiralty courts. America, Great Britain"—he shrugged—"it will be of no consequence."

De Almonaster watched the face of the exile who had been the enigma of diplomats of Britain and generals of the United States but seven years back when he shook the dice between them for the province of Louisiana, and gave back a captain's commission in the royal navy to fight for the puling republic of the West. Slowly the younger man was guessing. To rescue the woman whom he loved meant but to tear the mask from his own face—to stand before her—Jean Lafitte, the last pirate chieftain of the gulf—a proscribed outlaw, hunted by the navies of the world, dragged out of his obscurity of peace to face a ring of enemies.

"You are my prisoner, sir—when the end comes," he said quietly.

Raoul stirred, and then turned from this implacable will. Below he came upon John Jarvis shaking the sleep from his swollen eyes.

"I have been forward," grunted the painter. "There is more hubbub than a ladies' picnic. Bohon and Johanness cannot keep the dogs from howling. Old fellows who have been in the business before are scouring up rusty dirks, pistols that have molded ten years in muskrat trappers' camps—very quiet, the older heads, but winking wisely. They whisper that Lafitte is a wise fox to pretend to an affair of women when he knows of the fat prizes helpless, unsuspecting, in the trade routes."

"They are in for an awakening, Jarvis. He does not mean that."

"I took them a bucket o' grog," muttered the other. "The gimcrack admiral roundly cursed me for upsetting his discipline, but the bullies are ready to elect me captain, if Sazarac is too finicky in tastes."

Raoul laughed wonderingly. "The Captain Sazarac ordains that you and I are to be prisoners—to save our necks if the venture fails. And our good names, as well, in the eyes of Mademoiselle Lestron of Quebec."

"He can consider what he wishes and be damned. I am a free man—I will boast to the lady of the necks I have slit, which—God knows is none! I will play the fool for her, the thief for her—I will stretch rope for her . . . and I never saw her but one time. She looked back and laughed—there was old John Jarvis, very drunken in the broad day, hanging to a lamp-post, his stock behind his ear and a bottle sticking from his coat. A proud Tory lady of the Canadas, filled with soft sweet laughter at John, the jester."

Raoul looked keenly at the impassive face of the wit. "Have a care. Who was ever your friend in the old days, but Jean? You and I diligently must aid his plan. It is due him, Monsieur. He would be an honest gentleman in this, at least."

"In Her Own Good Time the Ship Will Fly a Flag—and That Is the Business of Wiser Heads Than Yours."

"Well, a drink, now—and I will play the fool for anyone." Jarvis arose: "Come, I hear the bo'sun's whistle. They are calling the bullies up for some matter."

Johanness had tumbled the watches out and along the port rail, when the two came behind Lafitte who was addressing the straggling lines. There was much unsteady peering and bending; and then reprimanding growls from the older dogs.

"Stow that talk! The captain speaks!"

"Silence, there!" roared Beluche, "and a man mutters he gets the cat! This is a ship, mind you—not a drinking bout!"

Lafitte raised his hand:

"First, men—I have already told you of the object of this venture, which has, for the end, the rescue of the Emperor Bonaparte from St. Helena. That, alone, will keep us busied for some months; but I do not say there will be nothing done of profit to you all, in the meantime, if it comes our way—"

There was a murmur, some in approval, some impatiently.

"The English," went on Lafitte sternly, "are now the friends of the United States. Even now, in Washington, they report that never were relations so good as under the President Monroe—"

"Bah," grunted Crackley, "I am not a sea-lawyer! Eh, mateys?"

"Silence!" thundered Lafitte.

De Almonaster, by the rail, watched curiously. The line of reluctant privateers edged nervously. Behind the captain stood Beluche and old Dominique and Nez Coupe. Old Johanness, grim and sullen, stood rubbing his chin doubtfully.

"Enough!" went on Lafitte. "Another word, and then Johanness will dismiss you. But first, take your warning—I am Captain Sazarac of the Seraphine. In her own good time the ship will fly a flag—and that is the business of wiser heads than yours! And now, as to that ship we are overhauling—it is a matter of private business in this case. A lady is to be taken off. If an affray must come you are to fight the guns or board exactly as ordered, and cease when ordered. And when once the lady from the Genaron is put upon this ship, she is to be treated with absolute respect from you all. More than that—complete silence. She is not to know upon what mission this ship is bound nor who is her commander."

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

Just one way now to have pancakes with that old-time Southern flavor. Use

AUNT JEMIMA PANCAKE FLOUR

Aunt Jemima's famous recipe ready-mixed

New Anti-Aircraft Gun.

The most formidable enemy of the airplane that has been developed is the new .50-caliber Browning machine gun. This weapon is the most powerful machine gun ever perfected. It fires a bullet weighing a quarter of a pound and will fire 500 shots a minute. The maximum range of the gun is 9,000 yards, or about five miles, and the caliber is such that one hit will destroy an airplane two miles away. The anti-aircraft tripod used will permit the gun to be swung through 360 degrees, and elevated from 15 degrees below the horizontal to a vertical position.

"DANDELION BUTTER COLOR"

A harmless vegetable butter color used by millions for 50 years. Drug stores and general stores sell bottles of "Dandelion" for 35 cents.—Adv.

Hilda, Abbess of Whitby.

In 1915 the world held its breath with horror. Zeppelins had swooped down on Whitby, on the coast of Yorkshire. A cry for vengeance went up when it was found that half of the ancient abbey of Whitby had been destroyed. Founded in the Seventh century, it was Hilda's abbey. She was a princess of the blood royal, but early dedicated herself to the religious life. The king gave her a grant of land and she erected the celebrated abbey, or convent of Whitby.

Others Find Relief

In Allcock's Plasters from local aches and pains. So can you. One trial will convince you of their merits.—Adv.

Hard to Figure Out.

Hoffy called on his friend Cuthbert and observed that the latter had installed a bowl containing one goldfish.

"Ah, you have a goldfish," he remarked.

"Yes," he replied. They smoked awhile. Then Hoffy resumed the conversation.

"Does the goldfish know you?"

"I cannot tell," responded Cuthbert. "It makes no sounds, and its tail wagging seems to be for purposes of propulsion only."

The Cuticura Toilet Trio.

Having cleared your skin keep it clear by making Cuticura your everyday toilet preparations. The Soap to cleanse and purify, the Ointment to soothe and heal, the Talcum to powder and perfume. No toilet table is complete without them.—Advertisement.

Argument for Industry.

Old Hen—I'll give you a piece of good advice.

Young Hen—What is it?

Old Hen—An egg a day keeps the butcher away!—Progressive Grocer.

American Popcorn in Spain.

Old Spanish customs and taste succumbing to the assaults of A salesmen. Flivvers have unhorse caballero and the rattling th Seville and over the highest pea the Pyrenees. The Castilian no down to a breakfast of American flakes, and soon people at the corners of Spanish cities and crowded throngs at the bull fight be treated to popcorn. That is, plans of a prominent business m Vigo succeeds. He has just receiv American popcorn vending ma without doubt the first one to be in Spain, says Consul Henry T. W The machine arrived without any corn, which is unknown in Spain the merchant now wants to buy a trial order of corn with which to business.

Privilege of Giving.

Self-sacrifice is not sorrow or g That is true because love never c what it gives, and the greatest p ure of life is the privilege of be ing.

We are all very obliging. Wh puts on a parade, can depend on be spectators.

ABSORBI

TRADE MARK REG U.S.

Stops Lame

from a Bone Spavin, Bone, Splint, Curb, Bone, or similar troubles gets horse going sound acts mildly but quickly good results are last Does not blister or remov hair and horse can be wo Page 17 in pamphlet with bottle tells how. $2.50 a b delivered. Horse Book 9 A free.

W. F. YOUNG, Inc., 510 Lyman St., Springfield,

Two Good Farms Sale at Bargains

160 acres, all in corn, averages a 45 bushels; 120 acres, good impr ments, good crops, Shelby Co Iowa. For information write

A. L. TIDD, Plattsmouth, Neb

Are You Movi to California

We Save You 25% on Frei Household Goods—Au

Through car service. No trans Shorter time in transit. Writ

BLUE LINE STORAGE C

3rd & Elm, Des Moines, Iowa

MONARCH COFFE

NONE BETTER OBTAINABLE AT ANY PRICE

Mother's Christmas Dinner

The only real competitor of the Monarch line is the mother who painstakingly puts up her own reserve table supplies. When she is unable to procure the right quality of raw materials, she turns to Monarch with full confidence that she will serve her family with the trademarked brand that truly compares in quality with her own home products.

SWEET PICKLES
SALAD DRESSING
CATSUP
and other FOOD PRODUCTS

Here are some you'll want to try Monarch Coffee, Monarch Tea, Monarch Cocoa, Monarch Sweet Pickles, Monarch Catsup, Monarch Chili Sauce, Monarch Mince Meat, Monarch Thousand Island Salad Dressing, Monarch Plum Pudding, Monarch Olive Oil, Monarch Golden Bantam Corn, Monarch Sweet Peas, Monarch Grape Fruit Hearts, Monarch Asparagus, Monarch Sliced Peaches, Monarch Sliced Pineapple, Monarch Pears, Monarch Loganberries, Monarch Apricots, Monarch Preserves. Order now for the holidays. None better obtainable at any price—costs you less.

REID, MURDOCH & CO.
Chicago New York Pittsburgh

CHRISTMAS

TO GROCERS: If Reid, Murdoch & Co's salesmen do not reach you, write us for copy "Independent Grocer" and details of Special Holiday Prices on Monarch Coffee. You can order three cases or more by mail and get every concession received by car load buyer. There is only one quality — the highest; one price — the lowest. See full page ads Saturday Evening Post, December 8 and 22; full pages color, Ladies' Home Journal, January, February and March, 1924.

...re will continue to be unrest ...s country until everybody finds ...ow so many persons of small ...s raise the money to buy closed

...re's hoping the summer bath- ...irls are not now neglecting the ...day night tub.

...n will lead a hard life trying to ...soft snaps.

You've heard about him all your life, but did you ever actually know a man who died from overwork?

A constant conversationalist is like a bass drum—lots of noise on the surface and nothing underneath.

Everybody's complaining about how hard it is to get help these days, including Europe.

PUBLIC SALE

Having decided to move away I will sell at Public Auction at the Sumner Eldred place located 3 1-2 miles north-east of Goodell; 7 miles southeast of Klemme; and 7 miles northwest of Meservey, on—

Wednes., Dec. 19

COMMENCING AT 10:00 O'CLOCK A. M.

6— HEAD OF HORSES and MULES —6

52— HEAD OF CATTLE —52

100— HEAD OF HOGS —100

SOME BARRED ROCK HENS

FULL LINE OF FARM MACHINERY

A FREE HOT LUNCH WILL BE SERVED AT NOON!

Terms—Usual terms with 8 months time will be given.

C. E. MILLER

H. Brummond, Auct. Owen Conwell, Clerk

Holiday Goods

WATCHES CLOCKS

JEWELRY

EDISON PHONOGRAPHS

IVORY GOODS

FOUNTAIN PENS, GOLD PENCILS

BOX STATIONERY, BOX

CANDIES and TOYS

E. S. D. Kahrs, Druggist

EAGLE "MIKADO" Pencil No. 174

For Sale at your Dealer Made in five grades

ASK FOR THE YELLOW PENCIL WITH THE RED BAND

EAGLE MIKADO

EAGLE PENCIL COMPANY, NEW YORK

THE CRYSTAL CAFE

THE HOME OF GOOD EATS

CANDIES— —SOFT DRINKS— —CIGARS

MEALS and LUNCHES

Fresh Bread Always on Hand Buy It Here

Our motto is fair treatment and prompt service

We solicit your patronage. Come and see us.

CONRAD QUANDT, Proprietor

Five Years General Practice

Dr. D. P. Anderson

Graduate Veterinarian

Office at Kahrs' Drug Store Phone 4009

Klemme, Iowa

GEORGE ZINN, M. D.

Physician and Surgeon

Office opposite from Hotel Klemme

Phone No. 19

Eyes Examined Glasses Fitted

News of Goodell And Vicinty

GOODELL HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

The rooms on the first floor of the school building have been wired and electric lights have been installed. These lights will not only benefit the pupils on dark days but will also aid the teachers in their work after school.

The superintendent's office is gradually taking on an office appearance. The room has been beautifully decorated and new window shades have been put up. A new flat-top desk and chairs have recently been purchased. We hope in the near future to be supplied with a filing cabinet and telephone.

Last Saturday Supt. C. F. Peters attended the North Iowa Schoolmasters' Club at Mason City. The club was entertained in the Chamber of Commerce rooms of that thriving city. Prof. Macy Campbell of the State Teachers College spoke on consolidation of rural schools.

Goodell basket ball teams played at Rowan Friday night, December 7th. The girl's team was somewhat handicapped, two of the first team being unable to play. The boy's team played the best game thep have played this season. They went into the game with pep and detemrination to win, which lasted throughout the game. The team work was carried out so well that even some of the Rowanites praised them for their fine work. Our boys were able to hold Rowan to the score of 42 to 14, which was a better score than our first apponents, who defeated us, were able to do.

Friday, December 14th, Crystal Lake will play here, and on Friday, December 21st, Rowan will plap the return games. People of Goodell, come out and give the teams your support and help them to win.

REAL ESTATE TRANSFERS

Mrs. August Gruntz et al to Herman Lamke, Q. C. D., 11-8-23, lots 5-6, blk. S. Tallman's ad to Garner and lots 1-6 inc. blk. 9.....$2115

Wirth S. Dunham et al to H. R. Kluer, W. D., 11-5-23, N. N. Wfr. 1-96-25 ..... $1

R. W. Scott et al to H. R. Kluver, W. D., 11-5-23, N fr NE 1-96-25. $1

E. P. Hanson, Sheriff, to Evaline Ellis Keat, sheriff's deed, 11-24-23, tract in 31-97-23 ..... $1

E. P. Hanson, Sheriff, to John Olson, sheriff's deed, und 1-12 of Clara E. Madsen in W NW 22 & SW SW 15 & tract in SE SW 15 & SE SE 16 & NE NE 21-97-24....$2250

John R. Smith to John Rudisill, W. D., 11-22-23, part lot 20 Way's sub. division, Woden $300

W. C. Zeisemer and wife to Nels Paulson and Ed. Ziesemer, W. D. 11-27-23, und 1-3 lot 7 blk. 3, Garner.. ..... $2250

Mrs. Emma H. Johnson to Neil Hanson, Q. C. D., 11-26-23, und 1-3 E 22-94-26 ..... $1

POLITICS

There has not been a great deal said about county politics and everything seems to be quiet on the Potomac. With the coming of the primaries ther eshould be some politics in the air but we have heard little. We do not look for a great deal of change in any office. Everybody seems to be satisfied with the way things are running. On the Board Mr. Lawhorn begins his third term on January 1st. We presume the voters will also give the balance of the Board the honor of a third term as the present board seem to be a good combination and work well together. The Treasurer, the Sheriff and the Clerk have all served two terms. The other officers are on the first term. We do not look for a very great change as the old idea that a third term should not be given is gradually becoming a thing of the past and the general public realize that in important offices when a man is competent, a third term should be given for the general good of the public.

Of course there wil be some candidates out, but not many. Usually by this time of pear politics are beginning to boil up, but not so this year.

Hall's Catarrh Medicine is a Combined Treatment, both local and internal, and has been successful in the treatment of Catarrh for over forty years. Sold by all druggists.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio

Emil Lau has for sale a few choice spring Boars at bargain prices. Don't forget his Annual Bred Sow Sale on January 29, 1924. tfc

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Gram entertained Mr. and Mrs. George Ulrich and Mr. and Mrs. Chris Gram for dinner Sunday.

The Rebeccah ladies of Klemme have made a woolen quilt for the Odd Fellows home at Mason City. The ladies finished tieing the quilt at the lodge rooms Wednesday evening.

The Klemme merchants have some fine window displays of holiday articles. The stores are loaded with holiday goods of all kinds and the early shopper will have a nice selection to choose from. Shop Early!

We have been enjoying some exceptionally fine weather in this part of the state. The weather has been mild and no snow has fallen. We are giving this report for the benefit of our readers in other states who might be interested.

Emil Lau has recently purchased a new herd boar, Stilts Jr., an Orion Cherry King pig. from the Longview Farms, Lee Summit, Missouri. His idea in getting this boar is to cross his pigs so as to introduce new blooded stock in this community.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Stearnes accompanied by Mrs. Chas. Luick and son Lea, visited with Mrs. J. W. Brooks and daughter, Laura, Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Tom Greenwood returned to Klemme with them for a few days visit at the Stearnes home.

It is rather an unusual experience to see a gray gopher in the middle of December. Driving to Garner yesterday morning we saw a gray gopher run across the road. He ran to his hole and then sat up on his hind legs and watched us go by. No we didn't have an hootch either.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Wiles drove to Ames Saturday to get their son, Howard, and Fred Arnold, who are attending school there. The boys like to stretch their legs under their mother's table for a big Sunday dinner. Mr. Arnold took the boys back to Ames Sunday afternoon in his car.

A large number of Klemme high school boosters drove to Belmond on Monday night to see the games between teh Belmond and Klemme teams. There was quite a crowd of townspeople who went with our teams. That's the pepper, lets give the teams our support and go with them and help boost. Britt plays here Friday night this week—everybody turn out and ROOT!

Many from this vicinity attended the funeral services of Mrs. R. J. Brouwer at Garner Sunday afternoon. We are publishing the obituary elsewhere in this issue of the Times.

Lew Lewis has been on the sick list the past week, but we are glad to state he is much better at this time.

The boys and girls high school basket ball teams played a practice game Friday night with a pick-up team of town players. The high school boys shut out the town fellows and the gils high schol team gave the ladies a good drubbing.. Mrs. R. A. McConn while playing with the ladies team dislocated her ankle and was unable to be at the store for a few days. No other serious casualties reported.

DENTIST

J. L. Hesselhuus, D. D. S.

Office Hours 8-12 1-5:30

Office Opposite State Savings Bank; In Schaffer Bldg

Evening Work By Appointment Only

Klemme, Ia. Phone 81

Golden State Limited

Rock Island

only 3 nights en route to California

Los Angeles
San Diego
Santa Barbara

Through Standard sleepers every day in the year from Twin Cities and Des Moines.

Through tourist sleepers Tuesdays and Thursdays

"The best meals on wheels"

Consult Rock Island Ticket Agent or address

C. C. Gardner, G. A. P. D. Rock Island Lines 600 Royal Union Life Bldg., Des Moines, Iowa

Rock Island Lines

NOTICE OF APPOINTMENT OF EXECUTOR

Notice is Hereby Given, That the undersigned has been duly appointed and qualified as Executor of the Estate of HEMPE BUSEMAN late of Hancock County, State of Iowa, deceased. All persons indebted to the estate are requested to make payment; and those having claims against the same will present them, duly authenticated, to the undersigned, for allowance.

Dated December 8th, A. D. 1923.

Henry Buseman, Jr.
George H. Buseman,
Executors.

By Ramsay & Blackstone, their attorneys. (12-19-26D)

SEVENTEEN MILLION CARS IN 1924; ESTIMATE

By January 1 the world will have in operation 17,000,000 automobiles, passenger cars and trucks, according to an estimate by M. H. Hoepli, chief of the automobile division of the Department of Commerce. Of that total, 14,000,000 will run in the Uinted States, about one to every eight persons, whereas in the rest of the world the proportion will be about 1 car to 112 persons. The number of cars in operation is expected to show on January 1, 1924, an increase of 17 per cent over January 1, 1923.

COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS

Regular meeting of town council held in Mayor's place of business with all members of council present.

Motion made and seconded that the following bills be allowed.

Thomas Roths	Hauling Gravel	$106.60
Lloyd Lau	Hauling Gravel	71.75
William F. Stille	Gravel	52.50
Lewis Filling Station	Tractor	3.98
Ben J. Coobs	Gas and Oil for Belmond Fire Department	1.08
John N. Day	Clerk Hire for April	5.00
First National Bank	Coupons 51-52	30.00
White Phillips Co.	Coupon 46	15.00
Standard Oil Co.	Gas	9.38
Harry Smith	Opening clog in sewer	3.50
Klemme Co-Operative Grain Co.	Coal	6.50
Dr. Geogre Zinn	Culturing School children	5.00
Northern Lumber Co.	Dumpboards and 2x4's	9.35
Aaron Greimann	Labor and Repairs	1.80
Klemme Times	Publishing Council Proceedings	3.38
Etchen Auto Company	Accessories and Gas	9.16
H. L. Suckow	Labor on Streets	11.50

Bills allowed

Moved to Adjourn.

A. J. Kudge, Clerk.

Be sure to atend the Rohrbcah & O'Rourk Holstein cow and heifer sale at Kanawha, Saturday, December 15th at 2 o'clock. Every cow is tested. Now is the time to get yourself a good cow. 2wc

Don't deceive Yourself--

You're paying the cost of STORMIZING in waste of and gas alone. The expense of operating your car with cylinders in a worn and scored condition is greater than the cost of STORMIZING and Complete Overhauling. But the waste of oil and gas is not the only thing to be considered. The following troubles are all directly due to worn cylinders. Loss of Power, Imperfect Compression, Low Gasoline Mileage, Waste of Oil, Excessive Carbon, Fouled Spark Plugs, Mis-firing, Diluted Oil, Injured Bearings, Weak Compression, Hard Starting, Piston Slap, Nosy Operation, Uneven Idling, Mis-firing at Low Speed.

STORMIZING strikes the very root of all these troubles, it cures them all.

We Know Autos—Both Right and Left Handed

TAGOLENE OIL—the Utmost in Lubrication

Pavey's Stormizing Shop

Authorized Service

Auto Mechanics —All Work Guaranteed— General Blacksmithing

Are You the Master Of your Fate?

DRIFTERS— indifferent, aimless people— are the prey of every piratic scheme that comes along. Ambitious men and women, with a definite course before them and the courage to wheather it through, are the ones who reach the harbor of safety and contentment. Start now to be master of your fate.

Thousands have made their start by the saving of $1.00 and then adding to it regularly.

We help your savings grow by paying 5 per cent interest.

First National Bank

"The Bank for Everybody'."

Miracles and the Christ Child

By Katherine Edelman

Indian Brave, Guided by Great Spirit, Reveals Story of Christmas

IN THE far-flung land of the west the early winter had been unusually mild and although it was nearing Christmas, now the weather was bright and clear, almost spring-like in its mildness.

Everywhere that the message of the Christ Child had reached, men and women were busy and happy preparing for the great day, a new and added joy of life surging within their hearts. Into each home there had come a strengthening and rekindling of family ties and a new birth of love and service that reached out even beyond the home.

Out on the reservation, however, the Indians went about their tasks as usual, for no hint of the wonder and the glory of the Christmas time had yet come to them. And if they felt a mysterious something in the air at this time, they understood it not at all, for the brightness from the Star of Bethlehem had not yet burst upon them.

Moonlight Brook was very lonely—she had only little Silver Star, her daughter, with her now—the big chief had sent Strong Oak, her husband, with other braves, on a mission to a distant village. And Moonlight Brook had missed him every hour, for their love was still burning as bright as the big camp fire that blazed near the tepees at dusk.

Her love of the great open spaces helped to cheer her during the long hours of his absence. Every day with little Silver Star she wandered afar. In these lonely places that she went there always came to her the sense of some unknown presence—the hand of some great power.

Early one morning Moonlight Brook called little Silver Star to her and told her that they would go for a long walk, away up to Roaring Creek. Moonlight Brook was lost in wonder at the beauty of the scene, but a great and sudden change had come over the day. Now, looking at the lowering threatening sky, she decided that she must make all possible haste back to the village. For with the darkness and the gloom that had come over all there had come, too, from across the prairie a low menacing wind that carried with it at times small, dry snowflakes.

With Silver Star in her arms Moonlight Brook started in the direction of the village, walking with the swift, strong stride of the woman who lives much in the open. The snow now was coming down in large flakes and the wind had grown blizzard-like in its velocity. Hope was fast dying within her, for she was trembling from exhaustion. Then overwrought nature did the thing which she had tried hard to keep from happening—she sank upon the snow—her last thought as she felt consciousness leaving her, to wrap the blanket closer about little Silver Star and to waft a prayer to the Great Spirit to take care of Strong Oak when she was gone.

* * * * * * *

But the prairie has many stories to tell of strange things that have happened there, and on this day there was added to the list another of those coincidences which happen oftener in real life than some would have us believe. For Strong Oak and his party came by the very spot where Moonlight Brook and Silver Star lay a short time after they had sunk exhausted. Some of the men had tried to take the other trail, but something within him, that strange, unknown force which comes to all at times, made him choose the Roaring Creek trail instead and he found his loved ones and with the help of the guides they reached the village in safety.

A few hours later, Moonlight Brook and Strong Oak sat hand in hand, the ecstatic happiness of being reunited surging within them. Moonlight Brook whispered over and over that it was a miracle that the Great Spirit had wrought that Strong Oak should have found her. And Strong Oak told her that while he had been gone he had heard the story of the Christ Child who had come upon earth on this day, which ever since has been called Christmas. As Moonlight Brook listened to the beautiful story that has been told so much, but which keeps its thrill through the ages, she felt that this day was indeed a day of miracles, for, like her bronzed brave, the story brought her a wonderful peace and stilled the restless longings which had come to her so often in the past.

(©, 1923, Western Newspaper Union.)

Christmas Day in Own Home

By ETHEL COOK ELIOT

Mother, Father and Children Have Special Guests at Family Feast

"I'M ALMOST glad we're not going to our Grandmother's for Christmas this year," Mrs. Will confided to Mr. Will a week before that great day. "Do you realize we've never had a Christmas here in our own home, just ourselves and our family?"

"Yes, I've been thinking of that," Mr. Will replied. "Let's keep it just ourselves, and give the kiddies one truly home Christmas to remember."

As usual, Mr. and Mrs. Will were in complete agreement in their ideas and emotions. Mrs. Will sighed contentment. Mr. Will sighed contentment, too; for after all, such harmony as theirs is not so common in this workaday world of wives and husbands.

But as Christmas day grew nearer and nearer Mrs. Will suddenly realized she was nursing a sick conscience. There was something she had not the heart to confide to Mr. Will. Now, Mr. Will had a sick conscience, too. There was something he had not the heart to confide to Mrs. Will.

But fortunately everything was straightened out before Christmas, that day of peace, dawned.

Billy, their oldest, didn't know what the word conscience meant. Of course he had heard mother and father whispering about how nice a strictly family Christmas would be.

He had heard them, but perhaps he hadn't understood their sentiment. Anyway, at luncheon, two days before Christmas, he suddenly blurted, "Say, Mom, I've asked Jim Larkin to our Christmas dinner and the tree. You know his folks are in Europe, and he's just staying on at the school. Thought he'd like it here better. More homelike."

"Oh, bother, Billy," Lucy cried—thirteen-year-old Lady Lucy. "I've asked Patty Brown. She hasn't any folks anywhere, even in Europe. Just that snobbish great-aunt who's giving a big house party, all old folks, and doesn't want Patty around. She needs a home Christmas more than your Jim!"

Father was eyeing mother anxiously. Her bright smile amazed him. "Well, I'm sure there's room for them both. I am glad you have such kind hearts, children."

But now Mr. Will spoke timidly. "I'm sorry, mother, but I, too, have asked a guest. Couldn't help it somehow! That young Miller at the office. He's so cut up about his mother's death, and a boarding house is a dreary place to spend Christmas." Mr. Will's voice was timorous, almost pleading.

But Mrs. Will's bright smile had now turned to a calm, relieved one. "Oh, that's splendid, dear," she said. "For, do you know, I myself have invited that pretty little Gladys Haverill. She looked so woebegone when I met her at the grocer's Saturday and asked her whether she was going home for Christmas. She said a poor school teacher couldn't travel way across a continent even for a Christmas at home. What could I do! And do you know I've always thought Gladys and Ted Miller ought to meet. They're such nice young people—and Gladys is so pretty!"

So that's what happened to the Wills' precious family Christmas. But not one of the Wills felt that he had been cheated of anything. On the contrary! And Mr. and Mrs. Will are in closer harmony than ever. You see, they are the same sort of people—not a too common thing in workaday life. And Billy and Lucy are growing up rather like them.

(©, 1923, Western Newspaper Union.)

IN MERRIE ENGLAND

The English Christmas is not unlike ours, save that we do not have their pretty custom of "bringing in the yule." In almost every family in England the boys and girls gather about the burning log on Christmas Eve to sing carols and tell Christmas legends. Often the children who live in the country assist at the dragging in of the huge log. An English child would not feel that it was Christmas if there were not a bit of mistletoe hanging in the hall, under which the unwary are kissed soundly. Little and big eat the rich and blazing plum pudding, and all join in the singing of Christmas carols and churchgoing.

Beauty of the Snow at the Yule Season

THE beauty of snow is not on wide, glaring expanses, on level, unbroken plains. The eye could not endure, nor the heart accept, the blinding monotony of such conditions.

The beauty of snow lies in contrast. Who has not seen long, bluish shadows creep over it at sunset? Or marked with delight, the thin pencilings of bare branches shifting over its surface by moonlight? Snow requires changes, interruptions, so to speak, to bring out its character. The ruggedness of hills makes the valleys yet more peaceful. The stark, rough "glory of the trees" lends decision to a landscape; the thinnest, wind-whipped edges weave patterns of indescribable frailty on the pages of the snow.

So it is with Christmas. We could hardly live up to Christmas every day in the year. The whole meaning would become worn and threadbare through constant association. When it does come, it should stand out by contrast, in great and shining beauty. The worries, fruits, failures and disappointments of the months just gone should lend the proper "shadowing," so that the purity of the day stands out in white distinction.

And if the heart must ache a little, as all hearts do no matter how great the happiness, let the pain be the pencilings of branches on the matchless page of Christmas, giving it added beauty and character.—Martha B. Thomas.

(©, 1923, Western Newspaper Union.)

Magic of Christmas Sweeps Entire World

THE magic of Christmas lies over the world today, changing the dreary commonplace events of yesterday into things of wonder and delight and filling the earth with happiness and joy and cheer. It permeates the whole earth from end to end and mankind in every land and in every clime responds to it in the fullest measure. For into our hearts at this time there comes a beautiful something that raises us above ourselves and brings us to greater heights than we ever reach at any other time. For with the magic of Christmas time man buries self in trying to promote the happiness and well-being of others and in doing this finds greatest happiness for himself also. For it seems as if the more we give of love, of service and of ourselves the fuller grows the store from which we draw upon and the richer we grow in the things that make for our own happiness. Let us then allow

A Neat Hand!

"Last night I held a little h
So dainty and so neat;
I thought my heart would burst,
So wildly did it beat;
No other hand unto my heart greater gladness bring,
Than that I held last night was four aces and a kin

A Pulling Ad

For the sake of advertisin Jones, who kept a fishing shop, had a large rod hangin side, with an artificial fish end of it. In the early hours morning a man, rather the for his night's enjoyment, sight of the fish, and went qu the door and knocked. Jones in bed, looked out of the wind asked: "Who's there?"

"Pull in yer pole, yuv got a replied the unsteady one.

ESSAY ON PAPER

(By an Editor's Son)

Thair is menny and mutch of paper, such as news, rapping wall, waste, toiler and too nun to mentchun uthers.

My paw sez peeple offen ge ped in the newspapers but goo keepers never raps nothin in papers, but bye rapping pape

Sum atthoritys say that keep warm with paper, espeshl paper. My paw says a 30 da kept him in a swet fer a hole onct. Note paper is sometimes ing paper. When yew send a d note on note paper yew useri care a rap how hard yew rap Landloords mostly use wall to raze rents on. They raze i when they promize to pape stor and they raze it agin when does.

My papa sez he gets lots of paper from oil manufacturers ing 80% profit and a goold and a chanct on a white el which he dont take no stock i premiums nor the oil ether, they dont uze papers to adv in.

Men who try to do somethin fail, are infinitely better than who try to do nothing and su

A Tampa (Fla.) tobacco pany opens a circular letter wit momentous question: "If H Ford is elected President, will a flivver or a Lincoln?"

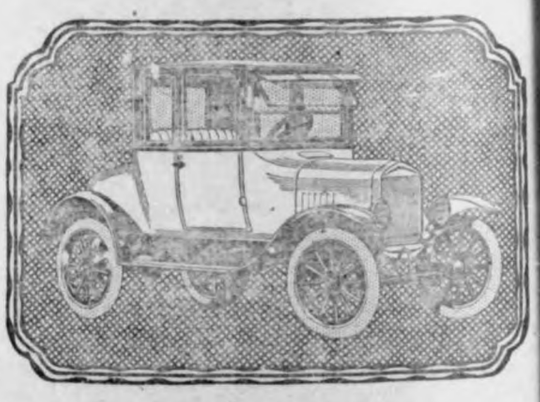
WHAT to PUT in the STOCKING

FOUR DOOR SEDAN

NEW STYLE COUPE

Why Not Put In A--

Ford

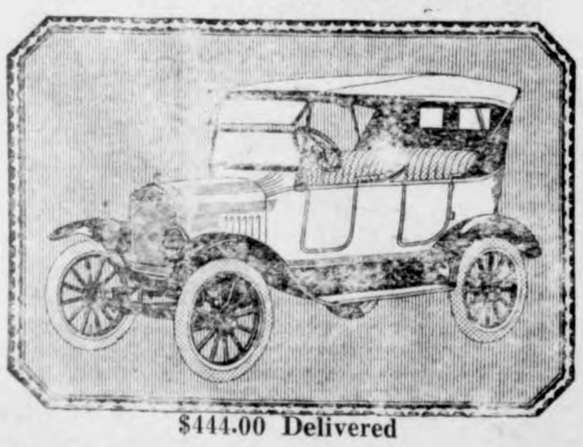


$755.00 Delivered

THE UNIVERSAL CAR

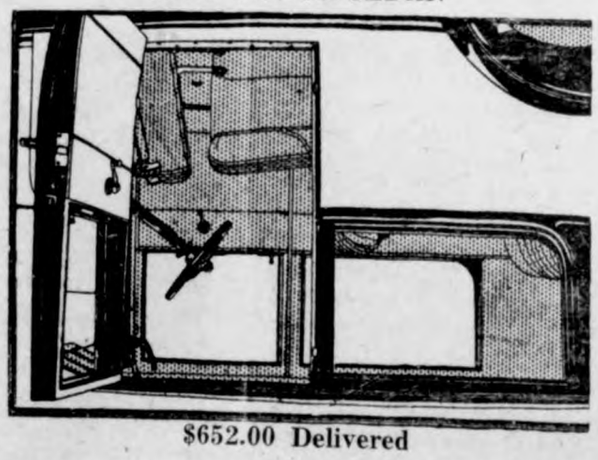
$594.00 Delivered

TOURING—Demount. Rims & Starter



$444.00 Delivered

NEW TUDOR SEDAN



$652.00 Delivered

ROADSTER— Demount. Rims & Starter

$412.00 Delivered

Can you think of a better gift for the whole family

Greiman Motor Co.

Half Dozen Happy Kiddies

ELEANOK KING

oman Tots tmas

THE dining room of this exquisite home was beautiful, spacious and furnished in the best ts massive Jacobean high- rs, long table, draperies all But that quality which at ease was lacking. It ere and unfriendly. The d decorated the table and sely, trying to give a little stmas atmosphere. The for- k still asserted itself, om the length of the table t of edibles piled upon it, ave judged there was to be rty, but only four places r gong sounded. A middle- dressed man and woman ap-say Thelma went out in

't say where she was go- " replied his wife.

bably thought Hubert was long in getting over here, it upon herself to go after tedly," assented Mrs. Frecame soon bursting in upon coat and hat still on. To be d Hubert with her.

ther," she exclaimed, "come at I have out here!"

her folks into the front hall. tonishment, they found the d a maid occupied in remov- and hats from six children. where did you get these?" Fremont in his blustering d this, Dad," began Thelma ther apologetic air: "When wnstairs this afternoon and ining room table heaped up things—well, I just went for gether we found the name ery or home or whatever near here and we went over d the matron give me half ildren, and here they are." d to the group in front of were busy taking in their s. "Children, this is my father and this my mother. Now, Dad, here is Tony, Rose, Frederick, Charles, Anna and Marie," as she gathered the children to her. "Now, children, we are going in and have dinner. Let's see, Hubert, you take Frederick and Charles, Dad take Tony; Mother, you take Anna, and I will have Rose and Marie."

The children, ranging from six to eight, were rather shy until they set eyes on all the goodies on the table; then they were all excitement. Thelma winked at Hubert, and then looked at her dad. He was busy keeping meat enough cut up for Tony, supplying his numerous other demands, and keeping up with his many questions. The children were fairly stuffed when they climbed down from the table.

"We are going to play some games now," said Thelma. "Hubert, you get on that side of the circle; come on, Dad and Mother." But no amount of coaxing could bring Dad and Mother. Dad thought he had done his share.

"What do you think?" said Thelma to the children a little while later;

"Hubert tells me he was just in the library, and Santa left a Christmas tree and some gifts for you in there." They all made a dash for the door.

"Where do you suppose she got these things?" queried Mr. Fremont of his wife.

"I can't imagine," she replied; "this must have been the planning of more than today.

It came time for Thelma to give the dread announcement that they were to leave for the home. Before doing so she surveyed the scene before her: There was Dad, on his hands and knees, crawling about the floor with Tony, playing train. Tony had succeeded in winning over Mr. Fremont. There sat her mother reading a story to three of the youngsters, and Hubert—she could hardly believe her eyes—sat cuddling a little sleeping form in his arms. She went over and sat down on the arm of his chair.

"You dear old thing," she said, putting her arm around him; then, "Hubert, look at Dad. Won't you say this day was been a success?"

(©, 1923, Western Newspaper Union.)

UNDER THE MISTLETOE

"Oh, professor, see the big bunch of mistletoe I have hung on the chandelier," exclaimde the young lady, standing under it and smiling roguishly.

Young and Learned Professor (looking near-sightedly through his glasses)—"Ah, yes, it is an excellent specimen of the Viscum Album, of the order Loranthacaea. It is a jointed dichotomas shrub." And that was all

His Christmas Spent at Club

By MARY GRAHAM BONNER

Lonesome Rich Man Finds Happiness in Playing Santa Claus

HE WAS SITTING alone in his fashionable club. It was quite deserted. It had been for some days now. Everyone seemed to have other things to do than to come to the club. They had talked, a number of them, the last time many had been there, of the busy days ahead, shopping, wrapping up Christmas parcels, helping their wives or their daughters or their grandchildren in the gay plans for Christmas.

Only he had no plans to make. He gave his employees, and a number of others with whom he came in contact, money at Christmas time. That fulfilled his Christmas demands.

Other years he hadn't felt it so much as this year. This year the loneliness seemed lonelier than ever before. His solitary condition saddended him.

Well, he would go back to his suite. He would leave the club. Perhaps among his own books, his own things he would not feel so lonely. He would not dine at the club; he would have some cheese and crackers and coffee at home. His excellent valet could always prepare a little supper for him.

Outside of the club his chauffeur and car were waiting.

He got in and sat down on the soft, luxuriously upholstered cushions, and the chauffeur closed the door, shutting out the clear, cold Christmas time air and the noise of the streets—the noise of many voices of many people going shopping, with the higher voices of children rising every once in awhile above the din.

His soul seemed to ache. He was alone. Rich, comfortable, luxurious, alone! No one wanted him, needed him, cared for him. He had everything which money could buy; he had enough money to buy everything he wanted.

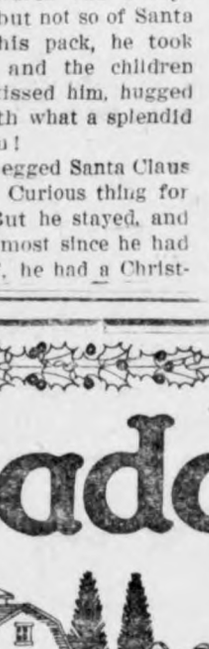
No, not everything! He wanted love and affection, he wanted to be a part of all this going on outside the luxurious confinement of his car and that he couldn't buy. Mix with the crowds? Yes, he could do that, but not as one of them. Only as a lonely man who had a fat bank account which didn't help in the slightest.

And yet couldn't it help? Suddenly he had an inspiration. He called through the speaking tube to his chauffeur. "I think," he said, "I will get out here and walk the rest of the way home."

The chauffeur was surprised, but he was too well-trained to show surprise.

He got out before a large store where in the window was a decorated Christmas tree. He went inside the store. No longer did he feel so lonely. He, too, had a purpose in mind. He was a part of all of this now.

Tinsel, candles, red colored paper, ribbons, small toys, decorations, oh, how much he bought. His arms were filled with bundles just as were the arms of others. It was such fun to carry bundles, too. He had never known before the joy of overcrowded arms.



Home he went, carrying his beloved purchases with him. And then he summoned the janitor to his lonely suite, which now seemed filled with the Christmas cheer. He talked it all over with him, the plans for the tree, for his own Santa Claus suit.

He had given the janitor money before, of course. This time he would take part in the Christmas of the children of the janitor.

Christmas morning came. Never had he arisen so early on a Christmas morning. Dressing himself carefully, he went downstairs. He had worked until late the night before, decorating the tree, but he was not tired.

Suddenly there was a cry, a cry of joy such as he had never heard.

"Why, there's Santa Claus! Dear, dear Santa Claus."

The janitor's children had always been afraid of him, but not so of Santa Claus! He undid his pack, he took gifts off the tree, and the children climbed over him, kissed him, hugged him, loved him. With what a splendid gusto they loved him!

And the children begged Santa Claus to stay for dinner. Curious thing for him to be doing! But he stayed, and for the first time, almost since he had been a child himself, he had a Christmas, a real Christmas, a Christmas filled with love which had driven the loneliness out!

(©, 1923, Western Newspaper Union.)

WHEN HE WAS A BOY

What a big-hearted fellow old Santa Claus is. He must have been a newsboy.

Puts a Halo on Another Head

By Christopher G. Hazard

Artist Finds New Place for Circle Because of a Service to Mankind

DAVID SPENCER looked again at his watch with some anxiety. The hospitality of the old southern home had been lavish, the exhibition of his paintings had been successful beyond his hopes, there had been congratulations, and flowers, and commissions. Quite overwhelmed with courtesies and attentions, charmed by the quaintness and beauty and customs and scenes new to him, the artist longed to linger, and was loth to leave the old city. But the northern train that he must take was almost due, the station was distant, and his hosts had seemingly forgotten all about it, until they suddenly appeared with apologies and delivered him to the black coachman and the family coach. Fortunately, the train, burdened with its load of Christmas cheer, was late, also, so that when it moved on Spencer was among its passengers.

The rather monotonous landscape threw him back upon reflection, and he found himself reviewing the sights and experiences of his visit with pleasant amusement. Again he witnessed the bargaining of the old market. "Is you got enny aigs?" "I ain't sed dat I ain't." "I ain't axed yer is yo' ain't, I axed yer ain't yo' is." He recalled the curious operations of the revival meeting that had so illustrated the picturesqueness of negro character and hummed to himself the song that had there been so intensely sung:

Dere's a halo on His haid,
A halo, oh my Lawd.
But dere's one for me He sed,
A crown ob glory wen I'm daid,
A halo, oh my Lawd.
Dat's de kind ob hat ter git,
A halo, oh my Lawd.
In rain or shine hit's boun' ter fit,
I sholy am a-wantin' hit,
A halo, oh my Lawd.

And I kin feel hit sproutin' now,
A halo, oh my Lawd.
A crown ob shinin' on my brow,
Each time to Him I mek a bow,
A halo, oh my Lawd.

As the train sped on the artist's reminiscences were interrupted by the voices of the conductor and one of the passengers. "But this train does not stop at Redfield," the conductor was saying, as he looked at the old man's ticket. "It must sure stop this time," answered the passenger; "I just got to see Jim once more before he goes. I only got the message this morning. I want to wish him a merry Christmas and a happy New Year where he's goin'."

The conductor hesitated, then seemed to yield as he passed on, and the old man sat back in his seat, unaware of the atmosphere of sympathy around him. Shortly after the bell rope was pulled, the train drew to a halt, and kindly looks followed him down the aisle and on to the platform of the little station.

The incident was barely finished and the train had attained but little headway when there was a sudden and terrible jolt, followed by a crash and the bumping of the cars over the ties, then a stop and an affrighted silence, broken by the voice of the Pullman porter, crying out, "We's run through an open switch and we's wrecked, but ne' min', de train am standin' on de groun'." Engine, baggage cars and dining car were off and broken, but the Pullmans remained on the track. "If we hadn't stopped at Redfield," said the conductor, "we'd 'a' been going forty miles an hour and all heapeu up at the bottom of the embankment."

In the artist's studio today there is a picture of the Christmas Christ, with the halo that believing love has placed upon His head. And just below it another halo rests upon the head of an old man, pictured there because of his unconscious but real service of mankind.

We ring the bells and we raise the strain,
We hang up garlands everywhere
And bid the tapers twinkle fair.
And feast and frolic—and then we go Back to the same old lives again.
—Susan Coolidge.

Santa Claus' Headquarters

THIS CHRISTMAS WE SHOULD GIVE GITS THAT HAVE REAL VALUE, AND THAT WILL LAST A LIFE TIME. WE HAVE A FULL LINE OF MANY USEFUL ARTICLES THAT WILL MAKE IDEAL CHRISTMAS GIFTS FOR EVERY MEMBER OF THE FAMILY. FOLLOWING WE LIST A FEW ITEMS:—

Gifts For Her

Hats and Caps
Silk Hose
Gloves and Mittens
Silk Ties
Handkerchiefs
Belts and Suspenders
Fancy Shirts
Safety Razors

Gifts For Him

Silk Hose
Gloves
Hand Bags
Handkerchiefs
Scarfs
Sweaters
Boudoir Caps
Perfume, Powder
Shoes, Slippers

Other Useful Gifts

China Ware Silver Ware Glass Ware Casseroles
Baking Dishes Pyrex Ware Enameled Ware
Coleman Lamps Aluminum Dishes
Woodrow Washers Roasters

Gifts For Boys and Girls

Coasting Sleds Skates Kiddy Kars Tinker Toys
Wagons Tricycles Books Games
TOYS TOYS TOYS

We also carry a full line of Christmas Candies, Fruits, Nuts, and Groceries, Apples. Order your Christmas tree here.

G. W. Kluckhohn & Sons

Useful Preesnts That Please.

ractical Gift Store.

A NOTABE EXPERIMENT

Des Moines, Iowa, Dec. —An experiment of national importance and of particular interest in Iowa, where the problem of farm electrification has been troubling the farmer and the central station, has been launched in Dodge County, Minn. It will determine to what extent the comforts and conveniences of city life can be extended to the farm and to what extent these conveniences can be made to pay for themselves in the value of farm and home work preformed and in the saving of labor costs.

The great obstacle that has limited the extension of electrical service to rural districts is the fact that usually there are only two or three farms that can be served per mile of electric line. whereas in the city there are anywhere rom 50 to 200 customrs on a mile of line. That is where the almost prohibitive element of the cost per farm enters in. The power companies and manufacturers of electrical equipment have been striving for a long time to solve this problem and finally decided to go to the farmers themselves for counsel.

Committees from the National Electric Light Association and the Farm Bureau Federation have been in frequent conference but the proposed experiment in Minnesota is the first step toward solution.

The plan of the experiment is to construct five miles of transmission line which will serve fifteen customers. Groups of farms which have been accustomed to co-operate in such work as silo filling and threshing will be completely equiped with every appliance known that will utilize electricity in farm and household work. This equipment will be supplied free of charge through the National Electric Light Association, and the farmers will have to pay only for thec urrent used.

The object in view will be to determine whether or not the savings brought about by the electrical labor will more than outweigh the expensive costs of serving scattered customers.

The women in the experimental group of farms are going to be lucky for their houses will be equipped with electric lights, washing machines, ironers, vacuum cleaners, dish washers, toasters, and adozen other labor saving conveniences. The men of the farms will be no less fortunate, for electricity will do the milking, separating the milk, pumping the water, grinding feed, filling silo-threshing and countless small chores

The extent of the experiment will be limited only by the character of farming conducted and by the variety of equipment that can obtained or newly invented, for the purposes in hand. The framer's interest will be protected by deducting from his monthly charge the current used for new experimental purposes which do not show a favorable result.

On all operations complete record of costs, savings and returns will be kept and these will be compiled in a manner that will tell the whole story.

KLEMME MAN IS BILLIONAIRE

And He Made It All With A Dollar; But There's A Catch In It

Mr. F. A. Arnold, cashier of the First National Bank, of Klemme, is a multi-billionaire—and he made the vast fortune with one little round U. S. silver dollar. But the fortune we speak of is in German marks.

Fred got real curious one day a few weeks ago regarding German money and its value, so he sent a dollar in U. S. money to the Dresdner Bank, Berlin, Germany, and asked to have them send as many German marks, of 100,,000 denomination as his dollar would buy. The package of German bank notes he got back for the dollar runs into so many ciphers we doubt if we have enough in the print shop to set all in one line. This is what he got for the dollar: Two hundred 100,000 mark notes. The postage on the envelope in which the marks were sent amounted to forty-five Twenty Billion mark stamps. Besides this the package was registered, which perhaps took a few more billions marks.

Summing up the transaction Mr. Arnold recieved for his dollar the following:

20,000,000 Marks in notes

900,000,000,000 marks in stamps (nine hundred billions.)

In other words he received nine hundred billion, twenty million in marks.

You will note that the postage required was many times greater than the value of the money in the package.

The value of a German mark is so low that it is worth a little less than nothing.

We are just wondering what would have happened if Mr. Arnold h daordered a dollar's worth of one mark notes. They would perhaps have filled a hay rack.

An Unpublished Slogan

A soap manuacturing company advertised a contest for slogans. They also made perfume. Here is a slogan that came in which they could not use. It read: "If you don't use our perfume, for Heaven's sake. use our soap!"

GUIDE TO THE MOVIES

How To Understand A Movie That You Have Never Seen

When you see a woman knitting you know that a child is about to be born.

When a woman's dress falls below her knees you know that she is a vamp.

When you see a bunch of fellows sitting around a fire while one of the group plays a banjo you know this is a college.

When you see a man with his back toward a door you know that he is extracting a key and that no good is coming to the sister of the hero who is in the room.

Some Car!

A lumberjack recently saved up enough money to purchase a second hand car that was represented to him as being in perfect shape.

After trying the car out for a short time the man sat down and wrote the following letter to the Company that sold him the car:

"Gentlemens: What makes that dommed car you sold me pant and rant and clang and bang and hiss and spit and howl and yowl and hoot and toot and grind and bump and moan and chug, and whistle and wheeze and skuawk and blow and jar and jerk and rasp and jingle and thump and boom and clash and jolt and hum and snarl every time I take it out? Yours truly.———

Taking No Chances

"Look here!" bellowed an irate customer in the general store of Four Corners. "You say you won't sell me a shovel unless I get a permit from the authorities and sign my name in that book. What's the big idea?"

"We ain't takin' chances," answered the Proprietor Hoskins firmly. "Gov'ment's mighty keerful these days. You fellers buy a shovel, dig up the ground, plant barley, make it into malt, and there you are. No sir-ree!"

Wonderful

FOR SALE—Eighty pure-bred English White Leghorn hens and two roosters. All laying.

SHOPPING HINTS FOR CHRISTMAS GIFTS

Give Sensible Gifts for Christmas that are Worth While

We are making it possible for you to select presents for the whole family that will be something they will enjoy. Following are a few good hints:—

GIFTS FOR MEN and BOYS	GIFTS FOR LADIES and GIRLS
Fancy Socks	Hand Bags
Neckties	Fancy Towels
Handkerchiefs	Boudoir Caps
Shirts	Dresser Scarfs
Shoes	Hand Painted China
Felt Slippers	Kimonas
Caps—Hats	Silk & Wool Hose
Mufflers	Dress Goods

C., FOR THE KIDDIES AT THIS STORE! LOTS OF TOYS, BOOKS, NOVELTIES, ET

Our Big Stock Of Groceries! Loads of Good Things To Eat In

SHOP EARLY! SHOP NOW!

The Busy Store J. N Day's Klemme, Iowa

Can You Think of Any Gift

That would Bring Your Wife as Much Happiness

as a Woodrow Washer?

Think of the time and drudgery fifty two days each year that a Woodrow Washer would svae her—a weekly reminder of her happiest Christmas.

The Woodrow is just the kind of a machine she has longed for. It provides conveniences that take all the real work out of washing—even to the Tilting Tub for quickly draining out the water.

Get the details of our plan and order your Woodrow for Christmas delivery.

There are single and double tub models for both electric and engine power. Place your order early for delivery the 24th.

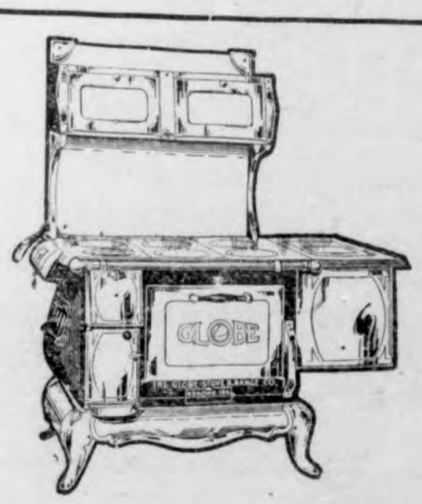
G. W. Kluckhohn & Sons

Useful Christmas Presents

A complete assortment in every line and priced to fit every purse, and every article a sensible, serviceable Christmas Gift. This season, as never before, will the purchaing of sensible gifts predominate. Make your wife happy by buying her a GLOBE or a QUICK MEAL Range. Make the home more comfortable by investing in a GLOBE FURNACE. Make our store your Xmas Headquarters.

GIFTS FOR HER

Electric & Power Washing Machines.
Globe Ranges
Carving Sets
Gas Lamps
Scissors, Shears
Baking Dishes
Roasters, all kinds
Electric Toasters
Coffee Percolators
Pyrex & Aluminumware
Silverware



GIFST FOR HIM

Safety Razor Sets
Pocket Knives
Shot Guns, Rifles
Handy Tool Sets
Wrench Sets
Pliers
Gas Lanterns
Flash Lights

FOR BOYS & GIRLS

Ice and Roller Skates
Coaster Wagons
Coasting Sleds
Scooters
Air Rifles
Flash Lights
Kiddy Kars
Jack Knives
Kitchen Play Sets
Tricycles
Etc.

Come in and see our long tables containing a large variety of Useful Christmas Gifts!

Jacobs & Son

RMAN JUDGE RAPS BERGDOLL

American Slacker a Traitor as He Jails U. S. Kidnapers.

KS' PLOT IS PRAISED

ssbach, Baden. — Complimenting on his 'noble effort" to bring back al traitor to his country," but con- ing him for willfully violating the an laws, Judge Karzmann sen- d Corliss Hooven Griffis, who at- ted to kidnap Grover Bergdoll, American draft evader, to one year nine months' imprisonment and a of two gold marks (50 cents). The did not mince words in denounc- Bergdoll as a traitor.

e others involved in the kidnap- were sentenced as follows: Eu- Victor Neilson, chauffeur of Chi- three months, which he already served; Roger Sperber, one year six months; and Prince Gagarin, ssian, eight months. Four months deducted from each sentence, as already has been served, and so Neilson was ordered freed.

ever did a judge sugar coat a sen- e more. He explained that Berg- was like any other American citi- in Germany and, regardless of his g a traitor, he had the same ts as any other foreigner. There- the court had no recourse but to the prisoners guilty of attempt- to usurp the government power. knew they were violating the and therefore the court was ed to sentence them.

he judge carefully explained that had the right to appeal for pro- on, which is interpreted as an in- et assurance that the German gov- ment is in sympathy with them and grant such a request. This, at st, is the opinion of Consul Moor- official American observer, who, ough considering the sentences newhat hard, presumed it was evi- t that the sympathy of the court ged an inclination to release the oners on parole if such a request e made. Bergdoll's stock here has e down to zero. This was shown the trial. While a few weeks ago was cheered by the people who ded the court and paraded in Ger- ty as a hero sentiment now has ned against him and it is believed t he will shortly have to seek an- r place of refuge.

siness Boom Will Keep Up, Secretary Mellon States

Washington.—Secretary Mellon, in annual report, says the factors ich have been most influential in business revival are likely to remain fective, at least in a considerable gree. The secretary also laid stress on the importance of congress giv- serious consideration to a reduc- in taxation, as outlined in his com- nication a short time ago to Repre- tative Green.

hange Reparations Text to Suit Secretary Hughes

Paris.—Premier Poincare and Louis rthot have revised the text defining powers of the reparations com- sion in an effort to make it agree h the provisions specified by Sec- ry Hughes. It is hoped in repara- s circles that the text now is ded so as to overcome the objec- s of the American diplomatic et.

an to Fill Bureau Jobs With World War Veterans

Washington.—As an example to pri- e employees throughout the United tes, heads of all government de- rtments have agreed to hire Ameri- n war veterans whenever possible, Gen. Frank Hines, director of veterans' bureau, announced. "We re to build up a system to make rmanent rehabilitated veterans pos- le," Hines said.

Fined $150,500 for Violating Dry Laws

Savannah, Ga.—Judge Barrett, in deral court, sentenced 24 defend- s, convicted on conspiracy and er prohibition charges, to pay fines aling $150,500 and to serve terms in federal penitentiary. The sen- ces ran from three months to two rs, together with fines of from $500 $10,000.

hisky Row Now 12 Miles Out With Christmas Cheer

Highlands, N. J.—New Jersey's far- ed rum fleet, 15 strong, are massed side the 12-mile limit, ready for ristmas trade. Two steamers and sailing craft—the largest flotilla in ny months—could be observed from ore.

To Reopen Waterway Parley.

Washington.—Official announcement s made by the White House that otiations with Canada would be re- ed with a view to adoption of a ty providing for the Great Lakes- Lawrence waterway project.

Germany Bars Separation.

Berlin.—The German government re- ted its determination that no po- ical separation or independence uld be granted the Rhineland and r even for the duration of the ench occupation.

CAPT. THOMAS J. SENN

Capt. Thomas J. Senn, United States navy, who has been placed in command of the new battleship U. S. S. West Virginia, the largest ship of its kind. The ship was placed in commission at the Norfolk navy yard Dec. 1.

REPORTED DEAD, LIVES

Wisconsin Man Robbed Grave, Burned Body to Hide Crime.

Napa, Cal.—After traveling over the western part of the United States for four years under the name of Kingston, Edward J. Sailstad, former president of an Eau Claire (Wis.) phonograph company, and Miss Dorothy Anderson, his companion and stenographer, were taken by Napa county authorities. The arrests were made at the request of the authorities of Superior, Wis., on a charge of arson.

Advices from Wisconsin said the body of a man was found in the ashes of a house at Lake Nebagammon, Wis., in October, 1919, and that at the time it was believed the body was that of Sailstad, as he had rented the place.

After four hours of close questiontioning by District Attorney Thomas C. Anglim, Sailstad admitted, Anglim said, that he had burned the house after placing a body in it in an effort to make it appear he had been burned to death so his wife could collect about $62,000 in insurance and straighten out his affairs and so he could run away with his stenographer with whom he was in love.

In his purported confession, Sailstad told how he had exhumed the body of Andrew McPhee in Lake Nebagammon cemetery, Douglas county, Wisconsin, taken it to a house he had rented in that place, and then burned the dwelling.

Coolidge and McAdoo Win in South Dakota Voting

Pierre, S. D.—President Calvin Coolidge and former Secretary of the Treasury William G. McAdoo were given the majority nominations for the presidential primaries in South Dakota at the Republican and Democratic state proposal conventions here. Both were chosen by large margins, President Coolidge leading Senator Hiram Johnson, his only opponent, by a majority of 23,039 out of 77,000 votes cast, and Mr. McAdoo winning over Henry Ford, the only other Democratic candidate, by almost 8 to 1.

Three Sacrifice Rank to Let Woodfill Top Army Roll

Washington.—Sergt. Samuel Woodfill, named by General Pershing as the outstanding hero of the war, will retire from the army this month in the highest noncommissioned grade. Three of his seniors in rank, Sergeant-Major Sewell, Sergeant McLaughlin and Sergeant Acker, volunteered to accept demotion that their comrade might be promoted to master sergeant. When retired he will receive $133 a month.

Attorney Appointed First Cleveland City Manager

Cleveland, O.—William R. Hopkins, Cleveland attorney and engineer, was elected Cleveland's first city manager under the new charter. Hopkins was chosen for the position by a unanimous vote of the newly elected city council. Cleveland will be the largest city in the country operating under the city manager plan of government when Hopkins takes office January 1.

Immense Throng Hears Coolidge Read Message

Washington.—Crowds greater than any that have gathered in the capitol since the April night in 1917 when President Wilson declared the existence of a state of war with Germany, filled the galleries and corridors to hear President Coolidge deliver his first message to congress and to the country.

Red Russia Exiles Gamblers.

Moscow.—Russia has established a pale, not for Jews, as in czarist days, but for gamblers, obnoxious speculators and citizens whose usefulness in the upbuilding of the country is questioned by the officials.

Ford Buys Fourteen Cows.

Chicago.—Henry Ford Friday bought a herd of 14 milking Shorthorns for $4,800 from the Bachelder farms of Mount Vernon, N. H., on auction at the International Live Stock show held at the Stock Yards.

HUERTA LEADS MEXICO REVOLT

Open Rebellion Against the Obregon Regime Breaks Out, Report.

NINE STATES ARE AFFECTED

Vera Cruz.—Nine states have joined in a movement against President Obregon and Gen. P. Elias Calles, Obregon's choice as his successor in the presidency, according to information reaching here. The states in which the rebellion is said to have made its appearance are Vera Cruz, San Luis Potosi, Chihuahua, Michoacan, Tamaulipas, Jalisco, Sinaloa, Sonora and Toluca.

Late advices received in this city said that federal troops sent out from Mexico City had established contact with rebel forces.

Several deputies in the Mexican congress, most of whom are members of the Co-operatista party, have arrived here and have announced their intention of electing a provisional president and of establishing the national congress in this city.

Adolfo de la Huerta, General Calles' opponent for the presidency, is among the deputies supporting the movement. He has addressed a manifesto to the nation setting forth his reasons for opposing General Obregon.

Mexico City.—Three columns of government troops from the Tampico zone under Gen. Joaquin Amaro have been ordered to proceed against General Sanchez, military governor of Vera Cruz. Gen. Francisco Serrano, secretary of war, announced that troop movements are under way. General Serrano said loyal troops are being concentrated at Esperanza to aid in crushing the revolt. A number of garrisons in the state of Vera Cruz, including the one at Jalapa, have remained faithful to the government, he added.

Friends and Foes Disagree on Merits of Coolidge Address

Washington. — President Coolidge's first annual message, delivered before congress, was received with widely varying expressions of opinion, ranging from unqualified indorsement to complete disapproval. Nearly everyone, including even Representative Victor Berger (Soc., Wis.) agreed that it was a courageous message, but views differed radically concerning its effect on the country. Many Republican regular leaders praised it in general terms. A few commended specific recommendations. Some refused to make any comment. Insurgent Republicans either criticized the message or remained silent. Democrats generally rapped it as "a stand-pat document."

American Legion Chief Raps Coolidge for Bonus "No"

Washington.—John R. Quinn, national commander of the American Legion, criticized President Coolidge's opposition to the soldiers' bonus as expressed in his message to congress, and predicted that congress would enact the bonus bill in spite of executive objection. "I am convinced," said Commander Quinn, "that President Coolidge has been misinformed regarding the wishes of the great mass of the people and adjusted compensation for veterans, or he would not oppose it at a time when even its avowed opponents admit that the national finances are more than sufficient to meet it."

Secretary Wallace Seeks Cut in Grain Rates

Washington.—In a report to President Coolidge, Secretary Wallace recommends a reduction of at least 25 per cent on freight rates on wheat and wheat products. "American freight rates, which still are 45 per cent and more above those of 1913, have not been adjusted to meet the decline in farm prices, whereas Canadian rates now are back approximately to their pre-war level," Mr. Wallace asserted.

Billion Franc French Arms Loan Approved

Paris.—The financial subcommittee of the foreign affairs committee of the senate approved the loan of 800,000,000 francs to Poland and 300,000,000 francs to Jugo-Slavia. Premier Poincare explained that all the money will be spent in France for military supplies.

Illinois Congressmen Get Seats After Row

Washington. — Representative Edward E. Miller, Republican, and Representative James E. Buckley, Democrat, both of Illinois, were granted their seats in congress after a brisk fight. The vote to seat Mr. Miller was 208 to 196, along party lines.

Movie May Quit Coast.

San Francisco.—Because of the "blue laws" which have been passed by the city of Los Angeles, the entire movie industry may "pull up stakes and go elsewhere," according to Joseph Schenck, motion picture producer.

Navy May Claim Polar Land.

Washington.—There is possibility of the discovery of a vast unexplored area of 1,000,000 square miles in the Arctic regions, the naval board heard. It is likely that the navy may investigate and claim the land.

TO FIGHT RADICAL TEACHING

Tacoma Woman Donates to Establish Chair at Pacific University at Forest Grove, Ore.

A practical means of combating the industrial, social and economic unrest being fostered in this country by the I. W. W. and other radical forces, has been found, it is believed, in the recent establishment of the American Legion chair of history and patriotism at Pacific university, Forest Grove, Ore.

This department, conceived by Legionnaires when the effect of returned ex-service men began to make itself manifest in stabilizing the restless unemployed, became an accomplished fact when Mrs. Robert L. McCormick of Tacoma, Wash., long a friend of the ex-service man, donated $100,000 to the perpetuation of the chair.

The movement to establish the chair of history and patriotism was started early last spring. American Legion men, seeing possibilities in the policy of the Pacific university, whereby free scholarships were given all ex-service men, suggested that the university lay before the various patriotic organizations of the country the matter of stabilizing its patriotic program. A move to establish the American Legion chair of history and patriotism resulted and culminated in the gift of Mrs. McCormick.

Mrs. Robert L. McCormick.

Of the amount donated by Mrs. McCormick half was used in the erection of a building to house the department. The remaining $50,000 forms an endowment fund which assures the permanence of the chair.

The expressed purpose of the department is to teach and foster the ideas and ideals of the founders of the country and to perpetuate in the lives of posterity the heroic service and sacrifice of the American Legion.

Aside from classroom lectures on the essentials of patriotism, the course of study includes a laboratory course in the investigation of social, industrial and economic conditions of unrest; of the cause of the rise and fall of nations and the means whereby the dry rot which eats at the heart of government may be combatted.

An example of the practical field work being accomplished by the students of the department is seen in a recent threatened disturbance in mill towns along the coast. American Legion students went into the troubled district, gained the confidence of the workers, and succeeded in averting any disturbance.

Such field work will be extended in the future to include investigation and the making of reports on industrial conditions. It has been found that where the students are well posted on conditions, the outbreak may be averted in many instances.

POST POLLS OPEN TWO DAYS

Modern City Methods Used at Election Conducted by the Douglas County (Neb.) Legion.

With the largest membership of any post in the United States, the Douglas county (Neb.) post of the American Legion, when confronted by its recent elections, solved the problem by a system as comprehensive and efficient as any city or state election system. Polls were established in the county courthouse and were kept open from 7:30 a. m. until 6 p. m. on two consecutive days. A board of election commissioners sat at the courthouse during the polling and passed on the eligibility of each voter. None was allowed to ballot who had not paid up his dues for the year. Absentee voters sent their ballots by mail and telegraph, the board passing on the authenticity of the ballots. The only trouble in the election was the insistence of some enthusiastic politicians who tried to carry their electioneering almost to the curtain of the voting booth. It was found necessary to establish a dead line for the amateur politicians some distance from the polls.

Will Receive Medal.

In recognition of her service as first president of the first department of the American Legion auxiliary and as presiding chairman of the first national convention, Dr. Helen Hughes Hielscher of Makato, Minn., will receive a gold medal from the National Legion Auxiliary. A committee is now working on the design for the medal.

Compensation Time Limit.

Officials of the Kansas department, American Legion, are sending out warning to all ex-service men of the state concerning the final date of filing for state compensation. No applications will be received after January 1, 1924, it is said.

Demand BAYER ASPIRIN

SAY "BAYER" when you buy—Genuine

Proved safe by millions and prescribed by physicians for

Colds Headache Neuralgia Lumbago
Pain Toothache Neuritis Rheumatism

Genuine — Accept only "Bayer" package which contains proven directions.
Handy "Bayer" boxes of 12 tablets.
Also bottles of 24 and 100—Druggists.

Aspirin is the trade mark of Bayer Manufacture of Monoaceticacidester of Salicylicacid

Value of Experience.

Mother—Are you really sure that you love him?

Daughter—Don't be so naive, mother. When a girl has had the experience of three engagements, as I have, she should know the symptoms.—Boston Transcript.

Happy With Their Books.

"Some of these old booksellers never seem to sell anything."

"They don't care."

Like Poison.

"I hate that chap," quoth the lovable girl, as she rubbed cold cream on her lips.—Washington Sun Dodger.

Nothing Better for Constipation than one or two Brandreth Pills at bed time. They cleanse the system, purify the blood and keep you well.—Adv.

Never judge a merchant's cash receipts by the number of lady shoppers in his store.

Children Cry for "Castoria"

A Harmless Substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups — No Narcotics!

Mother! Fletcher's Castoria has been in use for over 30 years to relieve babies and children of Constipation, Flatulency, Wind Colic and Diarrhea; allaying Feverishness arising therefrom, and, by regulating the Stomach and Bowels, aids the assimilation of Food; giving natural sleep without opiates. The genuine bears signature of

Chas. H. Fletcher.

Your doctor advises internal cleanliness

HE will tell you that the first results of constipation—headache, sleepless nights, biliousness, backache, etc.—warn that the body is flooded with intestinal poisons. In time, these poisons may cause the breakdown of health and lead to serious disease. In constipation, say intestinal specialists, lies the primary cause of more than three-quarters of all illness including the gravest diseases of life.

"Keep Clean Inside" Say Physicians.

Hence, doctors urge internal cleanliness—regular and thorough removal of food waste from the body.

Laxatives Aggravate Constipation

Laxatives and cathartics do not overcome constipation, says a noted authority, but by their continued use tend only to aggravate the condition and often lead to permanent injury.

Why Physicians Favor Lubrication

Medical science, through knowledge of the intestinal tract gained by X-ray observation, has found at last in lubrication a means of overcoming constipation. The gentle lubricant, Nujol, penetrates and softens the hard food waste and thus hastens its passage out of the body. Thus Nujol brings internal cleanliness.

Nujol is used in leading hospitals and is prescribed by physicians throughout the world. Nujol is not a medicine or laxative and cannot gripe. Like pure water it is harmless.

Get rid of constipation and avoid disease by adopting the habit of internal cleanliness. Take Nujol as regularly as you brush your teeth or wash your face. For sale by all druggists.

Nujol
REG. U.S. PAT. OFF.
For Internal Cleanliness

Disordered Stomach

Take a good dose of Carter's Little Liver Pills —then take 2 or 3 for a few nights after. You will relish your meals without fear of trouble to follow. Millions of all ages take them for Biliousness, Dizziness, Sick Headache, Upset Stomach and for Sallow, Pimply, Blotchy Skin. They end the misery of Constipation.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS

Genuine bear signature— Brent Good

Small Pill; Small Dose; Small Price

Two pleasant ways to relieve a cough

TRADE

MARK

Take your choice and suit your taste. S-B—or Menthol flavor. A sure relief for coughs, colds and hoarseness. Put one in your mouth at bedtime. Always keep a box on hand.

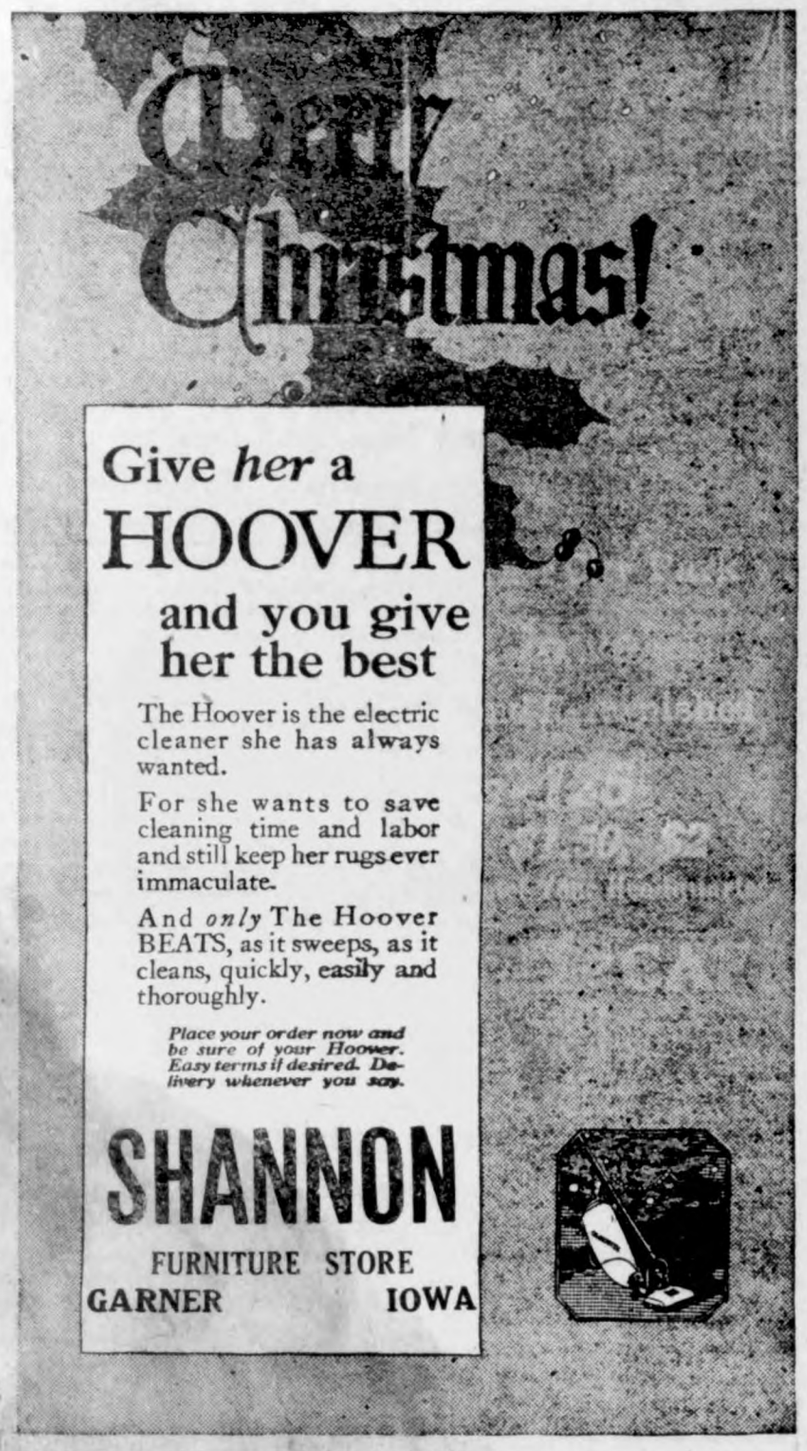
SMITH BROTHERS

S.B. COUGH DROPS MENTHOL (orange colored box)

Famous since 1847

For Sale— Remington Automatic 12-g. Shot Gun, No. 1 condition. Reasonable if taken at once. Call at Times Office.

Mr. and Mrs. John Gruetzmacher and Mr. and Mrs. P. M. Griesemer were entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Schaefer last Sunday.



News of Klemme and Vicinity

Beat Britt Friday night!

If its news, Phone 12. Thanks.

Let the Times print your sale bill.

Mens 4-buckle overshoe at Day's Store at $2.95.

A. G. Koerner and family were at Mason City Saturday.

Go to Day's Store for Mens 4-buckle overshoes at $2.95.

Elmer Arnold and family were visiting at Mason City Saturday.

$2.95 for a pair of Mens 4-buckle overshoes at Day's Store.

Mr. E. S. Barker of Meservey was a business caller in Klemme Friday.

R. W. Elder of Mason City spent Sunday with his family here.

Day's Store for a pair of mens 4-buckle overshoes—$2.95.

Marvin Weigmann, of Garner, was in Klemme on business last Thursday afternoon.

Charlie Luick is now working at the sugar plant at Mason City until after the holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Breldow, of Garner, were Klemme visitors last Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Waterman drove to Mason City yesterday on business.

E. H. Rooks and wife and two children, of Meservey, were visiting in Klemme Saturday.

Mr. Wm. Waack and daughter of Meservey were shopping with Klemme merchants Saturday.

It pays to buy your electric light bulbs at Jacobs & Son. Try it. tf

For Sale—Duroc Jersey Boars. C. A. Arnold Estate. 2wp

For Sale—Have only 2 more full blood Chester White Boars. $20 each, guaranteed. E. S. Barker, Meservey.

There was a good crowd at the Odd Fellows Old Time dance Tuesday night and all had a fine time.

For sale—Bourbon Red Turkey Gobblers, $5 and $6. W. A. DeMerritt, Meservey, Iowa. 3p

Another old time dance by the Odd Fellows, Tuesdap December 18, at the Idle Hour. You are invited!

Buy your electric light bulbs and other supplies here and save money. Jacobs & Son, Hardware Store. tf

Remember the I. O. O. F. old time dance, old time music, at the Idle Hour, Tuesday night, Dec. 18. Come!

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lewis and Miss Rone drove to Ackley, Iowa. Sunday for a visit.

For Sale—S. C. Rhode Island Red Cockerels, $1.50 each. John Woods, Phone 4810. 2wp

John Bachman saw two wolves at his farm early Monday morning. The wolves were near a hap stack.

Aaron Griemann and Chris Gram went to Des Moines Monday to get a new Ford.

For Sale—some S. C. White Leghorn Roosters, egg laying strain, at $1.25 each, five or more at $1 each. John Swalve, Phone 918 Klemme. 3p

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Ell and children of Mason City spent Sunday at the Hans Hansen home in this city.

Mr. and Mrs. Chris Jacobs of Garner were visiting at the Ed. Jacobs home Monday.

Rohrbach & O'Rourk will have another sale of a car load of Holstein cows and heifers, all T. B. tested, at the stock yards at Kanawha Saturday, December 15th. 2wc

R. A. Jorgenson and family drove to Garner last Friday evening, that date being "Dad" Jorgenson's 67th birthday anniversary.

The churches of the city are busy preparing for Christmas programs and the children are busy learning their pieces to spek.

Herman Miller and Lloyd Lau went to Chicago Saturday night to spend a few days sight-seeing and gazing at the high buildings.

The Ladies Aid is holding a meeting this afternoon at the parish house. A supper is on the program. Basket Ball Friday night!

Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Keraus went to Iowa Falls Sunday for a visit with a niece. They returned to Klemme Tuesday.

Mrs. C. T. Enger and son from Belmond visited at the Tom Hake home here last week from Tuesday until Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Kraus from Wisconsin came a couple of weeks ago and are visiting at the home of her mother, Mrs. Henry Schuldt, and other relatives and frineds for a few weeks.

KLEMME MARKETS

(Subject To Change)

WHEAT	$1.00
CORN (new)	.55
OATS	.35
BARLEY	.50
RYE	.55
HOGS	5.50—6.00
HAY	15.00—20.00
BUTTERFAT	.57
BUTTER (creamery)	.55
EGGS	.42
HEAVF HENS	.14
LIGHT HENS	.08
STANDARD SPRINGS	.14
ELGHORNS	.08
COCKS	.06
DUCKS	.11
GEESE	.10

We have the largest and most complete line of Toys and Xmas Gifts in Northern Iowa.

Call at our Store and make your selections while our line is complete.

Toys Of All Descriptions.
Books, Games, Etc.
Wagons, Sleds, Etc.
Glassware, China
Toilet Sets
Candies—A very fine Xmas Candy for 25c lb. Try our pure sugar candy.

We are Santa Claus Headquarters and we will be glad to have you call at our store—we Know it will pay you to do so.

The FAIR Store

GARNER IOW

Own Your Home

The great American impulse from the time of the landing of the Pilgrims, has been the creation of a place to call home.

From this eventful day the early settlers kept moving westward to conquer a new world that you and I, their children, might reap the reward.

They were homeseekers and homebuilders, they had the spir it to create, not destroy.

Are you upholding the spirit?

Are you working for a home of your own, a place where your family will feel secure, no matter what might befall?. Uphold the American spirit by building up an. account with that purpose in view.

OPEN ONE TODAY

State Savings Bank

Klemme Iowa

EDE FUR COATS--

PRICES CHEAPER THAN A GOOD CLOTH COAT .....
EDE GIVES A LIFE TIME GUARANTEE!

Have that hide or fur converted into a beautiful FUR COAT—either ladies or gentlemens, at a very small cost.

We can also have hides and furs made into RUGS, COLLARS, CAPS, MITTENS, GLOVES, MUFFS, ETC.

The cost of having hides and furs tanned and made up is very reasonable and the resultis abeautifuljob you will be proud of.

If you do not have yourownhide or fur EDE can supply you with one at a small extra cost. It will pay you to to see us about prices.

FOR INSTANCE—

We will have tanned and made up a complete EDE FUR COAT, of horse or cow hide, with collar of same for only——————...$23.95

We can have your horse or cow hide tanned and made up into a most beautiful Standard size Robe, bouble border, plush lined for only..$18.75

Waranted not to rip or rot. Coats Guaranteed To Fit.

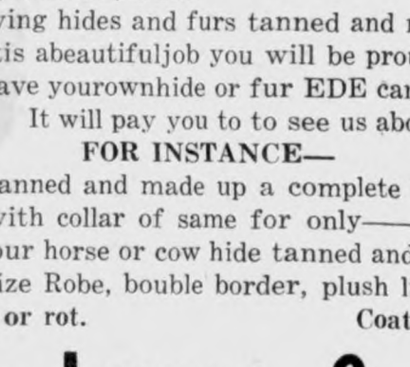
J. P. Larsen & Sons

The Klemme Meat Market

By All Means Give Something Electrical



Grills	Toasters	Ranges
Heaters	Percolators	Flat Irons
Warming Pads	Curling Irons	Washing Machines
Waffle Irons	Vacuum Cleaners	Water Heaters
Xmas Wreaths	Xmas Tree Decorations	Electric Specialties

100 Per Cent Service

Iowa Falls Electric Co.

Iowa Falls, Iowa

STILLE'S IMPLEMENT NEW

Volume 2—Number 7. Thursdap, December 1

Well! We took the last McCormick-Deering Tractor out the other day. They are all gone and we have none left to play with. We will get some more in soon and if you are interested in tractors at all, better come in awhile and talk it over.

Feed grinders are moving again. Fred Krause purchased a new 10" type D special snap corn mill with wagon box elevator from us.

Tim Waddingham is using a new 10" type B mill which he purchased at our store. Tim is pulling it with a 10-20 McCormick-Deering tractor. An outfit like that makes it a real pleasure to grind.

Vic Schoenwetter is pulling his grinder with a McCormick-Deering 10-20. They'll pull a 10" mill nicely in all kinds of grain.

"Dad" Stille is using a 15-30 McCormick-Deering tractor this winter. Stop in sometime, they'll be glad to show the tractor and tell you about them.

Emil Blumer pulled a six roll McCormick Shredder all fall with a McCormick-Deering 10-20 tractor and it did a fine job of it. They sure have the pep.

We told you last week about the tank heater we have, the name of it is the "ONLY". The way the ing and the satisfaction the would make you think they w Only tank heater. If you want heater that will keep the ice your tank and do it as long want to farm get an "ONLY sell them.

We are having a "Special" Ar-Co Motor Oil. We give nice can free with every 5 gal oil. One can to each person. yours while they last.

Its all right to be sociable, ally during the Holiday seas the fellow who asks a heavy girl to sit on his lap is taking deal upon himself.

Paint your face with a smi vertise that you are a success. Use standard machinery prove it.

Cutting out the necessary machinery may reduce your e but, so does cutting your wi reduce the cost of living.

The Primrose gets all the The new ball bearing Primros wonder. Steel disks that will l man, and work easy. Ask th that has one.

12 PAGES THIS WEEK

THE KLEMME TIMES

MERRY CHRISTMAS

Twenty-eighth Year—Number 15. Klemme, Iowa, Thursday Afternoon, December 20, 1923 $1.50 In Advance—$2.00 Outside of County

KLEMME GIRLS WIN OVER BRITT

Boys Put Up Good Fight, But Are Beaten

SWALEDALE BEATS BOYS

Double Header to Be Played at Crystal Lake Friday

(School Notes O. K.'d by Supt.)

Too much Ridder is the story of the girls encounter with the Britt Sextett. For this young lady made 37 points of the total score, ringing the bell from the field no less than eighteen times and registering once from the foul line. She was everywhere and shooting baskets from all corners of the court. The whole team, however, deserves the credit for the victory. for without the splendid passing and guarding shown by her team mates she would not have been able to get the chances for baskets that she did. Stille as her companion forward was there and over every minute. Koerner played the best game of her career, and Blank had a large evening herself. The guards, Hake and Tanner evidently had adopted the Frenchman's motto at Verdun, "They shal not pass", and their opponents didn't; they had no chance, for the guards clamped down on them whenever the ball came into their terrtiory. They permitted but two goals to pass them. Britt getting her other three pionts by the foul route.

LINEUP.

Klemme 41		Britt 7
Ridder	F	Erwin
Stille	F	Lawler
Koerner(Cap't)	C	Lee
Blank	C	Meinders
Hake	G	Mau
Tanner	G	Schaper

Summary

KLEMME— Field Goals— Ridder 18, Stile 2.

Free Throws— Ridder 1.

Personal Fouls— Ridder 1, Koerner 1, Stille 1, Blank 1, Hake 3.

Technical fouls— Ridder 1, Koerner 1

Substitutions— Schroeder for Hake.

Britt— Field Goals. Erwin 2.

Free Throws Lawler 3.

Personal fouls, Mau 2.

Referee— Christee of Belmond.

Boy's Game

Eureka! cried Archimedes, when he made a great discovery, Eureka! echo we, for we too have made a great discovery. We have found out what is the matter with our basket ball team. It needs a coach, Eureka! To no less personage than the coach of our last Friday's conquerers the wonder man of Britt, do we owe this startling information. Our boys need a coach to teach the boys the art of blocking, tripping, and holding behind the referee's back. According to the Superman of Britt, weight and experience count for nought. I'ts all in the coach and his methods. Eureka!.

Had he coached our boys we would have beat Britt! He admits it! Eureka! Had the Cedar Rapids Tigers had the advantage of his direction they no doubt would have have won the national football championship last week. Eureka! and again Eureka!.

Now we wonder why Britt only won 60 per cent of their foot ball games? Archimedes, arise from your grave and do your stuff.

In a game marked by the football tactics employed by our visitors, Klemme went down to defeat, out-

(Continued on last page)

Santa "Taking Orders"

MRS. ERNEST LENZ DIED AT HER HOME YESTERDAY

Mrs. Ernest Lenz, who has been seriously ill for the past couple of weeks, died suddenly at her home in Klemme yesterday morning (Wednesday) at five-thirty o'clock.

Mrs. Lenz seemed to be feeling much better and asked her nurse for a glass of water, which she drank. The nurse went about her duties in the sick room and turning again to her patient found that she had passed quietly away. Heart trouble and other complications were the cause of her death.

Funeral services will be held on Saturday afternoon at 1:00 o'clock at the home and at the Methodist Episcopal Church at 1:30 o'clock.

REFORMED CHURCH NOTES

The Christmas Eve program will be held Monday night beginning at sveen o'clock.

The program will consist of recitations, dialogs, and singing by the children and the church choir. The greater part of the program will be given by the children, but a number of the young people will also take part by delivering a few dialogs that should prove to be very interesting.

The Christmas story will be read and after the Pastor has made his little speech and a collection for the orphans has been taken, Santa Claus will have the floor, and its hard telling just how long his story will be.

It will not be necessary to make a strong appeal for a full house, because on Christmas Eve all churches are crowded to the last seat.

We wish to call your attention to the time set for the program and hope that you may all be there in time.

On Christmas Day the services will begin at 10:15 o'clock. For these services our appeal can not be too strong. Let it be said here that your absence from the services on Christmas Day bespeaks a lack of Spiritual life.

—The Pastor.

LEADERS OF FARM BUREAU LADIES HOLD 4th MEETING

Lesson Compares The Value Of Eggs And Meat

Lesson four, meat and eggs and milk compared was the nutrition study held at the home of Mrs. Wm. Schlawein last Friday. Thirteen of the leaders were present.

The following table gives us the fuel value per pound:

Milk—310 calories
Eggs—635 calories
Lean Beef—835 calories
Fish—915 calories
Pork—1320 calories
Chicken—765 calories

The value of milk as a food is obvious from the fact that it constitutes the natural food of all young mammalia during the period of their most rapid growth. There is some danger of over-estimating it in its value in the dietary of adults, as solid food is essential and liquid should act as a stimulant and a solvent rather than as a nutrient. One obtains the greatest benefit from milk when taken alone at regular intervals between meals, or before retiring.

Eggs also form a typical food as they contain all the elements in the right proportion, necessary for the support of the body. Their concentrated nutritive value renders it necessary to use them in connection with other foods rich in starch, such as bread, potatoes, etc.

Eggs being rich in proteid serve as a valuable substitute for meat. Proteins are necessary to supply the food for growing and forming new muscles. Some protein food ought to be included in each meal of the day. Some protein is found in the animal supplying sources are: Meat, milk, eggs, cheese and fish. While vegetables supplying proteins are bean, peas, and cereals. The mineral foods supply the other kind of building material that make the bones and teeth in the body.

The amount of meat needed by the system depends upon age, occupation, climatic conditions and condition of the system. Nutritive part of meat contains no carbohydrates, but consists of protein and fat. The meat as a protein food are more easily digested than vegetable protein foods, as the meat composition is more similar to the tissues of the human body. Different parts of meat vary in fats and water but all are just about the same as to protein value.

The next meeting of the leaders will be at the Mrs. Ben Goll home in Liberty township. All leaders please attend.

DECLAMATORY CONTEST RESULTS

TWENTY SPEAKERS COMPETE FOR HONORS

Nine Were Entered In Humorous; Three In Oratorical And Eight In The Dramatic Class

So many contestants were entered in the High School Declamatory Contest this year that it was fonud necessary to hold the contest two nights at the school auditorium.

Tuesday night those who were in the Humorous division held their contest. Of the nine contestants in this class, Glenn Busch was given first place with his selection, "In Honor of Columbus. Gertrude Johnson took second with "Six Love Letters," and Ethel Wellemeyer was awarded third honor yith her humorous selection, "The Lady Across the Aisle."

Last night (Wednesday) the other two division held their contest at the school auditorium.

In the Oratorical division in which were three contestants, first place was won by Clarence Elder, with his selection, "America First." Neota Ridder came second with "The Unknown Hero," and Stella Bock was given third place with "A Holy War."

There were eight contestants in the Dramatic class. Beatrice Busch won first place in this division with her selection "Cigarette's Ride and Death." "Lewis Rand" was the title of the second place which was spoken by Maurine Hake. Dolores Koerer gave "Elizabeth" which won for her the third place in the division.

The winner over all was not given out.

The contestants in this declamatory contest have shown wonderful developement over previous years All gave their selections in a most creditable manner, and the winners can well feel proud as they were awarded the honor of being the best of a arge number of good speakers.

The contest was well attended and those who attended were well pleased with the showing made by the students in their public speaking work.

The winners of first place in this contest will go to the district meet at Dayton, Iowa, sometime in the near future, if they so desire. There are something like two hundred different schools in this district.

METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH

A. W. Gauger, Pastor

The total number in Sunday school last Sunday surpassed our previous record and a total of 191 were in attendance—we want the mark to set up well above 200 for next Sunday, so if everybody will just make a special effort to come out we would appreciate it very much indeed.

DO NOT FORGET OUR CHRISTMAS PROGRAM will be held in the Auditorium of the school on Monday evening, December 24, beginning at 7:30 o'clock. This will be an excellent program starting with orchestra and be interspersed with choir, drills, recitations, instrumental music, pantomine, etc. Come and see the little folks perform—it is their night and let us make it a big night for them.

CAPTAIN SAZARAC

By Charles Tenney Jackson

Copyright by The Bobbs-Merrill Company

CHAPTER X—Continued.

—14—

There was an astonished silence. The men craned and stared. Johanness nodded truculently to them.

"You have heard, now! Then be warned!—and obey!"

Johanness, catching his eye, dismissed the crew. Back once more by the steersman, old Dominique sighed.

"We have a handful. But I can guess their stares. The Captain Lafitte defending the English because, forsooth, they are friendly with the Americans! It is enough to open old eyes! Half these renegades have smarted in British press-gangs, and the rest—well, sirs, it puzzles even our old fellows!"

"It well may. Lafitte's return dazzled them at first, and they were keen to be at anything for him; but now some of them are wondering where the profits lie for broken bones and wet skins."

"They glower, too, at this young gentleman of the rue Royale—for they deem him part owner of the Seraphine, and holding back the captain from any too unlawful a venture. And Jarvis, the idler, goes among them with his jests and ruffles their feelings."

Johanness, the bo'sun, had come aft, cocking an eye aloft at the sail-spread; he had heard the talk and growled:

"A good fight—that's what these hearties need—blood let from some of the youngsters, and a man or two to the sharks! Aye, and we keep on fetching yon hull above the water as we've done the past five hours and there'll be one."

"Captain Lafitte does not desire an ncounter."

"Burke and the other deserting isher say the Genaron mounts two sixes and a twelve-pounder; and w hatches, stuffed with arms, ch, it was given out, are going to Granada for Simon Bolivar's reve, well! I little think she'll The Seraphine will flay her in ur—we carry pretty bat'ries, gen- m, as ever a privateer could ! Twelve twenty-four-pound car- ades and the two long nines!"

The wind slipped to uncertain reaks near sundown, and in the last limmer of dusk the pursued and pur- uer lay limp and adrift on the warm ave of the gulf. The crew had own strangely quiet. Jarvis, lolling the quarter-rail, spat at a follow- g shark, then touched the Count de lmonaster upon the sleeve. He point- d at the fugitive ship to the south- vard.

"She must know she is pursued. She is making straight for Yucatan—he will crawl under the Spaniards' guns at some river's mouth and yell to Heaven that old days have come again in the gulf and the buccaneers are on the tail of the traffic. The crew has decided that she should be scuttled and every mouth on her closed ere she can tell that Lafitte is at sea again!"

"What nonsense! You know the purpose of this ship as well as I."

"The devil take me though if I know her end."

"Come—come!" said Raoul hurriedly. "No more of this! Affairs are getting ominous enough among us. You had best keep apart from the crew, Jarvis. You have been setting them on to fury with tales of the gold the Genaron carries. You know there is no truth to it!"

"I was fair to split my sides laughing over the murdering humor it put them in! That and the drink I got among them to start their boasting."

"The devil take you! I should report this to the captain," fumed De Almonaster. "You are a trouble-maker!"

"I must be amused," yawned Jarvis, "for in the end, I hang."

He pulled his dirty velvet cap over one ear, rubbed the unshaven pallor of his cheek, and smiled plaintively. At dinner the gentlemen found him asleep in the tapestried suite, his ragged boots upon the pillows of the bed which had been designed for Bonaparte.

CHAPTER XI

The Lady of the Genaron.

And again that night the hawk missed its prey. Even as the chiefs were conferring as to what trusted fellows should man the longboats for a surprise upon the becalmed bark, there came a stir out of the east that gave her chance to elude the Seraphine. But at once Beluche had his sailormen aloft; and with royals and staysails set the schooner lay to the course where the merchantman was last reported.

"If we cannot board before tomorrow," grumbled Nez Coupe, "there will be the question of gunning her. I smell sailors' weather coming."

"There will have to be some action. Last night some rascals plundered the steward's stores," said Bohon, now on the watch. "Dainties o' food and drink meant for the gentlemen o' New Orleans on their quest for Bonaparte have been guzzled by shrimp fishers o' the city markets!"

Indeed, the watching eyes of all the ship's officers were upon the restless spirit growing forward. It was a relief, when, after the breeze died fitfully near midnight, a hail from the lookout brought everyone out upstanding.

"There—abaft our beam! She hangs flat, and the currents are bearing us past her bow!" Bohon pointed to the starlight: "Your Genaron, my captain!"

The party on the quarterdeck was watching what only a seaman's eyes could make out against the night; when, on the silence, came the jarring burst of a gun. The flash leaped from the Seraphine's side, and by it they saw three figures retreating from the port carronade.

Then, on the hush, came a shout. Jarvis, reeling from a coil of cordage by the companion-hood, pointed to the shadowy bulk of the English ship slowly heaving on the seas. With a grinding, tearing crash, her main mast was heeling down through her shrouds. The Seraphine's crew howled.

"Silence!" thundered Lafitte.

"A hit—a marvelous shot!" chuckled Jarvis, rubbing his hands.

There came a shout from the English vessel. Men were already struggling there to cut away the pounding mast and wreckage.

"What is this villainy, sir?" a voice rasped: "Against his majesty's ship in times of peace? Who are you, sir?"

A shout broke from the Genaron's crew. "The Seraphine! The Yankee clipper! Aye, the Napoleon ship—I'd know her in a thousand!"

The English captain blustered on, as his deck officers shouted to the men to clear away the grinding rigging overside. Lafitte listened quietly, and when a pause came, he spoke.

"The Seraphine, sir—then it is. Her present object is to demand the lady who is unlawfully detained upon your

There Was a Howl of Joyful Surprise Among the Ruffians.

ship. You know the circumstances of Miss Lestron's detention. I demand that she be placed at once at our disposal."

There was an astounded silence on the bark. Then a woman's cry of joyful amazement. "The Americans!"

The skipper's voice answered: "We cannot recognize this demand, sir—whoever you are. And who is in command?"

"I demand," retorted the chief, "the person of Miss Lestron at once delivered on board this ship."

"And I refuse—"

"The affair is yours. Beluche, sir!" He turned to his silent men, who clustered along the rail. "Lay the boats along for boarding. You, Bohon, see to the gun crews!"

There was a howl of joyful surprise among the ruffians, a scattering right and left, under the yeoman's instant call, a clattering of knives and pistols. Again the commander turned calmly to the Genaron.

"You are ready for action, sir? You shall have it!"

But the merchantman was not, as was easily seen. Her crew became a disorderly pack scattering from the amidship wreckage. The captain spoke roughly to Miss Lestron.

"Carr put this affair on me! I did not want you here! That I protested against from the beginning!"

"That I well know, Captain Richards. I also know why I was seized and delivered to you for deportation, which is more than you!"

"I know not who these people are who demand you from one of his majesty's ships. But I clear my hands of it until reparation is demanded in the courts—Carr and his intrigues and all! We cannot fight fivescore scoundrels boarding us. Madame, the choice is yours!"

"I take it." Her voice came clear, and proudly.

"Remember you are committing yourself to unknown adventurers—God knows, perhaps, the buccaneers who harried these waters not twenty years agone!"

There was a hoarse laugh among the Seraphine's fellows, which the chief stilled. The woman's calm voice answered the other's heat.

"I go willingly. I have not been more than a prisoner here."

"A boat," muttered Lafitte, swiftly turning. "Pull away, and have a care under the quarter when the lady comes alongside."

"Aye, sir!"

The Seraphine rode slowly on past the bark in the easy seas. Lafitte turned to De Almonaster when the yawl swung from the Genaron's side.

"I have a mind that you represent me, sir. I prefer to meet her in the cabin. First comes this matter of that cannon shot."

"The lady comes," grunted the alderman; "make way there!"

"First—ere she puts foot on the deck—who fired that shot?" The commander motioned to the bo'sun. "Johanness! Fetch Burke and John Crackley! Those two, at least, were recognized."

The under-officers hustled the two malcontents out of the disorder along the waist. Crackley, the Englishman, swaggered with a confident leer.

"You fired that gun, sir?"

"I fired no gun."

"Burke!"

"Neither did I, sir. And a d—d good shot it be, I say!"

"Silence!" The captain looked over the press of evil faces. And from the rear a hoarse voice chuckled:

"'E was no gunner, that I'll say. Nothin' 'e knew but point and pull lanyard when someone give the word the Britisher was swingin' fair point-blank in the gun's eye!"

"Jarvis," whispered Beluche. "I had a mind o' Jarvis—"

At his name the buffoon arose with airy unsteadiness. The crew made way for him until he stood below the poop steps looking up against the lights. His blinking eye found the Count de Almonaster, and to him he bowed, alone, apparently.

"Monsieur, I have won a pistol. I have a mind to borrow of you powder and ball—to find a tutor who will instruct me which end is which."

The commander drew his breath sharply. "Jarvis? You fired that gun?"

The boat's crew was making fast, the bow men climbing the short ladder. They stood back respectfully to make way for her. The silence grew painfully acute. The cloaked figure of a woman was assisted to the rail and past the guards. She looked about puzzledly, as if not seeing clearly who first would address her.

"The man—Jarvis—below, to the brig, Bohon!" The master spoke low, swiftly and with a mask of indifference that had concealed his pain.

His guards threw Jarvis past the crowding ruffians and hurried him forward. And the lady who looked back at him from her coach on the Esplanade now did not see him at all! She had gone swiftly to the after-companion, with its gilded panels and royal carpet leading to the cabin of the emperor.

At the companionway the bronzed lamp showed the captain's face. De Almonaster started at the grief, the stern, pent sadness of the leader.

"Jarvis," he muttered: "My friend—Jarvis—"

"Why this fool's mutinous play!" blustered old Dominique.

"It was so that you could never return to the ports of the world," put in Raoul de Almonaster. "An act of piracy—an overt act of war by a ship that flies no flag, against the power of England. He condemns you to a part he would play himself and cannot—Sazarac, the last sea-rover . . . and the lover, Jean!" And the count added hurriedly: "Go, now. You have my pledge to aid in this affair. On my honor, Monsieur—you shall be none but Sazarac."

CHAPTER XII

The Parting of the Paths.

De Almonaster stepped aside as the two came to the brocade portieres that hung at the portal of Napoleon's cabin. The other man, therefore, had stepped within, and the brilliance of the polished lamp cluster with its crystal reflectors was full upon him.

"Sazarac!" the lady cried sharply. "Sazarac—the river gamester!"

"Playing high again, Mademoiselle Lestron—to serve you!"

The lustrous blackness of her eyes was narrowing. She threw the cloak higher with one arm before her chin, as if, in fear or some curious revulsion, to shut the thought of him away. And then she dropped this and stood facing him.

"Monsieur Sazarac," she repeated quietly. "This is a strange affair! How can it be? You—why should you take me from the ship of my country?"

"Why did you come?" he retorted, and his somber smile lightened. "The choice was yours, Mademoiselle—even at the last."

There came a shout from the waist of the ship. A rolling boast, followed by discordant choruses of laughter.

"With one shot I lay a ship to, helpless on the sea! Oh, bullies! One shot—my first shot! I—Jarvis! Why didn't I play the part of Lafitte long years ago?"

The muffled cry was drowned in imprecations and more fo'cas'le laughter. Mademoiselle Lestron gave Monsieur Sazarac a swift measuring glance.

"I assure you—a rough jest of my rough crew, Mademoiselle."

She shivered slightly. "Lafitte? I recall, when a child, that his men plundered my father's home at La Casa Montana in the Grenadines—"

"He has long vanished from these peaceful seas, Mademoiselle."

There came a stir at the threshold of the emperor's cabin. She turned to another figure there. A slighter man, but tall. His dark, slender, youthful face was lit by an unbelieving hope. The Count de Almonaster stepped nearer.

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

Calendar Curiosities.

The calendar offers certain curiosities which are little known. No century can begin on a Wednesday, Friday or Saturday. The month of October begins always on the same day of the week as the month of January; February, March and November begin on the same day of the week. May, June and August begin on different days. These rules do not apply to leap years. The ordinary year always finishes on the same day of the week as it began.

Whom have you forgotten?

It is not too late to send them

Waterman's Ideal Fountain Pen

"The Daddy of Them All"

FORTY years ago its reliability and greater convenience began teaching handwriters the world over the fountain pen habit.

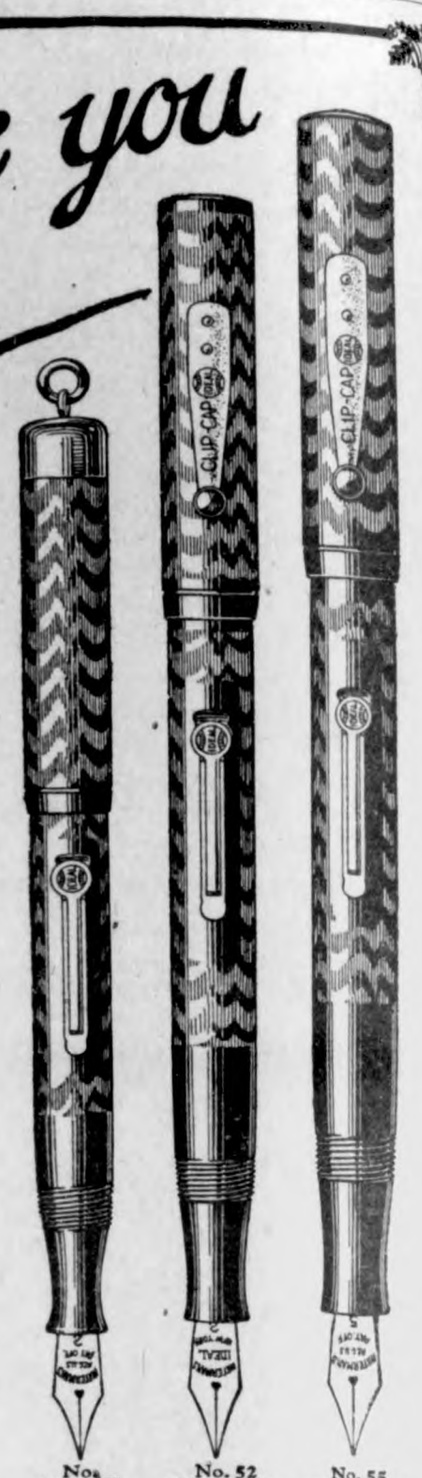
Today the constant need for Waterman's Ideal by every man, woman and child makes it the most useful and most wanted present that money will buy.

Waterman dealers everywhere are ready to aid you in making an appropriate selection.

$2.50 to $50.00

Easy to buy — Easy to send

L. E. Waterman Company
191 Broadway, New York
Chicago Boston San Francisco Montreal



No. 0952½V $4.00
No. 52 with Clip Cap $2.75
No. 55 with Clip Cap $5.25

RX 52 Matched Combination Pen & Pencil $3.75

A Double Killing.

Higgs—Now Dora is what I would call an efficient girl. When she got married she killed two birds with one stone.

Biggs—So everybody was satisfied, eh?

Higgs—Not exactly. The man she jilted shot himself out of disappointment and the man she married committed suicide when he received the first month's bills.

COFFEE ARRIVES BY WATER

Chicago.—The arrival recently of a cargo of coffee at the Clark street dock of Reid, Murdoch & Co., marked the first of such shipments coming to Chicago by water from the South American coffee plantations.

The firm purchased the coffee in Colombia, transported it by mule to Girardot and thence entirely by water from this point in the interior of South America to the heart of North America where it was unloaded at the docks of the company in Chicago. This marks a distinct advance over the former methods of transporting coffee and has affected a material saving in cost.

In the future practically all coffee will be shipped to Chicago by water from Colombia, said John MacMahon, vice president of the company.

Knew What Was Good for Them.

Mrs. Reilly—What makes these sardines so high?

Grocer—They're imported, ma'am.

Mrs. Reilly—I'll take the domestic ones—those that had the brains to swim across to this country.

"DANDELION BUTTER COLOR"

A harmless vegetable butter color used by millions for 50 years. Drug stores and general stores sell bottles of "Dandelion" for 35 cents.—Adv.

Keeping to the Point.

Porter—This train goes to Buffalo and points east.

Old Lady—Well, I want a train that gets to Syracuse and I don't care which way it points.

Cuticura for Pimply Faces.

To remove pimples and blackheads smear them with Cuticura Ointment. Wash off in five minutes with Cuticura Soap and hot water. Once clear keep your skin clear by using them for daily toilet purposes. Don't fail to include Cuticura Talcum.—Advertisement.

Invention Aids Housewife.

The twisting and consequent breaking of wires attached to electric appliances such as flatirons, toasters, heaters, etc., is a common annoyance. To remedy this, an inventor has produced a rotating attachment plug, of which the center portion turns freely when the wires are twisted.

Contains Part of Famous Bell.

The bell in the Congregational church at Wiscasset, Me., contains 15 pounds of metal from a bell cast by Paul Revere, which once hung in the church tower. The original church was burned in 1907 and the Revere bell was destroyed in the fire.

A Universal Remedy for Pain.

For over 70 years Allcock's Plaster has been a standard external remedy, sold in all parts of the civilized world.—Adv.

If being photographed grows monotonous, why couldn't one try a set of false whiskers?

A Hard-Worked Man.

Jud Tunkins says one of the hardest-worked men he knows of is one who good-naturedly got the reputation of always being the life of the party.

Always Keep a Box on Hand.

Brandreth Pills are a safe and reliable laxative, made in America for ninety years, entirely vegetable.—Adv.

It is so much easier to be a critic than it is to draw a salary for being one.

Marriage isn't a failure unless the parties to the contract are.

Say BAYER ASPIRIN

Demand Genuine BAYER ASPIRIN—Insist

Unless you see the "Bayer Cross" on tablets you are not getting the genuine Bayer Aspirin proved safe by millions and prescribed by physicians 23 years for

Colds Headache Neuralgia Lumbago
Pain Toothache Neuritis Rheumatism

Genuine Accept only "Bayer" package which contains proven directions.

Handy "Bayer" boxes of 12 tablets
Also bottles of 24 and 100—Druggists.

WARNING: Genuine "Bayer Aspirin" is never sold in candy stores, bars or cafes. Go to Drugstore.

Aspirin is the trade mark of Bayer Manufacture of Monoaceticacidester of Salicylicacid

CONSTIPATION

Take a good dose of Carter's Little Liver Pills—then take 2 or 3 for a few nights after. They cleanse your system of all waste matter and Regulate Your Bowels. Mild—as easy to take as sugar. Genuine bear signature— Brent Good

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS

Small Pill. Small Dose. Small Price.

Hawkeye .. State News

Interesting Items Gathered From all Parts of Iowa

Rose McIntosh, owner of forty-eight acres condemned for a state park near Clear Lake, will appeal from a $30,000 valuation, demanding $40,000.

Iowa's 27th county warehousing board to receive official recognition of the State Board of Agriculture has been approved. The new board will be in Carroll county.

Iowa ranks seventeenth in the union in taxable valuation per mile of primary road system, according to a compilation of figures by the Association of Highway Officials.

The Poultry Show of Iowa, which will be held in Des Moines, Dec. 31 to Jan 1, will include 17 national and state poultry club shows, according to George S. Phillips, secretary of the show.

The Lincoln Highway across Iowa is in good general condition according to the latest data provided by the consuls of the association. Although transcontinental touring has practically ended, traffic on the cross state highway is still quite heavy.

The Fairfield campaign for $100,000 for Parsons college in ten days, closed with total $146,360. This is the Iowa Presbyterian education movement to provide $2,000,000 for Parsons, Coe and Buena Vista colleges and student work at state colleges.

The Iowa Outdoor Sportsmen, following their game dinner in Des Moines played good Samaritan by turning over to the Salvation Army, for distribution among the city's poor, 110 rabbits left over from the big feed. One hundred and fifty hunters and their friends dined at tables laden with rabbit, squirrel, possum and coon.

Some coal dealers in Iowa are said to be facing prosecution at the hands of the state department of agriculture following an investigation for alleged swindling activities in the sale of coal to Iowa consumers. The penalty under state law for selling coal that does not measure full weight is fine of $5 to $100 for each offense or 30 days in jail.

The Historical Department of Iowa has been presented with a cow-bell which belonged to Thomas J. Saylor of Des Moines. Mr. Saylor stated that he followed a herd of cattle, the leader of which wore the bell, from Indianapolis, Ind., to Fort Des Moines, where his father, John Saylor had the contract to furnish beef and hay to the Dragoons in 1844.

For two hours the other evening parents of Vinton youngsters attended school. All teachers from kindergarten to high school were at their post to receive the fathers and mothers and the regular school program was carried out. The idea was originated as a means of interesting the parents in school work and bringing about a closer relationship between classroom and home.

A call has been sent to Santa Claus from the Children's hospital at the University of Iowa—and—well, it looks like it was up to good folks of Iowa to reply with holiday gifts. If they don't—but of course they will—but if they don't there are going to be many sick kiddies who are going to be bitterly disappointed. So Mr. and Mrs. Goodfellow, you are afforded another opportunity to do good.

More pupils, better buildings and equipment, better qualified teachers and depreciation of the dollars value are making Iowa schools cost more than formerly. However the cost of education per pupil in average daily attendance increased only 67.5 per cent from 1913 to 1920 while the cost of living rose 100 per cent during that time, according to figures of the state department of education.

Mrs. John Heasley of Lamoni has made $1,000 from five Jersey cows in the past year, according to her record. She made 1,620 pounds of butter, which brought $729. Then she fed the warm separated milk to the hogs and the buttermilk to the chickens which helped produce porkers and eggs and easily brought the figures up to $1,000. The cows were fed on ground oats with a small quantity of ground corn.

The state of Iowa collected $56,549.24 from cigaret taxes during the month of November according to figures given out by C. C. McCoy of the state treasurers office. This makes a total of $312,587.48 for the past five months of this year and the total for the year will probably reach over $700,000. Each year the amount collected has grown since 1921 when the tax started. The average gain for the last three years has been about $100,000 a year.

J. A. Brown of Waterloo has a farm near LaPorte City that is bringing good returns. A ten-acre asparagus bed yielded $3,600 last year. The bulk of the crop was sold in Waterloo and Duluth, Minn.

That Iowa could produce fourteen per cent of the fruit now used in the state coming from outside sources, and in like manner 7 per cent more of the potatoes, 8 per cent of other vegetables and 5 per cent of the cereals was brought out by W. P. Dawson of Aurelia, president of the Iowa State Horticultural society in an address at Des Moines.

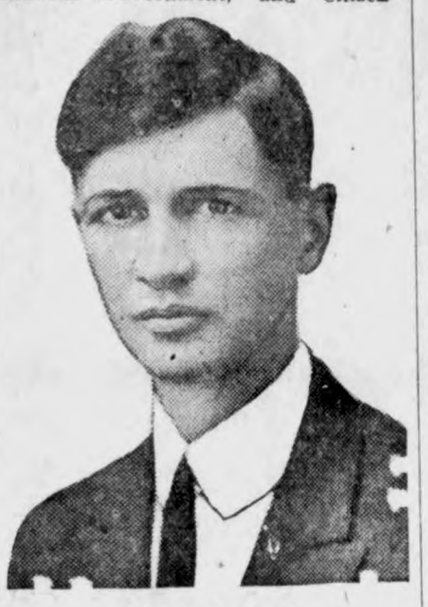
NEW BOOK ON CITIZENSHIP

Member of Legion Commission of Minnesota Is Author of Valuable Work for Instructors.

A valuable work for the instructor of Americanization classes has recently been published in a book "Citizenship for New Americans." The author of this text is William E. Scott of St. Paul, Minn., an ex-service man and member of the Americanism commission of the American Legion, department of Minnesota.

The book is a comprehensive exposition of the government, history and progress of the United States, containing information of value not alone to the alien or recently naturalized but to any person who wishes to clear up confusion on points of national information.

The text is divided into four parts. "Our Country, History and Progress"; "Government, Local and State"; "Our National Government," and "Citizenship." Included in the first section is a chapter on flag etiquette. An appendix sets forth tables of the states and outlying possessions, the words of "The Star-Spangled Banner," the Declaration of Independence," naturalization papers, foreign sovereignties and their rulers.



William E. Scott.

Mr. Scott decided to write the book while teaching in the night schools of South St. Paul, when he was unable to find a text suitable for foreigners preparing themselves for citizenship. It is the first of a number of Americanization publications which he expects to publish.

Mr. Scott at one time was principal of the South St. Paul high school. He is a graduate of Macalester college. He majored in economics at the University of Minnesota. He served overseas with the Eight Hundred and Fourth Pioneer infantry.

TIME LIMIT FOR ALL ALIENS

Foreigners Who Served With Americans Have Until March, 1924, to Save Naturalization Fee.

Aliens who served in the American army during the World war have only until March 2, 1924, to avail themselves of the law providing that alien soldiers may become naturalized without any fee and under much easier regulations than usually required. The act of congress, setting forth the conditions to which such aliens are subject, is as follows:

"Any person of foreign birth who served in the military or naval forces of the United States during the present war, after final examination and acceptance by the said military or naval authorities, and shall have become honorably discharged after such acceptance and service, shall have the benefits of the seventh subdivision of section four of the act of June 29, 1906, thirty-four Statutes at Large, part 1, page 596, as amended, and shall not be required to pay any fee therefor; and this provision shall continue for the period of one year after all of the American troops are returned to the United States."

As the last American troops were returned to the United States March 3, 1923, the last day for aliens to take advantage of the act of congress is March 2, 1924.

HOW LEGION AIDS NEEDY MEN

Prompt Help Given Those in Distress —Arkansas Post's Act Is Good Example.

A typical example of the charity work being done by Legion posts everywhere for luckless ex-service men is found in a recent bit of work done by the Herbt. B. Martin post of Warren, Ark. Recently the post was informed of a buddy in distress and immediately started an investigation of the case. It was discovered the unfortunate ex-service man, formerly a member of the Three Hundred and Twelfth supply train, had been discharged, while suffering from tuberculosis of the bones, and this, without proper attention, had developed into insanity. Within half an hour after learning of the case a representative of the post wired the United States Veterans' bureau at Little Rock and they forwarded him transportation for the man and an attendant to accompany him to Little Rock, to receive medical attention and hospitalization.

Better Times.

Plug—Times have changed.

Lug—They certainly have. You used to see dogs running wild with tin cans tied to their tails, and now you see them riding in them with their noses up in the air.—American Legion Weekly.

Are You Moving to California?

We Save You 25% on Freight Household Goods—Autos

Through car service. No transfers. Shorter time in transit. Write

BLUE LINE STORAGE CO.

3rd & Elm, Des Moines, Iowa

KEMP'S BALSAM

Seeks New Uses for Silver.

Secretary of the Interior Work of Washington has ordered a survey to determine how silver may be used in new phases of commerce and industry. The survey will be undertaken by the bureau of mines, because of the decrease in demand for silver for monetary purposes. The expiration of the Pittman act, Secretary Work declared, had left silver producers facing the necessity of a new market.

"CASCARETS" FOR LIVER AND BOWELS—10c A BOX

Cures Biliousness, Constipation, Sick Headache, Indigestion. Drug stores. Adv.

All good actors and actresses are superior judges of human nature. They can portray it.

One isn't necessarily a brick because he is made of clay.

SUBSTITUTE FOR TUNGSTEN

Zirconium May Be Used in Making Filaments for Incandescent Electric Globes.

One of the dazzling foundations of the city of the New Jerusalem as visioned by St. John on the Isle of Patmos was made of a compound of the element, zirconium. Another compound of the same element may be used to light the bungalows of the future.

As jacinth, zirconium was prized by oriental potentates as a gem. In its metallic form it may be employed by Americans to read newspapers on winter evenings.

Dr. Francis P. Venable of North Carolina university says that, although zirconium is an unfamiliar element, it is really widely distributed, and he suggests that its properties favor its use as a substitute for tungsten in incandescent electric light filaments. Before that is done, however, the chemist will have to learn how to remove the impurities from the metal more readily.—Kansas City Star.

Rocks Resemble Sponges.

The sponge rocks of Montana have attracted the attention of tourists and scientists by reason of the remarkable tracery and porosity of their formation. They appear like vast pieces of pumice stone intricately carved by nature into innumerable cells, webs and cavelets. Some of the pieces are almost threadlike. The rocks are stated by geologists to be carboniferous sandstone. The sponge-like formation is of course due to both water and wind erosion, the softer particles of the roc having been washed down or blown away, leaving the harder portions standing.

Want.

Wants awaken intellect. To gratify them disciplines intellect. The keener the want the lustier the growth.—Wendell Phillips.

Airy About It.

"Your bill has been running now for nearly a year." "Looks like one of those nonstop affairs, eh?"

For a light, sweet dough set your sponge tonight with Yeast Foam

"Good bread is the pride of the thrifty bride"

The wife who is a good bread maker is a real helpmate for the bread winner.

Send for free booklet "The Art of Baking Bread"

Northwestern Yeast Co.
1730 North Ashland Ave.
Chicago, Ill.

Two pleasant ways to relieve a cough

Take your choice and suit your taste. S-B—or Menthol flavor. A sure relief for coughs, colds and hoarseness. Put one in your mouth at bedtime. Always keep a box on hand.

SMITH BROTHERS

S.B. COUGH DROPS MENTHOL (orange colored box)

Famous since 1847

The Better Way.

It would be a pleasanter world if instead of blaming people for failing we'd give them credit for having tried.

Men, long ago, recognized genius was scarce, in coining the phrase "the average man."

Barely Worth Saving.

Miss Plainmug—I suspected that Mr. Lightfoot was getting ready to leave town so I broke off our engagement to save my face.

Miss Tarte—I can hardly blame you when I remember it's the only face you have.

$10000.00 in Gold given away

Trace the course of Colombian Coffee from the headwaters of river navigation to the MONARCH Roasting Plant at Chicago and

WIN A BIG CASH PRIZE

Students! Here is a chance to demonstrate your knowledge of Geography.

Parents! An interesting problem for your spare moments—an opportunity to test the children's school training.

Teachers! A way to make geography interesting to every child, as well as an opportunity to turn your own knowledge to good account.

MONARCH COFFEE is a blend—all super-fine, hand picked coffees—part of which comes from the mountain plantations of Colombia. Mule trains carry the coffee down the mountains to Honda, Girardot, Puerto Berrio, Puerto Wilches and other towns on the head waters of river navigation. From that point it is brought to Chicago all the way by water. This economical transportation is reflected in the low price you pay for MONARCH COFFEE. Can you trace the course of this coffee starting from the head of river navigation in Colombia?

Easy to Win

Consult a map of North and South America and work out your solution of this all-the-way-by-water route. Then (1) name the South American river that carries the coffee down to the seaport. (2) Name this port. (3) Name the sea and ocean the coffee travels on its way to the United States. (4) Name the port of entry to the United States, where the coffee is transferred from ocean steamship to canal boat. (5) Name the rivers, canals and lakes covered between the United States port of entry and the steamship docks of the Monarch Coffee Roasting Plant at Chicago. (6) Give the location of the first canal lock after leaving salt water, and the last lock before reaching the Great Lakes. (7) State the direction of flow of all rivers and (8) the approximate number of miles travelled on each body of water.

Big Prizes for Best Answers

For the best letters of not more than 300 words describing this all-water-route, $1,000.00 in Gold and 500 additional prizes will be awarded. Draw a map to illustrate your letter if you want to, but this is not compulsory.

Open to Everybody

This contest is open to everyone—men and women, boys and girls, with the exception of employes of Reid, Murdoch & Co. and relatives of such employes.

Contest Closes February 1, 1924

Mail your letter to the Monarch Contest Editor, Reid, Murdoch & Co., P. O. Drawer R. M., Chicago, Illinois, on or before February 1st, 1924. Prizes will be awarded and announcement of prize winners made in this publication as soon as possible after the contest closes.

The Contest Judges

James A. Losty, Ph. D., Professor Foreign Trade, College of Commerce, De Paul University.
Arthur Nethercot, Ph. D., Department of English, Northwestern University.
Lewis Carlyle Sorrell, A. B., Professor Transportation, School of Commerce and Administration, University of Chicago.

The decision of the judges will be final.

Start Now!

This prize contest announcement will not appear again, so don't lose or destroy this page. Write your letter and mail it to the Monarch Contest Editor, Reid, Murdoch & Co., P. O. Drawer R. M., Chicago, Illinois. Win one of the big gold prizes!

List of Prizes

First Prize	$300.00
Second Prize	200.00
Third Prize	100.00
Fourth Prize	50.00
Fifth Prize	25.00
Five prizes, each	10.00
55 prizes, each	5.00

300 prize packages containing 1 package each Monarch Coffee, Monarch Tea, and Monarch Cocoa.

200 prizes of a 3 lb. package of Monarch Coffee.

Free Booklet "Coffee Blossoms" to all contestants.

Read Rules Carefully

1. This contest is open to everyone with the exception of employes of Reid, Murdoch & Co., and relatives of such employes.
2. Write on one side of the paper only. Put your name and address at the top of each page.
3. Your letter must not be more than 300 words in length.
4. The letters of students may be countersigned by teacher. (Not compulsory, however.)
5. Mail your letter on or before February 1, 1924, to Monarch Contest Editor, Reid, Murdoch & Co., P. O. Drawer R. M., Chicago, Illinois.

America's Favorite Christmas Coffee

On its way to millions of Homes!

NOTE: This pictorial map is to help you visualize the "all the way by water" route from the Plantation to the Monarch Coffee Roasting Plants at Chicago. Additional copies of this announcement will be mailed free upon request.

MONARCH
America's Favorite QUALITY
for 70 years

For 70 years Monarch Brand has been the choice in homes where highest quality is demanded. It is sold only by Regular Retail Grocers. Our Monarch Coffee comes in sanitary 1 and 3 pound containers under 4 seals—never in bulk. To be sure of getting genuine Monarch Coffee, always look for the Monarch Trade-Mark and the name, Reid, Murdoch & Co. on every package.

Unloading Coffee at Reid, Murdoch & Co.'s docks at Chicago.

TO GROCERS: If Reid, Murdoch & Co's salesmen do not reach you, write us for copy of "Independent Grocer" and details of Special Holiday Prices on Monarch Coffee. You can order three cases or more by mail and get every concession received by car load buyer. There is only one quality—the highest; one price—the lowest. See full page ads Saturday Evening Post, December 8 and 22, full pages color, Ladies' Home Journal, January, February and March, 1924.

Our Christmas Days as They Used to Be

SOMETIMES it seems as if the "elder days" were the best. Think of their Christmases! Where is the grace and generosity of those times? The warm welcome, the large cordiality, the mellow fun of innocent celebrations?

Perhaps we look back through the softening glow of distance, but there is a romance, a delicate, fine flavor of something which indeed seems lost to us now.

How the neighbors rode through the snow on horseback to large gatherings! How the pretty girls were muffled in rugs and furs, skimming over the road in sleighs! How the bells rippled and rang! And how the wide doors flew open to greet these guests!

Light of candles . . . breath of pine wreaths . . . sprigs of holly . . . and the high thrill of holiday thoughts.

Laughing faces . . . graceful and the Virginia reel in the evening.

It is a heartsome thing to think about. Let us try to insert some of this gentle beauty and spirit into our Christmas day. We have not the leisure and spaciousness of those times, but hearts can reflect just as truly the invisible yet invincible power of love and loveliness!—Martha B. Thomas.

(©, 1923, Western Newspaper Union.)

Old Yuletide Hymn Favorite Everywhere

THERE is scarcely a church of any denomination that does not some time during the Christmas season echo to the strains of that beautiful and soul-inspiring hymn, "O, come all ye faithful." It seems to be a favorite at Yuletide in every land and in every clime, whether it is sung as above referred to, or in its original form as the "Adeste Fidelis."

The hymn was first given to the world in the Thirteenth century by a Franciscan monk, but did not gain world-wide popularity for a long time after. The English translation was made by Canon Frederick Oakley over [illegible] years ago. Since that time the [illegible] has been translated into the [illegible] of every nation and the [illegible] and lofty words ring out at [illegible]mas time in many remote places. [illegible] while the English translation [illegible] superseded the original Latin to a great extent, yet the beauty of the original composition is such that there are many who still prefer to hear it even though the language is not their own.—Katherine Edelman.

(©, 1923, Western Newspaper Union.)

Receiving Christmas Gifts Is a Fine Art

OF COURSE, every gift given means also a gift received. Christmas always has two sides, and certainly there is great joy in receiving the tokens of love and friendship that come to us, not because of their money value, for most gifts are bought for small sums, but because they convey to us an expression of someone's affection. I heard a young girl remark when a little gift came to her, "Well, that didn't break anyone's bank." What a pity. As if Christmas could have in it great joy for anyone who looked for the price tag on a gift. Our character is likely to be revealed by the spirit of our receiving quite as well as by the spirit of our giving. It is this fine art of receiving well that will not only make Christmas the more joyous, but will also be an all-year virtue, if it is cultivated in our hearts.—F. H. Sweet.

(©, 1923, Western Newspaper Union.)

LIKE MANY OTHERS

"She says her husband attends church regularly."

"Yes, he goes with her to the Christmas service every year."

SAFETY FIRST

The Christmas shoppers hesitated at the crowded street crossing. To try it out over seemed like an attempt to [illegible] fate. Automobiles dashed by in a continuous procession. The tall policeman, however, convoyed a group across like a battleship leading a flock of schooners. But one old lady lingered, afraid to launch away, until courage came with the policeman's assurance: "Come right along, ma'm, you're just as safe with me as if you was in God's pocket!"—C. G. Hazard.

(©, 1923, Western Newspaper Union.)

Put Christmas Wreath in Its Rightful Place

THEY were putting up the Christmas tree in the village community house with happy anticipations. Meanwhile two little folks and a dog were enjoying themselves on a big ice cake along the bay shore. As the ice moved off with the tide the children laughed with delight, but Pluto, after dropping his tail and thinking a moment, surprised them by giving a running leap into the water and striking out for the shore.

Not long after, Sim Gannett opened the door of his boat house to see what the dog was barking about and was greeted with a shower as Pluto shook himself. Then the dog ran in, stood upon his hing legs and begged, cocking his eyes towards the open door. As Sim did not understand this Pluto caught hold of his coat and pulled him towards the doorway. Thinking that the dog meant something, Sim, finally looked out and saw the ice floating seaward with the two small figures upon it.

It did not take the old fisherman long to get his boat down to the water and push it out through the floating ice, and soon two youngsters and a happy dog were huddled up in the bow of the returning boat.

After the carols were sung that night, they put the holly wreath that had graced the top of the tree upon Sim Gannett's neck, but Sim took it off and put it upon Pluto and he acted as though he knew that he deserved it.—Christopher G. Hazard.

(©, 1923, Western Newspaper Union.)

Gay Christmas Thrill the Greatest of All

THE love in our hearts toward our fellow men; the happy, expectant, gay eagerness of children and their joyous, merry voices; the pure, white, soft beauty of snow; the deeply refreshing aroma of the forests which for a brief period we bring into our homes; the cheer of the home fireplace; the bringing together of all members of the family; the gaiety and the enthusiasm of Christmas shoppers; the stores, decorated and looking their best in holiday attire; the cordial, heartfelt greetings which are extended to us and which we extend to others; the renewing of old-time friendships by the sending of a bright Christmas card; the generosity in our souls toward all; the carols which ring out the Christmas spirit of ardent worship; the bright, significant stars twinkling down from the heavens above; the simplicity and the beauty of the Christmas season; all form a part of the great Christmas thrill. There is no thrill in the world like unto it!—Mary Graham Bonner.

(©, 1923, Western Newspaper Union.)

NOT WHAT HE EXPECTED

LITTLE DICK was too young to spell—he went entirely by sound. Consequently he suffered a great disappointmnt on Christmas morning. When he beheld his Christmas tree he said solemnly: "You said it would be a fur tree, daddy!"

"It is a fir tree," answered his father.

"But I thought it was going to look like my kitty!" wailed Dick.—Martha B. Thomas.

(©, 1923, Western Newspaper Union.)

A Late "It" Arrival Came Just in Time

EVERYONE was watching, waiting, hoping. They all hoped "it" would surely arrive on time.

They hoped "it" would not fail them.

"It" helped the Christmas season so much.

Everyone and everything loved "it."

The children loved "it," the grown-ups loved "it."

The trees of the forest loved "it."

And then "it" arrived. "It" arrived late—almost when everyone was giving "it" up. But even though "it" was a late arrival "it" was not too late for Christmas day. "It" came late Christmas eve.

And haven't you guessed what "it" was?

SNOW of course!—Mary Graham Bonner.

(©, 1923, Western Newspaper Union.)

THE HOLIDAY SPIRIT

Christmas spirit necessarily finds many men and women stranded on the shoal, off somewhere, far from the general happiness.

Nevertheless, words of Chandos are vital. "The faculty for happiness is a gift, in any temperament, whose wisdom and whose beauty this world too little recognizes." Chandos' thought is not easy for a certain type of mortal to cultivate, but the holiday spirit may to an extent help out. Self-recognition was soundly urged by Marcus Aurelius many centuries ago, and writings of other Stoics preach tranquillity and harmony through the philosophy that says, "It may all be for the best."

A shipwrecked sailor, buried on this coast,
Bids you set sail!
Full many a gallant barque, where he was lost,
Weathered the gale.

Christmas March Was Played by Minister

THE minister had hung up his stocking, too. The sprites that put into it a candy cane, a lollipop, a ball, an apple and a motor car that would go, had added a mouth organ, most appropriate and perhaps most needed of all gifts, for what other mouth should so dispense harmony?

Then, after breakfast, came the procession into the parlor and unto the wonderful tree. First, little Sarah, with the early and aided steps of her one year and the big eyes of her first Christmas tree. Then demure Helen, blowing her own horn for once, then big Sarah and all the uncles, aunts and cousins, then father and mother, and then the minister, playing his new march upon his new organ.

When they were all seated in the happy circle they asked for the words of that new tune and here they are:

If birds could sing in Christmas trees,
If they could hum with happy bees,
If they were sweet with all the spice
Of all things beautiful and nice.
They could not altogether be
More full of love than this, our tree.
Chorus.—March, march to the Christmas tree,
It has a loving gift for thee.

Then they all sang it, after which the beautiful tree yielded its fruit. —Christopher G. Hazard.

(©, 1923, Western Newspaper Union.)

Christmas Telegrams Add Yuletide Cheer

HE WAS always busy, always rushing, always hurrying. He always had so many things to attend to and so many people were constantly pressing it upon his time with this demand, with that, which required attention.

He wished he could see more of his friends. His frieds wished they could see more of him. He was the sort they would like to see more of and at times they were a little annoyed that he was so busy.

He was busier than was really normal. They said he had no time for the pleasant things of life and that he could neither enjoy things himself nor could he be enjoyed because he was always having so much to do.

But he took time for one thing. He never failed to take time for it.

Every Christmas he sent all his friends beautiful Christmas telegrams of cheer. He thought of them and he remembered them and every Christmas morning as his friends opened their gay Christmas telegrams they would say:

"He always finds time to think of me on Christmas morning, anway! What a pleasure this is!"—Mary Graham Bonner.

(©, 1923, Western Newspaper Union.)

REAL SPIRIT

IF THE real spirit of Christmas is within us we will, indeed, find that it is more blessed to give than to receive, and we will give out of the fullness of our hearts and because of the joy that giving brings us, instead of from any other motive. So to get the real joy of giving and to receive the richness of the Christmas spirit in fullest measure, give because your heart prompts you to and forget all else.—Katherine Edelman.

(©, 1923, Western Newspaper Union.)

"It Is More Blessed to Give Than Receive"

THIS has nothing to do with banks or savings accounts; but more money is saved at Christmas time than any other time of the year. Yes, saved. That may sound absurd to a lot of people who have spent all their money buying presents for their families and friends and neighbors, but it is true just the same. How? Why, because giving is the finest sort of saving, and not only saving, but investing. Every good gift is a permanent gain to the giver; it is better than a bank book carrying the same amount, for a gift is more truly a saving than credit account on a bank ledger. If you want to save your money, give it away—wisely. Does that sound unreasonable? Remember, it is more blessed to give than receive.—F. H. Sweet.

(©, 1923, Western Newspaper Union.)

AUNT MEHITABLE'S PRESENT

Aunt Mehitable had a powerful and active imagination that often kept her awake. She was ever creating difficulties by imagining them and making things crooked by trying to straighten them out. "Hiram," said she, "I can't think what has got into George; I didn't like the way he looked at us this morning."

"Probably he was thinking of somebody else," answered her brother

"George," began his aunt the next day, "what was the matter with you yesterday morning, you looked sourer 'n pickles."

"Nothin' was the matter with me," said the boy, "I was puzzlin' over your Christmas present." Then he added, "Since you're so mighty suspicious, I guess I'll give it up." But remembering her goodness of heart, George relented, and, when the day that shines away all unpleasantness came round, Aunt Mehitable had a new nightcap! —C. G. Hazard.

(©, 1923, Western Newspaper Union.)

The Best Book To Give For Christmas Is A Bank Book

What better Gift can you think of than a BANK BOOK for your Boy or Girl?

Give your Boy or Girl an account at this Bank that will keep growing in value as he grows. And with the Book you give your Boy or Girl you also give them another inestimable gift——the impulse to be thrifty, industrious, and prudent.

It will help you to build the Boy or Girl right, and it will teach them the value of time, and fortify them for a sound business career.

Let us supply you with the gift.

The "gift" earns interest at 5 per cent.

State Savings Bank

Klemme Iowa

Butter--And A Merry Xmas

Your Christmas Spread Is Not Complete Without--

The Butter That Betters The Bread

Made in the most sanitary manner from the purest of Cream right off from the surrounding farms.

Make a tip to the Klemme Co-Operative Creamery where your Butter is made and see the wholesome conditions under which it becomes the Golden Brick without which your Christmas Meal is incomplete.

Let your joyfullness of this Yuletide take the form of boosting for the betterment of your Home Co-Operative Creamery. It will pay big returns, and as time goes by, give you more and more reason to be glad for having a well organized Co-Operative Creamery in your Community.

We Wish You and Yours a Most Merry Christmas

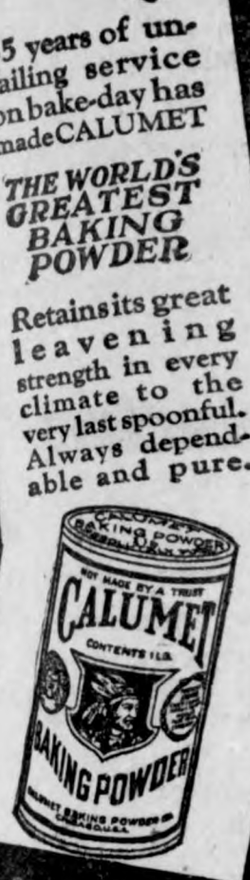
Klemme Co-Operative Creamery Co.

CALUMET
Economy BAKING POWDER

35 years of unfailing service on bake-day has made CALUMET

THE WORLD'S GREATEST BAKING POWDER

Retains its great leavening strength in every climate to the very last spoonful. Always dependable and pure.



Sales 2½ times as much as that of any other brand

BEST BY TEST

Couldn't Fool Son.

"I never smoked when I was your age," said father. "Will you be able to say that to your son when you grow up?"

"Not with such a straight face as you do, father," replied William.

Hall's Catarrh Medicine is a Combined Treatment, both local and internal, and has been successful in the treatment of Catarrh for over forty years. Sold by all druggists.
F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio

Expertness.

An expert's lot means toil profound,
I would not live that way.
I'd rather gather experts 'round
And tell 'em what to say.

Of precious time you save great loss
When protest is but small.
You'll find a really expert boss
Is most expert of all.

Sure Relief FOR INDIGESTION

6 BELL-ANS Hot water Sure Relief

BELL-ANS

25¢ AND 75¢ PACKAGES EVERYWHERE

Make Your Old Gun Like New—A guaranteed bluing and browning formula 50c. Wm. V. Jackson, 414 E. Grand Ave., Carterville, Ill.

INFLAMED EYES
Use Dr. Thompson's Eyewater, Buy at your druggist's or 1161 River, Troy, N. Y. Booklet.

Cuticura Soap Complexions Are Healthy
Soap 25c. Ointment 25 and 50c, Talcum 25c.

A COLD TODAY—DON'T DELAY
HILL'S CASCARA QUININE BROMIDE
Cures Colds in 24 Hours La Grippe in 3 Days
W. H. HILL CO., DETROIT.
SAFE SURE DEPENDABLE

Wish He'd Bring 'Em to Us

Find Snow Baby at Their Door

By LAURA ELAINE CAMERON

Lonely Couple Made Happy When They Discovered Abandoned Christmas Waif

WARREN TUCKER and his wife were lonesome. They had admitted that fact to each other several times during the evening in a sort of resigned tone as if there were nothing that could be done to improve the situation.

It was Christmas Eve and the world was waiting with eagerness for the morrow. All day the snow had been falling until now everything was covered with a blanket of downy softness. At intervals a sharp north wind came and drifted the snow into sheltered places, piling it up in great white heaps. It was a night when the warmth and coziness of home was very attractive, when men and women hurried eagerly to warm firesides.

But although a big fire was blazing upon the Tucker hearth and everything in the home bespoke warmth and plenty, it was not enough to make the Tuckers happy. For they belonged to that body of humanity that finds its greatest happiness in having a part in making the happiness of others, especially those of their own fireside. Up until a few months ago this ambition of theirs had always been satisfied, for upon their only daughter they had lavished all the wealth of affection that was possible. But all too soon she had grown to womanhood and a few months before had married the man of her choice, going to make her home in a distant city. Since that time their lives had been very empty and, as is usual in such cases, the advent of Christmas seemed to make them realize this fact more than ever. For all around them others had some of their very own to share with them the joys of Christmas time.

Suddenly on the silence that had fallen between them came a low, feeble wail—the cry of a little baby. They both jumped to their feet and stood in an attitude of listening. Then the sound came again, louder and lustier than before, and in a moment they were both at the door. "It's a baby!" they cried in unison, "a poor little abandoned baby!"

And sure enough it was a baby—a wee little mite of humanity that lay in the pile of snow that had drifted to the doorway. With tender hands they unwound the many wraps that encircled the tiny form, then a little cry came from the woman as the soft, rosy face of the child came into view:

"Oh, Warren!" she whispered in a sort of awed voice, as she held the tiny form close in her arms, "let us keep this child for our very own. God must have known of the emptiness of our hearts and sent it to us."

"I think He must have surely done so," her husband answered reverently. "It will help to make up for Ethel's absence."

(©, 1923, Western Newspaper Union.)

MESSAGE FROM SANTA CLAUS

"Christmas time is drawing near,"
Said Father Santa Claus.
"So I must harness my reindeer,
And drive without a pause.

"To America I'll haste away,
With heaps of dolls and toys,
But—please take heed to what I say—
They're for—good girls and boys."
—M. Stephenson.

Her Present for Old Santa Claus

By ETHEL COOK ELIOT

Little Miss Was Discovered Hiding Nut Cake in Ashes on the Hearth

"SEEMS like all good things come at once!" exclaimed Bob, aged ten. Tomorrow is Christmas with stockings, a tree, the best dinner of the year, a party at Grandma's, and now tonight, on Christmas Eve, mother has given us nut cakes with orange icing!"

There were four children at the supper table with father and mother. The cakes had just been brought in, and all the four pairs of eyes were wide with pleasure. This was an unexpected treat. Usually suppers in this parsonage were affairs of bread and milk, and prunes or junket for dessert. Even father was a little elated over the nut cakes!

But little Frances was the most elated of all; for suddenly, right on the spot, a problem that had been troubling her for two whole days was solved. Yes, the nut cakes answered the problem to perfection. Carefully, and all unobserved, she slipped the delicious cake, with its delectable frosting (oh, little Frances knew very well how delectable orange frosting was!), into the big pocket of her pinafore. Frances liked cake as much as the rest of the parsonage brood—but what of that! There were things she liked even better.

Late that night father, th minister, heard a tiny creak on the stairs. That didn't bother him. But in a minute there came another creak, farther down. The minister began to listen. Then, last of all a creak at the very bottom of the stairs. The minister left the cosy library where he was sitting reading with mother and cautiously started to investigate.

In the back parlor, to which he tracked the tiny sounds, there was dim starlight. That is how he saw the little white figure over by the children's stockings. It was too little for Santa Claus, surely—even too little for a burglar. The minister switched on the lights.

There was five-year-old Frances in the act of placing a nut cake with orange icing on the hearth, right down in the ashes! Little Frances was not startled by the sudden light, for little Frances knew no fears. The world, finding her so tender and kind, had so far been tender and kind with her.

"Hello, papa," she whispered. "This is for Santa, you see. I think it's a present he will 'preciate, don't you?"

But Frances had more than her father's assurances. The gray dawn of Christmas showed her that Santa had appreciated her present; the cake was gone, down to the very last crumb.

(©, 1923, Western Newspaper Union.)

AND SING LIKE EVERYTHING

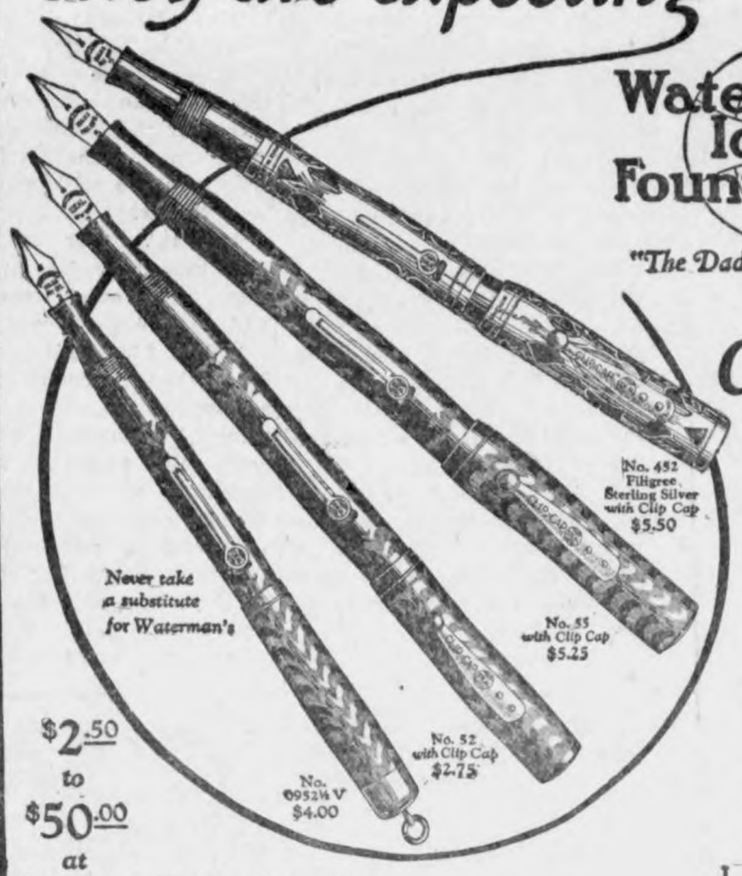
The Christmas season's here, and so
The world's all gay with mistletoe,
'Most everyone is making merry
'Midst evergreen and holly berry.
Good fellowship abounds—be sure
To give of plenty to the poor,
And don't forget the boys who spent
Their youth to buy our sweet content;
Remember those whose faltering feet
Approach life's exit—time is fleet;
Bring smiles to each beloved face,
Assure them none could fill their place;
Hold out a hand most cordially
To those who've fared less fortunately;
Forgive the ones that did you wrong
Then—then join in the Christmas song!
—Agnes Meyer Hucks.

They are expecting

Waterman's Ideal Fountain Pen

"The Daddy of Them All"

for Christmas



$2.50 to $50.00 at Waterman Dealers Everywhere

Pen illustrations ⅔ actual size.

Do not disappoint them—

No other fountain pen brings such lasting joy in reliable service or such keen pride of possession.

The Waterman's reputation is not limited to a city, state or country—it is the standard for the world.

L. E. Waterman Company
191 Broadway, New York
Chicago Boston San Francisco Montreal

Another Bank Run.

It was evening in dear old Chekkoslovakia. The lights were dim. Suddenly a man came running out of a side street.

"What is the matter?" asked a curious policeman.

"I am frightened," said the runner.

"What has frightened you?" inquired the curious policeman.

"I just passed a bad Chekk," replied the runner.—Royal Gaboon.

GIRLS! A GLEAMY MASS OF BEAUTIFUL HAIR

35-Cent "Danderine" So Improves Lifeless, Neglected Hair.

An abundance of luxuriant hair full of gloss, gleams and life shortly follows a genuine toning up of neglected scalps with dependable "Danderine."

Falling hair, itching scalp and the dandruff is corrected immediately. Thin, dry, wispy or fading hair is quickly invigorated, taking on new strength, color and youthful beauty. "Danderine" is delightful on the hair; a refreshing, stimulating tonic—not sticky or greasy! Any drug store.—Advertisement.

His Reply.

"Oh, Gee!" ejaculated Heloise, the waitress of the Rapid-fire restaurant, who had accidentally spilled the ketchup on the trousers of a customer. "I didn't go to do it. I'm sorry, mister!"

"Aw, that's all right, mom!" courteously answered Sandstorm Smith of Rampage, who was dining there. "You see, these hain't my other pants."—Country Gentleman.

MOTHER! GIVE SICK CHILD "CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP"

Harmless Laxative for a Bilious, Constipated Baby or Child.

Constipated, bilious, feverish, or sick, colic Babies and Children love to take genuine "California Fig Syrup." No other laxative regulates the tender little bowels so nicely. It sweetens the stomach and starts the liver and bowels acting without griping. Contains no narcotics or soothing drugs. Say "California" to your druggist and avoid counterfeits! Insist upon genuine "California Fig Syrup" which contains directions.—Advertisement.

Yes, Indeed.

"Gentlemen, our distinguished guest needs no introduction. His is a name to conjecture with."

In counting over friends, there is always one that you want to divide with nobody.

DEMAND "BAYER" ASPIRIN

Aspirin Marked With "Bayer Cross" Has Been Proved Safe by Millions.

Warning! Unless you see the name "Bayer" on package or on tablets you are not getting the genuine Bayer Aspirin proved safe by millions and prescribed by physicians for 23 years.

Say "Bayer" when you buy Aspirin. Imitations may prove dangerous.—Adv.

Once in a while a cook gets contrary and refuses to quit.

"CASCARETS" FOR LIVER AND BOWELS—10c A BOX

Cures Biliousness, Constipation, Sick Headache, Indigestion. Drug stores. Adv.

In order to score a hit an actor must strike the public's fancy.

FISH USED TO KILL PESTS

Minnows May Be Employed to Wipe Out Mosquitoes Throughout California.

Advancing the unique theory that minnows may eventually be used throughout California to eradicate mosquitoes, Dr. Walter M. Dickle, secretary of the state board of health of California, recently made public details of an experiment by state authorities which he claimed has cleared Putah creek, Yolo county, of the insect pests.

Top minnows, a tiny fish known to science as Cambusia Affnis, were introduced by the state into Putah creek, a mosquito breeding place, said Doctor Dickle, and within a year the mosquitoes were exterminated in all the adjacent territory.

"Our experiment proves conclusively that the top minnows can and will vanquish the mosquito," said the health officer. "It would be rash, perhaps, to predict complete conquest of the mosquito in California by this means, but I do not hestitate to say that these minnows seem to us to have great possibilities."

Leaked.

It was one of London's gray days when one American greeted another American in Piccadilly.

"Ll' ol' London's got no skyscrapers yet," remarked one.

"Pity, too, answered the other, gazing heavenward. "I never saw a sky that needed scraping more."

The average man's sense of humor refuses to work when the joke is on him.

It takes more than nine men to make a fashionable tailor.

Robust Men Like

BAKER'S COCOA

The cocoa of high quality

Baker's Cocoa is invigorating, stimulating only in the sense that pure food is stimulating, it has a delicious flavor and aroma, is a great addition to meals and a wonderful between meals stay.

MADE ONLY BY
Walter Baker & Co. Ltd.
Established 1780
MILLS AT DORCHESTER, MASS. AND MONTREAL, CANADA
Booklet of Choice Recipes Sent Free

W. N. U., DES MOINES, NO. 50-1923.

for Economical Transportation
CHEVROLET

Quality Cars at Quantity Prices

Chevrolet now leads all high-grade cars in number sold.

Our new low prices have been made possible through doubling our productive capacity.

We are now operating twelve mammoth manufacturing and assembly plants throughout the United States in which thousands of skilled workmen are turning out 2500 Chevrolets per day.

See Chevrolet First

Notwithstanding our recent big reduction in prices the quality and equipment of our cars have been steadily increased, until today Chevrolet stands beyond comparison as the best dollar value of any car sold at any price and the most economical car to maintain.

Chevrolet Motor Co., Detroit, Michigan
Division of General Motors Corporation

		Commercial Cars
Superior Roadster	$490	Superior Commercial Chassis	$395
Superior Touring	495	Superior Light Delivery	495
Superior Utility Coupe	640	Utility Express Truck Chassis	550
Superior Sedan	795

All prices f. o. b. Flint, Michigan

Dealers and Service Stations Everywhere

News of Klemme and Vicinity

Merry Christmas Everybody!

If its news, Phone 12. Thanks.

Let the Times print your sale bill.

Mens 4-buckle overshoes at Day's Store at $2.95.

Mr. Wroten, from Clear Lake, was a business caller here yesterday.

It pays to buy your electric light bulbs at Jacobs & Son. Try it. tf

Mrs. John Spitler, of Belmond, was a Klemme visitor yesterday.

Go to Day's Store for Mens 4-buckle overshoes at $2.95.

Mr. Wm. Allaben, of Goodell was a business caller here Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Keraus were at Mason City Friday afternoon.

$2.95 for a pair of Mens 4-buckle overshoes at Day's Store.

Mrs. Walt Mason, of Goodell, was a Klemme visitor Saturday.

Day's Store for a pair of mens 4-buckle overshoes—$2.95.

Jeff Bell returned from Illinois Tuesday, where he had been visiting for several weeks.

For Sale—Green Bone Meal. It makes the hens lay. Klemme Meat Market. tfc

Chris H. Nelson, of Garner, was a business caller in Klemme the fore part of the week.

Mrs. Ralph Elder went to Mason City last Thursday for a visit with her husband.

Buy your electric light bulbs and other supplies here and save money. Jacobs & Son, Hardware Store. tf

Mr. and Mrs. R. A. McConn spent Sunday visiting with Mason City friends.

Mr. and Mrs. John Etchen and Mr. and Mrs. Henrp Lewis drove over to Mason City Sunday for a visit.

For Sale—some S. C. White Leghorn Roosters, egg laying strain, at $1.25 each, five or more at $1 each. John Swalve, Phone 918 Klemme. 3p

The local basket ball teams will play at Crystal Lake this Fridap evening. It will be a red hot game. Klemme boosters should go along.

Mrs. Arthur Wade has been staying in town the past week at the George Ulrich home. She injured her hand and is having it treated.

Let me give you an estimate on your plumbing or heating job. A full stock of repairs on hand at all times. A. E. Hall, Garner, Iowa. 3t-J3p

Lew Lain, who was on the sick list last week in our town, was again able to be about and on the job again the fore part of this week.

The weather continues mild. Last night we had a light, warm rain. The weather is still warm, but cloudy today.

For Sale— Remington Automatic 12-g. Shot Gun, No. 1 condition. Reasonable if taken at once. Call at Times Office.

Mr. and Mrs. Lew Wesenberg and Mrs. Tom Burges and daughter, of Goodell, were Klemme callers and shoppers Monday.

Emil Lau has for sale a few choice spring Boars at bargain prices. Don't forget his Annual Bred Sow Sale on January 29, 1924. tfc

Miss Madeline Richter, R. N., who has been taking care of Mrs. Ernest Lenz during her illness, left for her home at Garner yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. Davis came from Spirit Lake last Friday, being called here by the illness of her daughter, Mrs. M. O. Barr.

Mrs. M. O. Barr has been very ill the past week, but at htis time she is greatly improved and will be able to be about again in a few days.

FOR SALE—Two pairs of Stromberg-Carlson head phones, very fine sets. Almost new. Reason for selling, using loud speaker. Call at the Times Office. Priced to sell quick.

Miss Mamie White, from Goodell, and Mrs. Ed. Hughes from Belmond, were visiting and shopping in this city Tuesday.

Henry Suckow, Sr., was taken suddenly ill with pneumonia Saturday and has been very sick for several days. He was reported to be a little better at this writing.

The old time dance given by the Odd Fellows Tuesday night was sure a great success. Over seventy numbers were sold. All had a fine time and the music was great.

Mrs. Chris Hansen and son, from Ellendale, North Dakota, came on Wednesday for a visit at the Hans Hansen home and with other relatives and friends.

Those who succeed in life take advantage of their opportunities. Get an education while you have the chance. Enroll at the Hamilton University, Mason Citp, Iowa. 1tc Eckhar Zeidler returned from his Oklahoma visit last week. He told us that gasoline could be purchased there at the wells from 5 to 6 cents a gallon, and was high test gas at that.

Carl Suckow is running the Community gas truck for a couple of weeks while the agent is visiting the refineries. Carl says he will be back on the Rawleigh job the first of the year again.

Martin Jensen was operated on at the Rochester, Minn., hospital about ten daps ago. Mrs. Jensen was up to see him and reports that he is getting along fine and will be home for Christmas.

A clap bird shoot will be held at Goodell on Christmas Day, Tuesday, December 25th, beginning at 10:00 a. m. The prizes consist of turkeys, ducks and geese. They invite all to come.

NOTICE—On or before January 1, 1924, I expect all who owe me to call and make settlement. Any accounts not paid by that date will be collected according to law. W. F. Pavey, Klemme, Iowa. 2tc

The fire alarm was sounded last Thursday afternoon when the John Sanderfelt residence was discovered to be on fire. Sparks from the chimney caused the shingles to catch afire. Only a slight damage was done to the roof.

The Ladies Aid Society met at the parish house last Thursdap afternoon for regular business and also a social hour. They report one new member joined the society. They invite any ladies interested to join at any time. The ladies also served a very good supper to the members of the societ yand their families.

Frank Gruetzmacher gave the basket ball girls an oyster stew at the Crystal Cafe last Thursday night because they played so good at Belmond. Fine! But say, he ought to give them a couple of more oyster stews for trimming up the Britt aggregation Friday night. Go after him girls!

ONE WAY NOT TO GET RICH QUICK

There are a lot of get-rick-quick schemes but here is one not-to-get-rich-quick ways experienced by a Klemme farmer.

Roy Schaefer is quite a sheep raising farmer and generally has made a success of the business. But, however, he has discovered one phase of the business that does not bring in the shekels but rather equips dollars with wings that they may fly away.

It is this latter part we speak of. Roy lost three fine ewes killed by dogs. The ewes were well worth $18 to $20 per head. The county paid him $4 a head for the loss. He found that the county only paid the assessed value, and not the actual value of the animals when killed by dogs. Roy also thought the pelts should be worth something so he skinned one sheep, sheered off the wool, and paid 69 cents express to ship the pelt to Des Moines. In a few days he received a check for 70 cents for the pelt.

Can you beat it?

The HOOVER

It BEATS... as it Sweeps as it Cleans

For "her"

All year you've thot of her, at home. Often you've wondered what she was doing and you have confessed to keen sympathy at times—a wish that her lot might be easier.

Now's your chance to make it easier—your chance to show that your sympathy is real —give her a Hoover!

Save her arms and back the strain of sweeping; save her the headaches—and the heartaches— and give her time for rest and play —give her a Hoover for Christmas.

ALL YOU NEED PAY DOWN IS $6.25.

SHANNON

FURNITURE STORE

GARNER IOWA

WE'RE FOR YOU TOO, JOHN

County Treasurer Suurballe is being urged to make announcement for re-election. We can not say at this time that he will do so, but he may depend upon our support should he decide to do so. John is a good man for the office, and with the increasing amount of work that is being handed to the County Treasurer in the auto registration, we believe it would be good policy on the part of the voters of Hancock County to see that John remains in office.—Garner Signal.

We aso would like to see Suurballe stay in the office. As far as we know he is giving the best of service and as the office is becoming more and more important we do not see the sense of putting in a "green" man every couple of years. Get a good man in our important county offices and keep him there for the good of the county.

HAS INCREASED CAPITAL HUNDRED THOUSAND TIMES

Sten Stenson departed Monday for a visit with relatives at his old home in Norway, going especially at this time to see his aged mother. When Mr. Stenson arrived in Wright county thirty odd years ago, he had less than $1.20 in his pockets. For a number of years he worked on the Northwestern section at $1.10 per day and finally accumulated money enough to make a start in ife. Today he is the owner of 400 acres of land which is worth fully $120,000. Can you beat it?—Clarion Monitor.

Start The New Year Right!

All During The Past Year We Have Been Telling You Ab

IOWA FALLS ELECTRIC COMPANY
—And—
IT'S SAFE INVESTMENTS

so that NOW you KNOW more about the Company a WHY investment in It Is Fundamentally Safe.

YOUR FRIENDS AND NEIGHBORS have fou that the Gold Notes and Common Stock furnish a Depe able Income, regularly Paid and are fully satisfied w their Investments.

You have the same Opportunity so start the NE YEAR RIGHT, by Investing in PUBLIC SERVICE th benefits your own HOME COMMUNITY and provides GOOD INCOME SAFELY,

You may Invest $100.00 or more, and your money b gins Earning At Once.

Let us Give you more particulars.

With the Season's Greetings, we are

Respectfully,

Iowa Falls Electric Co

Iowa Falls, Iowa

For Your Xmas Dinner-

Below we suggest a few items that should appear on the table with your Christmas Dinner, to add to it's deliciousness——

PLUM PUDDING	FIG PUDDING
HEINZ KETCHUP	PICKLES
OLIVES	MINCE MEAT
CHEESE, All Kinds	OYSTERS

You will find all of the above articles and many others at our Shop, which will make your Dinner the very best.

LEAVE OR PHONE YOUR ORDERS NOW FOR DUCKS, GEESE OR CHICKENS

J. P. Larsen & Sons

The Klemme Meat Market

Railroads, Like Father and Mother, are Taken for Granted

THE children come home from school. One goes to Mother, to have a sore finger wrapped up. They eat their evening meal. Father helps with the lessons. They go to bed and sleep—taking it all for granted. Something happens to Father or Mother .....then.....the children realize.....

A thousand miles away, you board a train. Tomorrow you are home. It took your great-grandfathers several weeks to make the same trip. At meal-time they stopped and built a fire. At meal-time you step into a first-class restaurant on wheels. The coffee, the sugar and spices, the fruits, even the bread and meat, have been carried to you by the railroads.

Night comes, and the covered wagon that stopped to let the horses rest, has been replaced by the Pullman and 60 miles an hour. Nothing to do but slip between the sheets, and ring for the porter if anything is wanted —taking it all for granted. The railroads are not like Father and Mother—transportation service must go on.....nothing happens.....so you do not realize.....

Night and day, rain or shine, winter and summer, thousands of men and women of the Rock Island Lines are "on the job"—that you may be served—that you and your friends may reach home in safety—that your daily supplies may reach your door. Railway service is the most vital thing in your daily life.

Our interests are mutual — helpful suggestions are appreciated.

Rock Island

"Seventy-one Years of Service"

Rock Island Lines

J. E. Gorman,
President

Give Woodruff's Footwear

LONG AFTER The joys of Xmas are forgotten a gift from this store will be serving a practical need. Shoes, Slippers and Hosiery are always appreciated.

Make Your Selections Here

Woodruff's

"Good Shoes" MASON CITY, IOWA

Greetings

Your kind Co-operation has contributed materially to our and we appreciate it most cordially
Accept our best wishes for a very
Merry Christmas
and that the season comes to you laden with Happiness and content

Klemme Co-Op. Grain Company

Our Greeting

We wish everybody
A Merry
Christmas

Farmers Lumber Company

News of Goodell And Vicinty

Francis Quigley has opened his new barber shop in Goodell.

The Ugo Igo Sewing Club was held at the home of Gertrude Cashman Saturday afternoon. Quite a few members were present.. They had a fine prbgram and then came the sewing hour and refreshments were served. The guests were Lela Griggs and Mildred Remer. The next meeting will be held at the home of Iris Sherwood.

Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Wilson and family of Cornelia were visitors it the Jay Griggs home, Sunday.

Frank Clarks have moved to town but they have not sold their farm.

Crystal Lake played basket ball at Goodell Friday. They played a fine game, but Goodell was beat.

The Avery Township Farm Bureau meeting will be held at the Center School House, Wednesday evening.

The dance in the hall Saturday night was well attended. All report a good time.

The North Avery Progressive Club meeting will be held at the D. A. Marshall home Friday night.

The Goodell boys and girls go to Ventura Tuesday night to play a game of basket ball.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Clark and Mr. and Mrs. Larner visited at the F. R. Chase home Sunday.

Mae Griggs, Clara Johnson, Dale Chase and Mark Smith will return home from Cedar Falls for a two weeks vacation. Louise Mason and Louisa Ahrenkeil will also return home from Coe College.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Quigley, Sr., and family visited at the Ben Knoll home Sunday.

Miss Ruth Ness, who has been in the hospital in Mason City, returned to her home last Wednesday. She is much better.

Mr. and Mrs. George Johnson of Iowa Falls visited at the W. L. Sherwood home Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Cook were entertained for Sunday dinner at the J. W. Griggs home.

GOODELL SCHOOL NOTES

The Goodell Public School will give a Christmas program at the Opera House on Friday evening, December 21, commencing at 7:30 o-'clock. Admission 15 and 20 cents.

The teachers of the Goodell school will spen the hoidays at their respective homes.

Crystal Lake played a double-header game of basket ball here last Friday night. They took home with them our scalps which we hope to regain as well as theirs when we play the return game. The lineup for our teams was as follows:

—Girls	Boys—
Mildred Remer	Donald Meyer
Sophronia Fuller	C. Cashman
Mamie Dieger	Harold Savogue
Edith Halfpop	Donnell Estle
Nettie Chase	Thos. Quigley
Lucille Miller	Curtis Schuldt
	Verdie Wilson

The athetic association entertained the Crystal Lake teams after the games.

Supt. and Mrs. C. F. Peters motored to Crystal Lake Sunday afternoon.

Miss Orr of our English Department, was one of the judges at the Declamatory contest held by the Klemme High School at Klemme on Tuesday and Wednesday evenings of this week.

Our basket ball teams played Ventura there Tuesday evening, December 18th.

The teachers and pupils wish everyone a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year. We also wish to thank you for your kind cooperation in our school work.

HARDING MEMORIAL DRIVE

Mr. P. M. Griesemer has been appointed chairman of El and Libertp Twnships on the drive for funds for the Harding Memorial.

Those who wish to contribute towards this fund can deposit the contribution with Mr. Griesemer, who will issue a receipt for the donation.

Roy Schaefer, accompanied by his father, Ed. Schaefer, and Mrs. John Cruetzmacher and Mrs. C. C. Schaefer, drove to Rockford, Iowa, last Sunday to attend the funeral of Mrs. Chas. Herz, their aunt. Aunt Herz, as she was best known was a resident of Liberty township some twenty years ago. Of late she made her home with one of her daughters,. Mrs. Emil Koerner at El Reno, Oklahoma. Mr. and Mrs. John Tanner also drove to Rockford to attend the funeral, as Mrs. Tanner and Mrs. Herz were old friends in Colorado.

GIMER COPS ANOTHER PRIZE

Local Butter Artist Takes First At Titonka District Meet

Two Dairy Days were held at Titonka last week Thursday and Friday, December 13 and 14 and all the creameries in this part of the state were invited to send in butter to be judged and scored for three places. Mr. A. D. Gimer, of the Klemme Creamery sent a twenty-pound tub of butter which took the first prize with a score of 93.5. This was a half point higher than any other tub in the contest.

Gimer is taking prizes everywhere he enters his butter and is getting to be well known in the state.

KLEMME STORES HAVE BIG HOLIDAY STOCK

Even though the weather has been mild and warm, there is a spirit of Christmas in the air. The Klemme merchants have a fine, large stock of holiday goods and trade is beginning to rush as the season draws to a close. More and more, is the spirit of thankfulness and love for ur fellw beings being realized in the hme centers and the community centers. The joy of giving, is the reason for giving.

The Klemme merchants are well stocked to accomodate all demands, whether it be for large presents or small ones, expensive ones or those less expensive but of good quality.

And it will pay you to do your shopping right here in Klemme as the prices are very reasonable this year and cheaper than in most places.

Now that the fall work is over, you should plan to put in at least three months in self-improvement. Enroll for the Farmers ' Short Course or any one of the regular courses, January 3. The Hamilton University, Mason City, Iowa. 1tc

---

The Luick tribe had a family gathering at Belmond Sunday. Those from here who attended were, Mr. and Mrs. LuVerne Smith, and Mrs. Charlie Luick and son, Lee. The reunion was held at the home of the parents. All the children were there except Charlie, who is at Mason City and was unable to come.

REAL ESTATE TRANSFERS

W. K. Blackwell and wife to H. D. Blackwell, W. D., 10-29-23, part SW 36 & part SE 35-96-25 .....$1

F. B. Gliden to R. R. Roberts et al, W. D., 7-1-23, SW blk 5 Stubbins add Britt ..... $6500.

Mrs. Lena Nelson to Lyman Nelson, W. D., 11-20-23, E N NE 31-94-24 ..... $00

E. N. Peterson to H. C. Peterson, W. D., 12-3-23, SE 3-8 lot 5 and lot 6, blk 2 Standrings add Corwith..$1

Ora Christensen and husband, W. D.,11-24-23,outlot 1 Hutchins $1000

R. S. Rasmussen and wife to State of Iowa, W. D. 5-7-23, 8.78 acres in 24-96-25 .....

E. P. Hanson, Sheriff, to Carl A. Granskou, Sheriff's Deed, 11-24-23, SE 11-97-26 ..... $6450

C. H. Weigman and wife to Gladys Weigman, W. D., 9-3-21, NW 23-95-24 ..... $1

Christian Mortenson to N. G. and Anneina Johnson, Q. C. D., 10-27-23, tract in SW NW 11-97-23. .... $1

John Fillenwarth and wife to O. L. McCormick, W. D., 12-5-23, lot 7 blk 13 Britt $3200

O. L. Senneff et al to John Fillenwarth, Q. C. D., 12-5-23, lots 2, 3, 4 blk 4 Anderson's add Britt .....

—Garner Signal.

GARNER BANK WINS $7,000 SUIT

Bootlegger Gets $200 Fine And 100 Days In Jail

GARNER, Dec. 15.—Court adjoured yesterday following a session of three days this week and three days last week with Judge J. J. Clark of Mason City presiding. The only jury trial was that of Peter Frend vs the Farmers National bank. The suit was to collect $7,000 on contract not due until March 1925. Will Ramsay appeared fo rthe bank and Lower & McKinzie of Omaha for Frend. The Judge directed a verdict for the Jefendent.

A divorce was granted Ida Raw from Charles Raw. The latter left this county three years ago and has not returned.

Last week Judge Clark fined a bootlegger in the north part of Hancock county $200 and 60 days in jail for manufacturing and 40 more days in jail for selling intoxicating liquor. He began his jail sentence last week in the Cerro Gordo county jail.

An occasional sorting of apples stored in the cellar will greatly cut down the loss.

Christmas Carol

LO! now is come our joyful'st feast!
Let every man be jolly.
Each room with ivy leaves is drest,
And every post with holly.
Now all our neighbors' chimneys smoke,
And Christmas blocks are burning;
Their ovens they with bak't meats choke,
And all their spits are turning.

In Memory of Her Little Girl

By ETHEL COOK ELIOT

Nellie, the Shop Girl, Reminded Mother of Daughter and Was Showered With Lingerie

NELLIE was exhausted, just as were all the other clerks in the Rumson department store at five minutes of ten this Christmas eve. But there were still five minutes more in which she must serve. There were several shoppers pressing about her counter handling and examining the beautiful French embroidery of the lingerie there. They swam before Nellie's tired eyes almost dimly as in a dream. Tired, aching feet can do that to eyes, you know.

How trying they were, these customers! How slow about coming to decisions; how impossible their questions. How did Nellie know how this or that garment would launder, or wear? How could she know? Nellie never in her whole life had possessed a stitch of such costly stuff. And still these crowding, high-voiced women expected her to prophesy the whole future life of their purchases! They were certainly better judges than she of such things. They ought to know.

But there was one lady, a lady with soft brown eyes, half smiling brown eyes, who patiently stood and waited her turn. Because of her patience in that Christmas rush, she came last. But if she had been patient in waiting her turn, Nellie now had to be patient in waiting on her. For although it was already ten o'clock and time for the counters to be draped for the night, she took her time. Very carefully she chose two whole sets of lingerie. Every piece she examined closely to make sure of the quality and the beauty of the design. Nellie thought she would never be done. In fact, Nellie found it hard, just as the brown-eyed lady was hovering over the choice of the last piece, not to cry out at her, "For Heaven's sake, make up your mind! Can't you see I'm dropping?"

But of course Nellie cried out no such thing. She just shut her young lips together, and winked back childish tears of irritation and exhaustion.

"I'll take this one, then," the lady at last said at two minutes past ten. And then she looked up, smiling into Nellie's eyes. "And will you take the lot, dear child, as a Christmas present from me? I had a little girl once, something like you and your age. Since it is Christmas you will not deny me the happiness of giving you this present in remembrance of her. She loved pretty things just as you do, I know."

(©, 1923, Western Newspaper Union.)

(©, 1923, Western Newspaper Union.)

RING OUT

Ring out! Ring out! ye happy bells, and make a joyous lay,
For Christ the child has come to us and we would have him stay;
Make every hill and valley ring, fill earth and sky with cheer,
For we who have received the Christ would show him welcome here.
—F. H. Sweet.

(©, 1923, Western Newspaper Union.)

Bringing in the Yule Log for a Merry Feast

ONE of the most delightful of the Christmas ceremonies was bringing in the Yule-log. According to an English writer, this was a massive piece of wood, frequently the rugged and grotesquely marked root of a tree. It was drawn through the forest with shouting and laughter, while each wayfarer reverently saluted it, since he knew it to be full of good promises and that in its flames would be burnt out old wrongs and heart-burnings. As it came into the great hall, the living-room of the old castle, each member of the family sat upon or saluted it in turn, and sang a Yule-song, after which all drank to a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year. A favorite Yule-song began with:

Welcome be ye that are here,
Welcome all, and make good cheer,
Welcome all, another year,
Welcome Yule.

—F. H. Sweet.

(©, 1923, Western Newspaper Union.)

A FAIR EXCHANGE

Laura and Tommy often had important discussions on serious subjects. Christmas evening found them in grave colloquy. There seemed to be a slight ambiguity about who gave them gifts, God or their father. It was a matter which could not be settled. Finally Laura said in a superior tone:

"You know, Tommy, that daddy isn't our only father; we have two."

Tommy appeared surprised. "Who's the other one?" he asked.

"God!" answered Laura succinctly.

Tommy gave the occasion much reflection. Then he said earnestly:

"Well, I wish Daddy would go to heaven for a while and let God come down and stay with us—I'd like to get acquainted!"—M. B. Thomas.

(©, 1923, Western Newspaper Union.)

LEGISLATIVE NOTES

What the Iowa Legislators Are Doing at Special Session For Code Revision

The extra session of the 40th Iowa General Assembly called by Governor Kendall for the purpose of completing the code revision work, resumed its activities Tuesday morning after a recess dating from April 18th. The Senate was called to order at 10 a. m. by Lieut-Governor John Hammill and J. H. Anderson sounded the gavel in the House. The opening was not unlike all previous gatherings of a similar nature and much of the "political" maneuvering was quite visible to those veterans of the State who have frequented the legisative chambers in the good old days gone by. O. A. Ontjes, of Holland, Grundy County, was elected speaker pro tem of the House of Representatives for the session on code revision defeating Clyde H. Doolittle of Delaware County who moved the unanimous selection of Ontjes. The election of Ontjes is said to demonstrate the strength of the agricultural element in the house and indicated that the farm bloc will be one of the controlling factors in the coming session. After an impassioned battle for his substitute motion to the report of the committee on code revision postponing the introduction of bills other than code revision matters until January 22, 1924, Representative McClune of Mahaska county was voted down decisively. McClune argued that barring other bills until January 22 would have the effect of speeding code revision. Senator Buser of Muscatine county, presented an amendment adding to the list of bills that might be considered "such bills as may be deemed necessary for code revision and not included in the code commission report.

Politics will be the diversion of the members of the Iowa legislature while performing the somewhat onerous and tedious task of revising the code these coming months. Each side of the house will have a candidate for governor, the senate having Lieutenant Governor John Hammill and the house "Speaker "Joe" Anderson. Formal announcement has not come from the speaker of the house, but it is generally accepted that having traveled the road thus far toward political promotion he will keep on with the journey.

The legislative committee of the Iowa farm bureau federation is scrutinizing the laws of the state relating to agriculture and preparing to make recommendations to the code revision session. There are more than 270 classes of legislation directly affecting the farmers' interests. Among the important laws which are expected to come up for codification and revision early in the special session are those on drainage, in which there is said to be particular interest. The farm bureau committee is giving particular attention to the laws written on agricultural subjects by the code commission.

A plan to divide the Iowa code into two volumes, one containing chapters dealing with state organizations and administration, and the other including the chapters on court procedure, estate proceedings, appeals to the supreme court, and so forth, and to be known as "the lawyers' code," would greatly simplify the work of code revision at this session of the general assembly according to Representative W. C. Edson of Storm Lake.

Representative McClure opposed adoption of the report without reservation, declaring the way should be left open for the introduction of the new legislation. An amendment to the report offered by McClure had it been adopted, would have opened the way for introduction of general legislation after January 22, 1924.

In the states with strong laws against liquor, the rally cry of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment is "Bring the state laws into conformity with the Volstead act declares a letter which has been sent to members of the Iowa legislature by the legislative committee of the W. C. T. U. of Iowa.

Several veterans of the civil war who have come to be regarded as fixtures in the legislative chambers were left off the list and their places given to American Legion men.

If general legislation is gone into by the special session of the Iowa legislature the question of what may be done to the Iowa road laws is of eternal interest.

Three pitched battles in each house were scheduled before the gavels of the lieutenant governor in the senate, and the speaker in the house, fell at 10 o'clock.

Confirming of appointments of employes will be the first thing taken up before they jump off into legislative matters.

Some of the most needed revisions not recommended by the commission may be effected through general legislation.

The joint code revision committee of the two houses held a session with the retrenchment and reform committee at which time a rule was passed with but one dissenting vote to be presented to the two houses, probably in the form of a resolution. Under this rule the general assembly will be limited in its deliberations at this time to the consideration of bills reported by the code commission, bills reported by the joint legislative tax committee, legalizing acts, and measures providing for the editing and perpetuation of revision of the statutes.

As adopted in the house the report is, "That during this extraordinary session of the general assembly no bill shall be introduced in or considered by the house of representatives except the printed bill No. 283 inclusive, designated by the code editors and code commissions bills; bills for legalizing act, bills providing for the editing, printing and publishing of the revised code and the supplements thereto; bills providing for the salaries and the expenses incidents of this session.

Cities in Iowa may come forward at the special session of the Iowa legislature with a well organized effort to secure a portion of the automobile fees paid in by city residents for paving or improving streets. The demand for this has been growing the past few years and there was more or less reference to it on the floor of the house and senate during road legislation discussions last winter. Now the matter is again being discussed.

Senator Bowman of Black Hawk rebuked the senate for delay in getting to the business of the session and urged elimination of expense not absolutely necessary. He declared farmers were not receiving as much for produce now as they were a year ago and that cutting of expense was demanded by them, as well as other groups. If the code is properly revised, Bowman said, the legislature would be in session six months.

Chief Hawkeye of the Des Moines News addresses himself to the legislature as follows: "I join with the rest of the good citizens of the state of Iowa in hoping that you will leave politics out of this special legislative session and tend strictly to the work of code revision. That's the job you're supposed to do. May I also warn you that the rest of us are watching for any jokers you may slip in to these code bills."

Representative Clyde H. Doolittle, of Manchester, says that contrary to the popular impression, the code commission has completed but a third of its work. "There are about 10,000 sections in the code," declared Doolittle. "The commission touched on only 3500 of them. Even if all the measures are passed only one-third of the work of code revision will have been completed."

Limitation of the work of the special session of the Iowa legislature to code revision, which rules out even the bills prepared by the joint legislative tax committee of the thirty-ninth general assembly, was voted in both houses yesterday. The matter is not fully settled, however, for a motion to reconsider the vote by which the tax bills were barred has been filed in the house.

"The Legislation of the Fortieth General Assembly of Iowa," a comprehensive review of the legislation of the 1923 regular session of the state legislature, compiled by John E. Briggs and Jacob Van Ek, has just been published by the State Historical Society of Iowa and is in the hands of members of the general assembly.

Daily use of the Bible in every schoolroom of the state would be required by law, if the resolution unanimously adopted by the Des Moines Ministerial association meets with favor by the Iowa legislature.

The Senators voted down a resolution by Tuck, which would prevent the introduction of any measures other than code revision, legalizing acts, and bills heretofore reported by the joint tax committee.

The first evil to be attacked by legislation through the efforts of the newly created child welfare commission will be the present Iowa law permitting anyone to adopt a child without judicial procedure, it was decided at the first meeting of the code commission held Wednesday morning.

Reintroduction at the extra session of the general assembly this winter of senate file 739—the measure designed to change the date when taxes become delinquent—is forecast by Senator Wm. Schmedika to Radcliffe.

There is some talk in hotel lobbies and state house corridors of the early adoption of a rule by both houses to exclude the consideration of all measures save those relating directly to revision of the code.

Revision of Iowa law will overshadow the routine task of codification in this extra session of the legislature, it seems likely, as some of the bills to be considered come to the attention of the lawmakers.

Bill 51, known as the new liquor bill, is in bad form and will probably be dropped, it is said, and the original code commission bill will be reinstated on the commission's recommendation.

These possibilities were subjects of group discussions when the initial sessions in both houses concluded with the presentation of the report of the joint committee on code revision.

Indications are that the assembly will not complete its work until next March, although the 211 bills, prepared by the code revision committee, could be cleared up in much shorter time.

The report of committee of code revision was submitted by Representative Gilbert of Marshall county.

The code revision special session got under way with about as little harmony in evidence as marked the closing days of the regular session six months ago.

In the preparation for the opening of the first farm-labor bank in Iowa 100 representatives of farm and labor organizations of the state are holding a series of meetings to map out a legislative program to be presented to the Iowa assembly that cooperative banks may be created on a definite legal basis, according to J. C. Lewis, president of the state federation of labor.

COOLIDGE OUTLINES HIS POLICIES TO THE LAWMAKERS

PRESIDENT SAYS IT IS HIS DUTY TO FOLLOW PRINCIPLES OF HARDING.

SEEKS THE CREATION OF WORLD COURT OF JUSTICE

Would Resume Diplomatic Relations With Russia Under Certain Conditions—Opposed to Further Railroad Legislation—Discusses Plans for Relief of the Farmer.

Washington.—President Coolidge, in his first address to the congress, said, in part:

Since the close of the last congress the nation has lost President Harding. The world knew his kindness and his humanity, his greatness and his character. He has left his mark upon history. He has made justice more certain and peace more secure. The surpassing tribute paid to his memory as he was borne across the continent to rest at last at home revealed the place he held in the hearts of the American people. But this is not the occasion for extended reference to the man or his work. In this presence, among those who knew and loved him, that is unnecessary. But we who were associated with him could not resume together the functions of our office without pausing for a moment, and in his memory reconsecrating ourselves to the service of our country. He is gone. We remain. It is our duty, under the inspiration of his example, to take up the burdens which he was permitted to lay down, and to develop and support the wise principles of government which he represented.

Foreign Affairs.

For us peace reigns everywhere. We desire to perpetuate it always by granting full justice to others and requiring of others full justice to ourselves.

Our country has one cardinal principle to maintain in its foreign policy. It is an American principle. It must be an American policy. We attend to our own affairs, conserve our own strength, and protect the interests of our own citizens; but we recognize thoroughly our obligations to help others, reserving to the decision of our own judgment the time, the place, and the method. We realize the common bond of humanity. We know the inescapable law of service.

Our country has definitely refused to adopt and ratify the covenant of the League of Nations. We have not felt warranted in assuming the responsibilities which its members have assumed. I am not proposing any change in this policy; neither is the senate. The incident, so far as we are concerned, is closed.

World Court.

Our foreign policy has always been guided by two principles. The one is the avoidance of permanent political alliances which would sacrifice our proper independence. The other is the peaceful settlement of controversies between nations. By example and by treaty we have advocated arbitration. For nearly 25 years we have been a member of The Hague tribunal, and have long sought the creation of a permanent World Court of Justice. I am in full accord with both of these policies. I favor the establishment of such a court intended to include the whole world. That is, and has long been, an American policy.

Russia.

Our diplomatic relations, lately so largely interrupted, are now being resumed, but Russia presents notable difficulties. We have every desire to see that great people, who are our traditional friends, restored to their position among the nations of the earth. We have relieved their pitiable destitution with an enormous charity. Our government offers no objection to the carrying on of commerce by our citizens with the people of Russia. Our government does not propose, however, to enter into relations with another regime which refuses to recognize the sanctity of international obligations. I do not propose to barter away for the privilege of trade any of the cherished rights of humanity. I do not propose to make merchandise of any American principles. These rights and principles must go wherever the sanctions of our government go. But while the favor of America is not for sale, I am willing to make very large concessions for the purpose of rescuing the people of Russia. Already encouraging evidences of returning to the ancient ways of society can be detected. But more are needed.

Debts.

The current debt and interest due from foreign governments, exclusive of the British debt of $4,600,000,000, is about $7,000,000,000. I do not favor the cancellation of this debt, but I see no objection to adjusting in accordance with the principle adopted for the British debt. Our country would not wish to assume the role of an oppressive creditor, but would maintain the principle that financial obligations between nations are likewise moral obligations which international faith and honor require should be discharged.

Fiscal Condition.

Our main problems are domestic problems. Financial stability is the first requisite of sound government. We cannot escape the effect of world conditions. We cannot avoid the inevitable results of the economic disorders which have reached all nations. But we shall diminish their harm to us in proportion as we continue to restore our government finances to a secure and endurable position. This we can and must do. Upon that firm foundation rests the only hope of progress and prosperity. From that source must come relief for the people. This being accomplished by a drastic but orderly retrenchment, which is bringing our expenses within our means. The origin of this has been the determination of the American people, the main support has been the courage of those in authority, and the effective method has been the budget system. The result has involved real sacrifice by department heads, but it has been made without flinching. This system is a law of the congress. It represents your will. It must be maintained, and ought to be strengthened by the example of your observance. Without a budget system there can be no fixed responsibility and no constructive scientific economy.

Tariff Law.

The present tariff law has accomplished its two main objects. It has secured an abundant revenue and been productive of an abounding prosperity. Under it the country has had a very large export and import trade. A constant revision of the tariff by the congress is disturbing and harmful. The present law contains an elastic provision authorizing the President to increase or decrease present schedules not in excess of 50 per centum to meet the difference in cost of production at home and abroad. This does not, to my mind, warrant a rewriting of the whole law, but does mean, and will be so administered, that whenever the required investigation shows that inequalities of sufficient importance exist in any schedule, the power to change them should and will be applied.

Shipping.

The entire well-being of our country is dependent upon transportation by sea and land. Our government during the war acquired a large merchant fleet which should be transferred, as soon as possible, to private ownership and operation under conditions which would secure two results: First, and of prime importance, adequate means for national defense, second, adequate service to American commerce. Until shipping conditions are such that our fleet can be disposed of advantageously under these conditions, it will be operated as economically as possible under such plans as may be devised from time to time by the shipping board. We must have a merchant marine which meets these requirements, and we shall have to pay the cost of its service.

Public Improvements.

The time has come to resume in a moderate way the opening of our intracoastal waterways; the control of flood waters of the Mississippi and of the Colorado rivers; the improvement of the waterways from the Great Lakes toward the Gulf of Mexico; and the development of the great power and navigation project of the St. Lawrence river, for which efforts are now being made to secure the necessary treaty with Canada. These projects cannot all be undertaken at once, but all should have the immediate consideration of the congress and be adopted as fast as plans can be matured and the necessary funds become available.

Railroads.

Criticism of the railroad law has been directed, first, to the section laying down the rule by which rates are fixed, and providing for payment to the government and use of excess earnings; second, to the method for the adjustment of wage scales; and third, to the authority permitting consolidations.

It has been erroneously assumed that the act undertakes to guarantee railroad earnings. The law requires that rates should be just and reasonable. That has always been the rule under which rates have been fixed. To make a rate that does not yield a fair return results in confiscation, and confiscatory rates are of course unconstitutional. Unless the government adheres to the rule of making a rate that will yield a fair return, it must abandon rate making altogether. The new and important feature of that part of the law is the recapture and redistribution of excess rates. The constitutionality of this method is now before the Supreme court for adjudication. Their decision should be awaited before attempting further legislation on this subject. Furthermore, the importance of this feature will not be great if consolidation goes into effect.

The settlement of railroad labor disputes is a matter of grave public concern. The labor board was established to protect the public in the enjoyment of continuous service by attempting to insure justice between the companies and their employees. It has been a great help, but is not altogether satisfactory to the public, the employees, or the companies. If a substantial agreement can be reached among the groups interested, there should be no hesitation in enacting such agreement into law. If it is not reached, the labor board may very well be left for the present to protect the public welfare.

Department of Justice.

As no revision of the laws of the United States has been made since 1878, a commission or committee should be created to undertake this work. The judicial council reports that two more district judges are needed in the southern district of New York, one in the northern district of Georgia, and two more circuit judges in the Circuit Court of Appeals of the Eighth circuit. Legislation should be considered for this purpose.

The national government has never given adequate attention to its prison problems. It ought to provide employment in such forms of production as can be used by the government, though not sold to the public in competition with private business, for all prisoners who can be placed at work, and for which they should receive a reasonable compensation, available for their dependents Prohibition.

The prohibition amendment to the Constitution requires the congress and the President to provide adequate laws to prevent its violation. It is my duty to enforce such laws. For that purpose a treaty is being negotiated with Great Britain with respect to the right of search of hovering vessels. To prevent smuggling, the coast guard should be greatly strengthened, and a supply of swift power boats should be provided. The major sources of production should be rigidly regulated, and every effort should be made to suppress interstate traffic. With this action on the part of the national government, and the co-operation which is usually rendered by municipal and state authorities, prohibition should be made effective. Free government has no greater menace than disrespect for authority and continual violation of law. It is the duty of a citizen not only to observe the law but to let it be known that he is opposed to its violation

The Negro.

Numbered among our population are some 12,000,000 colored people. Under our Constitution their rights are just as sacred as those of any other citizen. It is both a public and a private duty to protect those rights. The congress ought to exercise all its powers of prevention and punishment against the hideous crime of lynching, of which the negroes are by no means the sole sufferers, but for which they furnish a majority of the victims.

Regulatory Legislation.

Co-operation with other maritime powers is necessary for complete protection of our coast waters from pollution. Plans for this are under way, but await certain experiments for refuse disposal. Meantime laws prohibiting spreading oil and oil refuse from vessels in our own territorial waters would be most helpful against this menace and should be speedily enacted.

Laws should be passed regulating aviation.

Revision is needed of the laws regulating radio interference.

Army and Navy.

For several years we have been decreasing the personnel of the army and navy, and reducing their power to the danger point. Further reductions should not be made. The army is a guarantee of the security of our citizens at home; the navy is a guarantee of the security of our citizens abroad. Both of these services should be strengthened rather than weakened. Additional planes are needed for the army, and additional submarines for the navy.

Education and Welfare.

Our national government is not doing as much as it legitimately can do to promote the welfare of the people. Our enormous material wealth, our institutions, our whole form of society, cannot be considered fully successful until their benefits reach the merit of every individual. This is not a suggestion that the government should, or could, assume for the people the inevitable burdens of existence. This is no method by which we can either be relieved of the results of our own folly or be guaranteed a successful life. There is an inescapable personal responsibility for the development of character, of industry, of thrift, and of self-control. These do not come from the government, but from the people themselves. But the government can and should always be expressive of steadfast determination, always vigilant, to maintain conditions under which these virtues are most likely to develop and secure recognition and reward. This is the American policy.

It is in accordance with this principle that we have enacted laws for the protection of the public health and have adopted prohibition in narcotic drugs and intoxicating liquors. For purposes of national uniformity we ought to provide, by constitutional amendment and appropriate legislation, for a limitation of child labor, and in all cases under the exclusive jurisdiction of the federal government a minimum wage law for women, which would undoubtedly find sufficient power of enforcement in the influence of public opinion.

Immigration.

American institutions rest solely on good citizenship. They were created by people who had a background of self-government. New arrivals should be limited to our capacity to absorb them into the ranks of good citizenship. America must be kept American. For this purpose it is necessary to continue a policy of restricted immigration. It would be well to make such immigration of a selective nature with some inspection at the source, and based either on a prior census or upon the record of naturalization.

Veterans.

No more important duty falls on the government of the United States than the adequate care of its veterans. Those suffering disabilities incurred in the service must have sufficient hospital relief and compensation. Their dependents must be supported. Rehabilitation and vocational training must be completed. All of this service must be clean, must be prompt and effective, and it must be administered in a spirit of the broadest and deepest human sympathy. If investigation reveals any present defects of administration or need of legislation, orders will be given for the immediate correction of administration, and recommendations for legislation should be given the highest preference. But I do not favor the granting of a bonus.

Coal.

The cost of coal has become unbearably high. It places a great burden on our industrial and domestic life. The public welfare requires a reduction in the price of fuel. With the enormous deposits in existence, failure of supply ought not to be tolerated. Those responsible for the conditions in this industry should undertake its reform and free it from any charge of profiteering.

The report of the coal commission will be before the congress. It comprises all the facts. It represents the mature deliberations and conclusions of the best talent and experience that ever made a national survey of the production and distribution of fuel. I do not favor government ownership or operation of coal mines. The need is for action under private ownership that will secure greater continuity of production and greater public protection.

Reorganization.

A special joint committee has been appointed to work out a plan for a reorganization of the different departments and bureaus of the government more scientific and economical than the present system. With the exception of the consolidation of the War and Navy departments and some minor details, the plan has the general sanction of the President and the cabinet. It is important that reorganization be enacted into law at the present session.

Agriculture.

Aided by the sound principles adopted by the government, the business of the country has had an extraordinary revival. Looked at as a whole, the nation is in the enjoyment of remarkable prosperity. Industry and commerce are thriving. For the most part agriculture is successful, eleven staples having risen in value from about $5,300,000,000 two years ago to about $7,000,000,000 for the current year. But range cattle are still low in price, and some sections of the wheat area, notably Minnesota, North Dakota, and on west, have many cases of actual distress. With his products not selling on a parity with the products of industry, every sound remedy that can be devised should be applied for the relief of the farmer.

The distress is most acute among those wholly dependent upon one crop. Wheat acreage was greatly expanded and has not yet been sufficiently reduced. A large amount is raised for export, which has to meet the competition in the world market of large amounts raised on land much cheaper and much more productive.

No complicated scheme of relief, no plan for government fixing of prices, no resort to the public treasury will be of any permanent value in establishing agriculture. Simple and direct methods put into operation by the farmer himself are the only real sources for restoration.

Muscle Shoals.

The government is undertaking to develop a great water power project known as Muscle Shoals, on which it has expended many million dollars. The work is still going on. Subject to the right to retake in time of war, I recommend that this property with a location for auxiliary steam plant and rights of way be sold. This would end the present burden of expense and should return to the treasury the largest price possible to secure.

Reclamation.

By reason of many contributing causes, occupants of our reclamation projects are in financial difficulties, which in some cases are acute. Relief should be granted by definite authority of law empowering the secretary of the interior in his discretion to suspend, readjust, and reassess all charges against water users. This whole question is being considered by experts.

Highways and Forests.

Highway and reforestation should continue to have the interest and support of the government. Everyone is anxious for good highways. I have made a liberal proposal in the budget for the continuing payment to the states by the federal government of it share for this necessary public improvement. No expenditure of public money contributes so much to the national wealth as for building good roads.

Reforestation has an importance far above the attention it usually secures. A special committee of the senate is investigating this need, and I shall welcome a constructive policy based on their report.

Monroe Doctrine.

It is 100 years since our country announced the Monroe doctrine. This principle has been ever since, and is now, one of the main foundations of our foreign relations. It must be maintained. But in maintaining it we must not forget that a great change has taken place. We are no longer a weak nation, thinking mainly of defense, dreading foreign imposition. We are great and powerful. New powers bring new responsibilities. Our duty then was to protect ourselves. Added to that, our duty now is to help give stability to the world. We want idealism. We want that vision which lifts men and nations above themselves. These are virtues by reason of their own merit. But they must not be cloistered; they must not be impractical; they must not be ineffective. America has taken her place in the world as a republic—free, independent, powerful. The best service that can be rendered to humanity is the assurance that this place will be maintained.

DICE USED BY THE ANCIENTS

Picture on Pottery of Men Playing With Cubes in New Mexico Valley.

How a vanished race which once lived in the isolated Rio Mimbras valley of Southern New Mexico "shot craps" has been revealed by prehistoric pottery dug up near Deming. In a scientific report just issued by the Smithsonian institution Dr. J. Walker Fewkes of the bureau of American ethnology describes crockery showing scenes of and figures from the daily life of a people whose very existence was doubted until a few years ago.

On the bottom of a broken jar there is a gambling scene representing three men playing a game with dice, the spots on which can be plainly seen.

This artistic work was accomplished in an isolated valley whose rivers have no outlet to the sea. It lies midway between the Pueblo and Mexican region, and shows affinities with the culture of both.—Detroit News.

Loneliness of Youth.

There is no loneliness to equal the loneliness of youth at war with its surroundings in a world that does not care.—Rudyard Kipling.

Cattle Thresh Wheat in Corsica.

Grain is threshed from the heads of wheat by hoofs of cattle in Corsica, and a sieve then used to separate the food from the chaff.

.. Hawkeye .. State News

Interesting Items Gathered From all Parts of Iowa

A reward of $50 is being offered for information regarding the whereabouts of Albert Siemers, who left Monticello, on November 21st and has not been seen since.

The Van Buren county home which has been under construction for some time was ready for occupancy December 1st. The cost of the modern institution was about $35,000.

Iowa's 27th county warehouse board to receive official recognition by the State Board of Agriculture has been approved. The new board will act in Carroll county.

Wholesalers report an embargo by the government of New England trade on account of a moth infection and as a result Iowa must depend on Minnesota and Wisconsin forest for its supply.

As our country is engaging in great industrial activities and her population is drifting to the cities, Iowa is entering the most substantial period of prosperity she has ever known in time of peace.

Judge William Hough of Indianapolis will be a speaker at the meeting of the Iowa Realtors' association in Davenport December 18th to 20th. Judge Hough headed a successful movement to reduce his state tax levy $1,364,000 last year.

Fish in Iowa may frolic with freedom in the lakes and streams during the next six months. The fish may hibernate under the ice during the winter months. No one may ensnare them until May 15, 1924. The protective fish law will be enforced.

New and more elaborate decorations, more exhibits, better entertainment and larger crowds will characterize the 1924 Des Moines automobile show at the Coliseum February 25th to March 1st, inclusive, is announced following a meeting of local dealers.

Corn husking in Iowa is more than 75 per cent completed, according to the weekly summary of the Iowa Crop and Weather Service. Winter wheat, grasses and pastures, were greatly benefitted by light rain and snow. Hog cholera and flu are reported more prevalent than a year ago.

The new Union Trust and Savings bank at Dubuque was formally opened when fifty merchants of Central avenue staged a huge parade of floats over a mile long and a street dance in the evening attended by thousands of Dubuquers. Three bands, the Community band, the Ladies' band and the new Firemen's band were engaged for the day.

Retailers in all the businesses which depend somewhat on rural demand for their products are optimistic about the outlook for winter and spring. This optimism is substantiated by well filled shelves of stock, increased sales forces and other necessary preparations for one of the biggest business innings the state has ever had.

More than 100,000 tons of sugar beets, the largest crop handled by the factory of the Northern Sugar Corporation, has just been harvested from farms in the northern section of Iowa and southern Minnesota. There have been 65,000 tons already brought into the beet sheds and of this amount 50,000 tons have already been sliced.

The brisk sale of automobiles in Iowa this year establishes the ability of Iowans to buy. The farmers of the nation have a billion dollars more to spend than they did a year ago and Iowa agriculturalists share in the improved market which makes this a reality. "There is virtually no unemployment in the cities. Bank deposits continue to show an increase particularly in the savings accounts.

The new corn being sold by the farmers' elevator of Albion is being graded lower on account of the moisture content. The two cars shipped have graded 4 and 5 and in a normal corn year the grain grades 3 and 4. Last year a great deal of the corn was marketed by now, but this year only about 10 per cent of what was sold last year has been marketed to date. It is thought the farmers are holding their corn for higher prices.

Christmas is only a few weeks away and will be here before we realize it. The stores are filled with Christmas merchandise and the clerks are eager to serve you. Don't wait until the last minute to purchase your gifts. By buying now you'll not only be able to avoid those hectic hours just preceding Christmas Day, but you'll be able to make your purchases before all the goods are picked over and you have to take what is left. Decide to do it early. Then do it.

Hotels of Des Moines estimate that 3000 towels worth about $1000 are carried away every month by patrons. Many guests leave everything from shoe buttoners and scissors to towels stolen from other hotels and pullmans so some months they break about even.

Before the close of the year, life sales of life insurance continue at the rate for the first ten months, 1923 will set a record for volume of life insurance written in Iowa. Of this record volume an increasingly large proportion will have been taken by farmers.

WHEN SANTA CLAUS IS PUZZLED

When there's any doubt about what Christmas Gift would be most appreciated, Santa Claus will never go wrong in presenting a Certificate of Deposit.

With as little as One Dollar you can open an account at this Bank for any of your relatives or friends. It's a Gift that can be added to at any time, and which, by growing steadly, will some day make possible the attainment of some long-cherished desire.

Come In Today

First National Bank

"The Bank for Everybody'."

Christmas Greetings

At the Christmas time as well as the whole year round our customers find our merchandise of the highest quality and in the long run the best for them to buy.

If you are planning on doing any Tiling for next year, we have a proposition to offer. We have several loads of Tile coming in, and if you want to haul them out this winter while you have the spare time and while the roads are good, we will be able to let you have the Tile and you can make settlement for them April 1st, 1924.

We have unloaded a car of Wire and now is a good time to do the Spring Fencing; this will enable you to give more attention to putting in the crops in the Spring. We also have a good line of Steel and Cedar Posts.

GATES——If you will leave an order for Gates before January 1st, 1924, we will be able to sell you a good 16 foot gate for $9.00; but remember we must have the order before January 1st. You will not necessarily have to take out the gate until early in the spring.

Northern Lumber Co.

Building Materials of All Kinds

That Gobbler for Christmas

By CLARA DELAFIELD

They Just Could Not Kill the Bird They Had Watched Grow Up From Babyhood

"Wal, marm, I might let you have the gobbler for Christmas," said Silas Hicks. "He'll be a fine bird by then. But I dunno. He's the only one I've reared out of that brood, and I'm kinder attached to him."

However, he promised Mrs. James finally to let her have the gobbler.

Silas Hicks was not a sentimental man. He was a farmer, and in business for the money it brought him. He had a brother John, who had gone to the city and made money hand over fist. John was a crusty old bachelor and largely devoid of the sense of family obligations.

There had been a time, five years before, when things went badly with Silas. There was a heavy mortgage to meet, the crops had been a failure, and he had been in danger of dispossession. Besides, his wife was on her sickbed, from which she was never to arise.

Silas had gone in his despair to the brother whom he had not seen for years. John had turned him down flat.

"Father left you the farm because you played up to him, and kicked me out into the world," he said. "Now I've made my pile, you have the nerve to come to me for help. I don't see it, Silas."

"My wife's sick," pleaded Silas, "and you've got more money than you know what to do with."

"Oh, I can find a use for it," John rejoined caustically. "Maybe if you'd shown a little sympathy for me when I was hoofing it on the sidewalks I'd have a little more for you, Silas."

Silas went home. Somehow he managed to survive the crisis. But his wife died, and he grew lonelier and lonelier. If he had had a few thousand dollars he would have sold out and gone south to live, somewhere away from this bleak New England coast. But he could just manage to make both ends meet. Daily he cursed his brother in his heart.

He started raising turkeys, and that was a failure. Only the gobbler lived. He used to watch the bird with interest. The gobbler would come clucking after him for crumbs. And it was odd how it looked like John.

He began to call it John. It had a queer way of putting its head upon one side and calling, as John used to do when he was a boy. Gradually, to old Silas' fancy, the gobbler became an effigy of John. He hated it.

He hated it, and he was attached, too. He made a sort of pet of the gobbler. He wanted it to love him, so far as a turkey gobbler is capable of love. Then, when Christmas came, he was going to cut its throat very slowly, bending its head back to see the terror in its eyes. He would thus have his revenge upon his brother.

"Yes, marm, John's thriving nicely and putting on flesh," he told Mrs. James. "Here he comes. John! John!"

Up came the big gobbler, put its head on one side and surveyed Silas to see if he had any bread crumbs.

"Isn't he the cutest thing!" said Mrs. James. "I don't wonder you can't bear to let me have it, Mr. Hicks."

"Oh, that'll be all right, marm," responded Silas cheerily.

An elemental hatred for the gobbler had come to fill his heart. Christmas was at hand. He pictured how, on the morrow, he would grab the bird, he would insult it with all the turkey abuse that he had picked up from it; then it should die slowly, as he would like John to die.

On Christmas morning he found a letter from an unknown correspondent in the city. Opening it, he read that his brother John was dead.

John had left forty thousand dollars, half of which was to go to Silas, "in memory of our boyhood times together, and in the hope that any ill feeling, if it existed, has long ago been canceled."

Silas stared at the letter. His eyes grew misty. He saw John again as a little boy upon the farm; his heart went out to him across the years.

Gobble! Gobble! The big turkey was standing in front of him, its head on one side, one claw raised, begging for crumbs.

"You great big faker, you!" bellowed Silas.

The gobbler, looking a little alarmed, retreated a step or two.

* * * * * * *

"Oh, Mr. Hicks, I'm willing to pay for that turkey, but somehow I—I feel I just can't eat him after seeing him grow up from babyhood."

"Wal, Mrs. James, I was kinder feeling that way myself," said Silas Hicks, scratching his head. "You see, I'm selling out and going south, and I was figuring on taking him along and raising turkeys."

(©, 1923, Western Newspaper Union.)

Fine Way to Keep a Face Looking Happy

MRS. LARKIN is a little old lady who lives in a red house just over the hill. The children troop by her door-yard every day on their way to school. They always look up at her windows, for Mrs. Larkin is sure to be at one of them, nodding and smiling in the pleasantest fashion.

Mrs. Larkin has cookies in jars and Mrs. Larkin can knit red mittens faster than anybody else in town. Both cookies and mittens find their way to the mouths and hands of half the children in the village.

At Christmas time, the little old lady is busier than ever. But the nicest thing about her is the expression on her face. To say it shines, does not half describe the brightness of it. One day Tilly Tinker said to her:

"What makes your face like a candle, Mrs. Larkin?"

"Bless you, Tilly!" laughed the little old lady, "What do you mean?"

Tilly had difficulty in explaining, but she finally succeeded in making Mrs. Larkin understand what she meant by comparing her face to a candle.

"I'll tell you a secret," said the little old lady in a whisper: "At Christmas time I always pretend I'm looking at a Christmas tree! A tree with a thousand candles, everyone lighted! So perhaps some of them are reflected on my face. It's a fine way to keep a face looking happy. Just try it yourself!"

Perhaps Mrs. Larkin found the best recipe for happiness—she filled her hands with good works and her mind with the brightness of lighted candles. —Martha B. Thomas.

(©, 1923, Western Newspaper Union.)

Christmas, the Snow and the Sleigh Ride

IT WAS Christmas night. The moon was shining and the snow sparkled like diamonds more rare and wonderful than are ever seen in a jewelry shop.

The bells jingled, the frosty air seemed to say in its cool, cheery way:

"I'm here. I brush against your faces so you can feel me and my cold, bracing ways."

And the sleigh went merrily along.

Inside the sleigh were a man and a girl. And they were saying things which may not sound new to you.

"There is nothing in the world like love," was one of the things they said.

"And to be in love, and sleigh-riding on Christmas night after a perfect Christmas day—there is nothing in the world like it."

But it was as beautiful to them as though no one else had ever said these things. For beauty is not dependent upon novelty. It depends on something far deeper and truer.

There is nothing new about love.

There is nothing new about Christmas.

But that doesn't make either of them any less wonderful!—Mary Graham Bonner.

(©, 1923, Western Newspaper Union.)

Beat Beauty Parlor for Christmas Time

WE BUY wreathes for the window, tinsel for the Christmas tree, holly for packages and flowers for the table, but what about giving some attention to our faces?

Have you ever thought about that?

Dress your face up in a smile,
Wear it late and early.
It puts the sunshine in your eyes,
And makes your hair look curly!

There is an undeniable magic in happiness—it beautifies!

Happiness makes holiday in the heart, and the face reflects it.

Better than a thousand candles is the light of cheer.

"J-O-Y" is the sign that hangs over the best beauty parlor, and it serves men as well as women. If you would become handsome, become joyous first.

And joy comes from living and giving with kindliness and good-will!—Martha B. Thomas.

(©, 1923, Western Newspaper Union.)

BOTH DISAPPOINTED

He—I expected you'd stand under the mistletoe when I called.

She—And I expected you'd have an armful of Christmas presents.

ERASTUS' CHRISTMAS TREE

"Where's yo' gwine?" was the question, as Erastus passed by with a good-sized Christmas tree. "I's been where I's gwine," was the rather enigmatical answer.—C. G. Hazard.

(©, 1923, Western Newspaper Union.)

Who Is Your Neighbor? A Good Christmas Game

THIS is a very lively Christmas game, and one especially useful in an emergency, for it can be played without preparation of any kind. Arrange as many chairs as there are players in the form of a circle. When this has been done the party must divide into sides, one side being blindfolded and taking possession of the chairs in such a way that each has a vacant chair at his right hand.

The other side then move silently into the middle of the circle, and at a given signal they must all mysteriously and noiselessly seat themselves in the vacant chairs. At the word "sing" the unblindfolded players must all start singing. A well-known tune may be arranged beforehand, or they may all sing anything that happens to occur to them at the time.

All endeavor to disguise their voices as much as possible. The blindfolded players must listen attentively, the object of each being to guess correctly who his singing right-hand neighbor is.

Those whose guesses are correct have their bandages removed, and change places with their singing neighbors. The unsuccessful guessers must try again. One guess only is allowed each time.—F. H. Sweet.

(©, 1923, Western Newspaper Union.)

There Is Satisfaction in Trust in the Future

SHE was shabby and old and stooped. As she walked along the streets people turned and looked after her with pitying eyes and thought to themselves what a hard lot hers must be. Yet, had they but known the truth she needed no pity, for, although poor in material wealth, she was far richer in other things than many of those who looked upon her with compassion. For her heart was full of contentment, she had a childlike faith and trust in the future and she was content with her lot in life, realizing that while she lacked many of the things which wealth could buy, God had given her many other gifts instead: The fullness of years, good health, a little fireside to call her own, an income which, if very meager, was enough to supply her with necessities, and best of all, the ability to see and enjoy the things which were hers. So, while the merry Christmas throng looked at her pityingly, as they passed, she went serenely on her way as happy and as much at peace with everything as if all the earth was hers.—Katherine Edelman.

(©, 1923, Western Newspaper Union.)

Busy Mailmen Add to Our Christmas Cheer

FROM house to house they go with cards and calendars of cheer, presents and surprises.

Always cheery, never complaining, how much they add to our Christmas joy and pleasure!

If cross expressions were worn by those who brought us our Christmas presents it would not be the same. And yet they work so hard, so overhard, they carry so much, and all to others!

Our mailmen are a pretty wonderful lot and our Christmas time is added to by them to a very big degree.

It seems as though we should do our part to give a little cheer to our mailmen in gratitude and appreciation of the spirit in which they do their work.—Mary Graham Bonner.

(©, 1923, Western Newspaper Union.)

THE RIGHT COSTUME, O. K.

Hubby—So you're going to take part in the Christmas Eve entertainment. What part do you take?

Wifey—I take the leading part. I'm Christmas Eve herself.

KEEP A CHRISTMAS RECORD

Why wouldn't it be fun for a family to keep a record book in which to preserve the interesting things about the annual Christmas celebration from year to year? Some people keep a record of the important happenings of their everyday lives, but it is rather inconvenient for the average person to take the time to make it complete enough to be more than a date and a line or two. A Christmas record would give all the details of the family's Christmas presents, the names of the guests, the menu of the Christmas dinner, the amusements and games, and maybe a tracing of the baby's first little shoe! Every succeeding year would add to its value and interest.—C. F. Wadsworth.

(©, 1923, Western Newspaper Union.)

FUGITIVE SLAIN; KILLED 3, SHOT 9

Machine Gun Conquers Negro Outlaw in the Canebrakes in Mississippi.

BLACK SLEW WHITE PLANTER

Drew, Miss.—Mortally wounded by 20 machine gun bullets, Joe Pullen, negro, who for more than seven hours held a posse of several hundred men at bay, was captured. He died soon after he had been brought here and was lying in the main street with approximately 150 persons, most of them members of the posse, gathered about him.

Three white men are dead and nine wounded as the result of the negro's outbreak. The trouble started when Pullen shot and killed W. Sanders, a planter, who went to the Pullen cabin on a business errand.

R. L. Metheven was shot to death as he approached a ditch in which Pullen had taken refuge. A man named Hess, a member of a sheriff's posse, also was killed there.

After killing Sanders, Pullen ran to his home, obtained a shotgun and a supply of ammunition, and took to the canebrake.

He was closely pursued by posses totaling more than 1,000 men and several battles resulted, during which eight white men were wounded.

Aftetr waging battle with the negro several hours without success, the posse obtained a machine gun in Clarksdale and besieged the negro in a deep ditch in the canebrake where he was surrounded.

A party of six men mounted the machine gun on the bank of the drainage ditch and for an hour or more poured a stream of lead into the section where the negro had taken refuge.

It was during this fight that the twelfth victim of the battle fell. He was J. L. "Bud" Doggett, a member of the machine gun squad. A bullet from the negro's pistol pierced Doggett's left side in the region of the For[illegible] from [illegible] is g[illegible] trave[illegible] [illegible]

Bull Makes Another Payment to Uncle Sam

New York.—Payment of the second semi-annual installment of interest on the British government's war debt to the United States and the first payment on account of principal since the debt agreement was signed was made here in Liberty bonds. The total involved is $92,000,000, of which $69,000,000 is interest payment and $23,000,000 represents principal. It is estimated that by paying in Liberty bonds rather than cash the British government has saved approximately $1,800,000, since all bonds have been purchased at a discount of more than a point.

Coolidge Will Not Block Bonus to Speed Tax Laws

Washington. — President Coolidge will not attempt to stand in the way of early enactment by congress of a soldiers' bonus bill. The President, it was made clear, has no intention of attempting to dictate to congress regarding its procedure in the consideration of tax revision. While he is against the bonus and for the Mellon tax-reduction program, Mr. Coolidge insists that congress must be permitted to exercise its own judgment, and a White House spokesman declared that the President will be satisfied with any plan which will expedite consideration of tax reduction.

Show Governor Small Put Millions in Illinois Banks

Springfield.—Evidence produced before Master in Chancery Charles G. Briggle in the civil proceedings against Gov. Len Small for an accounting on state funds while he was treasurer showed $9,700,000 was deposited in the Grant Park bank by Small as treasurer, and that in all other banks of the state there was deposited $6,033,000.

Koretz' Secret Love Nest Found by Chicago Probers

Chicago.—The discovery of a secret apartment in which Leo Koretz, $5,000,000 oil bubble swindler, maintained for four years or more a carefully veiled affair with a woman not his wife, was made by state's attorney's investigators.

President Coolidge, Incognito, Mingles With Capital Shoppers

Washington.—The President of the United States, overcoatless and gloveless, in a blue serge suit and pearl gray hat, walked unrecognized through crowds of Christmas shoppers muffled to the eyes against winter winds.

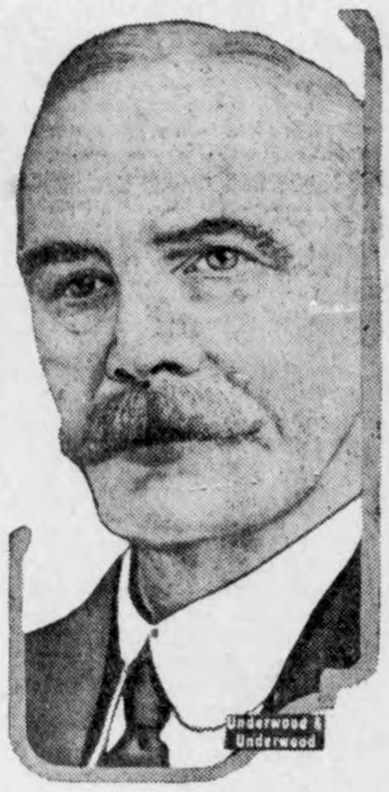
New Home for Governor.

Belfast.—The Ulster government has purchased Hillsborough castle, County Down, as an official residence for the governor general, the duke of Abercorn, whose seat, Baron's court, is too remote from Belfast.

Breaks Cement "Trust."

New York.—The Cement Manufacturers' Protective association, which is said to have spent $1,000,000 yearly in exchanging statistics on production and use of cement, was dissolved in a decree signed by Federal Judge Knox.

LORD LAWRENCE



Lord Charles Napier Lawrence, whose recent elevation to a barony has added another woman to the long list of American-born peeresses, as his wife was Catherine Wiggin-Sumner, daughter of the late Frederick Wiggin of New York.

OIL SWINDLER GONE

Chicago Lawyer Gets Away With $5,000,000, It Is Said.

Chicago.—Fake oil well promotions totaling about five million dollars—a swindle of proportions unprecedented in Chicago—were disclosed when State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe led detectives in a raid on the magnificently appointed offices of Leo Koretz, an attorney, who has occupied the entire third floor of the Majestic building at 22 West Monroe street, with spacious branch offices at the Drake hotel.

Friends and relatives of Attorney Koretz, prominent clubman and reputed multimillionaire, learned that the great Bayano River Trust of Panama was a myth—that the reported offer of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey of $25,000,000 for Koretz's one-fifth interest was only a dream—that Koretz was a fugitive.

Koretz is missing from his magnificently appointed offices. He fled a week ago, and a minute description of him was broadcast by radio by the police of New York city to all ocean liners which have left the port within the last few days.

From his own mother the man obtained $45,000, which he ostensibly "invested" in the mythical oil and timber project in Panama, which he pyramided and pyramided again until it grew from an original $500,000 fake project to a $5,000,000 fake project.

Girl Detective Posing as Bootlegger Traps 100

Richmond, Cal.—The downfall of more than 100 bootleggers operating in Richmond can be traced to the cleverness of Delta Halverson, twenty-two-year-old girl detective. Miss Halverson's methods were revealed when she was called to testify against John Casey. The girl said that she and a fellow operative, Frank Orsella, had gained the confidence of the illicit liquor dealers by operating a bootlegging establishment in the city.

Gain of Million Members Noted by Church Body

Columbus, O.—A gain of 1,000,000 in church members the last year was reported at the meeting of the executive committee of the federal council of the Churches of Christ in America, which began here. The committee numbers 150 church leaders, repreeenting 29 Protestant denominations, with an adult membership of 20,000,000 and a constituency of 50,000,000.

Soldiers' Bonus Bill Wanted by Vets Again Introduced

Washington.—The soldiers' bonus bill in the form in which it will be urged by veterans' organizations was introduced in the house by Representative Mackenzie (Rep., Ill.) and referred to the ways and means committee. The bill is substantially the same as vetoed by the late President Harding. Minor changes are made to perfect the language.

U. S. Loves Its Tea; Buys 96 Million Pounds More

Washington.—Tea imported into the United States during the fiscal year ended June 30 totaled 96,267,920 pounds over the year preceding.

Crash Kills Four Students.

Boulder, Col.—Four were killed and three injured when an automobile crashed into a bobsled loaded with University of Colorado students which was speeding over a slippery road, hooked on behind another automobile.

Four Men Are Drowned.

Vicksburg, Miss.—Four men, one white and three negroes, were drowned when a small skiff in which they were attempting to reach the shore, capsized in Lake Centennia during a squall.

GERMANY ASKS RUHR SHOWDOWN

Stresemann to Deal Directly With Poincare, Says a Berlin Dispatch.

IS HOPEFUL FOR AGREEMENT

Berlin.—Germany is about to ask France to lay her cards on the table and name the conditions for a reparations settlement, and to especially state definitely what she intends to do with the Rhineland and Ruhr. Foreign Minister Stresemann revealed his intention confidentially in a conference with the German press.

Stresemann said he will ask Premier Poincare point blank whether he intends to keep the Ruhr and Rhineland permanently or only as pawns, and whether the committee of the reparations commission, to which America agreed to send unofficial representatives, shall investigate the ability to pay of Germany, including the Rhineland and Ruhr or of a rump Germany without the occupied regions.

The aim of this step is to start direct negotiations between Berlin and Paris coincident with the investigation through the reparations commission.

Stresemann believes France is not averse to such negotiations in view of the statements in the French press that Germany should make a new reparations offer and appoint a new ambassador to France.

Blizzard Covers Southwest; Nine Frozen to Death

Albuquerque, N. M.—Five persons, three women and two children, were found frozen to death at Blue Ranch Springs, about fifty miles southeast of Albuquerque. They perished in one of the worst blizzards that has swept over that section in many years. The party was traveling in two wagons loaded with wood and a few household effects. They are said to have attempted to build a fire with the wood in their wagons, but were unsuccessful, due to the high wind. Two boys and a negro were frozen to death near Clovis, N. M., and a man died of exposure in southeastern Arizona.

Bloc Gives "Old Guard" Shock in the Senate

Washington.—The senate deadlock over the election of a chairman of the interstate commerce committee almost ended in the election of a Democrat, Senator Smith of South Carolina. Smith lacked one vote to be elected. He led Cummins on all three ballots. It was the vote of Senator William Cabell Bruce (Dem.) of Maryland which prevented the extraordinary situation of having a Democratic chairman of a Republican committee.

Miss Ruth Muskrat, Indian Girl, Dines at White House

Washington.—An appeal for government help through more schools in leading the Indians of America "back to their rightful heritage of nobility and greatness," was presented to President Coolidge with such force and clarity by Miss Ruth Muskrat, a Cherokee Indian girl, a student at Mount Holyoke college, that the chief executive invited her to take lunch with him and Mrs. Coolidge.

Dawes One of Three Men Considered for War Debt Body

Washington.—Charles G. Dawes and George M. Reynolds of Chicago and Mortimer L. Schiff of New York are being discussed here as the most probable American financial experts to be named on the reparations commission to inquire into the fiscal affairs of Germany under the new proposal which the United States government has approved.

Senator Lodge Favors World Court If Made Independent

Washington.—Senator Henry Cabot Lodge (Rep., Mass.), majority leader of the senate and prominent advocate of the nomination of President Coolidge to succeed himself, has declared against American entry into the World court unless that tribunal be absolutely divorced from the League of Nations.

Former Office Boy Is New American Express Co. Head

New York.—Robert E. M. Cowie, who started work in the Cleveland office of the American Railway Express as an office boy forty years ago, was elected president of the corporation here. Mr. Cowie, formerly operating vice president of the company in the East, succeeds the late George C. Taylor, who died last month.

Vote to Call Off Strike.

Scranton, Pa.—The 17,000 anthracite mine workers employed by the Lehigh Valley Coal company in the Moosic-Pittston district, who have been on strike for a week voted to return to work.

City Looted by 3,000 Bandits.

Shanghai.—Three thousand bandits under the leadership of the notorious chieftains, Chen Yenteh and Wang San-ling, captured the town of Chaho Wednesday, burning and looting the houses and carrying off the magistrate.

COLONEL SALTZMAN

Col. Charles Mck. Saltzman, senior colonel of the signal corps, who will succeed Maj. Gen. George O. Squier as chief signal officer of the army when the latter retires on Dec. 31 on his own application. Colonel Saltzman, who is now stationed at Governor's island, N. Y., as signal officer of the Second Corps area, is a graduate of the Military academy class of 1896, and was attached to the cavalry for five years. During the World war he was in charge of the Washington office and was awarded the Distinguished Service Medal. As chief signal officer he will have the rank of major general.

U. S. MARKET REPORT

Weekly Marketgram by Bureau of Agricultural Economics.

Washington.—For the week ending Dec. 12.—LIVE STOCK—Chicago prices: Hogs, $7.10 for the top and $6.60@7.00 for the bulk. Medium and good beef steers, $8.25@11.50; butcher cows and heifers, $3.60@11.25; feeder steers, $4.50@8.00; light and medium weight veal calves, $7.75@10.00. Fat lambs, $11.25@13.35; feeding lambs, $11.00@12.75; yearlings, $8.25@11.25; fat ewes, $4.25@7.50.

FRUITS AND VEGETABLES—Sacked northern round white potatoes, $1.00@1.10 in Chicago, mostly 85c f. o. b. Onions, midwestern yellow varieties, $2.50@3.00 sacked per 100 lbs. consuming centers, $2.40 at Michigan shipping points. Danish cabbage steady in Chicago, at $20.00@24.00 bulk per ton.

HAY—No. 1 timothy, $24.75 Cincinnati, $26.00 Chicago, $19.50 Minneapolis, $28.50 St. Louis; No. 1 alfalfa, $28.00 Chicago, $24.00 Minneapolis; No. 1 prairie, $20.00 Chicago, $15.50 Minneapolis, $19.50 St. Louis.

GRAIN—No. 1 dark northern spring wheat, $1.12⅜@1.23⅜ Minneapolis; No. 3 hard winter wheat, $1.04 Chicago; No. 2 red winter wheat, $1.14@1.17 St. Louis; No. 3 yellow corn, 73½@74¼c Chicago, 76½@77½c St. Louis; No. 3 white oats, 43¼@44¼c Chicago, 41c Minneapolis.

DAIRY PRODUCTS—Butter, 92 score, 53c Chicago. Cheese at Wisconsin primary markets: Flats, 25c; twins, 22c; single daisies, 24c; double daisies, 23¾c; young Americas, 24¾c; longhorns, 24½c; square prints, 25c.

Radio Will Carry Voice of the Pope to the Whole World

Rome.—Only a few months will elapse before Pope Pius XI will be able to preach to the countless millions of Catholics throughout the world. A powerful wireless transmitter will be established in the Vatican, through which the living voice of the pope may be heard in the remotest corners of the earth.

House at Washington Names Woman Head of Committee

Washington.—For the first time a woman will be a congressional committee chairman. The Republican committee on committees of the house decided to make Mrs. Mae E. Nolan of San Francisco chairman of the committee on post office expenditures.

Coolidge Approves Private Charity to Aid Germany

Washington. — President Coolidge, through Senator Lenroot (Rep., Wis.) announced that the administration approves and desires to encourage to the utmost private charity for the relief of the people of Germany.

Snoopers at War on Rum Row Finds Allies in Gales

Highlands, N. J.—Icy gales kicked up such seas along the Jersey coast Friday that all but seven of the Christmas rum squadron of 20 vessels weighed anchor and withdrew to the open sea.

U. S. Destroyers to Hongkong.

Manila.—Six destroyers of the United States fleet in Asiatic waters were ordered from here to proceed under full speed to Hongkong.

Federals Defeat Mexican Rebels.

Juarez.—Official reports say Obregon forces defeated Estrada at Ocotlan. A rebel captain with 160 men and 125,000 pesos ($60,000) deserted Estrada during the fighting and joined with the federals.

Refuses $520,334 for Paintings.

Philadelphia.—Prince Felix Yousoupoff's offer of $520,334 for the return of the two Rembrandt paintings was refused by representatives of Joseph E. Widener, millionaire art collector of Philadelphia.

LEGISLATIVE NOTES

What the Iowa Legislators Are Doing at Special Session For Code Revision

In the belief that assessment of paving costs should not fall only upon abutting property owners, the Iowa Goods Roads association advocates the repeal of the present 12½ per cent tax law and the money thus collected refunded, it was revealed today in a statement issued by M. L. Bowman, executive secretary of the association. "There can be no doubt," says the statement, "that the abutting property is benefited by hard surfacing, but it must be remembered that for ordinary community use, a gravel road is all that is needed. It is the heavy trucks, the interstate and intercity traffic on these heavily traveled highways that make hard surfacing necessary."

Predicting that code revision would not be completed within the next six months by the present procedure, which he characterized as "kindergarten methods." Senator Bowman of Blackhawk county warned members of the senate against acceptance of "a new set of laws to govern Iowa's two and one-half millions of people as drafted by the code commission." Similar fears were expressed in the house by Representatives Harrison of Pottawattamie county when house file 215 governing divorce action, turned back to the house judiciary committee, was in process of debate.

There is no law that forbids the bobbing of women's hair, according to a ruling handed down by John Fletcher, assistant attorney general, who wrote an anxious inquirer from Marshalltown that it is very doubtful whether any restrictions shall be attempted in this art at the present special session. This, however, is only prophecy, and ih based upon the large number of ladies with 'bobbed' hair now voluntarily employed by the legislatures as stenographers and clerks in the assembly, who might make a formidable lobby against any such restriction if attempted."

Realization that revision of the code is a tremendous task of far greater difficulty and gravity than any save a few members had surmised, has dawned on the Iowa legislature. One after another of the members of committees could be heard to decleare as they filed out of committee meetings that much time would be required to even secure agreement on bills before they are reported for action in the two chambers. Proceeding slowly with the bills will be necessary and is extremely important was a commonly heard declaration.

After entangling itself in a maze of amendments, additions and changes in a two-hour discussion of revision of the Iowa divorce law, the house referred the bill at issue, house file 215, back to the judiciary committee for clarification and revision. The action followed two hours of impassioned debate on the question of whether or not the purposed revision would make Des Moines and Iowa a second Reno.

An address from the chair by Lieutenant Governor Hammill, urging senators to expedite the work of all committees that the work of code revision might be taken up in the chamber as rapidly as possible, featured one brief session of the upper body and the slow progress of the session was brought to the attention of members of the house by Speaker Anderson.

The house marked time while it quibbled over a code revision bill relating to the use of public highways. The measure was finally passed, 100 to 3, after being amended to prevent water and gas companies from getting perpetual franchises. The measure as passed limits the term of franchises of water and gas companies to 20 years.

The senate ordered the printing of 600 additional copies of four educational bills relating to the instructions of patriotism in schools, duties of the superintendent of public instruction, the state college of agriculture and duties of county superintendents.

Iowa legislators were entertained for an hour by the old settlers' quartet from Fairfield, the personnel of which is 100 per cent civil war veterans, who were in the city to attend the annual convention of the Iowa Horticultural society.

The special session of the legislature is costing the state approximately $2,500 a day to be added to the cost of code revision, according to Secretary of State Walter Ramsay.

Legislators of both houses say insurance legislation derogatory to the interests of any fraternal organization will not be passer.

Half a dozen additional petitions relating to the segregated insurance fund proposal have been received in the senate again.

It is now anticipated that many code revision bills will have become laws before the holiday recess.

One or two bills have revealed to members that there is probably more than one joker imbedded in the technical phraseology of bills passed by the code revision committee.

With a program embodying fifty-one suggested changes in the Iowa liquor laws, John B. Hammond, Des Moines chief of police, was at the state house in the interest of a plan to make Iowa still more arid. Hammond's plans for fixing the dry lid tighter on the state has the approval of both the Women's Christian Temperance union and the Anti-saloon league.

GOVERNOR N. E. KENDALL
Who called the Special Session of the Fortieth General Assembly to revise the Iowa Code.

The divorce bill now reported of the judiciary committee on house side will be returned as mitted by the committee on code vision with a provision that "the nocent party in divorce suits remarry at the expiration of a months' period with permission of court. An amendment provides person prohibited from remarr shall, during said period of time, or cohabit with any person in state under a marriage consumm in another state."

Two thousand, one hundred twenty-four dollars and ninety c will be paid out of the treasury the state of Iowa to members of general assembly, over and ab their regular salaries, for the ex ordinary compensation for mile One hundred fifty-nine men d such compensatian at the rate of cents a mile for the round tri 108 representatives, fifty senat and Lieutenant Governor John H mil.

The judiciary committee of house reported after a two and a h hour session that no appreci headway had been made with seve laws under consideration. The co mittee on agriculture, said to h one of the most difficult pieces wark of any committee, finds the t of putting together the loose en left by the last assembly one endless entanglements.

The members of both houses tr el a total distance of 21,249 mi coming to and going home from t session. The house members, be more numerous, capture the larg share of the total mileage allowan receiving $1,458.70 for traveling combinde total of 14,587 miles, wh the senators get $666.20 for travel a combined total of 6,662 miles.

A plea for the economical condu of the state's business was sound with the filing with members of t Iowa legislature of the annual repo of the treasurer of state by W. Burbank. In sounding the call f efficient handling of the public bu ness, Burbank in his report points o that the general cash on hand is no only $5,230,653.

The first bill to pass both hous at this session was a measure pr viding for the payment of membe salaries twice a month during the e tra session, instead of the regul system of making payment. Th members receive $1000 each for ea session except special sessions wh the are paid at the rate of $10 p day.

Giving renewed evidence of the determination to work hard an long at the great task of revisi the code of Iowa, the senate adopte a motion to meet at 9 a. m. instea of at 10 a. m. the usual hour. Th change was made in order to gi committees more time to work in th forenoon.

Several jokers have already be found in the superficial scanning the school, liquor and divorce law it is pointed out, and a number others are said to contain subt phrasing, the intent of which mu be clearly defined before they can reported out of committee.

Those bills which contain little no controversial matter will be re ported in scads by committees both houses with the intent to g as many of them as possible on th calendars for actual work of passa beginning next week.

The lower house of the Iowa le islature resolved itself into a fre for all debating society over a seem ingly insignificant code revision bi which was intended to make clear the present laws regarding divorc and remarriage.

The A. F. & A. M. lodge of Hard county through their Representativ has presented a petition to the legi lature for a law making reading the Bible in public schools compu sory.

Little committee work has bee accomplished on the educational bi and those governing motor vehicle drainage and the board of control.

Errors which would practically nu lify the law were found in one bi and was explained as an oversight by one of the code commission. Th was cited as typical of many dan gers the legislature is confronted with.

Senator Bowman: "We are dis regarding the present laws of Iowa and are practically entering a ses sion of entirely new legislation. The word 'suggestion' in the authorization of the code commission work has been interpreted by them far too lib erally, and becomes more apparent as the task of revision devolves."

ominent People

r of Rasputin and His Paintings

Art patrons prepared to clean their spectacles and open their ears with the arrival of Prince Felix Youssoupov of Russia, whose declared intention is to regain from Joseph E. Widener, wealthy Philadelphia collector, two paintings, "A Portrait of a Man" and "A Portrait of a Woman," that he sold two years ago when in need of cash.

Prince Felix admits being the leader of the slayers of the Monk Rasputin, confessor of the czarina, whose bullet-riddled body was fished from the River Neva in Petrograd, where it had been deposited through a hole in the ice by his enemies. He is the scion of one of the most ancient Muscovite families.

Critics dispute whether the paintings are Rembrandts or Vermeers. When he escaped from Russia Prince Felix took them and a few other valuable art objects, and two years ago dener bought the portraits in London at a reported price of $500,000 for vate gallery, probably the best in existence. It was understood the con- alled for their resale to the prince at the old price plus interest, within rs and one-half to three years, providing he agreed not to dispose of ubsequently to some one else.

ey-Gilman Romance Comes to End

rs. William Ellis Corey, wife of merican steel manufacturer, has granted a divorce by the Tri- of the Seine. Mrs. Corey's suit ased on the grounds of deser- Prior to her marriage to Mr. , Mrs. Corey was Mabelle Gil- prominent on the American stage musical comedy artist.

The romance of Mabelle Gilman William E. Corey was the com- e of elements fused from the ican stage, American industry and ican society and fashioned into orm of what approaches a fiction- outline.

Both began life unpretentiously. Gilman as a young girl in Cali- a with aspiration for fame and ne on the stage; Corey as an tious coal miner in the Middle . She became one of the leading cal comedy actresses of her gen- on; he one of the towering fig- of the steel industry. He fell in love with the singing dancer. He told wife of the infatuation and induced her to divorce him, at the same time ng $1,000,000 upon her and making provision for their children. Mr. y, then president of the United States Steel corporation at an unprece- ted salary, followed Miss Gilman to New York and, after sending her to rope to study for grand opera, announced their engagement. They were rried in 1907, after a courtship of two years.

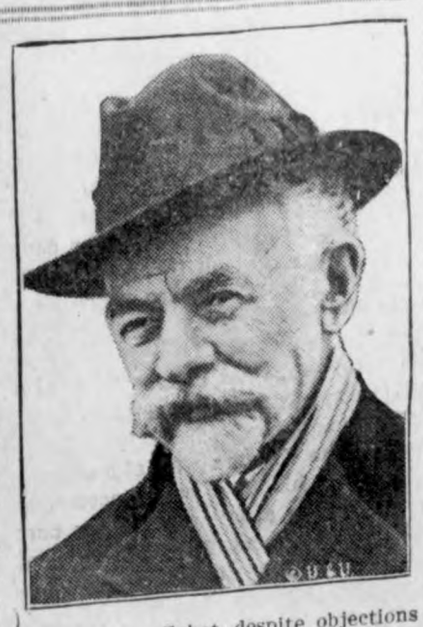
American Translation" of the Bible

Dr. Edward J. Goodspeed of the University of Chicago is the center of a controversy that revolves about him and his work, "The New Testament: an American Translation." Several newspapers are printing his revision serially and the controversy is waxing warmer as the public reads his text. The direct opposition of opinion is shown by the following expressions: An editorial in the Christian Century asserts that "for younger people who have their intellectual and religious habits in formation, it would be a mistake to make common use of the older and less understandable King James version."

The Indianapolis Star says editorially: "Every change so far observed has transformed stately, often poetic and rhythmical language into the prosaic and commonplace. Apparently a comprehension of the beauty of language of the Bible has never tered into the professor's soul. The most beautiful work of literature in e English language should not be tinkered with in this way."

Dr. Goodspeed says his revision is warranted by the fact that there is now better understanding of the Greek language and the modern translator has greater number of Greek texts to study. He says the English New Testament ought not to need a glossary and a commentary to make it intelligible. e holds that pages of obscurities can be found in the New Testament and points out that retranslation and revision of the English New Testament have en in continuous process for 400 years.

Cabots, It Appears, Speak to Johnsons



The hoary New England tradition that "Lowells speak only to Cabots and Cabots speak only to God" was proved wholly mythical just before the opening of congress when Senator Henry Cabot Lodge of Massachusetts graciously chatted with Magnus Johnson, Farmer-Laborite senator-elect from Minnesota. It may be that Senator Johnson's Scandinavian accent mingled strangely with the precise enunciation of Nahant, but each managed to make the other understand what he was talking about. In fact Senator Lodge said afterward that Senator Johnson had "a most engaging and impressive personality." For his part Senator Johnson went away proclaiming Senator Lodge "a very nice man."

The whole country has been more or less interested in the Cabot myth since Judge Audenried of Philadelphia granted the petition of Harry H. and Myrtle Kabotchnick to change their name to Cabot, despite objections by Cabots residing in Massachusetts, and the Pennsylvania Society of the Order of the Founders and Patriots.

The Swedes, however, stick to their own names, no matter how many John Johnsons and Carl Carlsons there may be. Some months ago five of the largest Swedish colleges sponsored a movement for a name reform bureau. Letters were sent to all the Swedish newspapers to sound out sentiment. Swedish sentiment was all against a change.

That Day Long Ago

By F. H. SWEET

(© 1923, Western Newspaper Union.)

Solemnly, pleadingly, church bells are ringing
To us a message across the white snow,
Tenderly, lovingly, to us are bringing Tidings that first were brought ages ago;
Tidings that make men's hearts
Soften and glow
As on that Christmas day
Ages ago.

Joyfully, tenderly, church bells are chiming
To us their greetings across the deep snow,
Bringing fresh hope to the hearts that are climbing
Upward in search of that feeling of glow,
Such as the shepherds felt
Ages ago,
When they were called by the Star's tender glow.

What Christmas Brought to Him

By LAURA ELAINE CAMERON

Back to His Old Job, the Present Walter Manners Needed Most

His Cup Was Full to Overflowing With Yuletide Joy

AS WALTER MANNERS stumbled out of Clarkson's store he felt that Christmas was indeed going to be a dreary time for him and his family. His hands were clenched tightly as he came out into the glare of winter sunshine, and his face showed a dull red—the hue which creeps over a man's face when insult or humiliation has come to him.

For twenty years of service to old Clarkson, twenty years wherein he had given the best that was in him to a man who was reputed to be the most ill-tempered man in all Washburn—he had just been told that from now on his services would be dispensed with, and all because of a small mistake that had been made, which Clarkson in the blind rage which had taken hold of him, had laid on the shoulders of Manners.

It was hard, he told himself as he walked along, that a man who had given the best of his life in service could be cast away like an old glove. It must be that he was not as competent as other men, he told himself. For the hurt of dismissal had sunk its iron deeper into Walter Manner's soul than it would have done in the case of another man, for always he had been possessed of the feeling that he was not quite as capable as other men. Something within him always tried to belittle him to himself, and although he had often fought with this feeling and had tried to assure himself that he did as good or even better work than some, in spite of himself it came every now and then to torture him. Now, in the face of his recent dismissal, it came with added force, and he told himself over and over again that he was a failure or else old Clarkson would not have let him out. He never stopped to think that perhaps it was the long association with a man of Clarkson's type that had made him so diffident about his own worth.

He dreaded the thought of going home and telling his family the bad news. He reproached himself that he had not broken away from old Clarkson ten years before when he had an offer from young Peters, who had just then come to Washburn, and who had since made such a success. But then, as always, the fear of himself kept him from accepting and he had stayed on and borne the ill-temper of old man Clarkson since. His forty-five years hung heavily upon him as he went on and he looked with dread to the future, for his family was just at the age when a steady income was an absolute necessity.

He shuddered now as he thought of Christmas, when only a few hours ago he had been living in happy anticipation of the day. He had planned so many things; so many little surprises that would bring joy to his loved ones; but now that was all over, for how could he enter into the spirit of Christmas, weighed down with care and dread of the future as he was now?

Walter Manners had always been a man who set a great stress upon duty, and as he went along now the thought came to him that a real duty to his family lay before him. For he felt that he would be inflicting a great wrong upon them were he to go to them now with the story of his failure and to spoil their Christmas. What of his own feelings—surely he could be man enough to hide them for a few days for the sake of those he loved! After Christmas there would be time enough to tell them the dread news—to let them know what a miserable failure he was.

He decided then that he would not go home until his usual homecoming hour, lest it might create suspicion, so to kill time he wandered aimlessly around town. He stopped to gaze in Peters' window as he passed. He admitted to himself that there was a vast difference between the appearance of this store and Clarkson's. Here everything was up-to-date and attractive; the window arrangement such as might make anyone pause to look. Once he had broached this subject to old Clarkson, but had been met by such an outburst of wrath that he had never dared to open the subject again.

So engrossed was he with his thoughts that he never noticed that Clyde Peters was standing inside the window and gazing straight at him. He flushed a dull red again as the thought came to him that surely Peters would suspect something to see him wandering aimlessly around at what was usually the busiest time of the day at Clarkson's. But he nodded as pleasantly as he could to Peters and walked on.

Somehow he got through the evening without his family suspecting that there was anything amiss. He joined in the general gayety and helped with the decorations and various other little jobs, but all the while the heart within him was sick with misery. But he knew that the burden was his to bear alone, and the thought that he was saving his family from the truth for a few days gave him a little feeling of comfort.

At ten o'clock, after the smallest of the children had been put to bed and the Christmas tree had received all its trimmings, the door bell rang with a loud peal. Walter Manners opened it, thinking it was a neighbor or possibly a Christmas gift of some kind, but instead the tall figure of Peters stood in the doorway.

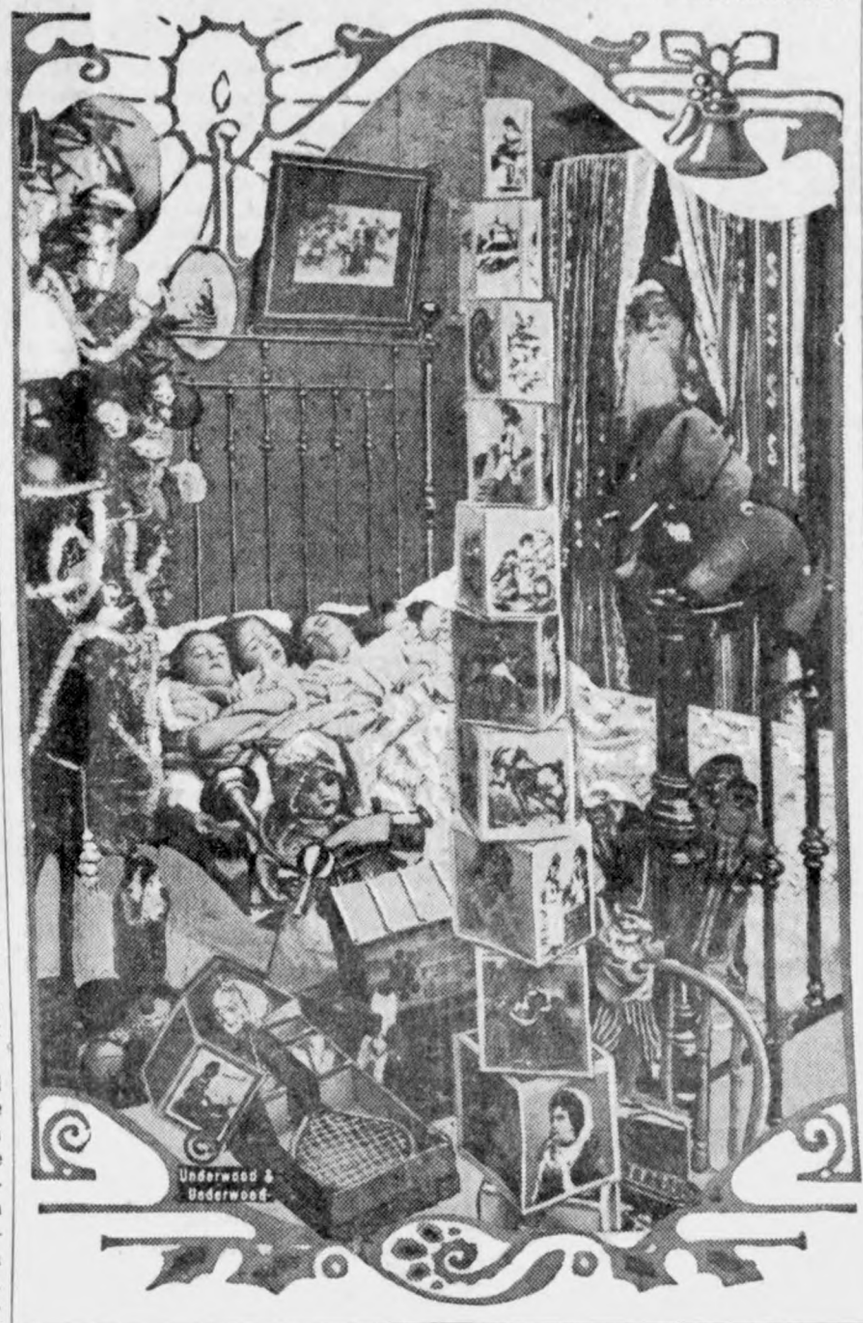
In a few minutes he told what he wanted—seeing Manners standing outside his store that afternoon and suspecting from his attitude that something was wrong, he had made inquiries and found he had left Clarkson's. Whereupon he had come to ask him if he would consider a position with him, and when he named the salary Walter Manners gasped, as it was nearly twice the figure he had been getting. And when, because of his high sense of duty that was his, he told Peters that Clarkson had let him out, Peters only laughed aloud and said: "As if that would make any difference. The wonder to all in Washburn has been how you could have stood him so long."

After that it did not take Walter Manners long to give consent to the offer, and his cup of joy seemed full as he bid good-night and good wishes to Peters at the door.

But it was full to overflowing a few minutes later when old Clarkson came puffing to the door and told him he could have his old job back again, with a small increase in salary. For although he never wanted to see Clarkson's store again, yet the feeling that he was wanted back in the old place, added to the offer which he had just accepted, gave him the confidence in himself which he had always been lacking, and that Christmas Walter Manners really came into his own, he had gotten the gift which he needed most of all.

(© 1923, Western Newspaper Union.)

When Dreams Come True



Yes, Santa Was Here

There Is Satisfaction in Trust in the Future

SHE was shabby and old and stooped. As she walked along the streets people turned and looked after her with pitying eyes and thought to themselves what a hard lot hers must be. Yet, had they but known the truth she needed no pity, for, although poor in material wealth, she was far richer in other things than many of those who looked upon her with compassion. For her heart was full of contentment, she had a childlike faith and trust in the future and she was content with her lot in life, realizing that while she lacked many of the things which wealth could buy, God had given her many other gifts instead: The fullness of years, good health, a little fireside to call her own, an income which, if very meager, was enough to supply her with necessities, and, best of all, the ability to see and enjoy the things which were hers. So, while the merry Christmas throng looked at her pityingly as they passed, she went serenely on her way as happy and as much at peace with everything as if all the earth was hers.—Katherine Edelman.

(© 1923, Western Newspaper Union.)

IT WILL BE EVER THUS

Football rules were changed several years ago to eliminate the dangerous mass formation but no one has set out to reform the late Christmas shoppin scrimmage.

Sure Relief FOR INDIGESTION

6 BELL-ANS Hot water Sure Relief

BELL-ANS

25¢ AND 75¢ PACKAGES EVERYWHERE

Garfield Tea

Was Your Grandmother's Remedy

For every stomach and intestinal ill. This good old-fashioned herb home remedy for constipation, stomach ills and other derangements of the system so prevalent these days is in even greater favor as a family medicine than in your grandmother's day.

BATHE YOUR EYES

Use Dr. Thompson's Eyewater. Buy at your druggist's or 1163 River, Troy, N. Y. Booklet.

LAND BARGAINS

Send for our new, low price list of Kimball County farms. Only $20 to $40 per acre. Easy terms. Agents wanted. AMERICAN STATE BANK, KIMBALL, NEBRASKA.

Location Wanted for Mills O. K. Mint Venders

In candy, drug or cigar stores, hotel, billiard rooms, etc. We put in machines on profit-sharing basis. One machine will pay your rent. Write us for proposition.

ALMA NOVELTY CO.
No. 1705, 343 S. Dearborn St., Chicago, Ill.

HONEY

Guaranteed extra fancy Clover Honey, in 10-lb. pails. Six pails to case. One case $7.20, F. O. B. Dunlap. OSCAR SKOW, Dunlap, Iowa

Hogs Raised on Most Farms.

Hogs are produced on three-fourths of the farms in the United States and represent over 10 per cent of the value of the nation's agricultural production.

MOTHER! GIVE SICK BABY "CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP"

Harmless Laxative to Clean Liver and Bowels of Baby or Child.

Even constipated, bilious, feverish, or sick, colic Babies and Children love to take genuine "California Fig Syrup." No other laxative regulates the tender little bowels so nicely. It sweetens the stomach and starts the liver and bowels acting without griping. Contains no narcotics or soothing drugs. Say "California" to your druggist and avoid counterfeits! Insist upon genuine "California Fig Syrup" which contains directions.—Advertisement.

Improvement.

"Our boss," said the henna blond stenographer, "our boss is polite. He never writes 'Please remit' on a bill overdue."

"Whatsa matter; 'fraid o' hurtin' their feelin's?" asked the chewing gum expert.

"Nah; he's just naturally polite in his ways. 'Stead o' sayin' 'Please remit,' he lets me type on th' bottom: 'P. S.—R. S. V. P. P. D. Q.'"

DEMAND "BAYER" ASPIRIN

Take Tablets Without Fear If You See the Safety "Bayer Cross."

Warning! Unless you see the name "Bayer" on package or on tablets you are not getting the genuine Bayer Aspirin proved safe by millions and prescribed by physicians for 23 years. Say "Bayer" when you buy Aspirin. Imitations may prove dangerous.—Adv.

When one can't help, one at least needn't get in the way.

One who does his best is always thinking he'll do it better next time.

Hall's Catarrh Medicine will do what we claim for it—rid your system of Catarrh or Deafness caused by Catarrh.

Sold by druggists for over 40 years

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio

AS SURE AS DAWN BRINGS A NEW DAY

HILL'S CASCARA QUININE BROMIDE

AT ALL DRUG STORES Will Break That Cold and Make You Fit Tomorrow. PRICE 30 CENTS

W. H. HILL CO., DETROIT.

Shave, Bathe and Shampoo with one Soap.— Cuticura

Cuticura Soap is the favorite for safety razor shaving.

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM

Removes Dandruff—Stops Hair Falling
Restores Color and Beauty to Gray and Faded Hair
60c. and $1.00 at Druggists.
Hiscox Chem. Wks. Patchogue, N. Y.

PERCORNS Removes Corns stops all pain.

Smokes for Him-- Candy for Her

We carry a very fine line of Candy in both bulk and fancy box candy. Come in and make your selection now for Xmas candy.

A Box of our Candy will be a gift appreciated by mother, sister or sweetheart.

When thinking of a gift for "him" you will not go amiss if you present him with a box of our fne Cigars or a carton of his favorite brand of Cigarettes. We have just received a shipment of nice fresh "P. A." in 1 lb. glass humodors, a real gift for the man who enjoys a pipe smoke—and that reminds us, that we also carry a nice line of pipes.

Santa's Headquarters For Cigars and Tobacco, High Grade Candy

LuVerne Smith

Pool Parlor — Cigars and Candy

Don't deceive Yourself--

You're paying the cost of STORMIZING in waste oil and gas alone. The expense of operating your car with cylinders in a worn and scored condition is greater than the cost of STORMIZING and Complete Overhauling. But the waste of oil and gas is not the only thing to be considered. The following troubles are all directly due to worn cylinders. Loss of Power, Imperfect Compression, Low Gasoline Mileage, Waste of Oil, Excessive Carbon, Fouled Spark Plugs, Mis-firing, Diluted Oil, Injured Bearings, Weak Compression, Hard Starting, Piston Slap, Nosy Operation, Uneven Idling, Mis-firing at Low Speed.

STORMIZING strikes the very root of all these troubles, it cures them all.

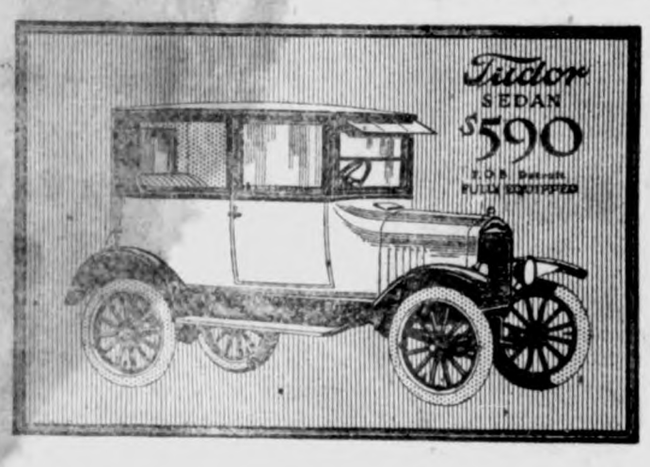
We Know Autos—Both Right and Left Handed

TAGOLENE OIL—the Utmost in Lubrication

Pavey's Stormizing Shop

Authorized Service

Auto Mechanics —All Work Guaranteed— General Blacksmithing



Give One For Christmas

The Tudor Sedan is a gift every member of the family will share. It adds to daily happiness. It will extend the joyous spirit of Christmas to every day of the year.

This new Ford type is of an exceptionally pleasing design. Wide doors opening forward, folding right front seat, and a roomy interior make it a convenient car to use; its high radiator, broad cowl, sun visor, and large windows make it stylish in appearance. Yet it is sold at the lowest price ever asked for a Sedan—only $590 f.o.b. Detroit.

The rich, permanent luster of its finish, the quiet good taste of its upholstery, and the ornamental treatment of its full-nickeled hardware, all help to make it a car you are proud to drive.

This Car can be obtained through the Ford Weekly Purchase Plan.

Greiman Motor Co.

Ford

CARS - TRUCKS - TRACTORS

New York.—The cement Manufacturers' Protective association, which is said to have spent $1,000,000 yearly in exchanging statistics on production and use of cement, was dissolved in a whi whe were capsize.

DOINGS OF THE WEEK AT THE KLEMME SCHOOLS

(Continued from Page 1.)

slugged. and outtripped. So unsportsmanlike were the Britt contest ants, that even their own rooters boohed and hissed them. It was no ususual sight to see several of boys sprawled on the floor at once, owing to the visitors tactics. Patet received a knockout, but recovered and continued the game. The Klemme boys played a good clean peppy game but were unable to cope with the superior weight and experience of the visitors. The final score of the game was 29 to 4. Had the visitors been more intent on shooting baskets and less on pugilistic displays, they could no doubt have run up a higher score.

This was to have been just a little practice game for Britt, but so hard did our boys play that only two of the visitors substitutes saw action, their coach evidently fearing that the green Klemme team could lick his subs.

We congratualate our boys on the good sportsmanship and clean game they played.

LINEUP.

Klemme 4		Britt 29
Lemke	RF	Raw (capt)
Wellemeyer	LF	Mau
Patet	C	W. Edgreen
Elder, Cap't	RG	Shore
Koerner	LG	Clark

Summary.

Klemme

Field goals, Lemke 1.

Free Throws made Wellemeyer 2.

Free throws missed, Wellemeyer 1, Patet 3.

Personal fouls Wellemeyer 1, Elder 2, Koerner 3.

Britt— Field goals Raw 2, Mau, 3, W. Edgren 2, Clark 2, Love 3.

Free throws —Raw 1, Mau 3, W. Edgren 1.

Free throws missed,-Mau 2, Shore 1

Personal fouls— Mau 3, W. Edgren 1, Clark 1.

Substitutions Love for Mou, R. Edgren for W. Edgren.

Thursday, December the 13th proved to be a jinx with our boys basket ball team, losing to Swaledale by the lop sided score of 42 to 11. The teams battled fairly even the first quarter, the score at the resting being 7 to 11 in the oponents favor. But experience began to tell and from then on Swaledale began to forge ahead rapidly, ringing up 9 more points, while we were gathering but 2, the score at half time being 20 to 9.

The last half Swaledale held us to but one basket, Wellemeyer getting his only one of the game and thereby saving us from the whitwash brush this period. The boys played well the first half but slowed up considerably the last half, apparently under the delusion that they were spectators, instead of basketball players. The fight and speed they showed in the game with Belmond was conspicuous for its absence at Swaledale.

Wellemeyer	F	Huntback
Lemke	F	Haskins
Patet	C	Behder
Elder (Cap't)	G	Collins
Koerner	G	Rice

To Play Crystal Lake

Friday night our teams journey to Crystal Lake for a double header there. The dope favors Crystal Lake but our boys are working hard this week, and with the experience of these last hard games to aid them, are fast rounding into better shape. They have been drilled in the intricacies of the short pass game and the five man defense this week in anticipation of a hard game with Crystal Lake. Gimer has been unable to play the last three games, but he may be able to don his suit the latter part of the week. If so our chances of victory are somewhat increased, as he is a dangerous man, when he hits his stride. He has shown flashes of form which mark him out as a constant threat to opposing guards.

Declamatory Contest

Tuesday and Wednesday nights of this week, our Declamatory contest comes. Our school notes go t othe Times Office too early to be able to tell the winners. But we are sure that it will be an excellent program.

FRESHMAN ENJOYED PARTY

Ice Cream is Stolen

Last Tuesday night the Freshies assembled in the school gym for their first party. Everybody enjoyed themselves immensely until it came time for refreshments. They had brought a gallon and a half of ice cream and had put it in, what they thought a safe place. But, lo, and behold when it came time for refreshments, the ice cream had disappeared via the window route. An investigation, conducted by some of the young Sherlock Holmes found an empty packer as a clew but could carry the case no farther. Up to the present time the culprits who took it have not been found but the Freshies who do not seem to take the incident as much of a joke as the upperclassmen, accuse every upperclassman they see of taking their ice cream.

When the Seniors and Juniors see something the matter with a Freshman the matter is ,"Too Much Ice Cream." The party ended very tragically, but all the poor Freshies went down town and bought an ice cream cone to make up for the loss. Nobody has very much sympathy for them as "They will learn, if they have time enough."

A Deep Question.

Suppose you had ten cents and a buggy top, what would you do?. Answer— Buy a fine comb.!

Manual Training

The ManualTraining boys have all finished making footstools and bookracks, some of the required work of the class. They are now working on the more complicated joints. During this period they are required to learn twenty diferent kinds of wood and also method of manufacture of all wood finishings. Watch our Amateur Cabinent makers.

Domestic Science

The Domestic Science girls are making candies. They will sell these on the two nights of the Declamatory contest.

Vacation

Every pupil in school is rejoicing because this is the last week of school before the mid-year or Christmas examinations. The school will close December 21 and we'll have two weeks vacation. We wish every one a Happy Holiday vacation. May you enjoy every day of it!

WITH THE GRADES

Intermediate Rooms—Mrs. Fred Kluckhohn and Mrs. Schuldt visited school Friday afternoon.

Primary Room—Mrs. Wm. Keraus and Mrs. Frank Kluckhohn were visitors at this school last week.

Mrs. R. A. Jorgenson and son, "Buster," visited school the past week.

Gene Lau, Nora Wellemeyer and Raymond Keeper have been visitors at school the past week.

A Program—The three grade rooms are preparing a program which will be given in the school gym Friday afternoon. All the parents of the grade chidren are given a cordial invitation to attend this program and fun making. The program starts at 1:30 p. m.

NOTICE OF APPOINTMENT OF EXECUTOR

Notice is Hereby Given, That the undersigned has been duly appointed and qualified as Executor of the Estate of HEMPE BUSEMAN late of Hancock County, State of Iowa, deceased. All persons indebted to the estate are requested to make payment; and those having claims against the same will present them, duly authenticated, to the undersigned, for allowance.

Dated December 8th, A. D. 1923.

Henry Buseman, Jr.
George H. Buseman,
Executors.

By Ramsay & Blackstone, their attorneys. (12-19-26D)

KLEMME MARKETS

(Subject To Change)

December 20, 1923

WHEAT	$1.00
CORN (new)	.55
OATS	.35
BARLEY	.55
RYE	.60
HOGS	5.50—6.00
HAY	15.00—20.00
BUTTERFAT	.57
BUTTER (creamery)	.55
EGGS	.35
HEAVY HENS	.13
LIGHT HENS	.08
STANDARD SPRINGS	.13
LEGHORNS	.08
COCKS	.06
DUCKS	.10
GEESE	.08

This Store Wishes You A Merry Christmas

Jacobs & Son

"THE WINCHESTER STORE"

Christmas Suggestions--

Christmas will be here in a few days and it is not too early to think of buying your Xmas Candies, Nuts, Cigars, etc. You will find a nice selection of Xmas Candies here, in both bulk and fancy boxes. Always a nice, fresh line of Cigars—give him a box of "Smokes" for Christmas, there is nothing which will please him more. A fine box of Candy for her will be just the thing.

Then we always have ice cream, nuts and fruit for your table. Call on us—

Conrad Quandt

The Crystal Cafe — Klemme, Iowa

STILLE'S IMPLEMENT NEW

Volume 2—Number 8. Thursday, December 20, 1

The amount of money the farmer spends for farm equipment is so small an amount of his total income and is so much less in volume than the amount he spends for many other things, that I fail to understand why anyone should continually and persistantly hold up high farm machine prices as the one thing that was keeping the farmer down.

Just read the following and think it over: "The farm equipment manufacturers' volume last year was $222,000,000. At retail prices this amount is equal to about 3 per cent of the farmers' cash income for last year. Can an expenditure which does not amount to more than that be very burdensome? The amount spent on farm machines is less than one-third of what farmers spend on automobiles and gas, and this automobile bill of the farmers was almost one-eighth of his total cash income, equivalent to a dollar for every acre of land in farms. The farmers' machine bill isn't as big as his gasoline bill. It is less than half as much as his state and county tax bill. Last year the farmer spent for farm machines only three and one-third cents out of every dollar he received. Ninety-six and two thirds cents of the dollar went elsewhere."

Granting that the world's che est car has no better material workmanship in it than a grain bi er, that car, equipped with s starter and demountable rims, have to sell in Chicago for $206 than its present price before it is a parity with the present grain bi er prices on the pound basis.

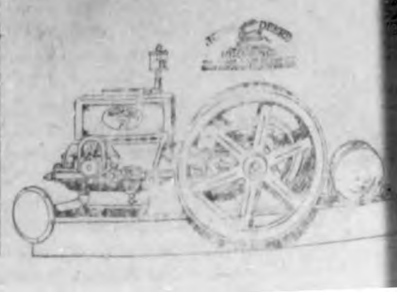
If you don't like your Christm neckties, grow a beard!

Girls who paint—draw men.

Christmas comes on Toysday t year.

The "present"—not the futu worries most of us now.

Those who flare up do not shi long.



PAGES THIS WEEK

THE KLEMME TIMES

MERRY CHRISTMAS

-eighth Year—Number 16. Klemme, Iowa, Thursday Afternoon, December 27, 1923 $1.50 In Advance—$2.00 Outside of County

A Happy New Year To All

NEWS REPORTED BY THE K. H. S.

VACATION IS HERE!

School Children and Teachers are Enjoy'ng a Well Earned Rest.

(School Notes O. K.d by Supt. Neese)

The mid_year vacation is here at last, and everyone who is going to school is rejoicing. Last Friday all the pupils of the school had a short program and were excused early. The grades had a fine program prepared, which they presented to their friends and parents, after which Santa Claus visited them and presented the presents.

The High School had a short program and ended the day by having a grab bag..

KLEMME DEFEATED AGAIN

Klemme again went down in defeat when they met the Crystal Lake teams last Friday night on the Crystal Lake floor.

The girls played a good game, but were unable to keep their opponents from scoring. The absence of Hake at guard broke up the general team play as well as the defense. The final score was 12 to 24 in favor of Crystal Lake. Had the girls played as good a game as they did with Britt, they would have easily have defeated them.

Girl's Lineup .
F. Stille.
F. Ridder.
C. Blank.
C. Koerner.
G. Tanner.
G. Schroeder.

The boys working in an almost entirely new team, were beaten, but have nothing to be ashamed of. With three new men on the team and only two of the old team left, the boys played a good peppy game

The general team work and floor play was not nearly as good as it has been in some of the preceeding games, but the boys had not played together before. Forthe locals the playing of Wellemeyer and Lemke featured, both playing a good heady game. Gibbs playing his first game showed up well. Here is the lineup for the Klemme boys.

L. F. Wellemeyer.
R. F. Gibbs.
C. Lemke.
R. G. Elder.
L. G. Turgasen.

Faculty News

The teachers have all gone to spend their Christmas vacationat their various homes.

Miss Stacey has gone to Osage, Miss Scharlach is spending her vacation at Corwith and Miss Rone at Northwood. Miss Buchan will spend one week at Spencer and one weekat Des Moines, while Miss Flessner will go to Fort Dodge. Coach Tregilgus is taking over a thousand mile trip in his Ford Coupe and will visit at Osage, Cedar Rapids, Omaha and other places too numerous to mention.

Alumni Game

Tomorrow night (Friday) the Alumni of the Klemme High School will play the K. H. S. Basket Ball team. It promises to be a fast game as the Alumni team will have two and three year men playing, many playing college basket ball. This is the first game of this kind inKemme so lets make it a big event. Come out tomorrow night and support your team. There will be no charge for the game.

A HAPPY NEW YEAR TO ALL!

Arrival of the New Year

WOULD PUT NEW LIGHT PLANT IN GARNER

L. R. Schlichter of Chicago appeared at a special meeting of the city council Monday evening, and made the city a proposition to put in an electric light & power plant here if the voters will vote him a franchise. His proposition looked good enough to the council that they set adate for holding an election, at which time the voters of the town will decide whether they wish to grant him a franchise extending over a period of twenty fivey ears.

He asks for a franchise to own, maintain and operate a power plant within the corporation limits of the town, and to furnish current to the city and its inhabitants. The ordinance for the special election will be published for the first time next week.

Mr. Schichter says that he will contract at this time for a five- year period to furnish current at the following rates schedule:

Residence lighting, 10 cents per K. W. H.

..Commercial lighting, 10 cents for first 50 K. W. H., 9 cents thereafter.

Farm lines, 10 cents per K. W. H. tobe metered at the home.

Power rates, 5 cents for first 100 K. W. H., 4 cents for second 100 K. W. H. 3 cents theraftr.

Rates for electric ranges, 1 1-2 cnts per K. W. H.

Street lighting, 9 cents per K. W. H.

City pumping 2 cents per K. W. H. He proposes to handle the city water works from the power plant and have one man read both light and water meters. He agrees to organize a corporation, give uninterrupted service, and to operate with oil engines.

The Iowa Falls Electric Co. have been operating in Garner for some time without a franchise, their franchise having expired. We have no complaint to offer on the service rendered by the Iowa Falls Electric Co. but it has alyays been contended by many of the patronshere and especially by the heavy users that the rates charged were too high.—Garner Signal.

WHAT BECOMES OF LICENSE FEES?

Motor Car .Registration .Pays .for Good Roads.

Forty-eight States collected $152,367,023 in 1922 as receipts from automobile license fees. The cost of collection, the cost of the plates themselves, and other expenses were less than four million dollars, so that a total of $148,750,000 was left as the net receipts to be spent on highways.

This sum is divided into appropriations for State highway departments, 16 millions; Federal aid funds, 34 millions; maintenance of Federal aid roads, 32 millions; construction of other Federal aid roads, 6 1_2 millions; maintenance of other Federal aid roads, 21 1-2 millions; and given as aid to countiies 25 1_2 milions.

New Hampshire collects the largest revenue per individual car or truck, geting an average of $25.73 each, while Arizona is easiest upon car owners from the license standpoint obtaining but $5.69 each.

OLD SETTLER PASSED AWAY WED.

MEMOIR OF MRS. ERNEST LENZ

Mrs. Ernest Lenz peacefully departed this life at an early hour of Wednesday Dec. 19 1923 to join the heavenly throng and to enter life eternal. Having been seriously ill for some time, her end came not all together unexpectedly, yet it came more suddenly than looked for. Thus we briefly chronicle the death of one generally respected and beloved by all who knew her.

Mrs. Friedericke Louisa Koerner Lenz was born on February 18, 1859 in Mosebeck, Lippendetmolt, Germany. She thus reached the age of 64 years, 10 months and 1 day. She spent the earlier years of her life up to the 14th year in the place of her birth receiving both religious and_secular training which helped prepare her for life.

At the age of fourteen years she came with some of her relaives to America residing for a time at Yellow Creek, Ill., after which she made her home with her brother, the Rev. William Koerner, who at the time was pastor at Sheiill and later at Manchester, Iowa. Thereupon she lived with other rea'ves at Rockford Iowa until her marriage.

On October 12, 1878 she was united in marriage with Mr. Ernest Lenz of Rockford, when they moved to Hancock County and established a home on a farm about one mile west of where Klemme is now located. They thus belonged to the early settlers of this county, enduring the trials and privations of pioneer life, but also having the joy of seeing the virgin prairies converted into farms and making this country beautiful garden spot.

More than this, they saw as well the developement of the intellectual, the social and the spiritual interests of this new country and took an active part in bringing this to pass. Thus they saw schools spring up here and there for the intellectual training of the youth; they saw churches built to provide for the soul's well being, and was as a common habit with them to attend church on Sunday and to worship God. They saw Klemme grow from her first house to her present size.

Their married life was an altogether happy one. Their home was all that the term implies. Hospitality was a household term with them. For forty five years husband and wife enjoyed each other's companionship such as only death was able to sever for a time.

Four daughters were born to this union. All with the father survive the mother and wife. They are: Miss Minnie Lenz of Klemme, Mrs. A. A. Ridder of Watertown, S. D., Mrs. C. A. Arnold of Klemme and Mrs. H. R. Gibbs likewise of Klemme. Beside these she leaves seven grandchildren, two brothers and one sister.

Deseased joined the Methodist Episcopal church soon after coming to America and was ever a faithful and loyal member of thec hurch of her choice.

For some years she was president of the Women's Foreign Missionary Society and took great interest in missions and the building of the missionary society. Because of ill health she was unable to attend church reegularly within recent year much to her regret, however thru it all she maintained her sweet Christlike spirit, thus bringing sunshine into many a life that she touched.

Finally her Master's cal came to her to come higher and she peacefully fell asleep to awaken in her heavenly home.

Funeral services were held in the Medothist church on Saturday afternoon conducted by Rev. Wessel, a former pastor of Klemme. The large concourse of people bespoke the esteem in which the deceased was held.

Card of Thanks

We wish to thank our relatives and friends for the sympathetic words, beautiful flowers and kindly help which they extended to us in the time of our bereavement, over the loss of our dear wife and mother.

E. H. Lenz.
Miss Minnie Lenz.
Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Ridder.
Mrs. C. A. Arnold.

Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Gibbs.

Those who came from a distance to attend Mrs. Lenz's funeral were Rev. and Mrs. George Wessel of Algona, Ia.; Emil and Bertha Bettin and Clara Koerner of Charles City, Ia. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Kuppinger of Mason City; Mr and Mrs Emil Koerner of El Reno, Oklahoma; and Mr. and Mrs. Wiiliam Koehler of Meservey, Iowa, and Dr. and Mrs. Tice, of Mason City.

CAPTAIN SAZARAC

by
Charles Tenney Jackson

Illustrations by
Irwin Myers

Copyright by The Bobbs-Merrill Company.

CHAPTER XII—Continued.
—15—

"What have you said?" he whispered. "La Casa—in the Grenadines? You are Louise L'Estrange? You—are the child of the refugees from Martinique?"

"Monsieur?" she answered wonderingly: "Surely! How could you know?" And then she stepped nearer with a cry that rang: "Monsieur de Almonaster!"

He took her hands, and, bowing, kissed her finger-tips. A great light was in his eyes—the glitter of an incredible triumph. The girl flushed, and her own glance went from one gentleman to the other.

The elder was in rapt surprise. He took snuff gravely from a golden trinket of a box; and then regarded them with the air of one who knew everything, had planned everything, and was but merely watching the consummation of his desires.

Louise Lestron cried out joyfully again, coming closer to the younger gentleman. There was in it a swift relief, as if she hurried to his protection. The gamester had said he loved her . . . that he would claim his pawn . . .

"Monsieur de Almonaster, who befriended me eight years ago after the blacks massacred my family, destroyed our estate!"

"The very same. I went to Paris. I . . . visited Quebec after my three years at St. Cyr. I searched in the Indies ports—I sought word of little Mademoiselle L'Estrange, the orphaned girl of the slaves' revolt."

There was hardly need to guess at the reason for his search. The girl turned aside. The Captain Sazarac bent upon the younger man a look of odd remembrance.

"My name was changed a trifle—anglicized, Monsieur, by the family of Colonel Carr. I am his ward." She hesitated and turned to the commander of the Seraphine. "You came to me the hour of my deep despair, Monsieur. The night at the hotel—I broke with Carr's intrigues from that moment. And then—well, I knew too much for his safety. A discredited adventurer, his commission already revoked by his majesty's government, in league with the malcontents of the West and with the Spaniards the Sabine against Louisiana. conspirators seized me, hurried me upon the Genaron lest I disclose the truth to Mr. Langhorne, my nation's consul at New Orleans. Carr is in the pay of the Spanish king—an agent of the Holy Alliance that wishes to embroil England and America again in war, lest the United States grow too powerful in the West."

"I guessed as much," said Captain Sazarac absently, taking his snuff again. "Even before that night at the hotel, Mademoiselle—"

"That night!" queried Raoul. "It has been a mystery—you did not challenge Colonel Carr, as all the town expected. From that night, there was a change in you, Monsieur Sazarac!"

Monsieur Sazarac shrugged. Louise Lestron's glance upon him seemed to appeal to whatever chivalry there could be in a gamester of the packets.

Suddenly Raoul swept about impetuously and addressed the elder man. "Monsieur! Do you recall the dinner at my country-seat? A confidence I made to you! A memory—a child—a lovely child—burned in the memory of a dreamer-schoolboy Paris—all the world could not make him forget!"

The other bowed. His faint smile came; the nonchalant voice flowed smoothly on: "I am twice honored. I am twice the chosen confidant. Monsieur Sazarac brings, with a sweep of either hand, two charming stories out of the thin air. He understands everything—does Monsieur Sazarac. He will now be the second jester of the Seraphine."

"Jean!" The young man started to him in hurt grief.

"I beg you!" The master's bronzed hand uplifted.

"Ah, Sazarac!" Raoul placed his fingers on the gold braid of the other's sleeve. De Almonaster seemed stunned by some resurging revelation that he had forgotten. He placed his arm quite about the other's shoulder.

"I will not speak," the flushed youth whispered. "I am in honor not to speak. Monsieur, can you understand me?" And he whispered even lower so that no accent might come to her wondering ears. "You are Sazarac, a gentleman who sails the Seraphine. You have stirred her deeply with some mystery of you . . . Monsieur Sazarac, she shall follow her heart into that mystery or not—as she chooses."

The two gentlemen parted silently.

"Under what flag, Messieurs, is this ship?"

The two gentlemen looked oddly at each other.

"You are, in all honor, bound to send me back to New Orlean, Monsieur," she cried sharply. For even now, with the protecting arm of De Almonaster by her side, she recalled Sazarac, the gamester . . . He had sworn to claim her, and he was here, standing apart with that faint irony in his smile.

"You will sail at once for New Orleans, Messieurs?" she repeated.

"Sazarac—at least," the master bowed, "will find welcome."

And even as De Almonaster stared at this evident madness, there came a step on the emperor's red-plushed staircase. The admiral of Cartagena, second in command upon the Seraphine, came to the tapestried portieres.

"Sir—" he broke in shortly, with a surly glance at Mademoiselle Lestron, as if this affair of the English woman was taking far too much of the hour. "The bullies are howling again. They swear to drag Jarvis from the brig and crown him an emperor of the last buccaneers—"

"Silence—you!" the captain said sternly. "What is this, sir?"

"The wind is picking—" said De Almonaster, turning from the port where now the royal curtain was fluttering. "Sir, a sailing wind!"

"That is it," grumbled Beluche. "The devils have smelled it. They have been waiting for it. They say they have stolen the lady for you, and kept their hands off a helpless prize out of tribute to—Sazarac. Now—"

"Monsieur Sazarac is returning to New Orleans!"

"Sir!" shouted Beluche, and then stopped. The eyes of Sazarac had turned upward to the open skylight above the emperor's cabin. He had thought a gleam of steel, or another eyeball had reflected the glitter of the crystal lamp. And then they all heard above, on the deck, the sound of bare feet retreating hastily, fainter and fainter.

"There was a spy from the fo'cas'le," muttered Beluche. "They wished to know . . . Perdition! You cannot mean New Orleans!"

"You will go forward, sir," returned the master quietly. "The fellow who laid above this cabin listening—you will find him, and lay him in double irons."

"Aye, sir!" But the old seaman turned pathetically at the foot of the stairs. "But name o' G—d! We might as well put our necks on the block in New Granada for the king o' Spain's men, as lay again to the Place d'Armes in New Orleans!"

"We are returning," said the other steadily, "for the peace of the seas between two nations. Eh, old brawler of the ports! Are you with me? You, Beluche? Bohon, Black Mike, Gorgio—Slit-Nose? Are they not with me?"

The old buccaneer watched the English woman out of hard, blinking, salt-reddened eyes.

"Eh, bien!" he growled at length. "A port for Sazarac! H—l's bells will ring for us! The young gentleman may save his neck, but you and I—Monsieur—Sazarac? Very well—it is for the English woman!"

CHAPTER XIII
—
Monsieur—of the Cannon Shot.

But that one hour's fitful cap of wind out of the south died ere the watch changed. The lady of the Genaron had been put safely away in the emperor's own suite; and whatever whispered conferences there were, fore or aft, upon the Napoleon ship, never a word of it drifted to her curtained ports.

"You Will Sail at Once for New Orleans, Messieurs?" She Repeated.

Mademoiselle Lestron saw the master but once; after her siesta in the cabin, which was hardly more endurable against the flat heat of the dead calm than the deck, he came to her under the awnings.

"You are comfortable, Mademoiselle, after this blistering day of calm?" Sazarac inquired gravely.

"Your black boys could not have done more—except to enlighten me! Monsieur Sazarac of the Mississippi packets—are you a magic worker that, from a cardroom, you leap to command a gunned schooner?"

"With one trifle of a pause—upon the staircase of a house, a certain night." And after that he left her, the relenting, pretty speech unsaid upon her lips; and she was used to gentlemen awaiting her favor.

The sun was setting when Johanness came up from quarters and raised a moistened finger to feel the air. The heat had been a thing to thicken the blood in a man's skull that day.

That issue of the land breeze, which picks up in these latitudes after the sun goes down, hovered like a ghost over the lacquer table in the cabin of the emperor where there sat to dine with the lady of the Genaron, Beluche, the gold-braided admiral of Cartagena; Dominique, the alderman of New Orleans; the Count de Almonaster, and Sazarac who sat in the host's chair with the guest at his right.

The lamps of brass and crystal shone very bright, but there was one vacant chair among the gentlemen. Raoul glanced at it, seeing that their guest had done the same. The serving man seemed suddenly disturbed. He lingered by De Almonaster's chair:

"Monsieur—of the cannon shot—wished a place set for him, though he cannot come to tell the lady that he loves her."

Raoul glanced at Sazarac. The leader's eyes were on the vacant seat.

The ghost of the lost friend might have sat there, the sorry jester of the new waistcoat, so long the constraint grew among them. Mademoiselle Lestron looked curiously from one to the other; then to the admiral with the trappings of the gimcrack republic of the South, and the velvet-clad respectability of the alderman.

"Monsieur of the Cannon Shot Wishes a Place Set for Him, Though He Cannot Come to Tell the Lady That He Loves Her."

"What is the jest, gentlemen?" she cried. "The guest who cannot come!" She lifted her glass: "A toast to him, then—what say you all?"

The four gentlemen drank it after a curious pause, waiting for the cue of Sazarac.

"And now," growled Beluche, "to a wind against him—a wind o' death!"

"It is a phrase of the coast," put in Raoul hurriedly, seeing the sudden recoil of the smiling lady of the emperor's cabin from this grimness: "The hurricane month is upon us, after these calms. A wind—there must be many of the Spanish king's ships—heavy-gunned frigates—lying in the tides above us, helpless as we. Here's to a topsail breeze to take the Seraphine from under their clumsy feet!"

And as they were drinking this, and Mademoiselle was breaking into a chatter to cover the grotesque menace she could not divine, there came a tap at the door. A face showed there—a fair, young ship's 'prentice, whom De Almonaster remembered as being one of the English deserters.

He raised a warning hand past the black serving man. "A word, sir!"

"Yes, my lad? But what is this?"

The boy crept about to Sazarac's chair as if the master's protection must serve him.

"I am Clark, sir—from the Genaron. Bohon sent me from the wheel. He wished to report privately, sir. There is a light in the south—the steersman says it is a shore light. He does not like the drift in this tide sou'-sou'west, and he thinks the leadsman lies when he says we have more than eight fathom o' water."

"What is the meaning of this?" cried the skipper. "Bohon—why must he send a man in secret to me? Speak up, Clark!"

"He did not wish to arouse them for'ard, sir, and he does not trust the lookout or the sounding. He suddenly fears the watch have a mind to let the schooner beach herself, sir, on a spit o' sand—"

The master's hand had swung up, his face darkling. "What? Has it gone so far as this? They are out of control forward?"

"The dock officer, sir, has disappeared. Bohon is suspicious of something that he cannot put eye or hand upon." The lad stopped, as if he was not telling all. "And, sir, I would have a care how any of your party go above. It might be better if none suspect you are warned—"

The captain raised his hand: "Then, gentlemen, one at a time—to the steersman. Beluche, you follow! Clark, I count on you, sir!"

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

WHAT the OLD YEAR said to the NEW

A VERY OLD GENTLEMAN wearing a long, white toga and carrying a scythe, sat down on a stone. It was exactly five minutes before midnight on December thirty-first. The very old gentleman seemed to be waiting for somebody.

"Where is that young rascal?" he murmured to himself. "I have a few words to say to him which ....ah.....I see him coming now."

A rosy cherub of a youngster ran laughing to the old man's side. The elderly fellow patted him on the head and said: "Listen to me, my boy. I'm leaving now for good. In five minutes I must step out forever, and you must take my place. It's a job—a man-sized job.

"I began as young and eager as you. Look at me now! People are never satisfied. But you must not let their grumbling disturb you. If it's winter, they want you to hurry the months towards spring. In summer they cry for fall. The nights are too long and the days too short. What makes happiness for some brings distress to others. But this is not your job. All you have to do is to keep steadily on schedule. Minute by minute, hour by hour; never varying a second through storms and sunshine, heat and snow. Your responsibility is for the correct passage of time. This is your sole duty. Joy and sorrow may not change for a second the law you keep. This is the way of life. 'Hew to the line,' my boy, and never give up."

The old gentleman smiled, arose from his seat and disappeared.

The rosy cherub of a youngster danced into the New Year to the ringing of bells. There was a great welcome for him and he determined to fulfill his duty to the very last second.

—MARTHA B. THOMAS

Copyright, 1923, Western Newspaper Union

The Resolutioners

by Clara Delafield

Copyright, 1923, Western Newspaper Union

WHAT do you suppose can be the matter with the Naggits?" asked Charley Richmond of his wife.

"They must have had a dreadful quarrel."

"Something's gone worng. I never saw such a pair of down-in-the-mouths as when we were over there last night. They hardly said a word to each other."

"And they used to be such an affectionate couple."

"Um—more or less, yes. By the way, did you notice Will didn't smoke?"

"Yes. He told me he'd give up smoking for the New Year."

"Um—um!" Charley reached for his pipe. "I guess his wife made him, and that's at the bottom of the trouble."

Now, this is what had really happened: On the thirty-first of December Will Naggitt broke his new pipe in two. "Dear," he said, "I'm never going to smoke again, and that's my New Year resolution."

"And I hope you'll keep it," said Dorothy. "You know you've said that every New Year's eve for the past nine years."

"I know I have, Dorothy. But this time I mean business. And now, what are you going to resolve?"

"I don't know what there is for me to resolve," said Dorothy. "I'm perfect."

"You've got a perfect nerve, I'll say that for you."

"Oh, but my dear, you told me so yourself before we were married. Don't you remember?"

"A man isn't responsible for what he says in a condition of mental aberration. Didn't you know that, my dear? See here, I'll make a compact with you. I'll stop smoking just as long as you stop nagging."

"I don't nag."

"You do."

"Now, Will Naggitt, you stop making unfounded charges against me, because I won't stand for it. I've been a good wife to you and looked after you like a slave while you've been indulging in your extravagances and filthy tobacco, and loafing about the house and at your office, and never a word out of me, because I'm the most long-suffering woman alive and now you tell me I nag you and I'll never open my mouth again."

"All right, Dorothy, as long as you keep your mouth closed in anger I'll keep mine closed to tobacco."

Will thought he'd have an excuse to start smoking again next day, but that was where Dorothy fooled him. She suddenly turned into a model wife. To his most petulant outbreaks there came no reply. And Will became more and more petulant as the days went by and his coveted smoke failed to materialize.

There was no question who was the nagger now. Poor Dorothy was having the hardest time of her life. And yet, for Will's sake, she refrained from answering him. His nervous system was totally unbalanced from want of a smoke, and she knew that and made excuses for him.

She had always wanted to cure him of his filthy habit, and it was now or never.

Will's pride kept him to the fulfillment of his vow. A week passed.

He got up one morning feeling desperate.

"Whatchermean by giving me this nasty coffee?" he growled. "Haven't you got sense enough to clarify it with an egg? I don't care if eggs cost a thousand dollars a dozen. I'm not going to drink bilge."

Dorothy said nothing, but smiled sweetly upon him.

"For the Lord's sake, can't you make toast without burning it? And where did you get this grapefruit? Grapefruit? Huh! I'd like to see the parent tree; I guess it's a cannon-ball tree more likely."

"You've Got a Perfect Nerve, I'll Say That for You."

Dorothy went softly out of the room. Presently, as Will bent over his meal, two soft hands were placed over his eyes.

"Open his mouth and shut his eyes and see—"

"Oh, for heaven's sake quit your foolish tricks. I'm not a kid. Hey, what's this?"

"It's your pipe, you wicked monster!" sobbed Dorothy. "And now I can tell you what I think of you, you fiend in human form, before I go home to mother. I've stood for all I'm going to stand from you. I hate you and I wish you'd never been born. Of all the wretched, worthless loafers who ever encumbered the face of the earth you take the cake—is your pipe a-light now, darling?"

Dorothy perched herself upon his knee.

"Aren't we happy!" she cooed, as the fragrant fumes floated into the air.

"Um—um!" said Will. "What delicious coffee. Give me another cup. Say—I guess I've been pretty rotten to you."

"Oh, Will, you're always lovely. I've had that new pipe waiting for you for days, but I tried not to give it to you till you started nagging at me, and then it was either your smoking again or me doing so. Will, darling, we mustn't make any resolutions next New Year."

PE-RU-NA For Catarrh

...of the Head, Throat, Stomach, Bowels or other internal Organs

Backed by more than a century of successful service in American home.

Your Nearest Dealer Carries Pe-ru-na Tablets or Liquid

Then the Millennium.

This will be a perfect world when men are as liberal with their advice as they are with their advice.—Plain Herald.

MOTHER! GIVE SICK CHILD "CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP"

Harmless Laxative for a Bilious Constipated Baby or Child

Constipated, bilious, feverish, or sick, colic Babies and Children love to take genuine "California Fig Syrup." No other laxative regulates the tender little bowels so nicely. It sweetens the stomach and starts the liver and bowels acting without griping. Contains no narcotic or soothing drugs. Say "California" to your druggist and avoid counterfeits. Insist upon genuine "California Fig Syrup" which contains directions. Advertisement.

They Met.

The Janitor—How did yer come to lose yer job?

Ex-Office Boy—Mine and the boss' grandmother died on the same day.

DEMAND "BAYER" ASPIRIN

Aspirin Marked With "Bayer Cross" Has Been Proved Safe by Millions

Warning! Unless you see the name "Bayer" on package or on tablets you are not getting the genuine Bayer Aspirin proved safe by millions and prescribed by physicians for 23 years.

Say "Bayer" when you buy Aspirin. Imitations may prove dangerous.—Adv.

Flowery Stuff, You Ninny.

Betty (sentimental) — I suppose you've read "To a Wood Violet?"

Mr. Bohnhedd—Never. What do you read to 'em?—Boston Transcript.

"CASCARETS" FOR LIVER AND BOWELS—10c A BOX

Cures Biliousness, Constipation, Sick Headache, Indigestion. Drug stores. Adv.

Vicarious Courage.

"John," whispered his wife. "I'm convinced that there's a burglar downstairs."

"Well," grumbled her husband drowsily, "I hope you don't expect me to have the courage of your convictions."—Boston Transcript.

Pollyanna Says.

"Cheer up! When all our neighbors buy autos, we'll be able to get a seat in the street cars."

Hall's Catarrh Medicine is a Combination Treatment, both local and internal, and has been successful in the treatment of Catarrh for over forty years. Sold by all druggists.
F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio

Relief for Coughs
Use PISO'S—this prescription quickly relieves children and adults.
A pleasant syrup. No opiates.
35c and 60c sizes sold everywhere.

free! Latest Book of RADIO hook-ups containing 22 tested circuits for getting new thrills out of your present equipment. Also latest All-American diagram circular describing POWER AMPLIFICATION. Enclose 4c in stamps to cover mailing cost.
ALL-AMERICAN Amplifying Transformers
All-Americans are world's largest selling Amplifying Transformers because they are the BEST. All dealers.
Rauland Mfg. Co., Lake & Jeff. Sts., Chicago

RUB YOUR EYES?
Use Dr. Thompson's Eyewater. Buy at your druggist's or 1165 River, Troy, N. Y. Booklet.

Girls! Girls!! Clear Your Skin With Cuticura
Soap 25c, Ointment 25 and 50c, Talcum 25c.

CURES COLDS — LA GRIPPE
in 24 Hours — in 3 Days
HILL'S CASCARA QUININE
Standard cold remedy world over. Demand box bearing Mr. Hill's portrait and signature.
At All Druggists—30 Cents

Happy New Year

At this glad New Year Season we thi nk of our customers as ourfriends. Welike to feel that in a broad sense our customers are our partners in this business concerning farm implements, machinery and repair s; that our success is but the reflection of theirs. And so on the eve of a New Year, we extend to you our hearty good wishes.

Stille Implement Co.

GROWING CONSTANTLY IN VALUE AND DEMAND

rn Land to Increase in Price

wa corn is again the subject of mn of praise, this time by a cold ded economist, Glenn Griswold, e Chicago Journal of Commerce . Griswold advances two points, that profits in corn will easily shadow agriculture's losses in t this year; second, that corn will soon be selling for even than was paid during the boom 919 and 1920. His article reads ollows:

We heard recently a great cry listress from agriculture because at had fallen below $1 a bushel re was a depressing and unmark- surplus of 200,000,000 bushels farmers faced ruin.

Then came terribe statitions to w us that the surplus was much than reported, was of poor qual- and not a matter of great mom- since wheat is less than 7 per t ofour agriculture production.

Corn Becoming Cash Crop

Ah, but wheat is one of our three ney crops, while corn is not sold cash' replied the wheat murners makes little difference to the rmer what the price of corn so g as livestock sells well since the rn is all fed.'

"Specious as is the reasoning, and portant as wheat may be, now mes a factor that sets both argu- nts awry. For corn is fast be- ming a cash crop and tendencies in at direction aready point to new fluence for a large part of our ag- cultural world. Let us consider e factors involved.

Bumper Crops, Yet None Left

"After four consecutive bumper rn crops, there is practically no rn left. The visible supply, as re- rted by market statisticians is al- ost invisible. Ours is the only coun- y in which corn is grown in com- ercial quantity. Iowa raises more dian corn than all the world out- de of the United Saes.

"Other nations have never learned eat or feed corn and may never e taught. But they have developed new appetite of apparently unlim- ed capacity for corn products, corn l, syrup, limited capacity for corn oods, starch and other refinements ur exports of these things are lim- ed almost solely by supply. Amer- ans are developing amazingly their king for the same products.

"One of the largest makers of rn products went to his bankers me weeks ago and asked for a rge loan, much larger than he had ver asked to buy corn. He said that he waited a few months there would be no corn and he would be bliged to cose his plants. The loan was made, the buying of that man had something to do with the ad- vance of corn today he has a profit of 25 cents a bushel on the corn he has stored. It couldn't be bought at today's price however. This manu- facturer knows that prices may be softened as the new crop comes in, but he will buy the new crop and hold the old. He sees a greater scarcity of corn next year than this regardless of how much government figures may be increased in the fin- al accounting.

Little Corn Left.

"There is little real corn land eft in this country that is not now planted to corn as often as wise crop rotation will permit. Hence the con- clusion that supply connot increase space with demand. Hence also the thought that corn not only is be- coming a cash crop but is becoming a sellers crop.

"Another sidelight. In 1916 the president of the Corn Products com- pany (that great Rockefeller exper- iment in making corn a cash crop) said in his annual report to stock- holders that there was no asset val- ue behind the common stock. In that year it sod as low as 13 1-4. Since then the great earning have been made and the stock has nearly touched $140 a share. In 1916 corn syrup was exported in tin cans and few went oversees. Today it is ship ped in tank steamers. This leads to two conclusions: first, that corn al- most certainly will compensate ag- riculture many times for its losses in wheat. Second, farm land best suit- ed for corn growing wil some day in the not distant future sell formore than was paid in 1919 and 1920 by speculating farmers betting on quick future and protected by shoe-string margins. This appears to be reas- ons other than the time honored and past proven one that the time to buy anything is when nobody else wants it." —Chicago Journal of Commerce

GOODEL SCHOOL NOTES

The Goodell Schools will have two weeks vacation. Al of the teachers went to their respective homes and many of the pupils are spending the holidays out of town.

The program given last Friday eve ning was a splendid sucess in every way. The theatre was crowded with an enthusiastic audience. Two num bers were rendered by a group of High School girls. The total re- ceipts amounted to $41.00. Miss Myli. Miss Schoenwetter and Miss Cline deserve a lot of credit for this splendid program. Mr. Bachman, who built the fireplace, which was a perfect piece of work from anarchi- tectural point of view, is also deserv- ing of much credit for his kindly as- sistance in helping to make this pro- gram a success.

The total receipts from the sale of Christmas seals amounted to $20. 87. The students in Miss Cchoen- wetter's room sold the most seals and EuhiceWesenburg sold more seals than any other pupil in school

Thefollowing students were neith- er tardy or absent during the past month:

Primary: Clarence Enderson, Roy Boller, George Enderson, Helen Mil- ler, Maurice Zielie, Richard Burgess, and Lynna Dominy.

Intermediate: Marjorie Avery, Louisa Dorenkamp, Doris Miller, Florence Mason, Dae Busick, Dale, Conklin, Cholm Houghton, Gage La- kore, Eunice Wesenburg, Walter Boller,Howard Dominy, Madonna Do minv, Donald Luick, Esther Robbins Frae Alice Reed, Nada Wesenburg, and Ina Bugess.

Grammar Grades: Lucille Boller, Joseph Burgess, Fannie Dorenkamp, Emmet Kearney, Verner Hamilton, Archie Conklin, Viola Quigley, and Wayne Wesenburg.

HIGH SCHOOL: Dorothy Allaben Helma Burgess, Donnell Estle, Edith elfpop, Esther Harberts, Raymond Chelsvig, Margaret Fuller, Lela Griggs(Sanford Ness, and Mildred Remer.

Nobody cares much what you be- lieve so long as you don't irritate him by discussing it.

It's this way; either too many people or too many cars.

If your character is the kind that needs advertising, advertising is the last thing it deserves.

New Year's bills give New Year's chills.

$2000 IN CASH AND 110 SILVER TROPHIES

To Be Awarded To Iowa Farmers At Iowa State Corn Show

Hancock County farmers will have a chance to win a large, valu- able silver trophy. This trophy is awarded each year by the Commer- cial State Bank of Britt for the best ten ears of corn from this county, shown at large state show which will be held, for Iowa farmers only, at Ames during the Farm and Home Week, January 28 to February 2.

The trophy offered by the Com- mercial State Bank will become the personal property of the 1924 win- ner. It has been won by C. A. Hart- wig, Kanawha; Geo. Gray, Kanawha; and Henry Benton, Kanawha. These men are barred from further com- petition for this cup. All other ex- hibitors from Hancock county who make entry in this class will com- pete.

In addition to competing for the county trophy, the entries of corn are eligible to compete in the state classes for which a $2000 cash pre- mium list has been arranged. The 21st Annual State Corn Show, the largest state corn show in the coun- try, will be held the atter part of January. It is under the auspices of the Iowa Corn and Small Grain Growers' Association, an organiza- tion of Iowa farmers who are vitally interested in the developement of good seed corn for the state.

The state corn show with its 15, 000 ears of corn on the tables and its numerous good samples of small grains and clovers will be one of the features of the annual farmers short course. This year the show will be held in the new Armory, which has more than an acre of floor space without a pillar. Each department of the college will have an interest- ing exhibit at the show.

One of the most interesting ex- hibits will be the one showing the results of the fourth year's Corn Yield Test. This test includes the entries of 100 leading varieties or strains of corn. It will be well worth your time to study the results which will be graphically illustrated.

Premium lists and full informa- tion of the State Corn Show, which is open to Iowa farmers only, may be obtained by writing Joe L. Rob- inson, Secretary, Iowa Corn and Small Grain Grower's Association, at Ames, Iowa. Enter your corn or grain and take home a large silver cup and cash premiums from Ames.

TO MEND THAT UMBRELLA

Anyone is Umbrella Fixer With 10c Worth of Equipment.

"What's the use of waiting for the umbrella man to come along and mend your umbrela when you can do it yourself?" asks Miss Olive Set- tles, of the household are depart- ment at Iowa State College. "For 10 cents, you can get several months of additional wear from it and who knows but what the cost of umbrel- las may be reduced by that time?"

In most cases it is better economy Miss Settles says— to use the mend- ed one for rough use and buy a new one for good than to attempt cover- ing the old frame. Recovering costs nearly as much as a new umbrella.

Miss Settles gives the folowing suggestions; An envelope of mend- ing tissue may be purchased at any drug store. When you have this, hold the umbrella to the light to lo- cate the thin places which appear first at the folds between the ribs. Place on an ironing board. Cut strips of mending tissue a little long er than the worn portions and lay over them on the inside of the um- brella. Directly over this arrange e piece of material of the same co- lor and texture similar to the cover. Protect with a piece of paper and press for a moment with a medium hot iron. Be sure and have all three thicknesses perfectly smooth under the paper before the heat is applied This patch is not affected by the moisture.

Notice is Hereby Given, That the undersigned has been duly appoint- ed and qualified as Executor of the Estate of HEMPE BUSEMAN late of Hancock County, State of Iowa, de- ceased. All persons indebted to the estate are requested to make pay- ment; and those having claims a- gainst the same will present them, duly authenticated, to the under- signed, for allowance.

Dated December 8th, A. D. 1923.

Henry Buseman, Jr.
George H. Buseman,
Executors.

By Ramsay & Blackstone, their attorneys. (12-19-26D)

A CHANCE FOR FARM BOYS

Non-collegiate Course In Agriculture Starts at Ames, Jan. 2.

A chance for farm boys who can't pack up and leave the farm during the spring and fall, to go to college in the winter is offered by the non- collegiate agricultural department at Iowa State College.

Because the two-year course in agriculture, which this department offers is given in six units of one term each, it is possible for a farm boy to go to Ames for the winter quarter even tho he is unable to start to college in the fall.

Any young man 17 years of age who has completed the eighth grade is eligible for this course in agricul- ture. That such an investment in agricultural education is a paying in vestment is testified to by scores of young men who have taken the course.

This course deals with such agri- cultural problems as livestock feed- ing, and breeding, farm crops and soils, farm marketing, horticulture, dairying and similar subjects. The winter quarter opens Jan. 2.

REAL ESTATE TRANSFERS

George R. Cassens et al to Edmond Turner, Q. C. D., 12-7-23 SW 9& W NW 16-96-25 ..... $1

Chas. Bailey and wife to State Savings Bank of Ventura, 10-23-23, lot 3 blk 45 Garner $1

E. P. Hanson, Sheriff, to C. W. Erwin, Trustee, Sheriff's Deed, 12- 10-23,lot 1, blk. 6 Corwith $1192.70

C. M. Chapman and wife to W. R. Chapman, W. D., 12-1-23 lots 11,12, 13,14 and 15 blk 1 Way and Carpen- ter's add to Britt $500

I. O. Red Men to L. Naser, W. D. 12-8-23, E 37 ft lot 16 blk 1, Ander- sons add to Britt $600

Commercial State Bank to John Fiijenwarth, Q. C. D., 12-12-23, lots 2, 3, and 4 blk 16 Andersons add to Britt $1

M. Maud Stokley et al to Harriet L. Triplett, W D, S lot 16 exc. in block 7 Andersons add to Britt..$1

Floyd C. Ollenberg to D. A. Smith and C. T. Owens, W D, 12-20-23, lots 12, 13, 14 and 15, blk 26, Gar- ner $1

Maude Thompson and husband to Austin Byelry, W D, lots 1, 2, 3, and part lot 4, block 34, Garner $1

J. W. Mullane, Receiver, to Frank Quigley, Receivers Deed, 12-15-23, N 24-94-24 ..... $2,000

A. S. Bookman et al to Clara W. Burgitt, W D, 11-15-23, W SE 1-96- 26 ..... $1

Sidney A. McIntire and wife to S A. Skromme, W D, 12-18-23, NE 24- 97-25 ..... $33,300

Fanny A. Lathrop and husband to Frank Quigley, W D, 12-11-23, lot 8 and part lot 7, block 7 Goodell $500

Aleck Veer and wife to Harm Veer W D, 12-21-23, lots 12, 13, 14, block 9 Kanawha $2000

Austin Byerly to H. V. Reed W D, 12-20-23, lots 1, 2, 3, and part lot 4, block 34, Garner $4,000

Etta Haskins et al to Geo. Zinn, W D, 12-21-23, N SW & SW SW 26-95- 23 ..... $19,500

Local Items

Mrs. Minnie Josten of Garner came cnChristmas day to spend a few days in the home of her daughter, Mrs. Rev. Gauger.

Those who have the foresight and good judgement to get a good prac- tical business education will have a tremendous advantage five or ten years from now. Enroll at The Hamilton University, January2.

Mr. and Mrs. R. A. McConn left Monday night for Minneapolis and from there they went to North Da- kota for a visit over the holidays with their parents and other rela- tives.

Mrs. Charlie Luick, and son Lee, and the Misses Lola and Mildred Smith, Mrs. LuVerne Smith, Joe Starnes and family, Harry Brooks and family, twenty-five in all, had Christmas dinner with Grandma Brooks at Belmond.

Mrs. Davis, who has been here taking care of her daughter, Mrs. M. O. Barr during her illness, left for her home at Spirit Lake Wednes- day. Mrs. Barr is again quite well and was able to be out the fore part of the week.

Wedding bells rang in Klemme Tuesday afternoon Dec. 25 when Miss Celia Brouwer of Ventura was married to Mr. Forest Gorton of Kanawha. Rev. Gauger officiated. The young couple was accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Thompson of Kan- awha.

The Klemme teachers departed for their various homes the latter part of the week, as folows: Miss Stacy to Osage; Miss Scharlach to Corwith; Miss Rone to Northwood; Miss Buchanan to Spencer and Des Moines; Miss Flechner to Fort Dodge; and Earl Trigilgus to Nora Springs.

Avery township is going to stage a big rabbit hunt on New Year's Day. Then on the 3rd of January the ladies of the farm bureau are going to prepare a big rabbit meal and everybody is invited. The big feed will probably be held in the U. B. church basement at Goodell. All are invited. Only residents of Avery township will be in on the hunt.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Willie had a big Christmas Dinner, Tuesday, all the children were home excepitng Ernest Palmby's from Minnesota. Those who were there were, Fred Barz and family. William Schla- wein and family, John Bock and family, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Willie, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Hartbeck, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Leitzsinger and baby, Katherine Willie, Fred Greiman and family and Cornelius Willie and fam ily. There were 41 present.

Correction—In the new year greeting of C. A. Bachman Barber Shop we made a mistake in not in- serting "slugs" of correction on the "proof" so that his adv reads that he is extending greetings for 1923. That is just a year behind, but our friend "Backy" does not conduct a barber shop that is a year behind— not he. His shop is up to date even if the printer made his announce- ment read like a last years auto li- cense. Printers never make mis- takes.(?)

A wreck was on the program at the crossing at Lau's elevator the other morning when a collision oc- cured between Tom Blanks section car and Emil Kraus' sedan. Emil was going west and Tom was going north both tried to occupy the same place at the same time but itdidn't work. The sedan tipped over when the hand car hit it, and the hand car left the rails. Nobody was seri- ously hurt—except the tw ocars. It is another example of "Stop, Look, and Listen," then proceed carefully. We do not know who was to blame for the accident. It was perhaps unavoidable.

HAPPY JOHNSON AND MISS SARA SMITH MARRIED

"Happy" Johnson and Miss Sara Smith, who were here from Spencer for a visit at the Walter Lau home, stole a march on their many Klemme and Spencer friends when they went to Garner Christmas Day, accom- anied by Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Lau.

The party had quite a time to find the clerk to get a license and then the next problem was to locate a preacher. Walt was determined to see it through and it was his clever work that got the license and also a preacher.

The groom is a brother of Mrs. W. F. Lau and is well known here as he worked in the Klemme Meat Market until a few months ago, when he and "Shorty" Kent purchased a garage at Spencer. "Happy" is a fine fellow and is well liked here.

The Bride is a former teacher in the Klemme schools and taught in the schools here for a couple of years and has made a host of friends who join with us in wishing this couple a happy married life.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnson will go to house keeping at Spencer where they will soon be at home to their many friends.

LARGE CROWD ATTENDS PRO- GRAMS XMAS EVE

Ku Klux Klan Helps Defray Expense With Donation

Good crowds were reported at all the Christmas Tree programs which were held at the Liberty Church, In- town at the Reformed Church and in the school auditorium by the M. E. Church.

The prgrams at each of these places wsa excellent and were great- ly enjoyed. Especially good was the various drills given by the little tots.

The program at the school house brought an exceptionally large num- ber f people there to see it.

A free will offering was taken at that place to defray expenses. The Ku Klux Klan of Klemme were a- gain brought into the limelight when it was announced that they had con- tributed a purse toward the Christ- mas Tree fund. This was quite a surprise to the audience who re- sponded with a cheer for the Kan.

Everyone present were given the usual sack of candy, nuts and ap- but this year the helping was a generous one.

A CORRECTION

Article In Times Last Week Was Misleading

My, but that was a wild write-up in the Times of last week about the recent basket ball game between Britt and Klemme in the Klemme gym.

This wild article was not a part of the regular School News, and was not O. K.'d by the Superintendent, but was handed to the Editor and represented to him as belonging to the regular school news. We men- tion this to show that neither the Superintendent or the Editor were to blame for the appearance of this article.

However, we want to say to the people of Britt that we attended this game to, and in our opinion your boys' team were gentlemanly fellows, and your girls' team knew their pro- per pace and while it is true that in the boys' game both teams were too eager in the start and the first quarter was rough and exciting.

Still, when the referee corrected them your boys came right into line and obeyed the rules, and we want you to know that your Britt boys won this game fair.

As for the Britt Coach, Harold Gruetzmacher, was born and raised in Klemme, and as a town we are proud of him. He made a good record in our schools and is a clear thinker and a natural born leader.

Signed.

F. A. ARNOLD, Pres. of Board.
ARTHUR WELLEMEYER, Board Member.
L. NEESE, Supt.
R. A. JORGENSON, Editor.

Editor's Note—The school news column has been running along very nicely and very seldom had it been necessary to censor an article and perhaps the censoring business had become somewhat slack and this ar- ticle got into the school news and atracted no atention during the big rush of the last days of school.

The Superintendent will hereafter give the notes a good going over so that another article of this nature will not get by his censorship.

Now for the Big Noise

Poor Children's Christmas Party

By ELEANOR KING

A Whole Dollar Not Too Much for Ralph to Give to Be Santa Claus

"AG! Come on; send some poor kiddie to the poor children's Christmas party Friday. Buy a tag," pleaded a smiling girl at the head of the stairs which lead into one of the large art schools. Ralph, one of the many students hurrying into the school, eager to be at work, thrust his hand into his pocket absent-mindedly. This tag day business was happening too often. He had not a cent of change.

"You wouldn't regret giving if you could see those kiddies. We do this every year over in the normal department, you know," volunteered the girl.

Ralph thought a minute, then put a crisp one-dollar bill into the basket.

"Oh! that's too much to give," called the girl, but Ralph had disappeared down the stairs into the school.

That did not end Ralph's thoughts on the matter, however. In the afternoon he met Frances, one of his girl friends from the normal department. "Ralph," she burst forth, "the tag day surely is going over big. They expect to make quite a lot more than they did last year. Why," she exclaimed in her joy, "do you know, they always say artists are so very poor—well, Aida told me some nice young man put a dollar bill in her basket and never said a word about wanting any change."

Ralph smiled: "That fellow probably was thinking about some composition he was making and didn't even know he put it in."

"No, he didn't, because Aida said he thought a minute before he dropped it in."

That evening as Ralph worked in his room at the boarding house, some way or other he just couldn't keep his mind off his home. He had known right along that he couldn't go home for Christmas, but as the time drew nearer—only two more days now before Christmas vacation—he felt very lonely. There was someone besides the folks who made Ralph wish he were going home. Ralph heaved a sigh.

"Gee, I hate to think of it. She will be home from college for the holidays, and I won't be there to take her around. Well, little girl, you understand if all the rest don't. Hang it, I would like to see you, Lillian!"

Everybody at school went about whistling and singing, why shouldn't he? He should. Hadn't he given that dollar he had been saving so long for some colors he wanted? If he couldn't go home, he was at least contributing to someone else's happiness. Come to think of it, there are loads of people in this very city who have no place they can think of as home.

Suddenly Ralph burst out laughing. Posing as a martyr—the idea; a healthy, hearty, young, robust boy like him posing as a martyr!

His laughter echoed in the semi-empty room and died out. He was seated in an old morris chair with his back to the door, deep in thought, when a light rap on his room door stirred him. Thinking it one of the boys living in the house, and not bothering to rise, he called, "Come in!"

The door opened and Ralph beheld a little black-eyed, black-haired urchin in what once was a white corduroy dress. Leaning against his knee, she looked up into his face. His artist's eye thought instantly, "My, those eyes! Wouldn't they be wonderful to paint!"

"Say," said the little thing as she rolled her eyes, "did you know, I am going to the children's party Friday down at your school?"

"Well, where did you drop from?" ejaculated Ralph in his surprise. "I am sure I never saw you before. I don't know your name, but I think I shall call you the 'Vamp.'"

"My name Jose," corrected the little girl indignantly.

"Well, you surely know the art of rolling your eyes," laughed Ralph.

"Do you want to see my sister? She go, too, Friday."

"Yes, bring in the sister, 'Vamp'—the more the merrier!"

The sister, just able to toddle across the floor, dressed in a figured calico romper suit, was hoisted and boosted into Ralph's lap by Jose. The baby cuddled against Ralph, nestling down perfectly content. Ralph felt a little thrill vibrate through his frame.

The "vamp," still at Ralph's side, leaning both elbows on his knees, peered into his face with her large, lustrous eyes.

"My sister's happy, too, you see, because she goes with me Friday."

"I 'appy," reiterated the black-haired doll on Ralph's lap.

"Is that right?" laughed Ralph, hugging the little kiddies. "But, 'Vamp,' why do you come to tell me about it?"

The vamp looked rather dismayed. "You send me and Angelica," she said, giving Ralph a knowing little shove. "We see Santa, too, and he big, so big that he bring me and Angelica lots nice things. And he talk to us and pick us up like you did Angelica."

Ralph gave a start. Someone was thundering upon his door with two fists instead of one. The door was locked. He slipped the bolt.

"Well, at last," panted a messenger boy; "I've been pounding for the last half hour here. Sorry to waken you, sir; know it's late, but I just had to deliver this message tonight, sir."

"That's all right," said Ralph, hurriedly tearing open the telegram. The door closed; Ralph read:

"Telegraphing money for you to come home Christmas. Lillian arrives today. DAD."

Ralph could have shouted for joy.

(©, 1923, Western Newspaper Union.)

The New Year

By HORATIO NELSON POWERS
In St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

A FLOWER unknown; a book unread;
A tree with fruit unharvested;
A path untrod; a house whose rooms
Lack yet the heart's divine perfumes;
A landscape whose wide border lies
In silent shade, 'neath silent skies;
A wondrous fountain yet unsealed;
A casket with its gifts concealed—
This is the year that for you waits
Beyond Tomorrow's mystic gates.

Oh, may this flower unfold to you
Visions of beauty sweet and new;
This book on golden pages trace
Your sacred joys and deeds of grace.
May all the fruits of this strange tree
Luscious and rosy-tinted be;
This path through fields of knowledge go;

This house with love's consent o'erflow;
This landscape glitter with the dew
Of blessed hopes and friendships true;
This fountain's living crystal cheer,
As fail the springs that once were dear;
This casket with such gems be stored
As shine in lives that love the Lord.

THEY WILL TALK IT OVER

Iowa Farmers Will Have Opportunity to Discuss Problems at Ames Short Course

The dates for Farm and Home Week, which annually draws to the Iowa State College Campus thousands of Iowa farmers and farm wives, have been set this year for Jan. 28 to Feb. 2. During these five days leaders in agriculture and home talk with the short course students on pratical problems of the farm business and the farm home.

Reduced rates have been granted by every railroad in Iowa for the period from Jan. 24 to Feb. 4. The rate will be a fare and a half for the round trip.

One of the big events of the farm and Home week is the Iowa corn show, the largest exhibition of its kind in the world. Men and women yho stand at the top in agriculmen who stand at the top in agricul. brought to Ames to talk at the annual banquet and at the evening mass meetings which will be held in State gymasium.

The thing that the college hopes especially for its guests to get out of the short course, however, is not so much the chance to hear speeches as to discuss and ask questions about the practical problems with which they are confronted every day Every opportunity will be given in the 'classes' foro the short course guests to do this.

A $5 ROW RUNS COURT COSTS UP TO $23.65

FOREST CITY, Dec. 15.—Syvan Scals vs. Oscar Peters was a case tried in Justice Howard's court Tuesday afternoon. It developed out of an alleged claim by the plaintiff against the defendent for $5, due him for labor performed.

The case was taken before Justice Field, but with a change of venue it was taken into Justice Howard's court, where the case was settled by a verdict given by a jury of six for the plaintiff.

The defendent paid the costs in the case, which amounted to $23.65.

Happy New Year

With grateful appreciation of all the favors received by us from you and for that priceless though intangible asset, your Good Will and Friendship, which we prize beyond measure, this bank seeks to merit your continued confidence and we aim to serve you faithfully in the future.

Our cordial greetings go out to you in the hope that 1924 will be bigger, brighter and more prosperous than any before.

First National Bank

We extend to you the Season's greetings and wish that you may enjoy in full measure, health, happiness and prosperity in the days to come in 1924.

Jacobs & Son

We are grateful for the favors of the past year. Our aim is to conduct a good, clean place of amusement and invite all to call upno us often during the year to come.

Pool Parlor.

LuVerne Smith

Not because it is an honored custom, but because of our sincere friendship, we wish you a happy and prosperous 1924.

Lewis Produce Store

May the year 1924 which is about to be entered bring you the many good things we wish you. Your patronage and good will for the past thirty-one years of our business has been appreciated and we will try and merit your good will in the years to come.

F. Gruetzmacher

Our yearly inventory is closed, our year's business record indicated a liberal patronage the twelve months past. In exchange for the favors shown us, accept our heartiest best wishes for a happy, prosperous 1924.

W. F. Lau

In closing another calendar year we extend to patrons of this vicinity best wishes for 1924. Pledging ourselves to give the best possible service the year to come, we are—

Conrad Quandt, Prop.

The Crystal Cafe

When in need of bet barber work, I shall be of service to you. Sincere good wishes for 1923 and thanking you for favors of the past year.

C. A. Bachman, Barber

If we can feel that we have served you faithfully and satisfied you the past year, we have accomplished that which we have striven for. A Happy and Prosperous New Year to you.

Klemme Co-Op. Creamery

Season's Greetings

We wish all friends and patrosn of this farmers' organization to accept our heartiest thanks for favors of the past year. Our business the past year has been very good and we feel that we owe much of our uccess to the farmers and friends who have worked for this organization; your co-operation is sincerely appreciated. May the coming year mean greater happiness and prosperity for you.

Klemme Co-Op. Grain Co.

With Heartiest Best Wishes--

The old year is about to close. Monday of the coming week the last entry will be made; the final record closed; and bound in the Book of Remembrance will be its joys and sorrows; its success, its failures—the curtain will fall on the last scene in the year 1923. A glad, new, unspoiled season is about to dawn, and it looks beautiful and fiar. This Bank wants you to know that during each day of the new year it will be your friend and confident, ever ready to co-operate with you.

May the unfilled hopes of the old year find realization in the New, and all the good things of the new season be yours.

State Savings Bank

A Happy and Prosperous New Year is our wish to our many friends and customers. We have been glad to serve you in the past and ask a continuance of your Good Will and Patronage.

Lewis Service Station

The Standard Oil Company greets you with glad New Year Wishes. Your past business has been appreciated and by careful, conscientious service, we will endeavor to merit your future favors.

J. J. Poort
Local Manager.

Appreciating your patronage and hoping that the pleasant relations now existing between us will continue, I wish you much happiness and prosperity for 1924.

Dr. J. L. Hesselhuus
Dentist.

When in need of our services, we shall be glad to be of service to you. We extend sincerest good wishes for the year 1924.

Pavey's Stormizing Shop

You have had a part in making 1923 both pleasant and profitable to me. Will you accept my heartiest best wishes for a Happy and Plentiful New Year.

Dr. D. P. Anderson
Veterinarian.

We desire to extend to you the compliments of the season and express our sincere wishes for your prosperity the coming year, with a continuance of the cordial relations existing between us.

Farmer's Lbr. Co.

Wishing you the Season's Greetings and assuring you of keen appreciation of your good will and patronage.

Kiemme Dray Line
Lloyd Lau, Prop.

Just a little sign that we do appreciate the business you have given us. May you enjoy a bigger, better and busier New Year than ever.

G. W. Kluckhohn & Sons

Season's Greetings

The Spirit of the New Year Season prompts us to express to you our appreciation of your good will and patronage given us the past year, and we extend to you our sincere good wishes for a Happy and Prosperous New Year for 1924.

J. P. Larsen & Sons

Sol Sample and His New Leaf

By CHRISTOPHER G. HAZARD

Store Clerk Became a Hero by Protecting His Employer's Safe From Robber

++

Drew Promotion, Admitted to the Firm—His Leaf of Gold

HE LOOKED like a farm chunk. With his red hair, growing low upon his forehead, his pale and watery eyes, his ungainly figure and awkward manner, and his slow speech, he did not seem billed for a successful life, and he caused many to wonder why the old man numbered him among the salesmen in his fashionable store. His name had shrunk from Solomon to Sol, as an indication, perhaps, that the full name was too large a program for him, while his surname suggested that he was but a small part of what he desired to be.

This suggestion was based upon fact, for there was in Sol a dissatisfaction with himself that gave promise of improvement, an ambition that set before him a goal farther on and higher up than his smarter associates had purposed. Beneath his red thatch and behind his unattractiveness Sol had a conscience, a heart and a most determined will. It was the honesty and the reliability of his character that had given him favor with his employer, and a certain considerate kindliness had made him acceptable to the customers — qualities not common enough in these days to be despised.

At this New Year time Sol Sample was particularly anxious to turn over a new leaf. He shared the desire that comes then to us all to break into a better future. It is an early stirring of life's spring season, a thought of renewing with the young year our lost youth, of possible attainments of purity and beauty, a rekindling of old enthusiasms. Let those who will, sneer at New Year resolutions; there is a reason for them and there is promise in them. They present to a plowboy something more than a mirage and they offer to a roue one more glimpse of heaven.

But Sol hardly knew what to write upon the blank page after he had turned it. There seemed to him to be no better course than to plod through another three hundred and sixty-five days as faithfully as he might know how, which was, after all, about as good a prospect as anyone could have had.

Sol's puzzle, however, was solved for him by others and in a most unexpected manner, as is the case with so many puzzles. In his makeup he had taken the first nose that turned up and now he made the best possible use of the first event that gave him opportunity. It came about in this way:

He Was Marched Into the Little Office.

After the holiday rush he had been left one evening to close the store. He had put things to rights and closed the safe upon the proceeds of the day's business and was about to extinguish the last light when he became conscious that he was not alone in the place. The next moment he felt the pressure of a revolver barrel upon his side and heard a firm, hard voice instruct him to hold up his hands.

As his next experience he was marched into the little office and urged to open the safe. As he spun the knob that controlled the combination he made a rapid survey of his resources with his mind while he still fumbled with the numbers of the lock. He could think of nothing worth trying until there flashed upon him the memory of a certain trick by which he had once overthrown his adversary in a wrestling match. He still had the muscle of an athlete and the short stairway up to the desk favored his plan. With a lightning-like movement he displaced the weapon and sent his captor backwards down the stairs. Whirling to defend himself he was surprised to find no further attack from the robber and upon examination he found that with a broken neck the thief had lost all power to do further mischief.

Sol thus became quite the neighborhood hero. People began to put a new estimation upon him. He was promoted to a position in the factory, the output of which the store had been handling. From that, sterling business qualities carried him to a partnership. Today his name is upon the sign that advertises the business, and there in full. Solomon Sample is likely to become the whole piece. All because he discovered himself and was found in the emergency that called for a real man. So it proved that Sol's new leaf was a gold leaf.

(©, 1923, Western Newspaper Union.)

Turning Over the New Leaf

By REV. ALAN PRESSLEY WILSON

It Is Your Time to Take Stock as the Old Year Comes to the Close

AS THE old year slips quietly into oblivion and the new one silently takes its place we have gotten into the habit of looking backward over the past and forward into the future: we seek to learn where we have made mistakes in the months that have gone and try to correct them in those that are to come. We call this custom by many names, such as "making new resolutions," "turning over a new leaf," etc., but by whatever name we call it the principle is the same, viz.: what the business man knows as "taking account of stock."

In every business house the latter part of the month of December in each year is utilized in making an inventory of the goods that remain on hand in order that an annual trial balance may be struck that the owner or proprietor of the enterprise may know just where he stands in a financial way. He wants to learn what and how much he has made in the year that has gone: what goods have been salable and what have been on the shelves so long they have become shopworn. The latter, he knows, comprise the kind he should avoid in the year ahead of him because he recognizes that his customers do not call for them.

In like manner we strike a trial balance of our life's possessions and acquisitions; we seek out those habits we have formed in order that we may know whether they have been profitable to us through this year of our journey of life or whether they have hindered our greatest progress therein.

"I am going to turn over a new leaf," each one says to himself. This is exactly what the merchant does in his ledger. He balances each account on the old page and carries it over to a new one. In reading, when we have mastered the contents of one page we turn over and begin a new one. This one is clean and unmarked by finger prints or the much more undesirable habit some have of cleaning the finger nails on the corners or the making of dogears thereon.

In the fall and early winter the trees that have been green with foliage begin to show the turning leaves. Red, brown and yellow with tints of bronze appear and, for a time, are very beautiful to behold. Then they fall and still present a beautiful appearance on the ground. Then the leaf withers and turns into what we know as leaf-mold. Later this serves as a fertilizer and the same substance appears in the form of new leaves when gentle spring induces the trees to put on a new dress. Thus the tree provides a part of the sustenance it requires for its growth by what it discards.

New and fresh green leaves spring from old and unsightly ones. So good deeds may be stimulated and promoted through our experience; the mistakes of the past may be buried and from them may come the courage and ability to perform worthy acts and to order our lives aright. This is what the poet meant when he urged that "Men rise on stepping stones of their dead selves to higher things." We use our mistakes as the rounds of the ladder whereby we mount upward. It is quite possible, however, for our mistakes to keep us down. We may have hundreds of rounds of a ladder, but, if they are not in their places, they avail us nothing in climbing. Only those rounds that are fixed firmly in their proper places enable us to reach higher altitudes.

Here is a choice thought from J. G. Holland bearing upon this very matter:

Heaven is not reached at a single bound;
But we build the ladder by which we rise
From the lowly earth to the vaulted skies,
And we mount to its summit round by round.

Turn over a new leaf? By all means! But use what has gone before in order that what comes afterward may be an improvement over the old order of things. Wherever you have erred in the past, resolve to avoid such errors in the future. Make your resolutions; make many of them—that you fail to keep them all should not deter you in your ambition to make improvement. The discipline will be most helpful. The habit of trying to correct errors in our life's conduct will result finally in the fixed purpose toward an errorless life.

Aim high! Then aim higher!

(©, 1923, Western Newspaper Union.)

UNDER THE OUTSIDE

GRASS keeps green under the snow. Delicate blossoms hide away in ugly seeds. Who can believe the twisted apple-tree will be lost in a surf of pink petals in the spring?

There must be many a warm and true heart cased in a frosty exterior.

If we believed more in the covered, and less in the covering, we should make Christmas a day truly bright with peace and good will.—Martha B. Thomas.

(©, 1923, Western Newspaper Union.)

WHY BANKS?

LESSON II

By J. H. PUELICHER, Chairman,
Committee on Public Education, American Bankers Association.

J. H. Puelicher

Why does Government charter banks,—simply to make money for stockholders, or because banks are needed by the public? What is a bank? Text books say, "A bank is a quasi-public corporation, chartered by State or Nation, to receive deposits and make loans."

STOCKHOLDERS = owners.

QUASI-PUBLIC = semi-public,—that is, owned by private stockholders, but regulated by government to see that the depositors' money is safely loaned.

STATE BANK CHARTER = privilege, grant or right to do a banking business under supervision of the State Banking Commissioner.

NATIONAL BANK CHARTER = grant to do business under supervision of the Federal Comptroller of the Currency.

SUPERVISION = the sending by government of examiners, at least once a year, into a bank without notice, to count its cash, examine its loans, bonds and mortgages, and see if its books are correct.

Banks can do only those things permitted in their charters. No business is more closely watched and regulated by State or Nation. Banks cannot, therefore, be run simply to make money for stockholders, but are chartered to meet the needs of the people and are held to that purpose by government supervision.

REALITIES--AND THE ALLIED DEBT PROBLEM

By WALTER W. HEAD,
President, American Bankers Association.

As a business proposition there is just one reason for considering a recasting of the balances due the United States from foreign governments. That is the possibility that such action would aid in re-establishing a foreign market which will absorb our surplus products.

Walter W. Head

It is possible, of course, for the United States to isolate itself. We can produce everything necessary to sustain life. Mere existence, however, is not the purpose of life. We cannot prosper as we have unless we dispose of the surplus products which naturally accumulate, both agricultural and industrial. We must either sell this surplus abroad or curtail our production and generally lower our standard of living.

Our foreign trade depends upon the purchasing power of foreign countries. Europe's inability to buy has impaired our ability to sell. We have an interest in Europe's prosperity. To protect that interest we must be concerned in the restoration of our customers' capacity to trade with us and to meet their obligations. We should deal with this subject exactly as a banker deals with a loan of doubtful value.

Get the Facts

The United States should have a representative with official standing in the Reparations Commission. We should not necessarily be bound by any agreement which may be proposed, but our representative should gather all information available. The United States Government, of its own motion and based on its own information, should then decide whether it should consider the readjustment of its accounts with Europe, and, if so, in what manner. Our own Debt Funding Commission should recommend to Congress whatever readjustment, if any, of the Inter-Allied Debt may be warranted.

THESE SUGGESTIONS ARE PURELY FOR FACT-FINDING AND ADVISORY PURPOSES—FOR GETTING DOWN TO THE REALITIES OF THE CASE. Precisely what our action should be, to serve the common interest, will be determined by information which at this time is not available. Our first step is to secure the information and our duty is to follow developments intelligently.

THE FRIEND IN NEED

(From the Nation's Business)

Some there are who still think the banker wears horns. Who is the hard-boiled citizen, the man behind the thumb-screw? The banker, they will tell you. In the light of this illusion, consider a brief excerpt from the resolutions adopted at the recent Atlantic City convention of the American Bankers Association.

"The conclusion is inevitably forced on the impartial observer that the primary need of the world is moral and spiritual regeneration as the essential basis for economic recovery. Until the nations of the world are willing to liquidate their hates they can make little progress toward liquidating their debts."

Hard-boiled? Nor that! It harks back to Socrates. "The true politics," he said, "is first of all a politics of the soul."

Come to think of it, when we want someone to take care of our funds, to whom do we turn? To the banker. When we are in a tight place and need funds, to whom do we turn? To the banker. When there's a civic enterprise afoot, whose time and money do we commandeer first? The banker's.

FARMERS PAYING EXCESSIVE RATES

Spend Millions Needlessly for Interest on Store Credit, Says Department of Agriculture.

BANK RATES THE LOWEST

Department Urges Thrift, Industry and Reliability on Farmers to Win Credit Standing—Bankers Asked to Help.

The cost to farmers of credit from stores is more than 25 per cent when calculated on the basis of a yearly interest rate, while banks charge little more than 6 per cent, says the official report of the Department of Agriculture on its recent survey of farm credit in North Carolina.

"Farmers would profit greatly if they could place themselves in position to borrow from banks and pay their bills with cash," the report continues. "Merchants would be benefited, since they could then give their attention strictly to merchandising and avoid the risk of loss which they now assume. Bankers would also profit, due to the resulting improvement in farmers' financial condition and the increased business which these farmers would give the banks."

A Matter of Habit

Discussing the question as to why farmers rely on store instead of bank credit, the report says that many do so out of habit and do not realize how high the cost of the store credit is.

"There are others, however, who cannot obtain credit from banks," it goes on. "This is often due to the fact that no contact has been established and the farmer's credit rating has not been determined. Banks prefer character and general business ability over any tangible security in making loans. A REPUTATION FOR THRIFT, INDUSTRY AND RELIABILITY IS THE BEST POSSIBLE ASSET FOR A MAN WANTING CREDIT.

"The first step in giving farmers better credit is to build up better contacts. This will require co-operation of county agents, farm organizations and the bankers themselves. But the banks cannot do it all. Effort toward a better acquaintance is necessary on the part of farmers. Frankness regarding their business affairs is essential."

The large part credit cost plays in agricultural conditions is pointed out by the department's report, which says North Carolina farmers contract debts amounting to more than $200,000,000 annually, and therefore a difference of only 1 per cent in the average interest rate would affect the net income from agriculture there approximately $2,000,000 each year. More than half the farmers in the areas investigated relied on merchandise advances, and the total merchant credit was nearly three times the short-term bank credit.

High Interest Rates

"The average interest rate charged for merchant credit was 22.3 per cent," the survey reveals. "Credit from local stores was the most expensive, costing an average of 26.6 per cent. Landlords came next in order, with a rate of 21.5 per cent. Factories and their agents are much lower, with rates of 14.2 and 17.0 per cent respectively.

"Fertilizer and 'living expenses' are the chief purposes for which merchant credit is extended. Stores apparently handle more of such business than all other agencies combined, while banks carry less than one-sixth of the total. That the farmers fail to obtain needed short-term credit direct from banks constitutes a handicap to agriculture in North Carolina, since the rate on such loans is materially lower than on short-term loans from all other sources."

Happy New Year

We are about to close another very successful year of business in Klemme, and we thank each one of you for the part you have had in it. May the year to come be one of unbounded happiness and prosperity to you. Call upon us when in need of anything in the line of building material, fencing, tile, etc., and we will do our utmost to give you the best of service. Let us help you plan yournew buildings for 1923.

Northern Lumber Co.

"HELLO!" 1924

The KOERNER TELEPHONE COMPANY, the Management and the Operators greet you with best wishes for the New Year 1924. We thank you for the consideration shown us at busy times and the many little courtesies extended to us or our operators. We hope that the coming year will bring you prosperity and happiness.

Koerner Telephone Company

We want to grasp your hand this morning and wish you the best New Yaer you ever had. After the trying times of the past few years there is now a spirit of Peace and Good Will being proclaimed thruout the world. This can't help but lead to Prosperity. Conditions are much better and rapidly improving. This should be the Happiest New Year.

We have appreciated your friendship and business more than we can express and we want to join with you this coming year in a cordial spirit as friends and partners.

We sncerelywish you a Happy and a Prosperous New Year.

Cordially,

J. N. Day

Our 1924 Wishes

OUR BEST WISHES

TO ALL FOR

A PROSPEROUS

—And—

A HAPPY NEW YEAR

1-9-2-4

AND OUR THANKS FOR YOUR GOOD

WILL AND PATRONAGE DURING THE PAST YEAR.

Respectfully,

R. A. Jorgenson, Publisher.

The Klemme Times

It is our pleasure to greet you with best wishes for a prosperous new year and invite you to call on us when in need of the best of barber work.

G. P. McCullough

New Year Greetings

The New Year Season, now at hand, prompts us to express to you our appreciation of your Good Will and Patronage bestowed on us during the past year and which we fully reciprocate. Our many friends and customers have stood loyally by us and we have enjoyed a good business which has been made posisble by this loyalty shown to us.

We extend to you all the compliments of the season, wishing you and yours a very Happy and Prosperous New Year for all the twelve months in 1924.

Greimann Motor Co.

,000,000 Autos Is Output, Year 1923

de Experts Estimate Production at Best in Industry's History.

ew York.—The manner in which the duction and sale of automobiles is ling up at this season of the year surprised even the most optimistic lers in the industry. When an out- of approximately 3,400,000 cars in first ten months of the current year reported, predictions were made the demand for 1923 had virtually satisfied and that a reduction in would not be surprising in the ing months of the year. This pre- ted slump, however, has failed to terialize thus far, and while there been some curtailment in produc- schedules, the seasonal slack has n less pronounced than in other rs. The statement is now made in trade that "current automobile siness is better than that for the responding period of any preceding ar. Both sales and production thus this fall have run 40 per cent ead of a year ago, and the 1922 au- n season was an unusually active for the trade."

To Establish New Mark.

Due to the practical closing of the en-car season and the seasonal tak- of inventory, some further curtail- ent of production is to be expected r the remainder of the year, but de- ite this it is expected that the indus- will establish a 4,000,000-car mark oduction record this year. Most of e leading manufacturers, it is point- out, have large unfilled orders for osed cars on their books, and this siness, together with the orders aced by the Southern and Pacific ast territories for open cars, is ex- ected to hold the average output for November and December close to the 00,000-car mark. If the 4,000,000-car ark is reached, it is interesting to call that the highest estimate for 923 output made by any producer at he National Automobile show last January called for a production of only ,000,000 cars, or approximately 25 per ent less than the probable output for the year.

The splendid showing made by the industry during 1922 and 1923, two rec- rd-breaking years, has resulted in un- usual prosperity for the manufacturers, the result being that they are virtually all in a strong financial position

The Standard Daily Trade Service ays: "Illustrative of this strong po- ition of the industry is the fact that although its output this year will be ore than 50 per cent greater than last ear, plant expansion has been pro- vided for almost entirely from earn- ings, and increased production is measurably due to greater manufactur- ing efficiency. In the main, the motor- car producing companies are financing from their own resources the greatest volume of business in their history, and, in spite of this, are carrying cash balances larger than ever before.

"Another favorable feature of the current situation is the strong position of the dealer branch of the industry. Notwithstanding the record-breaking volume of business placed by the dealers with the manufacturers during the last ten months, stocks of new cars in retail merchandising channels are relatively small. This means that the dealers will have to place substantial orders for spring models during the next four months. The used-car situation, though still unfavorable, gives evidence of readjusting itself on a better basis. Used car losses suffered by dealers during the third quarter of 1923 amounted to $5,654,000, according to the National Automobile Dealers' association, a reduction of 73½ per cent as compared with the second quarter. This indicates that the dealers are less disposed to make unreasonably high allowances on trade-ins. On October 1 last dealers had a stock of 399,600 used automobiles, compared with 430,000 on January 1.

One Firm Plans 10,000 Cars Daily.

"Meanwhile, the industry is now turning its attention to the 1924 prospects. It is announced that one company is planning to produce an average of 10,000 cars a day on February 1, 1924. The present output of the company, which has been steadily increasing all year, is approximately 7,500 cars a day, and the total to be turned out in 1923 will approximate 2,000,000 vehicles. On the basis of 10,000 cars per day, this company's plants alone would turn out next year (if current plans are carried out) approximately 3,000,000 cars and trucks. Another corporation is planning to produce approximately 88,000 cars in January, 1924. This figure is only about 3,000 cars less than the output for October, the best month in the history of the company. These two companies are the leaders of the automobile industry. Between them they sell more than 50 per cent of the total production of motorcars.

In connection with the movement of prices, the review says that, "although automobiles prices are now at approximately the lowest levels ever reached, some further slight downward readjustments early next year are probable. At least two of the leading manufacturers in the high-priced field are planning to make reductions, while a number of other producers in the medium-priced field are planning to bring out cars to sell under, or around $1,000. These moves will doubtlessly lead some of the companies already established in these fields to make price readjustments."

Chicago Gets Largest Topaz.

Chicago.—A giant topaz sent to the Field museum from Brazil by Dr. Oliver C. Farrington, who is on a gem-hunting expedition for the museum, was measured by Dr. H. W. Nichols, associate curator. He found the dimensions 9 inches by 10 by 17. It is believed to be the largest topaz in the world. "I judge that it weighs at least 100 pounds," said Doctor Nichols.

Two Oregon men have invented a compressed air apparatus, controlled by a simple lever in the pilot house, for steering ships.

11,000 Women Reported As Missing During 1923

Travelers Aid Societies Declare Over 900 Girls Have Not Been Found.

New York.—More than 11,000 girls and women were reported missing during 1922 by police headquarters in 33 American cities, and approximately 900 of them had not been located by December 31.

These figures were gathered by the National Association of Travelers Aid Societies of this city in an effort to estimate the number and types of persons who drop out of sight each year. Reports from 37 cities, the association said, gave a total of 31,638 men, women and children who disappeared, about 2,500 of whom were not found.

Seeking for people who disappear is a part of Travelers Aid service which protects inexperienced travelers from harm by giving advice and help at railroad stations and steamship piers, according to John R. Shillady, general director of the National association.

Works in 160 Cities.

"Travelers Aid workers in 160 cities helped more than 2,000,000 persons last year," he said, "saving thousands of girls from being lured off by designing individuals in crowded stations. The service helped all travelers, from mere information seekers to those in dire emergency."

Police reports show that in New York city, 2,446 girls and women were reported missing in 1922, 1,652 of whom were girls under twenty-one years. Chicago recorded 1,549; Los Angeles, 1,020; Philadelphia, 1,006; St. Louis had 798; San Francisco, 471, and Detroit, 311. About 92 per cent of the missing were finally located—dead or alive—but the records show that many had undergone experiences worse than death.

Large as these figures are, they represent only about one-half of the actual number of those who actually dropped out of sight at some time during the year, in the opinion of Capt. John H. Ayers, chief of the bureau of missing persons, New York city.

Fail to Report Disappearances.

"People often fail to report disappearing members of their family to us because they mistakenly fear we will bring publicity upon them, when that is the last thing we want to do," said Captain Ayers in a statement to the National association.

"Many also drop out of sight who have no one sufficiently interested to make a report. In our best judgment, we feel it fair to double actual figures, making a total of 4,892 women and girls in New York city, of whom 3,304 were under twenty-one years of age. If the same ratio of disappearance holds good for the United States as applies to New York city, then we can arrive by an arithmetical computation at the total for the United States, which will approximate 60,000 girls who probably disappear annually.

"Of course, it must be understood that those are not permanent disappearances, as a very large per cent are accounted for. Our record for last year was 98 per cent found."

Notorious Rum-Runner Is Caught

Here is the British schooner Tomaka, boldest of the rum-running vessels operating off the Atlantic coast, which was shelled and captured by two coast guard cutters and brought to New York. Inserted is a portrait of William F. (Bull) McCoy, avowed and defiant liquor smuggler, who was caught on board the Tomaka.

MAN-EATING SAVAGE OF SAMOA FINALLY CAPTURED

Overpowered by an Escaped Prisoner and Taken to Naval Station at Tutuila.

Pago Pago, American Samoa.—The capture of the last of four wild man-eating savages who escaped from the island of New Hebrides in 1890 and landed on the Island of Tutuila on a raft, ends the 30-year dread of the island natives here for the man-eaters. The wild man was captured by an escaped prisoner who, being filled with remorse and ashamed again to face his fellow-man, said he took to the hills of Pago Pago where he had planned to commit suicide.

While the escaped prisoner was making preparations to carry out his suicidal intent, he was confronted by the black savage. The convict "got the drop" on the wild man, bound him and held him prisoner over night. The next day the prisoner brought his savage captive to the Tutuila naval station here, where the two took their stand in dramatic fashion under the Stars and Stripes. Samoans gathered, but apparently feared to attack the savage they had hunted for many years.

Robert Louis Stevenson, in one of his books, told of the escape of four black recruited laborers from a German plantation in New Hebrides. The men, Stevenson wrote, fled owing to their ill-treatment, and escaped to Tutuila on a raft. One was killed.

The three remaining blacks haunted the bush not far from Pago Pago, towards the eastern end of Tutuila, and were occasionally seen by hunters. In the year 1900 one was caught by a young Samoan chief, and the captured savage said that one of the other two had died, leaving only one at large. This is the man who has just been brought in.

Needs $1,000,000 for Mosquito War

Atlantic City, N. J.—It will cost $1,000,000 to end the career of the New Jersey mosquito.

This was revealed when mosquito extermination commissions of nine counties met here recently and decided to ask the next legislature for the money.

It is estimated the state had 296,000 acres of breeding land when war on the mosquito started, ten years ago. Half of it has been drained at a cost of $1,000,000.

Sees Baby Die in Flames.

Vinton, Ill.—Forced to watch her baby daughter burn to death in a fire which destroyed a barn at her home, Mrs. Marvin Ford is in a serious condition. Four men held the woman to prevent her running into the blazing barn where she also would have perished.

TO F. W. GALBRAITH'S MEMORY

Memorial to Late American Legion National Commander Is Dedicated at Cincinnati.

On the hills overlooking his home city, Cincinnati, stands a memorial to Frederick W. Galbraith, deceased national commander of the American Legion—"killed in line of duty." This memorial takes the form of a parapet on which is a bronze tablet. Behind are the ashes of the former Legion head. It was erected by the veterans' organization and has become a national shrine for Legionnaires.

Galbraith was killed as he sped by automobile from Indianapolis, headquarters city, to Chicago, with Milton J. Foreman, past national commander, on their way to face a great problem for the veterans' organization. It was on such a mission fraught with good for his nation, that he met his end like the brave soldier he was.

The tomb was formally dedicated by National Commander John R. Quinn on the occasion of his first public appearance after his election. In his address, he characterized the departed leader as the "spirit of the American Legion." Commander Quinn declared that to Galbraith and to the myriad members of the Legion, the organization means the flesh and blood of America's fighting men, the soul of those who sleep on Flanders' field and in the depths of the ocean, and the voice of four million who rallied to their country's flag when it was endangered.

The Legion leader said that the stimulation of the principles of Americanism, as sponsored by the beloved leader, Galbraith, could and would lead the organization to greater heights for the nation.

"The spirit of Americanism takes, in beginning, the schools—and the Legion plans patriotic education," declared Commander Quinn. "It takes its place in the home—and the Legion hopes to carry an inspirational message to every fireside in America that patriotism may be better fostered there. The flaming light of Americanism is to be seen in the pulpit, in the business world, and in the culmination of national life—so the Legion is ever ready to spread its broad gospel of better homes, stronger love of nation and deeper regard for law into the life of every inhabitant of America—to make all American citizens—not mere residents of a country."

"With the leadership of such consecrated patriots as Frederick W. Galbraith, we have assigned ourselves as guard about this sacred flame of civic spirit, we stand as sentinels about its temples," Commander Quinn said.

Seven foreign countries sent representatives to attend the ceremonies, including representatives of Italy, Japan, Great Britain, France, Siam, Greece and Brazil. The monument was unveiled by Michael Aaronson, a former sergeant-major, who served under Galbraith overseas, and who was blinded while in service.

TO STRESS COMMUNITY LIFE

Indiana Legion Department Commander Urges Posts to Undertake Movements for Upbuilding.

"The American Legion will occupy its merited place in public esteem when the veterans become members not for the primary purpose of financial gain," declared E. Arthur Ball, department commander of the American Legion in Indiana, "or for the advancement and protection of their rights as veterans, but for the means of more effectively performing their duties as citizens and the helpfulness they can be to their comrades."

Mr. Ball's statement was made in an address to Legionnaires of South Bend, in dedicating the new Legion home in that city. Head of a great business institution in the state, Mr. Ball has given up his work to head the Legion in the Hoosier state for a year and expects to stress particularly the development of community life through the agency of Legion posts. In his address he said that the strength of the Legion is found on every hand, but that the influence of the organization was still further felt when posts undertook some worthwhile movement for the upbuilding of community life.

"KEEP OUT OF POLITICS"

Boston Editor Urges Legion Men to Fight for Disabled and to Scorn Politicians.

Declaring that the government had only done things for disabled men of the World war "under lash of the Legion," James T. Williams, editor of the Boston Transcript, told a gathering of veterans in Worcester, Mass., that the greatest problem of the Legion was the care of the disabled men.

The speaker said that no group so sorely needed help of any organization as do the disabled men, particularly those suffering from tuberculosis, and advised his hearers to keep up work in relief of these men.

He told the Legion men that it was up to them to keep the organization free from politics as it has been in the past.

"The two great parties are cursed with men who say that the Legion is fair prey," said Mr. Williams. "They go up and down the state telling how easily the Legion can be handled. These statements are caused by resentment because they cannot get their contaminating claws on the Legion and control it," he concluded.

.. Hawkeye .. State News

Interesting Items Gathered From all Parts of Iowa

Federal Judge J. M. Killits who sentenced Doc Cook to fourteen years for oil frauds, formerly edited the Express at Red Oak.

R. G. Clark, state dairy commissioner has been appointed head of the dairy department for the Iowa State Fair next year by the executive committee of the board.

The Mississippi river along Iowa, Wisconsin and Minnesota is the lowest it has been in forty-six years and countless millions of food fishes are doomed to die because of it.

California papers, please copy! Mrs. D. N. Field of Mason City served a strawberry shortcake to a company of friends at her home. The berries were picked from her garden on December 12th.

A statewide search is being made for two 13-year-old girls who disappeared from Tama. They are Marguerite Oldson and Helen Goodbury. Coming from prominent families, no reason is known for their departure.

Iowa can have a December fire loss of a million dollars and still fall two million dollars below 1921 and 1922 records for fire losses for the year, J. A. Tracy, state fire marshal, declared in announcing that fire conditions over the state are better than in many years.

Dates for Farm and Home Week, which annually draws to the Iowa State College campus thousands of Iowa farmers and farm wives, have been set this year for January 28th to February 2nd. During these five days leaders in agriculture and home economics will talk with the short course "students" on practical problems of the farm business and the farm home.

A burning desire on the part of farmers everywhere for a better understanding of the fundamentals of their business and an eagerness to obtain the very latest information concerning modern farm practices is manifested in the increasing number of bulletins and circulars which have been published and distributed by Iowa State College during the past year to meet this demand.

"The surplus of food products which Iowa acquired the habit of producing when the slogan was "Food Will Win the War," could be cut down if the state would raise more of the products consumed at home," says Secretary Henry C. Wallace. "Co-operative marketing is a step in the right direction," he also declares, but its scope could be enlarged in Iowa, particularly in providing better facilities for group warehousing.

Increases in the cases involving dependent old ladies, and decreases in the work of caring for cases of mistreatment of dumb animals were the outstanding features of the annual report of the Iowa Humane society's work to the public welfare bureau. In addition to these fields the Humane society also investigates and cares for cases involving the abuse of children and old men and women who have become virtually helpless.

Iowa's contribution to the nation's wealth, through crops which were produced in 1923, amounted to more than half a billion dollars, according to a review of the agricultural industry of the state, made public recently by Charles D. Reed, director of the Iowa weather and crop service. The value of this year's crops, exclusive of livestock products, was $511,044,000. This total exceeded last year's production by 4 per cent and was 6.7 per cent greater than the total for 1921.

Cattle production in states west of the Missouri river shows a marked decline, according to the Iowa Farm Bureau federation, and appreciation of beef cattle values seems fairly sure of fulfillment soon. The farm bureau cites a recent survey which showed declines of from 21½ to 38 per cent over a year ago in beef cattle production and advises Iowa farmers that recent investments by them in well bred calves and good young heifers ought to provide profitable.

The upkeep of an automobile on a hard-surfaced road is 10 cents a mile, as compared with 11 cents a mile on graveled road and 12 6-10 cents a mile on good dirt road, according to Senator M. L. Bowman, secretary of the Iowa Good Roads Association. Iowa has more than 500,000 automobiles, he points out, and they run a total of 1,500,000,000 miles a year. The upkeep on the state's automobiles, he figures, is $25,000,000 more per year on dirt roads than on graveled roads. Iowa automobiles carry more passengers today than the railroads, according to the senator, and only 2 per cent of the state's freight is carried in horse-drawn vehicles.

A small decrease in employment throughout Iowa, resulting from a seasonal slackening in some lines of industry during the past thirty days, is noted in the November report of the employment service of the United States department of labor.

The Iowa child welfare commission, appointed several weeks ago by Gov. N. E. Kendall and organized subsequently with J. B. Weaver of Des Moines as chairman, has issued a statement of its origin and policies which will be broadcast to familiarize Iowans with the work it intends to do.

ALWAYS READY FOR

Baker's Breakfast Cocoa

Growing children warn and frequently need more nourishment than adults, owing to the activity of their restless little bodies.

Baker's Cocoa fills all the requirements of the dietitian and physician as a delicious, pure and healthful beverage.

Just as good for older people.

It is the cocoa of high quality

Made only by

Walter Baker & Co. Ltd.

Established 1780

Mills at Dorchester, Mass. and Montreal, Canada

BOOKLET OF CHOICE RECIPES SENT FREE

Case of Necessity.

Ted—Whatever the moralists may say, short skirts made a girl look neat.

Ned—Yes; they kept them from going around with darned stockings.—New York Sun and Globe.

It's difficult for a man with a grand reputation to live up to it.

Sure Relief FOR INDIGESTION

BELL-ANS

25¢ AND 75¢ PACKAGES EVERYWHERE

Are You Moving to California?

We Save You 25% on Freight Household Goods—Auto

Through car service. No transfers. Shorter time in transit. Write

BLUE LINE STORAGE CO.

3rd & Elm, Des Moines, Iowa

LAND BARGAINS

Send for our new, low price list of Kimball County farms. Only $20 to $40 per acre. Easy terms. Agents wanted. AMERICAN STATE BANK, KIMBALL, NEBRASKA.

ABSORBINE

Reduces Bursal Enlargements, Thickened, Swollen Tissues, Curbs, Filled Tendons Soreness from Bruises or Strains; stops Spavin Lameness, allays pain. Does not blister, remove the hair or lay up the horse. Only a few drops required at each application. $2.50 a bottle at druggists or delivered. Book 1 A free.

W. F. YOUNG, Inc., 510 Lyman St., Springfield, Mass.

KEMP'S BALSAM

Garfield Tea

Was Your Grandmother's Remedy

For every stomach and intestinal ill. This good old-fashioned herb home remedy for constipation, stomach ills and other derangements of the system so prevalent these days is in even greater favor as a family medicine than in your grandmother's day.

CLEAR your COMPLEXION

Remove all blemishes, discolorations. Have a smooth, soft skin—natural, beautiful. All druggists $1.25. Or sent prepaid. Guaranteed. Beauty booklet free. Write DR. C. H. BERRY CO., 2975 A Mich. Ave. Chicago.

with Fremola

FAMOUS FOR 40 YEARS

News of Klemme and Vicinity

Happy New Year!

If its news, Phone 12. Thanks.

Let the Times print your sale bill.

It pays to buy your electric light bulbs at Jacobs & Son. Try it. tf

R. W. Elder, of Mason City, spent Christmas day with his family here.

Lost—Saddle from pony. Finder notify G. R. Stokesbary. 1tp

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Stille spent Christmas at the Wm. Stille home.

For Sale—Green Bone Meal. It makes the hens lay. Klemme Meat Market. tfc

Mr. and Mrs. LuVerne Smith and Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Jacobs spent Sunday at Mason City.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lewis, and Mrs. Charlie Luick, and son Lee, spent Sunday at Mason City.

Henry Luick and mother of Belmond spent Sunday with Klemme relatives.

Buy your electric light bulbs and other supplies here and save money. Jacobs & Son, Hardware Store. tf

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Lewis went to Grundy Center Monday for a few days visit with her parents.

Mr. Kahl, of Minneapolis is here for a visit with his wife and children who are visiting in Klemme.

Al Emerson went to Mason City Monday to remain over Christmas [illegible] with his daughter.

[illegible] and family were entertained at [illegible] Sunday dinner at the [illegible] Henson home.

Paul Grange and family left Monday for Ruthven for a few days visit over Christmas with relatives.

Mrs. E. Shelmerdine, of Sac City, came Monday for a visit with her sister, Mrs. J. J. Poort.

Ernest Helps left for Illinois last Saturday night to visit with relatives (?) over the holidays.

Mr. Worthy Usher, of Cedar Rapids, came Saturday for a few days visit at the Tom Blank home.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Haupt entertaine dall their children and their families for dinner Christmas day.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Gruetzmacher, of Britt, spent Christmas day at the Frank Gruetzmacher home.

Mr. and Mrs. G. P. McCullough spent Christmas day at the C. V. McCullough home at Garner.

"Pickles" Gibbs came over from Mason City to spend Christmas day with his mother and brothers.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Jorgenson of Garner, spent Christmas day at the R. A. Jorgenson home.

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Larsen of Belmond, spent Christmas day at the Clarence Larsen home.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Stille and two little daughters spent Christmas at the Herman Stille home.

Miss Emma Sampson was invited to Hayfield to spend Christmas and have dinner with friends there.

Mary Swanson, of Algona, came home to spend Christmas with her parents.

Earl Josten is home from Morningside College, Sioux City, for a visit with his parents over the holidays.

Miss Gertrude Ely, of Belmond came Saturday for a visit at the Dr. W. F. Missman home.

Art Johnson has been on the sick list the past week or more suffering with rheumatism.

George Ulrich and wife had a big Christmas dinner at the Walter Eredlow home.

Arthur Wade and family enjoyed Christmas dinner at the Henry Wade home.

The Joe Johnson family were entertained for Christmas dinner at the Clarence Johnson home.

A. D. Gimer and family drove to Abbott for Christmas day dinner with relatives.

The Mid-winter term at The Hamilton University, opens, Wednesday, Jan. 2. Complete courses offered in all departments. adv 1c

Emil Lau has for sale a few choice spring Boars at bargain prices. Don't forget his Annual Bred Sow Sale on January 29, 1924. tfc

Flossy and Hazel Carpenter of Forest City were visitors at the Frank Carpenter home Christmas day.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ludwig and son, Gustav, of Nevada, were Sunday visitors at the E. S. D. Kahrs home.

Howard Wiles and Fred Arnod came home from Ames last Thursday to remain over the Christmas and New Year vacation.

Rev. Gauger and family, and Mrs. Minnie Josten, of Garner, were entertained at the John Josten home on Christmas day.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Smith entertained for Christmas dinner the J. N. Day family of this city and the Walter Ross family of Garner.

Dr. Zinn purchased the Dan Webner farm the other day. The farm consists of 120 acres and adjoins Dr. Zinn's farm.

Mr. and Mrs. Marlin Croner entertained for Christmas dinner Mrs. Lena Schroeder and daughter, Adella, and Dr. Zinn.

Miss Adela Schroeder went to Garner Christmas afternoon to visit at the Wm. Barz home for a few days.

"Abe" Lauritzen got home Saturday from his college work at Fayette, Iowa, to spend the holiday vacation with Klemme folks.

Mrs. Louis Luick came up from Belmond Wednesday to visit the balance of the week with Mrs. LuVerne Smith and Mrs. Charlie Luick.

Little Ruth Figi, of Renwick, is here visiting at the F. J. Wenck home as her father is in the hospital at Rochester, Minn. Mrs. Figi is also staying at Rochester.

Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Ahrenkeil enteretained for Christmas dinner Tom Blank ad family, Conrad Quandt and family, of this city, and Worthy Usher of Cedar Rapids.

Henry Keeper came home from Fort Dodge for his Christmas vacation. He has been working in the electric light plant there for about five weeks.

Emil Koerner and wife, of Oklahoma were guests for Christmas dinner at the John Gruetzmacher home. Mrs. Koerner is a niece of Mrs. Gruetzmacher.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Crawford left for Des Moines Saturday to remain over Christmas. Eric Josten looked after the hotel during their absence. They returned yesterday.

Ole Brynteson left Monday for a visit with his folks at Odebolt, Iowa over the holidays. C. W. Wiles is running the lumber yard during his absence.

Miss Marie Gauger came home from Morningside College at Sioux City Friday morning to spend the holiday vacation with her folks in this city.

The Klemme boys and girls basket ball teams played Crystal Lake last Friday night. An account of the game is given in the school news this week.

Mr. Wellemeyer and son Jack went to Des Moines Sunday for a visit with Mr. Clarence Melcher, a brother-in-law of M. Wellemeye, who is in a hospital there.

A New Year's Eve Dance will be given at the Idle Hour Theatre on Monday evening December 31st. The music will be furnished by a good orchestra.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Stukenberg and daughter, of Radcliff, Iowa, were Sunday visitors at the E. S. D. Kahrs home. Mrs. Stukenberg is a sister of Mr. Kahrs.

Miss Esther Jante spent Christmas Day with her folks at Garner.

Mrs. Sumner Trumbell and daughter, Lucille went to Goodell Friday for a few days visit with Mrs. Trumbell's parents.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Waterman enteretained for Christmas, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Keraus; W. C. Keraus and family; C. G. Waterman and family, all of Klemme, and Mr. and Mrs. Chester Cullinan, of Belmond.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Wiles entertained for Christmas dinner, Mrs. Behringer and daughter, Florence, of this city, and Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Fuller and daughter, Mavis of Clear Lake.

NOTICE—On or before January 1, 1924, I expect all who owe me to call and make settlement. Any accounts not paid by that date will be collected according to law. W. F. Pavey, Klemme, Iowa. 2tc

Christmas was a fine, warm day. We did not enjoy the usual "white" Christmas. In fact the grass was still green. Today, Thursday, the weather turned colder and a vrey light snow fell.

Miss Dorothy Ridder, who has been staying with Mrs. C. A. Arnold since last spring, has returned to her home at Watertown, S. Dak. Miss Ridder is going to attend business school there.

Don't deceive Yourself--

You're paying the cost of STORMIZING in waste oil and gas alone. The expense of operating your car with cylinders in a worn and scored condition is greater than the cost of STORMIZING and Complete Overhauling. But the waste of oil and gas is not the only thing to be considered. The following troubles are all directly due to worn cylinders. Loss of Power, Imperfect Compression, Low Gasoline Mileage, Waste of Oil, Excessive Carbon, Fouled Spark Plugs, Mis-firing, Diluted Oil, Injured Bearings, Weak Compression, Hard Starting, Piston Slap, Nosy Operation, Uneven Idling, Mis-firing at Low Speed.

STORMIZING strikes the very root of all these troubles, it cures them all.

We Know Autos—Both Right and Left Handed

TAGOLENE OIL—the Utmost in Lubrication

Pavey's Stormizing Shop

Authorized Service

Auto Mechanics —All Work Guaranteed— General Blacksmithing

GEORGE ZINN, M. D.

Physician and Surgeon

Office opposite from Hotel Klemme

Phone No. 19

Eyes Examined Glasses Fitted

Five Years General Practice

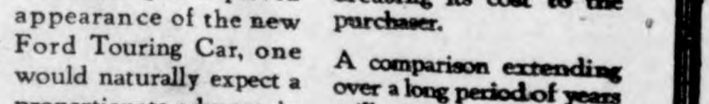
Dr. D. P. Anderson

Graduate Veterinarian

Office at Kahrs' Drug Store Phone 4009

Klemme, Iowa

EAGLE "MIKADO" Pencil No. 174



For Sale at your Dealer Made in five grades

ASK FOR THE YELLOW PENCIL WITH THE RED BAND

EAGLE MIKADO

EAGLE PENCIL COMPANY, NEW YORK

The New Touring Car $295 F.O.B. DETROIT

A Striking Value—at $295

Considering the improved appearance of the new Ford Touring Car, one would naturally expect a proportionate advance in price.

Larger scale production, however, has made it possible to incorporate in this new type touring car a number of decided improvements without increasing its cost to the purchaser.

A comparison extending over a long period of years will reveal the fact that the present price is actually the lowest at which the five-passenger open car has ever been sold.

The Ford Touring Car stands today, as it always has, a most remarkable value in the motor car field.

This Car can be obtained through the Ford Weekly Purchase Plan

Greiman Motor Co.

Ford

CARS TRUCKS TRACTORS

KLEMME MARKETS

(Subject To Change)

December 27, 1923.

WHEAT	$1.00
CORN (new)	.50—.5[illegible]
OATS	.35
BARLEY	.55
RYE	.60
HOGS	6.00—6.40
HAY	15.00—20.00
BUTTERFAT	.57
BUTTER (creamery)	.55
EGGS	.30
HEAVY HENS	.15
LIGHT HENS	.08
STANDARD SPRINGS	.14
LEGHORNS	.08
COCKS	.06
DUCKS	.10
GEESE	.08

Announcement

Henry "Butch" Schroeder, who needs no introduction to the people of this community, announces the opening of a new commission firm, which bears the name of BARTON, SCHROEDER & QUINN, located at the Union Stock Yards, Chicago.

Mr. Schroeder, since his departure from this locality, has been very actively engaged in the selling of live stock, as you know, and his reputation asacattle man is well known.

The firm of BARTON, SCHROEDER & QUINN, although newly organized, is fully equipped to give the highest service possible in the handling of live stock shipments.

May this announcement be taken as an opportunity to wish you much sucess during the coming year.

Barton, Schroeder & Quinn